Following on from my last question to you, where I asked: Do the spirit forms of successful individuals reincarnate into lives that are destined to perform similar roles? You answered, "An incarnation as a king can be followed by an incarnation as a beggar, and then as a shepherd, etc." Having thought about this, it seems to me that the difference between a king and a beggar is, or can be, as enormous as the difference between a scientist and someone who is devoutly religious, seeing as most beggars we see in the streets aren't able to rule over their own lives, let alone a country. This being the case, from the viewpoint of evolution, an incarnation as a king being followed by an incarnation as a beggar seems as absurd as an incarnation as a scientist being followed by an incarnation as someone who is devoutly religious (we know this isn't possible because of the difference in evolution between them). Yet not all beggars are the same. Some, I am certain, have it in them to make something of themselves. And I am also certain that if an incarnation as a king is ever followed by an incarnation as a beggar, he will be such a person, for otherwise I don't see how you can account for one's spiritual and conscious evolution, seeing as one grows stronger and wiser through a succession of incarnations that follow on from one another progressively. My question, therefore, is: If an incarnation as a king is followed by an incarnation as a beggar, will this person have it in himself to take control of his life for the better, or will he remain a common beggar who doesn't have the strength of will to take control, assuming the king was a strong-minded and determined man?

{Billy:}

The former personality is not relevant to the one of the next (the actual) incarnation. The consciousness-related development/evolution is not based on the material things, but on knowledge and wisdom.

(Note by Christian Frehner: In each incarnation the personality is once again free to decide about the course of one's life, namely through one's thoughts and actions. It's not the position a person is holding in a life, e.g. the position of a director, king, farmer, etc., but the things the person is learning by leading the life and doing the job, etc.)

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through April 26, 2005

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/5388.html#POST14611>

{Norbertob:}

If a religious person in current life discovers the truth about religion madness, truth about Creation, etc., and in his/her next life is educated again in religion, Is it a warranty that he/she is going to discover the truth again because of knowledge of his/her previous life?

{Billy:}

The person is “hit” by impulses from the storage banks, and he/she will receive the impulses. These impulses may trigger, e.g., doubts about the “truthfulness” of the religion a child is confronted by his parents. The “breakthrough” of the impulses will happen sooner or later, in each life.

If this process with the impulses would not happen, evolution would not be possible.

All those persons who once had access to the Truth, will be linked to it, will find back to it.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through April 26, 2005

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/5388.html?1114571043#POST14623>

{Joseph Emmanuel:}

Your answer to my last question stated that “the consciousness-related development/evolution is not based on material things, but on knowledge and wisdom,” with a note included by Christian Frehner, saying that “it isn't the position a person is holding in a life, but the things he is learning...” Considering this answer I feel my question has been misunderstood, as I was actually enquiring about one's conscious will, and not necessarily about one's material existence and status in life. I have always supposed that the will a human being possesses, originating from one's consciousness, is developed in strength from one incarnation to the next, and in this way affects each subsequent incarnation, even though the spirit form has an unconscious consciousness. But if you say “the former personality is not relevant to the next incarnation”, in the sense that they are completely unrelated even in consciousness, then it seems to imply that human beings gain nothing from their spiritual evolution, but that all wisdom and knowledge is purely for the benefit of the spirit. Is this correct?

{Billy:}

Yes, that's correct.

The will does increase/grow only if there is a consciousness-related evolution present. From this also the will is evolving. Only that which is stored is relevant for the next life/incarnation. If something negative is necessary to create something positive, then this is evolution-increasing (“evolutiv” in German). Knowledge, wisdom, love, logic, freedom and peace are decisive for the evolution in the next life (transmitted as impulses).

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through June 06, 2005

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/5434.html?1118080138#POST14909>

{Dplotmach:}

Hi Billy, can you with absolute certainty say that reincarnation is a law and that there is no punishment after death? Can one really be so sure about this? There is so many people that is afraid of the so-called "hell", and it would be nice to know if you could guaranty this, and shortly explain why it really is so.

{Christian Frehner:}

Yes, Billy can really guarantee for that. Hell is not a place, but a state of mind (consciousness- and psyche-related). And there is absolutely NO punishment after death.

Billy is sure about this because he knows.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through July 02, 2005

<http://forum.figu.org/cgi-bin/us/discus.cgi?pg=next&topic=12&page=5434#POST15132>

{Jan:}

In your small brochure «Ein Wort zu Mann und Frau ...» you write that «Basically speaking, we are to notice that firstly are all embryos of female type. A transformation to male ones – when it becomes male – follows first from the eight to tenth week of pregnancy, namely through development of larger amount of hormone, e.g. Testosteron.»

...

The question is: How can be the gender of a person “in development” for such a long time, 8-10 weeks of pregnancy, when the gender, on chromosomen level XX/XY, is determinated after impregnation?

{Billy:}

The gender is not determined immediately after impregnation, but by the personality that enters the embryo (together with the spirit form) on the 21st day of pregnancy. It is the new personality that has been created by the comprehensive consciousness block (Gesamtbewusstseinblock) that „steers/directs“ the developing embryo in order to remain a female body or to become a male body. This process is made possible by the spirit’s force/power. The spirit form is responsible for the necessary impulses for this process, but the spirit form itself does NOT decide about the gender. It’s the new personality and its aspects/goals/etc. that determine the gender of the developing baby/human being.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through September 08, 2005

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/5536.html?1126225909#POST15642>

{Roberto:}

In the previous incarnations of my spirit form, neither FIGU existed nor probably Your spiritual form was incarnated as well (at least with tasks as a Prophet).

In my present life I was educated in a "conventional" way, catholic religion included.

Nevertheless, I have been able to identify/recognize you, the FIGU and to understand that there are a lot of tasks to fulfill.

And, of course, I abandoned the dangerous and delusional "teachings" of religion as well.

My question is: how has it been possible that? I mean also considering many previous lives probably spent in wrong teachings...it could seem something really difficult to happen!

I know quite well that still there is a lot of hard work to do and that this is just the very beginning, but that seems to be a good sign for the next incarnation of my spirit form.

{Billy:}

If a person is meeting/finding the spiritual teachings this means, as a rule, that there are already certain impulses stored and accepted in the storage banks, and that the person in a former life (as another personality) had experiences in the same line. If this process is somewhat “intensive”, the person caught impulses that led him into this direction.

If the spiritual teachings are found/encountered for the first time, the process (feelings etc.) is slower and not intensive.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through August 28, 2006

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/6520.html?1156805049#POST21750>

{Savio:}

Supposing, there is a person, before he dies, he has a strong will and every reason of becoming a man again in his next life.

My question is: Is there any chance that this spirit will engage with an embryo with XX (female) chromosome? What would happen then?

{Billy:}

Contrary to knowledge, wish factors (Wunschfaktoren) are not (cannot be) transferred into a next life. After the end of one's life the personality is dissolved before an entirely new one is built up.

The gender is determined by genetics alone.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through December 25, 2006

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/6822.html?1167052589#POST24089>

{Simon:}

Do thoughts of previous lives influence, the birth of the next life? If not, then what decides what birth the spirit form would take in the next life?

{Billy:}

This is a process of “Fügung/Fuegung” (there is no correct translation into English). This process cannot be influenced/steered. Procreation/fathering etc. are playing a role, through which the new personality with the ego, consciousness etc. is being created.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through January 28, 2008

<http://forum.figu.org/cgi-bin/us/discus.cgi?pg=prev&topic=12&page=8892#POST31170>

{Norm:}

Hi Billy, In each new incarnation, I would imagine that we will have different likes, hobbies & professions etc., than we did in the last lifetime, so its very possible we will not find your Teachings again. It would be nice to get some clarification on this from you.

{Billy:}

If a person really lives according to the spirit teachings or is really trying to live according to it, then the person will have a good chance to find to it in a next incarnation and take up the impulses. Everything depends on a person's interest.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through January 28, 2008

<http://forum.figu.org/cgi-bin/us/discus.cgi?pg=prev&topic=12&page=8892#POST31170>

{Shawn:}

The short human life span of 70-100 years, along with the overpopulation of the planet, puts the reincarnation process with a shorter duration period for the spirit. In this situation many of the newer spirits evolving have less experiences and/or less time to review the life just left.

Combine with a fast changing world along with weaker family ties, the less experienced spirit enters back into a new personality with great challenges. My question is, will this cause the personality unusual characteristics that seem to compound the problems of our societies. I acknowledge that a well structured family that raises a child correctly will have the strongest effect on the child's upbringing. It's the other child that is not as fortunate I am wondering about. Is this a receipt for a condition that will suddenly correct itself on a massive scale if allowed to continue to the natural threshold.

{Billy:}

As long as there is overpopulation on Earth there will be negative effects because human beings (spirit form and consciousness-block) are reincarnated too early. These negative effects can also occur in children who are born into "well-structured" families.

Interpersonal relations are disturbed or even destroyed, and there are also effects on the environment and the planet itself.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through August 25, 2008

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/9294.html?1219651137#POST34436>

{Lonnie Morton:}

Since we are living in the most serious time in human history it seems like a "special" kind of love is necessary in order to endure the difficult times in the future. Is it possible that some who were in "true love" relationships in past lives have been or will be reunited in this life after a promise was made to do so, thus bringing about a special kind of certainty in love?

{Billy:}

Since there is always a new personality in each existence/incarnation (no exceptions!), it is not possible that two persons can promise to meet each other again in a next existence to continue with a "true love". There is no pre-determination (Vorbestimmung).

The correct way to improve the future is by realizing the Creational laws and commandments, and to live in line with them.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through September 26, 2008

<http://forum.figu.org/cgi-bin/us/discus.cgi?pg=next&topic=12&page=9294#POST34990>

{Norm:}

Dear Billy, This is hard to put in words but I will give it a try. Right now I know that I am me. I know that I am not that other person sitting next to me, or that other person I see walking down the street, or that person on TV. I know that I am me. When I am reincarnated will I know that I am an individual? I may not remember who I was in a past life, but will I know that I am a being looking out of the new beings eyes?

{Billy:}

If a person is consciously evolving he will always know that „I am me“.

You as a person do not reincarnate. There will be an entirely new "I" that has no memory or knowledge about this your present "I".

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through October 26, 2008

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/9386.html?1225075736#POST35558>

{Marcela:}

You have mentioned before that the spirit will reincarnate in the same culture and same level of evolution regarding knowledge, wisdom, love; so the spirit will reincarnate in a group of affinity to preserve continuity in its evolution. But my question is:

Due to overpopulation is it possible that this law is being broken and spirits are reincarnating in different groups of society that are not of the same level of evolution. In other words; spirits are being forced to be born in different locations (no education/religious) where the spirit would suffer a setback?

{Billy:}

No, spirit forms do still reincarnate in the same cultural and consciousness-related region/society. What is different is the periods of life and afterlife = the time the spirit form is dwelling in the Beyond.

Example: A spirit form of a Swiss person who has been educated in Switzerland will reincarnate again in the Western European region, and not in the Sahara desert region.

But the spirit form of a person from Central Africa, who has come to Switzerland as a child and has been educated in Switzerland and continues to live there, may be incarnating again in Europe.

Everything depends on the consciousness-related evolution.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through October 26, 2008

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/9386.html?1225075736#POST35558>

{Hector:}

The story of the Nokodemion spirit form is quite fascinating. My question addresses the 144218 peoples that freely decided to contribute/help/assist his mission 12000 million years ago.

The "normal" evolutionary cycle of human beings include 40-80 million years up to the high council level and 60000-80000 million years to reach arahat athersata.

There is something wrong with the evolutionary cycle of those 144218, because it does not match the "regular" or "normal" evolutionary cycle. They all should have already reached High Council level. What happens to them, to the so called "Getreuen", do they stay in the beyond for longer time between incarnations, in comparison to "normal" reincarnation cycles?

{Billy:}

There have been long periods when that group of spirit forms had been “laid on ice” (in a waiting position). However, this is a one-time exception, because all other spirit forms in our universe are evolving at normal speed and are finishing their incarnation cycles much faster and at “normal speed”.

All the many descendants of those “Getreue” have already entered the level of Arahat Athersata and have lived through their normal evolutionary cycle.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through February 28, 2009

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/9705.html?1235832337#POST38899>

{Thomas:}

Hello Mr Meier. I would like to ask about reincarnation. It seems that for every scientific bit of knowledge that there is to discover, there are hints and bits of evidence in nature that lead us to that knowledge. It seems to me that is also the case for spiritual knowledge. However, in spite of the fact that reincarnation seems evident to me, I can not seem to find any evidence for it in nature since I cannot find any evidence that the spirit exists. I understand and feel that the spirit exists, but that is just a belief since I don't don't actually "know" it exists. Is there anything in nature that is visible to average humans that points to the existence or likelihood of reincarnation? Thanks for your help and advice...

{Billy:}

The easiest example is to observe plants that wither in winter and are growing anew in spring. Life is stored within the roots or the bulb. A tree that loses its leaves can be compared to the spirit form, and the new leaves and blossoms etc. are the new personality and consciousness. The spirit can be observed in the fact that there is life.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through March 30, 2009

<http://forum.figu.org/cgi-bin/us/discus.cgi?pg=next&topic=12&page=9705#POST39703>

{Earthling:}

Regarding time spent in the beyond between material lives: Due to overpopulation, instead of 152 years between lives, what is the average time (these days), and can spiritforms literally spend only hours, days, weeks or months before reentering a fetus? Is there a formula based on the length of ones lifetime? If one lives only 20 years, will they generally spend less time in the beyond than one who lives to 80?

{Billy:}

The average time of 152 years between lives is just a ratio, based on a life that had a duration of 100 years.

Due to overpopulation this ratio is put out of function and, therefore, no statements can be made regarding the length of a spiritform's period in the beyond. Therefore, if we take your example, the spiritform of that person who has lived 80 years may incarnate sooner than the one of the other person.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through June 30, 2009

<http://forum.figu.org/cgi-bin/us/discus.cgi?pg=prev&topic=12&page=10249#POST41840>

{Jun:}

What happens to the spirit while awaiting reincarnation?

{Billy:}

Since the spirit exists in timelessness, you can say that it rests or slumbers in a waiting position. In that state it can absorb (aufnehmen) information from the storage banks of the overall consciousness block (formerly called comprehensive consciousness block; see <http://dict.figu.org>).

Another term for that state: slumber-like state of rest.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through August 24, 2009

<http://forum.figu.org/cgi-bin/us/discus.cgi?pg=next&topic=12&page=10267#POST42726>

{Peter_brodowski:}

My question is in regards to love, or true love (?)

If over the course of many incarnations, two spirits incarnate into bodies and these 2 people meet one another and say for example, one life they are brother and sister, another life they are lovers, another they are friends, in another they are mother and daughter etc.

Is there some kind of bond or love that grows stronger where perhaps the two spirits are more or less determined to always come together, and that, perhaps at a certain point when these two are able to recall the past incarnations or view future ones, that these individuals would make the conscious effort to reunite again and again?

Or perhaps I should put it this way. If one has the ability to find out whether or not a person was their wife or husband etc. in previous lives, and there was existing love between them, would it be a (from a spiritual viewpoint) advisable course of action to take, to seek to continue and strengthen that bond between two spirits?

Is there some thing you can perhaps state that may give me some valuable insight in regards to this idea?

{Billy:}

Since personalities (= that which makes a person and individual with a certain name and thinking etc.) do never incarnate again, but are dissolved after death, it is not relevant whether two spirit forms (or rather the connected personalities) have been in some interaction in former existences. Relationships, marriages and parent-child relations in this life are entirely non-relevant in future lives because each life has to deal with new people, relationships and circumstances.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through August 24, 2009

<http://forum.figu.org/cgi-bin/us/discus.cgi?pg=next&topic=12&page=10267#POST42726>

{Savio:}

Thanks for your previous answer in confirming that it is universal a spirit-form will incarnate into the embryo on the 21st or 22nd day after fertilization.

As the length of the day will be different from planet to planet, say:

On Earth, it will be 24hours X 21days = 504 hours.

On Planet A, it will be 36hours X 21days = 756 hours.

On Planet B, it will be 90hours X 21days = 1890 hours.

My question is: Does it mean that the time in hours before the incarnation of a spirit-form will be of very much different from planet to planet?

{Billy:}

No, this has to do with the distance between the planet and its sun, plus several other factors, like the way of life etc.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through August 24, 2009

<http://forum.figu.org/cgi-bin/us/discus.cgi?pg=next&topic=12&page=10267#POST42726>

{Karrol Steeves:}

On the subject of reincarnation I am trying to understand it in more depth. For example, if person who is born into this lifetime comes into a very hard life such as being born into a family where they suffered neglect, physical abuse, humiliation, poverty, and having to deal with uncaring or drug addicted parents chooses to rise above this and lead a decent life. How did the previous life determine personality and circumstances in this present lifetime, and how does the lifetime being experienced now and how it is lived determine the next incarnation? I am looking for a specific example using the above scenario so that I can understand the reincarnation process and how all this is all determined.

{Billy:}

There is no influence from a former life, and there is no influence on a future life. Each life must be taken as a independent unit, led by a new and unburdened personality.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through September 27, 2009

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/10471.html?1254041389#POST43321>

{Savio:}

Thanks for the answers towards the incarnation of a spirit-form into an embryo.

It was mentioned that: it is “Universal” for a spirit-form to incarnate into the embryo on the 21st or 22nd day after fertilization.

{Billy:}

Yes. This applies for all hominide life forms = human beings on all planets in the universe.

{Savio:}

It was also mentioned that: this has to do with the distance between the planet and its sun, plus several other factors.

{Billy:}

No, this refers to the time span of the „life/live“ and the „after death/in the beyond life“ periods only, the ratio between the time alive and the time in the beyond.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through September 27, 2009

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/10471.html?1254041389#POST43321>

{Lonnie Morton:}

Are spirit forms usually part of a collective except during this time of overpopulation on Earth? In other words, if the population was closer to normal, would we be our grandparents, or great grandparents and so on? It is my understanding that this is how it normally works. And because of overpopulation, or other factors, some ET spirit forms have been born to Earth spirit parents or out of their 'collective' if there is such a thing. Please clarify or correct me if I am wrong.

{Billy:}

You are confusing things.

Spirit forms are always a collective, a „We form“, just as the human beings on Earth are as humankind.

Overpopulation has an effect only on the duration of the time between two incarnations.

A questions: How can we be our grandparents when they are still alive?!

Each personality is unique and will never be incarnated again. Therefore, nobody can incarnate as such and such.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through November 29, 2009

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/10638.html?1259526010#POST44870>

{Lonnie Morton:}

In my previous question when I asked if spirit forms are part of a collective or we-form, what I meant was if it wasn't for overpopulation would spiritforms which are part of a we-form incarnate as our great great grandparents in previous generations. It is my understanding that because of overpopulation it is not like this anymore, that spirit forms incarnate into a different family that is not part of the same we-form.

Please explain, if you would, the circumstances that determines the incarnation lineage of spiritforms that are part of a we-form. Under what circumstances do they incarnate in the same family, many generations apart of course?

{Billy:}

Incarnation „in the same family“ is a rare exception and not the rule, because there are no „familiar bonds“ over incarnations.

Family bonds don't play a role in the incarnation laws.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through March 01, 2010

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/10920.html?1267441451#POST47742>

{Matt:}

My question relates to reincarnation. I have come to understand through various sources that the Plejaren and yourself know for sure that reincarnation is a fact. I would like you to expound on the method of how this is known as fact, is it proven through the use of spiritual/consciousness abilities or do the Plejaren have technology that allows them to know or both. Please explain this as this is a point that comes up in my discussion with others, very often.

{Billy:}

Incarnation is a fact, and this is proven by the fact that you can follow back "into" your own former incarnations if you have the ability to do so. This can be done through/via the storage banks.

(Note by Christian Frehner: Besides, it would be absolutely illogical and unjust if a person would incarnate/live only once and then either disappear into oblivion/nirwana or into a heaven up in the clouds to smell god's feet or settle down into hell where one must enjoy the warmth of eternal fire for all eternity. Our universe cannot having been built upon the tiniest amount of illogic because else it would not have become existent.)

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through July 23, 2010

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/11394.html?1279878106#POST51407>

{Hector:}

In recent weeks I have been thinking about the so-called storage banks and how they support (back up) human evolution. If I'm not wrong there exist universal, galactic and planetary storage banks where all kind of personal and collective knowledge is saved. Quite often has occurred and will continue to occur that space travelers have accidents with their space ships and from that moment on they shall reincarnate in a different planet or civilization. It comes to my mind the case of the Bardans, Tunguska, 1917.

My question is, will those stranded space travelers like the Bardans in Tunguska feel like strange, disoriented, out of place, not integrated in their new planet's first incarnation because their "reference system" about civilization's habits and rules is completely different? (Something similar had to happen to the old Lyrans and Vegans, but those Lyrans and Vegans have had so many reincarnations on Earth that they do not feel strange on Earth, but familiar and even consider themselves an earth human in all aspects. Again, the question: When incarnating for the first time on a different planet, do human beings feel "out of place" because they have no experiences in that planet (they have not stored a single experience, thought, feeling in their "new" planetary storage banks)?

{Billy:}

No. If a rather highly-evolved human being dies on another planet, his next consciousness-block is adjusted to the level on that planet. In the case of the Bardans or their spirit forms respectively, they will incarnate in the highest-possible cultural area on the planet.

The consciousness-block is always adjusted {to} the evolutionary level of a population on a planet. A person could not exist if the gap/difference is too large.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through October 25, 2010

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/11487.html?1288019376#POST52672>

{Joe:}

Billy, why does the spirit of the human being has to stay in the fine matter world for 152 years and is this based only when a planet has a human population of approximately five hundred million?

{Billy:}

This is a proportional number only and means that if a person lives 100 years, the duration in the fine matter world would last 152 years (if there is NO overpopulation on this planet).

(Note by Christian Frehner: This number of 152 is connected to planet Earth and does differ from planets in other solar systems.)

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through October 25, 2010

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/11487.html?1288019376#POST52672>

{Marcela:}

I have a question about the evolution of the spirit. When a scientist dies in the middle of the jungle, his/her spirit will travel back to the culture, which is more suited to continue its evolution. Then I was wondering; is the spirit of a human attracted by the vibration of the spirits of their parents or the mother, so that the spirit is born from parents that are evolved as well? Or does the reincarnation of the spirit happen in a complete random way, but within the same culture?

{Billy:}

The parents have no influence on the attraction of a spirit form into the embryo. Everything is occurring "fügungsmässig". The spirit form does incarnate into a region/culture where there is a similar average level of evolution to its own.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through November 29, 2010

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/11540.html?1291041468#POST53028>

{Hector:}

Hi Billy we all know the problems overpopulation is causing to our planet. I imagine that overpopulation causes not only problems in this material dimension where people incarnate in material bodies (diesseits) but also in the beyond (jenseits). What I would like to know is if there can appear negative consequences to our next personality if due to overpopulation, instead of staying in the beyond say 152 years, we stay a mere 1 or 5 years.

I came to this conclusion after thinking that the material realm and the beyond are two different manifestations of the same reality so, if overpopulation does provoke all kind of negative consequences in the material realm, it should also provoke negative consequences in the beyond.

Does a very short stay/permanence in the beyond imply or result in negative/unfavorable living conditions for our next personalities? How does overpopulation affect the processes taking place in the beyond?

{Billy:}

If a spirit form is forced to reincarnate too soon, the overall consciousness-block had not enough time to fully "program" the new personality. As a result, there are human beings born who have great problems to get firm ground under their feet or, in other words, to live into their life. Other effects are weakness, non-thoughtness, instability, etc.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through April 25, 2011

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/11685.html?1303739550#POST55134>

{Joe:}

Billy, how does the spirit review its last incarnation when it is in the fine matter world?

{Billy:}

The spirit form does not review its last re-incarnation, as, btw, is also the case with the former consciousness block because it has ceased to exist and has been dissolved into pure energy.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through October 01, 2011

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/11851.html?1317472716#POST57303>

{Imamovic:}

If any humans from another world came to earth, lived and died here, it means their spirit-form would be bound to earth and their next incarnation would be on earth.

Now if they are spiritually more developed than humans on earth, lets say a 1000 to 2000 years, does that mean that their spirit forms would stay in the beyond for a longer time, until the majority of humans on earth have reached similar or close spiritual development level?

{Billy:}

This has already happened on Earth, e.g. when the Lyrians came to this planet and died here. They just "joined" the spirit forms of the original Earth humans. They had not to wait for the Earth humans to "catch up". The effect of an extraterrestrial spirit form is automatically "blocked" when it reincarnates on a foreign planet where the average evolutionary level of the people is lower. But of course there remains a influence to the effect that the person with the ET spirit form shows a somewhat higher level of evolution in the material life.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through October 01, 2011

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/11851.html?1317472716#POST57303>

{Clive:}

By doing a search for answers, I've learnt that the 'spirit' generally has no recollection of its 'Former Lives'! My question is, when we are 'Reincarnated' many (possibly thousands or millions) times over, is it possible that we can 'link or meet again' live our lives meet again with any former 'physical' family or friends that we've encountered in our previous lifetimes? (although we have no memories of it)? If that's the case 'why' is it for a learning process? to the individuals. Do we reincarnate as a same 'Group' or people to meet again. I ask as you said that we generally are 'reincarnated' into the same (Planet) 'country or was it culture' that we were born!

{Billy:}

Yes, that's possible, but not the rule.

The spirit form reincarnates because of the learning process. This is generally so, and also so if there may be a case when two spirit forms have been reincarnated in two persons who are related to each other at that time and who, as other personalities, had been related before.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through November 26, 2011

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/11971.html?1322350973#POST58273>

{Ramirez:}

A question concerning the number of reincarnations a spiritform undertakes during its development.

You have previously stated that once a spiritform reaches the High Council semi spirit level which might occur after 60-80 million years of material reincarnations then no more reincarnations take place and a spiritform at that level will gradually evolve and transform into the first level of pure spiritform Arahath Athersata.

The question concerns the first 60-80 million years of material reincarnations occurring on various planets.

Let's take a low average of 60 years per material life then 90 years in the beyond between lives making 150 years per reincarnation as an example.

Then we must consider if it's actually possible for that to occur continuously in an unbroken series and for that to occur there must be a sufficient living population on the planet to facilitate this.

With approximately 127 billion spiritforms assigned to this planet waiting in the queue it would take an extremely long time given the up to now relatively low population levels for each one to continuously reincarnate within the parameters of the cycle.

Most human spiritforms are less than 1.5 million years old which indicates by the mathematics that they may have had 10,000 reincarnations at most.

Most humans are not hulking brutes or grunting club swinging neanderthals though a few with that type of mentality manage to become political and religious leaders somehow but that's beside the point.

Indigenous earth spirits who started reincarnating at the very start 4.5 million years ago might have had 30,000 reincarnations at most then the few spiritforms of extraterrestrial origin who died here are obviously older.

The mathematics.

150 years = 1 reincarnation.

1,500 years = 10 reincarnations.

15,000 years = 100 reincarnations.

150,000 years = 1,000 reincarnations.

1.5 million years = 10,000 reincarnations.

15 million years = 100,000 reincarnations.

60 million years = 400,000 reincarnations.

75 million years = 500,000 reincarnations.

So by the mathematics if an average age of 60 years material life is maintained and that's probably not correct as advanced populations can live to 1,000 years and beyond then logically how many reincarnations can fit into 60-80 million years?

On average it would probably be less than 500,000 yet Semjase & Ptaah have both stated in contact reports billions. Even if those were mistranslations or misinterpretations and they really said millions even that doesn't fit mathematically.

So what exactly could it be? How many reincarnations?

If the actual linear time requirement for material reincarnations was 60-80 billion years then some millions of reincarnations would indeed be possible using those mathematical calculations but you have stated it's 60-80 million years of material reincarnations and no more after the semi spirit level.

Can you finally lay this issue to rest and explain how it works.

Out of all the material I've read so far it's the only unexplainable anomaly though how a spiritform which enlivens a human body can visit itself via time travel into the past or future is also another difficult concept to grasp but that's another question.

{Billy:}

You cannot take an average to calculate the amount of lifetimes. The higher evolved a person is, the longer he lives. There are lives of less than one year, and there are lives longer than a thousand years. And a person who fulfills his reincarnation cycle within 40 million years, will have to use less incarnations than a person who needs 60 million years to get rid of his material body. All of this depends on the motivation, the learning and the evolution of the individual. Regarding Ptaah and Semjase speaking of "billions" of years: they meant (spoke of) humanity as a whole/collective, and not an individual. When they are talking about "Mensch der Erde" oder "der Erdenmensch", they mean humanity as a whole.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through November 26, 2011

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/11971.html?1322350973#POST58273>

{Paul:}

I just have a question and I hope you can answer it for me. I am slowly reading 'Dekalog Dodekalog' as my German is not too good yet, and verse number 459 on page 59 says ; "Yet without compliance in the laws and recommendations of the Creation this is not possible, because when the awake time of the Creation must give way to the time of slumber and you haven't in this time fulfilled your purpose of perfection and returning to the Creation, then you fall victim to Totsein for all-great-times in an absolute elimination."

Can you explain to me what this means please. How can the spirit-form fall victim to an absolute elimination?

{Billy:}

You shall not take this literally because it is just a "if". In reality this will not be the case because no spirit form will be left back. Each spirit form will reach the level of Arahatsata and upwards.

(Note by Christian Frehner: Some stubborn and lazy people need 60 million years, others need 40 million years only to reach the level of the High Counsel. It looks like some individuals are in need of "einem 'Chlapf' mit der Geissel", as we say in Switzerland.)

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through December 24, 2011

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/12028.html?1324737197#POST58762>

{Theredpill:}

In one of your previous answers, you said that "David Wilcock is no Edgar Cayce." Since we know personalities do not reincarnate but the spirit form does, we can assume that your answer means the spirit-form of the two are not the same. If not, please elaborate.

My question is which source was this confirmation from?

{Billy:}

Just by thinking logically. If Edgar Cayce really had a more-than-average evolved spiritform, there would be the requirement of a longer time span to exist in the realm of the other world (Jenseits), in order to digest and to build up the new consciousness-block.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through December 24, 2011

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/12028.html?1324737197#POST58762>

{Joe:}

Billy, can you please, if possible explain to me how did the Plejaren come to the conclusion that on Earth the human spirit or spirit-forms has to stay the duration it was in the coarse matter world multiplied by about one and a half times in the fine matter world? I mean, how is this calculated?

{Billy:}

The ratio between the duration to exist in the "realm of the other world" (beyond) and the actual life is depending on the distance between a planet and its sun. This is a law of Creation and is working normally when there is no overpopulation on a planet.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through December 24, 2011

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/12028.html?1324737197#POST58762>

{Imamovic:}

After death, it takes about 1.5 times the life-span of a human to incarnate once again into the material life. During the time in the beyond, the actual time on earth is different then in the beyond dimension.

What would be the exact ratio of the time here and the time there, if there is a measurable time in the beyond?

{Billy:}

In the so-called "beyond" (realm of the other world) there is no time calculation, because that realm is timeless. There are no watches in the "beyond".

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through December 24, 2011

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/12028.html?1324737197#POST58762>

{Corey:}

I know that Religion has about 800 years left on this planet. I also know that 4/5 of earth humanity suffers from Gotteswahnglaube (Gotteswahn und Gotteswahnkrankheit). I have been reading your books (Kelch der Wahrheit, Om and so many others) and striving for my personal evolution for some years now and will continue to do so until the end of my days or I run out of books- my question is do you think I can in my future incarnations I can avoid being born into a religious family or if that is not possible do you think I could draw on my impulses from the storage banks to break my consciousness free from the religious enslavement of Religion? In my future incarnations I wish to break free so I can find out about the mission, study again, and live my future incarnations with Wahrheit, Wissen, Weisheit, Liebe, Freiheit, Frieden, and Harmonie.

{Billy:}

In about 800 years from now a greater number of people will begin to think about reality and getting away from religious belief.

In your case, and in the case of everyone, there is no guarantee that your spiritform will be born into a non-religious family. This, however, is no obstacle as several examples of FIGU members prove who were capable to detach themselves from the religious upbringing in religious families. Each person with his personality must find his way anew in each incarnation, to find the truth in reality.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through January 28, 2012

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/12105.html?1327818577#POST59338>

{Ebe_aura:}

Do babies/Spirits choose their 'Parents' (or maybe friends) before they come/enter into this world? or is it Random? The reason I ask is because of traits or characteristics learned.

{Billy:}

No, they don't. It's not random in the sense that human beings understand the term. It's a Fügung, an application of the law of cause and effect, through the creational laws. It's the same principle as insemination/procreation.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through January 28, 2012

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/12105.html?1327818577#POST59338>

{Joe:}

How do we know that reincarnation really exists.

I still find it difficult to understand why we are here. There has to be more to it. Are we missing something important?

{Billy:}

If there was no reincarnation of the spirit form and the evolving overall consciousness-block which creates a new consciousness-block for each new life, Earth (or any other planet) would be populated by idiots only who had no higher knowledge and could not accomplish anything. There would be no progress, no knowledge, no wisdom etc.

Reincarnation is an evolutionary process which enables and secures the storage of knowledge that can be used (and based upon) in the next lives. This, in turn, makes it possible that the human being can evolve consciousness-related.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through March 26, 2012

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/12167.html?1332788572#POST60073>

{Jacob:}

My thoughts about the transition of a very highly developed human into the high council are that the transition occurs after physical death, the spirit and its overall consciousness-block, and a fine-elemental body move over into the level of the high-council, where it stays in an ever increasingly finer form until entry into the level Arahat Athersata, can you shed your light on this?

{Billy:}

There's no sense going into details because you cannot make use of it anyway. What matters is how life's values are implemented into one's own life.

What can be said regarding the transition process from the material world via level of High Council to Arahata: It's an automatism. Depending on a person's (and his descendant-personalities') efforts and intelligence etc., the process to gain "entrance" into the High Council realm encompasses between 40 and 60 million years. Based on the 60 million, it takes an average of 18 million years incarnated as a human being, and 42 million years in the "Jenseitsbereich" (other world).

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through October 28, 2012

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/12430.html?1351442685#POST62661>

{Piyali:}

I have an only 18 year old son, with special needs in the area of communication. He feels very wise and has led us down the path to finding your spiritual teachings. He feels like an old Spirit, for lack of a better description.

Yet I have been told that the Spirit Form of children with special needs are new and young spirits who are just beginning their learning phase.

Please help me understand if and how the Spirit Form of children with special needs are different?

{Billy:}

There are no new spirits or spirit-forms anymore here on Earth.

Your son's problem has nothing to do with the spirit-form, but with the consciousness and the psyche.

(Note by Christian Frehner: And probably a malfunctioning brain or some other physical malfunction may also play a role.

All human beings who live on our planet have a spirit-form that has already incarnated many times.)

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through October 28, 2012

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/12430.html?1351442685#POST62661>

{Marcela:}

I was discussing with some friends about the first spirit form incarnating in a human body for the first time, and we know that from that point on the human must learn from nature, its laws to procure the evolution of the spirit form. From this learning process, the human gathers knowledge in the spirit form for the future reincarnations, or does the spirit form contain all knowledge from the beginning of its creation, and the human simply matches/compares knowledge through experiencing life. In other words, is the spirit form "empty" when reincarnating for the first time, or does it contain all knowledge that is not available to us, but only through living many lives?

{Billy:}

When the human spirit-form enters a human body for the first time, it is neutral and has no knowledge. During the following re-incarnations, knowledge is "fed" through the material consciousness (via thoughts and feelings).

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through July 27, 2013

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/12864.html?1374984385#POST66867>

{Aditya:}

Regarding evolution and wisdom, upon death the knowledge gained by a human being is passed on to his/her next incarnation as wisdom.

Question: can you better explain this statement with an example? even a basic example would do, to understand it better.

{Billy:}

Upon death knowledge and wisdom are stored in the storage-banks. That knowledge, and its essence (wisdom), is/are continually released in a next existence = next life. This ensures that in an actual life, information = knowledge from previous existences can be used again and built on, which guarantees a steady evolution.

(Note by Christian Frehner: This means, that during one's lifetime, impulses are „appearing“ in one's consciousness which can [but must not] be „detected“ and then used to gain further knowledge.)

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through July 27, 2013

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/12864.html?1374984385#POST66867>

{Theredpill:}

It was suggested that children under the age of 5 often connect with their past lives in some capacity that is unclear to me. This may suggest a connection to why most people cannot remember what happened before the age of 5.

There is (was) a researcher, Ian Stevenson of the University of Virginia who dedicated himself to the study of reincarnation cases of only children. Many of the documented cases do corroborate with your information.

The reason I mention this is because it is abundantly clear that the majority of people following your information is interested in this, myself included.

Now, my question then, has to do with what was exchanged on the English FIGU forum, where it was said (by yourself) that "language," being culturally tied, is a factor in the spirit-form's re-entry to the next physical body. What I would like is a more clearly stated set of conditions -- that is my question. Here are just some things I contemplated on -- they are not questions but hopefully you can tie your answer to clarify this central question concerning the role of language/culture in the process governing reincarnation:

- * When a planet such as Earth is freshly populated with new physical "human" forms where no language existed
- * When a family that is bi-lingual and more
- * When a person is bi-lingual and more
- * When spirit form has a vibrational match with expecting parents on the other side of the planet that is of the same language/culture or different
- * When a spirit form has remained in the fine-matter world for much longer than the average "wait" time for re-entry (like 5 times the normal cycle of rebirth) due to region/cultural binds
- * When a person dies before living a full life -- there is a documented case of one person having reincarnated two more times in the same family due to murder (for a total of three personalities in one family's lifetime). This is clearly within the guideline of language/culture.
- * In a previous answer you gave to another, it was mentioned that spiritform that physically died in free-space would go to the nearest planet and how this ties to language/cultural selection

{Billy:}

Language is not a factor regarding the reincarnation of a spirit-form into a certain embryo. It's the cultural-consciousness-based factors which are decisive for the location of a reincarnation. What matters is the existing level of evolution (consciousness-based) at the time of a person's death.

(Note by Christian Frehner = an example: The spirit-form of a Swiss person, who lived here all life, or a part of it, and is used to the way of thinking and the culture and level of knowledge etc. etc. in Switzerland, will reincarnate in Europe again, but not necessarily in Switzerland, but probably also in Austria or Germany or France etc, where a similar level of consciousness-based culture and way of life etc. etc. exists.

If a person from, e.g., Afghanistan, migrates to Switzerland or Germany etc., lives the rest of his/her life here and gets used to the way of thinking, the traditions, the culture in the center countries of Europe, learns the language, etc., then the spirit-form of that person may reincarnate in Europe in a next existence, and not again in Afghanistan or Pakistan or India etc. If in a family of immigrants in Switzerland there's a family member who does only live within his/her family, does not learn German or French etc, does only watch TV programs from his/her homeland, then such a person's spirit-form will reincarnate in his/her original homeland or surrounding countries/cultures.)

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through October 27, 2013

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/12930.html?1382934744#POST67883>

{Indi (for Derrick):}

My question is: (In regard to reincarnation) Whether it be special love bonds between spouses or deep family bonds, or the most evolution in certain geographical places, how does the spirit form of the human being designate where and through whom it incarnates (reincarnates)? What factors play a role and why?

{Billy:}

The spirit-form does not „designate“; quite to the contrary, it „is designated“ according to creational laws. Billy does not know how this works, but of course everything depends on Schwingungen (swinging waves).

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through March 23, 2014

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/13082.html?1395625264#POST69204>

{Savio:}

I refer to the spirit-form of Androids.

It was mentioned that Androids are enlivened by an artificially created spirit-form, i.e. they have no IMEDMAN spirit-form.

My Question is: Would these artificially created spirit-form also observe the creative natural laws of reincarnation?

{Billy:}

OMEDAM is the word.

The android spirit-forms are also capable of reincarnation, but not as human beings, but only as androids with android consciousness-forms.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through April 29, 2014

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/13110.html?1398765438#POST69488>

{MarBar:}

Ptaah said the impulses left by the Bafath will affect people on this planet for several hundred more years. Now, everytime I think about the Bafath, I get very angry and I will never get over it. Now my question, Billy can the Andromedan High Council or Arahath Athersata get rid of the residual impulses left by the Bfath; can you please explain?

{Billy:}

Basically, such impulses are stored personality-based (persönlichkeitsmässig) and will „hit“/influence only the new personality in a next reincarnation of the spirit-form in question. This means that terrestrial human beings will not be hit by these „residual impulses“.

Anyone who lives (thinks, feels and acts) according to the creational laws and recommendations will not get into such swinging waves (Schwingungen) and, therefore, will not be affected. (Note by Christian Frehner: People who are reading information like the one about the impulses and the Bafaths should avoid creating confusion and emotions, like fear, hate, etc., but keep in mind one of the basic principles of the spiritual teaching, namely that controlling one's thoughts is the main thing and focus where the human being more or less decides about his/her life and destiny etc. etc. and can develop kind of a protection against external negative influences, etc.)

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through August 26, 2014

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/13288.html?1409058022#POST71152>

{Matt lee:}

My question is once the spirit enters the embryo on the 21st day how long into the pregnancy does the foetus have to be before it can interact with the parents even just at a subconscious and unconscious level with the stimulus that the parents provide for him/her whether in thoughts, voice/sound, feelings or touch?

{Billy:}

During pregnancy it is a one-way process from the mother and father etc. to the fetus, i.e. the fetus only receives. This happens unconsciously and non-consciously. These „outside impulses“ are building the Grundcharakter (basic character), followed by the Erziehungs- and Selbsterziehungscharakter (educational and self-educational character).

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through October 28, 2014

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/13348.html?1414531731#POST71809>

{Matt lee:}

Even before a child is born and is gestating in the mothers womb would talking aloud the spiritual teachings to the child help improve and train certain abilities of the child which would enhance his/her chance at a spiritual life when born?.

{Billy:}

What matters is how and what the mother is thinking and how she is „building up“ her psyche. Her way of thinking etc. is transferred as impulses to the unborn child.

(Note by Christian Frehner: It is not required that the mother reads the spiritual teaching aloud. What matters is that she lives according to the spiritual-natural laws and recommendations.)

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through November 24, 2014

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/13363.html?1416840615#POST72005>

{Marcela:}

Now that we know what happens after we die, I have no longer any fear related to the passing from this world to the other. However, lately I have been developing some concerns about reincarnating in such terrible conditions on this planet. My life right is very good and the thought of reincarnating to bad parents has me very worried sometimes. What would you recommend me and us to do in order to accept this inevitable fate? Thank you truly for your time and patience.

{Billy:}

Since your next personality will not remember this actual lifetime there's absolutely no need to worry. You cannot influence your next life from the actual life. However, what you can do now is to make the best out of this life, i.e. live according to the creational-natural laws as good as possible.

(Note by Christian Frehner: Just as it is or has been the case in this life, where you were able to achieve a good life, the same is possible again in next existences. What you learn in this life, will or may bring you some benefit in your next personality's existence.)

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through March 01, 2015

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/13455.html?1425233915#POST73065>

{Rishi:}

Since the population on Earth is growing at such rapid pace, I was wondering if all the spirit-form that take birth on Earth had previous births on Earth or could there be new or other worldly spirits with no previous births on Earth? I know each spirit form is bound to take birth on the planet where he died but since the current population is 7bn and there haven't been so many people on earth before so I wanted to know if that's possible.

{Billy:}

There's no need to activate new spirit-forms on Earth because already 129 milliard/billion (according to Arahath Athersata's information) spirit-forms have at least once been activated/incarnated/reincarnated. However, most of them are inactive.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through March 01, 2015

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/13455.html?1425233915#POST73065>

{Tien:}

Does one's spirit-form always incarnate in the same astrological sign of the zodiac?

{Billy:}

No.

FIGU Bulletin Nr. 58

Sekten – Hauptreligionen als Muttersekten... [Sects: Main Religions as Mother Sects and their “Advisors on Sects”]

<https://www.figu.org/ch/verein/periodika/bulletin/2006/nr-58/sekten>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Sects:\_Main\_Religions\_as\_Mother\_Sects\_and\_their\_%22Advisors\_on\_Sects%22

... The fundamental good characteristics of the human nature, those being virtues, feeling for the other, honesty, intelligence, discipline, love and feeling of responsibility etc., are addressed by the term consciousness-related and they are altogether called into being and directed by a positive motivation. Fundamentally, all of these characteristics are put latent into the consciousness already from the moment when the new consciousness and new personality as well as the new sub-consciousness are created by the overall-consciousness-block. Therefore, these basic values do not first appear in the course of the human being's life, but have to be searched for only within himself, comprehended, and developed by the human being. ...

FIGU Bulletin Nr. 78

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/FIGU\_Bulletin\_78

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/What\_All\_Human\_Beings\_Of\_Earth\_Should\_Know!

What all human beings of Earth should know!

What must be said about the creational-natural law of the reincarnation of the human spirit-form, as well as regarding the fact that a human being's responsibility does not stop with regard to life and death, because he/she is the guardian of it (life and death) and of him/herself.

But also regarding his/her repeated lives as always new personalities, everything demands from the human being a strict, inevitable and comprehensively complying responsibility, as it is determined by the creational-natural principles.

Human being of the Earth, you are erring greatly when you think that death is the end of your spirit, your life and your continuous existence.

Actually, regarding this matter, it is not so as you generally erroneously assume.

It is not the case that through death your entire existence ends and that everything of you is irrevocably erased and extinguished, as you secretly are afraid of, because, truthfully, there is another life for you after death.

The reason for this is a high-fine-fluidal and spirit-energetical factor within you, namely the spirit-form, which on the one hand, is integrated into the rebirth and on the other hand, makes it possible for you that after death you are reborn with a new consciousness as a new personality. This, your spirit-form is independent of the coarse-material body and of the material consciousness; it is immortal and therefore, not integrated into the material change of becoming, passing and re-growth.

Your creational-nature-based given spirit, i.e. your spirit-form embodies the true power of life which you can experience yourself as a human being each day as well as in the form of the whole existence of nature around you, the planet as well as the fauna and the flora.

Within each human being exists the more or less conscious drive and the constant natural instinct for unalterable answers regarding all original, existential questions of the actual life's origin and the possible continued life.

In order to find all the timeless creational-natural truths within and outside the consciousness, the human being must throw away all of his/her imaginings which are based on a faith, a religion or on a pure materialism, so that he/she becomes and can be free in his/her consciousness, unbiased and clear.

For the ascertainment of the truth he/she must dismiss out of their consciousness, their thoughts and feelings all the false things which, until now, they have learned, taken over and what they have falsely imagined.

This is necessary so that he/she, as innocent and neutral as a newborn child, can proceed on the quest for the truth and may also find it.

Without the knowledge of the real truth of all being (material realm) and BEING (spiritual, high-fine-fluidal realm), he/she cannot be joyful at the end of his/her days and cannot knowingly and wisely look death in the eye, because without the knowledge about the real truth he/she cannot realise the facts of the efficacy of the laws of procreation, of life, of death, of the new birth of the new personality and the rebirth of the spirit, i.e., the spirit-form.

Without the true knowledge about the natural laws and recommendations of the Creation Universal Consciousness, the human being cannot find true happiness within him/herself, because without the knowledge with regard to reality he/she cannot understand him/herself and cannot help him/herself.

If he/she wants to be happy, understand life, really enjoy it and lead it sensibly, then it must be clear to him/her that he/she bears a great responsibility within him/herself since the day of the procreation of his/her first personality through the creational-natural principles, a responsibility which does not stop at the death of his/her body and his/her personality.

The "spiritual teaching" or "teaching of the truth, teaching of the spirit, teaching of the life" explains absolutely clearly that dying and death are not the end of everything.

In life – to which death and the so-called death-life also belong – there is no final disappearance.

There is always only a converting oneself and changing oneself.

Life is "becoming and passing" as well as a new "passing and becoming-again"; a process that is based on creational-natural principles.

Nothing that exists will ever get lost or be simply dissolved into nothing, which is also true for the human being and that which basically constitutes a human being.

If the human being knows this and knows the facts about it, his/her fear of dying and of death disappears because he/she knows that – in the eternal circle of life – death is only a stopping-place in the "overall consciousness-block" that has been created in the realm of the other world by his/her spirit-form.

The spirit and the overall consciousness-block that was created by it for the human being, continue to exist in an otherworldly high-fine-fluidal realm after the dying and death of the material body, in which case, the old consciousness-block within the overall consciousness-block is dissolved, converted into neutral energy and from it, a new consciousness-block with a new personality is created.

From there, the newly-created consciousness-block and the new personality together with the energy-form spirit, i.e., spirit-form are returning into a materially-bound body existence in due course, into a new human being.

From this results the question, what then constitutes the human being as a human being in his/her deepest inner nature?

Also on this, the spiritual teaching gives a clear and definite answer: the most important thing in a human being is his/her so-called "spirit-form" or simply his/her "spirit", which, as an immortal, high-fine-fluidal energy- packet, keeps the material consciousness and the body alive and so embodies the essential power of the life.

The term "spirit-form", i.e., "spirit" must not be falsely understood, however.

The spirit is no ghost which is haunting around and it also is no transparent humanly shadowy figure from the other world in a flowing white gown.

The spirit, i.e., the spirit-form of the human being is a pure high-fine-fluidal energy that has been created by the Creation and which enlivens the human being as his/her innermost nature.

The spirit of the human being is more or less his/her high-fine-fluidal energy source, his/her indestructible inner life-power.

The spirit-form first enables the life of the human being, thus the ability of existence of his/her whole body, his/her consciousness, his/her thoughts and the feelings resulting from them, which are responsible for the formation of the psyche as well as for the vegetative nervous system which regulates the functioning of the organs, and so on and so forth.

The spirit is highly concentrated high-fine-fluidal energy which was created by the high-spirit-energy Creation Universal Consciousness.

The spirit within the human being must not be equated with the material consciousness which alone can create ideas and thoughts and the resulting feelings in the material existence of the human being.

This means, however, that there is no "spiritual ownership" or "spiritual illness" because the spirit, i.e., the spirit-form is absolutely inviolable by attacks from the material consciousness realm.

That is why there can only be a "consciousness ownership" and a "consciousness illness", because only the human material consciousness which creates conscious ideas can fall victim to illnesses or any other impairments or damages, but never the spirit, i.e., the spirit-form.

The Creation, in turn, is neither a god in the shape of a human being, nor also a figure-like or highest material "Wesenheit" which has created the heaven and Earth and who is watching over the human being and telling him/her what to do.

In most ancient times, god and gods were figures of fantasy that were used in fairy-tales as fantastic, most high Wesenheiten which were standing above all life and existing things, in order to give a shape to the creative one, i.e., the Creation-force.

God or gods, however, which are presented in a religious or sectarian as well as any other belief-based view, were or always are human beings of flesh and blood, who were, or are higher evolved than other human beings in certain things.

In this respect a "god" is another term and word for "king of wisdom".

And wisdom means nothing other than having acquired and owning a highly-developed knowledge and ability in relative perfection in a certain field, e.g. in a science, etc.

Contrary to the fairy-tale fantasy-figure and the "god" as a king of wisdom, the Creation, however, is the greatest, energy-impulse-based highest intelligent, mightiest and most-highly developed spirit-energy-form in the universe.

It is a neutral, asexual and impersonal energy through whose principles the spirit-forms of all living creatures were created and still are created.

As has been mentioned before, the Creation is also being called "Universal Consciousness" and "Great Unity" etc., in which case, however, it shows absolutely no similarity with a human god or with any other life form, but is only the purest high-spiritual energy.

Even a human god is a creature who was produced as a human being from the creational-natural laws and thus owes his/her existence to the spirit-energy Creation.

The Creation, as a force creating all since the existence of the universe, has created unchangeable laws of nature, i.e., creational-natural laws, into which is ordered everything in the universe and therefore, also in all life and in all existence.

Besides the laws of nature, which the human beings know through the natural sciences, e.g. gravitation, the principle of causality i.e., cause and effect etc., there are also spiritual as well as material-consciousness-based laws that have an effect into the human being's daily life, and naturally, also on the becoming and passing of the human being.

One of these laws is the rebirth, i.e., reincarnation of the human spirit, together with the birth of an entirely new consciousness with a new personality in a new human body which is procreated in the natural way together by a male and a female human being.

So the human being in his/her innermost Wesen is high-fine-fluidal and therefore immortal, simply in regards to the immortality of the spirit-form.

The part-piece Creation-spirit, the spirit, i.e., the spirit-form in him/her, is of a pure creational-law-based nature and therefore not bound to becoming and passing as is the material.

This is quite in contrast with the body of the human being which inevitably ages and sooner or later dies.

Everything that the human being acquires as real knowledge, real wisdom and true love, remains stored for him/her for all times, because all positive, equalised values, among other things, are stored by his/her spirit, i.e., spirit-form, however also recorded and deposited in a human being's material consciousness and in his/her storage-banks, where they remain his/her immortal property.

And as a repetition: when the human being dies, then his/her spirit, i.e. spirit-form enters into the otherworldly, high-fine-fluidal realm, whereas his/her half-material consciousness-block crosses over to the otherworldly, high-fine-fluidal overall consciousness-block that has been created by the spirit-form, which dissolves the old consciousness and the connected personality, and converts them into purerefined, neutral energy, from which a new consciousness with a new personality is formed.

From the essence of the valuable knowledge-, love- and wisdom-data, of all the former personalities, therefore, the concentrated knowledge, ability, the wisdom and love, etc., of all former lives of the human being, a completely new consciousness-block with a new personality is created, in which case, then the whole, together with the reincarnating spirit, is born into the newly procreated body, as soon as the time for the rebirth of the spirit, i.e., the spirit-form has arrived.

Each human being has therefore already lived many lives as a human being, and still has countless lives ahead, and indeed, always as a human being in a human body, with a human consciousness and with everything that goes with it, e.g., the psyche, the subconsciousness, the forms of the unconscious, the character and the mentality, etc.

Each new consciousness-block with its own new personality animates a human body again and again, but never the body of an animal or other creatures, etc, just as the creational-human spirit-form, i.e., spirit, can always only animate a human body and indeed, during all of its rebirths, whereby it follows its own reincarnation line from which it cannot escape.

For the human being's own protection the creational-natural laws prevent that he/she can remember former personalities, because he/she simply could not cope with the flood of information, and he/she couldn't master his/her life in the "here and now" with all its tasks, challenges and problems, and would fall into confusion or insanity if he/she would have access to all the information from his/her former personalities.

The memories of former lives are therefore not yet possible for him/her, because he/she has not yet worked out the necessary capabilities and powers and has not built them up within him/herself.

Only in this kind and wise can he/she begin each life freely, unburdened and completely anew and can build up completely new knowledge, new powers and capabilities.

A recollection of former lives would only be damaging and even connected with danger, of suffering damage in the consciousness, i.e., becoming confused or insane.

There is no heaven and no hell in a religious sense, because heaven and hell are conditions of the human being's psyche, which he/she creates him/herself through the effects of his/her thoughts and the feelings resulting from it.

Heaven and hell are no locations of an everlasting pain or a paradise, so, therefore, of no purgatory and eternal damnation, where a devil is executing its roaring rule.

Also no angels and archangels are waiting at some paradisaal location in heaven where a benevolent and yet obedience-, submissiveness- and punishment- demanding god is wielding his sceptre, because truly, such locations do not exist, but are only fabrications of fantasising windbags, swindlers and cheats regarding religious and sectarian beliefs.

Ultimately, such imaginings only serve to lead the human beings to believe in an imaginary reward for his/her dogmatic-submissive devoutness, or, in the case of hell, punishment of purgatory and the eternal hellish damnation, giving them a malicious fear of hell and screaming, frightful imaginations, in order to be able to determine over them, to rule and to make them fall in bondage as slaves of faith.

Belief, however, does not mean knowledge, and only a knowing human being can become free of the fear of death, through which he/she will also not be intimidated anymore through threats of punishment by the avenging hand of an imaginary god or devil which do not exist.

Just as erroneous is the teaching of the karma, according to which a human being is punished for the actions of his/her former personalities from former lives.

That is in itself impossible for the reason because each personality is created completely anew and with a clean record, from one life to the other life and without anything in common with the former personalities, except of course the power of the spirit, i.e., the spirit-form, which enlivens him/her.

Each human being must bear the positive and negative consequences of his/her thinking, doings and activities in each present actual life; however, when this life ends, then his/her consciousness-block and the personality cease to exist and with it, all his/her mistakes and unright, etc., which he/she made and committed.

A transfer of reward or guilt in a religious sense from one personality to another personality is absolutely nonsensical and impossible.

The idea of the karma is therefore based on a false view of things and on unknowledge of the real principles regarding the creational-natural laws and recommendations as well as regarding the life, the dying, the death and the rebirth of the spirit-form, as well as the new birth of the new personality.

Dear human being of this world, be you man or woman, girl, boy, old or young, you now may be asking yourself: "Why then the whole thing; what is the sense of life and the many rebirths of the spirit and the new births of the new personalities?"

The answer is just as simple as natural, quite in contrast to the confusing claims of the religions, sectarian gurus, false philosophers and natural scientists, etc., who do not know about the spiritual teaching or who simply scorn it or make a joke out of it.

The purpose of the human being is to develop, respectively, evolve his/her spirit-form inhabiting within him/herself as highly as possible over many, nearly infinite, reincarnations through always new births new consciousness-blocks and with it, also new personalities and their consciousness-based learning with regard to love, knowledge and wisdom, in order that some day, in many millions or billions of years, his/her spirit-form can return into the Creation and can unite with it.

As a result, the Creation Universal Consciousness, i.e., the universal spirit-energy mass Creation itself can, in turn, evolve a tiny bit ahead and higher in an impulse-based manner. In principle and according to the creational-natural laws, this process never comes to an end because there is no absolute perfection, consequently, the spirit-energy Creation can never be perfect, but relatively perfect only, and must unstopably continue to store knowledge and wisdom and must evolve.

The life of the human being and the existence of the creational-human spirit-form may be compared to a long journey through space and time as well as through this world and the other world, during which the spirit-form as well as the consciousness-block of the human being, with all his/her always new personalities in always new human bodies, can learn very much. As a result, they can acquire always more love, knowledge and wisdom and, through it, steadily and unstopably evolve in every way.

The human spirit is something very special and specific and can never reincarnate or be reborn into an animal or creature's body, therefore, neither in an animal, creature nor plant, etc., as is on the contrary, falsely claimed by Hinduism (rebirth = palingenesis, transmigration of souls). Only the human being has a conscious evolution-capable consciousness which draws its life-power from the minuteness of the creational-human spirit-form, the centre of which may be found in the "upper part of the midbrain" = a pair of nuclei = colliculus superior.

The spirit-form itself has a spirit-energy-impulse-consciousness which develops itself further through the creation of love, knowledge and wisdom, and through the material consciousness.

...

Plants, animals and all other creatures are regulated in a pure impulse- i.e., instinct-drive-based way, and they do not have the possibility to evolve themselves in conscious initiative.

In contrast, the human being has his/her intellect and his/her rationality which he/she can consciously and purposefully build up and put to use, in order to continually improve him/herself and to create and gather more and more knowledge, wisdom and love within him/herself.

From all the explanations until now it becomes clear and precise that the human beings of the Earth are the highest evolved material life-forms and they should thus conduct themselves accordingly and bear the full responsibility for all and everything.

This is also valid now and in the future regarding the home planet Earth and everything found on it; the existence of all life-forms as well as nature and all matter to the full extent, for whose existence and continued existence totally all rational human beings are responsible.

No one can and may ever shirk this far-reaching responsibility.

Consequently, it is erroneous to assume that the human being could escape from all or some of his/her duties or his/her own demands for his/her own or all other life, be it through disinterest, cowardice, egoism, etc., or through cowardly murder, manslaughter or suicide.

Truly life does not let itself be halted and the laws of nature will naturally wield their incontrovertible validity, also for the return of the spirit-form into a new human body, together with a new personality.

Through the laws of the Creation it is also given that the human spirit-form reincarnates on the same planet where that human being, who bore that spirit-form, has died, Therefore, for each individual it will be that he/she in the next life, as a new personality, will be born again as a human being on the planet Earth.

In the future lives where, again and again, there will be new existences with a new consciousness and a connected new personality, it will be also the case that each human being will find exactly that situation on the home of Earth which he/she has created until now as a part of the collective humankind of Earth, due to the principle of causality, i.e., the natural principle of "cause and effect".

Through the thoughts, ideas, ideals, imaginings, actions and deeds in the "here and now" of the actual life, all human beings create the reality and truth of their present time and, simultaneously, the foundation of their future, which they will find again later on their Earth when they enter into a new life with their new consciousness-block and their own new personality.

...

Therefore, the human beings must finally think over their unknowledgeness and their submissive dependence and attitude regarding an imaginary godhead and concerning gods and tin gods etc. and give up their deluded belief, in order to become autonomous and internally free human beings, who purposefully and with a sense of responsibility determine over themselves. Unknowledgeness and religious-sectarian belief must be replaced by the effective truth which comes from the reality, so that from it, love, freedom, joy, knowledge and wisdom as well as harmony, peace and happiness can result in an inner and external manner.

Only through this can a human being, as an individual and en masse in this world, the Earth, become a real human being and as such, become progressive in all forms of life.

Each human being of the Earth is urged to think about all of this thoroughly, to understand everything and, from now on, to do and implement everything correctly, whether he/she is small or big, meagre or corpulent, poor or rich, believing, non-believing, young or old, whether he/she bears a title or none, or whether or not he/she is in command of something.

It is important to thoroughly think everything over and to align the thoughts and feelings as well as the behaviour and the deeds responsibly according to the creational-natural laws and recommendations.

It is only in this way that everything will turn out to the best for each single human being, the nature of the planet, the planet itself and all life on the Earth.

And if everything is done as the principles of creational-natural form demands, then everything will contribute to it that each human being in his/her present actual life, but also in future lives as new personalities, will be able to lead a worthy life as a true human being on the good mother Earth, if he/she only lets intellect and rationality prevail, preserves his/her beautiful home world, and follows the creational-natural laws and recommendations.

But this also means that the overpopulation must be speedily halted and that the human being of the Earth liberates him/herself from each fantasised deluded belief of a religious, sectarian and false-philosophical kind, and that he/she, solely and exclusively, turns to the reality and their truth and, therefore, the creational-natural laws and recommendations.

FIGU Open Letter 8

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/FIGU\_%E2%80%93\_Open\_Letter\_8

Woman or girl, consider the truth that a creation-given power is inherent in you as in every other human being. Every human being is animated by a tiny part of the spirit of creation, from which his innermost being is also formed. The fragment of Creation-spirit in the human being is his spirit-form or his spirit, which is created out of pure-spiritual Creation-energy and is immortal for all time. Creation itself is the elemental, pure-spirit, genderless and formless energy and power of the origin of all life and existence. Creation is the creator of all spiritual and material existence, so also of the creative-human and all other spirit-forms of all living beings. Long before the material universe with its innumerable galaxies, solar systems, planets and moons, comets, meteors, nebulae and gases, etc., came into being, Creation created the idea of the human being (OMEDAM) as a self-responsible being who is to evolve his consciousness by his own power and will. The creative spirit-form that animates the human being is capable of reincarnation or rebirth as pure-spiritual, creative energy and gives birth from life to life in ever-newly created human beings' bodies, with a completely new personality that is recreated by the total consciousness block after the death and dissolution of the old personality, because the personality is not capable of rebirth. The creative-human spirit-form therefore does not exist only once as an animating energy and force in a human being in what is called this world, but after a certain time it reincarnates again and again from its so-called beyond realm into the gross material body of a human being, and thus into the world of the material. In the new human body, the completely new, unencumbered consciousness learns new things with its personality, thereby acquiring knowledge, wisdom and love and new abilities. The acquired true consciousness and spiritual values are thereby imperishable like the spirit-form itself, which unites and accumulates all the collected values of all its personalities of its lineage until one distant day, after very many rebirths in ever new human bodies with new personalities, it enters into the Creation itself in order to merge and become one with it.

FIGU Special Bulletin 38

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/FIGU\_Special\_Bulletin\_038

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Sixth\_And\_Seventh\_Senses

Unfortunately the human assumes there are only five senses (hearing, seeing, touching, tasting, smelling,) although seven exist, whereby the two further ones are perceiving and feeling, whereby the latter is connected to the instinct and is fundamentally bound with the world of thoughts.

The fluidal vibrations of the world of thoughts are coupled with the fluidal vibrations of the world of feelings and, in this form, the thoughts and feelings constantly go "on journeys" and, indeed, as a factor of the fine-material.

However, the current terrestrial technology is still, in the first years of the third millennia, not in a position to prove these fine-material vibrations, respectively, the fluidal vibrations, with apparatus, and thereby using coarse-material means, yet it is only a question of technical development and of time before they will, one day, be successfully proven.

Then it will also be recognised that that which is of fine-matter is based on the form of fine-material vibrations, respectively, on fluidal vibrations, as it will also be recognised that these fluidal energies and their forces are the fundamental factor of telepathy, levitation and clairvoyance, as well as of teleportation, and so forth.

And the fact is: The fine-material - even though humans, out of ignorance, erroneously call it supernatural - is actually a product of the human brain, respectively, of its thoughts and the feelings resulting from them.

It thereby therefore deals with a quite normal, however not "supernatural", energy and force, whereby the whole thing is also not unearthly and not unreal, rather it is absolutely real and not uncanny.

And when thoughts, and the feelings resulting from them, go "on journeys" as fine-matter energy, which can also be perceptively observed in some form or other by other humans, then it thereby deals with a form of telepathy.

Thereby, however, it must be clear that, singly and alone, the fine-matter energy of the world of thoughts and world of feelings goes "on journeys", however not the consciousness, and indeed the "journey" takes place beyond the body in the form of a "consciousness-feeler", respectively, in the form of a "consciousness-sensor" which is the case because the thoughts and feelings build up and send out the corresponding fluidal vibrations whereby the consciousness delivers the energy to it, however the consciousness itself does not leave the body.

So, it is a given that it is always the thoughts and their feelings which, as a form of telepathy, radiate from the brain and go "on journeys".

So, therefore, sensitive humans can "sense", respectively, perceive, through the seventh sense, if they are observed by others, just as they can, however, also perceive if a human is in need or dies, if he sends out his thoughts and feelings to the sensitive person who then perceives the "call", and so forth, in a fine-matter way, respectively, by means of the perception.

So it very often comes about that, if a human comes into need, or stands at the threshold of death, his thoughts and feelings then go off "on journeys" somewhere to a human who has meant a lot to him.

Thoughts and feelings break through all boundaries of space and time and penetrate into the brain of anyone who is "spoken to" and perceptively perceives the "call".

...

Fine-matter also plays a very important role in regard to the near-death experience because, when the purely rational reason is shut out through the dying process, and the seventh sense - the capability of perception - is put into its appropriate place, the perception-capacity, which is usually repressed in the current life by the condition of rational reason, expands in regard to the fine-matter realm.

Thereby a border opens, for the human, to a window into that fine-material world which extends very far above all that which can be perceived with the purely coarse-material senses - with the eyes, the touch, the smell, the hearing and tasting

Through these heightened abilities of perception - through the sense of perception in regard to fine-matter - clairvoyance, for example, emerges as a near death experience, in such a way that the dying human views himself from a higher vantage point (over his own body, or floating through the room) and can also see what happens around him, what is being discussed and what objects people carry or are present in the room in which the person is dying or in adjoining rooms, and so forth.

The near-death experience is also a key to the reading of thoughts whereby the thoughts of the people standing around, or of those who are far removed, are perceived on a fine-material basis.

That happens especially in the deepest stages of dieing, which correlates to a state of the least brain activity.

This status is that of the entrance into death and in this state the brain opens up to the human his concealed capabilities which are repressed in his current life.

Every brain - therefore that of the human, as well as of all creatures - can be compared with technical transmission and receiving devices, because every organic brain is a transmitter and receiver for fine-material energies and their forces as well as their effects.

...

Now, when a human dies, then, on the brink of death, he loses the connection to rational understanding whereby that which pertains to the fine-material realm gains power and produces electromagnetic energetic loads which result from fine-material thoughts and feelings which radiate explosively and can be perceived by other humans even at a great distance.

As a rule there are humans present who are closely mentally connected to the dieing person.

The persons concerned receive the dying human's units of information through fluidal, respectively, fine-material electromagnetic vibrations, which are strong, fine-material energy loads and which conceal the information in themselves as force.

Naturally the wave-frequencies of the fine-material vibrations thereby play a decisive role, whereby not every human can therefore receive the same wave-frequencies and not everyone can tune his fine-material senses to the same degree onto near, or very distant, impulses and information, which are directed at him.

Therefore, through the mental connection, there must be a certain similarity to the wave frequencies so that messages from dying ones or otherwise from fellow humans can be received, whether it is sounds, thoughts and feelings or visionary images, and so forth.

Goblet of the Truth (2015 English translation)

Chapter 2

98) The truth of the life is that after this life death takes control, after which a new all-of-yourself (personality) is set up in a new life, for which thankfulness shall be given.

...

147) The dwelling of the impalpable (other world) is only for the consistency of the spirit, however not for the person, because this is extinguished after dying in order to give energy and power to a new person who will be born when the spirit-body (spirit-form) once again returns in a body of people of your kind (human body); therefore do not call for death in order to find in it a release from earthly anguish, because death extinguishes the person for all time and it can never again be made living.

148) And death shall never be called upon in the hope that an existence at the side of a god or in a paradise (realm of gods and tin gods) might be a joyful life, because such teachings have no truth and are only the delusions of the brain of false priests, proclaimers and prophets who have misled you into senselessness because they obtain advantages, relevance and benefits from it.

149) And truly, you humankind of Earth, you only make yourselves thoughts and feelings about your material life, as a result of which you fully leave the death and the realm of the other world out of your attention, because on the one hand you are cowardly afraid of it and eschew it, and on the other hand you are too presumptuous to think of it.

150) You do not know what the death is, nor what the realm of the other world is, hence you also cannot understand the two and cannot know that after every dying there is a new living existence of a new personality, and therefore the running circle of the life always continues; and this process from the birth, of the life and dying and of the death, i.e. of the death-life is taught to you and explained through the «Teaching of the Prophets», so that you may become knowing and wise and thus become bearing of the truth.

151) The realm of the other world is a spirit-energetical sphere that lies on another side of all your material recognition-capabilities, i.e. all of your material senses and all imaginations, but is nevertheless existent and connected with the material world, however, both spheres are differently dimensioned and nevertheless cannot be separated from each other.

152) There is thus no cleft between these two levels, rather a stepless going over, so both build a oneness, as does everything in the entire Creation.

...

238) And as you shall practise equitableness (being fair/fairness) in all things, so think about your life and your death because after your birth both are unavoidable for you, so that you must ponder them and find the way to both in calm and peace; therefore practise equitableness (fairness) on your descendants and relatives because when the time comes for you to depart from life you shall have settled everything so that all your left-behind chattels and your wealth may be distributed in equitableness (fairness); but you few, who are able to write, prepare a text with instructions on how and to whom your heritable goods, chattels and wealth shall be handed over in whichever particular amounts; if you are however unable to write then announce your last will to a scribe so that he can record everything in writing which is your final decision; if you leave anything behind, then make a writing (testament) before you lay yourself down close to death and make the writing (testament) for man, woman and child, for the parents and close relatives or for friends and for whatever you wish, in order to act in equitableness (recognition/approval/fairness); when you make the writing (testament) or have it made then act in equitableness (fairness) and do not cheat any of those who remain behind so that no discord, bad blood and strife or even worse may flare up; and those who remain behind shall not fall prey to avarice and not call on the jurisdictions to break the last will of the deceased for their own benefits; and the survivors of the deceased shall not be at odds with one another and quarrel over the wealth and chattels, because such doings are not worthy of people of your kind (human beings) and are only done by ones without equitableness (unfair ones/irresponsible ones/ones without fairness) and unknowing ones who are reviled by the people as scum.

...

315) In you, there lives the spirit which is a minute part of the formation (Creation), therefore you are also a part of the formation (Creation); however, your body is of your world and when you die then it will cease to be and will not return, just as it will not cross over into a heaven of your gods and tin gods and not into a paradise (realm of gods and tin gods), but will cease to be; only your form of the spirit in you is subject to reincarnation and intended to one day return to the formation (Creation) in order to become one with it, although you as a person cease to exist and will no longer continue to be such.

...

368) If you kill (murder) life and destroy things of the people of your kind (human beings), then they cannot be given back, because you do not have the might to do so, just as you do not have the might to bring forth once more or rebuild in the same wise and with the same form the things that you have destroyed; every killed (murdered) life escapes from the body and cannot return, because a return is only given for the form of the spirit which escapes into the realm of the invisible (other world/death-life) and is reborn when the time for a new inner world (consciousness) and for a new individual being (personality) has come, without equivalence with the deceased inner world (consciousness) or to the deceased individual being (personality).

369) And the truth of the return of the spirit in a new person of your kind (human being/new consciousness, new all-of-yourself [personality] and new material body), after the preceding person of your kind (human being) has died, may be for you a sign (evidence) of the truth of the laws and recommendations of the wellspring of the truth (Creation); and it is through the laws and recommendations of the wellspring of the truth that living and dying and death and therefore the return of the spirit in a new body of a new person of your kind (human being) are possible, just as everything is possible and nothing is impossible which originates from the might of the laws and recommendations.

370) And consider, there is neither a god nor tin gods nor people of your kind (human beings) and demons or either liberators (angels) and venerable ones (holy ones) who can reanimate a dead person (deceased person), because when someone dies the spirit escapes into the realm of invisibility (other world) and cannot return to the deceased body because this is irreversibly connected to death.

Chapter 3

176) Do not believe that you may die after a predetermined period of time, because there is no decision by fabulated (invented) gods and tin gods for how long your existence shall continue; truly, death comes to everyone in its own time which is determined by the inner and outer foreordination (destiny), such as age or illness, accident or Gewalt and other things that bring life to an end.

177) And whoever desires the reward of the world, it will be given to them according to their share (merit), and whoever desires the reward of the life, that is obtaining a peaceful death, that human being will receive it in due measure (according to) the unfolding (evolution) of his or her inner world (consciousness).

178) And everyone will receive their reward according to what they merit, so also dying as a conversion (transition/ change) to death will take the form that corresponds to the reward of the life.

...

216) Do not think that those who are slain or otherwise killed (murdered) for the truth or untruth will enter into the presence of a paradise of a god or tin gods because no-one receives this who enters into the life of death (death-life) because truly, with dying, a person of your kind (human being) ceases to exist, because death brings dissolution to the activity (energy), and out of this a new person of your kind (human being/personality) with a new inner world (consciousness) is created; and it is taught that the spirit-body (spirit-form) of people of your kind (human beings) is a tiny dot (minute thing) of activity (energy) of the Creation and is not bound to death so that this is existing in the realm of the invisible (other world) and shows (manifests) itself in renewal (rebirth) once again in a new person of your kind (human being).

Chapter 4

104) Be certain (knowing) that wherever you may be that you cannot escape death because it will befall you even though you may be inside the most strongly built tower, therefore heed death wherever you may be so that it seizes you in right deeds rather than unright deeds; and think at all times about death and learn that it is unavoidable and that you are bound to it, as is everything that lives and crawls and flies, so that you are not frightened when you stand before it and have to leave your life.

Chapter 5

53) Truly, you shall make the best out of death so that in yourselves you may be full of peace and love as well as full of joy and happiness and full of consonance (harmony) when you become aware of your dying and you leave your world in which you have led your life; but consider that you cannot take anything from this world with you, neither possessions nor wealth, neither food nor drink, neither jewellery (adornment) nor garments (clothing), neither people of your kind (human beings) nor beasts or animals and other creatures who might be able to protect you in death.

54) Be willing to learn the teaching of the truth, the teaching of the spirit, the teaching of the life so that you understand all laws and recommendations of the life as they are given through the Creation; and as you follow them in honesty, you can escape from the fire of your own unknowledge and your dread (fear) of the death, which gives you great anguish.

Chapter 6

33) And be certain (knowing) that there is no other life than the corporeal (earthly) one and therefore the mortal life in which you can fulfil (master) your conscientiousness (duty) in ample obligation (responsibility) for your unfolding (evolution) for your inner world (consciousness); and when you die then you cannot be re-awakened, because your inner world (consciousness) and your all-of-yourself (personality) is dissolved into unsubstantial activity (energy) from which a new all-of-yourself (personality) and a new inner world (consciousness) is formed and born, together with the reawakening (rebirth/reincarnation) of the spirit-body (spirit-form).

34) And the other life after dying is the death-life in the world of invisibility (other world), and you cannot either see or grasp it because it is of fineness (fine-fluidalness), and the world (sphere/level) of the incorporeal (spiritual) is of unearthly appearance (nature).

...

44) Consider your existence (life) in all things so that you are not sad and not full of fear when the hour (death) catches up with you, so that you may pass away (die) in peace and joy

...

67) You, as people of your kind (human beings), are the highest life form amongst all life forms, and therefore you are your own intercessor (counsellor) and the guardians over yourselves, over your thoughts and feelings and over your doings (deeds); and therefore it remains so until death approaches you and your spirit-body (spiritform) and your inner world (consciousness) escapes your body in order to escape into the impalpable (realm of the other world) without tarrying (quickly).

68) Truly, the spirit-body (spirit-form) returns to its own world (sphere/level) of the impalpability in order to be reawakened (reincarnated/reborn) in a new body of people of your kind (human beings) at the time of necessity.

...

103) Truly, only the laws and recommendations of the primal wellspring of all vitalities (Creation) allow the seeds to germinate that you put (sow) into the earth so that the living in it may come forth, which you imagine (consider) to be dead but is only sleeping and has life within it which however thrives again and grows up to a new aliveness through moisture (wetness/water), therefore new life comes forth out of the apparent lifeless; learn from this that you also are a seed, so to speak, which is reawakened (rebirth of the spirit-form) after death through the spirit-body (spirit-form); truly, be connected to this teaching and do not let yourselves be turned away (restrained) from it for the sake of false teachings by false prophets.

Chapter 7

26) Truly, you only live on your world for a limited period (one lifetime), and you also die thereat in order to be brought forth from the life-in-death (death-life) as a new individual being (personality), when your spirit-body (spirit-form) is reawakened (reincarnated).

...

58) See, the appearance (nature) – which is created through the power of the laws and recommendations of the wellspring of the love (Creation) – carries winds ahead of it as a joyful message when the weather will be good, and it carries heavy clouds when rain is coming so that everything may thrive and the land be moistened if it is dry; and through the raining down of water, plants bring forth fruits of all kinds; and also the waters falling from the sky bring back secluded things (apparently dead things, i.e. withered things) back to life, just as also the spirit-body (spirit-form) will be reawakened (reborn) after the dying of people of your kind (human beings), together with a new individual being (personality) in a new body; may you be conscious of all this truth.

...

128) Search at all times for help and guidance in the laws and recommendations of the wellspring of the love (Creation) and be steadfast in the knowledge and in the wisdom of the truth; truly, it is only in the laws and recommendations of the wellspring of the love (Creation) that you will find the guideline (leading thought) of existence (life) so that you may honour life and avoid death in Ausartung, so that it only comes to you naturally; thus life is bequeathed (given) to you by the wellspring of the love (Creation), as well as death, but in such a wise that you make life worth living in order to avoid death until the way of the natural comes to an end and death calls you yourselves because you have completed the time of the life.

...

188) Do not ask during the time of your life when the hour will come that will be your last, so that you do not act unrightfully, but rather strive to learn the truth and to live according to it so that you can go on your way in joy at the end of your time; truly, even if you ask about the hour that will be your last during the time of your life then you cannot discover it because knowledge of it shall not weigh heavily upon you, so the hour (death) shall only break over you suddenly so that you are not sad in your existence (life), you do not become confused in your inner world (consciousness) and do not do terrible things and do not cause any calamity.

Chapter 8

56) Do not be the worst amongst people of your kind (humankind) by being ungrateful towards life and denying the truth of the laws and recommendations of the creation of all things (Creation), thereby killing (murdering) yourselves and people of your kind (human beings); killing (murdering) yourselves or others, be it out of chickenheartedness (cowardice) against illness, pain or fear, or be it out of jealousy, hatred or revenge and retaliation, so it is unrightful and against the laws and recommendations of the primal power (Creation) which honour life in all its kinds, whether in the present existence (life) of days on Earth or in the life of death (death-life) in the world of invisibility (other world).

Chapter 10

55) If you commit unright and were the possessor of all the riches that are on Earth, then when you are near the time of your death, you will attempt to buy yourselves free from death, and truly you would make a play of fallacious remorse if you could escape death thereby, but truly all this will bring you no benefit (success), because death does not allow itself to be fooled or cheated; life and death decide according to equitableness (fairness) and not according to unright, therefore with death the same foreordination (destiny) is determined for all people of your kind (human beings).

...

57) It is the primal wellspring of all wisdom (Creation) which gives life and brings about death to everything persisting (existing) through its all-embracing laws and recommendations, so that everything may come about anew in reawakening (new birth and rebirth), and will one day return to it because everything belongs to it and has come forth from it.

Chapter 11

25) And consider when you give alms (gifts) that you shall not be stingy, rather act according to the best of your ability regarding what you can give in goods and riches, but see that you yourselves have enough and do not have to suffer privations through distributing (donating) alms and gifts (donations); but consider stinginess which is a terrible thing and is of no use to you at the end of your days, because you cannot take anything with you into the realm of death (death-life); therefore it is also senseless for you to have gifts and great riches (grave offerings) placed into the grave; and therefore it is senseless for you to have gold and other valuable things forged into coverings on your face (death masks) and to have yourselves wrapped in expensive and sumptuous garments or for you to want your dead body preserved (embalmed) with expensive oil since what has lost the bloom (breath) of the life remains behind on the earth and decays in its time (sooner or later); and truly neither your dead body nor anything of what you place into the grave can be taken into the realm of death (death-life) that is not made of firmness (material), but is in truth of the finest power (energy) which is the equivalent of that of the primal power of all primal power (Creation).

Chapter 22

17) The spirit-form cannot be influenced through effects on the body, therefore neither through heat, cold, hunger, pain, illness or wellfeeling; and solely this spirit-form is immortal, because if the physical life ceases then it escapes into its realm of the other world in order to be reborn in its time when a new human body is born, with a new consciousness-block, new consciousness, subconsciousness and with a new personality that are created through the overall consciousness-block.

Chapter 25

139) And you, who strive after the truth, be not confused and do not sleep while learning, so that you really recognise the truth and not claim that only that which you see with your eyes is real, and that there is no life where you cannot perceive any movement with your eyes; truly, this is not the truth, because even when, with the dying of your body, you cease to be yourselves, the life still continues through the spirit-form that disappears into its realm of the other world in order to be reborn at its time, in a new body and with a new consciousness and a new personality.

...

149) And truly, you humankind of Earth, you only make yourselves thoughts and feelings about your material life, as a result of which you fully leave the death and the realm of the other world out of your attention, because on the one hand you are cowardly afraid of it and eschew it, and on the other hand you are too presumptuous to think of it.

150) You do not know what the death is, nor what the realm of the other world is, hence you also cannot understand the two and cannot know that after every dying there is a new living existence of a new personality, and therefore the running circle of the life always continues; and this process from the birth, of the life and dying and of the death, i.e. of the death-life is taught to you and explained through the ‹Teaching of the Prophets›, so that you may become knowing and wise and thus become bearing of the truth.

151) The realm of the other world is a spirit-energetical sphere that lies on another side of all your material recognition-capabilities, i.e. all of your material senses and all imaginations, but is nevertheless existent and connected with the material world, however, both spheres are differently dimensioned and nevertheless cannot be separated from each other.

152) There is thus no cleft between these two levels, rather a stepless going over, so both build a oneness, as does everything in the entire Creation.

153) The spiritual-creational energy and power of the Creation streams through both the realm of the material world of this world and the realm of the other world, so in both dimensions, i.e. levels everything is being pulsed through with the same life-stream and is connected with one another.

154) Nonetheless, it is wrong to assume that both levels would be integrated into the same laws, since in this regard there is a difference given between the realm of the material and the realm of the spiritual; the material realm can fall ill through all kinds of inequity and come to harm, whereas the purely spiritual realm, to which the realm of the other world also belongs, is taboo with regard to all inequity and harm.

155) Only the material realm of the existence, i.e. life can be befallen in a harming wise, not however the spirit-realm, and therefore also not the spirit, i.e. the spirit-form, because it cannot be attacked from out of the material realm and cannot be influenced negatively.

...

160) Consider however the realm of this world and the realm of the other world, you humankind of Earth, that both are a oneness in themselves however together also form an unseparable whole, because in the whole realm of the Creation every particle is a oneness in itself, however united with its opposite particle again a completed oneness, and indeed given in such a wise that one particle has a negative and the other particle a positive energy and power.

161) Thus in the whole realm of the Creation there is no separation, only a union, so on the one hand everything is in itself alone for itself autonomously a oneness, whereas everything unified together again results autonomously in a whole; the term separation is thus solely an invention of you human beings to split things off from each other, whereas you, however, also split all creational things into two parts that in truth belong together, such as the life and the death and the realm of this world and the realm of the other world; and you do this because you separate off that which you cannot see with your eyes and otherwise cannot perceive with your material senses, and you assume yourselves to be the main point and the epicentre in your material surroundings.

...

227) And thus, you humankind of Earth, as you yourselves developmentally change in your current life and in all your many new personalities, which you were since time immemorial in always new births, so also the Creation itself changes developmentally, by creating in itself ever more love, knowledge and wisdom; this happens by it learning through your spirit-form which gives life to you and evolves itself spiritually by integrating into itself everything that you create in terms of love, knowledge and wisdom, and then your spirit-form will one day unite with the Creation itself, long after it no longer requires a human body, but evolves further only as a purespirit-form; then the Creation takes in from it everything that your spirit-form has learnt through your love, your knowledge and your wisdom over many reincarnations; through that which the Creation integrates into itself, it evolves itself spiritually, just like you as human beings do with regard to your consciousness.

Chapter 27

39) Many amongst you who have perhaps once briefly thought about the death, you expect that others shall draw the conclusions out of life and death for you, because in fear and shyness you do not dare to deal with it and even quarrel and grumble with your fate and indict it because through chickenheartedness you do not find the possibility in yourselves to direct your thoughts and feelings onto it.

Chapter 28

94) Who is the human being? Fundamentally, the human being is primarily an individuum, a single individual nature with a consciousness-block which forms the individuum and in which also the mental-block is integrated, that is the consciousness, the thoughts, feelings and the psyche; what else is given in the consciousness-block is the character, the personality, the subconsciousness, the ego, and the memory out of which altogether the Who of the human being results, thus who he or she is through all the capabilities and factors of his or her consciousness-block; the human being is in itself, through the consciousness-block and as a material individuum, an undivisible, a whole, just as he or she is an undivisible, a whole, together with the spirit, i.e. spirit-form that animates him or her, and that says, as soon as the life extinguishes and thus the spirit-form escapes out of the body and into its realm of the other world, the consciousness-block also escapes from the body and goes into the realm of the other world that is belonging to it; thus, the primary individuum, i.e. the consciousness-block dissolves, because as such it can only exist as long as the body actually lives and is inhabited by the spirit-form; so, when the life extinguishes, then only the lifeless, empty material shell without consciousness-block, i.e. individuum remains; although the human being as a material Wesen with a consciousness-block is in himself or herself an undivisible whole, the human being is however not like that towards the outside, because he or she jointly lives and coexists secondarily through partaking of and participation in other things, so for example as a human being of his or her times, as a carrier of world historical ideas, as a child of the parents, as a husband and father, as a friend, employer or employee etc.; through this he or she proves to himself or herself and to the outside world who he or she is by showing the factors and capabilities of his or her consciousness-block, i.e. his or her individuum in the outer world.

...

109) However, when the consequences, i.e. the destiny resulting out of your thoughts, feelings, decisions, deeds, actions and your activity, will strike you is fundamentally different for each consequence, so it can be immediately or only in a few hours, days, weeks or months or perhaps even in years or decades, but it will certainly be in your present actual life, because nothing can be carried into the fine-fluidal world of the other world nor into a new life on Earth, as is erroneously mistaught through various of your religious, ideological and philosophical irrational teachings, as for example through the far-from-the-truth irrational Karma-teaching.

...

132) And a further error you, many amongst you make, is that you assume that as a personality you would only have a unique life, because truthly after the dying, the life continues in a new existence on Earth but contrary to the irrational teaching of the person-bound reincarnation; truthly the personality extinguishes after the dying and developmentally changes itself in the fine-fluidal realm of the other world of the overall consciousness-block into a neutral energy out of which a new and unburdened consciousness with an equally new personality is created which is then born anew, together with the spirit-form of the human being which, after the dying of the material body, also goes into its fine-fluidal realm of the other world and from out of there reincarnates again and, contrary to the personality, is alone capable of being reborn; so you shall be conscious that you have already often lived a material-current life as always new personalities, just as you will continue again and again, as always new personalities, to pass through new lives; and that will happen so often and for such a long time until your spirit, i.e. your spirit-form has developed so highly through your evolution of your consciousness that it no longer needs a material body and consciousness anymore and thus goes as a higher form into a higher level.

133) It follows that with the new birth of the new personality a completely new life begins, and consequently the new human being at his or her actual becoming, i.e. the actual birth on the 21st day of the pregnancy, i.e. after the conception, is completely unburdened and hence innocent; the reason for this is because out of the earlier life of the preceding personality – as well as of all other preceding personalities before that – nothing disadvantageous is put into the new personality, and it is therefore completely unburdened at its becoming; the fact that the real birth of the human being occurs on the 21st day after the conception is because the spiritform is, together with the new consciousness and the new personality, born into the embryo and gives life to it; as is well known, the actual worldly, i.e. material birth into the existence of the world normally occurs only after completion of the pregnancy.

134) Through this process alone it is guaranteed that every newborn human being is unburdened by his or her thoughts, feelings, actions, deeds, and his or her activities out of his or her previous life and those before that, just as the creational laws determine that every new life form to be born, and thus also the human being, shall be of pure and unburdened consciousness; therefore it is given – contrary to many irrational teachings of false prophets, religions, sects, ideologies and philosophies – that all happenings may only be related to the earthly existence, therefore the fairness of the creational laws determines that all returning effects, i.e. interactions as well as other causes and effects and hence also the destiny falls completely onto the time span of the life on Earth; and accordingly, both atonement processes in the fine-fluidal realm of the other world and in a religiously explained heaven or in a hell are as senseless as the wrong karma-teaching which states that the consequences of the preceding life would have to be borne in the coming life.

...

306) And if you should ever have the opportunity to obtain a proof of your continued life after the dying and after the death which goes beyond your material observation- and perception-possibilities, you would be frightened and shaken about the truth; because truly, your continued life after the dying and the death is not in the same personality, but in a completely new one which has nothing in common with the present actual one; only your spirit-form remains the same because it alone is, as creational energy, integrated into the reincarnation, i.e. the rebirth, whereas your personality ceases to be in a becoming of neutral spiritual energy out of which a new personality is built up which will then be born.

307) In the bottom of your truth-unknowledge, you have no certainty with regard to the otherworldly life in the death-life nor in the new life of the new actual personality when it is born into the new life.

308) If you had the certainty of the true facts of the life, dying, death and the rebirth, then everything would seem so natural to you as it really is, and this certainty would also be the proof of your continued life which continuously occurs in another and new personality that is no longer identical with that of the former life; and if you have this certainty, then you will no longer be frightened and in no wise shaken over the truth of these things of your continued life.

...

311) If you, as material human beings, do not live in an immortality-delusion, then you must expect from childhood onwards that you will have to die sooner or later, but as a rule you ward off the thoughts and feelings thereon and push them away.

312) And there are many amongst you who have a shyness to discuss the theme life, dying and death, just as there are many amongst you who react very violently and indignantly if the subject comes up in your presence or you are confronted with it directly.

313) And you amongst you who are carefully concerned about not entering a cemetery and who shun every funeral, you try to efface your impressions, thoughts and feelings concerning the death as quickly as you can whenever you are somehow, through foreordination or unavailability, confronted with the Grim Reaper.

314) In you there is always a secret angst that all of a sudden you could be struck by the death, and at the same time an undefined fear prevents you from spending serious thoughts and feelings in order to face the unalterable fact in full consciousness, namely that your current life is limited and that you will sooner or later inevitably die and go into the death-life which, through religious, ideological and philosophical irrational teachings, is so wrongly explained to you that you can understand nothing at all of it, let alone get closer to the truth even by a speck of dust of a weight.

315) In your life, you human beings of Earth, there is hardly any other happening which you make worse than the death, about which you push aside every thought and every feeling.

316) But apart from the death, there is also the preceding dying which you do not dare think about and push away everything related to it; ...

...

319) Procreation, birth, life, dying, death and rebirth of the spirit-form, together with a continually new personality, are very closely connected to each other, because one thing is the consequence of the other, but you do not take the whole thing seriously, instead you irresponsibly live only for the day; out of this, you create in you pathological cravings, vices, hatred and unpeace as well as unfreedom and disharmony in order to live out everything externally and to let it pervert into bloody and destructive wars, as you learn this through the senseless and irrational teachings in your belief in a god, tin god or idolised human being, and live from day to day in pure egoism and imperiousness, and irresponsibly procreate offspring beyond all measure and therethrough bring about immense catastrophes.

...

335) But if you only come to intellect and rationality while you are dying, then you have missed the actual life and in cowardice missed the bearing of the life-responsibility, because you do not derive any benefit for your passed life anymore, if, shortly before the major step out of the earthly life into the death-life, you suddenly recognise the fact of the continued life of your spirit-form as well as its rebirth in a new life together with the birth of a new personality in a new consciousness-block.

...

337) And you are many amongst you whose intellect-based discernment – so often used by you in your life – plays, out of fear, a vicious game on you in the last hours while you are dying, namely in that you suddenly, in accustomed precaution, want to become quickly intellectually and rationally diligent when you realise that the release from your coarse-substantial body is continuously reaching a higher degree; but truly, that will not bring you any gain, because you cannot, in the short time of the dying, catch up on and finish off that which you have neglected throughout your life, so what you will die with as harvest is what you have sown during your life through your thoughts and feelings, your activity and through your actions and deeds.

338) So if you do come to your senses during the dying, then you will not change the least therewith nor bring about any change and betterment, because it is not possible for you in the process of dying to finish off everything that you have neglected in the course of your entire life through the process of the perception, cognition, cognisance, knowledge, experience, living of the experience, and wisdom.

...

342) The time of the serious searching for the truth and the thought-feeling-based careful study of the life and death as well as of the procreation, the birth and the rebirth of the spirit-form and the birth of the new personality, all this you determine yourselves; but if you go this way in free volition, then this is an absolute progress for you which will bring you good things, make you happy and make all heavy things surprisingly easy for you, because your good volition will be so much more powerful than you have ever had as a presentiment; and if you go the way of the truth with regard to your thought-feeling-based careful study of the life and death, and of the procreation, the dying, the rebirth of the spirit-form and the birth of the new consciousness with the new personality, then the purely material will disappear as the most important aspect in your existence and grants an equalisedness between the spiritual, consciousness-based and material.

Interviews on the Topics of Spiritual Teaching and Mission (German-language booklet)
https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Interview\_with\_Billy\_\(1998\))

Is it true that humans have more than one life?

That is correct. Humans are subject to the law of reincarnation; hence, they are born again. This also applies to all other life-forms that possess both a consciousness and a spirit form capable of evolving. Therefore, when human beings die, their spirit form leaves their physical bodies in the current realm and crosses over into the spiritual realm of the Beyond, where the spirit form rests and learns until it is able to reincarnate into another material body. The purpose for having reincarnation and numerous lives is to allow both the human spirit form - which is part of Creation - and the comprehensive consciousness to evolve to the point where together they enter into and become one with Creation, which Itself evolves at the same time. This constant process of reincarnation facilitates the evolution of the person's spirit and the comprehensive consciousness, from which the individual's actual personality and the actual consciousness originate. Many lifetimes are necessary and so are the reincarnations, respectively rebirths, to bring the spirit to its fullest capacity of knowledge, wisdom, harmony, etc., so it may later attain the highest possible perfection, relatively speaking. It would be absolutely impossible to develop the spirit, or spirit form, to such a level of relative perfection in merely one single lifetime. In fact, many millions of lifetimes and reincarnations are required to achieve this goal of perfection. Just to free themselves from the physical human body in order to enter the purely bodiless spirit world takes human beings somewhere between 60 and 80 billion years - which is six to seven times longer than what terrestrial scientists claim is the age of the universe. Something else must be clarified: Absolutely erroneous and inaccurate are those views and teachings which assert and declare that the human being is able to reincarnate as an animal, for instance. The fact is humans are always reborn as humans because of the Creational particle within each of them that is capable of evolving. Humans, therefore, can never reincarnate as animals or anything else except as human entities; and what's more, as a rule, they always do so in accordance with their race although, naturally, it is possible for deviations to occur. But such events only occur in special circumstances. To address these issues now would, however, take too much time. By the same token, animals can never be reborn as humans because the animals' spirit form is neither focused in this direction nor is it intended to evolve toward knowledge and wisdom as is the case with human spirit forms or the spirit, respectively.

Regarding the topic of reincarnation, mention is often made of "Karma". Just what is "Karma"?

... Karma implies the person's type of rebirth is linked to actions in the former life, and that current fate is the result of past-life actions. ... For humans to evolve and become more knowledgeable and wise, they have no option other than to make mistakes. Through mistakes, as a rule, humans tend to suffer some harm and, thus, punish themselves - if one wants to define it as such. But through the harm they suffered, they have already atoned for their mistake and will, subsequently, make an effort to remedy their mistake and the resulting harm associated with it. In so doing, humans learn a lesson from this situation and become more cognizant. This is the simplest principle of cause and effect or action and reaction. And this precise situation helps humans evolve and elevate their knowledge, understanding, abilities and the like. As a consequence, they will attain a higher level of consciousness, which their comprehensive consciousness will carry forth into the next life - into their next reincarnation. Therefore, in their next life, humans will benefit from the fruit of their former lives' progress and higher level of consciousness, without having been weighed down by some burden or non-burden from previous lives. Thus, the next new life is not based on the burdens or non-burdens of the previous life, since they were completely conquered during the former lifetime, either in positive or negative ways. Not only would it be unjust but it would actually be contrary to the Creational laws if elements from a former life were to be carried over into the current one. That it should be so, as the religions teach it so irrationally, is pure nonsense which simply exemplifies the illogical human thinking, contemplations and endeavors. In their lust for revenge, humans always call for punishment and atonement in every case. By contrast, Creation knows nothing of this demeanor. It knows nothing of the revenge, punishment, and atonement that humans are so familiar with, and for this reason Creation has never created any such laws.

Why does “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier of all people have contacts with the Pleiadians/Plejarans, but no one else?

... My spirit form, of course, has always remained the same over the many thousands and millions of years, but the comprehensive consciousness, which is capable of reincarnating, has changed in way that is appropriate and normal as it passes through the inevitable evolutionary process. This implies that with each birth/reincarnation a new consciousness, hence a new personality, was born which no longer had anything in common with the previous personality - nor will it ever have any commonality. It is erroneous to assume, therefore, that a person with one particular personality can remain the identical person in a later life. The spirit form alone stays the same, while the personality of the consciousness transforms through evolution. This, in turn, doesn't imply however that a person could not, conceivably, have flashbacks of personalities in former lives.

Interview with Billy (2011)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Interview\_with\_Billy\_\(2011\))

{question from a child:}

What about death? Do we have to be afraid, and why do we have to die?

{Billy:}

You don't have to be afraid of dying because this is an entirely natural process, as this also occurs to plants. But in a different way. They grow in spring, they blossom and bring forth fruit, and in fall they die, and next spring they start to sprout again. They grow anew, bring forth blossoms, bring fruits, etc., and this will last until that plant will vanish some day.

And exactly the same thing is done by the whole universe, the so-called Creation Universal Consciousness; and exactly the same is done by the human being. The human being is like a plant: In the evening he goes to bed, he sleeps, and in the morning he is rested, relaxed and ready for new deeds. Exactly as the plant does so from spring to autumn and until the next spring and autumn. All of nature, all life, does it the same way. Even the Creation Universal Consciousness does exactly the same. And when the human being dies, this means that his spirit-form goes into the realm of the other world. The old personality which had lived in the material body is dissolved by the so-called overall consciousness-block which belongs to the spirit-form in the realm of the other world. And from it a new consciousness and a new personality are formed. And this new personality incarnates into a new human body when a new human being is born. At the 21st day after insemination, the new personality and the consciousness, together with the spirit-form, enter the newly procreated body in the womb and thus enliven the new life form. Therefore, death is exactly what is happening in nature. When a tree or plant or whatever dies, it produces seed, and from this seed a new tree, a new plant grows. Exactly the same thing happens with the human being; it's exactly the same thing with all animals, all insects, all birds, all fish and all living creatures. It is the same thing with all of them.

{Christian Frehner (intermediary):}

And in the next life you don't know anything about the previous one.

{Billy:}

In the next life the knowledge about the previous life or all lives in general is wiped out. This lasts until the human being has developed in a consciousness-related way to such a high level that he can cope with that which has happened and occurred in his former lives. And by the fact that the human being is reborn, he is provided –through the subconsciousness– with a part of the essences from former lives. That's why he is not born to this world without knowledge, but as a personality capable of learning, who can develop further and evolves in a consciousness-related manner.

{Christian Frehner (intermediary):}

And can unconsciously build upon what has been learned previously.

{Billy:}

And can build upon that which was previous. Exactly like a plant can build. When the plant sprouts anew, it can build what has been left by the old plant, and that's the seed.

{Christian Frehner (intermediary):}

Genetics (in the plant), in that sense. Therefore there's no reason to be afraid of dying...

{Billy:}

There is absolutely no reason to be afraid of dying.

{Christian Frehner (intermediary):}

...and death. Because nothing is lost: the energy is not lost.

{Christian Frehner (intermediary):}

Correct.

An Introduction To The Spirit Teaching

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/An\_Introduction\_To\_The\_Spirit\_Teaching

An Important Word

The yearning for certainty burns indelibly in every single human on Earth, especially the certainty of Being and the existence far beyond his terrestrial passing away, which man calls death. This certainty can become true for every single human being once he conquers his own ego. Truly, it is only the ego's haze that prevents envisioning the kingdom of true life, spiritualness, beyond the transformation of being and the passing on.

...

... Unfortunately, even now for many people only the death of their physical body signifies the beginning of true life and the gradual, renewed radiance of the inner Sohar. However, in the next incarnation the same situation may arise again through man's lack of knowledge in the previous life, if, at that time, he had not been arduously struggling and labouring for improvement. ... Man fears everything: The end of love, the death of a loved one, separation and reunion, and above all, the change from this plane of existence to the beyond. Closely linked to these fears is the pain caused by bogus knowledge and bogus teachings, namely that all life will end forever in death ... Therefore, for many great-times life is a process of rebirth and renewal in the cycle of passing away and growing again. Thus, expiring and death reach into the heart of life in the same way that life and growth extend deeply into the heart of death, whereby two realms merge into one, simultaneously complementing and conquering one another, to gradually bring about mutual comprehension. Life does not strive for vanquishing every single decline and death, but for overcoming decease and formation in general through evolution. Life works toward the progressive evolution of everything that has ever existed or now exists.

... Because the human life spirit within him is a fragment of the spiritual energy of Creation, it is important for him to recall the Creative root of his being, to unite through true spiritual introspection with all that within himself which is of the all-great-time. To be one with the spirit of life within himself, the part of Creation in him, means becoming absolutely free. Free from the fear of passing away, of death. ... Whoever unites with a fragment of Creation within oneself, with the spirit itself, dissolves the frightening, yet truly innocuous enigma of passing on, indeed, of death. In so doing, one acknowledges death as only the other side of life, where it is nothing other than sleep, replacing daytime wakefulness in the physical realm. Man's lack of reason, his lack of knowledge, and his blindness make him believe that sleep is the darker side of life. As a result he has the same opinions concerning death. Certainly, various other factors are reflected in the fear of death, but it does not make sense to name them all. Only one more item remains to be explained. The mystery a human body can solve only partially when it is abandoning life, can be manifested clearly and truthfully by the fragment of Creation in humans; namely, the certainty of absolute human permanence in the all-great-time. The human being should direct his vision unwaveringly toward the tasks of his life on Earth, with the knowledge that the realm of coarse matter rules in this plane and the realm of fine matter in the beyond. Nevertheless, these two divided spheres of the here and the beyond are one single realm, existing in the same place, in the same time space, only in another dimension.

Letter from Chris Lock to FIGU, regarding the number 152955347, answered by Christian Frehner and Billy, 22nd July 2018

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Science\_and\_Mathematics

{Chris Lock:}

I recall Billy informed us that  $1.52 \times \text{the years lived} = \text{the years to the next incarnation}$  on both Erra and Earth, given proper populations. This 1.52 lifespan relates to au, but Earth is only 1.00 au, so, unless I err, I wonder why the reincarnation coefficient for Erra and Earth is the same 1.52 when their au differ by about 30%.

Yes/No Question 2: Is the full reincarnation coefficient 1.52955347, and why is it the same for Earth and Erra?

{Christian Frehner and Billy:}

Re Question 2: You cannot look upon that reincarnation coefficient as been so precise. It is just a mean ratio (when 100 years alive in the material world, 152 years in the fine-matter realm), and since Erra is nearly identical in size as Earth (and probably of similar distance to its sun), the ratio seems to be similar. Anyway, the incarnation-reincarnation ratio of each world depends on the mean distance between planet and its sun.

Life And Death Are Inherent To Each Other (German-language booklet)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Life\_And\_Death\_Are\_Inherent\_To\_Each\_Other

Death belongs to life as well as life belongs to death.

Both cannot exist without each other, because they are to such an extent interdependent as being-awake and the sleep. And as the sleep comes about, without one being able to avoid it, death comes about the same way at the end of the days, whether the human being wants that/likes it or not.

The human being does however scarcely or not at all think/ponder thereon, not to mention, that feelings could arise, which engage death. Thoughts on that account are even banished from consciousness, although it would be better to thoroughly reflect/think over that matter, in order to understand the true meaning of death, because thereby the meaning of life would also become clear.

However by no means is a thought and a feeling directed towards it, and that although the human being is daily confronted with devastating news of wars, crimes, accidents, murder and disasters, which claim thousand folds deaths.

But hardly anyone considers that, this death can also befall his or her own life. Quite obviously, many human beings appear to believe that death befalls only others, not, however, one's own self.

That is however certainly not the case and it is also not true, because all humans have the same material bodies, which are subject to the aging process and to transience/ephemerality and also sooner or later die and fall prey to death.

There is thereby naturally a big difference, whether death takes place in a natural, an unfortunate (by accident) way, or due to illness or through violence, but either way, it will be unavoidable for each individual human.

The human should therefore always be mindful thereupon, to make up her/his mind in thoughts and feelings, to deal with her/himself of the fact of the unavoidable death and that, with regard to both, the own person and the next(s) of kin, and the fellow human beings in general. Through this reasonable thinking and through the therefrom developing controlled feelings, proceeds the certainty that death belongs to life as well as also to the inexorable/unstoppable evolution, the way also life belongs to the evolution and to the inevitable death.

Therefore death should never be pushed aside, but should rather be recognized/understood as a friend/comrade for a onwards-life in the hereafter/the great beyond, which levels the path for a rebirth for the spiritform. Thus the human must look the fact of death in the face and recognize its meaning and purpose and become conscious that only through death can a progress into a further life take place.

The human must make her/himself familiar with death, which means more than only the dying of the material body. And actually, if one thoroughly thinks over life and death as well as over dying and the meaning of life - which means conscious evolution - then the certainty of death is not difficult to understand.

The universe is very old, but there is no organism consisting of a physical-material body, neither of animal nor of human nature, which would be immortal.

Immortal is indeed only the creative energy, from which all spiritforms of animal and human as well as of vegetable nature come into existence.

It is also in the nature of the human body, which passes away/is transient, to be vulnerable and unsteady and that, no matter how this body is constituted - be it fat/thick or thin, beautiful or ugly.

In any case, from birth on and through the whole life, the human ceaselessly moves towards dying and death, whereby nothing is able to avert it from the human. Also wealth or poverty play no role for death, also no physical strength or weakness, no flattery and hypocrisy, no bribery, no praying and no swearing or any other things, which the human could invent, in order to be able to escape from death. Death, indeed, makes no differences, and it gets all (all things, beings...), which is once born.

If the human thinks about death, then in a certain way an uneasiness strikes him at first, from which he becomes restless, because she/he believes to recognize and to perceive something threatening at the beginning of her/his thoughts and feelings about death. This real reaction is however helpful, because it shows that death is in fact inevitably, and that it is everywhere, and constantly present.

Although indeed the human does not know the point of time of her/his death, at which it will strike life, she/he must nevertheless always have the certainty, that life will inevitably take an end through death. Nobody knows, when the last hour strikes for her/him, which can be already the next one - or perhaps also on the next day, in one week, in a month or a year, in one decade or in three or four decades.

No human can guarantee her/himself - also not to her/his next one - that she/he will still live the next night.

The tiniest circumstance has already the power to cause that the grim reaper demands its right and that the human must suddenly and unexpectedly leave the material world. The causes for it can be various and lay even in the food, in the breathing air or in the medicine, in poisons and all kinds of things, about which the human never thinks.

Everything is finally possible, so that death prepares an end to life, for it does require no special request or rule, because death makes them for itself in each case.

Although the human is surely able to determine, which works she/he wants to create in her/his life and which type of love, knowledge and wisdom as well as the type of peace, joy and of freedom she/he wants to develop and acquire for her/himself, in a way which follows evolution, in order to fulfill the existence of her/his life. However she/he has in the last instance no power to determine when death will reach for her/him.

Even if the human commits suicide, she/he does not possess any power over it, for by the self killing (suicide) she/he avoids only the real time, which is fixed by death. Therefore committing suicide becomes a fact of destruction and of cowardly escape from life and from the exercising of ones responsibility towards life and towards death.

If the human dies, then she/he loses her/his physical body with all its physical forces. In addition, she/he loses all dear to her/him human beings in life, her/his family and friends as well as all the acquaintances and other fellow human beings. She/he must leave behind all her/his possessions in the material world, as well as her/his power and her/his fame, as well as all her/his abilities and possibilities. She/he cannot carry anything forward in the other world, for in the dead realm exist no material things as in the world, in which the current life is lived. She/he can be accompanied also by nobody, when she/he, the human, passes from life into death. She/he can take along no friends, no beloved ones and no acquaintances, for in the realm of death exists only the energy of the spirit and the energy of the universal consciousness of Creation.

If the human dies, then she/he must die alone, even if she/he is accompanied by her/his beloved ones, friends and acquaintances on the path of dying. This is not death-care but rather only terminal care/end-of-life care, which however does not remove the being-alone/loneliness during death and dying. Terminal care is beautiful and good, but it changes nothing to the being-alone/loneliness during dying, because each human must go this path all alone and nobody can, during the real dying, directly accompany her/him into the realm of death. The terminal care is thus only an outward, material circumstance, which can express a material solidarity and so on, by which the dying one is able to, for instance, receive love and feel/sense peace.

What the human can carry along into death, is only her/his spiritform of creative nature; however nothing more, because all her/his knowledge, her/his real love, her/his wisdom, her/his abilities, her/his aptitudes, habits and possibilities and so on, do not exist in her/him-self, rather in the memory banks/storage banks, which outlives all times and from which, after the rebirth/incarnation of the spiritform in a new human body, the newly formed personality can - by way of subconscious or conscious impulses – retrieve knowledge again.

With death all knowledge and all assets/abilities as well as all potentials - which were accumulated by the personality through thoughts and feelings as well as by actions and emotions and so on - are thus stored and definitively deposited in the memory banks/storage banks, according to which, following a assimilation process of the total consciousness block, the old personality is then dissolved, in order to make place to a new personality, which will be anew created.

If the human strives during his life to correctly and, according to evolution, build up her/his life and to fulfill it, as well as to consciously prepare her/himself for death, then she/he will also acquire reverence in relation to death. In addition she/he will also gain and retain confidence in order to accept death with dignity at the end of her/his days and to deal effectively and fearlessly with the experiences, which manifest themselves during the dying transition to death. If the human truly trains her/himself during her/his life to develop a consciousness with regard to death and dying, then she/he will be able to handle her/his death in a worthy manner, as both deserve it.

When the individual functions of the material body dissolve gradually, then joy and peace manifest themselves as well as true love and an infinite freedom, which allow one to recognize/acknowledge the radiating light of the elementary spiritual realm of the great beyond. The consciousness falls into agony, whereby the material world disappears as through a veil and gives way to a sphere, which waves/undulates full of harmony and radiates in a luminous brightness, which no material eye is able to perceive. The material condition of consciousness dissolves, and the clear light of the threshold of death points the way into the creative infinity of the great beyond.

Living In The Spiritual and Physical (German-English booklet)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Life\_in\_Spiritual\_and\_Physical

An Important Word

The yearning for certainty burns indelibly in every single human on Earth, especially the certainty of Being and the existence far beyond his terrestrial passing away, which man calls death. This certainty can become true for every single human being once he conquers his own ego. Truly, it is only the ego's haze that prevents envisioning the kingdom of true life, spiritualness, beyond the transformation of being and the passing on. That is because the ego, the "I", places too much emphasis on a person's own welfare until it becomes egoism with most humans. Doubts and uncertainties hang like dark storm clouds over each individual and, in fact, over all of mankind. Man on Earth is surprised by the thunder and flashes of lightning, brought on by egoism, materialism, and the remaining degrading things to which he has succumbed, making him their prisoner. To combat them must become a great priority for man. Only when, through cognition of truth, the sun of love, which embodies the manifestation of the spirit of life, rises on the horizon of the human psyche to chase away the thunderclouds, is man permitted to recognize how close he really is to the certainty, and how unfounded his fear and anguish have been.

Unfortunately, even now for many people only the death of their physical body signifies the beginning of true life and the gradual, renewed radiance of the inner Sohar. However, in the next incarnation the same situation may arise again through man's lack of knowledge in the previous life, if, at that time, he had not been arduously struggling and laboring for improvement. The gloom of absolute or partial darkness during an existence on Earth can only be terminated through a true inner palingenesis, at which time man shall see the light of the inner senses, when the activity of the spirit of life will no longer appear as the gloomy fate that man falsely had created for himself. Ultimately, when the Sohar has begun to shine within man, he will discern the invisible, the power of the spirit and its unlimited strength as the true force, while this visual effect begins to disappear again as a shadowy pattern, but lingers on as a continuous and stimulating recollection, to be effective and beneficial for further evolution. It still remains true of many Earth beings that their naked fear lurks behind all love and the desire for all loving oneness. Man fears everything: The end of love, the death of a loved one, separation and reunion, and above all, the change from this plane of existence to the beyond. Closely linked to these fears is the pain caused by bogus knowledge and bogus teachings, namely that all life will end forever in death, always living off other lives, which it destroys and supposedly must destroy to exist itself. A truly terrible thought. Yet, it is one of terrestrial origin only and emanates from the lack of understanding of true truth. It is correct insofar as every life lives off others. However, life does not murder other lives to be able to exist and to live itself. One life is integrated into another, one life helps the other, only to expire itself at a given time once its time and duty are completed. Life is neither the continuous sacrifice nor the becoming a sacrifice the Earth human falsely assumes and fortifies through correlated false doctrines. Rather, in truth, it is only a process of growing and passing away in a sense of continuously advancing evolution, and solely in the sense of the Creative rules, laws and commandments into which even Creation itself is integrated in every way. Therefore, for many great-times life is a process of rebirth and renewal in the cycle of passing away and growing again. Thus, expiring and death reach into the heart of life in the same way that life and growth extend deeply into the heart of death, whereby two realms merge into one, simultaneously complementing and conquering one another, to gradually bring about mutual comprehension. Life does not strive for vanquishing every single decline and death, but for overcoming decease and formation in general through evolution. Life works toward the progressive evolution of everything that has ever existed or now exists.

It works toward that which is immortal in the innermost of myriads of life-forms, toward the final goal of all creations, and toward Creation and the universal consciousness. Simply stated, the real meaning of life in the material state is, in fact, the mastery over one's ego, which constantly wants to dominate, and the subsequent evolution in the wholeness of the consciousness and the spirit.

Therefore, conquering oneself means that man must help his own, highest Being to victory, so he may recognize yet another still higher self, namely, the Creative self. Man will be awakened toward it through an even higher evolution. This is certainly one of the most difficult tasks of human life, yet, it is the most beautiful, most valuable, and productive, as beyond this task waits for man the greatest certainty of his all-great-time existence beyond all external and physical forms of being. Because the human life spirit within him is a fragment of the spiritual energy of Creation, it is important for him to recall the Creative root of his being, to unite through true spiritual introspection with all that within himself which is of the all-great-time. To be one with the spirit of life within himself, the part of Creation in him, means becoming absolutely free. Free from the fear of passing away, of death. To be one with a fragment of the Creative energy within also means recognition of the alter ego, the Creative self, beyond the external human ego. It is certainly the greatest experience, but for an inwardly still unprepared person also the most frightening one to encounter; to truly see and recognize oneself – one's own oldest ego, which reaches beyond all spheres and boundaries, floating past all senses into the all-great-time regions of Creation, which are beyond human comprehension. Whoever unites with a fragment of Creation within oneself, with the spirit itself, dissolves the frightening, yet truly innocuous enigma of passing on, indeed, of death. In so doing, one acknowledges death as only the other side of life, where it is nothing other than sleep, replacing daytime wakefulness in the physical realm. Man's lack of reason, his lack of knowledge, and his blindness make him believe that sleep is the darker side of life. As a result he has the same opinions concerning death.

Certainly, various other factors are reflected in the fear of death, but it does not make sense to name them all. Only one more item remains to be explained. The mystery a human body can solve only partially when it is abandoning life, can be manifested clearly and truthfully by the fragment of Creation in humans; namely, the certainty of absolute human permanence in the all-great-time. The human being should direct his vision unwaveringly toward the tasks of his life on Earth, with the knowledge that the realm of coarse matter rules in this plane and the realm of fine matter in the beyond. Nevertheless, these two divided spheres of the here and the beyond are one single realm, existing in the same place, in the same time space, only in another dimension. It certainly may seem as though the sum of hardships and suffering on planet Earth is much greater than that of joy and happiness. To believe that this is indeed a fact is but one of man's fallacies. This belief has become a perilous notion, transmitted and implanted through false doctrines and confusion. Such notions are unnecessary, however, because hardships and suffering, as well as joy and happiness, always keep each other in balance. Man overrates hardships and suffering solely through his erroneous considerations, and registers and keeps them on permanent recall, while he forgets the joyous and happy events all too quickly, which then elude him. In these matters, man has not yet learned to find balance, to register the negative as well as positive in the same way, and to preserve them in his memory. The same would hold true for the opposite case, if man were to remember only the positive – beauty, joy, love, and pleasantness. Here again is no balance between the negative and the positive; one form takes the upper hand over the other, resulting in a state of non-assimilation or non-integration, which means that again one factor prevails over the other. In spite of this circumstance, man is capable of seeing and recognizing his determination as a human being, and he can change the situation and attain an island of Sohar and security from the occurrences of gloominess. The length of time required need not be a worry or concern, because until the highest goal becomes reality, millions and billions of years may have tumbled into the past.

Millions and billions of years are accorded and offered to man, to smooth out the crumpled face he had caused his own home planet. Yet, he must be devoted at this time to the change offered to him for intervention in the evolutionary goal, to truly grasp the helping hand and proffered knowledge in truth, and to work toward this goal.

Ein Quentchen Wissen, Sinn und Weisheit [A Little Bit of Knowledge, Sense, and Wisdom] (German-language book)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/A\_Little\_Bit\_Of\_Knowledge,\_Sense\_And\_Wisdom\_\(book\))

{page 232}

True love lasts for a lifetime and beyond, because true love withstands death and is also still perceptible for the most distant descendant, because it is a significant, positive-neutral and unifying might, the nature of which is eternal and all-great-timely.

Meditation über den Tod ist wichtig [Meditation About Death Is Important] (German-language booklet)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Meditation\_about\_death\_is\_important

To meditate on death, i.e. practicing death meditation is of enormous importance (meaning), to understand it on the one hand, and to accept it when it inevitably approaches and demands its right; on the other hand, the meditation about the death is also important with regard to what comes after the death-life, when through the reincarnation of the spirit form, a new consciousness with a new personality incarnates into a new current life. For this new life, the meditative practice about the death in the last life is therefore so important because it will deposit the experience and knowledge impulses for what has been learned in the memory bank of the overall consciousness block and then the essence of these are transmitted into the subconscious of the new consciousness block and the new personality. However, it is really always only the essence of what has been learned, experienced, and the impulse-stored knowledge, so just in relation to the death, this essence in the new life has itself the ability to be a notion (inspiration) felt in the consciousness. The new consciousness with its new personality thereby again bumps into the knowledge acquired in the previous life around the importance (meaning) and understanding of death, by which on the one hand, according to urge in this regard, a further development occurs, and on the other hand, everything is much easier to manage. As a result, the values of the peace, of the joy, happiness and harmony, form in the human being as a vibrancy because a liberation from the anxiety and the shyness of the death spreads out.

In many cases, together with the angst and the timidness of the death, the practice of pondering over the death is hindered by the inclination that will be thought, the life takes a long time and there is always plenty of time for thinking about everything only then, when the higher age has come. However, this attitude is utterly wrong, because if one thinks in this way, then an entanglement with worldly things automatically and naturally arises, to which the human inevitably turns if they are alienated from their consciousness-based development by material delusions. Thereby he or she falls into one or another kind of materialism, accumulates the possessions and riches and forgets that they must evolve in their consciousness and accumulate knowledge and wisdom, in order to there-through be devoted to the love, the peace, the freedom and harmony. A human being who lives only materially and leaves his or her consciousness-development stunted, also does not find the way to strive for the true well-being in their life, nor can they be concerned about their death. And if this is so, no preparations for it can also be made, in order to be prepared for all eventualities of the life and for the death, to understand and accept everything. However, if about the death, as also naturally about the life, is meditated on, it will have the consequence that all the things of existence with regard to money, wealth and power, property and possessions as well as status, occupation, image and reputation, etc. do not lead to an obsession and greed, but rather to modesty and all the virtues. Therefore the meditation about the death also means that it is thus connected with doing justice to the demands of the life, and indeed because both factors, namely life and death, are unseparably connected with each other. Through the processing and the understanding of these things a great energy is also developed, from which arises a wide-reaching power, through which the life can be formed and mastered and which creates love, peace, freedom, harmony and joy as well as happiness in the human being, which then everything is also carried to the outside. And not only that, because everything thus created deposits impulses into the storage-banks of the otherworldly spirit-conditioned overall consciousness block. From out of this, a new consciousness with a new personality develops in the death-life, whereby the essence of the stored is entered i.e. "programmed", in order to become effective in the new human being – following the new birth together with the reincarnation of the spirit form – in the new human being.

For every human being it is important and also very helpful to know, that any good meditation about the death with regard to its understanding and acceptance has large benefits, however, the converse of not dealing with it brings great disadvantages. Every good death-meditation inspires and leads to insightful and cognitive thoughts, which further the understanding and acceptance with regard to it and create inner peace and rest, wherethrough each anxiety and shyness of the inevitable leaving out of the life, out of the thought- and feeling-world, gives way and dwindles. Meditatively to work with the death itself means to intensively study carefully with it, consciousness- and feeling-based, to analyse it, to understand and to esteem it as a factor for a new life with a new consciousness and a new personality. Every good meditation about the death opens the human beings senses with regard to the becoming aware of the effective truth regarding this, which also clearly and unequivocally shows, that every human being must sooner or later leave the material world. However, it also becomes clearly and consciously understood through a relevant meditation out of this, that already in the current life the human being must thoroughly deal with the death and its necessity, and must already concern themselves about this matter with regard to what extent knowledge, wisdom, love, peace, freedom and harmony as well as virtues, etc., the consciousness with his or her new personality should be developed in the next life. If the human is conscious of this through their death meditation as well as through the learning and understanding, then this consciousness helps them now in the current life to turn, more than ever and increasingly meditative and thought-feeling-based to the whole. A relevant meditation and thought-feeling activity is also very effective in the sense that the needs of the consciousness itself expand and the desire to acquire more knowledge and wisdom, and indeed also with regard to the spiritual-concerns and the creational-natural laws and recommendations. Consequently, everything will also be thereon expanded and constantly continued further. Naturally, some problems and difficulties occur with all efforts of every kind and wise, which the human beings take upon themselves, but these must be logically overcome without exception. But even concerning this, the meditation about the death can be very helpful, and indeed especially when difficult things must be endured, which through any circumstance comes forth. And this fact of the helpfulness of the death-meditation works further, also as encouragement and impulse out of this, that this meditation-form ultimately leads to a clear understanding and acceptance of the inevitable change from life in the death-life and from this again into a new current life of a new consciousness with a new personality.

In all phases of the current existence for the human being, the consciousness of death is of great importance (meaning), because through it, it becomes clear and understandable to them, how valuable the life is, in and of itself and generally actually is, as a result one safeguards it to the best of their ability and capacity. And therefrom it follows, that no efforts take place to consciously devote ones self to any unnecessary-wise life-imperiling activities, e.g. irrational extreme sports of all kinds, which are conducted only for an adrenaline-rush and wherein death can occur at any time through an unpredictable accident. To obtain the consciousness of death through a meditation about the death, is for the human being thus of great importance (meaning) and also indispensable for the guidance of a correct life in accordance with the creational-natural laws and recommendations. Human beings, who dedicate themselves to learning the spiritual teaching, the <teaching of the truth, teaching of the spirit, teaching of the life>, do not care only about the concerns of the life but also about the death and also about what will happen after the death-life, in a new material-current life of a new consciousness and its new personality. When reasonably thinking about it, then all the irrationalities and deceptions of biased thoughts, feelings, actions and deeds, so far in the current life are eliminated, and that this can be fulfilled in the true sense of the evolution of consciousness and in accordance with the creational-natural laws and recommendations. If the human being does not, however, act accordingly, and he/she also does not bethink on the death, then they create throughout their life and with regard to their last hour great disadvantages, because if they push away their thoughts and feelings of their death out of anxiety and shyness or for any other reasons, then they can also develop no real inclination with regard to the spiritual concerns. And if the death-consciousness is missing then the esteem, dignity and the deference as well as the respect for the life are also absent, therefore thoughts and feelings regarding these high values are completely feeble and are ineffective, because the human beings entire world of thoughts and feelings is predominantly only directed towards occupying themselves with the material things of the life.

Countless human beings belong to religious, sectarian or false-philosophical beliefs, have taken vows and say their prayers each day, often several times, which as a rule are rattled off only thoughtlessly and feelinglessly. They however exercise no meditation about the death and therefore also have no death-consciousness and suffer from anxiety and shyness before the inevitable passing away into the death-life. For this reason, the believers of the kind mentioned behave anxiously and shyly towards the death like all other human beings, and flip out if they are befallen by unusual things, or when crises appear that put them in a disadvantageous position. In such situations, they become restless, suffering from anxiety for their lives, are jealous and furious at unusually strong others, who have learned a death-consciousness, are without anxiety and without shyness and out of this can deal unweighted with all of it. Thus it is with the beliefs of the human beings, that if all goes well, is in order and sunshiny vanity, then the believers are satisfied, full of gladness and hope, but when their faith is challenged and tested through a crisis, etc., then it fails in the human being and its true nature of un-knowledgeness, its doubts and uncertainties as well as the anxiety and hopelessness comes to light. And this is a truth that proves itself every day with countless religion-, sect- and false philosophy-believing human beings. The fact is namely, that as a rule, they all mean the concerns of the material life much more than learning and following the creational-natural laws and recommendations which urge that all anxiety and shyness before the death is futile and therefore a cognition and knowledge as well as a death-consciousness should be worked out. However very many believers are obsessed with material riches, by their reputation and status as well as the fact that they can run after any imaginable pleasure and luxury. Besides, they also do not shy away from pronouncing evil words, bringing lies and calumnies into the world and committing bad deeds and acts, and then in accordance with their beliefs, atoning for everything and thus assuaging their guilty consciences in such a way as by providing shoes, food, useful everyday objects and "donating" sums of money for other human beings who have fallen on hard times. However, they do not concern themselves about the death for their own person out of anxiety and shyness, consequently they also can not build up a death-consciousness, as well as neither the knowledge about the fact that after the death-life, out of this a new consciousness with a new personality comes forth. It is a fact that a human being who does not meditate over the death and otherwise does not think about it and does not care for anything else in this wise, is naturally not interested in life according to the creational-natural laws and recommendations, and also not for the life after the death-life, when a new human being with a new consciousness and with a new personality is born into existence. Such humans have little or no esteem at all for the creational-natural laws and recommendations as well as for all creational-spiritual values, as they would rather be deceived in their thought- and feeling-world through belief-based empty phrases, irrationalities, confusions and untruths. Hence they are a source of calamity, of pain, of lovelessness, of un-peace, of joylessness and unfreedom, of malice, dis-honorableness, of hatred, of jealousy, peacelessness and revenge as well as dignitylessness, retribution, lying and disharmony, etc., and indeed for themselves as well as for the fellow humans.

If the human being does not concern themselves of their dying and the death, because they simply do not want to deal with it and so banish the whole thing out of the thought- and feeling-world and forget it, then they turn all their attention primarily and inevitably to the material, their possessions and goods and chattels, their riches and prosperity as well as the pleasures, etc. This, however, leads to the fact that the human being neither builds up and obtains a compassion for themselves nor for the fellow human beings, nor can they live in real love, dignity, freedom and harmony as well as in peace with each other. Their most important concerns are always only their own benefit and profit, their purely personal well-being, their need for money, luxury goods, pleasures, food, clothing and luxurious living, etc., while the true being human in the real and true sense, the humaneness and the willingness to help, as well as in general the venerability for the fellow human beings, sinks in the deepest abyss of indifference. These countless human beings are the ones who are confronted with all the opposite, which brings destructive and murderous world events of evil, disaster, wars, terror, jealousy, hatred of all kinds as well as complete indifference, apathy, indolence, disinterest, obtuseness and unconcern. As a rule, their whole reaction consists only therein, in giving a few words from themselves of a seeming regret and to make donations of money and goods to soothe their consciences, with which their responsibility is then fulfilled. And all these human beings there are, with their pretence of goodness in the foreground, who do not hesitate to confront and to threaten others, to do harm and to deceive, if it offers them an opportunity or if they simply deem it necessary. But also in them, whose characteristic feature comes forth that they consider themselves with regard to their thoughts, feelings, actions and deeds as valuable as well as extremely capable, competent, life -affirming and brilliant human beings. All these unworthinesses testify truthfully, however, to the fact that their broad-sightedness is very small and is a sign that they are mentally and thus also ideologically-based and characterally are not big enough to contemplate the effectiveness and the truth of the life and of the death. They are not broad-sighted enough to consider the life and the death from all necessary perspectives and to practice both in a meditation about the life as well as in a meditation about the death. This is why they can not understand and do not accept that it is not the end of the life with the dying and the death, but rather that after the death-life, in the other-worldly overall consciousness-block comes still many new lives, always with a new consciousness and a new personality. Though these new lives are and remain hidden to the human being in the current existence, and they also can not make any clear ideas about them, nevertheless they are still a reality and occur through the rebirth of the spirit form, together with the birth of a new consciousness and its new personality. But in order to understand this, it is necessary to look closely at the "teaching of the truth, teaching of the spirit, teaching of the life" i.e. to deal with the spiritual teaching and to learn and to practice the meditation about the death as well as other valuable forms of meditation throughout one's life. Only the thereout resulting forms of recognition and experience as well as the knowledge and the wisdom lead to the understanding of all those things proceeding out of the creational-natural laws and recommendations and which contribute to a life rightly led and a death confronted with dignity, and it is accepted in cognition of this fact, that it is an unavoidable stopover from a current life to another and new life.

When the human considers the unpermanence of their life and therefore inevitably also the death, be it simply thought-feeling-based or be it through meditation, then automatically certain regions of the consciousness itself begin to be interested for all consciousness-based and spiritual concerns, ways and goals. With many a human being the interest for this is also then awakened, when they stand before the corpse of a loved one or other human being and they become contemplative. For many this then helps, that they begin to come to terms with the death and learn what it truthfully means. Therefore the urge to understand the passingness can arise due to these kinds of circumstances in one or another, consequently a turning towards meditation about the death takes place. This is extremely important because through this, the attentiveness from all the fleeting, i.e. passing thoughts, feelings and things of material form and senseless activities will be drawn off. This why it is important to strive to develop a deep-reaching certainty with regard to the fact that your own present material body and the consciousness-block each have very great potential which must be used rationally and which is not something to be squandered in any way. Also, the time should not play a role with their use, but rather be understood that every second is extremely valuable with regard to the use of their potentials. If, however, only the essentials are pulled out of the potentials, then everything is only wasted and brings forth such an effect in the consciousness, as if it would be supplied a dangerous poison. Therefore the physical and consciousness-based potentials must be used in the best wise, so that they bring forth the best values as well as the understanding and acceptance of the same. So that all this can be, however, space must be taken from the worldly such that no sadness arises when being deprived of something material; quite the contrary however, remorse should be felt if the meditation about the death as well as the thoughts and feelings thereof are neglected and hence very valuable moments of the life are wasted.

OM (German-language book)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/OM

Kanon 49

35. Yet when the human reaches death, the seer and knower in him - the spirit - cannot die, because, as a fragment of the Creation, it is of eternal duration.

...

47. Everything that the human inherits, everything that he brings with him through the billion-fold existence of the past, everything that he enjoyed, knew, read, learnt or experienced in this or in past lives, lies concealed in his unconsciousness.

Philosophie des Lebens [Philosophy of Life] (German-language booklet)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Philosophy\_of\_Life

What does the spiritual teachings teach?

The spiritual teachings is not based on a belief and also does not cultivate such, therefore there is also no belief in a paradise after death. Nor does it speak of a God, who preaches love and at the same time cries for punishment in a vindictive and retaliation-addicted wise. The teaching of the spirit explains, that the human being lives his/her actual material life, is integrated into a process of procreation, development, life, and death, and no longer exists after the passing (death). In doing so, the human spirit-form resp. the human part-piece of the Creation-spirit changes over into its realm of the other world and dwells there in the so-called death-life until rebirth. The consciousness and the personality escape into the realm of the other world of the overall consciousness-block created by the spirit-form in which they are contained, and are dissolved by it into neutral energies, from which a new consciousness and a new personality are created by the overall consciousness-block, which are then born together with the reincarnating spirit-form.

Fundamentally the spiritual teachings explain that through the rebirth resp. reincarnation of the spirit-form and the respective new-emergence of new forms of the consciousness and personality, the eternity of life, so to speak, is given. This however is to be understood in the sense of the eternity of life with regard to the spirit resp. of the spirit-form, which remains for all great time and thus eternally existing, while the current form of the consciousness and personality only exist during one's actual, material life, are dissolved after the passing (death) of the body and therefore cease to exist, in order to make room for a new form of the consciousness and a new personality. This means that the essence of the life, the spirit resp. the spirit-form, lives on, whereas the physical body dies sometime and has to be replaced sometime in the future for the rebirth of the spirit-form as well as for the new consciousness and the new personality. This makes it clear that the erroneous long-established teaching has no validity, which claims that a rebirth of the same consciousness and the same personality takes place, because truthfully only the spirit of the human being resp. his/her spirit-form of creational nature is capable of reincarnation, not however the consciousness or the personality. And equally the teaching also clearly explains that the creational-human spirit-form is solely and exclusively able to be reborn again in a human material body, but never in bodies of any other form of life, such as in animals.

Wiedergeburt, Leben, Sterben, Tod und Trauer [Reincarnation, Life, Dying, Death and Mourning] (German-language book)

{website summary, English translation by DeepL Translator}

Death belongs to life just as life belongs to death. Both cannot exist without each other, because they are so dependent on each other like the wakefulness and the sleep. And just as sleep occurs without man being able to escape it, so death also occurs at the end of days, whether man wants it or not.

Stumme Andacht... Das Altwerden... Der falsche Weg... [Silent Devotion... Aging... The Wrong Way...] (German-language booklet)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Silent\_Devotion

... Naturally, I know that the hour of passing away will strike one day, but I calmly await this time because I know that I have carried out my life, in steady youthfulness and to the best possible extent, to the fulfilment of the Creational laws and directives and, with that, also the evolution of the consciousness. Thus, death will overtake me despite the aging of the body in consciousness-related youthful strength, with the certainty that I have regretted not a second of my life.

Die Geisteslehre [The Spiritual Teaching] (German-language booklet)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/The\_Spiritual\_Teaching\_\(booklet\))

And it is taught that man has to prepare himself consciously to face death at the end of his time and that the end of the lifetime comes unchangeably and is inevitable.

Talmud Jmmanuel

Chapter 5

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/The\_Talmud\_of\_Jmmanuel\_-\_Sermon\_on\_the\_Mount

47. "Over the course of incarnations you shall train your spirit and your consciousness and allow them to develop to perfection, so that you become one with Creation.

Chapter 26

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/About\_Suicide

54. The determination of the laws is as follows: the human being shall live his/her life to its end, so that in this way, he/she closely (relatively) fulfils (relatively absolutely fully develops) his/her spirit (consciousness).

...

61. Every guilt and every mistake is a pathway to the recognition, through which the spirit (the consciousness) closely (relatively) fulfils (absolutely fully develops) itself.

62. But if the human being escapes from guilt or a mistake by killing himself/herself, he/she then also flees from cognition and responsibility, therefore, in the next life the new self (new personality) must – making up for lost time – learn and recognise, and thus take responsibility for it.

Chapter 34

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/The\_Talmud\_of\_Jmmanuel\_-\_Creation

1. Jmmanuel preached powerfully, saying, "Behold, Creation stands above humanity, above god and above everything.

2. "It appears to be perfect by human comprehension, but this is not so.

3. "Since Creation is spirit and thus lives, even it must forever perfect itself.

4. "But since it is one within itself, it can perfect itself by way of its own creations, through the generation of new spirit forms that dwell within humans, give them life, and evolve towards perfection through their learning.

5. "The newly generated spirit is part of Creation itself; however, it is unknowing down to the smallest iota.

6. "When a new spirit is created, which is still unknowing in every way, it lives in a human body and begins to learn.

7. "Persons may consider the unknowing spirit as stupid and say that the individual is confused.

8. "But it is not, because it is only unknowing and devoid of knowledge and wisdom.

9. "Thus may this new spirit live a life within a human being in order to gather knowledge.

10. "Then, when this spirit enters the beyond, it is no longer as unknowing as it was at the time of its beginning.

11. "And it returns into the world and lives again as a human being but is no longer quite as unknowing as it was at its beginning.

12. "Again it learns and gathers further knowledge and new wisdom, and thereby increasingly escapes from ignorance.

13. "So, after many renewed lives, the time comes when people say that this spirit is normal and not confused.

14. "But this is neither the end of the spirit nor its fulfilment, because, having become knowing, the spirit now seeks the greatest wisdom.

15. "Thus, the human spirit perfects itself so extensively that it unfolds in a Creational manner and ultimately becomes one with Creation, as it was destined from the earliest beginning.

16. "Thus, Creation has brought forth a new spirit, allowing it to be perfected independently in the human body. The perfected spirit returns to Creation to become one with it, and in this manner Creation perfects itself within itself, for in it is the knowledge and wisdom to do so.

Die Lehre «Kelch der Wahrheit» und allgemein Geisteslehre [The Teaching 'Goblet of the Truth' and Spiritual Teaching in General] (German-language booklet)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/The\_Teaching\_%22Goblet\_of\_the\_Truth%22\_and\_Spiritual\_Teaching\_in\_General

... Therefore the teaching teaches not only the relationship between the human being and the creational-natural laws as well as the necessity of following them, but also the behaviour with respect to the secular things and secular jurisdiction. And it is clearly and distinctly taught that there is no sin and no karma, because if the human being wants to learn effectively, errors must be made, because only through these he/she truthfully recognises what is right or wrong.

Therefore when he/she makes errors and recognises them, then he/she can resolve them, consequently he/she becomes free of the wrong in this manner and therewith punishes his/her own false action. That he/she then must atone for it in the next life through a corresponding karma or in hell, proves itself as blatant religious and sectarian nonsense. ...

Telepathic Transmission from Arahat Athersata - Wednesday, 12th May 1976, 09:11

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Telepathic\_Transmission\_from\_Arahat\_Athersata

4. There has been the question about the pros or cons of contact with life-forms of a nature beyond, which are the spirit forms of the dead according to human values and which are in the realms of a spiritual level.

5. The question is to be answered with all clarity with a comprehensive No, because such contacts should not try to be cultivated in the form of invocations and incantations, which is called after earthly sense as incantation of the dead and spiritism.

...

7. The human being on earth has his task to fulfil his evolution, but so also the forms on the other side have their task to fulfil.

8. If, however, they were disturbed by invocations and incantations, then their evolution would be hindered and strongly impaired, so would it also be the case if the earthly man from the otherworldly realms were harassed in the same way.

...

10. The human being on earth should be aware of the fact that a form of life that has changed from this world to the hereafter has no more knowledge in the hereafter than it has acquired in material life, so consequently it would not be able to transmit any higher values of knowledge or higher truths.

11. A form of life on the other side would therefore only be able to reproduce what it contained in itself as a material form of life in terms of knowledge or ignorance.

12. But it is certainly not her own in the realm of the afterlife to be able and allowed to call the concerns of the afterlife to the terrestrial human being, so that descriptions of realms beyond can never take place, neither from the sphere itself nor from the forms of life.

...

17. Beyond life-forms themselves never appear in the material world, not even for conditional evolutionary reasons, or which might be connected with reconnecting concerns to certain living earth-men or certain material things which might be of significance to them, for if they have gone away from the earth realm, earthly life is accomplished and overcome for them, consequently there must be no habituation in the beyond realms, as is unrealistically assumed by earth-men.

Gedanken zu Sorgen im Gestern, Heute und Morgen / Ein Leben Nach dem Tod [Thoughts about Worries of Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow / A Life After Death?] (German-language booklet)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Thoughts\_about\_Worries\_of\_Yesterday,\_Today\_and\_Tomorrow

A Life After Death?

The question of whether there is a life after death, in the form of a reincarnation, contains more serious pondering moments than are initially recognisable in that first instance. Only the fact of whether a person is sure or not, that a life exists after death determines his attitude toward life. If a person knows about his life after death, then he behaves completely differently than someone who doesn't know about reincarnation and believes that their life ends with death or at least is irrevocably over after the last day.

A person who knows about life after death cultivates a completely different attitude to life than a person who does not know about reincarnation, or rejects it. The one who knows about life after death cultivates a decisive sense of personal responsibility and ethics as well as of the duty of being human and of the personal evolution. It is the person's duty to have compassion toward his fellow human beings and all creatures. But a person who is not aware of life after death hardly ever thinks about the consequences of his thoughts, feelings and actions. And exactly this fact, leads to the factor that man as an individual as well as in society, is almost exclusively fixed on short-term results, which are not promising for the future in the form that a truly long-term success exists.

Evolution in the sense of a future-reaching and creationally-just progress could emerge. In this fact there is also the deeper reason for all brutality and superficiality, rampant among men, as well as the will of man to place himself above others and exploit them, to maltreat, rape, enslave and subjugate them, in order to live rulingly in power and glorify himself, without sincere compassion for his neighbour - an honest compassion that has become so rare among men of the earth.

Man is always the result of how he thought, felt, acted and lived - and so man will one day be the result of how he thinks, feels, acts and lives.

If man wants to understand his present life, then he considers his past lives lived through - and if man wants to recognise his future life, then he considers his present way of life.

Stimme der Wassermannzeit Nr. 143 [Voice of the Aquarian Age Nr. 143]

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Conception,\_Consciousness\_and\_Personality\_of\_the\_Human\_Being

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Consciousness\_Evolution

When the egg and sperm unite through the act of procreation the consciousness and personality do not enter the fertilised egg which is contrary to what occasionally is wrongly taught. The fact is that during the three weeks after fertilisation the formless embryo grows as a tiny natural impulse-based pure instinct body. On the 21st day the embryo is then 'spiritually' animated when the spirit-form reincarnates into the embryo along with the consciousness and personality which incarnate through the comprehensive consciousness block. So the spirit-form and the comprehensive consciousness block's created part, the consciousness and personality, become the self of the conceived life form as its inseparable part. If the reincarnation of the spirit-form as well as the incarnation of the new consciousness and personality into the embryo has taken place, then the embryo is transformed from a pulsing natural instinct-based state of life into a conscious living process. This means, that the embryo no longer exists, but from now on the foetus whose tiny heart then starts to beat and to work. So the conscious life of the consciousness begins which exists in the foetus and in this form develops into a human being. The essential material components of the growing foetus come from both parents, but the forms of the spirit and of the comprehensive consciousness block, the consciousness and personality have nothing to do with the material components since they are of a completely different nature which the human being is incapable of influencing and determining.

Reichtum der Gewaltlosigkeit und tiefgreifende Geisteslehreauslegungen [Wealth of the Non-Gewalt and Profound Spiritual Teaching Interpretations] (German-language booklet)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Wealth\_of\_the\_Non-Gewalt\_and\_Profound\_Spiritual\_Teaching\_Interpretations

The Spiritual Teaching is Way and Fulfillment in the Current and in the New Life

... Thereby it should be kept in mind that all that is learnt, understood and brought to success in the current life, is deposited in the storage bank of the other-worldly overall consciousness block and is transferred as essence into the subconsciousness of the new consciousness block and its new personality. This essence of everything learnt is given to the new life of the next consciousness block and its new personality to take with it in the subconsciousness as a decisive foundation, through which the fundamental form of the character, of the consciousness, of the personality and of the memory, and so forth, are created. In this manner, the new human being, with his/her new consciousness block and its new personality, is also able to continue with his/her evolution in his/her new life, where it was ended in the last life through the death. The law of creational-natural causality, that is to say of cause and effect, arises in this respect also, namely, in the form that the last evolutive state of the previous life, attains the effect that, in the next life of the new consciousness and its personality, there can be further evolution on a decisively higher state, than was possible in the previous life.

Gewichtige Worte zum Tod [Weighty Words About Death] (German-language booklet)
https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Weighty\_Words\_About\_Death

When Death Ends Life, Nobody Knows

Unfortunately it is very probable that death triggers anxiety, alarm and displeasure for many human beings, precisely because they do not concern themselves with it throughout their lives and are constantly afraid to face it in their world of thoughts and feelings. They also do not understand that everyone must go alone, driven forward through the creational-natural law of becoming and passing and becoming again, which distinctly applies to each individual human being and also to any other life form, regardless of which genus and kind. ...

...

... Every human being's body must stay behind after the occurrence of the death, whilst the spirit form and the consciousness block<sup>2</sup> sink in to their determined realms of the other world and the spirit form further evolves in its realm, however the consciousness block dissolves itself into neutral energy in the realm of the overall consciousness block and this neutral energy forms into a new consciousness block with a new personality, in order to be born anew, together with the rebirth of the spirit form, as is presented and explained in the spiritual teaching. And the new consciousness block with the new personality is only influenced by everything which was acquired by means of and based in knowledge and wisdom in the preceding life and stored in the storage bank of the overall consciousness block by means of and based in impulse. Consequently in death-life nothing else helps than that which was acquired and lived in regard to knowledge and wisdom and everything in relation to love, peace, freedom and harmony and other high values, and which was deposited in the storage of the overall consciousness block through the consciousness. Everything else expires, so therefore also no material values would be of importance in any shape and form.

If the dying process is considered, then it arises from this that the life slowly escapes from the material body, by means of the slow dwindling, and by finally completely dissolving all energy and its power. If the human being familiarises himself/herself with the fact of this process during his/her life, then he/she will cope with it when the whole thing really comes about and death approaches. And if certain values are created during the life through meditation by means of and based in the thoughts and feelings also about love and feelings for the next one in relation to one's own person as well as in regard to others, then a confidence in one's own world of thoughts and world of feelings also emerges, from which the understanding of the perishability of life also arises and this becomes understood and accepted. Just including the perishability of life in the practices of an appropriate meditation helps very much, in order to correctly understand the life, the dying and the death and to be able to readily accept it when it takes life as its toll and therewith paves the way for a new life after the death-life. However if the human being believes that the current material life is only a uniqueness and that everything is finished with the death, he/she is deceived very much. Actually the fact of further life after the death must be considered, whereby further lives are not only a possibility, but rather a truth which cannot be invalidated and must be accepted. The spirit form subsists for eternity and is creationally-naturally directed towards living through innumerable lives in material bodies and evolving through the knowledge work and wisdom work of the respective consciousness block. On the other hand, the consciousness block and its personality are perishable and subject to the developmental change of becoming, passing and becoming again, whereby, however, in each new life also a new consciousness block with a new personality arises, which no longer have anything to do with the old and deceased forms. Learning to accept and understand this truth through meditation helps each human being very much, but it shall deter no one from also calling upon the assistance of fellow human beings, relatives, friends and acquaintances, etc. in good and in difficult times and talking about everything. Either way, the death for each individual human being remains a factor of the unknown, namely, also when he/she has thoughts and feelings about it, processes, understands and accepts everything about it and is also clear that it must be faced completely alone and accepted. However ultimately it must also be understood and accepted that at the end of the lifetime only that which has been learnt in the life in regard to knowledge and wisdom as well as in regard to love, peace, harmony and all other high values can assist each human being.

...

Nothing Can Escape Death, hence it must be pondered and it also must be understood

The certainty of death is absolute, and this is a fact which the human being must come to grips with, be it sooner or later. It is good if this already occurs early in life and time and again throughout, because no one knows when the time comes for one, that one must exit the current life. As old as the world and the entire universe have become, still no creature and absolutely nothing which would be immortal and imperishable can be pointed out. It is in the nature of all matter and all existence in general that everything is perishable, even the Creation universal consciousness which passes again after 311,040,000,000,000 years, rests in a slumber and developmentally changes itself into a new Creation form. Even the sleep and the death of the human being and all creatures in general are to be equated to such a slumber. Through the sleep in the current life, new energies and new powers resulting from them are collected, whereas through the death, the spirit form changes over into its realm of the other world and further evolves. This happens whilst the consciousness block is integrated by the other-worldly overall consciousness block created by the spirit form and is converted into pure neutral energy, from which a new consciousness block with a new personality is created and is born into a new human body, together with the rebirth of the spirit form on the 21st day after the conception.

...

... All this anxiety about the dying and the inevitable death can be faced however with good, healthy and relevant thoughts and feelings, if the human being profoundly comes to grips with it over and over again by means of and based in the thoughts and feelings, as early as in youth and in the ensuing adulthood. The thoughts and feelings about dying and death can be processed thereby in a very good and valuable form through a relevant meditation, whereby neither an uncalmness in the thoughts and feelings, nor a discomfort arises, just as the absolutely inevitable constitutes no threat anymore. The whole of the world of the thoughts and the feelings adjusts itself to that and everything is understood as an inevitable necessity of the fact that, through death, new life arises. The death, also described as death-life, is like a deep sleep in the realm of the other world of the overall consciousness block, namely, in relation to a developmental change into a new life, into a new consciousness and a new personality, and therewith into a new human life.

...

Each death is preceded by a dying, be it slowly, quickly or suddenly and each human being must submit to this completely alone, because everyone dies on his/her own, namely even when dear relatives or friends, etc. are present at the passing. No other human being can accompany another into the death, rather can only stand by a dying one in end-of-life care. So also nothing material can be given to take into the death, because when the human being changes over into it, everything coarse-substantial passes away for him/her in seconds. In the storage banks of one's own other-worldly overall consciousness block however, all essence of one's love, one's knowledge and one's wisdom is stored by means of and based in impulse in a fine-fluidal form, consequently nothing of one's values regarding this is lost, in fact not for all times. With the emergence of a new consciousness and its new personality, it is then also the essence of these stored tendencies and potentialities which enters them. Thereby the new human being can develop resp. further evolve himself/herself in his/her new life by means of and based in love, knowledge and wisdom, where the old consciousness with its personality has ceased to learn and to exist because of the occurrence of death.

... By extensively granting oneself a training during one's life in relation to the life and dying as well as concerning death and also educating oneself in all necessary knowledge, understanding and following of the natural-creational laws and recommendations consciously and in a far-reaching form, one can also develop an awareness for the inevitable dying process. Thereby the understanding and acceptance emerges for the fact that all elements of the material body gradually dissolve after its passing and that, when the last breath is taken, the spirit form, up until its reincarnation, escapes into its other-worldly realm, and the consciousness block with its personality, irreversibly escapes into the other-worldly realm of the overall consciousness block. If this is understood, then the human being is also capable of dealing with the particular phases of dying and of the death-life, consequently the clear light of death is also recognised and accepted when it inevitably approaches and takes the life as its toll.

When the consciousness state finally expires, then this is exactly the threshold which is crossed into the death. However before this happens, if a normal dying takes place, a death throes state occurs, which corresponds to a dying phase and is a preliminary stage of the exitus letalis, in other words, the death with reduced life processes. With this process the life functions of the consciousness expire slowly and at the end the death eventuates as a collapse of the integrated organ system, namely, the combined organ system as a whole. The end of the life is therefore an irreversible loss of function of the brain as well as the respiratory, circulatory and central nervous systems.

If a human being is very proficient in higher meditation practices, then he/she can realise the individual phases of his/her own dying process through his/her own proficient attentiveness and live through them consciously and linger in serenity. Unfortunately this is possible for only few human beings, because they are not far enough advanced regarding knowledge, wisdom and meditation, which is why each individual in general is advised to preserve a clear consciousness as long as possible during the first phases of the dying process and still tend to and maintain the best possible clear thoughts and feelings of the love and of the feelings for others. This makes the whole of the dying process very much easier and helps entering into the intermediate state of life and death without anxiety and without fear and peacefully giving oneself over to the inevitable.

Life and Death are a Oneness

There is no life without death and no death without life, because death is a component of life, just as life is a component of death. Neither a living human being nor another creature can escape death and it matters not whether this is wanted or not. Death enters into life, just as life enters into death, namely in the so-called death-life, in which the spirit form leaving the body into its realm of the other-world prepares itself for its next reincarnation, resp. rebirth. This happens whilst the consciousness block with its personality passes and is dissolved into pure neutral energy, from which a new consciousness block with a new personality develops, in order to then be born together with the reincarnation of the spirit form. It is of immense importance for the human being to know this, because from this he/she can grasp that it is necessary to concern himself/herself, by means of and based in the thoughts and feelings, not only with life, rather also with death, in order to understand the sense of it all. It is fundamentally necessary that the actuality in relation to death is not banished from the thoughts and feelings, rather that the human being devotes himself/herself to the endeavour of understanding it and its sense.

return to Index

Death Valley

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Death\_Valley

<https://www.nps.gov/deva/index.htm>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Asket%27s\_Explanations\_-\_Part\_4

Asket:

4. This continent {America} was also inhabited by humans of extraterrestrial origin - from spacefarers and their descendents - around 2,500,000 years ago, by your time reckoning.

5. But, as usual on this world, they got in each others' hair and annihilated themselves.

6. They invented atom bombs and exploded them in a blitzkrieg.

...

12. Those who wish to see hard evidence can find it at any time and view it and think about it.

13. There are sites of former cities which stood there many, many thousands of years ago and have been melted by atomic hells into glass-like masses.

14. The best preserved testimonies have become curiosities in your time because the Earth human does not know their genesis.

15. But very well known in this regard are names like "Death Valley", which, however, also still has a relationship to other events in the present day.

16. The "Valley of Fire" near the city of Las Vegas is another witness to the past and the timeless, atomic insanity of humans who populated the Earth again and again.

return to Index

The Devil

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Satan>

see also God

Arahat Athersata, 2019 FIGU-Landesgruppe Canada, pages 243-246

Billy:

159. As rather clever and resourceful leaders, they formed formulas, laws, recommendations and prohibitions from this and attributed them to the gods.

160. And already the religion was born.

161. This in turn gave rise to a single God who was made responsible for all Creation and all happenings - and who should embody the love and salvation.

162. The only thing still missing was therefore the embodying and naming of the evil.

163. For this, a few resourceful heads seized on the history of the old Celts, who in ancient times worshipped a superhuman, one of those called god, as the God of the Hunt, because he used his tremendous consciousness-powers for the benefit of the people for hunting.

164. Ancient traditions, etc. demonstrate that this god, who had two horn-like outgrowths on his skull, had been called Teubel.

165. After his death, his position was further personified by a Celt who, in a change of name, was named Teibel and who, as a symbolisation of the one called god, carried an animal skull on his head, thus imitating the superhuman with his horn outgrowths.

166. In the course of the hundreds and thousands of years the name Teubel changed innumerable times until the name Teufel arose from it. [Teufel is the German word for devil.]

167. A name that was taken up by the still young religions and, in memory of the horned one who was called god, was introduced as an evil counterpart to the un-horned god of the alleged goodness and love as a second god.

168. Good and evil were thus created - heaven and hell.

Dinosaurs extinction

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Cretaceous%E2%80%93Paleogene\_extinction\_event

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_231

Billy:

About 65 million years ago, the great catastrophe, in which dinosaurs and many other large animals were exterminated, was an approximately 11,000-metre-large world space projectile that hit the Earth. Is it really true that only this meteor was to blame for everything?

Quetzal:

82. Basically yes, at least in the origin, because from this there were other bad consequences, which led to the final catastrophe.

83. Due to the tremendous impact, enormous vibrations were caused on the whole planet, which were triggered by a chain reaction of worldwide earthquakes, as a result of which 314 large volcanoes erupted almost simultaneously within a few hours, followed by 608 further heavy eruptions in a few days.

84. The meteor and the volcanic eruptions spewed so much dust, ash and steam as well as poisonous gases and other substances into the atmosphere that most of the larger life on Earth suffocated or perished, whereby the solar radiation did not penetrate to the earth's surface.

85. These are other things that we have researched by looking back.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_238

Ptaah:

298. If I have to answer your question about the dinosaur death, I must point out that this question was already answered about 15 years ago by my daughter Semjase, who explained to you that 50% of all terrestrial life-forms died out due to a worldwide climate change, which brought with it a tremendous cold.

299. In addition to dinosaurs, climate change has also exterminated many other animal species, and of course countless species of flora.

300. The reason for the worldwide climate change was found at that time in two enormous natural events, so on the one hand in the fact that several gigantic meteorites crashed on the Earth, which had wandered for many millennia far away from the asteroid track of the asteroid belt through the space, whereby they more and more distanced themselves from the actual asteroid belt and finally found the track to Earth and plunged this by their impact into a gigantic catastrophe and climate change.

301. The Earth was shaken to its foundations by the tremendous impact, which revealed the second natural event, the fact that in many places the Earth and the seabed were torn open and the magma bubbling inside the Earth opened the way to the surface.

302. New volcanoes erupted from the Earth and from the waters, while old volcanoes began to live again, not to mention active fire mountains that suddenly spew out their lava in wild force.

303. It seemed as if the Earth was going down, as if around the world hundreds of volcanoes with unprecedented force spit their glowing Earth and rock masses and smoke, sulphur vapours and ash high into the sky, whereby within a few weeks the firmament darkened and became one with the gigantic dust cloud, which had developed by the meteorite impact and which had already darkened to large parts the sun.

304. By the many hundreds of volcanoes and Earth chimneys raging with primeval force and by the dirt, soot and dust particles hurled out, a world-encompassing, dense and opaque veil developed, which suffocated and destroyed 50% of all life among itself.

Billy:

And when was that about?

Ptaah:

305. It took place roughly at the turn of the Cretaceous-Tertiary period.

Billy:

Doesn't this correspond to the time before 60 million years?

Ptaah:

306. About 5 million years later, about 65 million years ago.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_250

Billy:

My next question relates to very early events on Earth, namely meteorite and comet impacts. I am especially interested in those events that belong to the chalk-tertiary boundary, so about 65 million years ago. You once explained to me that at that time at least one large meteor crashed into the Mexican basin of Yucatán and thus near the same peninsula in northern Central America between the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean Sea and triggered that worldwide catastrophe, which then extinguished the dinosaurs and all larger living beings.

Ptaah:

102. I myself explained these early occurrences to you, but I only spoke of this one small planetoid or meteorite, which had a diameter of 10,000 metres and exploded when it touched the sea surface and a part of the land mass of the peninsula.

103. At that time this was not the only great meteorite that hit Earth, but it was only one of a chain of 48 large, larger and smaller space projectiles, which flew in a line one after the other towards Earth and hit it.

104. An 11,000 metre diameter lump drilled its way exploding into the Atlantic Ocean at the north coast of America at a speed of more than 100,000 kilometres per hour.

105. Only hours later, the next impact followed in today's state of Iowa/USA, which led to the Manson crater known today.

106. According to our estimates, the relevant object from outer space was about 2,300 metres in diameter.

107. Gradually then, and within about 20 days, the remaining small and smallest further meteors crashed to Earth, creating a few more small craters around the world, but they were not significant.

Billy:

In Yucatán the crater measures about 170 kilometres in diameter, if I am not mistaken.

Ptaah:

108. You are not mistaken.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_411

Ptaah:

26. Already three million years earlier, before the dinosaurs were destroyed by the big meteorite of 11,000 meters – resp. it was an asteroid from the asteroid belt, like various other lumps that crashed into the Earth – in the area of today's Yucatan and created a crater about 180 kilometers in size, it happened that about 330,000 years earlier, at exactly the same place, a first asteroid of about 6,700 meters in size struck, which already caused devastation and shook the Earth, causing many volcanoes to erupt.

27. The first asteroid's fall triggered several huge tsunamis, the largest of which reached a height of 300 metres. However, the second impact of the 11,000-metre asteroid also produced several tsunamis, the most powerful of which reached a height of 490 meters and took its fatal course at around 800 kilometers per hour.

28. Many volcanoes around the world got into turmoil by the impacts and spewed out their glowing and fiery masses, while during both events there were also huge seaquakes and earthquakes, which partly led to big tsunamis again

29. The volcanic eruptions caused an enormous amount of dust, ashes, steam and poisonous gases to enter the atmosphere and, for the most part, suffocated all major life on earth, at least that which came under their influence.

30. The enormous volcanic eruptions drove ash clouds into the atmosphere, so that huge areas of the earth were no longer hit by the sun's rays and these were laid in twilight or darkness.

31. This led to the fact that practically all plants died and thus the animal world was robbed of food, at least those who lived on plants.

32. As a result, vast areas became desolate, with the waters receding, further contributing to the catastrophe.

33. But these were actually only the last effects of the two big asteroid collapses in the Yucatan area.

34. Besides this, there were several other space projectiles which were not harmless either.

35. But the ultimate reason for the final extinction of the dinosaurs were the catastrophic effects caused by the large meteorite or asteroid that hit the earth about 65 million years ago near Yucatan.

36. Of course, the process of dying was not immediate, but lasted for a number of years, depending on how nature and the climate changed.

37. It must be said, however, that even without the two space projectiles the dinosaurs would have become extinct, because before the great catastrophe occurred some 65 million years ago, a strong climatic change process had already been taking place for three million years and entire animal populations had already fallen victim to it.

38. All genera and species of dinosaurs were also affected by this, so in the end they had a history of dying for about three million years.

39. If they had not died out gradually over time after the great asteroid catastrophe, they would otherwise have died out within the next 500,000 to 600,000 years at the latest.

Billy:

So the catastrophe began three million years earlier when the climate began to change in such a way that ...

Ptaah:

40. ... life once again began to change and a new evolutionary process began.

41. This affected all dinosaur genera and species in such a way that they slowly but surely became extinct, as was the case with various other large animals, which were no longer able to cope with the climate and environmental conditions and also found less and less food.

Billy:

So, then, the dinosaurs and other large animals did not die by fire rolls caused by the meteoric fall, nor did they die frozen to death by freezing cold or acid rain, etc., as certain scientists claim.

Ptaah:

42. No, no it was other deadly combinations that were caused by the various circumstances of global climate and vegetation change etc.

Billy:

So, then there was not the same event that I know happened 500 million years before the dinosaurs died, when a catastrophe came upon the Earth, in which many huge volcanoes around the world were extremely active and caused global warming, leading to climate change on a huge scale, and millions of years later, dinosaurs and other giant creatures emerged.

Ptaah:

43. That is correct.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_456

Billy:

... Although we have talked about it several times, it was always done unofficially, even with Quetzal. It is about the primeval volcanic eruption about 75 million years ago, by which many life forms were already exterminated, including several large species of dinosaurs, such as similar to the Tyrannosaurus, but smaller than them, but which were followed by larger creatures after the volcanic catastrophe, such as the Tyrannosaurus and even more powerful ones. These were then again wiped out by an enormous catastrophe, when a huge chunk from the space of the world crashed onto the earth and hit a huge crater in the Gulf of Mexico, in addition to the fact that various large and small volcanoes erupted worldwide as a result of the impact, which completed the catastrophe and affected the whole world, which happened about 65 million years ago. That is what our earthly scientists have found out. But they seem to know nothing about the volcanic catastrophe 75 million years ago, at least I have never read about it or seen anything on television. Only after this catastrophe, so you said, the actual giant dinosaurs emerged, which were then exterminated by the great cometary impact. Unfortunately, I no longer know where the giant volcano was on the continent of America at that time, which 75 million years ago destroyed the life of that time, just like the dinosaur generation at that time.

Ptaah:

24. The area was where the state of Montana is today.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_544

Billy:

... If a large object, a large comet, meteorite or asteroid crashes onto the Earth, as it did more than 240 million years ago, wherethrough indeed on the one hand the dinosaurs only came into existence and these were then exterminated again about 65 million years ago, then there are of course worldwide catastrophes, through which practically all life is extinguished. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_555

Billy:

You mentioned Yucatan in the Gulf of Mexico earlier, because something was missing in an earlier interview report. At the time, we were talking about what happened some 65–70 million years ago, when a gigantic space projectile about 10–11 kilometres in size crashed into the Gulf of Mexico and contributed to the extinction of dinosaurs and many other animals and creatures, along with huge earthquakes, volcanic eruptions and the darkening of the Earth. The question of whether this was an asteroid, a meteor or a comet?

Ptaah:

97. Our research showed that it was an asteroid that caused the catastrophe. ...

101. We call a body an asteroid if it corresponds to a loose and porous or halfway compact mass.

102. Such asteroids originate – seen in relation to the SOL system – from the asteroid belt between Mars and Jupiter, from the Kuiper belt, from the Oort sphere or from the depths of space, no matter whether such a body flies through a solar system or not.

103. And if such a body penetrates the earth's atmosphere, for example, or falls to the Earth, it remains an asteroid either way, and thus does not correspond to a meteor.

104. The largest asteroids have a diameter of many kilometres, and they move – in relation to the SOL system – on elliptical orbits around the sun.

105. However, as already mentioned, asteroids are usually not compact lumps of rock, but loose and porous heaps of debris that are held together only by their own gravity. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_722

Billy:

(... The cause was that a gigantic comet impact occurred in Yucatan/Central America 66 million years ago [according to the Plejaren, not a meteorite impact, as earthly researchers claim], which triggered an ecosystem catastrophe and wiped out all large creatures on the two American continents and thus also the dinosaurs. However, this did not happen worldwide, because as the Plejaren records indicate, Europe, Eurasia as well as the Near East and Asia proper were largely spared from the catastrophe and were only affected by very few climatic impacts).

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_727

Billy:

... 77.2 million years ago, an atmospheric fire or a tremendous atmospheric explosion occurred, as could be determined by time travel. It turned out that a porous giant meteor penetrated the Earth's shell and exploded high in the atmosphere. On the one hand, an enormous heat was generated and much of the Earth's surface was burnt away, while on the other hand, an enormous mass of asteroid dust changed the climate worldwide and affected much life of all kinds, after which the climate changed several more times during 30.4 million years. Then, 46.8 million years ago, the entire world of life forms began to change again in the course of time, as had also been the case during the preceding period as a result of climate changes. Many early and very large life-forms fell victim to this change, as some time travels back to that time and corresponding observations have shown. The great dinosaurs, for example, died out over a period of several million years, although some species continued to exist for a very long time, even in all areas of today's northern and southern Europe, down to Arabia and Africa, as well as from North to South America. Their various descendants gradually adapted to the new climatic conditions, changed, became smaller over millions of years, as did the entire vegetation, and adapted to the new climatic and ecological conditions, just like the new life-forms that emerged from the changes. According to Sfath, today's chickens, for example, evolved from earlier walking dinosaurs and from pterosaurs as descendants of the reptile Tyrannosaurus Rex. However, according to Sfath's explanations, the whole of this world-encompassing process had nothing to do with the asteroid crash about 66.4 million years ago near what is now Mexico's Yucatán Peninsula in Central America, a small part of which was swept away. As far as I know, this is not known to geologists, who assume that the meteor only crashed into the sea.

The crashed giant asteroid probably caused a giant crater of almost 200 kilometers in diameter – this is now called Chicxulub crater – but the catastrophic destruction directly resulting from the crash did not extend over the entire Earth, as false Earthly geological and palaeontological claims, etc., have shown for a long time. In truth, the direct area of destruction was just a little over 1800 kilometers wide, and it was in this direct area that all life was completely wiped out and extinct, so also all the various dinosaurs living there, which by the way had habitats deep down into South America, as well as in the present areas of Africa, Arabia and the ancient northern regions of the Earth, as Sfath explained. The geological, paleontological and biological fantasies that the crash caused a worldwide extinction of all large and largest creatures, such as dinosaurs, etc., is absolute nonsense, because effectively only the direct area of influence of 1800 kilometers was affected in this way. This, while outside this area the giant meteor impact caused very severe damage, destruction, annihilation and the death of living beings, but the severity of the impact steadily decreased depending on the distance from the source of the impact. As a result, only a gigantic tsunami swept across the Atlantic - because a large part of the comet had not fallen onto land but into the sea - but the areas to the east, what exists today as Europe and Eurasia, were only affected by weak impacts and so there was little to no destruction, annihilation and extinction of life-forms any more.

The gigantic asteroid impact near Yucatán 66.4 million years ago only had a horrendously catastrophic effect on the ecosystems in Central America, while North America and South America as a whole were more or less affected, because the further away from the site of the crash, the more the whole thing weakened. And the huge amounts of dust that were supposedly thrown into the earth's atmosphere by the crash, as our clever researchers claim, Sfath said that only a little dust was created from the small piece of land that was affected by the meteor's crash, because most of it fell into the sea. So also the sun did not darken for a long time, just as the temperatures did not drop rapidly and for a long time. What did happen, however, as Sfath explained, were enormous masses of water that raced hundreds of kilometers inland as tsunamis.

A worldwide dramatic decline in species, as is claimed, also does not correspond to the truth, but only to fantasy hypotheses, because such an event only occurred on the entire North and South American continent affected by the meteor impact, because the impact had very little or no influence at all on all other areas of the earth, neither on the ecosystems nor on the geological structures, so consequently no geological changes occurred.

Since only North and South America were affected by the meteor impact, the rest of the Earth was not affected, so neither animals nor plants were directly affected, so they did not have to recover from the effects of the meteor crash disaster, but were able to develop normally.

return to Index

Dowsing / Ley Lines

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Dowsing>

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ley\_line

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_250

Billy:

Whereby the so-called supernatural of course does not exist in any way, because everything and everything is always naturally explainable and also naturally given. The supernatural exists only in the ignorance and the incomprehension of man, because he has no knowledge about all those things which he cannot understand and cannot explain himself. Truthfully everything so-called supernatural is absolutely natural and thus also classified according to the corresponding laws of spirit or matter, which are able to give an explanation for everything and everyone, whereby something supernatural becomes a fact of non-existence. Everything that can be grasped and perceived, everything that can be seen and heard and everything that can be felt, recognized, experienced and experienced, etc., is always real, real and natural in every case, regardless of whether it takes place on a spiritual or material level or on a medium level between spirit and matter, which is so often called the level of the supernatural or the supernatural by parapsychologists and esoterics who do not understand it.

Ptaah:

181. A true word.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_367

Billy:

Although Sfath, your father, already explained to me what it is about the earth rays and water veins, that this is all nonsense, but I would like to have an official explanation in a contact conversation. In this context is also the pendulum resp. the radiesthesia, which is operated by the so-called radiesthesi with the sidereal pendulum and the dowsing rod. These people are supposed to be medially gifted and, by 'striking' the pendulum or the divining rod, find underground deposits of 'water veins', 'earth rays' and ore deposits, as well as other hidden information of all kinds, in addition to the alleged perception of fluid vibrations of people, animals, plants and objects. The radiesthesiologists also claim that they could find missing people, animals and objects etc. through radiesthesia. But this, so Sfath taught me, is absolute nonsense, which he could prove to me by the machinations of a larger number of radiesthesiologists, whom I was allowed to observe and accompany in their work with radiesthesia. In addition, Sfath proved to me with very highly developed measuring instruments and apparatus that the so-called 'earth rays' do not exist and that they are therefore only an illusion. Also with regard to underground water veins he taught me that there are no such veins and that they neither 'radiate' to the earth's surface nor can they negatively influence people, animals and plants. Underground water veins of this form do not exist, but only underground rivers and large quantities of water, which, however, occupy large areas of the earth's interior, whereby the water is stored in certain absorbent rocks and other layers of the earth. And such water-storing rock and earth layers are so frequent that practically everywhere water can be found in the earth's interior, whereby the question arises in each case only how deep must be drilled in order to come across such water-bearing layers, which can then perhaps be used for wells. The only thing that really exists is the earth's magnetism, which can manifest itself particularly strongly in certain places, but which in no way has a harmful influence on people, animals and plants, but can only produce some particularly strong magnetic effects. This is in contrast to electromagnetic oscillations, which are generated by electro-technical plants, apparatuses, devices, lines, transformers as well as transmitting antennas etc. and are harmful to health with regard to the physical organism of humans, animals and plants, but also to the psyche and even to the consciousness of humans. But all this has nothing to do with the so-called 'places of power' as they are thought up by people who believe that great mental powers or other vibrations occur and work in a parapsychological or esoteric framework, which is of course pure nonsense. All this is based solely on a profound imagination and on delusions that are the preserve of all those who believe this nonsense. I know from my own experience that the people who cling to the nonsense of this belief are as completely unteachable as those who have a strong religious, sectarian, political, scientific or philosophical belief. For them, truth and reality are something foreign or imaginary, which is why they banish themselves to the realm of illusion and negate everything that has to do with truth and reality. In fact, I know what I am talking about, because I have had enough experience around the world, also with regard to the deceptions of alleged 'ghostly apparitions', 'ghost photos', 'spirit operations', 'spirit healing', alleged telekinesis, telepathy and levitation, clairvoyance etc.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_450

Billy:

... regarding dowsing: As I know, the rod does not react to alleged water sources and other things that are sought, but it is the subtle sensuality of the person who dowses. It is the fine-material sensuality – if it really works – that activates the dowser's nerves, causing imperceptible movements in the rod carrying hand and thus making the rod swing. This is the real reason why people with a fine matter sensuality can actually find sources of water and lost things etc. through rods and pendulums. But people who have such subtle-material abilities are seldom found, for the majority of dowser/commuters are either swindlers, deluders, or charlatans, whose actions they consciously or unconsciously deceive by their wishful thinking. The whole thing is, in any case, generally erroneously called something supernatural, which does not really exist, because for man everything and anything is sensually graspable. And what cannot be grasped in a coarse-material sense is perceived in a subtle-material sense, as I have described in the spiritual teachings in Special Letter XLVII and in Special Bulletin No. 38 with the title 'Supersensory or subtle-material or fluidic forces'. Through the subtle-material sensuality, not only thoughts and feelings etc. can be perceived by people, animals and many other creatures, but also fluid vibrations of objects etc. as well as all kinds of electromagnetic vibrations of elements and substances, including water etc.

return to Index

Dreams

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Dream>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_010

Semjase:

11. In the dream the human being is able to create worlds of miracles, just as the Creation consciously creates the worlds.

12. For the human being this ability grows out of his/her consciousness, which in the existence is present in him/her, in the same way as all miracles are present in him/her.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_042

Semjase:

20. But that bullet missed you by only a little, Quetzal told me.

...

25. According to Quetzal, you did not worry about the event, nor did you think about it in any other manner, neither before, when you received the knowledge of what was to come, nor afterwards.

Billy:

It's really not worth thinking a lot about such stupid things. But now you have said something about the previous knowledge about the coming events. Did you guys just cut in and teach me that stuff in my dream? It was a bit strange, because I really didn't know anything about it and so I could not adjust to it.

Semjase:

26. It was an intuitive dream form that warned you.

27. We therefore have nothing to do with the warning.

Billy:

Well, then, once again, my better self has tried to take care of me.

Semjase:

28. You can call it that.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_044

Semjase:

58. Your wife has confused dreams.

Billy:

Oh, I did not think of that. She absolutely wanted to watch a ghost film on television, and these twerps will now of course haunt her dreams.

Semjase:

59. That is how it will be, because she has a pronounced imagination, which unfortunately is not always of good values and in negative form can and will also harm you.

Billy:

You said that before.

Semjase:

60. Sure, but she also has a negative and untruthful influence on her surroundings and on many people and now also on children, who also dream confused things.

Billy:

Oh my goodness, are the junior ghosts chirping through their dreams now?

Semjase:

61. That may well be possible, even if they did not watch television.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_053

Billy:

Fine, if you want; the idiot shot my agenda book, which I had put in the breast pocket. Then the bullet, a small calibre, bounced off a strong metal plate, which I wore under my clothes as a precaution. I was prepared for the whole thing, because I had dreamed the incident three different times before.

...

An Assassination Attempt on Billy

by Jacobus Bertschinger

... for several days Billy had been telling me again and again that he was struggling with a dream that had been appearing all the time lately. It was that in the dream he was hit by a bullet that bored into his left chest. And since Billy was very attentive to his dreams, he took this as a warning ...

... I fastened together with Hans Schutzbach as well as with his brother Konrad the armour plate, through which we had still pulled a wire at the two drill holes, on the inside of Billy's heavy Canadian flying jacket, at chest height, because Billy had seen the bullet impact in this area in a dream. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_054

Semjase:

132. Be a little careful when walking on the grass and step into my prints, we must not leave too many clues.

Billy:

Of course, but this grass has really grown very tall.

Semjase:

133. Unfortunately, people will see the landing support imprints, that is not good.

134. I cannot just eliminate the whole meadow to cover the tracks.

135. But I will find a solution.

Semjase's solution was to order the farmer through an impulsive telepathic urge to get up immediately and mow his meadow.

A few weeks later Billy spoke with the farmer and told him that he heard that the farmer had mowed his meadow at 3:00 hrs in the morning. The man confirmed this and explained that he had immediately awakened from a dream with the unconditional urge to mow his meadow. The urge was so strong that he immediately got up to do the work he had dreamed of, although he still did not really understand why he had done it.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_055

Billy:

... Is your sister black-haired?

Semjase:

25. Why are you aware of this?

Billy:

Is it really like that?

Semjase:

26. Sure, but how do you know that?

Billy:

You will be amazed; my wife finally had a dream. She explained to me that she saw in this one a very pretty black-haired girl with whom I talked in her dream. My wife heard that I called this girl PLEIJA. She's supposed to be about my size.

Semjase:

27. Was that about three weeks ago?

Billy:

The period should be right.

Semjase:

28. That is very interesting.

29. At that time, Pleija told me that she had received very strong streams of thoughts from somewhere, which she was not able to analyse and locate.

30. So it must have been your wife who, for the last two months, has started to take an interest in our mission for some reason, as I have noticed.

31. By the way, she possesses exceptionally strong consciousness-based powers, which would be worth evaluating for her if she only tried to do what she does not do.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_066

Semjase:

65. Your dreams are your medicine.

{Note: Please see the full Contact Report for the context of this statement, and the following entry from Contact Report 79.}

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_079

Billy:

... But I will still think about it and perhaps once again get some dreams in order to get my feelings going, so that they move again in somewhat brighter paths.

Semjase:

140. Sure, you should do that, and even more often because of dreams, because they bring you relief and a certain balance.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_104

Billy:

... But something different: What about lectures in Kloten when I go there to hold such lectures? You know, my dream of that time. Is the danger still there? You once told me that I could give lectures if they did not refer to ufology.

Quetzal:

26. That is of correctness.

27. You can give lectures outside your centre again, but be careful.

28. The danger you mentioned has not been removed, but you may dare to go to that region.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_115

Semjase:

328. You should remember, however, that you should be especially careful starting from the year 1980, for the dangers in reference to your life will likewise increase rapidly.

Billy:

That makes me worry the least of all. As long as my senses always warn me ahead of time of something evil, so long can I be somehow safe. You do know that I either tend to dream certain things in advance or that I am made aware of such by my painful wrenching in the small of my back.

Semjase:

329. This fact is well-known to me, but consider with this that all of this depends on your overall balance.

330. If this is even only minimally impaired once by aggravation or grief, then these warnings can fail.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_118

Billy:

... Engelbert complained to me yesterday that he has quite lousy dreams. Do you know anything about this, that some outside influences could be at work there?

Quetzal:

27. With certainty, that is not the case.

...

30. His dreams are likely triggered by the very deplorable incidents of recent weeks and months, which produced an overload in him, which he is simply no longer able to bear.
31. Everything accumulated in him until it led to an explosion, which apparently only pushed itself to the surface through his dreams, fortunately.
32. This is completely natural but also harmful and dangerous over time if he does not try to bring himself back into his own power nervously and mentally.
33. This should not be too difficult for him because he usually brings such attacks from the subconscious very well under control.
34. With the whole happening, he should just be very careful that his manner, attacked by this, does not spread to his family members or to the group members, as this is frequently the case in such instances, because due to such phenomena, the behaviour towards fellow human beings usually changes in an aggressive form, which the fellow human beings then simply do not accept and do not cope with because it is, after all, an unjustified attack.
35. But he can be reassured concerning this, that truly no outside influences whatsoever appear at present or have appeared in the last time, apart from the regrettable issues surrounding the vehicle.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_182

Billy:

Right, now I remember again. You know, sometimes, I have so much running around in my head that somehow, I can no longer recall things at the right time.

Quetzal:

471. However, as a person, you adapt yourself more than just very well, my friend, and I often ask myself how you endure the human condition in general.

472. With your origin, your human body must prepare and must have always prepared evil sufferings for you, but just that you can endure this proves to me that even I could never take your place.

473. For this, one must have already had a very long material life behind himself, in order to be able to endure such torments in a susceptible host body.

Billy:

I do dream back sometimes – as a person can do this, you know?

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_191

Billy:

... Furthermore, I also had an appropriate dream about ten days ago, and although initially, it was a little unclear to me, I still became aware early enough of what I should expect to hear when I went to the telephone in order to receive the message of the death of my brother.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_229

Quetzal:

{Jeremiah's predictions}

370. The new time will bring it that human beings will be able to communicate with each other without having to use the language of the mouth or the help of speaking tubes, for they will be able to receive and understand through their thoughts and feelings and through their heads all messages that another human being thinks and feels.

371. And it will be that human beings will share dreams and live long.

...

383. And the teaching of the Prophet will contribute much to this, transforming the new time in its course into an easy time, where honest and true love and sharing, dreaming together and making dreams come true.

{Note: Please see the full Contact Report for the context of these statements. Whether or not these are literal or figurative is unclear (to me).}

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_246

Ptaah:

132. This is nonsense if it is assumed that clinical death can be equated with actual death.

133. The truth for such assertions is truthly that the supposedly 'deceased' were only in the state of a false death, in which the spiritual form remains in the body, while the material consciousness works underground, generating dreams, visions, etc.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_249

Billy:

... Truthfully, however, it is the case that nothing at all that man can conceive, dream up, conceive and fantasize about is simply undoable, for truthfully man can conceive, conceive, dream up and conceive about nothing at all that is not feasible or producible. Everything that man can conceive, conceive, dream up or fantasize about is possible and feasible in a technical or conscious way or in any other way. So there is nothing for man in the whole universe that is not feasible and not producible for him when he imagines, conceives, imagines or dreams something. The only things that are not feasible, not producible or not producible for him are delusions, such as religious delusion and fanaticism etc. as well as illusions, which as delusions and fictitious images etc. of the deluded affect their consciousness.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_251

Billy:

In the spiritual teaching I started with the extensive work of dream interpretation and already explained that dream symbols in the whole universe have the same value or the same interpretation for human life-forms. For this it is of course always assumed that on other worlds the same symbols appear on the people there as on our earth. Of course, this is not always the case, because many other prerequisites are given on alien worlds, e.g. in the animal world and in technology as well as in landscapes etc. etc., whereby other symbols are also given in this respect. But if we now assume that ravens or snakes etc. also exist on other worlds, then these have the same value in symbolic form as here on earth. Stars, fire, water, air, volcanoes and tens of thousands of other things exist in the entire universe, and these have the same values and interpretations as dream symbols, as is the case on earth. Symbols that do not exist on earth due to the other animal world, environment, technology, music and landscapes as well as plant world etc. etc., but exist on other worlds, would have the same values on earth or elsewhere, if the corresponding prerequisites for them were also given here. Does this also apply to other universes? I think that this cannot be any different.

Ptaah:

193. Your assumption is absolutely correct.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_294

Billy:

... We once talked about whether animals can dream as well as humans. I remember that you explained – as did Quetzal and Semjase – that all life-forms, regardless of genus and species, are classified as dreaming if they have a functioning brain. As you have said, there is no need for conscious consciousness, because a pure instinct-drive-consciousness is sufficient for dream formation. But in my opinion this means that every instinctive instinct-consciousness also stores day impressions, etc., which can even take weeks, months and years to establish themselves and produce their effects in dreams, as is the case with humans. Again, this also means, as I see it at least, that animal life-forms of all kinds, as well as birds, fish, reptiles and beetles and worms, etc., must have an instinct drive memory in which, so to speak, instinct drive memories are stored. Have I understood that correctly?

Ptaah:

46. You have not forgotten anything, but you have added something by your thinking.

47. What you say corresponds to the correctness.

Billy:

... But if this is so, as I explained, then it also means that all animal living beings, all birds and reptiles and the beetle and worms, which have an instinct drive consciousness and thus in some way a functioning brain, must logically also be classified into an instinct drive emotional form and further also into an instinct drive psychic form. Is that right?

Ptaah:

48. Your execution needs no further explanation.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_412

Billy:

Well, my friend, you have a clever hunch, because I dreamt about how several of the trees fell down due to snow loads and by storm, killing Engelbert and two hikers. So I acted immediately and cut down all the trees I saw falling down in my dream or where heavy branches were falling down, and one rider was also seriously injured. You know, I rely on my dreams when they occur in this way. I have always done well with that and could avoid a lot of bad things. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_572

Billy:

... Surrealism is therefore based on something completely imaginary, imagined, illusory, deceptive, and on something strange and utopian, unreal, intangible and unreal. In my opinion, the whole thing has nothing to do with fantasy. What is your opinion?

Ptaah:

32. Surrealism really has nothing to do with fantasy, but with pathologically unreal and imaginative, illusory ideas, which in a certain sense show unreal forms of delusional structures.

33. The whole of surrealism thus corresponds to something unreal, confused and erroneously alien to reality, which is a sign that the human being, who is temporarily or permanently addicted to surrealism, lives in a completely abnormal world of thoughts and feelings, which he cannot reconcile with reality and thus behaves towards it in one of the many forms of outsiderhood.

34. This corresponds to a certain pathologically absurd, confused thought behaviour which cannot be reconciled with a really healthy combination of real ideas about reality.

35. With regard to the human beings who create surrealistic things, such as so-called 'works of art' etc., or who are also only temporarily addicted to surrealistic ideas, they are unstable with regard to reality, and therefore, at least in certain moments, openly break through a certain unreal and unworldly reality and unfamiliarity with the world in terms of ideas, thoughts and imagination.

...

Billy:

Imagination can also be incorporated into purely futuristic ideas and works, but I do not see surrealism in them.

Ptaah:

37. Imagination, whatever its form, has nothing to do with surrealism, but is always formed in a way of reality or in something that can become reality.

38. If, for example, utopian things and works etc. are conceived, designed or produced, they always have features that correspond to reality or can become reality.

Billy:

Human beings who think surrealistically etc., how is their ratio to reality to be judged?

Ptaah:

39. The human beings who think surrealistically and create things are normal human beings, but there is a conscious deficiency in their ability to imagine in terms of a healthy imagination and reality.

40. These are out of touch with reality, although this state can be temporary or also permanent and can take on schizophrenic forms.

Billy:

So surrealists are actually normal human beings in terms of their understanding and reasoning, but the human being's consciousness is temporarily or permanently "freaked out" in relation to ideas, which is pathological if it lasts. But what about the dreams that occur in a surreal way, as is said? For my part, I have never had surrealistic dreams.

Ptaah:

41. The more reality and truth-connected the human being is, the more realistically he dreams and thinks, too, whereby fantastic and utopian appearances can also be woven in, but never surrealistic images.

Billy:

Does this mean that the human being whose consciousness, mind and reason function correctly cannot have surrealistic dreams?

Ptaah:

42. That is correct.

43. Surrealism is based on a dysfunction of consciousness, mind and reason, and in a permanent state of consciousness, mind and reason there is usually a pathological form of alienation from reality up to schizophrenia.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_618

Billy:

... prophecies as a rule are based on probability calculations, dreams and visions ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_670

{Billy:}*Prophecies

2) Prophecies are based on inspirations, dreams, visions or calculations of probability and indicate future events and happenings that will result from certain behaviours, attitudes, speeches and deeds, etc., if they are carried out and maintained in an unchanged manner over a period of time, whereby the period of time until the fulfilment of the prophecy can be short term or even last for centuries or millennia.

...

Predictions

Predictions are made through dreams of truth, visions of truth, through real foresight and 'wandering of future consciousness' or 'feeling of future consciousness', whereby the real future is seen as well as through leaps in time or time journeys into the future. The future developments and future looks resulting from this are based on events that will effectively and irrevocably occur in the future and which cannot possibly be changed.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_790

Billy:

... the great writers, many of whom were only great with their works because they were inspired by their dreams, which they allowed themselves to have with hemp.

return to Index

Easter Island Moai

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Moai>

see also Long-Skulls

see also Nazca Lines

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_069

Billy:

But maybe you can reveal the secret of Easter Island to me? In particular, it is about the colossal heads, which are still a mystery to Earth-humans today. Nobody knows how they came into being and who created them. May you say something about them?

Semjase:

9. The Earth-human is misguided if he/she wants to make the concerns of Easter Island an isolated concern.

10. The events of earlier times on this island are in direct connection with the country, which you still call Tiahuanaco today, as it was called already at earliest time, in spite of past repeated changes.

11. Easter Island and Tiahuanaco are more than 5,000 kilometres apart, and yet they are directly related to each other

12. However, the history of the connection goes back to very early times and ended only 2,548 years ago, calculated back from today [1976 = 572 before Jmmanuel].

13. As I once explained to you, the last decisive settlement of the Earth by extraterrestrial intelligences took place about 13,500 Earth years ago.

14. As you know, several of the immigrant horde became renegades, including a man in the rank of a half-Ischwish called Viracocoha, who was already very old and extremely power-hungry.

15. His name is still handed down on the Earth today, but with a small change, because for a long time now he has only been called Viracocha and also as Jschwisch, although he was only in half the rank of such a person.

16. Under his patronage and his cruel leadership, the highlands of Tiahuanaco at an altitude of about 4,000 metres were conquered, as was the Delta Island, which you call Easter Island.

17. After this conquest Viracocoha settled with a special bodyguard of cherubim on the small island Mot, which is situated in front of Easter Island and which you call Motunui or similar to my knowledge today.

18. At that time it was called Mot because the cherubim were animal-human life forms, in this case they were all birdlike.

19. Mot means bird in our original language, so the island was called the Mot island, or also the island of the bird people, as it is still called today.

20. So Viracocoha or Viracocha resided there.

21. He and his followers, escaped Lyrans like many others, who came to the Earth, were of gigantic physique, by earthly measure about eleven meters tall.

22. They were the ones who taught the dwarfish, normal-growing inhabitants of Tiahuanaco and Easter Island – who were procreations between earthlings and previously immigrated intelligences from the vastness of the universe – in many things, providing them with their own highly developed technology and teaching them how to operate the devices and machines.

23. Thus they also taught the natives of Tiahuanaco and Easter Island the work of stonemasonry, and they let themselves be celebrated as gods.

24. With the help of the giants and their machines and other equipment, the natives worked many meters large head formations out of the lava stone, placed these, also with the help of machines, randomly around the island.

25. Similar events took place in the areas you call Pisco, Nazca and Sacsayhuaman, because the same giants had settled there.

26. Thus many statues and other structures were created, whereby also the shape of the spaceships on Easter Island were reproduced from rocks of the lava walls, which have survived to this day, namely oval-shaped stones, because the spaceships had this shape.

27. After several centuries, the exact time is also veiled to us, the giants were attacked by a sudden epidemic that was unknown to them and cost the lives of many of them.

28. Finding no cure for the epidemic, they fled Earth in their spaceships, set off into space and have since disappeared.

29. Despite the most eager investigations of our scientists, no trace of them has been found to this day.

30. There is therefore the possibility that, despite their flight from Earth, they were attacked and killed by the mysterious plague in their space ships, while their ships shot aimlessly through space, were attracted by some star and smashed to pieces.

31. Our probability calculations very much favour this.

32. Especially on Easter Island, the fleeing giants left behind a desperate people who were suddenly deprived of all technology because their giant gods had taken everything with them.

33. So also several hundred unfinished head statues remained in the lava walls of the volcano craters, in order to never be completed.

34. In complete desperation, the islanders tried to retrieve their escaped gods by trying to complete the unfinished stone heads with primitive stone fist wedges, which of course failed miserably and was abandoned after a few years.

35. Despite much research, we could not find out why the islanders believed that by completing the stone heads they could bring back the giant gods.

36. This is an unsolvable riddle for us.

37. Since the completion of the stone heads failed miserably, the call became loud after some years that the putting on of bright red hats would calm the escaped giants and bring them back.

38. But how and why this call came about is also a mystery to us.

39. In any case, some crane-like machines and other primitive aids were used to build scaffolds and platforms on the many gigantic heads that already existed, after which large hats were poured onto the heads from a mixture of red earth, sand and small stones.

40. Some dozens of such hats, whose original form is also a mystery to us, were made in a small volcanic crater, which after their completion were rolled to the heads and lifted up by the crane-like machines.

41. According to our probability calculations, these hats must have been imitations of helmet-like structures of the giants, which we will probably not be able to prove.

42. In general, many concerns about these giants and their activities on Earth at that time are mysterious to us, and we cannot find a solution for it.

43. We only know that the giants left their last sign of life somewhere in a distant solar system of the constellation known to you as Andromeda, where exactly we do not know because there, somewhere on an inhabited world, they brought the knowledge of the existence of the Earth, after which from there thousands of years later a larger expedition started and reached the Earth.

44. They were members of a human race of an average size of 180 cm who brought a message from the giants of Tiahuanaco and lived there for 20 years and 7 months.

45. This was, calculated back from today, very exactly 2,568 years ago, we could clearly see that.

46. During the nearly 21 years of stay of the Andromedans, unknown to us, they established a quite high culture, built electrical energy centres, whose wiring they laid under the ground, protected by half-pipe channels created by them, over which your scientists still today break their heads, because they are not able to fathom their precision manufacture and do not grasp the purpose.

47. Like the giants, the Andromedans, who were unable to adapt properly to the Earth's climate and atmosphere, were struck by the same mysterious plague after about twenty years, causing them to flee in panic.

48. They, too, have since disappeared and probably all have perished.

49. This, dear friend, is in broad outline the story around Easter Island, Tiahuanaco and some other regions.

50. Unfortunately I do not know more about it.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_230

Billy:

On Friday, 10 December 1976 Semjase explained to me all sorts of things about the Easter Island and its inhabitants, as well as about the stone head colossuses. Thereby she also spoke about machines that originated from extraterrestrials. With them the colossal heads were made, transported and erected. Unfortunately, she did not describe these machines in more detail, but it would be important for us to know what kind of machines they were. She also spoke of cranes and other devices that the extraterrestrials made available to the islanders. Somehow, I find that it was irresponsible of the extraterrestrials to put their technology into the hands of such underdeveloped human beings of Earth....

Quetzal:

72. This open engagement with Earth-humans who were still so primitive is also incomprehensible to us, so we can only surmise the assumption that the far-travelled people must have been refugees who settled with the islanders in order to have a place of refuge with them that was not anticipated there by persecutors.

73. This assumption is also based on the fact that the foreigners did not make their actual high technology available to the islanders, as you call them, because the machines Semjase reported on were primitive constructions made of palm wood.

74. At that time the Easter Island was densely forested with palm trees, which were cut down in masses until extinction.

75. The palm wood was used for the construction of primitive machines, which Semjase told you about.

76. Hence the heads sculptured, i.e. chiselled out of lava rock, were for transportation hoisted onto machines made of palm wood and transported with them.

77. When the head colossi created by stonemasons were finished, round tree trunks were shoved under the figures, which were made with lianas etc. to a trunk dragging sledge.

78. However, these triangularly manufactured trunk dragging sledges did not rest on the ground, but on further palm wood trunks, which were likewise triangular and arranged in a long row up to the destination.

79. In this way, the head colossi could be transported over long distances as if on rails.

80. And so that the head figures, weighing many tons, could glide properly on the debarked palm wood trunks, they were both smeared with greasy things and continuously wetted with water.

81. The power of movement of the trunk dragging sledges was a large number of human beings, who pushed these dragging sledges with wooden poles jerkily, while others pulled the whole thing forward on long ropes made of lianas etc.

82. In order to then place the heavy structures on prefabricated platforms, ramps were built from lava stone on which the head giants were shoved, after which the trunk dragging carriage with the stone colossus resting on it was lifted centimetre by centimetre by human power and continuously supported underneath again with lava stones.

83. In addition, from behind first small and then ever larger palm wood poles were shoved under the dragging sledge and thereby everything was prevented from falling back.

84. In addition, further ropes were attached to the uppermost part of the stone head, which extended to the front and were pulled by human beings, whereby overall a crane procedure resulted.

85. These were the machines Semjase reported on.

Billy:

... And regarding Easter Island, we misunderstood everything, because we were assuming that the aliens had made their own machines available to the islanders. ...

Quetzal:

88. The foreigners actually only revealed instructions and cognitions regarding how the still very primitive Earth-humans could build their own devices and primitive machines for their use by the simplest means and develop a special technique.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_710

Billy:

... This, like e.g. also the heads on the Easter Islands, which were transported and erected there with the help of Earth-foreigners, as also happened in other places, where it is seriously claimed that not Earth-foreigners, but the Earth-foreigners themselves transported the enormous weights of tons rolling on tree trunks and then also lifted up the monoliths weighing many tons with tree trunks and other wood and multiple man-power, etc. Sfath took me to such places many times and let me see everything as it was tremendously impressive and real, and quite different from what our 'wise men' of research and science claim. ...

return to Index

Eisenhower meeting aliens

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Dwight\_D.\_Eisenhower

<https://encyclopedia2.thefreedictionary.com/Eisenhower+and+the+Extraterrestrials>

https://www.bibliotecapleyades.net/exopolitica/esp\_exopolitics\_q\_0.htm

<https://www.eisenhowerlibrary.gov/sites/default/files/2020-11/UFOs%20and%20Flying%20Saucers.pdf>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_357

Billy:

... Look at this fantastic story. Ptaah, you and I have talked about this before, and you explained that it is nothing more than a fantastic story without truth. Please read it.

...

Quetzal:

51. That is actually not the case, because everything corresponds to an untruth, because a contact between USA President Dwight David Eisenhower and any kind of being of extraterrestrial origin never took place.

52. These stupid fantasy stories have already circulated for a considerable time in circles which see extraterrestrial flying devices and beings as being behind everything and everyone, and which moreover are very gullible and criminally uncritical.

53. Such stories, which are invented from beginning to end and make reality ridiculous, unfortunately circulate very much in the so-called UFO-circles, in which all nonsense is taken as ready cash, if I may speak with your words.

54. An unbelievable number of deceivers, swindlers as well as liars assert that they are in telepathic, personal, or perceptible or some other kind of contact with extraterrestrial intelligences, whereby, however, as a rule, everything is only pure invention, corresponding to profit-making, a delusion or effective schizophrenia.

return to Index

Electronic Voice Phenomenon (EVP)

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Electronic\_voice\_phenomenon

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_007

Semjase:

218. Most cases of electronic voice phenomena can be traced back most definitely to the radio you are familiar with, whereby so-called amateur radio enthusiasts often allow themselves their jokes. 219. But on the other hand, many of these contacts occur by means of communication of space travellers.

220. However, the thoughts of human beings also play an important role and often impose themselves as audible voices – and namely not only on tapes but openly audibly.

221. Often such a questioner of tape voices unconsciously imitates a voice that somehow appeals to him in his thoughts and in so doing transmits exactly the answer to the tape that one wants to have or hear.

Billy:

But how is that possible?

Semjase:

222. If I had to explain that to you, it would be extremely complicated and lengthy.

223. I can tell you, however, that every receiver is also a transmitter and can catch highest swinging waves of thought and pass them on to a receiver.

Billy:

So then electronic tape voices would not at all be phenomena of another dimension or world of spirits?

Semjase:

224. That isn't entirely correct because just as there are genuine mediums who are able to enter into connection with other dimensions, there are also genuine electronic tape voice phenomena that really come from overall consciousness-blocks of various fine-fluidal worlds.

225. However, there are just as few of these as genuine mediums.

226. Unfortunately, there is a lot of deception and charlatany in this area as well, which is attributable to the desire to show off and so forth of the human beings.

227. The electronic voice phenomena known on Earth are, as a rule, only based on retrievals from the storage-banks (Akashic records) and are valueless and meaningless, while the genuine recordings are kept secret.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_250

Billy:

Whereby the so-called supernatural of course does not exist in any way, because everything and everything is always naturally explainable and also naturally given. The supernatural exists only in the ignorance and the incomprehension of man, because he has no knowledge about all those things which he cannot understand and cannot explain himself. Truthfully everything so-called supernatural is absolutely natural and thus also classified according to the corresponding laws of spirit or matter, which are able to give an explanation for everything and everyone, whereby something supernatural becomes a fact of non-existence. Everything that can be grasped and perceived, everything that can be seen and heard and everything that can be felt, recognized, experienced and experienced, etc., is always real, real and natural in every case, regardless of whether it takes place on a spiritual or material level or on a medium level between spirit and matter, which is so often called the level of the supernatural or the supernatural by parapsychologists and esoterics who do not understand it.

Ptaah:

181. A true word.

Evolution

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Evolution>

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Charles\_Darwin

see also Adam & Eve / Garden of Eden

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_007

Billy:

My next question deals with the earthly human races. We have here yellow, red, white, brown, and black human beings; how does that come? Why is there this colour differentiation?

Semjase:

109. This actually belongs in the history of Earth humanity, which I wanted to continue to tell you. ...

118. But further, I wanted to say that some differently coloured races already became extinct a long time ago.

119. But in the same way they are all the product of the celestial sons, i.e. they were begotten of them, just like the Earth races still existing today.

120. The celestial sons or starfarers, as we want to call our forebears, were at home on many different planets of stars, in a different space-time configuration or far away from the SOL-system, whereby the planets were fundamentally different in climatic terms, hence they also produced other races which were able to adapt to the climate from the ur-beginning.

121. Due to the climate conditions, also a corresponding skin colour developed, of which there are innumerable in the universe.

122. Their body sizes were also different because, depending on the gravity of the planet in question, they ranged from only 50 centimetres tall up to several metres.

123. There were and are even beings, which you call gigantic ones, giants or titans, and such beings too once endowed the Earth with life.

124. They too produced offspring here, but they were gradually exterminated because they were usually very malicious and exercised tyranny. 125. The different colour races of today are, thus, descendants of our variously coloured forebears, who came from different planets of foreign stars.

Billy:

So, then today's human beings on the Earth were not actually created on the Earth alone, and they neither are descended from the apes?

Semjase:

126. Do you actually believe in this ape-human being theory?

Billy:

I am not stupid after all. My intellect tells me something different than the crazy brain of a Darwin, who has brought this horror tale to the world and fraudulently underpinned it with falsified bones of apes, which to this day has been concealed and kept secret by the responsible persons. ...

Semjase:

129. Well, you are right with your view that the human beings of the Earth are not descendants of the apes.

130. They were partially begotten by our forebears, who also mixed themselves with Earth beings, who were simply called "Eves" at that time.

131. A designation that means nothing other than ...

Billy:

... the bearing women or the one giving birth. ...

Semjase:

135. But the Earth beings at that time were of the most diverse forms and kinds.

136. Some of them were completely wild creatures of human-like forms, some of which had been marooned on the Earth in earlier millennia by our forebears, that is, their descendants.

137. These descendants of the marooned were abused by foreign spacefarers and these fertilised also by genetic manipulation different animal species and produced new life forms by genetic engineering.

138. One of these, by the way, is the ape being still known today, which represents a human-animal mutation, namely the Pan paniscus (bonobo = pygmy chimpanzee).

139. Thus, the ape being is descended from the human being – not vice versa.

140. Other ape beings resulted from natural evolution in the hominid line.

141. Your researchers and scientists have already found many in-between mutations between humans and ape beings, but usually only as skeletons or partial skeletons.

142. These in-between mutations, part human, part ape being, are known to the human beings under names such as Africanus, Peking Man, and Neanderthal and so on.

143. Four different species of them have survived over all past millennia, and their descendants still live today, although no longer in large hordes, but only isolated or in very small groups.

144. They are so wild and shy that human beings will hardly ever see them.

145. The human beings have coined special names for them:

146. Yeti and so forth.

147. The Eves were besides Earth-created hominid living creatures nothing more than very wild descendants of those marooned thousands of years ago, from whom at that time any tools were taken away.

148. They were like wild animals that lived in large hordes.

149. When our forebears finally settled on the Earth, they broke a strict law and inflicted Gewalt on these beings.

150. This means that they cast their spell on the female beings, who despite their wildness were somehow beautiful, and mated with them.

151. From this the first higher developed forebears of today's human beings emerged.

152. They were called Adam in the old language of the forebears, which means human being of Earth.

153. For the first of them, this designation then remained as his name, and you still use it today.

154. But since our forebears were mixed races of different colours and sizes, they of course also produced different colours and races of different sizes completely according to their characteristics.

155. The smallest ones were 50 cm tall, while the largest and most vicious ones reached some twelve metres.

156. Their appearance was also varying, and some type of them were only remotely reminiscent to human forms.

157. They were left to die out or were killed if they were too vicious.

158. In many cases, they hid themselves in far remote areas and survived for thousands of years, as their average age was about 1,500 years.

159. But little by little, they also became victims of the time or of the human beings.

160. The last of the vicious ones, whose life was ended with Gewaltsamkeit, died a little more than 230,000 years ago.

161. Today, according to our knowledge, only seven such beings of the old human life forms still live on the Earth; where they remain so well hidden that they will certainly never be found and will one day die a peaceful death, and that without descendants, because they have become too old and passive for propagation.

162. More common than these gigantic ones, titanic, and cyclops, as you call them, were the simple giants.

163. They often served great and power-greedy rulers.

164. They were called "Goliaths" and were especially used for purposes of war.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_023

Billy:

... Could it not be that at very early times our Earth once also served extraterrestrial beings as such a planet of banishment?

Semjase:

55. Sure, your assumption is correct.

56. In primeval times, variously fallible life-forms were banished to your Earth from various worlds in the universe, including our race.

57. But these early times can no longer be grasped by us either, and we have no precise data about them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_031

Semjase:

621. The human life-form IS a creation of the Creation.

622. So it is not descended from animals such as apes, as is so maliciously claimed among you on Earth.

623. The evolution of the human life-form is very long when the physical development of form is considered.

624. It was created out of first primitive life, but with the destiny of becoming human, and already enlivened by creational powers in the sense of becoming human.

625. Thus it was already determined in the first time of the Creation that the procreated form had to become human and ultimately human beings.

626. Thus this life-form is a fundamentally distinct species, from the very beginning.

627. Therefore it was also possible that on Earth at very early times the wild or feral human life-forms could be bred back to the actual human life-form by the appearance of new space travellers, and their intermingling with them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_045

Billy:

... Our scientific experts are the clever ones who walk our Earth with their wisdom. They indicate the age of the Earth with at most approximately 5 billion years. Since my great journey with you and Ptaah however, I have somewhat changed my opinion. You have let me see the most different stars and planets, heard the most different stages of development and that one has to calculate their basic age differently, namely from the formation of primordial matter, which the earthly scientists do not do however. If I now look at them all together and compare them with the Earth, then I surpass our scientists in their assumption of time by far. Just recently I thought about it and added it all up, and then I came across the number 640. So according to my calculation the Earth would have to be about 640 billion years old, calculated from the first formation of primordial matter, from which the SOL system and finally the Earth developed, which exists as a fixed planet for about 6.4 billion years and since then has been classified as the actual course of evolution in every respect.

(The age of Earth is calculated from the origin of the first primeval matter production, from which the Earth then developed over 646 billion years, whereby the existence of the solid planetary body is given as a seething, glowing and viscous mass with about 46 billion years. The shape of the fortress of the planet, however, when the first mountains began to form in their origin, is said to have formed about 6 billion years ago, while the first flora-based life originated about 4.8 billion years ago. – Billy)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_051

Semjase:

77. The exact age of the Earth's existence is 646 billion years, calculated from the time when the first gas atoms were formed, merged and later collected.

78. The evolutionary process up to the solid planetary body thus took about 641 billion years, after which the basic life forms developed later, from which the first lichen-like flora forms developed, from which gradually in the course of further billions of years higher plants and later also animal forms developed.

79. Then after further billions of years human beings were created as independent life forms, which however were already influenced soon after their emergence by space-travelling foreign human races.

80. This was about 8.5 to 4.5 million years ago.

81. And since Earth has existed as a solid finished mass, this is a period of about 5 billion years.

82. Its entire development, however, took about 646 billion years from the very beginning of the first gas atom formation.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_053

Billy:

Have you ever heard of the theory that the monkey could descend from humans? It was told to me a few days ago. I know the old crazy Darwinian theory, that humans are descended from monkeys - what idiocy -, but that the opposite theory is also applied, I do not find that so absurd in the relationship, namely that certain monkey-like creatures, which I would like to call ape-man, such as a certain type of snow man, which I have seen, are actually descended from humans in the form that they have degenerated to the extremely possible state. But I do not want to address the actual monkeys and so-called apes like Orangutang, which means forest man, the different gorilla species, the chimpanzees and the bonobos.

Semjase:

112. Your question is illogical.

113. On the one hand, you are aware that the human life-form corresponds to a special creation-act of the Creation and consequently is not derived from any other form of life, nor is it able to return to other forms of life through any natural or unnatural metamorphic processes.

Billy:

I did not say that you certainly misunderstood me. I was talking about ape people, not apes.

Semjase:

114. Sorry, it's my fault.

115. Of course, it is what you say.

116. The monkey-forms however are no human-relative life forms in the sense of a real relationship.

117. They are probably very human-like in their interests, but they are a pure fauna life form, whose earliest origin leads back to the semi-flora world.

118. They are indeed the most highly developed animal forms of this kind on the Earth, at least in the present time.

Billy:

You mean that other animal forms will develop to such a high level?

Semjase:

119. Sure, because that is evolutionary according to the development of the planet itself.

120. But this will take more than a million years.

Billy:

A meaningless matter when I consider that I have been walking the Earth here and there as a so-called normal person for millions of years. And it is even less important when I consider that billions of years ago I was still wafting around somewhere on a primeval world as an amino acid element, first to become a human archetype through a million years and then slowly, slowly to become a body- like human being, who one day was born an absolute idiot and took millions of years to really become normal. What else is a million-year-old? I really like to wait and then at that time I will entertain myself as a new personality with these animal intelligence beasts.

Semjase:

121. You are funny, but you could not be so wrong with what you said as a joke.

Billy:

You actually believe...? This is crazy.

Semjase:

122. You might wonder.

Billy:

So, you make me joke – but let's wait for the million-year anniversary. I still have some time until then and - time will tell. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_057

Billy:

... But tell me, do you know how old the SOL system is?

Semjase:

97. The Earth is a middle-aged planet with 646 billion years since its first primeval matter agglomeration of ultra-fine gas.

98. Other planets are a little older and are slowly disintegrating, while Jupiter and Saturn only develop into planets if they ever do, before the whole system disappears again.

99. The age of the sun amounts to 810 billion and 73 million years, whereby this information regarding the age is based again on the first origin of the ur-gas, which formed at that time in the constantly changing and the becoming and passing as well as the again forming of the aligned universal material-belt.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_069

Billy:

... But how is it that Earth-humans are so small today despite their giant ancestors?

Semjase:

72. It is primarily the mixing factors with the Earth-originating human forms that are to blame for this, the crossbreeding genuses, as well as all the influences of the Earth itself, which is only able to carry smaller human beings.

73. Through these influences of the Earth all of our own ancestors also changed in their size, because they were also giants in former times.

74. In the course of the millennia, however, since they lived on Earth and became accustomed to it, they were subject to the alterational influences, so they became noticeably smaller in shape, thus we, as late direct descendants of them, show the same average size as their terrestrial humans.

75. There are exceptions, however, also with us, as you know, but also with you, whereby whole nations are affected by it.

76. This is in addition to those breeds that have kept their original size since primeval times as dwarf or giant breeds.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_070

Semjase:

26. Our early ancestors had mastered space travel for more than 22 million years, carried out expeditions and exploratory flights reaching far into space and came to Earth for the first time.

27. However, this [the Earth] was still deep in the late primordial development and was therefore left to time for the further development.

28. Nonetheless, Earth was often revisited to release criminal elements [humans] that were detrimental on the home worlds.

29. Only a few millennia, however, did this last, and then, for reasons unknown to us, they relinquished the Earth and left this world alone for many millions of years, during which life of all kinds, already developed on Earth, could continue to develop in a natural sense, except that at later times the abandoned life-forms mixed with human-like life-forms already on Earth, which happened for the first time a few million years ago.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_215

Billy:

... Guido and I were talking about the prehistoric human beings, respectively the Stone Age humans, and there, the question arose as to when these had actually come so far that they banded together in larger groups and when these or their descendants built the first smaller and larger settlements, smaller or larger kraals [a rural village, typically consisting of huts surrounded by a stockade] or hamlets, etc. In addition, we also came to speak of the first real, ur-ur-prehistoric men, if one can actually designate the most distant, ur-ur-forefathers of the Earth-humans as such. Here, the question, then, is how large they actually were and whether they were already walking upright. ...

Quetzal:

38. The first human forms, which can already be very well designated in their origin as human beings, emerged around 49 million years ago.

39. Nevertheless, their appearance was not human but rather in the form that the Earth-human knows of the early hominid, due to his conceptions, because the first human forms still had nothing comparable with these.

40. In fact, these beings were only about 80 centimetres large, and they partially moved half-upright on their legs, and their excessively long arms partially clambered around in the trees.

41. The development of these beings lasted for a very long time, with the most diverse species following from it, which developed into actually recognisable humans in their first species – even the early hominids, as the Earth-human imagines them in their early stages – around 8.5 million years ago, while other species of the same genus appeared 4.5 and 6.5 million years ago.

42. There were precursors to these species, but already 12.6 and 16.7 million years ago.

43. From the more distant descendants of all these human forms, who appeared in various places on the Earth, such as in Africa, Australia, Japan, China, America, South America and in Europe, etc., as you now call these areas, there were already early accumulations of dwellings – settlements, as you say – in which whole kinships gathered together.

44. Such sites are known to us on Earth, and they exhibit an age of 736,000 and of 811,000, 970,000 and 1,200,000 years.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_217

Billy:

... recently, we talked about the primeval times of the Earth, and the issue arose, which Semjase also once talked about, that at least once on the Earth, there had been a global glaciation, ie a total global ice age, which dates back about 600 million years. At the same time, the entire equatorial belt should have also been covered by many meters of thick ice and by enormous glaciers. This, along with the great ice ages and the small ice ages that repeatedly moved across the planet since ages ago and will also continue to do so in the future. Through the total glaciation of global expansion, the entire Earth became a giant ball of ice, ie an actual ice planet. In addition, I ask you, Since you are also a geologist and an expert in terms of the ice ages and so on, how the Earth was able to turn into an ice planet at all and how the enormous masses of ice were able to melt and then disappear again. At the earliest times, the planet was, nevertheless, a giant glowing ball, before it solidified and formed actual land masses, on which then, in the end, mountains raised themselves through inner Earth movements and processes, etc.

Quetzal:

52. It corresponds to the truth that at early times on the Earth, the ice regions and glaciers had advanced into the tropical zones and also forced the equatorial regions and even the entire planet under a mantle of ice that was many meters thick. ...

63. Now, so that the Earth could free itself again from its enormous mantle of ice, the elementary, bubbling, inner life of the planet itself was decisive, namely the tremendous natural power of volcanism, through which the tremendous heat was generated, which eventually brought the ice crust of the Earth back to melting. ...

66. But in addition to the lava and the heat, the volcanoes also eject huge amounts of the finest dust particles, i.e. ash particles and so on and so forth, along with enormous masses of carbon dioxide, and these very factors are the ones that ensure that the heat of the sunlight is trapped in the atmosphere.

67. But primarily, it is carbon dioxide that is decisive for this heat effect, for throughout the entire global ice age, which lasted on Earth for 12.47 million years, this gathered together in unimaginable mass in the atmosphere, heating it to about 57 degrees, which entailed that a tremendous global greenhouse effect arose, through which the enormous masses of ice slowly began to melt, by what means the global freezing dissolved up to the small areas at the North Pole and the South Pole as well as in isolated mountain areas, etc.

68. This was also the case on the ground, which took place about 600 million years ago.

69. Of course, immense layers of clouds originated from the slow evaporation of the masses of ice, which surrounded the entire Earth as a closed cloud cover and which, in turn, led to a renewed and even much more extreme climate change.

70. Then, after many millions of years, it began to rain for the first time on Earth, and indeed, in such immense masses that everything was set under water.

71. This tremendous time of rain, during which the waters fell like a flood from the clouds to the ground, lasted for 142 years without interruption, and of course, new evaporations of the falling-down water masses took place again and again, by what means the cloud formations were continuously fed, while the powerful volcanoes naturally remained active and constantly ejected new carbon dioxide into the atmosphere.

72. The flood-like, falling-down water masses combined in the atmosphere with this carbon dioxide, forming acid rain, from which then, over the course of time, natural lime developed on the Earth.

73. This was the development of the Earth in relation to the total global freezing, which then also firstly formed the actual origin for the original emergence of the first micro-life forms of a single-celled kind, from which, over the course of millions of years and centuries, life forms of the water, land, and air evolved up to the higher kinds, after which then, the Earth-human emerged from the whole thing and evolved over many depths and heights to the current state.

74. Until the global ice age around 600 million years ago, only thermal life forms, i.e. thermal bacteria, existed on the Earth in the scorching heat of the magma and lava, and these life forms were partially expelled from the hot springs of aboveground geysers as well as from small or larger black funnels or chimneys rising high up at the bottom of the sea, and to be sure, along with the other primitive forms, from which, over the course of time, new unicellular life forms could evolve, which settled in the sands of the shores of the seas and other bodies of water and evolved under or in the sand to multicellular life forms.

75. But at the same time, comets as well as meteors and asteroids as well as interstellar clouds of microbes played a very important role, once these came into the immediate vicinity of the Earth and fell down upon this, thereby bringing their microbes, etc. to the planet, which combined in part with the Earth's already-developed life forms of a similar kind and thereby created new life, or else life forms that were independently brought from space emerged from these.

76. But in relation to the insemination of the Earth with respect to fauna and flora, it must be clearly said that what primarily relates to this did not proceed from the planet itself but resulted through the inclusions from outer space, and to be sure, through comets, meteors, asteroids, dust particles, and even through the clouds of chemical elements drifting through free space as well as clouds of microbes, through which all the bacteria, fungi, lichens, mosses, viruses, and protozoa of various genera and species were brought to the Earth.

77. The Earth-human first emerged much later out of new amino acid connections, etc., which resulted from the decayed substances of plants and animals.

78. The earliest human forms in this regard, which emerged from the planet itself, are to be backdated to 8 to 12 million years, but the actual hominid forms first appeared between six and eight million years ago, from whose lines various human forms then developed over the course of time, but these were not of permanence and, thus, passed again.

79. Then, from the same original line, still other and similar human life forms formed, so with the related human life forms, namely the simian beings, which still exist on the Earth today in various species.

80. The human beings who walked the Earth at earlier times, such as over 20 or 120 or even more than 230 million years ago, were in nowise the so-called Earth-made or Earth-created ones but rather extraterrestrials who came from the depths of space and who stayed here for a certain time or only visited the planet for a short time for expeditions or for major excursions.

81. At that time, the areas of origin and home worlds of these travelers from afar were to be found in your galaxy, so the Milky Way, but also in foreign galaxies.

Billy:

So once more: from your words, it again follows clearly and plainly that humans are not descended from the ape line but rather apes from the human line.

Quetzal:

82. That is correct because the Darwinian Theory of Evolution, that the evolutionary line of Earth-humans traces back to apes, is fundamentally wrong, for in truth, the evolutionary line of apes traces back to human beings.

83. Darwin was a deceiver in relation to the Human-Ape Evolutionary Line Theory because he secretly worked on ape bones and ape skeletons with a filing utensil, in order to adapt them into his claim and false theory and to present it to those scientists at that time who occupied themselves with the evolution of animals and humans.

84. At first, they were completely impressed by Darwin's 'evidence' and spread Darwin's false claims and deceitful machinations across the globe as correct and as a true sensation.

85. And once they discovered Charles R. Darwin's fraud, it was already too late to correct everything again, consequently, everything took its course, and the fraudulently created evidence entered into the scientific annals as authenticity, thus, it also spread among the people, and the erroneous teaching was born that the human being is descended from the ape, which is the exact opposite of what corresponds to the truth and correctness, that the ape is descended from the line of the human being.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_218

Billy:

... But there are, among many other very interesting things, also the 'black things/ chimneys' [a.k.a. 'black smokers'], of which Quetzal had once spoken, and he said that they are the essential origin of the later forms of life on the Earth, in water, air and land, along with inclusions from outer space through comets, meteors and asteroids.

In these 'black things/chimneys' from which pitch black swathes – which are impregnated with sulphur and various materials – rise up, emerged early branches of bacteria which, as they rose out of the chimneys, were released and began the evolutionary work of life.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_222

Billy:

... As it follows from your explanations, life on Earth originated in the water, whereby it then developed in the shore sand of the waters. This is in complete contrast to the claims of the earthly scientists, whose explanations purport that life had developed from the so-called primordial soup. If I still remember correctly – completely in accordance with your information – life is to have originated in the fresh waters of the Earth. Seas, however, are very salty – at least here on Earth – whereby the highly sensitive genetic material and outer covers of the first organisms would have probably been destroyed because saltwater is extremely aggressive, and the life forms that emerged first were still highly susceptible to such influences. So I ask myself, what type of water was given then, in which life could evolve, before it could also find its way in saltwater at a later time?

Quetzal:

59. The saltwater of primeval times was actually very aggressive in the primordial seas and contained values that were twice and three times as high as those of the current salt concentrations in the earthly seas.

60. Thus, life also did not originate in these salty primordial seas which were also partly strong in potassium but rather in smaller and larger land waters, in small and large ponds, as well as in small or larger lakes, which consisted of fresh water that arose from torrential rains.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_224

Billy:

... As a rule, comets and meteors are carriers of microorganisms that, if they 'inseminate' planets and moons, immensely multiply in conditions that are favourable for them and gradually change themselves and mutate or, in the course of their secretions, create new substances and new forms, which form new life in unions, etc. with other forms, from which higher life develops over the course of hundreds of thousands and millions of years, if the necessary conditions are given on the planets and moons, so particularly climate, temperature, and food. Thus, there is life that is only in the light and other life that can only live in total darkness, while others can only exist in intense heat or cold. Others can only exist in water, in gases, in soft or hard matter, while others can only live in external spheres, etc. And as it happens universe-wide with the 'insemination' of the planets and moons by comets, wandering planets, and meteors, as well as by clouds of microorganisms, which drift through space, so it has also happened on our Earth. First through this was it possible that life could develop from the planet itself. So if it is said that the Earth created life from itself, then this is to be understood in the sense that first, it became 'inseminated' by microorganisms from outer space, precisely through comets, wandering planets, meteors, and clouds of microorganisms, etc., which then multiplied on our planet when conditions that were life-favorable for them were created by this. Primarily included in these favorable conditions was volcanism, in which thermal microorganisms romped about, from whose effects, however, also climatic and atmospheric forms and layers, etc. developed, and after this developed lichens and mosses and later higher plants and after that the animal forms, and at last, human beings were able to develop. Mainland life emerged here in the sandy shore layers of the seas and other waters, but this earthly original form of life first developed in the primeval waters, which still would have been undrinkable and deadly for humans and for actual animals. This process of the origin of life on Earth is likewise given throughout the whole Universe, so thus, there are micro-organic as well as low and higher and even high life-forms elsewhere on other worlds – and with these also humans, as your existence probably proves sufficiently, and indeed, even against all the nonsensical assertions of know-it-alls and other lunatics, who believe that higher life or any life at all would only exist on our Earth.

Quetzal:

5. I have nothing else to say to that, for your remarks correspond to the reality.

6. It would just be important to explain the actual, original source of all life and all matter when it falls into your knowledge.

7. It can, indeed, be assumed that you will also have this conversation transmitted later and will publish it for the instruction of the Earth-humans.

Billy:

I will, yes. Of course, I also know how life and matter actually originated, I just have to reach for the explanation in the spiritual teaching [aka Creation energy teaching], which reveals what the four original substances – fire, air, water, and matter – originated from. In the first part of Genesis, sentences 123 to 131, the following is to be read: “The idea of the Creation was in becoming and being born, and the coagulation of the becoming-visible space was seethed through by milky flakes, which grew as spiritual and material life into the Creation and the Universe. Life had become existent; the root remained, the light remained, the flakes remained, but the Creation was one with everything in its division.” From sentences 159 to 163, it is further explained as follows: “Having recognised itself in its consciousness, the Creation grasped the worth of its coming forth idea. Through the power of its thoughts, it created further; it created bodies and forms in multiplicity and variety, through which it animated the Universe in diversity.” And if I should now explain this in an interpretive way, which goes beyond the spiritual teaching [Creation energy teaching] into physics and which should be understandable, then I must do this as follows: The Creation flakes, or rather the flakes that were created by the Creation and that formed in the empty space of the Universe, were hydrogen formations, in which all the building blocks or 280 elements of life as well as all matter and gases, etc., which were already created by the Creation, were existent. These hydrogen formations or hydrogen flakes combined themselves over the course of time into larger masses and condensed themselves to such an extent that incredibly high temperatures arose within their interior and detonated the mass. These were, if I may say so, the first original supernovae or original supernovas of the growing Material Universe Belt. Even today, and throughout the entire future of the existence of the Universe, the same still takes place; it is just that the form of the flakes has changed, because today, these are huge solar structures that explode out of themselves and eject from themselves all elements in the Universe, through which life and the entire existence of all that exists is guaranteed in a constant growth and decay as well as new emergence. Through the enormous explosions of the solar structures, which are often many times the size and mass of our Sun, the building blocks of life, all necessary elements, are released and distributed throughout the Universe. From this, new compounds, gases, neutrinos and so on and so forth are created, which, in turn, form into structures, into galaxies, from which ultimately suns, planets, nebulae, and comets, etc. develop again, and through this, new life also develops again on suitable structures and planets, but this happens more in the outer regions of the galaxies, like, for example, in our spiral galaxy, in which we exist with our solar system in the outer regions of a spiral arm, and to be sure, in the so-called Orion spiral arm.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_248

Billy:

Do you also have any knowledge about when the first illnesses appeared on Earth, by which humans or pre-humans were attacked?

Ptaah:

58. I can give very precise information about that because according to our research, there were health illnesses and diseases on Earth approximately 4.5 million years ago.

Billy:

There were already Earth-created humans?

Ptaah:

59. There were only early forms of humans – upright-walking, hominid tree dwellers and ground inhabitants.

Billy:

But still, clearly human life-forms?

Ptaah:

60. Certainly, but these beings were not yet filled with reason and understanding in the way that the actual first human was, who even disposed of cognitive reason and a recognizable consciousness.

61. These beings arose on the Earth at different times, so no single measure of time can be specified.

62. The one namely developed authoritative and human-forming reason more than 3.7 million years ago, while others only became reason-bearing 2.5 million years ago, and others only 1.5 million years ago.

Billy:

I have a knot in the hose somewhere: In the past, one told me, nevertheless, that humans had already been created on the Earth 6 to 12 million years ago. How does it happen that you speak of lower figures?

Ptaah:

63. There must be a misunderstanding because the first human life-forms emerged on the Earth 6 to 12 million years ago, which then developed over time into the human life-form, Homo sapiens.

64. On the other hand, 5 to 6 million years ago, beings from other planets were also on the Earth occasionally, who also lived here for some time but later left the Earth again.

65. Perhaps these beings are meant in your recollection, whose reason had already been given?

Billy:

Perhaps, I no longer remember this exactly. There was also once talk of human life-forms that were created 6 to 8 million years ago, as well as those created 8 to 12 billion years ago.

Ptaah:

66. I understand.

67. You mix up the facts a bit, my friend.

68. These human life-forms that were created 8 to 12 billion years ago were not Earth-humans but rather people who stepped into appearance, respectively were created, from beyond our galaxy, but whose distant descendants came to the Earth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_250

Billy:

On Earth, besides dinosaur traces, there are also human footprints that are millions of years old. These are both impressions that are still of normal size today, as it were, and those that are gigantic and thus originate from giants or giants, etc., and are much older in origin than the oldest traces of hominids found or their bone finds, which can only be traced back to about 4.5 million years, although earthborn humanoids lived nine to twelve million years ago. However, there are also ancient impressions and human footprints in small and large form next to dinosaur traces or elsewhere, which are between 65 and 140 million years old. How do you explain this when the first primeval human, hominid life-forms on earth lived at the earliest nine to twelve million years ago? I really mean prehistoric man.

Ptaah:

94. This is neither a secret nor a riddle, because all footprints of people of all sizes, from the dwarf-like beings to the giants, etc., are not traces of terrestrial human life-forms.

95. The impressions truthfully come from humans of planets not from Sol who visited Earth many millions of years ago or came here to live here.

96. Many of them also died here, whereby petrified traces, footprints and bones can still be found in many places on earth today and bear witness to this fact.

97. Earth-humans only existed nine to twelve million years ago.

Billy:

Well – new finds of hominids, you told me a long time ago, are found in autumn 2,000 in East Africa, in Abyssinia or Ethiopia or something like that. According to your words, the bones will then be estimated at about 5 to 6.5 million years. With the hominids I mean of course only bones of these. But now the scientists still claim that the last member of the primeval hominids is the Lucy find, which proves that the Darwinian lie theory corresponds to the truth, namely that man is descended from apes. This, although it is known in initiated circles – which is stubbornly concealed – that Darwin, in order to prove his lie theory, filed and assembled monkey bones.

Ptaah:

98. This actually corresponds to Darwin's work at that time.

99. And of course, the scientific claim of today is erroneous and completely false that the findings of the remains of the hominid life-form Lucy represent the link between ape and man, because in truth, man did not descend from the ape, but the ape had the hominid-human life-form as its origin.

100. This hominid-human life-form was an upright walker from early on and thus a life-form that walked on its two legs on the ground, but nevertheless also lived on trees for safety reasons, for which the feet and toes as well as the hands and fingers were shaped and formed accordingly.

101. One could call these beings land-tree-humans.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_251

{Note: This Contact Report contains a detailed history related to the extraterrestrial humans who had a role in the history of humans on Earth, which is not reproduced here.}

Billy:

... And here in the SOL-system, far away from Sirius and the planets and intelligences there, the genetically manipulated ones have been eking out their existence ever since, their descendants are testifying and are unstoppably evolving now as terrestrial humans, who will soon be able to open themselves, in order to penetrate into the vastness of the universe, where they originally came from, quite contrary to the inadequate assertions of Earth scientists that Earth man of today's form is a very own product of Earth and even according to Charles Darwin's stupidly primitive false teaching comes from the monkey. Although purely earth-created human beings live on Earth, on the one hand they have their own evolutionary lineage independent of apes, while on the other hand apes are descended from the first or early human beings. ...

... It will still take a number of years before Earth humanity will find proof that its former ancestors from primordial times came from foreign solar and planetary systems to the SOL system and settled on Mars before they emigrated to Earth. It is also likely that the first evidence will then be found that the ancestors of the earliest times, the genetically manipulated and their descendants, were refugees and exiled, who originally came from the Sirius regions. ...

... Earthman was actually a single race in Henok's primeval times, out of which further races formed through climatic changes, atmospheric changes and secretions, resulting in new lines. These then intermingled with each other, creating new breeds again. Thus, in the course of time, both the skin colors of humans and their external appearance changed, always in adaptation to the new environment and the new living conditions, etc. Of course, this also resulted in genetic changes, apart from genetic manipulation. These, however, were not such that the origin and basic connection of the fact that all human beings on earth originated from a single ancestral tribe would no longer be apparent. When, about 190,000 years ago, the people of the Lyra regions, etc., settled on Earth with the former immigrants and the former humans of the world, it would be impossible to see the origin and the basic connection between them. Their descendants joined again immediately; and when the peoples separated again in bigger thrusts and the most different areas of earth were repopulated, new changes occurred in the skin color as well as in the external appearance and in the genes, whereby nevertheless also this time the original trunk was preserved, whereby still today it can be proven genetically that the terrestrial humans originated from a single primeval race. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_258

Billy:

... And what do you think about cloning in general – is this to be prevented for the length of the future or not, respectively does it belong to the evolutionary path of mankind or not?

Ptaah:

21. With regard to cloning itself, it must be said, just as in genetic science or genetic manipulation, that everything is inevitable in the long run, because even the cloning of humans, animals and plants belongs absolutely to the evolutionary process of man and cannot be prevented.

22. Everything is only a question of time before this process openly begins, as is the case with genetic manipulation.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_360

Billy:

... And now that all monkey creatures carry within them some traditional factors of human character, since these creatures are descended from the original line of humans, it is not surprising that they are capable of killing, both in terms of their own genus and species, as well as in terms of other life forms. In this respect, monkeys are very strikingly similar to humans, which is not surprising, since these creatures originate from the human line. The fact that humans on the whole no longer behaves in the same way as the apes and that he no longer kills in the same way as these, but has just become more human – with exceptions – is solely due to his conscious thinking, the development and use of his conscience and morality, and the perception of general responsibility. Excluded from this are only those human creatures that are still degenerate at the bottom of their character, that kill and torture without hesitation, etc., regardless of whether they are ordinary citizens or military personnel. And in this respect, I think that the rabbit is in the pepper: namely, since ape creatures have more or less human factors in their behaviour and are incapable of distinguishing between good and evil and between negative and positive, just as they have no trained conscience and know no conscious responsibility and evolution, they act only instinctively, uncontrollably and impulsively, etc. So they act in the same way as people did before they cultivated, before they evolved and before they became aware of their conscience and responsibility. After all, apes and humans originally came from a primordial lineage from which the first primates emerged. While most ape creatures remained in their primacy, a few forms changed into actual hominids, from which the first earthly humans emerged. Therefore, a very strong distinction must be made between primates and hominids, because primates are and remain wild, instinct-driven, impulsive ape creatures, which are not capable of thought and feeling control, have no conscious conscience and have no conscious responsibility. This is in complete contrast to humans, about half of whom have already evolved to such an extent that they are able to successfully resist all forms of degeneration. The other half still allows primate migration here and there, whereby a larger number is always ready to live out any kind of degeneration, including murder and other killing. That is how I see and understand everything.

Ptaah:

24. What you say corresponds to reality.

25. By paraphrasing this, you have also explained the fact that ape beings are not animals, but pure primates.

26. Primates, however, are very different from animals, which do not contain any human factors.

Billy:

Sfath, Semjase and Quetzal already said that. Monkeys are pure primates and should not be compared to animals or humans.

Ptaah:

27. That is correct.

28. The term primate was taken from the old Lyran term 'primaton', which means 'first being'.

29. Also the term 'human', which means 'man', originates from the old-Lyrian language and was integrated into the earthly languages.

30. It is completely wrongly handed down that the terms should originate from early or late Latin etc., because the true origin lies thousands of years ago, namely with the old Lyrian emigrants who left their home worlds for war reasons and settled on earth for some time, only to emigrate again later.

31. So when the late Latin explanation for primates is described as 'a member of an order of mammals or master animals comprising humans, apes and prosimians', then this corresponds to an unforgivable falseness and falsification in terms of including humans.

32. First of all, man is not a primate being that has only an instinctive consciousness and not a consciously evolutionary consciousness, so that he cannot be called a primate being, and secondly, the term 'human' clearly states that he is a human being with a conscious consciousness, so that conscious evolution is also given to him.

33. And what still has to be explained in principle:

34. In the origins of the development of primate beings, their form of consciousness was such that their consciousness was oriented towards a conscious evolutionary consciousness as well as towards a form of instinct consciousness and impulse consciousness.

35. Early on, however, a strong evolutionary separation took place, whereby only a single species retained its three forms of consciousness and made them evolutively into a single consciousness group, from which the species 'human' or human being emerged.

36. In contrast to this, the conscious evolutionary consciousness of all other primate beings degenerated, so that they fell into instinct consciousness alone and were no longer capable of conscious evolution, as has remained the case with the 'human being' or human being.

37. Thus, the ape beings are distant, degenerated descendants of the 'first beings', whose evolutionary line was determined by the conscious evolutionary consciousness to become a 'human being' and thus ultimately a human being.

38. Through their degeneration of the forms of consciousness, however, the primates remained such and thus became the so-called monkeys, who only have an instinctive consciousness, which is, however, in a certain way capable of learning instinctively and impulsively, as is also the case with many other beings who have an instinctive consciousness.

39. And finally, it must be explained that on all worlds in the universe that bear higher and higher life, the evolutionary course to man or the incarnation through evolution is the same, and consequently primate beings or first beings arise everywhere, from which on the one hand the genus man develops through further evolution, while the remaining first beings fall victim to a degeneration of the form of consciousness and thus remain primates or become ape beings, as they are called by the terrestrial human being.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_367

Billy:

... Darwin did indeed make the claim that in the animal kingdom, male life-forms are polygamous and female life-forms are monogamous. Your father, Sfath, already taught me in 1949 that this assertion was as misleading as that man was descended from apes, and Darwin, in order to substantiate this assertion, fraudulently filed down ape bones. As Sfath said, in all fauna, all female forms are as polygamous as the male forms. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_410

Ptaah:

49. The direct ancestors of the yellow races, as the races of China and Japan are called with you on Earth, came to Earth 25,994 years ago – counted from today on – and settled in the areas of today's China and Japan.
50. Their very distant ancestors were at very early times or millions of years – like the white, red and brown races – partly refugees from the Sirius areas, which were shifted to the Dern space-time structure.
51. The yellow races first settled in distant regions beyond the sun or central sun, where they founded large races in the Nisan system on a planet called KUDRA and created a huge overpopulation.
52. As a result – in addition to the fact that the planet was slowly becoming uninhabitable – a great emigration took place about 2.4 million years ago, with large masses migrating and settling in the Lyra systems on this side of the central sun, on a neighbouring planet of Lasan.
53. Their planet was called NISSAN.
54. These systems and planets in the Lyra regions were also offset to our space-time structure by fractions of a second or seconds, whereas the Nisan system and its planets – thus also Kudra – beyond the galaxy belonged to the Dern space-time structure.
55. Now it must still be said that about 2.4 million years ago, when the emigrants separated from Kudra and moved to the Lyra regions, a certain part also came to Earth and settled already in the areas of today's China and Japan, where also already earth-born human beings existed.
56. The early emigrants from the Kudra peoples who settled on Earth were left to their fate without any technical achievements, because the transport ship that should have brought the technical materials never arrived on Earth, but remained lost.
57. Thus the immigrants were also deprived of the technology that would have enabled them to contact the emigrants in the Lyra systems.
58. This resulted in them being 'forgotten'.
59. 25,994 years ago, Nissan was once again overpopulated, and larger groups of emigrants were formed to investigate other emigrants in the past.
60. So they also came across the Earth and the areas of today's China and Japan, which resulted in migrations to these areas on the Earth and the resettlement of today's China and Japan, including the merging with the very distant descendants of the former emigrants and with the earth-born.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_437

Ur-line of Primates – Becoming of Human and Ape*Billy:

Originally the ape creatures and the human being descended from a single Ur-line, which formed as a physically wavering form, i.e. as a constitution, i.e. as a primary state and was animated by an impulse-energy-spirit-form, as the plants have. This impulse-energy-spirit-form is, i.e. was firstly given as an Ur-line of the primates arising from it, because in these physically wavering Wesen, i.e. in these initial-Wesen, which was neither animal, other creature nor human, but rather just a kind of slimy, wavering, plant-like mass, still no instinct-based or conscious consciousness-based evolving spirit-form could incarnate, i.e. bear into. It was only when this kind of Wesen was far- and highly enough developed to a primate, so that it possessed an actual brain, it became capable of receiving an Ur-combination of a conscious evolution-consciousness and an instinct-consciousness in the now-developed brain. This combination of evolution-consciousness and instinct-consciousness was related to – evolvingly resulting from the Ur-form of the impulse-consciousness – a hybrid-spirit-form, out of which two new spirit forms and thus two new lines and developments emerged, namely a hominid one, out of which through the overall-consciousness-block a conscious consciousness originated and thus the conscious evolution-capable consciousness of the human being, nevertheless retaining to a certain extent the forms of the instinct-consciousness and the impulse-consciousness. With regard to the other spirit form this formed itself as a pure instinct-spirit-form with an unconscious and therefore not consciously evolution-capable instinct-consciousness, precisely that of the apes, in which a part of the impulse-consciousness was also retained.

And when it is now taught: "... originally the apes and the human beings indeed descended from one Ur-line, out of which emerged the primates ... In the origins of the development of the primates-Wesen these were, in their form of consciousness, formed as such that their consciousness was directed both to a conscious evolution-consciousness as well as a form of instinct-consciousness and an impulse-consciousness. ... Early on, however, a strong evolutionary separation took place, though which only one kind retained its three consciousness-forms and made these evolutively into a single consciousness-compound, from which the species 'human', i.e. human being originated." ... "And finally, there is still to explain, that on all the worlds in the universe which bear higher and high life, the evolutionary course to the human being, i.e. the becoming human through the evolution is in the same wise, consequently everywhere primate-Wesen, i.e. initial-Wesen originate, from which on the one hand the human species develops in a further evolution, while the remaining initial-Wesen fell into a degeneration of the form of consciousness and thus remained primates, i.e. become apes, as they are called by human beings of Earth.", then that is to be understood as follows: The spirit-form of the human being after the developmental change from an Ur-line is in a state of the primate-Wesen and so in its initial body-related origin, a form which can develop itself both positively as also negatively, if that is said as an allegory with regard to the unconscious instinct-consciousness of the ape creatures, of the animals and the other creatures in the sense of the negative as well as in the sense of the positive with regard to the conscious and consciously evolutive consciousness of the human being. Fundamentally, it is given with the first-becoming of each spirit-form, that it comes forth out of an evolutive developmental change of an unconscious impulse-consciousness, i.e. from an impulse-spirit-form that is capable to developmentally change to the higher and develops itself in the hybrid-stage only to the actual conscious human or unconscious animalistic spirit-form, just as that is the allegory for the material life forms which in the first stages during the conception, i.e. procreation and becoming, show a neutral form and develop themselves only through the further development to the positive, i.e. male as well as to the negative, i.e. female.

Billy:

... I have here yet another question, because someone has asked me for an answer in the bulletin regarding on what Charles Darwin, in 1859, has constructed his theory of evolution, that the human being would be descended from apes. I learned from your father, Sfath, that Darwin falsified an ape skeleton in order to prove his theory, whereby however his assertion, being that the human descended from apes, did not even grow out of his own rubbish. In reality, as Sfath explained, Charles Darwin was linked with Tibetan Buddhists, who told him of the Tibetan legend, according to which all human beings would descend from eight different branches of apes. Can I convey my answer in this way?'

Ptaah:

49. Of course, because what my father explained to you corresponds to the truth.

50. Darwin was a human who craved renown and did everything illicitly and dishonestly to greatly build up his image.

51. The Darwinian teaching of evolution in regard to the Earth-humans, that they originally arose from the apes, is truly not based on his own thought processes or from his own research, rather on a Tibetan legend that all humans descended from eight different branches of apes.

52. Darwin put the legend to use, whereby he suitably filed certain bones of an ape skeleton in order to substantiate and provide a line of evidence for his deceit and presented the whole thing to the scientific body of the day.

Billy:

Darwin, as founder of the so-called modern theory of evolution, actually did study medicine and then later theology, whereby he came into contact with Buddhists from Tibet. Indeed, he was generally dealt with as a naturalist, but that role started as he took part in the world voyage of the survey ship 'Beagle', which was underway on the world's seas from 1831 until 1836. From 1842, as I have read, he began to work on his comprehensive travel experiences, and systematically collected his extensive material together in regard to the origin of the species. Geological observations, as well as those of fauna as it pertains to geography, caused him to doubt the rightness of the traditional teaching of the inalterability of the species. From that also arose his main work, 'The Origin of the Species through Natural Selection', which constituted a turning point in the history of biology in 1859. With the Theory of Selection, which led to Darwinism, respectively to the Darwinian teachings of descent, he explained the purposive adaptation of forms of life to the environment. That he thereby also tried to underpin his teachings through the fraud of his adaptation of ape bones, and that he presented the Tibetan legend – that all humans are arisen from eight branches of apes – as reality, then led to the erroneous teaching that the human descended from apes, whereby this has endured until today and even the scientists grant their belief to this deception. In 1871 he then published two volumes entitled, 'The Descent of Man'. Darwin was born on February 12th, 1809 in The Mount at Shrewsbury in England, and he died on April 19th, 1882 in Down House, which corresponds to today's London-Bromley. Are these statements true so far?

Ptaah:

53. All of it corresponds to the rightness.

54. Yes, those are the actual facts.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_453

Billy:

... You once told me that life on Earth did not originate in water but in the sands of the shores, so life on Earth evolved or emerged in that way, but it was first brought here from outer space. With regard to thermobacteria etc., this had already happened millions of years ago, when the Earth was still a ball of embers, but the last 500 million years in particular had been the most decisive with regard to all kinds of great and largest life-forms that developed on the Earth. And after that, the last 70 million years in particular were of great importance, during which many comets and meteors and large amounts of space dust, ice and water fell to Earth, bringing with them much bacterial life and amino acids, from which more and more diverse life developed. This is clear to me as far as it goes, but I'm interested in what the actual origin of this life was – it would have to have been the chemistry and physical processes of the universe, I think?

Ptaah:

33. Your assumption is correct.

34. The origin and existence of all life owes this to the basic laws of universal chemistry and physics, from which left-turning amino acids developed fundamentally for the emergence of life itself, which formed and also continue to form the main factor of the biological emergence of life as a whole in universal breadth.

35. From this it also emerges that every form of life is planetary chemically-physically conditioned, consequently this is also different from planet to planet and has innumerable forms universe-wide and is not necessarily human-like, as you know and as you were able to see for yourself together with us on your Great Journey through large parts of the universe on the most diverse worlds.

Billy:

Yes, I never forget that, all the different life-forms, which also included various intelligent ones that were not human-like. I would like to say, however, that despite the very great strangeness, they cannot be called monsters, just as they cannot be called human-like life-forms. Some have also developed higher and higher cultures and techniques, which may seem futuristic and fantastic to earthlings, but nevertheless corresponds to the truth. Many of the alien life-forms, however, were of the animal kind, and you let me look at a great many bacterial forms under a device that I would like to call a microscope for the sake of simplicity, because it had such a function, but has no resemblance to the devices we know. It was interesting for me to be able to determine that human life is extremely thinly spread throughout the universe and that most life-bearing worlds carry life-forms that look completely futuristic to earthlings. And I remember you explaining that human life-forms found their widespread expansion in the universe on various occasions only because they created the technical means to be able to emigrate to other worlds through space travel...? I also still hear your words today when you said that life-forms existed on practically all planets, comets, meteors and celestial bodies as well as in the nebulae and gases in the universe, even if, as a rule, they were only bacterial life-forms, except on planets? And as you have let me see, such life-forms also exist on the moons of our SOL satellites, as well as on these themselves.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_459

Billy:

... Charles Robert Darwin, the British, actually studied medicine and then theology, and only later became a natural scientist. It is said that he suffered from an unknown disease for many years of his life. Do you know anything about it? I was asked about it, but I could not give any information about it.

Ptaah:

43. Yes, I can tell you something about that, because my father Sfath – he was not in contact with Darwin – made a close observation with regard to Darwin and recorded everything in an extensive work which I studied.

44. From my father's records it is clear that Darwin suffered from anxiety psychosis and was a severe hypochondriac who imagined many ailments, but suffered from a serious infectious disease in addition to that, which caused him great distress.

45. He became infected with the disease germs in Latin America through so-called Benschuka bugs.

46. The bite of these blood-sucking bugs causes an infection, which leads to the so-called Tschagas disease, which first develops in the stomach and heart.

47. The disease itself is not contagious and still exists today, although it can be transmitted by blood transfusions, which is a cause for concern today, because blood donations contaminated by Tschagas disease are spreading more and more in Latin America and are moving northwards, so it is already slowly spreading in the USA.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_467

Billy:

... Yes, all life developed from a single-celled primeval slime, also humans. However, as I know from Sfath, there were different forms of primeval slime, from which in turn different animal life developed, such as amphibians, water life forms and various species of dinosaurs. From a separate primeval slime form, however, the first small creatures developed, which were mammals, from which all mammals developed, so also primates and humans. These all have a uniform type of mating, but also uniform hearing organs, of course, depending on the life-form, simply shaped differently according to it, but in principle in the same application and mode of action. As your father, Sfath, explained to me in my youth, the first small forms of life that developed from the primeval slime, from which humans also emerged on Earth, lived more than 250 million years ago and also at the time when the first dinosaurs existed. These small life-forms were about 10-12 centimetres in size, about the size of a mouse, but they changed and grew a few centimetres larger. Their lifetime was just one year, but with time their age increased, the bigger they became. The transformation over millions of years led to different life-forms, but only to mammals, and finally to many species of primates and to forms from which humans emerged and from which also the different apes and those creatures that have not been found yet, like the YETI, which is called 'Mahali-Dama' by the locals and 'Mande Barung' elsewhere. Also 'Big Foot' and 'Sansquasch' etc. belong to it. Now, to cut a long story short: What is the name of the little animal that is the origin of all mammals, primates and humans? ...

Ptaah:

67. Our name of the small creature is 'Berani', but the little animal is now also known to earthly palaeontologists through findings of fossilized bones, and they call it 'Adelo Basilius' (Adelobasileus cromptoni).

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_469

Billy:

... But tell me, how many species of life-forms do you know, which have developed so far in their intelligence that they can think consciously and also carry out conscious actions and also create technical achievements etc. as well as build up their own cultures and which are classified in a revolution of consciousness? ...

Ptaah:

97. We know of 14 different species of life forms, as they correspond to your question and which I can tell you. ...

98. Then I would like to give you information, whereby I name the individual life-forms according to how it makes sense to Earth-humans and how they also understand it.

99. Thus I will begin with us actual humanoids, whereby I must explain that all life form species, which I have to call, show human or human-like forms in shape, as well as forms mixed with their other species, whereby the only human-like beings are not actual humanoids, but just different and embodying two different species.

100. All of them, however, are capable of a conscious development of consciousness, have their own cultures and languages as well as techniques, whereby some of the ones we know are also masters of space travel and belong to our Federation.

101. All of them, at least those who belong to our Federation, are peaceful beings and have no warlike or violent ambitions:

102. 1) Humanoids are human beings in the form in which we Plejaren and the Earth-humans as well as many of us are allies of our Federation, to which, however, other life-forms also belong, which cannot be called humanoids in our sense, because they are of a completely different kind, but nevertheless consciously capable of evolution and have developed their own cultures and techniques as well as languages, as I already explained.

103. 2) Amphiboids are, in terms of form, life-forms of mixed human and aquatic animal nature, which can live both in water and on land, as well as in a climate that is heavily water-filled. Asina, for example, and her people are among them.

104. 3) Reptiloids are life-forms of mixed human and reptilian form, their bodies being covered with scales.

105. 4) Insectoids are life-forms of mixed human and insect-like form, their skin showing chitin-like characteristics.

106. 5) Sauroids are life-forms of mixed human and sauropod-like form with a skin similar to elephant skin.

107. 6) Primatoids are life-forms of mixed human and primate-like form with a hairy body, but in a stronger form than the terrestrial humanoid or Earth-humans.

108. 7) Condidoids are in form of life-forms actual humanoids, but with the ability to move by levitation.

109. 8) Teropoids are life-forms with human and birdlike body, with long neck, face and beak-like mouth.

110. 9) Hydroids are life-forms with human and fish-like bodies, whose actual life-element is water, which they can also leave for a longer period of time.
111. 10) Thermoids are in shape humanoid life-forms with a human-like body, whose own life-element is hot areas with very high temperature.
112. 11) Frigoroids are in form humanoid life-forms with human bodies, whose life-elements are very cold areas with very low temperatures below zero.
113. 12) Aërioids are in form humanoid life-forms with human body, whereby they are poison gas breathers and their life-element are various gas atmospheres.
114. 13) Acoroids are in form humanoid life-forms with a human body, but their skin is covered by a fine layer of acid, like e.g. the trilans.
115. 14) Floroids are life-forms with human-like and diverse plant bodies.
116. 15) Centauroids are life-forms with partly human and partly equine bodies.
117. 16) Faunoids are life-forms with partly human and partly various ungulate bodies.
118. 17) Cheruboids are in shape and weight very light human life-forms, equipped with feathered wings through which they can fly.
119. 18) Seraphoids are life-forms very light in shape and weight, partly human and partly animal, equipped with feathered wings through which they can fly.
120. These are the people we know of various genera and species resp. races of human and human-animal-like life-forms, which I name in the above mentioned way, so that Earth-humans can also get an idea of them.
121. Our names are of course of a different kind, but they correspond to the value of the names mentioned.
122. Basically, however, it is to be said that all the life-forms mentioned which are the same as human beings are also beings who in their whole or in part resemble our human forms, to which they have changed over millions of years.
123. Apart from this, however, their appearance in terms of the appearance of their skin and its excrescences is different from that of us who call ourselves pure humanoids.
124. But since several of the life-forms I have mentioned are probably humanoid in appearance, but different in the outer appearance of their skin and its outgrowths, we call them peregrinhumanoids, as has been explained to you earlier.
125. This term means as much as foreign humanoids.
126. All mentioned life-forms are therefore in their essence humanoids, which also have a humanoid spirit-form and are part of a conscious evolution of consciousness.
127. The origin of the peregrinhumanoids is not the same as with us pure humanoids, but their development into peregrinhumanoids has taken place in a similar way as with the pure humanoids.
128. Their primeval forms were very small and only gradually developed into larger life-forms, which in turn were subject to multiple changes until they became the beings they are today.
129. Such a course of evolutionary form has also taken place in relation to us purely humanoids, because our course of evolution has also brought about various changes, until finally the purely humanoid human being was created. ...

Billy:

Then another question regarding Neanderthals, of whom more and more bones have been found in recent years and decades. Yes, it is generally said that they disappeared on Earth when the so-called modern human beings, Homo sapiens, appeared. So far, however, it is completely unknown why the Neanderthals disappeared from the scene. It is also not known whether they at least partially mixed with modern human beings. Do you know anything about that?

Ptaah:

135. It was indeed the case that in the most various locations the modern human beings interbred with Neanderthals and begot offspring.

136. This however was not the rule, but occurred rather sparsely.

137. As a rule, the modern human beings hunted the Neanderthals and killed them, to use them as food, because the early homo sapiens were cannibals, and as such they by and by wiped out the Neanderthals.

138. Partly, the modern human beings held Neanderthals as captives, which they killed and ate in case of need for food.

139. Such captives were also used, on certain occasions, to perform sexual acts with the homo sapiens, and indeed with both sexes. As a result, also certain female Neanderthals and homo sapiens bore hybrids as offspring, which, however, was not often the case.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_476

Billy:

... Yes, now on the 12th of February we will celebrate the memory of Charles Robert Darwin, who was born on the 12th of February 1809, and who, as the founder of the modern theory of evolution, made a worldwide fuss about it. Although he initially studied medicine, he later studied theology, which then contradicted his theory of evolution, which was of correctness in principle, yes. Yes, in order to prove his theory, he committed a falsification and deception by filing down monkey bones, but his theory of evolution was indeed not only a theory, but a teaching that was and is true. Thus he explained that human beings and animals were not created by a god in one day, but that they came into being and developed over millions of years through a natural process of development and natural selection, which is also true.

Nevertheless, there are still very many people who, in their religiosity or in their sectarianism, still reject the theory of evolution and in their delusion of faith cling to the fairy tale that human beings and animals were created in a single day by a God-Creator. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_534

Billy:

... Scientists generally claim that the human being has its origin in Africa. But your father Sfath told me something else, namely that the real origin is in the north of Africa. He also took me to a place in Germany, whose name I have forgotten, where he dug up a fossil and explained to me the pre-human fossils respectively the pre-human characteristics and also said that it was the actual forerunner of the human being, which had started to develop 48 million years ago. Sfath showed me on the fossil that the creature already had five fingers respectively thumbs and fingers and also five toes and a set of teeth, which were very similar to those of the human being of today. Through his apparatus, Sfath was also able to make the creature holographically visible to me, so that I could see it in its full size of about 60 cm and in its real form. I think that what Sfath said is more likely to be true than the claims of the earthly scientists.

Ptaah:

10. What my father explained is correct.

11. The real origin of development of Earth-humans was not in the south of the Earth, but in the north of Africa.

12. This development began 48 million years ago, when the early beings split up into precursors of the human being and apes.

13. Just as the ape creatures lived on trees at that time and still do so today, so did the early beings from which human beings ultimately evolved live on trees at that time and until a few million years ago.

14. And the very well preserved fossil that my father uncovered in an open-cast mine in the so-called Messel Pit in Hesse is around 47 million years old.

15. It has been in our possession ever since, and it is clear from it that the primordial beginning of the formation of the early life-form, from which Earth-humans ultimately emerged, was not in the African south, but in the north of Africa.

16. What my father has explained to you is correct, which is also proven by our research, even before his statement, which took us back to the time when the division of the early beings 48 million years ago into a form of human and an ape-like line took place.

Billy:

Sfath said that due to climate, land and continental changes the early beings spread from the North of Africa far over the Earth, also to the African South, East and West, where the first different primeval human species developed about 8-12 million years ago.

Ptaah:

17. This occurred in the north of Africa, where today are Egypt, Malta and Sicily, because that is where the area of today's Messel pit in Germany was located at that time.

18. This was the actual origin of the early beings from which the primeval human form as mammals developed.

Billy:

Unfortunately, no fossils have yet been found in this respect, I mean in relation to life-forms that would already be human or at least human-like. However, it is likely that there are such fossils that just need to be found.

Ptaah:

19. That is undeniable.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_544

Billy:

... Then I have a question that refers to the Neanderthals or rather to their extinction. Again, and again there are reports about it on television and in newspapers and magazines, whereby the scientists however to this day still do not know the real reason for their extinction. There are the most diverse gray theories about this, including one that says that the Neanderthals were exterminated by Homo sapiens, the emerging human being at the time, as you yourself once said. But is that really true down to the last detail? ...

Additionally, I now want to ask you whether that which you have explained is comprehensive in relation to the extinction of the Neanderthals, or whether there were yet other factors which played a role. You did indeed once say later that the extinction of these early human beings led back not only to the then emergence of modern human beings, even though they exterminated different groups of Neanderthals. By the way, today the term Neanderthal is also written with a "th", thus, Neanderthals. I also don't know why. But if you could now explain to me across the board some more about these early human beings and their environment etc., as well as whether there were perhaps other reasons for their extinction besides the ones you have mentioned to me. Because for our scientists it is still not clear what the real reason for the extinction had been, so their minds are divided. Maybe you are able to bring a little more clarity to the matter?

Ptaah:

72. That which I have said to you with my explanation in the 469th contact conversation corresponds very well to the rightness.

73. But if you are raising the whole thing in such a way as to ask whether thereby everything has been comprehensively explained down to the last detail, then it must be said that this is not the case.

74. In fact, the modern human beings who emerged then, exterminated entire groups and tribes of Neanderthals, but for their final extinction there were also given anatomical as well as natural climate-changing influences, which I have hitherto never mentioned and which ultimately ended the existence of these early human beings.

75. Apart from the fact that the modern human beings came to Europe from Western Asia, who often ate human flesh and were anatomically much more developed than the Neanderthals, whom they hunted down, killed and used them as food, there are, as I said, other important factors that led to the extinction of these early human beings.

76. But if I am now supposed to mention other important factors, then I will gladly do so, and in doing so I will draw on our records, which we possess and which I am familiar with.

77. Thereby, I will not proceed chronologically, however, rather simply as I remember the facts at the moment.

78. So the first thing to say is that which I explained - regarding modern human beings' cannibalism and in relation to the sexual acts between them and the Neanderthals - in fact, corresponds to the reality of that time.

79. Although, against all adversity at the time, the Neanderthals held their own for a little more than 250,000 years, but, in the development of their body and metabolism, they were adjusted to the then prevailing very cold climate.

80. That finally led to their last doom because, because when in a short time extremely strong climatic changes occurred, the effect for the Neanderthals was an extremely disadvantageous impact on their food supply, consequently many began to suffer from hunger.

81. Over time this led not only to degenerative effects, but also often to the death.

82. In spite of their savagery, they were sociable beings and held tightly together, whereby they lived, however, only in small groups, and their total number always remained small.

83. When diseases arose among them, they concerned themselves collectively with the sick and nursed them.

84. Their diet consisted primarily of meat, which they captured by corresponding hunts for all kinds of small and large animals, whereby they then shared the meat among themselves in a remarkably communal way.

85. However, they also nourished themselves with berries, fruits and plants, but the meat always remained the staple food, which was of great necessity for especially their entire constitution.

86. Fundamentally, however, they were bad at metabolizing food, on which I will be speaking again.

87. Physically, they were very strong, and also all their internal and external constitution was extremely robust and adjusted in such a way to withstand very cold temperatures, which was particularly important because they indeed lived during a very cold time.

88. They were also clever and had their own - if still primitive - language.

89. They led their existence in productive hunting areas in the then forests in which they also lived and knew safe shelters, in whose protection they also had their accommodations.

90. However, all this changed unusually quickly, as around 45,000 years ago the climate began to change drastically, in addition to the fact that the modern human beings made their appearance and hunted them down, kept them prisoners, engaged in sexual relations with them, but also killed and ate them when food was in short supply.

91. The emerging climate change gradually also altered the forests and landscapes, consequently, gigantic open expanses emerged in which the Neanderthals could not hold their own, and, as a consequence of their clumsiness, also could not hunt.

92. Their specialty was the forests, where they could stalk the game to be hunted and kill it with primitive, heavy spears equipped with stone points that had been beaten into shape.

93. These heavy killing instruments and the ponderousness and clumsiness of the Neanderthals made it impossible for them to hold their own in the vastness of open plains.

94. Moreover, they could not stalk the wildlife on open land because it fled quickly if it sighted or caught the scent of the human beings.

95. So the Neanderthals hid in the forests, which had now become lighter, but where they also had more and more difficulties in terms of hunting, because they no longer had any cover due to the lightening of the forest areas when stalking the animals.

96. Furthermore, it was the case that the Neanderthals could not sufficiently utilize the nutrients from meat, plants, berries and fruits and could not efficiently convert them into energy, consequently they had to constantly eat large quantities.

97. The cells and their energies and powers of the early human beings were of a completely different nature than those of the much lighter and more flexibly built modern human beings.

98. With the Neanderthals, the entire metabolism was laid out to the production of heat, which was absolutely necessary as a consequence of the then prevailing cold.

99. This was completely different from the modern human beings who had emerged and were downright puny compared to the Neanderthals and displayed totally different characteristics to the heavily-built, early human beings.

100. And since the Neanderthals increasingly lacked food, it naturally led to many dying of hunger, while others were hunted and captured by the cannibalistic modern human beings to use them as welcome sex objects or, in an emergency, as food.

101. Since through the sexual acts between the Neanderthals and the modern human beings offspring were also conceived, it turned out that the offspring increasingly had the characteristics of modern human beings, hence this is another factor of what led to the extinction and extermination of the pure neanderthals.

102. And since the evolution never stands still, it turned out that the modern human beings also evolved further, up to the present Homo sapiens sapiens, whereby the heritage of the Neanderthals has been preserved in the genome of many terrestrial human beings to this day.

103. Although the Neanderthals became extinct almost 30,000 years ago, however, their genetic heritage remains intact until today and will also be passed on from generation to generation in the future.

104. Regarding the descendants of Neanderthals directly, as well as those where modern humans were involved, it has nevertheless to be explained that also in this respect factors of extinction played a role.

105. Compared to the modern human beings, the Neanderthals featured larger skulls, which made the birth very difficult, because the birth canal often could not be dilated far enough, which is why many female beings died during births or through severe life-threatening infections.

106. Births among the Neanderthals were therefore particularly complicated and difficult and often fatal, which was also the reason why these early human beings did not proliferate extensively and only appeared in small groups.

107. Alongside the genetic material of the Neanderthals, however, also traces of the genetic material of other close relatives have found their way into today's Earth-humans living in Europe.

108. Although there are no longer any pure Neanderthals among the approximately 8 thousand million Earth-humans today, their heritage is still to a greater or lesser extent contained in the genome of many Earth-humans.

109. And it is a fact, as you say, that there are many theories among earthly scientists regarding the Neanderthals, who today no longer exist in pure form for already some 30,000 years.

110. But since their heritage is still present in small parts, namely up to seven percent, in the genome of many Earth-humans today, one really has to ask whether the Neanderthals have actually become extinct, because if certain Earth-humans of the present time are looked at, then one could actually assume that the Neanderthals are not yet extinct.

111. This fact alone, of the Neanderthal heritage in the genome of many modern Earth-humans, proves that these early human beings had sexual relationships with the modern human beings, from which descendants have emerged who have continued to reproduce and pass on their heritage over many generations - until the present time.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_650

Ptaah:

16. First, the number of 144,000 people corresponds to a very early norm of a 'emigration power' created by Nokodemion, which was usually led by 228 commanders – although there were seldom small exceptions – who, together with the emigration power, were under the command of an emigration swiss.

17. Such emigration powers were volunteers who idealistically agreed to spend the rest of their lives with early humans on other worlds – as well as on Earth – in order to teach them many helpful things about life management and development.

18. For the first time, such an emigration force was sent out millions of years ago, followed by several more in four galaxies over all times, and thus also into the SOL system and finally to Earth.

19. The last one to Earth was sent according to earthly time calculation about 13,500 years ago, where the Nokodemion people emigrants on the one hand were to have an instructive effect on Earth-humans, which they partly did, but on the other hand caused for the most part many calamities, especially with regard to rising up as deities and bringing religions into being.

20. And they did so when they were smuggled into all earthly peoples and great tribal communities, whereby delusional beliefs in God developed among all peoples, tribes and groups etc. throughout the world, even among wild indigenous tribes.

21. This led to the emergence of religions and sects, which expanded more and more and have survived to the present day and into the third millennium, respectively, and will continue to do so for a very long time to come.

22. All those of these extraterrestrial immigrants who remained on Earth also died there, and since then their spiritual forms have also reincarnated and will continue to reincarnate on Earth, precisely in ever new personalities of newly born Earth-humans.

23. So the 144,000 emigrants and their superiors and leaders were integrated worldwide as instructors into all existing earthly peoples and large tribes as well as various groups in which they had to act as instructors. ...

31. ... our annals refer to a number of eight different emigration powers of 144,000 persons each and 228 superiors each, who came to Earth in the course of more than two million years from the Nokodemion descendant peoples.

32. And here is a total number of 1,151,828 people who were involved.

33. Of these persons, 575,914 remained on Earth, died there and are born again with their old reincarnating spirit-forms as new personalities. ...

Billy:

Can I understand it, but how did it happen that 144,000 each agreed to give up their highly developed culture and live on Earth with early humans like Homo erectus?

Ptaah:

35. On the one hand they were pronounced idealists who were willing to provide development aid, so to speak, as is similarly the case on Earth, where such aid is provided for third world countries, etc. On the other hand, they were also very active in the field of development aid.

Billy:

Then it kind of rubbed off on Earth-humans.

Ptaah:

36. One can say so, but on the other hand there were also genetically manipulated refugees from the Sirius regions among the immigrants from the Nokodemion-post-driving peoples, as well as the mistakes and the mistakes. Criminals of the home planets who preferred – instead of being sent into exile, which was extremely drastically and strictly handled – to emigrate with such emigration powers and to be freely instructive to early humans in the manufacture of various products, such as tools and hunting weapons, clothing and food containers, etc.

37. Primitive art, music and all kinds of knowledge were also taught to early man by these immigrants, as well as knowledge concerning the heavenly bodies, medicine concerning medicinal plants, etc., and the use of fire, etc.

Billy:

And how and where were the distributions of these immigrant persons made among the early earthly human beings?

Ptaah:

38. Small immigrant groups were formed, which were integrated into earthly early human groups all over the world, while others joined early humans as loners or lived as their own small groups, which then also mixed with the early humans over time.

39. In these forms it was possible that mergers with the immigrants and the early humans could come about, which was however not always simple, but often connected with fights, which also claimed deaths on both sides.

40. But in the end everything regulated itself in one way or another, so that the teachings could also take place and bear fruit.

Billy:

So the whole thing was not easy, but therefore the actual creators of all progressive inventions of the early humans were to be led back to the immigrants of the Nokodemion descendants peoples. And this was the only reason why the humanity of today, which emerged from the early humans, could develop so drastically fast and as far as is the case today, with regard to electronics, inventions, craftsmanship, art, medicine, music and technology, etc. and so on. In principle it would not have been possible without the direct immigrants from the Nokodemion peoples and without their distant descendants and all their teachings, as well as also without your apparatus-impulse hypnotic influence of the descendants of the extraterrestrial immigrants that earthly mankind could develop so rapidly and to a large extent up to the today's conditions.

Ptaah:

41. During the first millions of years and millennia this was indeed the case, of course only in primitive developments of various things, for everything always had to be adapted to the corresponding state of consciousness of Earth humanity.

42. This is because it was only possible to avoid an overdevelopment in every respect, because such an overdevelopment could not have been coped with by the Earth-humans in terms of understanding and reason.

43. The early extraterrestrial immigrants naturally had to withhold their knowledge as well as their abilities and possibilities in every imaginable form and to downgrade themselves in this respect in order not to overtax the early earthly humans – who became known as 'Homo erectus' through research in modern times – and also later the more highly developed earthly humans with 'excessive abilities', on the one hand, and on the other hand in order to adapt to them in every necessary way.

44. However, the early Earth-humans were very instructive – as are to some extent the Earth-humans of today, but unfortunately not with regard to the 'teaching of truth, teaching of the spirit, teaching of life' – and quickly learned the simple things, followed by a relatively fast development and continued to do so.

45. As a result, they also created advances, inventions, knowledge and developments, which have continued to behave in this way in all the long periods of time since then and have carried us into the future, even to the point of 'Homo sapiens', and also into the present time of 'Homo sapiens sapiens'.

46. So, in later times, the Earth-humans who developed from it came from the 'Homo erectus', whereby however also various intermediate kinds developed from it, namely in the today's Asia-areas as well as in Africa, whereby a very important basic origin was given in Europe, namely in the today's Germany, where a basic life-form developed, from which in the end a human life-form developed, which developed then, however, in the southern hemisphere completely.

47. In the first beginnings early humans were 'used' as sexual partners by the first Nokodemion descendants – immigrants of peoples – so one has to say -, whereby over a large number of generations several new human species arose, which are called 'Nefotwesen' or 'Mischwesen' in our annals.

48. From these a new human species emerged, which is also known to earthly scientists as 'Denisova Man' and which was an important factor in the further development of mankind on Earth, together with the Neanderthals and so on.

Billy:

Well, then the question: the emigration troops have paired with the early Earthlings. Did modern people ultimately emerge from this? At that time, I think, there was only Homo erectus. But then came the 'Denisova people', who our scientists already know, as you say.

Ptaah:

49. This is not quite true, because the scientists are still in the process of clarifying and speculating and do not have any real knowledge in this respect.

50. All they've got is some small fossils to speculate on.

Billy:

You mean that they make hypotheses or simply assumptions and assumptions, because they have no actual proof of what, where and from what kind of people the fossils originate?

Ptaah:

51. Yes, it is.

Billy:

Homo erectus was probably a clever fellow when I rhymed everything you said. Can you say something about that?

Ptaah:

52. 'Homo erectus' means 'the upright walking man'.

53. Basically he was the 'first true Earth man' who was a direct ancestor of the Neanderthals and thus also the primeval ancestor of the actual Earth human of today.

54. Homo erectus was - contrary to the false assertions of earthly researchers and scientists - about 2.7 million years ago the successor of those first human beings who emerged from the first hominid primate-like beings, but who were not primates from the ground up, but first hominid beings, only that these looked wild and primate-like in their outward appearance, but had no reason whatever with primates.

55. According to our research, the first of these species existed on Earth around 12 million years ago.

56. Homo erectus emerged 2.7 million years ago from natural earthly hominid development, and it was also effectively the most successful hominid Earth ever produced.

57. The first emigrating power and extraterrestrial visitors, who had already immigrated to Earth at that time, mixed early with the Homo erectus, who were still very wild, but nevertheless peaceful, pure Earth creatures.

58. From this a small new species developed from the genus 'Homo erectus', which was then also of very long existence, increased further and from which also still another new species developed.

59. Most of the extraterrestrial visitors, however, left Earth and did not return.

60. After that, about a million years ago and also afterwards, four more emigration powers came to Earth, of which a small number remained, while the majority left again.

61. Then, 389,000 years ago, the 144,000 more immigrants of the distant descendants of the Nokodemion descendants, who also mixed worldwide – like all other immigrants – with pure terrestrial human beings, came, as you mentioned, 144,000 more immigrants.

62. From all these and in mixture with other hominid forms of development Earth-man Homo sapiens sapiens, living today, emerged in the end since primeval times, actually as a very far developed Homo erectus, who is to be called the actual direct primeval ancestor of earth-man.

63. Furthermore, it is a fact that, with respect to Homo erectus, this was not a 'hairy early man monstrosity' that simply ran wildly swinging a club around and knocked down anything that got in his way.

64. The Homo erectus did not just growl and make any dull noises either, because in fact it was already able to articulate itself understandably.

65. So the early ancestor of the terrestrial man was different in this respect from the false views of terrestrial researchers.

66. Homo erectus already had a lot of abilities very early on through the teachings of the extraterrestrial visitors, eg with regard to the production and use of fire.

67. He was also not simply a cave dweller, even if there were such exceptions, because he effectively built huts for his own use, made hunting weapons and tools, partly cooked his food and built boats for water, etc., all through the teachings of the extraterrestrial immigrants.

68. And these abilities, along with many others, which Homo erectus had learned through the immigrants, he also passed on to his descendants, whereby these values have been preserved up to the present time in the terrestrial human being and have, moreover, been extraordinarily extended in terms of development.

69. Already at the first time of its existence Homo erectus was very adaptable and comparatively peaceful, which has been preserved to this day in those terrestrial humans who are not affected by the hereditary gene manipulation of the X chromosome caused by the Sirians. ...

Billy:

Thank you, then we will finally have clarity in this respect as to how everything has happened. This also refutes the weak-headed assertion of those lunatics who swear that humanity on Earth was created by extraterrestrials, such as the Raelian sect and other sects spread this nonsense.

Ptaah:

74. Extraterrestrials have in very early and also in more recent times only interfered in the development of the ancient terrestrial early human beings, which is why they have played certain determining roles in this respect and have also brought calamity to the Earth.

75. This, too, in the wise of their mating and mixing with the terrestrial early humans beings and so bringing the Sirian genetic manipulation to the Earth.

76. The latter has then spread on a large scale among the earthly humankind by way of heredity and has through aggression, disharmony, jealousy, wars, murders, manslaughter, unpeace and unfreedom, etc., brought a great deal of calamity and has preserved it up to the present time.

77. But so this did not happen as a result of a creation of Earth-humans by extraterrestrials and alleged Elohim etc.

78. By extraterrestrial immigrants, who mated and mixed with the early herd people, on the one hand only the Sirian gene manipulation and other gene transfers caused by race were spread worldwide by inheritance, and on the other hand already early the generally all-encompassing and at that time possible primitive development was promoted in various relations.

79. Only in these forms did the extraterrestrial immigrants of all times make reference to the terrestrial human beings, but never in such a way that terrestrial humanity was created by them, extraterrestrials.

80. So the effective truth is that humanity on Earth has emerged as its own creation from the development of life forms on Earth itself, although certain genetic factors of extraterrestrial immigrants have remained in it from the early days of early earthly humans and also from later times, as well as Sirian gene manipulation in large parts.

Billy:

And that you Plejaren, through your teachings, try to do something against the misconduct and the mischief of the old extraterrestrial immigrants, just by teaching and informing, you consider this simply as your obligation, because the old immigrants belonged to the Nokodemion descendant peoples, just like you Plejaren. That's the point, isn't it?

Ptaah:

81. That's so, yes.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_662

Reader Questions

(Questions by Achim Wolf and the FIGU-Süddeutsche Studiengruppe of 14th May 2016)

1. Question:

Did the primordial cell (LUCA) already contain the determination of incarnation (page 245 'Lehrschrift')? The whole purpose of life is to be able to make a contribution to the evolution of creation, which, however, is only possible for the human form of life.

Thus the countless species of plants and animals are to be understood as interdependent stations on the branches and branches of the 'evolution tree'. The design of the individual life-forms should be understood as the result of an adaptation to the constantly changing environmental conditions (on a physical, biological and sociological level) on the developing planet Earth. In the last consequence in the evolution chain Flora (with an impulse consciousness) an additional evolution consciousness developed finally according to regulations a life-form. With his abilities for understanding and reason, which define this form of life as a human being, it has asserted itself as the dominant Earthly form of life.

If Earth's environmental conditions for the evolutionary chain had been different, could a life-form in water, for example, have developed an evolutionary consciousness and thus become a (non-humanoid) human being?

Answer {Billy}:

Each primordial cell corresponds to a second generation, which is derived from a first generation, which the Plejaren call the primordial cell, but which is not capable of creating effective life, as it is to be understood as such. Only the second generation, i.e. the primordial cell, which today is called LUCA by Earthly biological science, is capable and able to develop life, as it is understood in the biological sense, according to Plejaren explanations. The very first primordial cell was formed before the later originated and life-giving primordial cell or LUCA, whereby this primordial cell consisted of the first precursors of microorganisms formed from amino acids, which according to Plejaren explanation were only the first underdeveloped, but not yet life-giving primordial microorganism forms. However, these early forms of pre-microorganisms developed further and formed into primordial cells, which expanded and multiplied in self-replication, from which the effective first microorganism life according to human understanding emerged. All beginnings in this way, however, were absolutely neutral form, consequently no programming etc. was present in the primordial cell, through which certain life-forms, such as humans, animals, getaways etc., would have emerged. Such programmes only emerged in the course of many billions of years, when the first higher forms of life in the sense of self-sufficient, independent and multifarious genera and species already existed and a fauna and diverse flora had emerged. The fauna and thus all these individuals, creatures, beings, creatures and organisms developed inexorably and changed over the course of millions of years as did the vegetation, which formed a cover of vegetation and caused vegetation that many living beings could feed on. All these fauna and flora were classified and developed since the beginning of all life natural evolution processes and changed over millions of years into various other forms, genera and species. From one of these primeval life-forms a development took place up to the human being and to human-like forms (see following list human species) with conscious further development of consciousness. From one of these early forms of life, from which the early or prehistoric man finally emerged through further evolutionary changes and developments during the last 47 million years, a fossil from the Tertiary, Eocene period was found in the Messel mine near Darmstadt. It was the fossil of a creature called IDA by palaeontologists and described as a small 'semi-monkey'. In the 1940s, however, Sfath declared that it was not a monkey creature, but an archetype of very early human development, which could then be described with a clear conscience as a very early archetypal form, namely as 'homo ascensus primitivus', so to speak, which I take the liberty of describing as 'primitive ascension man' or 'primitive climbing man'. Sfath explained that at the time of the existence of the IDA being, it was the time at which this creature developed in the earliest sequence in such a way that in the course of millions of years it had to develop into the human species. At the same time there were other and similar and partly related living beings besides this IDA being, which are called semi-monkeys by earthly palaeontological scientists (palaeontology = 'teaching of the old being'). Also these different types and types developed themselves further, consequently from it on the one hand the type of the actual big and small monkey-beings and all their types resulted, like also the so-called 'apes', the chimpanzees, Bonobos, gorillas and orang-utans, who stand however neither in any connection with the human being nor its early origin.

Thus the genus primates resp. humans came out – contrary to all false scientific claims – already started with Darwin – from an absolutely own development process of a very own life-form line, which furthermore in no way led back to any semi-monkey or monkey lines. In this regard, however, since Darwin, a slander of origin is unfortunately practiced with regard to humans, which will continue far into the future ...

The Plejaren, like the universal primordial prophet Nokodemion in his storage banks, explain that the genus man alone is to be named and regarded as primate (lat. primus; the first one who stands in the first place and is something of precedence), and that this is applicable to him alone, while every kind of monkey being are 'real monkeys' who are in no way 'related' to man, neither from the ground up nor today. In the whole universe man takes an absolute primate position among all living beings and has in no way anything in common with 'master animals' etc., as e.g. the so-called 'apes' are called and in Latin erroneously called 'hominidae'.

According to Nokodemion and the Plejaren, the human species corresponds from the ground up to an absolutely unique development, which originated about 50 million years ago from a primordial animal form and from which biological human development developed. This is in contrast to other similar primitive animal forms, from which all ape creatures have developed, while from the human lineage different races have developed, as these were called in the 469th contact conversation of the 11th of August, 2008 in relation to 18 races by the Plejaren in the following manner:

- 1) Humanoids are human beings in the form in which we Plejaren and Earthlings are, as well as many of our allies in our Federation, but which also include other forms of life that cannot be called humanoids in our sense, because they are of a completely different kind, but nevertheless consciously capable of evolution and have developed their own cultures, techniques and languages, as I have already explained.
- 2) Amphiboids are in the form of life-forms of mixed human and water-animal-like nature, which can live both in the water and on land, as well as in a climate that is strongly water-impregnated. Asina, for example, and her people are part of it.
- 3) Reptiloids are forms of mixed human and reptilian forms of life in which their body is covered with scales.
- 4) Insectoids are forms of mixed human and insect-like life-forms in shape, their skin showing chitin-like peculiarities.
- 5) Sauroides are life-forms of mixed human and sauropode-like form with a skin that resembles the elephant skin at shape.

- 6) Primatoids are life-forms of mixed human and primate-similar form with hairy body at shape, however in stronger kind than the terrestrial humanoid resp. terrestrial human being.
- 7) Condicoids are humanoids in form of life-forms, but with the ability to move through levitation.
- 8) Teropoids are at shape life-forms with human and bird-good body, with long neck, face and beak-similar mouth.
- 9) Hydroids are forms of life with human and fishlike bodies, whose actual life element is water, but which they can also leave for a longer time.
- 10) Thermoids are humanoid life-forms with human-like bodies, whose own life element are hot regions with very high temperatures.
- 11) Frigoroids are humanoid life-forms with human body at shape, whose life-element is very cold areas with very low minus-temperatures.
- 12) Aërioids are humanoid life-forms with human body in shape, whereby they are poison-gas-breathers and their life-element diverse gas-atmospheres.
- 13) Acoroids are humanoid forms of life with a human body, but their skin is covered by a fine layer of acid, such as the Trilans.
- 14) Floroids are in shape life-forms with human-like and diverse vegetable bodies.
- 15) Kentauroides are life-forms with partly human and partly horse-like body.
- 16) Faunoids are life-forms with partly human and partly diverse hoofed moderate bodies.
- 17) Cheruboids are very light human life-forms at shape and weight, provided with feathered wings, through which they can fly.
- 18) Seraphoids are very easy life-forms at shape and weight with partly human and partly diverse animal body, provided with feathered wings, through which they can fly.

3. Question:

Are all terrestrial-biological life-forms actually the result of a single, common cell type – a primordial cell – which in science is called LUCA (Last Universal Common Ancestor)?

Answer {Billy}:

This is only true to the extent that a single primordial cell was created first, which, however, enabled itself to multiply itself. ...

In professional circles, the original cell is now called LUCA, which in English means 'Last Universal Common Ancestor' and translated means 'last common ancestor'. This biological term LUCA= the shining was not yet known to me in 1945. Why, however, in the childish English language 'last' or 'last' is said, although LUCA was the very first ancestor out of which man finally developed, this is not comprehensible, but understandable, if one considers how primitive this language – among others – is compared to German and Swiss German. I will answer the question with a short explanation, which leads back to a conversation with Sfath and myself, which we brought together in 1945...

Eduard:

What would interest me would be something concerning how the emergence of life in the first origin has actually emerged from a scientific, chemical, biological and physical point of view. ...

Sfath:

4. All very first primeval living beings or primeval microorganisms of every animate planet as well as asteroids, comets, moon and meteors etc. and logically also all larger, large and gigantic life-forms of every genus and species resulting from the basic primeval microorganisms originated from a first common primeval cell, which had developed from a preceding single primeval microcell in the form of an amino acid originated primeval microorganism.
5. This contained all central molecules of life, which are also maintained at all times, whereby the chemical reactions and the genetic code are the same in all kinds of life-forms.
6. However, how life came about in principle corresponds to a central question, which can only be answered by the fact that everything in its origin resulted from pure natural-biological-chemical processes.
7. Plausible answers to this question, which is important for people on Earth with regard to their conception of themselves and their world view, have been sought in recent centuries by the natural sciences in particular and have solved this mystery in its origin.
8. However, no well-known findings concerning the origin of life have been gained to date, and consequently no plausible explanation has yet been provided for this.
9. What has brought explanations, on the other hand, refers to the theory of the evolution of biological tribal history from lower to higher forms of life, as Charles Darwin, in his simple, elegant and x-hundred times confirmed theory of evolution, is known to have brought.
10. The reality explains, however, that today's diversity of living beings on Earth has developed in its origin through primordial microorganisms, which came to Earth through impacts of asteroids and comets and meteorites, as well as through gases and dust clouds drifting through space, which also reached the planet. ...
15. So all life developed from a first primordial cell that multiplied itself.
16. The offspring then developed further through repetitive small evolutionary processes of change, in which those forms survived that best adapted to their environment and food and were able to live and reproduce.
17. Even today, however, it is not yet known or clear to Earth's scientists that a primordial cell created all life in its very first origin and that this originated from a single cell that multiplied infinitely. ...
20. How this primordial cell was created corresponded to a purely chemical pre-biological development process.
21. It was only through the development and existence of acidic substances that compounds arose, from which the first primordial primordial microorganisms developed, which were transformed into primordial microorganisms through further combining and further training chemical-porbiological processes, from which a first micro-primordial cell was formed, with the property of a first form of self-replication.
22. But before the people of Earth can now discuss the origin of life – which they have been trying to do for centuries and even since antiquity, but have not yet been able to form a rhyme for it – they must learn to define what has to be understood as 'life' at all.

23. Living matter, e.g. trees, bacteria, animals or humans, differs from abiotic matter, e.g. minerals, water and air, in that it can replicate itself.
24. This requires, firstly, an information storage system or genome and, secondly, a metabolism, a biological-chemical upset or metabolism.
25. This means that this minimal unit of life with which it exchanges substances is separated from its surroundings, which in all forms of life is done by a biomembrane that serves as a separating layer between different areas within a living cell or between the interior of a cell and the outer space of the cell.
26. This is where amino acids come into play, because without amino acids there would be no life, because they are the basis of all life, not only on Earth, but in the whole universe and in all its many dimensions.
27. The many prebiotic chemical reactions in the urnfog have led to universe-wide biological life.
28. How the amino acids first came into being is fundamentally based on the fact that gases and substances such as ammonia, methane, water, hydrogen and other tiny molecules were formed in the universe's nebula and above all on universe objects or planets.
29. In the interaction of atoms, electricity resp. electric flashes and a substance, which we call 'formality' as well as 'form solution', the first proto-amino acid resp. a precursor form of amino acids was formed.
30. The 'formality' or 'form solution' is not only continuously formed under the influence of electric fields, but it is this substance which also favours and causes the formation of more complex organic molecules.
31. And this substance is present everywhere in the universe, so also outside Earth, which means that amino acids are of absolutely natural origin and are not created by humans.
32. From this, the development process continued and will continue endlessly, because electric fields adhere to the surface of minerals for all times of the existence of the universe, which are an important component in amino acid formation and which can continue to act endlessly.
33. Amino acids were and are the absolute primordial cause and decisive for the beginning of life, because they formed the important building blocks, proteins, which are indispensable for life.
34. Proteins are therefore also the essential components of all cells, in all forms of life, including protozoa, animals, plants and humans.

Billy:

Thank you very much for the transmission of the conversation between Sfath and me, but I still have a question, namely, what is the substance called 'formality' or 'form solution' by your father Sfath in the actual sense and whether our Earthly scientists also know it? Unfortunately at that time Sfath did not explain to me what is actually meant by this substance and whether it is also discovered on Earth by the scientists.

Ptaah:

95. It is actually known, and has been known for quite some time, because the 'formality' or 'form solution' is a composition of the so-called 'formamides', as they are called by an Earthly technical term, but it concerns a certain group of 'formamides'. ...

Billy:

... "In the 1940s, however, Sfath declared that it was not a monkey creature, but an archetype of very early human development, which could then be described with a clear conscience as a very early prehuman, namely as 'homo ascensus primitivus', as it were, which I take the liberty of translating into German as 'primitive ascension man' or 'primitive climbing man'. What do you think, I think how I express what your father Sfath said in a Germanizing way?

Ptaah:

109. In my opinion, it applies to how you translated my father's statement into German.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_673

Ptaah:

21. The records of my father are based on precise clarifications, observations and findings of the events of that time and later, and on clear facts, and they state and prove unequivocally that Charles Darwin tried to prove 'his' theory of evolution by unfair machinations, which, moreover, in their origin did not lead back to himself, but to a natural scientist named Alfred Russel Wallace, who sent Darwin a corresponding essay, the contents of which he used to his advantage.

22. Wallace was on an expedition to the Southeast Asian archipelago at the time when Darwin was making a name for himself with the theory of evolution, when he sent Darwin an essay relating to his evolutionary research for study and evaluation.

23. Darwin, however, used the content of his essay for himself and his theory of evolution, without mentioning that the whole thing was based on the guiding principles of Alfred Russel Wallace.

24. There was written evidence of this, but Darwin maliciously altered or destroyed it, or later misinterpreted it by reckless historians.

25. But that doesn't matter to the Darwinists themselves in the face of evidence, but they use even more fraudulent methods to hold on to their 'Darwin truth'.

26. And the fact that Darwin fraudulently mounted a filed-up monkey jaw bone on a human skull corresponds to an irrefutable fact that can be proven, because at least this fake Darwin product was preserved until the middle of the 20th century, before it was recognized as fraud, under the name 'Piltdown Man'.

27. This is a human skull, into which Darwin had inserted monkey bones that had been filed into shape.

28. This human skull, forged by Darwin with his monkey bones cut to size and only about 6 centuries old, was to prove as a missing piece of Charles Darwin's theory that mankind should descend from monkey creatures.

29. However, this skull was not the only forgery, because there were also various other bone elements that Darwin changed.

30. The 'finding' of the Piltdown skull was also based on a scam put into circulation by a man named Charles Dawson, which is why the skull was also called 'Dawson's Skull' and 'Dawson's Man of Dawn'.

31. Allegedly – so he justified his deception – he 'found' the alleged remains of the early man or Piltdown man in a gravel pit near the village Piltdown near Uckfield in the southeast of England, according to which the term Piltdown man originated.

32. Truthfully, however, Dawson did not find the skull, but buried it there himself – along with other pieces of bone worked by Darwin – that were all manipulated bones from Darwin's estate, which he had acquired for a higher price from William Erasmus Darwin, Charles Darwin's first-born son.

33. He knew about his father's forgeries, so after his death he wanted to get rid of all of Darwin's forgeries of 'fossils' to protect his father's reputation so that he could not be accused of fraud.
34. Basically, it was a completely confused, illogical and confused thinking and acting of William Erasmus Darwin, because he suffered from pathological states of fear, which were based on the fact that an uncovering and becoming public of the deception could come about.
35. Instead of simply destroying or burying all of his father's fake bone pieces and the prepared skull with a filed monkey jaw, which would have corresponded to a logical action, he acted completely illogically in his confusion of fear and left everything for a fee to Charles Dawson, who was about 25 years younger than him and with whom he was acquainted.
36. The deal between Darwin's son and Dawson was wisely kept secret, including the clause that Dawson would never talk about the true origin of the skull and bones.
37. Dawson kept to this and never revealed the secret of the true origin of the skull and the bone parts, but distinguished himself as the 'finder' of them.
38. This alleged Piltdown man's skull was then, when Dawson made it public, presented for many years as significant proof of Charles Darwin's theory of evolution, after which skull investigations in 1953 proved that the whole thing was a fraud and not a primordial fossil, but a fake assembled from human and monkey bones.
39. Charles Dawson was mistakenly blamed for this fake – and is still blamed to some extent today – as were various other men, such as a palaeontologist named Arthur Smith Woodward, who worked with Dawson but knew nothing of his fraudulent machinations and the acquisition of Charles Darwin's fake skull and bones.
40. The writer Arthur Conan Doyle was also suspected of being the fraud and counterfeiter, but all these accusations were not true, for the only truth is that the whole fraud was attributed to Charles Darwin.
41. But this fact is vehemently doubted and denied by inexperienced Darwinists, whereupon the Darwinian deception will continue to exist and Darwinism will also be maintained because a faith that once developed can hardly, no longer at all or only with great difficulty be dissolved and corrected by the real reality and effective truth.

Billy:

It is easier to believe than to think for oneself, to perceive reality in its actuality and to recognize effective truth in it, to consider it and to comprehend it through understanding and reason. And earthlings, who do not understand this and who are also weak of intelligence and autocratic and defame their fellow human beings in this way, there are unfortunately enormously many, and especially those who can do this through public media are extremely mean. There is also a certain kind of scientist, by which I mean those heroes who claim that life originated only a few hundred million or about 1-2 billion years ago, because they have not yet been able to prove by fossil finds that life on Earth existed much earlier. Your father Sfath already taught me in the early 1940s that minuscule life already existed more than 5 billion years ago on our planet, which is also much older. With his super magnifying devices he also showed me super tiny fossils, which he explained he found on earth and which were about 5 billion years old. Contrary to his explanations that Earth is little more than 5 billion and 600 million years old, Earthly scientists claim that our planet is only 4.5 billion years old, which is why I always call this time when I write something about Earth, but which is not correct and sometimes makes me feel remorse. Many earthlings simply want to be big and make claims, assumptions or lies because they want to be more valid than their fellow human beings, or because they are blasé or crazy about size, to which, as I said, a certain kind of scientist belongs. Sfath also said that every time a celestial body comes into being, tiny living beings or microbes are already present from the ground up. Depending on the genus, they could survive even in extreme heat and cold for thousands, even millions and even billions of years, as they have been floating undamaged through space since primeval times, but have emerged from planets and other bodies of space that carried water and other liquids. Apparently the scientists do not know this, however, because according to various earthling scientific assertions, life on earth did not come into being until long after it was created. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_680

Ptaah:

126. At the primordial beginning of life, every life-form consisted of a single cell, because each began its life as such.

127. It was only through cell division that they became multicellular forms, and it was through cell division that the many special cells were produced from which the various bodies, creatures and organisms developed.

128. The cell is the smallest basic unit of a living being.

129. All life-forms, from the smallest to the largest, are made of cells.

130. Cells are capable of making a copy of themselves, and some cells can even produce cell types that are different from themselves.

131. Cells are therefore small and tiny, but there are also different forms and types that perform very different functions and can also move and crawl, even swim.

132. Amino acids are the basis of all life on Earth.

133. For the first time, these were created by relatively tiny organic molecules, which are actually compounds consisting mainly of carbon and hydrogen and which also contain the amino group NH<sub>2</sub> in addition to an acid group.

134. Amino acids are omnipresent in the living free nature, whereby there are over 300 different amino acids in total.

135. 20 of these amino acids are of special importance because they are proteinogenic amino acids respectively amino acids in the narrow sense.

136. Amino acids are the actual building blocks that are linked together in a predetermined order by chemical bonds in living organisms, thus creating larger molecules, namely peptides and proteins.

137. The peptides and proteins differ in their chain length, the latter being shorter.

138. The order of the linked amino acids forms the blueprint for a body, with these molecules providing the genetic material in the form of DNA and RNA.

139. The ligaments, enzymes, skin and hair, as well as the organic bone material and the muscles and tendons, as well as many other components of the body are made up of proteins, which are made up of the 20 proteinogenic amino acids.

140. Basically, they are among the most important organic compounds of all.

141. In primeval times, the origin of life was electricity and the substance 'didaraun'.

142. Electricity was created by electric lightning, which formed amino acids in a primeval soup of methane, ammonia, water, hydrogen and other small molecules.

143. Amino acids were created on the young Earth by lightning in the primeval soup of the Earth and set everything in motion in a decisive way, whereby the amino acids were decisive for the beginning of life because they served as building blocks for proteins.

144. Proteins, in turn, are the essential components of all cells, starting with unicellular organisms, plants, amphibians, animals, insects, reptiles, mammals, birds, aquatic life and human beings.

145. In the very first origin, five molecules in the primeval soup were the decisive factors, namely H<sub>2</sub>O, i.e. water, ammonia respectively NH<sub>3</sub>, methane CH<sub>4</sub> as well as carbon monoxide molecules respectively CO and nitrogen molecules N<sub>2</sub>.

146. This mixture of molecules was excited by the electric lightning charges, which was the important factor in the formation of the first amino acids.

147. The original lightning and its generated electric fields were an extremely important component in the formation of amino acids, whereby these electric fields were also deposited on the surface of minerals, which has continued to happen since then and is still happening today, so that they will also occur on the surface of minerals in the future.

148. In addition, many other prebiotic chemical reactions took place, which led to biological life, whereby 'Didaraun' played the central role in the influence of electric fields and an extremely important role, because it was only this that promoted and enabled the formation of more complex organic molecules.

149. The 'Didaraun' was therefore not only important on Earth for the development of single cell structures and for the formation of amino acids, but everywhere on the worlds on which multicellular and material living beings developed.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_683

Billy:

... The other day there was a programme on television concerning what we talked about some time ago, namely the actual origin of the emergence of the first cell-like life. You used the term 'didaraun' as the actual origin. In that programme – I do not know what the title was, because I did not see the beginning of it – they also talked about an origin of the formation of cells or something, and they used the term 'formamide'.

Ptaah:

12. This television programme was recorded by Enjana, following which I am familiar with it and I can also confirm that the term 'formamide' used is identical to the term 'didaraun' that we use in our language for the whole thing.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_711

Ptaah:

19. But first I want to tell you what you asked me a long time ago, namely what the Sanura Lake and the dwarf creatures were all about.

20. As you said, I was able to find records about it in my father Sfath's annals, which also revealed facts that were completely foreign to me and very interesting

21. According to his annals, he explored the Earth at many times in the past, and nearly 40,000 years ago he also came across Lake Sanura, where at that time the elevated terrain above the present centre was inhabited by small-bodied human beings who averaged 115 centimetres in height and were the most distant descendants of the first terrestrial hominids.

22. In addition to these small human beings – some of whose most distant descendants are still to be found in Africa as pygmies, as well as in Asia – my father Sfath also researched their origins, which took him to many other areas of the Earth, where he came across other various smaller groups of small human beings in Europe, Africa, South and North America, in Australia and Asia.

23. These were all different, however, and ranged up to 160 centimetres in height, were differently pigmented and also had anatomical differences.

24. Interested, he continued his research into the past of Earth history and Earth-humans and traced the developmental processes of hominids back to the early times of 17 million years.

25. He then went back many more millions of years into the past and, around 45 million years ago in the area that is now Germany, came across first life forms that developed into a form in early times, from which the hominid evolution emerged around 17 million years ago, and from which, in the course of further millions of years, small-bodied human beings ultimately developed.

26. He discovered these life forms at the place where he was also together with you, in order to teachingly instruct you, where the actual original origin of the visible human life-form began, in the area that you know as the 'Messel Pit' near Darmstadt.

27. This first development of the life form, which led to the creation of the first hominid species, was found there for the very first time by my father Sfath, from which, over many millions of years, the effective first human being emerged from the descendants that developed from it in what is now known as North Africa, as well as in areas that are now called Europe, South Africa, South and North America, Asia and Australia.

28. So he established that all the small human beings he researched arose at approximately the same time all over the Earth and that they were the first and oldest human beings on Earth – completely contrary to the false research results of today's earthly-scientific anthropology, whose alleged 'knowledge' is based only on incorrect and hypothetical or made-up assertions.

29. Thus it has been recognised by research in the past that the very first effective human beings on the Earth were small ones who emerged naturally in various areas from the planet and its nature, fauna and flora itself.

30. So the origin of the Earth humanity was correctly found in Africa, as Earth anthropology teaches correctly, but not in the wise it was thought, because early Earth human history did not begin at the time calculated according to the earliest remains of the genus Homo in Africa, but millions of years much earlier.

31. According to the research of my father Sfath, all findings on Earth concerning the earliest hominids correspond only to bones of human beings who evolved from the first genus Homo and thus from the first generation of the human species. As a result, the 'dwarfs' – as you always call them, and because of which you have erected various artificial dwarf figures in the centre – who were effectively the very first earth-created human beings, gave rise to the taller normal-bodied beings who populate the world today in vast excess.

32. However, it must also be clearly explained that the hominid development of the human species did not take place uniformly, but in manifold temporal and spatial gradations, when the process of the actual becoming and the evolutionary adaptation of the Earth human phenotypic anatomy in relation to the small stature of the first life-form of Earth-humans began about 17 million years ago.

33. These were, however, human beings of normal height and therefore not comparable with the short stature or short stature of the short stature known on Earth today.

34. This short stature is the result of various symptoms of different basic diseases, which impair the growth of the body and the development of the limbs, whereby it is misconceivedly assumed by innocent Earth-humans that these short-statured human beings are cognitively handicapped.

35. This, however, corresponds to an unparalleled error and misjudgement, for these human beings, impaired by dwarfism, are as a rule absolutely normal and equal to the so-called normal human beings with regard to the development of consciousness, intellect, reason and intelligence, and thus also to all cognitive and physical abilities, and thus also with regard to reproduction, consequently they are in no way inferior to the normal human beings in these respects.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_713

Ptaah:

23. And this multiple mischief has already developed before primeval times, when in a natural way the life-forms quarrelled and fought over their food and mating, as has remained completely natural up to the present day in the world of free nature with the majority of many living beings.

24. Only a few species of life-forms, as a result of their innate somewhat higher capacity for development, have arrived at modes of behaviour by which they have deviated in a slight way from this law of nature and have become more peaceful, less envious of food and less averse to quarrelling and fighting.

25. The early life-forms, which in course of time ultimately evolved into the human form, were at early times quarrelling, fighting and violent among themselves in regard to food and mating, in order to secure for themselves all that they needed.

26. As the development of the human beings as a life-form progressed, evolution also brought about the first important factors in the development of reason, whereby the fighting and struggling for food and mating could be carried out more and more successfully and efficiently.

27. This is what happened with the early life-forms that developed into Earth-humans and will also be maintained by the present and all future generations of Earth-humans.

28. Consequently, they will – as at all times before – also act today, tomorrow and in the future as the laws of nature dictate, according to which they will also in the future always fight and struggle for their food and mating, if this becomes necessary for their self-preservation through any events, situations and occurrences, etc.

29. But since they possess intellect, reason and intelligence, they apply these values in unvalues to their benefit, according to all their early experiences, which are created in their inner character being and are also latently present today and tomorrow as malignant degenerations.

30. The consequence is – and will always be, if Earth-humans do not make an effort on their own initiative to combat all these degenerations lurking in their inner character being and to dissolve them – that all degenerations and all evils of all kinds unworthy of human beings will go on endlessly into the future with coercion and malignant violence.

31. And the most important reason for this is given by every delusion of every form, because every belief – be it in the form of a delusion of God, a philosophy, ideology or world view, which corresponds to a delusion of religion – is alien to every reality and truth.

32. Consequently, every faith is not fundamentally grounded in the absolute certainty and irrefutability of factuality, truthfulness and its real authenticity.

33. The living beings of that time – which were still wild beings and not to be equated with ape-beings, as Charles Darwin tried to prove as Earth human ancestors through his fraudulent machinations by working on ape bones with a file – in the course of time fell into all conceivable degenerations, up to killing and murdering. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_714

Billy:

... We have already talked several times about why and where and in which of the different ages in the past your father Sfath brought me, which you read about in his annals and then asked me for details as a result of your interest. Therefore, we also spoke about the fact that I should mention something about it in one of our open conversations, precisely what Sfath taught me about, so that facts concerning it would also be recorded and kept for later times. The reason for this is that if one day the earthling scientists were to find important fossils and other proofs that everything was completely different from what they have all tried to prove for centuries with absolutely false hypotheses as 'past history'. One day, new and effectively doubtless research findings will also reveal Darwin's deception and prove that human beings on Earth are not descended from apes. ...

... Then I will only mention a little of what I have to say about the teachings of Sfath, beginning with the fact that Earth-humans did not originate in the South, but in the North of Africa, which was already openly mentioned in one of our conversations. This is also contrary to all so-called scientific anthropological claims or the science of human beings and their development, which also includes philosophical, biological, cultural and forensic anthropology. Also that the human beings who allegedly originated somewhere in the interior of Africa – who in truth originated in an area near the Atlantic west coast in South Africa, somewhat later than the appearance of those first human beings who originated in North Africa – migrated from there to the East, which today is called the Orient or the Orient, as well as to the North or the Occident, as well as to Asia etc., all this corresponds to a fairy tale, as does Darwin's fraud. His fraud, which he committed by filing monkey bones to prove that the human beings of the Earth descended from monkeys – which was unfortunately accepted and believed due to the stupidity of the scientists of the time – is still being defended today by countless ignorant people. This is in contrast to the fact that the Earth human being actually emerged from a creature that had nothing whatsoever to do with apes, as Sfath showed me in the 1940s at the Messel Pit as a fossilised fossil, from which the Earth human being then also developed in North Africa. However, we never openly talked about the fact that a human form also developed in Europe from the same species of life-form that I saw as a fossil in the Messel Pit. We never talked about this openly, just as I never talked about the fact that the small life-form that I saw as a fossil was distributed worldwide in several species, and that human beings also developed from these species in various places on different continents, although they all differed anatomically in certain respects. All of them were quite small at first and only grew into larger upright beings or human forms in the course of a long time, which then also spread in many countries in a sparse manner and partly also mixed with Earth-foreigners, as a result of which they also took over their genes. In particular, this resulted in such contacts and connections with Earth-foreigners, which also gave rise to the 'modern humans', who were, however, quite barbaric and cannibalistic and consequently did not always treat other human beings as their equals. Consequently, they also killed them as enemies, just as they imprisoned and slaughtered others – such as the Neanderthals in Europe and Eurasia – as living food stores when they needed them for food. These 'modern human beings' arrived in Central Europe around 185,000 years ago, not the 45,000 to 50,000 years ago that our earth scientists claim. So they settled in Europe earlier, even if no fossil finds have been discovered for this so far and also no evidence that they had kept Neanderthals partly as prisoners in relation to 'emergency food' during their first appearance in Europe, although they then later lived together somewhat 'peacefully' with the dying Neanderthals throughout the region for several millennia.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_716

Billy:

... We have spoken before, which I will repeat here reading ... {basic repetition of Contact Report 714 statements}

... One day, new and effectively doubtless research findings will also reveal Darwin's deception and prove that human beings on Earth are not descended from apes. ...

... Then I will now mention only a little of what I have to say with regard to Sfath's teachings, beginning with the fact that Earth-humans did not originate in the South, but in the North of Africa, which has already been openly mentioned in one of our conversations. This is also contrary to all so-called scientific anthropological claims or the science of human beings and their development, which also includes philosophical, biological, cultural and forensic anthropology.

Also that the first human beings are said to have emerged somewhere inland in southern Africa corresponds to a silly assumption and assertion, because in truth the first human beings appeared in Africa in an area near the Atlantic west coast of South Africa, and at a somewhat later time than the appearance of those first human beings who emerged in North Africa in the area that today includes the Sahara and Egypt.

The scientific assertions are fundamentally wrong that the early human beings who emerged in Africa from the evolution of mankind migrated from there to the East, which today is called the Orient or the Orient, as well as to the North or the West, the Occident, as well as to Asia, etc. These assertions also correspond to a scientific theory. These assertions are just as much a science fairy tale as Darwin's deception that human beings descended from apes. His fraud, which he committed by filing monkey bones to prove that the human beings of the Earth descended from monkeys, was unfortunately accepted and believed due to the stupidity of the scientists of the time. And so it is also still today, since unasked by the stupid and those who want to know better, his deception continues to be believed as truth and is championed by countless ignorant people. This, however, while the human beings of the Earth effectively emerged from a being whose actual origin began as a bacterium. And this was indeed the case, for the human being evolved from a bacterium into a human being, whereby the early evolution of becoming a human being and its coming to life on Earth is astonishingly old. As I learned from your father Sfath in the 1940s, contrary to the claims of earthly scientists or planetologists, the Earth was not formed about 4.5 billion years ago, but already 5.5 billion years ago. So, from a geological point of view, the alleged 'findings' of planetology regarding the formation of the Earth are wrong, because with about 5.5 billion years of planetology knowledge, the Earth is about one billion years older than is claimed. The fact is that the developing planet Earth was first an extremely hostile world body, did not yet have a solidified crust and did not yet have water. In addition, this early Earth was hit by frequent meteorite impacts, which caused its mass to increase continuously, after which, however, when planetary cooling occurred, everything changed for the better about 4.5 billion years ago. Comets, asteroids and meteorites transported water onto the slowly cooling surface of the planet, stimulating new processes, which in the course of time developed into a planet-wide water production. Sfath taught me – but I will only explain this in brief – that the Earth began with its own water creation and created most of the water itself, namely when the first plants emerged from nature around 4.5 billion years ago, which developed, multiplied and stored cell sap in themselves by absorbing the sparse water in the Earth's soil, which was first brought to Earth by meteorites, asteroids, stardust and comets from outer space. These waters were initially only sparse, but it was sufficient for the first biological life to develop in the interaction of all the necessary bacterial factors, namely in the form of moulds, from which mosses and, in the course of time, also higher plants developed. The term 'higher plants', briefly explained, is to be understood as everything that fundamentally comprises the first genera, such as trees, shrubs, perennials, flowering herbs, ferns, flowers and their subspecies and relatives. Mosses and green algae, I remember from Sfath's teachings, are actually much more closely related to and associated with the 'higher plants' than the immense diversity of the other 'lower' plant world.

Now, according to Sfath's teachings, the waters – which have just been brought to Earth from outer space by meteorites, asteroids, stardust and comets – first penetrated the Earth and were stored in it. On the one hand, small bodies of water were formed, and on the other hand, the small amounts of water that seeped into the earth also created a slight moisture. This, however, was sufficient for the bacteria, some of which had been brought from the space of the world with the water and some of which had also developed in the earthly soil, to come together in the course of a very long time and lead to the development of the first biological life, first slime forms, then moulds, then mosses and then the first 'lower plants' and then the 'higher plants'. These were then followed by the first insects and later the actual first fauna life-forms that could move in water, in the soil, on the ground, as well as in the air, which were also followed after a very long time by the human beings. ...

... If everything is considered in detail that happened at the earliest times, then the following is to be said about the beginning of the emergence of the flora on Earth: A new process of development took place out of it, and this by the fact that everything developed exactly according to the creative-naturally predetermined laws. And when the time had come for the environmental conditions to stabilise for the first time through liquid water and for everything to occur, it did not take long for the first life to develop in places of soil and water in the form of primitive single-celled bacteria, whereby Sfath called this process early organic biogeochemistry, if I still remember it correctly. From this, over the course of billions and millions of years, life evolved on Earth from all primordial beginnings and thus from its first emergence until today, as the entire complex ecosystems exist.

But as far as Darwin's deception is concerned, it is to be said that the origin of human beings had nothing whatsoever to do with apes, for first the bacterium, from which the human being form finally developed over millions of years, lived as a fish-like aquatic creature, before it developed into a land creature and then into further land life forms, as Sfath showed me in the 1940s at the Messel Pit as a fossilised fossil, from which Earth-humans also ultimately emerged, which first developed in North Africa. But we have never openly talked about the fact that a human form also developed in Europe from the same species of life-form that I saw as a fossil in the Messel Pit. In fact, human forms developed not only in North Africa, Europe and South Africa, but also in North America, Central America and in several places in South America, as well as in Australia, New Zealand and in various places in Asia, the Near East and the Orient, as well as in the areas that are now called China and Russia, etc. A large part of these human forms developed in Europe. A large part of these human beings, however, died out again in the course of time, as a result of which their early existence was never known, which, however, according to your predictions, Ptaah, is to change to some extent in the coming times, because small fossil finds are to be made for these facts one day. So far we have only talked about this among ourselves and not officially, just as I have also talked about the small life-form that I saw as a fossil in the Messel Pit, which was distributed worldwide in several species, and that human beings also developed from these species on various continents in various places, although they all differed anatomically in certain respects. All of them were quite small at first and only grew into larger upright beings or human forms in the course of a long time, which then also spread in many countries in a sparse manner and partly also mixed with Earth-foreigners, as a result of which they also took over their genes. In particular, this resulted in such contacts and connections with Earth-foreigners, which also gave rise to the 'modern humans', who were, however, quite barbaric and cannibalistic and consequently did not always treat other human beings as their equals. Consequently, they also killed them as enemies, just as they imprisoned and slaughtered others – such as the Neanderthals in Europe and Eurasia – as living food stores when they needed them for food. These 'Modern Human Beings' arrived in Central Europe around 185,000 years ago and not just 45,000 to 50,000 years ago, as our earth scientists claim. So they settled in Europe earlier, even though no fossil finds or evidence of this have been discovered so far. Also that they had partly kept Neanderthals as prisoners in relation to 'emergency food', this is unknown to earthly researchers and scientists, as well as that they then lived together in only small groups during their first appearance in Europe, whereby they then later, however, for some time in their regions still lived together somewhat 'peacefully' with the Neanderthals who had died out, but who were not only to be found in Europe, but far and wide, and whose genes have been preserved in a few percentages in human beings up to the present day.

Ptaah:

26. Our extensive and detailed annals, which we have also kept since the founding of the 'United States of America', cover completely all the armed conflicts from the beginning and all the warlike, intelligence and terrorist activities of the USA in every respect.

27. The original settlement by Europeans took place as early as 1430, when the indigenous peoples, the North American Indians, were still alone on the continent, who were then fought for centuries by European immigrants and their descendants and finally almost exterminated.

28. And this was already the case at that time, when between 1430 and 1500 there were about 72 million human beings living on the North American part of the continent, who repeatedly feuded with each other as a result of territorial claims.

29. The indigenous people were descended from their ancestors, the first human beings, whom you also call primitive human beings.

30. These had emerged naturally from this continent itself and therefore did not come from somewhere else, as the Earth anthropologists etc. assume and claim, because so far they have no idea and no proof that the original ancestors of the original inhabitants of this continent emerged from the planet in a natural evolutionary way, almost at the same time as all other Earth-humans who emerged on all continents.

31. So the original inhabitants of North America did not come 10,000 or 12,000 years ago etc. from the present continent of Asia via a land connection where the Bering Strait is today.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_721

Ptaah:

62. And the fact that we also brought this teaching to Earth at an early time was due to the fact that our ancestors discovered a natural dimensional gate 22 million years ago by chance, which is located here in the DERN universe about 120 light-years beyond the Pleiades stars known to you.

63. The dimensional gateway was discovered because a moon from our ANKAR universe that had drifted from an exploded planet entered the DERN universe through this dimensional gateway, which our ancestors investigated and then found to be Earth's satellite.

64. One consequence of this was that over the course of millions of years small groups of Plejaren repeatedly migrated to Earth and also died here.

65. Later, when the first human life-forms also developed on Earth around 12 million years ago in various areas that are now Europe, Africa, Asia, North and South America, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Japan, China and Russia as well as various islands, several small groups of our Plejaren ancestors had also already settled in some areas on the planet, but they all died out in the course of the next millions of years.

66. About 6 million years ago, when the distant descendants of the first human beings moved in a few specimens all over the Earth and had developed more highly over the next 3 million years, more Plejaren emigrants came to Earth, some of whom joined forces with the original earthly humans and mated with them.

...

Billy:

Nokodemion worked out fundamental conventions or rules of social behaviour for all life-forms capable of consciousness, understanding and reason – which also includes the human being, Homo sapiens, and all rational beings in general. ...

These norms created by Nokodemion regarding morality, ethics, ethos and human rights etc. were also brought to Earth about 22 million years ago, where, however, in the course of time and millions of years, they were no longer maintained and therefore also not transferred to the earthly original human beings when they emerged almost simultaneously several times on all continents throughout the Earth about 12 million years ago. – This is contrary to all the false palaeontological claims of earthly researchers that human beings only emerged as dry-nosed primates 2-4 million years ago in the south of Africa, and so on.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_722

Billy:

In primeval times the waters of the seas rose up to 80 metres higher above the land masses of the Earth, which was usually mostly free of ice and only rarely covered with ice during a certain early, progressive, temporary and decisive stage. At that time, there were completely different temperatures, different climatic conditions and equally different vegetative conditions on Earth, as well as different animal, beast and insect, amphibian and bird life-forms, right up to the gigantic dinosaurs that inhabited the Earth world.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_727

Billy:

... I have already mentioned that the development of the really great diversity of species on Earth began significantly 77.2 million years ago, when an atmospheric fire caused a climate change that lasted 30.4 million years. During this time, all life continued unstoppably, consequently all life-forms of all genera and species also developed in a completely natural way. Then, as I said, 46.8 million years ago, through another natural event, the actual very great process of transformation began with regard to all existing life-forms of all kinds. From this also the first being emerged from many transformations, which for the first time had developed 5 toes on each foot and 5 fingers on each hand, which also walked alternately on all four limbs or only on the two hind legs, and from which then 12 million years ago the human being emerged. I am of course absolutely aware that the entire earthly palaeontological science will deny everything that the human beings of the Earth ultimately developed from this being, consequently it is also claimed that another living being developed from it. But I do not care, because I rely on what Sfath explained when he took me to the Messel Pit, showed me the fossil and explained that he had personally checked everything to the last detail and therefore knew without a doubt that the human beings of Earth had emerged from these beings.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_731

Ptaah:

115. Viruses are not actually living organisms as such, but they are infectious cell-less organic structures that exist everywhere in all universes with a number known to us of around 2.7 million different species and generally have the ability to replicate and evolve, with many also acting as hosts amongst themselves.

116. Viruses are not self-sufficient living beings, but purely independent and autonomous structural forms, yet in primeval times they were the actual factors for the beginning of all life-formation, whereby an innumerable mass changed through their evolution into life-first forms, from which the first lower life-forms developed over eons of time, which as a result of their evolutionary ability grew into ever higher forms.

117. This also included the many types of bacteria, which, as effective living beings, required a different basis than the viruses from whose transformation they emerged, for as life-forms they required, for example, oxygen, sulfur and other chemical substances, or light, etc.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_750

Billy:

... But now I would like to bury this subject and talk about what Darwin announced, namely that all life originated only from one single cell or microorganism and developed into all that exists. However, Sfath taught me – namely also by letting me see and learn the whole of the truth by means of his research technique, on a world developing its first basic life – that not only one single organism of a genus or species is the origin of the enormous diversity of all life on a planet. Also on Earth, the million-fold life did not develop from one single tiny cell, but, as Sfath taught me and also proved to me, first the most diverse virion particles, as they are actually called while they are still outside a cell, came into existence in masses. Only then, as Sfath taught, when a virion particle can infect a host cell, should it be called 'vire' or 'virus'. ...

Ptaah:

83. Viruses were the true primordial origin of all life, which also makes it clear that the approximately 2.8 million viruses known to us Plejaren on Earth have not only negative, dangerous and life-destroying impacts, but also positive, benign and life-creating as well as life-sustaining ones.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_776

Billy:

To lift the big ones to heaven and send the small ones to hell. The whole thing is handled according to the principle: "Let the big ones go, hang the little ones." This is also the case in so-called science, because those who know better than the learned scientists are disregarded and ridiculed. For example, it is still claimed today that the Earth was colonised from Africa because some types migrated early in Africa and went to the Far East, from where the world was then colonised and the dark-skinned Africans changed their skin colour and anatomical appearance. The fact that everything was completely different 45 million years ago, that the first life-forms changed or evolved and were able to spread to all continents, from which human beings finally emerged, is not accepted because the 'knowers', the 'scientists', are of a different opinion and defend their hypotheses. And that human beings did not originate as apes or from beings of ape-like origin – despite Darwin's fraudulent claims and machinations – is also not accepted, just as it is not accepted that in Europe, in the Messel Pit in Germany, for example, the life-form can be found as an ancient relic from which human beings originated. The Messel Pit is a disused oil shale pit to the south-east of the district of the same name, which is located in Hesse, in the district of Darmstadt-Dieburg. The pit is well known due to the excellent quality of the fossils recovered there, which have been stored there since the Eocene, including the fossils that gave rise to human beings, which were still about 50-60 centimetres tall at the time of the Eocene, carried a tail and already had 5 fingers and 5 toes. This 'animal' of that time was spread all over the Earth and in the course of time, through its transformation/evolution, gave rise to human beings in different forms, depending on its particular anatomical-appearance, different species and colour. The islands and land plains and even the continents of that time were connected with 'land bridges', so it was also possible for the life-forms to 'migrate' and leave their ancestral places and settle elsewhere. The fact that in the process human beings also emerged that were more than 3 metres tall, even small ones that only measured 80 or 90 centimetres in height, is something of which those 'in the know', the 'scientists', have no idea, preferring to rely on finds and fantasise their hypotheses about them, which only relate to the time that allows them to fathom the period of time when the dear critters lived, in terms of age, by means of the radiocarbon method of age determination.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_782

Billy:

... Furthermore, when the actual ancestors of the first human beings developed 12 million years ago – contrary to the confused assertions of earthly science and the falsifications of Darwin that the human being of the Earth only developed 3 million years ago – then millions of years later a descendant or a rebirth of the Nokodemion found it necessary – when he saw all the misery that had arisen as a result of the religious and other beliefs of the Earthlings – to take care of the well-being of the Earthlings. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_788

Billy:

... Well, actually Sfath also explained to me that life probably originated on Earth in such a way that it developed on the shores of primordial waters, but in its original form it came from outer space. The primordial substance for this, Sfath explained, exists practically universe-wide in everything that moves in so-called world space. Comets and asteroids etc. transport everything back and forth, drop it onto a planet and thus make life possible, just as planets themselves do this from within themselves. As Sfath explained, in the whole space of the world there is the primordial life, which consists of gases and electricity and various substances, etc., consequently life can develop from it everywhere if the corresponding cycles arise which are necessary. In this way, microbes and bacteria etc. grow up over time, from which higher living beings develop over long periods of time. So in the beginning it is gases of various kinds, as well as electricity and climatic conditions and atmospheres and so on, that mix and create chemical compounds, from which eventually molecules develop, which themselves divide and multiply over time, from which bacteria develop over time, and from which in turn higher living things develop over development and time.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_790

Billy:

... The thing is, in the 1940s, when we were in Germany at the Messel Pit, Sfath explained to me that the human beings of Earth were never of chimpanzee origin, as Charles Darwin conjectured and also asserted to Sfath, though he did not officially state his conjectural theory, namely that human beings were descended from apes – even though this is generally so asserted. I must say something more specific about this, namely what I learned from Sfath, which is something different from what is generally told. Admittedly, I will therefore also be attacked without limits in this matter by Darwin theory fanatics, but especially by scientists who have sworn by the results of molecular biology and who represent their theory in this respect that they interpret them correctly – although they draw false conclusions from the technically correct results. But that is the way it is, and it will – as usual – also remain that way for centuries, until one day in the distant future the truth comes to light, when the progress of technology will allow us to effectively solve the mysteries of the past by making a return trip to their past reality possible. Until then, however, the Darwinian theory of evolution will be preserved and misinterpreted, especially because scientists see the results of molecular biology in the wrong way and unfortunately falsely interpret them accordingly. And it will take a very, very long time before the truth of reality will come to light – if ever.

According to Sfath – he knew Darwin personally – the human being of the Earth developed from a completely different lineage, namely from a being that lived about 47 million years ago and appeared – if I may say so – on all the continents of that time, but differed in its peculiarity of appearance and in its skin colour as well as in certain organs. It was an animal that had a long tail but already had 5 toes and 5 fingers. In the course of its evolution, the creature lost the tail, which regressed, which took millions of years, but in the course of time or evolution, the creature then developed into a tailless creature, from which the prehistoric man emerged. This was already explained to me by Sfath in the 1940s, but it was also discussed with Ptaah in the 727th Contact conversation and the following recording was included in the contact report, which I will add here again because it shows the being in its skeletal form. One must point out here the difference that the term 'theory' has in science and in everyday language. In science, a 'theory' means a representation of some aspect of reality. The more closely the theory corresponds to reality, the better the predictions of that very theory will be. In everyday language, we use the term 'theory' rather disparagingly for something still immature that does not have much to do with reality. In science, theories that have often grown over decades allow us to make far-reaching statements about the nature of our world. What I want to say, however, relates to what Sfath found in the Messel Pit in Germany and is estimated to be about 45 million years old. An identical fossil was also found by our researchers, of which this photo was taken: <https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/w/images/e/e4/CR790-Image1.jpg>

Also, according to Sfath, the human beings of the Earth emerged from the natural evolution of living beings on the planet not only in Africa, nor did they migrate northwards on the Earth, as earthly science claims, but human beings evolved on the various continents almost simultaneously, if we may call the periods of about 800,000 years 'almost simultaneously'. There were clearly so-called primaeval human beings of various sizes, namely giants who reached almost 4.50 metres, then the smallest who were not even a full 60 centimetres tall, while in between all sizes occurred. They all descended from creatures that existed in various similar forms about 45 million years ago, but which had been evolving worldwide for about 90 million years alongside the large ape creatures, and thus alongside what the Earthling called 'apes'. Of these beings, the first species developed in the region of today's North Africa – where Egypt is today – for the first time as the original human being, after which the other first species developed where Russia and Asia are today, but also everywhere on Earth in many original countries. The first of these human beings appeared a little more than 16 million years ago, as Sfath explained, that is, about 13 to 14 million years earlier than earthly science estimates today and old skeletons have been found. And these primitive human beings were, according to our sense, human eaters [cannibals] who maintained themselves as such until a few tens of thousands of years ago, whereby they then also invented bloodthirsty gods and then offered them human sacrifices, and so on. But for thousands of years, they still ate their own kind, killing them in trades, sacrifices and also in acts of hostility, which has been preserved to this day in individual cases, when the ancient manner of devouring human beings is still able to breakthrough. I myself have seen and experienced that this is the case when, on the one hand, I travelled the world with Sfath and was also with correct man-eaters who killed and ate their enemies. On the other hand, I have seen and experienced that today's so-called 'civilised' people 'slaughtered' and ate their weakest in times of need, just as others in their need used the starving or those otherwise doomed to death as food. But even today it still happens now and then that human beings are killed and eaten when the old desire for it breaks through.

Charles Darwin is also said to have manipulated old chimpanzee bones to prove his theory of evolution, Sfath said at the time. Unfortunately, I do not know what he did and to what extent, but I do know from Sfath's explanation that another forger later appeared, a certain Charles Dawson, who about 30 years after Darwin's death found the so-called 'Piltdown Man', the alleged 'early man' or his supposed fossil skull, which he in fact forged, as Darwin did with at least one of his finds, as Sfath explained.

In terms of evolutionary biology, the human being of the Earth is actually not a late bloomer among living beings, as is generally said by anthropologists, because they appeared at the latest about 90 million years ago and then about 47 million years ago as a precursor of the beings that eventually developed into human beings, but which had 5 fingers and 5 toes very early in their development. As precursors of the human beings, the 'apes' and the actual ape beings, they developed the 'grasping tools' or the hands with five fingers quite early. Of course, at that time the creatures were not given a human form, but an animal form, which in the course of millions of years developed into the human being, the earthling, which then developed into a human-like form for the first time 12 to 15 million years ago. So there can be no question of the human being having evolved 'late' when the overall evolution of all living beings on the planet Earth is taken into account. If my intellect and my reason reach so far that I see and understand the 'very late' correctly, as the anthropologists conceive it, then the emergence of Earth human beings is not to be considered 'very late', if one takes into account that the emergence of the first living beings is to be dated approx. 3.8 to 4 billion years ago. These living beings were still tiny at that time and first had to develop over long periods of time into what we call animal forms, creatures, feathered creatures, other living creatures and the like, which changed again in the course of time, so that the old life-forms passed away, changed and new forms arose. And this has been the case since the beginning of life on Earth, as it is today and will also be in the future. Also, since time immemorial, many have become extinct because living conditions changed, or they were wiped out by human beings as a result of their thoughtlessness, self-importance and irresponsibility.

From a systematic point of view, the human being is a living being that has a spinal column that makes him/her more mobile in many ways, much more mobile than the vertebrates and vertebrate animals in general, which, according to their genus or species, are far inferior to the spinal column bearing human beings and are incapable of handling, doing and carrying out the same things as they are able to do because of their spinal system. This, although the ape beings have fundamentally more limbs than the human being, they are beings who have nothing to do with the human being, not even if certain ape species come close to the human being with their genetic make-up.

Furthermore, it is given to the human being that, apart from their spinal column, they are capable of the conscious evolutionary development of the bodily movements – in contrast to the most diverse animals and creatures, which, as spinal column-bearing living beings, are hardly, or only to the smallest extent, capable of this in comparison to the human beings –, they also have a conscious awareness, which enables them to develop logic, understanding and reason, which allows them to act according to these high values. This includes, first and foremost, conscious thought and action, and thus also the invention, construction and use of all that they are able to produce in logic, understanding and reason.

The human being as a living being capable of conscious logic, likewise conscious understanding and conscious reason, does not in any way belong to the class of spine-bearing mammals, nor to the order of the so-called apes, as they are wrongly called, such as the chimpanzee, dwarf chimpanzee bonobo, gibbon, gorilla and orangutan. These are not at all 'related' to human beings, the 'Homo sapiens', since their primordial origin, as the false doctrine of Charles Darwin claimed and today's followers are also 'convinced' of this Darwin theory, even though there is a high degree of hereditary equality. Thus, already 47 million years ago, the first forms of the human ancestors and those of the genus and species chimpanzee, gorilla and orangutan were fundamentally different.

Altogether, the ape creatures are grouped into about 350 species and given the designation apes or primates as mammalian creatures. Subsequently, however, large and small 'apes' are named, whereby the small ones belong to the family of gibbons living in Southeast Asia and the large ones to the orangutans. In Africa, on the other hand, live the large so-called 'apes', the gorillas and the chimpanzees, although these have nothing to do with humans or Homo sapiens, i.e. they are neither relatives nor cousins of the human beings.

The most striking feature of the human beings and the so-called 'apes' is that they have no tail and are usually larger and heavier than actual human beings, and also hold themselves upright as actual ape beings. The thorax of the human beings, as well as of the so-called 'apes' – which are, so to speak, an intermediate evolution between the human beings and the apes and consequently a separate and special species – is also much broader than that of the real apes. Another and very important feature is also to be noted in the 'apes', namely that their brains are much more complex and larger in relation to their bodies than in effective ape creatures. This requires a much longer developmental period, which means that pregnancy and the time until adulthood is much longer, as Sfath already explained to Charles Darwin, who, however, did not want to be taught, and accordingly even today – at least in this respect – anthropology is based on false assumptions.

The original form of living beings, from which humans, 'apes' and all primates finally developed over many millions of years through natural evolution, goes back in its beginning to about 90 million years ago, i.e. that they already lived and developed at the time of the dinosaurs. In the course of evolution, however, more and more genera of living beings and their species also developed, with many dying out again, while others split up and again into new species.

Darwin was not in a position in his time to provide evidence for his theories in the way that today's molecular biology techniques largely can, some of which provide indisputable and unequivocal evidence, such as that the genus 'chimpanzee' shares around 98% of DNA and almost all genes in common with human beings. This of course tempts – even scientists – to assume that there is some connection between human beings and chimpanzees. However, from this, I mean from the 98% of the DNA and the genes, it is not possible to deduce that human beings are descended from chimpanzees and have the same or a similar evolutionary line. This is by no means the case, nor is the scientific theory that the early ancestors of the human beings and the chimpanzee could 'perhaps be cousins'. Think of 'cousinship', for this, contrary to 'perhaps cousins', really has to do with a reality. In reality, it is not possible to deduce that humans and the 'apes' really had common ancestors, from which chimpanzees and human beings then evolved. The family tree of the hominids is clear to independently thinking human beings even before the invention of molecular biology technology, due to DNA homologies for real evidence that human beings are not descended from chimpanzees and are in no way 'cousin-like'. Real natural science alone has had incontrovertible evidence in logic, reason and rationality since time immemorial of human evolution that is different and different in behaviour from that of the chimpanzees. This is contrary to the palaeontological discoveries which, in the course of the 20th century, have repeatedly brought to light fossils that are assumed to be descended from common ancestors of human beings and chimpanzees. And since these all come from East Africa, it is erroneously assumed that this proves Darwin's thesis that the cradle of mankind lies in Africa. A theory, however, that does not point to reality, but is far from it, because the human being emerged 'almost simultaneously' on the various continents of the Earth within 800,000 years. Moreover, the so-called 'apes' – to which the chimpanzees also belong – were living beings from the beginning, forming their own intermediate form between the apes and human beings.

Since the publication of Darwin's 'Origin of Species' in 1859, concerns have been raised again and again against the theory of evolution, although science always claims the opposite and wants to know everything better. Of course, there are always abstruse theses that go against the reality of real evolution and cause considerable confusion, especially among so-called experts, but the truth of evolution actually looks different from what Darwin's theory of the evolution of human beings, ape beings as well as the 'intermediate genus' of the so-called 'apes' claims and still holds unjustified today. While the molecular evidence technology of today is far advanced, it cannot really see into the past and just what actually occurred at that time.

In his 1859 work 'Origin of Species' Darwin actually left the question of the origin of human beings unanswered, indeed he almost excluded it, but his theory left no doubt about what he really thought. He was well aware that his theory of evolution would provoke a dispute in the world that would last for centuries, namely his thesis – which he wisely kept in the background – that human beings descended from apes, as he also claimed to Spath. We humans share millions of years of evolution with the apes and 'human beings', but the ape creatures and the 'apes' are not ancestors of us humans.

Of course, evolution takes place over immensely long periods of time, which cannot be traced in all details today, but in human phylogeny there is no ancestry between the human beings, the apes and the ape-like creatures or the 'apes'. This is also evident from a large number of fossil species, which clearly prove this, if correct research and neutral judgement were carried out, and thus not simply the Darwinian theory of evolution taken as a model again and again.

Unfortunately, however, no further research is carried out, but – as usual – a theory is held on to once it has emerged – which often takes centuries – until solid evidence finally proves the opposite or even the reality and its truth. So it is the same with a theory as with a religious or other belief: people believe in a 'dear God', 'God the Father' and 'God the Creator', in 'Jesus Christ' as the 'Son of God', in 'Allah' or in 'Shiva' etc. until one day it is proven that it was all just a crazy fantasy and a belief in fantasy, but not the truth.

The truth can easily be proved and understood with regard to the human being, the apes and 'human beings' also in the coming time by means of fossil finds of prehistoric humans, because the more such finds are made, the clearer will one day be the realisation for the natural development of the human being as a being who had nothing to do with ancestors who were apes and 'human beings'. There is no doubt that the theory of evolution is only one theory, and that of a single human being, namely that of Charles Darwin. This, however, aims at a disdain for the human species that will remain until, after a long time – which may be centuries – the theory is finally replaced by the realisation of the truth.

It is true that theory has expanded our understanding of the cosmos like hardly any other scientific insight before it, for theory is and always will be an incentive to seek and find the truth after all. Theory was and is always the work of one or more human beings, but theories can and will lead to the truth through new findings – often only after generations – but one day they will be revised and made accessible to the truth, or they will come true and promote progress, i.e. evolution or progress. Scientists, physicists and simple human beings will work on the further development and improvement of all things, so that predictions and theories that are made will decades or centuries later prove to be wrong or correct with the latest equipment and methods, so that theories can be recognised as falsehoods and thus the truth can be recognised, or other theories can be proved as fact.

The same applies to Charles Darwin's theory of evolution, whose scientific achievements and theories are in no way to be diminished, for he drew on ideas and theories of his time, and from these he finally developed his theory of evolution through his very own ideas, which the biologist Jean-Baptiste de Lamarck had devised, whose basic idea of heredity was, however, wrong, but Darwin recognised the correct mechanism of evolution by fathoming the interplay of mutation and selection. According to his insight, every living being has therefore developed its own strategies and adapted to the environment, through which it has been able to assert itself in its habitat and continues to do so into the future. Thus, some creatures evolved through their strength, others through their instinctive prudence, others through their enormous resilience or through their extraordinary reproductive capacity. This affected and still affects not only free-moving life-forms, but also plant-bound life-forms, i.e. plants that are successfully represented in large numbers, even globally, and that reproduce only by impulse, instinct or seed, because they do not possess an actual brain, as is the case with many free-moving life-forms.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_794

Billy:

If I say this about Russia, then I know from Sfath that the land area was already loosely inhabited by early humans in prehistoric times and thus much earlier than the Palaeolithic. This, however, is still unknown to archaeologists and palaeontologists, etc., just as there are many other things they do not know or calculate at the wrong times and also fantasise a lot of things together that do not correspond to reality. I can often only shake my head at this, because everything that is claimed is really quite different from what I have seen, experienced and witnessed together with Sfath on our ...

Then many millennia later, so after the primeval times, when more and more human-like beings appeared, who never emigrated from Africa to the north, but effectively also arose in the north of the planet Earth through natural development, as everywhere in the world in a time of little more than 800,000 years, the actual early Earth-humans arose, who slaughtered each other and used each other as food when foreigners met. This was their way of thinking and doing, just as the most diverse races with special characteristics, skin colours, sizes and looks etc. arose worldwide, which moreover from the very beginning never had anything to do with apes or ape-like beings and also never showed any 'kinship' with such, but were an independent life-form – contrary to Charles Darwin's deception. They were indeed primitive humans, and their entire habitus, their physical and physiognomic condition, their countenance – which is actually called the correct countenance – was still completely different from that of today's human beings. Also the actual shape of the head was still symmetrically quite different from that of today's human beings. Everything about these early human beings was disproportionate, the whole body with arms, hands and legs, as well as the head and its shape.

Sfath went on to explain that millennia later, many of the human beings who would become inhabitants of the land – now called Russia – would be foreign immigrants from the various northern regions and from the south, mainly from the countries now called Norway and Sweden, Greece and Turkey. These immigrants, he said, will settle in the country and become indigenous, who will then be called Russians and the country Russia region or simply Russia. So that was the normal course of development of the inhabitants of this vast country. Then, when the Neolithic period moved into this land, among other things, the so-called Bug-Dniester culture emerged, which was then followed – if I remember Sfath's explanations correctly – by the Sredny-Stod culture. Then, as the transition to the Copper Age and the early Bronze Age followed, the region of the Kurgan culture emerged, which I still remember to some extent. What all came about then, and how Russia actually came into being, can certainly be read up on in history, if anyone is interested, because this is certainly described and states how and when it actually became the vast Russian area, to which Ukraine also belonged in the end.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_815

Billy:

... It was and is a lie what was told and is still told today that the early earth-born human beings would have started fires with a so-called 'flint'. In truth, they first took resin-rich tree branches and lit them on fires created by lightning. They carefully guarded these tree-branch torches and carried them around with them, but they also tended fires in the caves they inhabited, for it was not the case that lightning struck all the time and started fires. To help these human beings – real Neanderthals – Sfath took great pains to teach them how to make fire with 'flint'. But the whole thing was very tedious, because first the correct stones had to be found, flint stones or so Sfath called them. With one stone, a heap of material had to be cut off from another, so that when the stone was cut off again, one of the sparks would eventually fall into the heap of cut-off fine material, which was then placed in a clump of dry grass and blown on, causing it to smoke and then burn. But the whole thing was really very tedious, because some fine material had to be knocked off one of the stones with another stone with up to 200 or 300 blows. This also always produced sparks, but in the end a spark settled in the pile that had been created, which was then taken and used to ignite a thin tuft of grass by blowing on it. It was really a very laborious method of making fire, besides, I remember Sfath saying that only a few rocks could be used, such as pyrite or marcasite, but only tiny particles were knocked off.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_825

{Note: The following excerpts are a correction/addendum to Contact Report 824.}

Billy:

I also think of the fact that it is still claimed today that the human beings of the Earth were born in Africa, after which they spread from there across the Earth, precisely because they 'emigrated' and settled in the world.

Anthropologists etc. are still trying to prove that in early times human beings spread out over the vastness of the Earth with fins and ships – but this is only partially true – although they began to develop worldwide in the same genus, but in different species, around 12 million years ago, when there were still many fixed land connections between islands and large fixed areas.

Since then, everything has changed enormously, and many of the islands and mainlands of that time have disappeared, while new ones have formed and are now inhabited by many earthlings and large mainlands are called continents.

Imaginatively, however, the majority of researchers who dig around in the earth's soil and generally in everything old etc. invent nothing but fantasy stories of how it is supposed to have been, and without really having any idea of how it really was.

The believing earthlings then take everything at face value and believe the bare fanciful suppositions, just as they also believe all religious nonsense, and then they claim everything as truth, although little or nothing of what they have been told or supposedly handed down from time immemorial as 'truth' corresponds to the truth.

return to Index

Extraterrestrials (General)

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Extraterrestrial\_hypothesis

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Extraterrestrial\_life

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/List\_of\_alleged\_extraterrestrial\_beings

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ancient\_astronauts

Note: This section generally deals with the existence of various Extraterrestrial civilizations, their histories, societies, and cultures, etc. An excellent summary of the UFO/Extraterrestrial phenomenon is given by Billy Meier in his article "Extraterrestrials" found in Contact Report 257. see also Alien Abductions

see also Alien-Human Hybrids
see also Anunnaki
see also Ashtar Sheran
see also Calvert, Texas alien bases
see also Cattle Mutilations
see also Contactees (General)
see also Contactees (Specific – True & False)
see also Crop Circles
see also Erich von Däniken
see also Easter Island Moai
see also Eisenhower meeting aliens
see also Extraterrestrials – Giza Intelligences / Bafath
see also Extraterrestrials – “Grays”
see also Extraterrestrials – “Reptilians”
see also Gilgamesh
see also Hyperborea / Hyperboreans
see also Ica Stones
see also Long-Skulls
see also Mars Face
see also Men In Black
see also Nazca Lines
see also Ptah
see also Quetzalcoatl
see also Starchild skull
see also Tayos Caves Metal Library
see also Tunguska event 1908
see also UFOs / Flying Saucers
https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Asket%27s\_Explanations\_-\_Part\_4

Asket:

4. This continent {America} was also inhabited by humans of extraterrestrial origin - from spacefarers and their descendents - around 2,500,000 years ago, by your time reckoning.
5. But, as usual on this world, they got in each others' hair and annihilated themselves.
6. They invented atom bombs and exploded them in a blitzkrieg.

...

12. Those who wish to see hard evidence can find it at any time and view it and think about it.
13. There are sites of former cities which stood there many, many thousands of years ago and have been melted by atomic hells into glass-like masses.
14. The best preserved testimonies have become curiosities in your time because the Earth human does not know their genesis.
15. But very well known in this regard are names like "Death Valley", which, however, also still has a relationship to other events in the present day.
16. The "Valley of Fire" near the city of Las Vegas is another witness to the past and the timeless, atomic insanity of humans who populated the Earth again and again.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_001

Semjase:

19. The Earth-human calls us "extraterrestrials" or "star people" or whatever he/she likes.
20. He/she imputes supernaturality to us and does not know us in the least.
21. In reality, we are human beings just like the Earth-humans, except that our knowledge and our essence of wisdom are far superior to theirs, so also from a technological point of view.

...

30. Other solar systems, however, harbour a variety of lives, not just human ones.
31. The forms of life are diverse – human as well as animal.
32. Also, many animal or even plant life forms have developed to highly advanced level of life.
33. So there are species who have attained great knowledge and have freed themselves from their spheres of life, who travel outer space and also come to your Earth every now and then.
34. Many of them, however, are unpleasant contemporaries and live in a certain barbarism, which is often almost as bad as that of the Earth-human.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_002

Semjase:

40. Already often, beings from foreign races have come to your Earth and have undertaken their expeditions here.
41. They collected various things that could be of service to their investigations.
42. And it will also happen again and again that such beings will come here and pursue their studies.
43. They come from the most diverse worlds and systems.
44. They are often still new in the field of travel in outer space and, therefore, carry out expeditions to expand their knowledge and cognisance.
45. Thereby it can happen that they unintentionally come into contact with the Earth-humans, only to in such a case never come back again.
46. They do not crave power and the like, as they are glad that they finally have serenity and order in their own worlds.
47. With them, it can also happen that every now and then they take some Earth-humans, bring them into their beamships, and examine them very closely with their apparatuses and determine their anatomy most exactly.
48. However, they let these human beings go again without exception, as they do not want to harm them.
49. They are often more humane beings than the Earth-human.
50. But unfortunately, rather barbaric beings also travel outer space and come to Earth every now and then.
51. Many among them are power-hungry and evil.
52. With them, it can happen that they kidnap and abduct Earth-humans (also other planetary human beings of other systems) and bring them to their home planets.
53. There, these poor creatures then lead lives as exhibition and experiment objects.
54. The Earth-human and all other inhabitants of other worlds must beware of these creatures, for in their maliciousness, they often use the worst form of Gewalt.
55. Feelings and other human traits and impulsations are often foreign to them, so a life means nothing of value to them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_003

Billy:

Since our last meeting I have occupied myself intensively and much with the so-called UFO literature. In doing so, I came across the suggestion that you human beings from the stars, if I may put it that way, are always described as supernatural, supernatural beautiful and as protectors of humanity on Earth, almost as all-knowing and as teachers, etc., and that you should therefore live practically in spiritual and conscious perfection. But my intellect and my impression convey something completely different to me in this respect, and I cannot get over the fact that all this can only be lies. Lies that probably originate from sick brains or from brains that are not free and brand fantasy pictures as reality, because the originators of thoughts cannot cope with real reality and therefore escape into a fantastic pseudo-world. The reality seems to be too hard for them, so they flee into fantasies, because they hope for help in these.

...

Semjase:

11. If deceivers label and describe us as you said just now, it is nothing more than an infamous lie, originating from the brains of consciously poor human beings who imagine a better life in their fantasy, and because they themselves cannot achieve it, at least not yet in this life, they simply attribute it to us and make us out to be something perfect.

12. But we, too, are still far away from this stage and must continually develop ourselves further.

13. We are not the so-called above-human or superhuman beings, as the Earth-humans like to call us in their unknowledge and in their imaginations.

14. We are also no teachers, missionaries or pioneers.

15. We only have the dutiful task of preserving the developing as well as already existing human life throughout the cosmic space.

16. This means that we strive to keep order and watch over certain life.

17. Here and there we approach the inhabitants of different worlds, if our directives allow us to do so, choose individuals from among them and provide them with explanations; this however only then when a race develops higher and slowly becomes thinking.

18. We then slowly prepare them for the need to become familiar with the thought of not being the only thinking beings in the universe.

19. Here and there we also help on a telepathic basis to let certain cognitions germinate and to make technical inventions which are necessary at that time.

Billy:

Why then do you not appear en masse and show yourselves to the general public? And why don't you get in touch with the most diverse governments?

Semjase:

20. Without exception, all governments on Earth are staffed by human beings who have the characteristic of addiction to might and profit.

21. Under the guise of peace and friendship they would only want to seize our beamships to be able to exercise absolute Gewalt-rule over the Earth with them.

22. But they would also try to conquer the outer space because they know no bounds.

23. However, they are not even able to on the Earth create peace and friendship between the countries – not even among the human beings in their own country.

24. How, then, should they be able to have such means of might at their disposal, such as are our beamships and their multifaceted facilities represent it!

25. There is no interest in showing ourselves to the general public.

26. Their consciousness is still short and small and confined in religious enslavement.

27. On the one hand, the Earth-humans would worship us as gods in their short-reflection, as they did already in earlier times; and on the other hand, there would be many among them who as criminals and greedy for might ones would seize our beamships.

28. But there are also those who are not to be forgotten, and there are countless millions of them, who would fall into complete hysteria and fall ill in consciousness.

29. For these reasons it is advisable for the time being to maintain contact only with individual Earth-humans and to via them slowly let the knowledge of our existence and tasks become known and to prepare them for what is to come.

30. We are no wardens or guardians of the Earth-humans; we only feel obliged to them because our originators were their ancestors, before they fled from the Earth as a result of self-inflicted catastrophes of some might-greedy ones and escaped to the Pleiades ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_005

Semjase:

146. And there came the time when the descendants flew out into the unending expanses of the universe in round, plate-like flying ships with beam drives.

147. Other solar systems and planets were flown to and expeditioned.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_007

Semjase:

120. The celestial sons or starfarers, as we want to call our forebears, were at home on many different planets of stars, in a different space-time configuration or far away from the SOL-system, whereby the planets were fundamentally different in climatic terms, hence they also produced other races which were able to adapt to the climate from the ur-beginning.

121. Due to the climate conditions, also a corresponding skin colour developed, of which there are innumerable in the universe.

122. Their body sizes were also different because, depending on the gravity of the planet in question, they ranged from only 50 centimetres tall up to several metres.

...

125. The different colour races of today are, thus, descendants of our variously coloured forebears, who came from different planets of foreign stars.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_023

Billy:

... Could it not be that at very early times our Earth once also served extraterrestrial beings as such a planet of banishment?

Semjase:

55. Sure, your assumption is correct.

56. In primeval times, variously fallible life-forms were banished to your Earth from various worlds in the universe, including our race.

57. But these early times can no longer be grasped by us either, and we have no precise data about them.

...

Billy:

... What happens when a person of your race falls in love with a person of another, spiritually and consciously underdeveloped race?

...

... But you have not yet fully answered my question, because in it was also hidden the how, what and why of a conjugal union or nonunion.

Semjase:

...

122. If, however, a person of our race falls in love with a race that is different from the rest of the world and is mentally and consciously inferior to us in the sense that the two want to unite, then this possibility will be clarified according to our laws.

123. If the facts show that the necessary conditions of all kinds are fulfilled, the marriage may take place.

124. It really doesn't matter whether the otherworldly way of life lives under our own spiritual and conscious state or not, because in cases of underdevelopment it is developed by our scientists according to our conscious state.

Billy:

I think that is very fair, but are such incidents common occurrences?

Semjase:

125. No, they're actually quite rare.

Billy:

But now one more question, Semjase: How great in number is your humanity?

Semjase:

126. I can only answer this question by telling you that we are united in a covenant that extends far into the cosmos.

127. This covenant includes various solar systems and planets in wide space, and the total number of life-forms of human norms invigorating them amounts to 127 billion units.

128. But of course there are countless other intelligent life-forms of non-human norms, in addition to humane human forms, which are unknown to us or with which we are simply not connected.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_026

Billy:

... For a long time, I have suspected that there are other extraterrestrials in our world besides you, but with very different desires and hopes. These beings may be wholly alien to your race, at least some of them, but others must be of your own race.

...

... So I start from the assumption that certain forms of life which are strange to you are trying to wander around from the vastness of the universe on our Earth and in the space of the world and to influence other forms of life in various forms. On the other hand, I also suspect that one or more groups of descendants of your old race have not yet returned to you, and that they are still living according to the forms of a deity. Since they still have to live according to the old forms, it can practically only be that they influence many life forms and also the Earth-humans according to this and appear as emissaries of a god. ...

Semjase:

...

41. With your speculations you are very right, because there are other forms of life in the earthly space than just ours.

42. There are also still some splinter groups of our own former races here, but also on other worlds where they still live according to their old forms.

43. They constantly try to influence the life forms, especially the Earth-humans, according to their forms.

44. Already the ancestors had appeared as gods, and they still do.

45. They are anxious not to release the Earth-humans in particular from this form and to continue to make them dependent on themselves through stoic references to religious heresies, etc. and to cast them under their spell.

46. For a long time they have been trying again to break into your world in order to subdue humanity on the Earth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_029

Semjase:

35. At the present time we are the most highly developed life forms that travel this Earth from outside your world and are also stationed here.

36. Although there are other life forms that penetrate your Earth space, fly in and partly also have their stations here, we correspond to the highest level of evolution of all.

37. The second most developed form of life after us lies little more than 1840 years of total evolution behind us.

38. Of all present extraterrestrial life forms, which currently live in the earthly space, we are therefore a little more than 1840 Earth years ahead in the total evolutionary standing.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_031

Asket:

150. Besides us, there are still several other extraterrestrial intelligences moving in the terrestrial space, who, however, stand in a much lower stage of evolution than our own, and who are developed ahead of the Earth-humans by only a few centuries, and by only around 1243 years of further development at most.

151. These life-forms are therefore able to come into contact with the average and somewhat more intelligent Earth-humans and to communicate with them, which however happens only very rarely, if ever.

152. Since these intelligences have not yet gone very far ahead of the Earth-humanity in terms of development, they very often conduct themselves as rulers and can even let themselves be misled and influenced by the Earth religions, which is why many higher developed life-forms in the Universe must intervene in a regulatory manner, to prevent severe consequences.

153. Because where religions are widespread, always after a very short time chaos, enslavement, exploitation and consciousness enslavement rule, whereby all consciousness-based progress comes into question.

154. Some Earth-humans have taken possession of parts of contact report transcripts, describing real, much earlier contacts with such extraterrestrial intelligences, and created new, imaginative stories, and formed religions and sects from them.

155. Thus they stepped, or would have stepped, into the public and mendaciously claimed, or would have claimed, that they had or would have had contacts with extraterrestrial life-forms.

156. Other Earth-humans allegedly or in reality, received various inspiration-type messages from such low levels, resp. from meagerly developed in consciousness terrestrial or extraterrestrial humans, adulterated these, or produced them unconsciously, or consciously and untruthfully.

157. This also resulted in malicious fantasies that purely spiritual life-forms would have gotten into contact with Earth-humans and would still be doing so.

158. But this truly is not so, because purely spiritual forms only establish contact with life-forms which are very highly developed in spirit and in consciousness, as only these are able to receive their vibrations and can bring about the necessary understanding.

159. So, if other claims are made by Earth-humans, then these do not correspond to the truth, but rather to consciously or unconsciously deceitful fantasies.

160. The fact is that very highly developed life-forms, or even pure spirit-forms, were since always never able to establish contact with Earth-humans, unless they met an extraordinarily high spiritual and consciousness-related state, which led likewise to an extraordinarily high level, as it was the case with several true prophets.

161. In each cosmic age a world brings forth only very few of such highly developed in spirit and consciousness-based life-forms, if the average form is still on a very low level of evolution, as it is the case with the Earth-humans.

162. On the other hand, these highly developed life-forms of such worlds, the prophets, also appear only at certain times, when they are necessary.

163. And on the Earth, this is the first time that such a case has occurred since nearly 2000 years.

...

Billy:

... Recently it was explained to me that in various governments of our Earth extraterrestrial intelligences are carrying on their activities and are even permanently employed there. What is this all about, can we believe these statements?

Ptaah:

365. You call such things fairy tales.

Billy:

So this means that there are no 'star people' working in our Earth governments?

Ptaah:

366. That's what it says. –

367. If these statements were true, then peace would have come to Earth a long time ago and Earthly humanity would have been taught the truth by the governments.

368. But since we extraterrestrial life-forms, according to our directives, have no right to interfere forcibly in earthly affairs, we must confine ourselves to the form of selecting predetermined Earth-humans for this purpose, in order to be able to transmit our knowledge through them.

...

Billy:

But it is said that these extraterrestrials would secretly and undetected participate in or with government agencies.

Ptaah:

373. This is also not so, which your logic itself can confirm.

374. If it were really so, then within only a few days no authority, no government and no military power would hunt down our ships, because we actually have all possibilities to nip such things in the bud.

375. If we were to be active in any governmental bodies, there would be peace on Earth.

376. So all the claims are nothing more than lies, I mean, when such things are claimed by us or by any other extraterrestrials.

377. Such lies are often due to religious machinations of some sectarian elements and of unscrupulous fantasists, liars, swindlers and frauds.

...

Ptaah:

403. In truth, there are probably also malignant intelligences from outer space that haunt your Earth or stray there, but there are not so many of them that they would be of great significance.

404. Most observations of 'flying discs' with human predations are of terrestrial origin.

405. Earth-humans should be aware of this when they encounter any 'flying discs' whose occupants are well aware of the fact that very many human beings believe these objects to be of extraterrestrial origin.

406. This knowledge is also very often exploited by them by imagining some gullible Earth-humans as extraterrestrial intelligences.

407. Aware of their religious power, they also do not shy away from pretending to be angels and God's messengers and appearing as 'saviours' of Earth-humans, whereby they then proclaim the deceived gullible to be contactors and assign them mysterious missions which are supposedly for the benefit of Earth-humans, but which in reality only serve their own profit and the benefit of their own country's espionage.

408. The most popular places of origin these malevolent deceptive elements and occupants of earthly 'flying discs' name are Venus, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn and Uranus.

409. But also the nearest neighbouring systems of your solar system have to serve for this, as well as the Pleiades in the coming time, when you will have become world-famous through your contacts with us.

410. In the process, my daughter Semjase and my person will also be falsely accused of being contact beings with Earth-humans who are fraudulent in this respect, as well as alleged Pleiades beings who do not exist.

...

Ptaah:

769. What you see there is now KARTAG.

770. Now go with Semjase, she will show you the world up close.

(On KARTAG with Semjase.)

Billy:

I thought you told me that the inhabitants of this world here were somewhat more advanced than Earth-humans. I don't see any planes or anything. If they are throwing nukes at each other, they must have some, right?

Semjase:

536. You are wrong.

537. Their flying apparatuses do not meet the standards of terrestrial aircraft, because they are already beamship-like.

538. They also do not drop their death projectiles from their flying apparatus, but shoot them up into space with rockets and then steer them back down towards the enemy.

539. The rockets are similar to those used on Earth to shoot up satellites.

540. Only their technology and propulsion forces are fundamentally different from those on the Earth.

541. But now see the city ahead and look here on the screen.

...

Ptaah:

845. Apart from us, there are various other life-forms of extraterrestrial origin that make contact with Earth-humans now and then and thus only extremely rarely and often only in an emergency.

846. In earlier times this happened much more often, which also had its reasons.

847. This was due to the fact that in earlier times, by which I mean several millennia, very many Earth-humans still knew of the existence of the Celestial Sons.

848. They were in regular contact with them and also traded with them.

849. However, through the intervention of various malevolent elements, both terrestrial and extraterrestrial, these contacts slackened and gradually the knowledge of the existence of extraterrestrial intelligences was lost.

850. Secretly, however, malignant intelligences of masses addicted to world domination created their station on Earth and on a neighbouring planet and upgraded the cultic religions.

851. This was all done in secret and with the use of many evil means.

852. Apart from these machinations, however, there existed undertakings of other and not evil intelligences, which endeavoured to bring about the real evolution of Earth-humans, because these were, after all, descended from them.

853. But since they could not officially appear because of the constant danger from the malignant life-forms, they had to do so secretly.

854. Besides, after so many millennia, Earth-humans could not be expected to suddenly appear officially again with beamships and spaceships, for the knowledge of them had been lost to them.

855. A sudden open reappearance would have caused worldwide panic.

856. Then the SOL system moved into the Age of Pisces and this offered all interested extraterrestrials a new opportunity to intervene in earthly events without the human beings being able to notice it.

857. The cultic religions built up by the malignant intelligences offered the best conditions for this.

858. Since it was no longer possible to approach Earth-humans with logic and truth, the most subtle truths were smuggled into cultic-religious stories and spread all over the Earth.

859. This offered the possibility of paving the way for the truth and spreading it via cultic religion.

860. Even before the Age of Pisces, therefore, prophets were also chosen to work in this sense and to do justice to the creational truth.

861. Then, at the beginning of the Piscean Age, the Prophet Jmmanuel was chosen, who then spread the teaching truthfully and unwritten in understandable words of the time.

862. Later, however, it was again maliciously falsified, as had been the teaching of the prophets of old.

863. With Jmmanuel's work, however, a time had finally come again when extraterrestrial intelligences could once more increasingly make contact with Earth-humans.

864. However, the inveterate cultic religions chose the beamships and spaceships as celestial vehicles for religious purposes, so that once again there was nothing left but to let the truth seep through very slowly through the religions.

865. Thus extraterrestrials practically aided and abetted the malignant earthly cult religions in order to be able to serve the truth, for they had no other possibility.

866. Earth-humans had already reached the point where, if extraterrestrials had officially appeared, they would have engaged in acts of war against them, but this had to be avoided at all costs.

867. There would have been the possibility of influencing consciousness, but as you know, this is forbidden by important directives, because no life-form may be illogically interfered with by force, if it concerns any matters of development.

868. So these factors meant that landings with beamships and spaceships could only be carried out secretly.

869. But contacts with Earth-humans had to remain just as secret.

...

876. Then came the first labour pains of the Aquarian Age, and suddenly Earth-humans began to listen within.

877. But he/she also began to think and to investigate, and suddenly he/she realised that logic was to be found only in truth.

878. He/she realised that in seeing and hearing there was a lot of deception and only rarely the truth.

879. Thus in a very short time he/she developed their faculties of reasoning and searched inquiringly for logic and truth through conscious learning and thought work.

880. This, however, is a marked characteristic of the Aquarian age, and to this, to this characteristic, all wisdom-knowing intelligences adhere.

881. And this, among other things, is also one of the main reasons why extraterrestrial life-forms only reveal themselves to certain individual Earth-humans, upon whom they impose certain tasks which they can carry out according to their knowledge and their concepts, if at all.

882. Until now, these tasks had to be woven into religious phrases in order to make them accessible to Earth-humans.

883. But now these times are over and the truth must be spread as as the truth really is.

884. If, however, Earth-humans again bring contact reports of alleged extraterrestrials in religious form, then they are guilty of lying, and they lead back to their own delusions and unreal machinations as well as to the world-dominion-addicted, malignant intelligences or to earthly religious machinations and delusions in this respect of some misguided Earth-humans. 885. The present time of the Aquarian era demands the thinking of the human beings of Earth and the evolution of consciousness and spirit.

886. These factors, however, cannot be attained by seeing and hearing with the physical organs concerned, but only by reason and understanding.

887. Therefore, if we were to make an official appearance with our beamships and spaceships, the effect of thinking and researching would be annihilated, for a life-form, such as the Earth human in his/her present stage of evolution, still thinks and researches in spite of everything in the form that everything is real to him/her that he/she can see with their eyes and hear with their ears or that they can touch.

...

Ptaah:

982. We do not claim to know everything or even to be omniscient, but we are accurately oriented about all those matters that are connected with Earth, its life-forms and extraterrestrial intelligences.

983. Our technology is the highest and most advanced of all life-forms that visit the Earth.

984. This technology is therefore also what guarantees us the best possible control, so that nothing can actually escape us that is connected with Earth-humans and extraterrestrial intelligences, at least in those earthly areas that we are currently monitoring.

985. If, therefore, I explained to you that only three life-forms of terrestrial origin have been flown out into space by beamships in this century, this corresponds to absolute reality, for it is precisely for such occurrences that the best precautions have been taken on all sides in order to be able to control them with the utmost precision.

986. It is therefore absolutely impossible that an Earth life-form, an Earth human being, should be allowed to experience a flight into space through us without our being oriented about it.

987. And when I speak of us, I am thinking not only of our own race, but of all extraterrestrial life-forms that move in earthly space.

988. They are indeed different and some of them even have a quite low level of development.

989. Admittedly, we are not in direct contact with all of them, because certain factors do not allow us to do so.

990. But we have contact with several of them and partly work together.

991. However, they are mostly all known to us, but so are their technical and consciousness-based possibilities.

992. This allows us to include them with extreme precision in our controls, so that with absolute certainty nothing of their doing can escape us.

993. We are always precisely oriented about every undertaking, and it is impossible that our devices and apparatus would not register something.

994. Of course, from time to time there are strangers with whom we do not come into contact and whose origin we also cannot clarify.

995. However, these are rare cases.

...

Ptaah:

1003. In addition to these evil life-forms, there are also extraterrestrials who abduct Earth-humans from time to time, which Semjase has also told you about.

1004. However, these cases are relatively so rare that they are hardly worth mentioning, although the abductees usually never return to the Earth.

1005. But here again there are exceptions that are extremely rare and hardly worth mentioning.

1006. Most of the time, the abductors are time and space aberrations who only arrive to the Earth through their ignorance, through technical damage or through irrationality.

1007. On the other hand, however, there are also some inhumane races to whom Earth, when they discover it, means a welcome expedition planet where they rob life-forms of various kinds, but this is just as rare that it should not really be mentioned.

...

Billy:

... How do you see your appearance on Earth, when will you officially land and show yourselves to the human beings?

Ptaah:

1108. From our side this is not planned for a long time, but also not from many others.

1109. On the contrary, it will be the case that almost all extraterrestrials will withdraw from your planet again when certain circumstances arise.

1110. This will be when a race, as yet unknown to you, sets out from space to visit Earth.

1111. Our probability calculations have shown that this will have to happen well after the turn of the millennium, unless aberrant factors arise between now and then, thereby calling this foreseen enterprise into question.

1112. However, if these negative factors do not occur, Earth-humans will have their first official encounter with life-forms of other worlds at this coming time after the millennium change.

1113. The appearance of these space travellers is not yet certain, however, for there are still many factors that must first come to pass on the Earth.

1114. Misled by the unreasonableness of Earth-humans and by the lies of alleged contactees, these alien life-forms will first spread great terror on Earth.

1115. But there will be no danger from these human life-forms, for they will be peaceful and harmless and they will teach Earth-humans peace.

1116. Their culture and their spiritual and consciousness-based level will be very superior to the Earth-humans and so they will also not simply land unexpectedly on Earth.

1117. First they will announce their coming through open contacts and prepare the Earth-humans for it, before they really appear and land with one of their strange ships, which will be occupied by 8 to 12 life-forms.

1118. The time to come will show whether all can be thus fulfilled, if Earth-humans and their doings necessarily change for the better by then, otherwise all will fail or be postponed to a later time.

Billy:

That is very interesting, but where will they end up, if at all?

Ptaah:

1119. It will not indeed be America with certainty, but it is possible.

Billy:

Always this America, why only?

Ptaah:

1120. It is because the best technological conditions of communication to space are offered there.

1121. The population of this country, in connection with the awareness about extraterrestrial life-forms, etc. and about their existence, is also the most prepared by the film industry to be able to survive an official appearance without too much panic, even if the coming of the extraterrestrials is usually portrayed extremely negatively and often creates fear and terror.

Billy:

That is plausible. But surely there are other possibilities besides America, right?

Ptaah:

1122. I am sure there are, but I am just explaining what our probability calculations have shown so far.

Billy:

That will be very good when this official landing finally happens.

Ptaah:

1123. It will even be of revolutionary importance if this landing can really be carried out, but this is really only dependent on the negative factors which may come into play under certain circumstances, which unfortunately is still to be expected so far.

1124. So, however, it is not yet certain whether the events will take place in this manner, because I do not take this information from a view of the future, but from our vague calculations of probability.

Billy:

So it's still open then.

Ptaah:

1125. That is indeed so, yes, because everything is still extremely uncertain.

Billy:

But can you explain to me where these life-forms come from?

Ptaah:

1126. I am not authorised to give information about that in an official form.

1127. It is in connection with the Earth human development, when the mentioned life-forms land on Earth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_033

Semjase:

73. The events in Bermuda and the Bermuda Triangle are traced back to completely natural things.

...

77. For about two decades these events, which so far remain inexplicable for the terrestrial human beings, were additionally exploited in other forms by certain religiously dependent and unclearly working groups of Ufologists, who attributed the events to extraterrestrials

78. For them, these events were a found meal to feed credulous individuals with untrue and dishonest statements by inventing fantastically dark, satanic extraterrestrial powers, which are supposed to be responsible for the events in the Bermuda Triangle.

79. What could be more obvious in terms of religion than this measure because, like the unreal religions themselves, ufology had to have the form of a Satan in order to keep its believers in check.

80. Since Ufology was built on a religious basis and only functions in this form, it inevitably had to create two powers in this respect, namely good and bad, black and white, divine and satanic.

...

86. The events in the Bermuda Triangle thus correspond to a purely speculative form, if they are associated with extraterrestrial intelligences.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_034

Semjase:

131. Certainly, there exist two small stations deep in the sea in the Bermuda-triangle, which are also inhabited for three years by extraterrestrial intelligences from our federation.

132. However, those are actually very distant descendants of the former inhabitants of the continent.

133. But they are of absolutely peaceful nature and do not endanger any earthly life forms.

134. Their spaceflight-capable flying devices are also able to navigate in water and can dive to great depths.

135. That is necessary, because their stations are located deep in the sea.

136. Very often they can also be observed in those areas, while they surface from the water and vanish in the atmosphere.

137. However, they have factually nothing to do with the events of the Bermuda-triangle, which is unfortunately claimed regarding them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_037

Semjase:

9. For quite some time so far unknown to us intelligences have been visiting the Earth.

10. It was not until 1961 that we became aware of them, when they seized two Earth-humans for study purposes, brought them into their spaceship and subjected them to a physical-chemical analysis. {Note: see Betty & Barney Hill.}

...

36. Our examinations in the year 1961 revealed that there was nothing to fear from these space traveling intelligences.

37. They are humanoid in form and in fact only did research.

38. Their forms are absolutely human, though their body dimensions are somewhat different from ours.

39. Their size varies between 126 and 163 cm.

...

40. They originate from the planetary and star system ZETA RETICULI, as I already explained to you.

...

42. Their spacecrafts are similar to our beamships and are extremely well equipped and very suitable for space travel.

43. The atmosphere of their home world is very similar to the earthly atmosphere, so that they can breathe it without great difficulties.

44. However, they are provided with close-fitting filter suits, which offer them protection in a number of respects.

45. To the human beings of Earth I would say that they are similar to the suits given to the fantasy figures Batman and Superman in the comics, except that in this case the face and the whole head are completely wrapped in the suit, whereby the area around the eyes is secured by viewing and protective 'glasses' built into and integrated into the suit.

46. No doubt you are familiar with the fantasy films of French production about a criminal named FANTOMAS.

47. If you look at this fantasy figure and replace its eye area with dark protective lenses, you have a pretty good representation of the Zeta Reticuli intelligences in their suits.

...

56. They are peaceful humanoids.

...

62. Of course, they differ from us only in their anatomy as well as in their size and skin color.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_038

Semjase:

144. A real vision describes a certain form of a guided vision.

145. It is a form of vision that is dominated by many intelligences, including the Giza intelligences.

146. By these arbitrarily provokable and steerable visions, different extraterrestrials – and also we – influence life forms, in order to obtain certain impressions for them in this way, which are instructive to them and which they are to make accessible by spreading also to others, in order to also purposefully affect the surroundings.

147. These steerable visions are so massively realistic that the influenced life form becomes convinced that it has experienced the vision as reality.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_039

Billy:

... I know from Asket and you that 91% of the extraterrestrials visiting the Earth are purely human-like, human life forms, albeit with some deviations from our appearance. Through Asket, I have also seen various such intelligences outside of and far away from the Earth – such that were rather gigantic in stature and reached more than 4.5 metres, while the smallest dwarfs and short ones were 40 cm tall. But they were all really recognisable human forms. Some looked like Yetis, others like Cyclopes, miniature Goliaths, etc. Two forms, which I have also never seen on the Earth, were completely different, however. Both were more animal-like than human-like. These were, thus, two forms that belong to the remaining 9% and are, nevertheless, nonhuman-like human beings. ...

...

Billy:

Well, then I have another question: can you tell me how many extraterrestrials of a good form had contact with Earth-humans since ages ago?

Semjase:

...

243. Very many extraterrestrial intelligences came to the Earth from the entire expanse of the Milky Way for thousands of years.

244. For several centuries, however, there have only been very few, and only a few of these tried to pursue communications with the Earth-humans or even come into closer contact with these.

245. Mainly, the only ones who did so were those who were interested in showing new and better or simply future ways to the human beings of Earth.

246. On the whole, these intelligences were very distant descendants of your indirect ancestors, and only in very rare cases were these different forms of life, but they were still, to a large degree, of a human-like, human form.

247. I can say the exact answer to your question, but with the fact that of all the extraterrestrial visitors to the Earth, only 0.57% of those entered into contact with Earth-humans.

248. Excluded from these are those who traveled from afar, from the depths of the Universe, who became resident on the Earth in ages past and who entered into the earthly history of humankind.

...

Semjase:

260. Mount Shasta is an old volcanic mountain with a partially still unexplored area in America, or more precisely, in northern California.

261. The mountain is very rocky and extremely difficult to climb.

262. In the interior of the mountain itself is a small city, which is inhabited by descendants of extraterrestrials and which, here and there, also receives a visit from their space brothers from outer space.

263. It is a very majestic race, peaceful and good, but which anxiously strives not to be discovered by Earth-humans.

264. The entrance to their very deeply underground city is well camouflaged under the eastern mountain peak, and it is impossible for Earth-humans to find it.

265. But if Earth-humans are ever found in their proximity, then they are made imperceptibly unable to move or distracted by the beam weapons that most of the city dwellers carry on themselves for security reasons.

266. Their golden spaceships of a spherical form – for they master spaceflight – can sometimes be seen when they do not protect these from view.

267. Human beings of this race are very well-proportioned in their appearance.

268. Their hair is mostly natural blond, long, and curly, which is very fit for their graceful, Hyperborean nature.

269. Sometimes, despite their shyness of Earth-humans, they go into their villages to conduct unrecognised bartering with them, after which they depart and flee in a great hurry, however, if Earth-humans come too close to them.

270. But Mount Shasta is not the only place where this race lives, for already at very early times, they divided themselves into three smaller peoples, with the other two living unrecognised and deep underground on the Aleutian Islands and in Alaska.

271. The whole population amounts to just about 700 human beings.

Billy:

That is fantastically interesting, and now, a few things dawn on me. But you have just said something about their appearance, from which I could infer that with this race living underground, it concerns very distant descendants of the real Hyperboreans.

Semjase:

272. You infer correctly.

Billy:

Man, that is incredible! Then these would, indeed, be the descendants or distant descendants of those who, 180,000 or 190,000 years ago, carried out the actual decolonisation in the form that can be regarded, then, as the early history of the current human race, at least for the white race. Among them, then, must have also been the JHWH who gave Henoch great wisdom. Methusalem went to this one in a later incarnation of Henoch, and Noah was later commissioned by this one's guardian angels to build that ark, with which he actually landed, then, on Ararat.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_041

Billy:

Wait a minute, Semjase, you have to bear in mind that human beings are very misguided about these things. This is especially due to sectarians who work especially on UFOs and stamp the extraterrestrials as sent by god and angels, thereby glorifying them. In their boundless fantasy, they then ascribe to them a spiritual almost perfection or total perfection, through which they are to bypass the normal path of procreation and procreate the offspring in a 'spiritual way'. This idiocy rests on the one hand in the religious assertion that Jmmanuel was conceived in a spiritual way by the 'dear God', on the other hand it rests in the fact that the normal and natural act of procreation is an unclean and even animal concern, for which the explanation is again to be found in the assertion of the spiritual procreation of Jmmanuel.

...

Semjase:

21. We procreate our descendants in the same natural way as is that of terrestrial humans and all other material forms of life in all universes.

...

29. On the whole, however, the procreation of the offspring is oriented towards the normal sexual intercourse, for only this form corresponds to naturalness and the creational laws and recommendations.

...

Billy:

Sure, because you just told me that you find sexual activity pleasant.

...

Are you ashamed of that?

...

Semjase:

54. The only reason I did not want to talk about it was because I did not think it was important.

55. I am not ashamed to talk about it.

Billy:

But this is important for earthworms, because many believe that extraterrestrials are different in every respect. So it would be good if you would report a bit.

Semjase:

56. If that is so ... good:

57. These factors are probably described in brief outlines, because they are the same for all human life-forms bound to a body.

58. When man and woman sleep together, their thoughts move in quite imaginative paths, which trigger emotions in various forms, whereby physical and mental stimulus zones are set in motion and fill the body as well as the thoughts and feelings with pleasure.

59. These stimuli are very pleasant to call and fulfil the life-form with all sorts of desires and disinhibitions, which every life-form needs and thus loosens up in its outermost form.

60. This is the case with any kind of human life-form, including ours.

...

Billy:

... I would be very interested in how a birth is actually going on with you?

Semjase:

74. After conception, the woman carries the child, which has only just to develop, for nine months in her body.

75. Then the birth takes place in the same manner as this is also known to the Earth-humans.

...

Billy:

... how many years have you matured physically and consciously?

Semjase:

81. If you think of the fertility, then the answer is 12 years, because with this age every human form is capable of producing offspring.

...

84. The pure body-maturity is completed at 18½ years.

...

86. Consciousness-based maturity is also attained at 18 years of age, while the period of education-based activities, etc. is completed at around 70 years of age, which does not mean, however, that learning and evolution are stopped as a result.

{Note: The lifespan of the Plejaren can be over 1000 years.}

87. It is not the case with us, as it is unfortunately the case on the Earth, that a person rarely acquires further knowledge after his/her regular schooling time, because with us the further training in material and consciousness-based form continues during the entire further life span.

Billy:

Well, how is love now with you, I mean especially between man and woman?

Semjase:

...

90. But a true love between man and woman is a very special Creation-energy sensation through which man and woman come together.

91. In contrast to the mostly only emotional love, as it still prevails among terrestrial humans, our love is of a fine-spiritual-based nature and very pure, profound and therefore lifelong lasting.

...

95. But between man and woman, and in general between the human beings of our race, there is always only open and honest fine-spiritual-based love, which is only restricted in a controlling manner in certain cases when the situation requires it.

...

Billy:

Do you not have marital quarrels then? I mean disputes and disagreements?

Semjase:

98. Do you think of us as super life-forms?

Billy:

Certainly not, I ask only because this would be interesting for the earthworms of my level and also otherwise to know.

Semjase:

99. When two life-forms live together in an alliance, differences of opinion inevitably arise.

100. However, these do not have to ausarten into quarrels, as is so often the case with the Earth-human beings.

101. So without exception there are also differences of opinion in our marriages.

102. And it would be very abnormal if it were not so.

...

104. Also with us, like everywhere else, all life-forms are varied in their evolution, so never two exactly alike poles are found together.

105. If it were different, it would mean a flattening and abolition of evolution.

106. Thus, two differently directed poles must always come together if evolution is to come about.

107. This means however, that these two different poles constantly rub against each other, so that two different opinions collide, and therefore differences of opinion must arise for the purpose of evolution.

108. This is an irrevocable law of the evolution, to which we and all other life-forms in all universes are assigned.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_042

Billy:

... What happens to you with the deceased, i.e. with the lifeless bodies? Do you somehow shrink them into coffins and transport them to the next sun, or do you bury them as you would us, because they are simply buried one meter eighty deep into the earth, in cemeteries, or do you somehow cremate them, or do you just totally eliminate them?

Semjase:

...

46. Earth burial is just as familiar and customary to us as it is on the Earth.

47. For this purpose we have special storage facilities away from the inhabited areas.

48. From ancient times we have also maintained cremation for very, very rare cases, however, when such a cremation is desired.

49. Apart from burial in the ground, however, the total elimination of the dead bodies is not usual.

50. Burials are nevertheless things of individual requests, so one or the other form of burial can be used.

...

Billy:

... Do you live on your Pleiades also in houses, as we have them?

Semjase:

...

83. No, we do not live in the same structures, because our construction forms are all round, in flat round form with extensions, such as my jet ship, or they are spherical round.

84. Mass housing opportunities as you know them, are not given with us, because all the...

...

87. No, these forms of housing are not what we have, because all forms of life are entitled to open freedom, which also applies to living in homes.

88. Each family has its own home, which is built communally and needs no compensation, as this is usual with you. ...

Billy:

You mean mortgage or rent?

Semjase:

90. Of course, such things are a thing of the past, because we have had no means of payment for a very long time.

91. Thus, even the communally established homes do not require any remuneration.

92. These homes are however not arranged in the same way as yours are, where they are built on top of each other.

93. They are all rather single in a large country square of 100 x 100 metres, formed as a garden or meadow or park, etc. with many flowers, shrubs and trees and many other plants as well as vegetables, etc.

94. Only the structures of the villages and cities are of a different kind and also built for a larger number of people.

95. In this respect, however, no comparison can be made with the Earth.

Billy:

Man oh man, that requires an immense amount of land.

Semjase:

96. Sure, but with us all inhabited worlds are made arable to the last possibility.

97. Every usable area is cultivated and fertilised.

98. Only areas that could not be cultivated were occupied with larger and several types of buildings at the same time, with buildings that you would call factories, with surveillance systems and beamship ports, etc.

Billy:

And who works in the factories?

Semjase:

99. Robots and androids under the leadership and control of a few men and women, but who perform only technical surveillance and control tasks.

Billy:

What does the rest of Pleiadian humanity do? Are they twiddling their thumbs and lying on their ears?

Semjase:

...

101. All have their tasks, on the planet itself as well as on other worlds.

...

Billy:

Good; how many people live in such a splendid home, which almost seems like a paradise, if I can imagine it so?

Semjase:

103. There are never more than five persons, two parents and a maximum of three children, because three offspring is the limit, which is why we do not suffer from an overpopulation problem like the Earth-humans.

...

106. No, with us the Geranisa [mother-in-law] abstains from all interference in the interests of their married children.

...

Billy:

... But now to something else: Do you also know music, literature and art and do you have appropriate schools?

Semjase:

109. Sure, these things are common to all human life forms in the universe.

110. We also have appropriate schools for these things, but they can only be attended by really talented people who will later work in these things for the benefit of all.

111. The interested parties are judged according to the presence of talent and admitted to the schools, so only real talents are admitted.

112. There are therefore no such things as are customary on Earth, namely that performers appear in public who make ear-hurting sounds.

...

Billy:

... how does your music sound, and what kind of instruments do you have?

Semjase:

115. I cannot describe the music to you, because it would sound completely strange to you.

116. Likewise, the instruments would be alien to you.

...

Billy:

Where do you get the money from when you walk around our Earth shielded from vibrations and buy something somewhere?

Semjase:

122. For these purposes we look on Earth for precious metals and gemstones with our search devices, which we mine in very small quantities with our devices and sell to buyers, who compensate us with earthly money as an exchange value, which we then exchange into the required currencies as required.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_050

Semjase:

108. On our part we have very little accumulation of waste.

109. However, the resulting material is converted into usable soil and other substances in robot-operated conversion plants.

110. This requires a very advanced technology, of which the humans on Earth are not yet capable of.

111. In relation to this however, the Earth-humans have a similar form of the transformation of waste into soil and other substances.

112. However, this Earth technology functions on a completely different bases than ours.

...

Billy:

... Do you drink and smoke?

Semjase:

...

119. No, we're not familiar with smoking.

120. Drinking according to earthly terms is also unknown to us, although we also have drinks that are similar to alcoholic beverages.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_051

Billy:

Now I finally see you angry for once. ...

...

Semjase:

111. It is not easy for me, because I am really angry.

...

113. But the human beings of the Earth are often able to make my self-control collapse with their illogicality and unreasonableness.

...

116. I did not think it was possible to ever lose control of myself.

Billy:

You are only human, though much further up than us earthworms.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_054

Semjase:

44. We call my homeworld on our Pleiades ERRA and it belongs to the solar system TAYGET along with nine other worlds.

...

Billy:

... how long have you been stationed on the Earth and how long has the station been in Switzerland?

Semjase:

...

49. Our station in this country was built just over three hundred years ago.

Billy:

May I ask where the other two are?

Semjase:

50. I am not allowed to give any official information about this ...

...

Billy:

... Would you rather tell me how many other alien races are actually still stationed on the Earth?

Semjase:

54. There are seven more of them.

Billy:

Do you have all the stations here and are you in contact with them?

Semjase:

55. Certainly, they all have stations on Earth, as well as we all have connections and collaborations with them, because they all belong to our federation's realm.

56. Thus I am just talking about our people.

Billy:

Are the Giza intelligences included in these seven races?

Semjase:

57. They are not.

...

Billy:

You said you called your home planet ERRA. How many human beings live there?

Semjase:

94. 500 million.

95. Approximately.

Billy:

Fine, you will not have mass pile-ups because of overpopulation. But now, in connection with this question, I would be interested to know how many planets are inhabited in the TAYGET system. You were talking about your home planet and nine more.

Semjase:

96. Sure, in addition to my homeworld, there are three other planets that are habitable and inhabited.

97. All others are already subject to die off or are only beginning to form.

...

Billy:

... But something else, you know we do astrology on Earth, right?

Semjase:

100. Of course, it is a science that can be traced back to our ancestors and which we still cultivate today.

101. With you however, it has lost most of its actual values and truths.

Billy:

I am aware of that. But how does astrology work for you?

Semjase:

102. In the same forms as on Earth, of course but with different planets and different overall perspectives.

Billy:

Unfortunately, I do not know too much about these things. But what about your birthday, if you convert it to our time, when were you born?

Semjase:

103. To answer that question, I need to explain some important facts:

104. For example, when I talk about TAYGET or ALKYON, I am always referring to the whole system, not the sun or a planet itself.

105. So I am from Tayget, that is from the SYSTEM Tayget, but born on the planet ERRA.

106. This, my homeworld, is very similar to the Earth in all things, which is why it was chosen by our ancestors as a new homeworld at the earliest times, after they had left the Earth.

107. Thus all data of the planet corresponds approximately to those of Earth, with only small differences.

108. The orbit around the sun is 365 ¼ days according to earthly time calculation, while one day according to your time is 23 hours, 59 minutes and 14 seconds.

109. This results in almost exactly the same orbit and time of day as Earth has.

110. In contrast, other planets show differences, like also in the SOL-System or at all other systems in the Universe in general.

111. All our time units are named differently with us than with you, but with only small differences they coincide with the earthly time units.

112. So an ODUR is equivalent to a few fractions of a second of your hour, and even a MUSAL corresponds pretty much to an earthly day.

113. Our year we have divided into 13 ASAR, which means 13 months, with a compensation period of 23 years.

114. So you can see that we are only slightly different from your calculations.

115. Our 13 months can be divided also into your 12 months by the conversion, after which I would be born then according to your question after earthly calculation on the 7th of February.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_057

Billy:

... How many humans of your race currently live on the Earth?

Semjase:

75. Overall there are 114.

Billy:

This is a quick one. What do you call your sun Tayget in your own language?

Semjase:

76. Similar to yours, namely TAGET

...

Billy:

The next question relates to the troposphere of Erra: What gases and substances does it consist of?

Semjase:

80. It is almost identical to the Earth.

81. The tropospheres of our worlds usually contain between 75 and 70% nitrogen, 25 to 29% oxygen and 1% trace gases such as carbon dioxide, argon, etc.

82. Erra itself has a higher oxygen content with 32.4%.

83. Traces of argon and other gases are found at only 0.3% and nitrogen 67.3%.

84. However this refers only to the planet Erra, as I have explained.

...

Billy:

But how great is the surface gravity of Erra?

...

Semjase:

...

89. The surface gravity is 1.00003 according to the Earth's basic measure, ie slightly more than the surface gravity of the Earth.

90. The density is 5.521, the axis inclination 22.99 degrees and the equator diameter 12.749 km, whereby the escape velocity of 11.19 kilometers per second is to be mentioned.

...

Billy:

... But can you now tell me how many years your race has already mastered space travel, by which I mean your ancestors up to the most ancient generations?

Semjase:

94. It has already been 27 million years since our first ancestors built the first space-worthy flying vehicles.

95. It was about six thousand years before the great catastrophe when the Destroyer breached into the home systems.

...

Billy:

... You said you were 114 people in total here on the Earth. Is this number constant?

Semjase:

113. No, it varies from month to month.

114. Often we are less than 50, then again more than 300.

...

Billy:

... The question now is whether you also know something in this form, whether you swallow any medication or the like in order to keep the offspring rate within limits, which does not work with us despite the pill.

Semjase:

...

146. No, we do not need these things, because in observance of the natural laws and recommendations, we align with their order and abide by the periodic rules.

Billy:

So does this mean that you only make sexual love when this coincides with the female infertility period?

Semjase:

147. This is not quite so, because human life-forms remain human life-forms as long as they are bound to physical bodies.

148. Sexual needs also come to light outside the infertility period of a woman, so that the needs must also be met outside this period.

149. However, in order not to produce offspring, there are many natural aids which we always observe and apply, but this does not rule out the possibility that exceptions may come to light and offspring may be produced unintentionally.

150. However, every woman of our race has the technological means to detect an unwanted pregnancy within three days.

151. If this is the case, then natural preparations trigger early menstruation, whereby the fertilized egg is rejected before it is able to develop.

152. Therefore no abortion procedure, according to an earthly sense, takes place because no spirit-bearing life is destroyed by it.

153. As you know, only at the beginning of the heart's activity and therefore, three weeks after procreation, does the spirit become established in a life-form of a human being, so that through this process of a prematurely triggered early menstruation only the substantial basic substances are ejected and no life is destroyed.

...

Billy:

... But if I have understood you correctly, then you only use purely natural remedies for contraception, such as the one that you simply jump off the train in Oerlikon and do not drive right through to Zurich, right?

Semjase:

156. I find it admirable how you can describe and paraphrase these concerns.

157. Yes, it is one of our natural remedies.

Billy:

Well, I do not want to ask what the other means are, because surely they are very diverse?

Semjase:

158. Sure, but the harmony between man and woman is necessary in all events, otherwise it would be unpleasant for one or the other partner.

...

Quetzal:

12. This phenomenon is a teleprojection on our part, for the purpose of triggering memory.

13. The beings wrapped in white clothes embody our ancestors from a period of approximately 70,000 years ago, who came to Earth at that time, but who did not live in fixed houses, but in their free-floating beamships, which they had stationed mainly over forests.

...

17. The man dressed in the wonderful robe with the adorning stars was the YHWH of this emigration group, whose most distant descendants still live somewhere on the earth as their own smallest group of former extraterrestrials, but whom we have not yet been able to find by any means imaginable.

18. In the meantime we could only find out with certainty that Amata, from her old personalities, must today be a very distant descendant of the brother of the former YHWH, which means that this group of extraterrestrials, who as mentioned were a part of our ancestors, must have mixed with terrestrial people here on Earth and forgot their actual origin.

...

22. Our ancestors and us in former times were called sons of heaven by the earth-humans.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_061

Billy:

... What do you usually wear for shoes; but not always these boot things like you and the others, right?

Semjase:

178. Our footwear is similar to yours, but it does not consist of animal skins, but of materials that we artificially produce.

179. So is the clothing, it is very similar to the one you will be using in about 70 years.

...

Semjase:

185. Menara takes over my task here on Earth for the time being, until the turn of the year.

186. During this time Quetzal, I and the rest leave our station and Earth to return to our homeworlds.

187. According to earthly terms, we take what you call a vacation.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_062

Billy:

... What do you do with any items that get lost – and that you cannot get back for any reason? You know, I mean, what do you do when you just cannot get it back, maybe because it is in another person's possession?

Semjase:

92. Your question is not crazy, but very reasonable.

93. But why do you ask?

Billy:

It's because I have heard that some objects simply disappeared or burned or somehow dissolved when they were found by terrestrial people and when the objects belonged to some kind of alien intelligence.

Semjase:

94. The reason for this lies in a total elimination of these objects.

95. We and many other intelligences are able to totally eliminate lost things in various forms or simply burn them to ashes.

96. This happens by very far-reaching impulse transmitters, which are set into operation by a destruction mechanism built into each device.

97. However, these destruction mechanisms are usually only built into devices and objects that we take with us to foreign and still lowly-developed worlds, for safety reasons, so that the relevant still low-standing life-forms of a planet do not get a hold of possibilities for advancement which would be dangerous for them.

98. These devices or objects equipped with such destruction mechanisms are usually made of plastic, for example this small device here.

Billy:

What is this white thing?

Semjase:

99. It is a selective warner.

...

100. It is a warning device that indicates to me with a fine singing tone that if, for example, someone is approaching us now, and whose brain wave patterns are not recorded in the device, by which I thus mean, that it registers them.

Billy:

Aha, and if you lose that, you might be in a lot of trouble, huh?

Semjase:

101. Certainly not, because we always carry a second device with us, you see, this one on the belt here.

Billy:

Okay, you got me. But can you perhaps demonstrate to me how you can destroy such a thing?

Semjase:

102. For the purpose of your education, sure.

103. Look, I just throw it here on the ground; and now just step back a little.

104. – So, yes.

105. Now look at this belt device:

106. If you now touch these two touch surfaces here, the warning device will set itself on fire and turn into a mushy and brown-black plastic mass.

107. Look at the device lying there and operate the two touch surfaces.

{Billy:}

(I allow myself to operate it.)

Billy:

Fabulous, this thing really does smoke. Does it really burn to ashes?

Semjase:

108. Sure, if you let it burn long enough.

Billy:

Can I have the leftovers? You know, I want them analysed.

Semjase:

109. Sure, but then you should extinguish the mass, otherwise nothing remains.

110. But do not touch it until 1½ hours have passed, because until then certain radiations caused by the fire are escaping.

Billy:

Well, do you not think that our scientists can analyse important things out of the stuff?

Semjase:

111. This possibility is very small, because this type of plastic, which no longer reveals its original composition, is probably common on the Earth in a similar form.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_063

Billy:

How would it be, however, if you were to lend me your radiation gun sometime?

...

You know, it would be huge fun if you could see in the movie that I had one of those things in my hands, pointing at a small tree, and without seeing anything, the tree just falls over.

Semjase:

15. For unknowing ones, it should certainly be exciting.

16. I will really think about it; it might actually be a lot of fun.

...

Billy:

... I just find it quite squalid that especially these two poor jerks have to drag you into the dirt and claim that you want to capture and subjugate the Earth.

Semjase:

53. This assertion must testify to the truly boundless stupidity and primitiveness of these two men, for if we had ever had such actions in our minds, we would have realised such plans long ago, when earthlings had no defensive weapons.

54. On the other hand, even today's still very primitive weapons would not frighten us, thus there would be no obstacles to overcome.

55. So why should we wait into the distant future if we wanted to conquer the Earth?

56. Only very ill and still quite stupidly primitive brains are therefore able to hatch such nonsense, but not a brain that is already subject to intellectually based rationality.

57. And those who believe such irrational, lying and dirty lies are not much better off either.

...

Semjase:

74. Every human being on the Earth, on the other hand, must always do this himself/herself for the fulfilment of their duty, out of their own determination and therefore independently of us.

75. Never must anything in any form be dependent on us, which is why this is another reason why, as a rule, we only make ourselves visible to a few humans beings on Earth, but this only happens when they have become aware of our existence.

76. As little as you are ever allowed to act as a teacher, as little may we show ourselves, because only in this manner is it, and will it be, guaranteed that the Earth-humans will become independent, start to think and act in their own form, in the right form, and acquire the true knowledge and freedom within and without.

77. But if we were to show ourselves and if you were to act as a teacher, the human beings of the Earth would once again fall into belief and remain stuck in their evolution.

78. In that manner nothing would be achieved and the Earth-human would not become free and independent.

79. So the only way is that he/she is only given the basic rules of the laws and recommendations with their explanations, which he/she must, however, compile in their own thought work towards the truth and towards the knowledge.

80. Any delivery of evidence, other than those which we have given you for evaluation, would therefore be completely out of place, for if a form of life depends only on so-called evidence of a matter, then this means nothing more than a new belief.

81. Knowledge, truth and wisdom, however, cannot be acquired through such proofs, but only through one's own work of thought and through the attainment of inner clarity, through an inner creation of proof in truth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_064

Semjase:

48. ... the Earth-human today is not yet capable of dedicating himself/herself to our concerns regarding us and our ship's existence in honest, open and real form.

49. These so-called ufologists, who were meant to spread the truth and pave the way for the coming of extraterrestrial intelligences, have degraded themselves to primitive semi-scientific sects and spread their unintelligent and dirty nonsense of self-created theories and lies, thereby distancing the Earth-humans further and further from the truth on a global level instead of leading them towards the truth.

50. This fact shows that the Earth-human does not yet have enough real and truly knowing powers to prepare for the coming of extraterrestrial intelligences by a purposeful elucidation.

...

Billy:

... Recently Menara came and visited me quite unexpectedly when I was strolling around in the woods outside. She lent me her radiation gun, with which I shaved away some small trees in a matter of seconds by heat rays. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_066

Billy:

... Where do you want to put this fuzzy bear? Ah, do you not have any things of this kind yourself?

Semjase:

23. He shall remain here in the ship as a constant reminder of the solidarity and the certainty that we also have love and good friends on the Earth.

Billy:

Okay, and what about my second question?

Semjase:

24. Oh yes, no, we do not have things like that.

...

Semjase:

129. I, like my people, are human beings like your Earth-humans.

130. We also have feelings and fine-spiritual perceptions such as love, friendship, sympathies and antipathies, just as they are also characteristic of you Earth-humans.

131. In certain respects, however, they are much finer than with you, more sensitive and more profound.

132. Over the past centuries, this has led us to exercise too much control over them and to learn to encapsulate our feelings.

133. We assumed that we had to do this to protect ourselves from those more advanced.

...

141. We made the mistake of controlling our feelings too much, which meant that we made analyses according to pure probability values.

142. This was wrong, which we realised very soon after your acquaintance, you, who often lets yourself be guided only by your feelings.

143. This showed that it was wrong to encapsulate our feelings from more profoundly developed intelligences through an all too tight control, which is why this damage was repaired in the course of the last year.

144. It was already clear from this that the blocking of the feelings expanded and began to have an effect in one's own ranks.

145. So we found our way back, through you, in time and were able to correct the evil in a few months, before an evolutionary blockade of feelings would have certainly appeared, as is the case with other peoples.

Billy:

You mean with those who belong to your cosmic federation?

Semjase:

146. No, that is not the case.

147. These phenomena do not exist among our peoples and races.

148. The people of Erra are the most developed in the federation and are therefore the most advanced in these matters.

149. A comprehensive council decision has averted the evil, whereby attention will be paid in the future also to the fact that still more lower developed peoples and races do not make the same mistake.

150. I therefore speak of alien races and peoples, alien to us, in the vast universe.

Billy:

Aha, and what about the question here about passion, etc.?

Semjase:

151. Depending on the state of evolution of the consciousness, these concerns also change, because as a rule passions, sobriety and coolness are based on the consciousness-based level of evolution, since they are special character traits of a certain development.

152. So also among our peoples and races there are enormous differences in this respect, as it is also the case on the Earth.

153. In this respect the Errans are also ever fundamentally different among themselves, because passions and similar phenomena only diminish with the dissolution of the physical body, only that exactly these become more and more refined depending on the higher development of the consciousness-realm, as long as it is still present, however, as well as the physical body still exists.

154. With us, however, the passions are no longer to be found in the form in which they are still deeply and wildly anchored in you Earth-humans.

Billy:

That is to be understood. We are still the barbarians after all. But after your statement I would now like to conclude that on average you Errans are still quite the same in your emotions as we barbarians, even if everything is refined and sensitised in you, right?

Semjase:

155. Certainly.

...

158. What is correct is that through the discussion and explanation of these things more understanding is created for the fact that we Errans are human beings like their terrestrial counterparts.

...

Semjase:

227. Furthermore, I have to inform you that recently more and more extraterrestrial intelligences are sending robot- and android manned ships to the Earth in order to be expeditionally active here.

228. This has been the case for many years now, but this activity is currently being greatly increased, and Earth-humans are often used as experimental and test objects.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_069

Semjase:

13. As I once explained to you, the last decisive settlement of the Earth by extraterrestrial intelligences took place about 13,500 Earth years ago. {Note: See Easter Island Maori.}

...

Billy:

... Wednesday morning you sent me out at 00:23 hrs to look at something that had gone down at a certain place. Three of us found a track in the snow in a clearing in the woods, which obviously had to come from a ship. The snow had melted within a radius of about 3.50 metres, with four points outside the circle pointing to landing supports or something similar. To our astonishment we also found a lot of small footprints, not more than 23 cm long, leading from the ship's tracks to a small pond, back to the ship's tracks, and then to another water pond, where the same small footprints then also led into the forest and back again to the ship's tracks. The craziest thing, however, was that we found two such footprints in the middle of the snow, about 100 metres away from the ship's track, without another trail leading there. It just seemed as if someone had flown through the air and only stepped into the snow quickly for two steps.

...

Semjase:

...

165. These visitors are very small people, only 110 cm tall.

166. They inhabit a small planetary world in a galaxy that was previously unknown to us.

167. They came to Earth by an involuntary time shift, by a faulty manipulation of their still insufficient space technology.

168. Equipped as an expedition ship, it is commanded by scientists, one of whom went out of the ship to fetch plants, ice and water from the water points you mentioned to analyse them, while another went into the forest to collect material there as well.

169. Meanwhile, a third one, moving with a hovering device, secured the surroundings to be safe from unforeseen surprises.

170. Due to an accident, however, he once hovered too close above the ground, leaving the two footprints you had found.

Billy:

Oh, that is how it is. But – where are these dwarves now? Can they even go back to their homeland? You said that they came here because of a time difference, just because of an unwanted one. That does mean that they have been thrown out of their own time, right?

Semjase:

171. Sure.

172. But they will find their homeland again, because father brings them back to their time and to their homeworld through a leap in time.

173. But this still offers some difficulties, because we still have no information about their home galaxy, which is why we first have to work out the coordinates.

...

Billy:

Then good luck. But tell me, why and at what time did these dwarves land in that forest?

Semjase:

175. They landed there because a small impulse transmitter of ours is installed very close to that place, which serves as orientation for our telemeter ships.

176. They registered these impulses and subsequently descended there.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_070

{Note: This Contact Report contains a detailed history of the Plejaren civilization and their expeditions to Earth and the Solar system, which is not reproduced here. See also the entry further below for Contact Report 121.}

Billy:

Good, and now the question of how Erra got its name and when?

Semjase:

191. This is very simple:

192. The Pleiades stars of your space-time plane are much younger than the Earth, but not so [with] our stars and planets, which were named only by numerical values until the time when the 'High Council' took control.

193. Since then, however, at the request of the 'High Council', our homeworlds have been called by melodious names, e.g. also Erra, while the celestial systems are called Pleiadian or, in our case, Plejaren.

Billy:

If I think correctly, this should have happened 51,951 years ago, right?

Semjase:

194. Sure, you think correctly.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_075

Semjase:

3. Over there in the area, where I usually go, is unfortunately not possible today, because some of our friends are exploring everything over there.

4. We do not want to disturb them in the process.

5. However, they have been quite careless in the last few days, because they have already been observed twice in their space suits, which they have to wear because they are not oxygen breathers in our sense.

6. But your carnival costume wearing customs have protected them from the attention of the observers, because they were probably of the opinion that they were carnival connoisseurs.

Billy:

That is interesting. What exactly do they do there, and where do they come from?

Semjase:

7. They belong to the other groups working with us here on the Earth; they are also connected to our federation and investigate radiation phenomena and underground earth shifts that have come about as a result of various inner terrestrial factors and that will influence the future of that region.

...

Billy:

... Do they belong to you and how big are they?

Semjase:

11. Their size is 115 cm, and of course they belong to us, but they live on a smaller neighbouring planet of Erra.

...

Billy:

... Ah, look, Bernadette sleeps in Jacobus' car. ...

Semjase:

28. She does not sleep, she just doses.

Billy:

How do you know that?

Semjase:

29. Look here, this device, these symbols say that.

...

Billy:

... One noticed that Engelbert's cat went crazy. ...

Semjase:

...

33. But because of the cat:

34. Animals are very sensitive and feel us also when in invisible state.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_078

Menara:

13. But now see this weapon here.

14. This is similar to the one with which you once irradiated the young trees and the fir trees.
{Note: See Contact Reports 63 and 64.}
15. This one, however, is much older than that one.
16. Here, the direction finder shows you the target very accurately through this magnifying scope so that you can hit a single needle of a fir tree very accurately over a distance of several kilometres, which you can then test on a tree over there on the hill.
17. The tubular sight scope brings the target as close to you as if it were directly in front of the weapon.
18. In contrast to that, this is a very outdated operating apparatus, which is similar to that of your explosive firearms.
19. To send out the radiation you must pull back with your index finger just as it was the case with my weapon.
20. These two transparent containers on the top here, contain two different elements which are fundamentally necessary for the creation of the type of radiation.
21. Used together, they create a form of laser beam still unknown to you, which emits a very strong destructive swinging wave, which, however only destroys a few artificial forms of matter, such as your film material, so you must not use the weapon when taking photographs.
22. If the front and rear element containers are coupled by a pressure on this point, then a combustion radiation builds up, which within fractions of a second and up to a distance of 37.2 km dissolves everything into nothing, without leaving any traces of ash.
23. Only the things surrounding the target char and remain behind.
24. If the front container alone is activated by further pressure on this point, then only a tranquillising effect occurs, which is used exclusively for self-defence purposes, while the combustion radiation usually serves only for work purposes or total elimination purposes, but in extreme cases if necessary, can also be used, for example, to damage an enemy vehicle or flying object so that it becomes unable to manoeuvre and thus ineffective.
25. This also applies to weapons, etc.
26. For a very long time now, about six hundred years, these forms of weapons are no longer used, because our technology has developed much better ones in the meantime.
27. The latest weapon of this type has been reduced to a third of this size, and the function of the activation of the radiation trigger mechanism has fundamentally changed.
28. Thus, the operation of the newest weapons is individually adapted to its carrier, whereby a weapon can exclusively be used only by the owner.
29. The activation of the trigger is now only carried out on a purely mental basis, which is why the brain wave pattern is programmed into the memory of the trigger mechanism of the weapon. i.e. that of the owner.
30. If the weapon is to become the property of another owner for any reason, it must be newly programmed.
- ...
31. I designate the bearers of such weapons as the owner, because this is according to your sense and because the weapon is individually tailored to the carrier.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_081

Ptaah:

51. Cutback on the concerns around us and our ships, etc. to a large extent and dedicate yourself only to the fundamentally important facts of the evolution of the spirit or the teaching of the spirit [Creation-Energy teaching].

...

53. You yourself should under no circumstances continue to deal publicly with the so-called ufological concerns, on the one hand for reasons of time limitations and on the other hand for security reasons, but also because your real mission work is much more important and of the greatest importance.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_088

Semjase:

122. According to the latest analyses, a demonstration with our beamships must, unfortunately, be excluded for the time being.

123. This is due to the fact that in particular group outsiders, but also some group members, believe themselves to be privileged in matters of demonstration.

124. Also, the erroneous opinion has arisen from the mission leaving and betraying members that we must make not only our ships but also ourselves noticeable or visible as proof of our existence.

125. We cannot meet these unreasonable wishes in any form, because they run counter to the meaning of all our tasks.

126. We have no reason to show ourselves to Earth-humans in any of the desired forms; nor will we do so under any circumstances.

...

131. By the way, neither us and our ships, and our existence, are of importance at all but only the task we all have to fulfil.

132. We cannot allow that by the mentioned wishes and demands new idolisations and idealisations arise, which would inevitably lead to a new religion, as this has already happened many times.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_090

Billy:

... I was only there a few moments when a sound was heard, as if an unshielded beamship was approaching. Observing everything attentively all around and in the sky, I could not recognise anything, however, because the darkness was simply too strong. Only in front, where our court light illuminated everything, there I was able to see everything clearly out of the darkness. And as I looked over to the pole with the tape recorder switched on again after some time and then looked down into the meadow, suddenly and as if out of nowhere a figure stood there, exactly on the strip between light and darkness, where on the one hand the light was sharply separated from the court lamp and on the other hand the darkness. The figure had not run there, but was actually there all of a sudden. Quietly I stood up and scurried quietly across the street and over to the pole with the tape recorder, where I fully recognised the figure and saw that I had not been mistaken at the roadside over there, where the head of the figure had appeared to me like a grimace. Now I clearly saw that the being had a human body, and if I was not mistaken, it had to be a female body. According to Earth-human terms, this was in stark contrast to the voice that this being had, because it sounded quite deep, which means nothing, because I know very well that other beings can also have other voices in the forms as is the case with us on Earth. Then I also saw a hand of this being, which [in comparison] to my fingers seemed quite oversized, namely about twice as long as mine on my hand. But then the head first, oh my goodness, that was unique. I was not terrified because I had already seen some badly mutilated human faces, but I was somehow fascinated by the sight, which is why I really looked at it first, before I reached for my cannon, tore it out of the holster, tightened the handle and wanted to unlock it, which was, unfortunately, a mistake of mine, because when I raised the cannon, the strange being disappeared just as suddenly and without a trace as it had come. ... Somehow I feel as if this being, who was perhaps 160 cm tall, can communicate telepathically and probably wanted to get in touch with me in this way as well, which it did not succeed in due to my blockade. ... Since then I have always had the certain feeling that this being will come again and that with a quite peaceful intention. This is also evident from its voice, which was recorded by the tape recorder on the street pole. I tried to decipher the sounds and came to the conclusion that it was always the same words that the being spoke. It sounded like MURG, MURG to me. For two full days I 're-looked' at it and strangely enough, I always came to the same conclusion that this word 'Murg', if I filtered it out correctly, means nothing but PEACE. Since then it always sounds to me as if this being had asked me if I was also peaceable with him/her. What I have to say is this: The head of the being had the shape of a human head, but the appearance was quite monster-like, namely a cross between a fish and a frog, with a quite big mouth and a kind of herringbone over the skull, which was as shiny as everything else of this head, which I would like to call somehow beautiful, because even if it looked monster-like in the twilight, it was very well-formed and very natural. Somehow the being seemed to me to have risen from a fable, namely like an amphibian. ...

...

Semjase:

36. I know these kinds of beings, they are human life-forms that used to live in water and on land, amphibians, as you rightly say, but I do not know that such life forms that live very, very far away from this system are supposed to be here.

...

39. You have not succumbed to deception, and I am somehow familiar with the very cumbersome language of the being.

...

41. If I can take the tape recorder with me, I will go back to the station and call father if necessary, because he knows some of those cumbersome languages that amphibians speak when they cannot communicate telepathically, because telepathy is their actual means of communication.

...

46. Father knew immediately, because the sounds originate from a guttural language known to him of a human life-form race equally known to him, which is at home in the area of a system on a planet known to you as DENEK, at a distance of about 2000 light-years from the SOL system.

...

48. The sounds Claire and you heard are very awkward because they are very crude to these CYGNERS, as they are called.

49. Normally they communicate only telepathically, because their guttural language is very difficult for them, which they only use for communication when they have to communicate with other forms of life that are not capable of telepathy.

...

52. What further astonished father was that you also correctly analysed the meaning and concept of the word, because MURG actually means PEACE, according to which it is really easy to judge that you apparently also met the correctness with it, which says that the being observed by you came in peaceful intention.

...

55. First inspections in the last 70 minutes have now revealed that last Monday during the night time one of our large surveillance discs in the area of Southern Europe registered a foreign flying ship, but did not transmit this to the station, because it had not stored this data due to a disturbance field, which registered itself as of natural origin in our surveillance devices, and thus also had not transmitted it to our station.

56. Checking this disk now revealed that its equipment had not been shut down for seconds by a natural Earth interference field in any wise, but that an artificial interference field from some flying ship had caused this brief damage, controlled by some intelligence.

57. What remained unobserved during the disturbance of our surveillance equipment was an image recorder that automatically recorded the foreign flying machine in the moving image, after which we now know that this cylindrical ship, about 12 meters in diameter, is somewhere on the Earth – where, unfortunately, we do not yet know.

58. Apparently it is equipped with some kind of protective shield, which made our analysers ineffective and we could not determine the location.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_091

Semjase:

7. However, we were able to ascertain with certainty that their ship has not yet left the earthly space, so it is still somewhere camouflaged and shielded in a hiding place.

8. Father tried to find out on their home star who and why they came to the Earth, but he was told that the current whereabouts of four ships of the Cygner were unknown, so no information could be given in this regard.

9. That it could only be one of these four ships was clear, because exact coordinate messages were recorded from all other units and none were even close to the SOL-system or in the SOL-system.

10. According to the Cygner, the four ships with unknown whereabouts are older expedition ships, which unfortunately only have very limited means of remote communication on a technological basis.

11. This means that the Cygner here on Earth cannot communicate with their home planet, precisely because their means of remote communication cannot bridge the distance of 2,000 light-years.

12. The maximum range of their devices is unfortunately less than 1,400 light-years.

Billy:

But then they would be able to make a mental-telepathic connection.

Semjase:

13. Unfortunately this is not possible for them, because the Cygner only master the primary telepathy, not the spirit-telepathy.

Billy:

Oh so, then they are planet bound with this telepathy form. But there is one thing that does not make sense to me about the whole thing: Why don't the twits get in touch with you? Why are they trying to come to me or to come into contact with me of all things?

Semjase:

14. There is a very precise explanation for this:

15. The Cygner represent a human race whose senses are highly sensitised to swinging-waves from outside their own bodies, but only in planetary or ship-internal regions.

16. Thus they are able to receive and analyse swinging-waves of all life forms.

17. And here lies the answer to your question:

18. The Cygner have a form of government on their homeworlds, which your Earth-humans designate as herd instinct, but which is nevertheless led by the strongest of the herd.

19. So this order is a resemblance of a herd order in animals, the strongest of which exercises the position of the leading animal.

20. Since the Cygner had held this form of government since time immemorial, they changed it in the course of the last millennia only to the extent that they replaced the strongest of their kind with the most knowledgeable in spiritual matters, who thus was also the one who emits the highest swinging-waves, which is synonymous with the most powerful swinging-waves.

21. Thus, it is only natural that on foreign worlds, when they visit such worlds intentionally or unintentionally, the Cygner search for their kind and their form of government also for the highest spirit-knowledge-based swinging-waves of this world and, if necessary, turn to it when they need it.

22. And through your spiritual-teaching [a.k.a. Creation-energy] based learning and your knowledge you are the person on the Earth who gives off this highest swinging-wave from himself.

23. This again means for the Cygner that, for them, you are that form of life on this world, in respect of that mentioned, above which no other form of life stands.

24. This alone can be the reason why they try to connect with you.

...

Billy:

Nevertheless, there are some things that do not make sense to me, for example, why these twits do not turn to you or to the other groups, because all of you have decidedly several times higher swinging-waves than me.

Semjase:

26. Your thoughts are very logical, but you forget that we have to leave our swinging-waves in our station, or in our ships, to be absorbed by them, in order not to influence the Earth-human beings through them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_093

Billy:

... How did it actually end with the Cygner girl who you fetched last Saturday, November 26th, after my calling?

Semjase:

98. Everyone is with us at the station, including her ship, whose intergalactic propulsion was destroyed by an explosion.

99. The Cygners have a very ancient technology, which was passed to them less than 4000 years ago, for which we do not have the necessary knowledge.

100. For this reason, it will take a long time before we have repaired the ship, after which it will be returned to the homeworld.

Billy:

But spare parts could be brought in from the home planet.

Semjase:

101. Unfortunately this is not possible, because for this outdated technology the necessary knowledge is missing there, too, and furthermore the Cygners are technologically absolutely untalented, which is why they are not able to repair their technological devices, etc. themselves.

...

103. They were underway for four long years, more than two years of which they drove in free fall through space, after the explosion of the propulsion unit.

Billy:

By free fall, you mean they were drifting through space without a drive, right?

Semjase:

104. Certainly.

...

106. They spent the time in artificial deep sleep and therefore needed no food.

Billy:

I understand – maybe they were still lying in water tanks and were woken up by a robot after a long bath.

Semjase:

107. Sure, but how do you know?

Billy:

I have seen such scenes in utopian movies before. Are you twisting my arm?

Semjase:

108. That is no joke.

...

Billy:

... Man oh man, then the fantasies of the utopian writers are not even far-fetched.

...

Semjase:

113. I will ask Asina.

Billy:

That's how the little child introduced herself to me.

Semjase:

114. Sure, Asina is a very kind being.

...

Billy:

Then the little girl pressed her cold fish-frog beak to your cheek? It seemed to me like a kiss.

Semjase:

117. Sure, and it should also be a kiss, because that is the Cygner's regular greeting form.

Billy:

... But tell me, why did they not use their radios or something when their ship's propulsion exploded?

Semjase:

118. Because the remote communication devices were also destroyed.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_096

Billy:

... So I sent my spiritual consciousness to Erra and found a rather strange building there, which somehow magically attracted me. So I penetrated into a room that seemed to me like a supermodern operating theatre. There were various containers, which seemed to me like glass shrines, but equipped with all kinds of possible and impossible devices and apparatuses. All but one container were empty. In the occupied one, Semjase lay completely undressed and obviously deep-frozen – dead. Her head lay in a horseshoe-shaped, opaque apparatus, which is why I was only able to see her face exactly. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_097

Billy:

... But now again a question regarding the Sonaer, who are so highly developed: What's their technology?

Quetzal:

36. It already corresponds to forms that we ourselves cannot yet understand.

37. They are far superior to us in the control of space and time, but also in all other things.

Billy:

How, for example, do they master time and space to reach Erra, and how do they master the passage through the barriers of the universe?

Quetzal:

38. They no longer need space-hurrying aircraft for this, because their technology is already anchored in the transmitter area and profoundly embedded.

...

50. The reason that we cannot connect with you human beings of the Earth in physical form is this:

51. The levels of swinging waves between the human being on the Earth and us are so fundamentally different and pronounced in the forms of the negative and the positive as well as the balanced that this can lead to serious consequences if they touch each other.

52. As a rule, these human swinging waves reach up to 90 meters, which is why it must be ensured that this distance is not broached, i.e. that terrestrial humans do not reach us under this distance mark.

53. Our swinging waves are very highly sensitive, and we ourselves react equally highly sensitively to oscillations that penetrate our oscillation range.

54. In contrast to the terrestrial humans, we are very high in our consciousness-based overall development, 20-35 million years ahead of the terrestrial humans, which is why our entire swinging wave system has refined.

55. If the swinging waves of the much less sensitive human being on the Earth were to strike us now, precisely because earthly human, and thus also quite unbalanced and negative swinging waves, would penetrate into the area of our swinging waves, then this would amount to a very strong swinging wave structural agitation, which in reality also embodies it, which would have the consequence that the strong external influence would lead to an instantaneous uncontrollability of all reactions, thoughts and actions in us, which would at the same time trigger uncontrolled feelings of fear.

56. This means that when the swinging waves of an Earth-human meet us, who unfortunately still emits very negative swinging waves today, we would be affected in many respects in momentary speed and start to act uncontrollably, which was also the case with Semjase when she fell in the Centre and suffered the severe injury.

57. As a rule, when we go among terrestrial people, which is very rarely the case, we use a device that protects us from terrestrial human swinging waves.

58. But this was never necessary for you, because you are free of these swinging waves through all your knowledge and equalisedness, according to which it comes very close to ours.

59. In the Center now a certain protective ring, a small protective screen, was established, which keeps away such swinging waves of the terrestrial humans.

60. This protective shield, however, is only of limited strength, so only directly for the Centre itself, but in the lower space still weak radiation from outside can enter if someone goes directly to the entrance or to the outer wall.

61. Now, when Jacobus was at the outer door, his swinging wave penetrated to Semjase and produced in it the fear and uncontrollability I described earlier, which drove her to an uncontrolled action.

62. The consequences of this are known to you.

63. These swinging wave structure agitations, which are dangerous for us, together with our strict directives, are the main reason why we are not allowed to engage in physical contact with terrestrial humans.

64. Even with our telepathic or even only inspirational-impulse-based contacts we have to exercise extreme caution, because thrown back impulse-based swinging waves also have similar effects.

Billy:

Then you are quite susceptible.

Quetzal:

65. You are speaking a true word, but our sensitivity in this regard is not only based on our evolution, because our homeland is also a very important factor in this, because it itself is highly sensitised, which does not remain untainted to us human life forms.

Billy:

I do not quite understand that, Quetzal, but I have been trying to fathom it for a long time. Semjase once made a rather strange remark to me. This led me to speculate, which is why I assume that you live on your Pleiades in a differently dimensioned form. By this I mean that you are probably up there in our universe and in our time, as Semjase once explained to me, but that you are dimensionally shifted, namely in a parallel system of our Pleiades. ...

...

Quetzal:

74. But this does not change anything, because we are just as compact and present in this dimension of ours as we are in that of our Pleiades systems, because we are descended from this dimension and also from your dimension.

75. Why we live in a parallel dimension on Erra and in our Plejades systems, in general, is due to the fact that the Pleiades systems are not habitable for us in this dimension, your dimension, and could not be made habitable by our ancestors either, because the system for habitation is still much too young for us in this dimension.

Billy:

Your explanation is plausible, but what is the nature of the Pleiades system in the other dimension? Is it as solid as our Earth?

Quetzal:

76. It is a parallel dimension, that is what I said, therefore matter is also of the same strength as the Earth's matter.

77. The dimensions are simply different in their structure, but not in time and space.

...

Quetzal:

99. ... I know from Semjase that she is very comfortable with your jokes.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_102

Billy:

... Are the Cygners still with you? ...

Menara:

15. She will still be here for several months, because the repair of the interstellar propulsion of her ship has turned out to be very difficult.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_109

Billy:

... But tell me, girl, the apple there beside the viewing screen, have you stolen that from somewhere?

...

Semjase:

7. It comes from the greenhouses of my father.

Billy:

You mean that it is from Ptaah's giant box, that it grew there and was harvested?

Semjase:

8. Definitely.

Billy:

Aha, then you also have such fruits, as we know them here on the Earth.

Semjase:

9. Sure, but they were not originally native fruits of Erra.

10. The apple is from a tree, which comes from a progeny of earthly trees.

Billy:

Oh, I see, so you have fruit trees that were taken from the Earth, which you simply continue to cultivate, and you also let these bloom and bear fruit in your Great Spacer. So what kinds of trees do you have, then?

Semjase:

11. We possess trees, shrubs, and plants of every kind, as they also exist on the Earth.

12. There are even various kinds in our greenhouses, which have already been extinct on the Earth for a very long time.

13. But we have preserved them and have made them useful to us.

14. Thus, we have all fruits, as they are also known on the Earth with you, and even several more, which you only know through your researchers of antiquity, etc.

Billy:

That is fantastic. And – how do these fruits taste today with you? Do they still have the same taste, as we know it?

Semjase:

15. You think now of this apple.

16. Sure, the taste has remained the same; it is, perhaps, even somewhat more intense than with your apples of this sort, and certainly much better in its juice.

17. But all the other fruit trees from the Earth also bear fruit with the tastes or flavours known to you; it's just that these, as I have already explained, have become somewhat more intense since our robots and androids maintaining the trees work on these very attentively and also have great concern for them, as this happens with all plants cultivated by them.

...

(Billy took the large apple and brought it home with him, where he handed it over to Guido Moosbrugger, who then inserted the apple into a glass of alcohol and made it durable in this manner. The apple still exists today and is still in the same glass under the care of Guido.)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_112

Billy:

... how is it with you: do you actually dance, too? I mean, like with us, men and women together, etc.?

Semjase:

7. Such rhythmic movements are well-known to us, and the Earth-humans have also taken this over from our ancestors.

8. These rhythmic movements are, to my knowledge, known among all human forms in the Universe, only in very different forms.

9. But the rule is that male life-forms among us do not indulge in such rhythmic movements together with female life-forms but only alone or among their peers.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_115

Billy:

... how does it actually stand with you all on Erra, with regard to marriage? You, Quetzal, are you actually married, and if so, how many children do you have? And you, Ptaah, your wife, is she your only one?

Ptaah:

25. The law of love has overall universal validity, only that it very often becomes changed by the most diverse human races according to their own human and illogical negative values; thus, they often create a monogamous marriage, which is literally restricted to only one woman and one man for such a marriage and such a family; thus, the truthfulness of monogamy – as you have so aptly disassembled for me once – no longer applies.

...

28. Well then, I was married to three women, which corresponds to the minimum value of a We-Form-Partnership of universal expanse.

29. Nevertheless, out of the three, the only one living is the mother of my deceased son and my two daughters, for the other two have left me by means of death – the one already more than 300 years ago and the other one more than 360 years ago.

Billy:

Aha, and how many years old is your still remaining wife?

Ptaah:

30. 630 years.

...

Billy:

Well, thanks for your information. So what about you, Quetzal?

Semjase:

362. He is pampered by four very beautiful women and has 6 children with them.

Billy:

You smile so suspiciously, girl; you seem to be really happy about it?

Semjase:

363. Sure, his wives are my best friends, and they always wish that I shall become the fifth in their alliance.

Billy:

And, Quetzal, what do you say to that?

Quetzal:

40. Semjase and I are of another opinion than my wives.

Billy:

And why, if one may ask?

Semjase:

364. I would not like to marry again.

365. On the one hand, because the loss of a human being by death gives me very much grief, and on the other hand, because I have found a very important task in my activities, which can hardly be reconciled with a marriage.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_119

Quetzal:

1. Even our possibilities are limited.
2. You are only looking at everything from the perspective of an earthly standpoint, whereby you overestimate our technology, at least in this case.

Billy:

That is possible, and I see, therefore, that even for you, limits are set in certain matters of technology.

Quetzal:

3. That is of correctness.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_121

Billy:

What are the recordings stored on?

Menara:

92. They are very small electronic storage disks the size of a normal female thumbnail.

Billy:

Aha, and you could not have lost such a storage element?

Menara:

93. No, with absolute certainty not.

94. There would only be the possibility that one of the elements would be defective, by which means recordings would be missing.

95. I will immediately let it be checked.

...

98. Yes, you were right with your assumption that something was lost, but it was not a storage element but rather a microscopically small connecting piece between two tiny storage cells, by which means the recordings were not played.

99. They were recorded, however, and thus, I know the data now.

100. I am sorry that this misfortune has happened to me.

101. Somehow, I must have damaged the element during a manipulation.

...

{Note: The following excerpt refers to a detailed history of the Plejaren civilization and their expeditions to Earth and the Solar system given in Contact Report 70.}

Billy:

... Then I have a somewhat complicated question: through various calculations, I have, another time, encountered the fact that something cannot be right with the dimensions of our present, from this to the Centaurus groups as well as to Lyra and Vega and even to the Pleiades. According to my calculations, these suns and planets addressed – of which there was already often talk between Semjase, Quetzal and me as well as between Ptaah and me – would really have to be in other dimensions, as it was said to me repeatedly. This would, therefore, actually mean that their Lyra and Vega human beings, and still some others, are just as non-existent in our present dimension as also the Pleiadians and the Centaurus human beings. And if my calculations are right, then you all would have to live just a fraction of a second in the future to our space-time configuration, which for us, however, results in a difference of several thousand years, with regard to technological development. But how this is connected, that is a riddle to me, and it could even be very difficult to understand. But Ptaah once spoke of the fact that on that or on a planet of the Centaurus groups, a people lives in overpopulation, which comprises about 120 billion (120,000,000,000), so these, then, would have to live in the future, as seen by us. On the other hand, I also calculated that at that time – around twenty-two million years ago, when the events took place in the Lyra and Vega area, which eventually led to the visits to our Earth – at that time, through some skillful manipulations, the Lyra and Vega refugees fell into the past and so penetrated into our space-time level. With certainty, this was no so-called chance but rather a full calculation. This arose from my contemplation of the fact that the technology of your ancestors was already so widely developed at that time that these would have tracked and found the refugees with certainty. But since that was not the case, the refugees must have retreated into areas that fell outside of the control of the pursuers. But concerning this, there are only two possibilities, so namely the past or the future. But as I know the things now, the refugees were not able to venture into the future, so only the past remained open to them, to where they then actually also retreated. And because the past comprises millions of years and even billions of years in a life-potential form, the pursuit was given up, but this, in turn, means that the technology of your ancestors was not yet developed so far that they would have been able to carry out detections in the areas of the past or the future. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_123

Semjase:

48. The objects observed and photographed by you come from the Andromeda areas, and these are fine-material flying objects – similar to the bio-organic flying objects that you know.

49. In this case, however, it is such that these flying objects are fine-material and not bio-organic and that these, depending on preference and need, are generated by powers of consciousness from a very highly developed, human dwarf race, whose size amounts to approximately 70 cm, whereby I speak of body height.

50. This race, which is even unknown to us, is fine-dimensioned and stands in the advice of the High Council ...

...

53. Anyhow, the High Council became informed and enlightened by these Nabulanians – so they are, in fact, called ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_131

Billy:

... But how is it in this respect on the Pleiades, do you still have large and open areas?

Semjase:

20. Sure, because firstly, we keep our population at the number of the natural state, and secondly, every inhabitant of our worlds is careful to ensure that kilometre-wide areas remain free of any buildings.

21. We love the freedom and the vastness of the land, which is why everything is arranged in such a manner that a crowding never results.

22. Thus, the large settlements, the cities, are limited to a minimum number, as is also the case with the villages.

23. All the individual residential buildings, however, in which families live with no more than five persons, comprise a square of 100 × 100 metres outside the cities and villages.

Billy:

You mean that five people at most – and so, therefore, a family – live in such a square parcel of land and that also their house stands on this piece of land.

Semjase:

24. Sure.

25. About one-third of our population lives in such a manner, while the other two-thirds of our population are concentrated in the few cities and villages, but they are fitted with very large wooded or low planted parklands underground and above ground.

26. Also, every small or large residential building – in which more or less families live, like with you in the multi-family dwellings – is equipped with a 100 × 100-metre large park garden, which is jointly used, however, by all inhabitants of the city dwelling or village dwelling concerned.

Billy:

I find that fantastic. So thus, each high-rise building or apartment building has its own park?

Semjase:

27. Sure.

...

Billy:

And, how is the weather on Erra? Do you have anything better thereof?

Semjase:

29. With us, there is no severe weather and there are no natural disasters, such as are common in the current time on Earth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_135

Quetzal:

2. Menara waits for me a few hundred metres away with a herd of cows.

3. We also have our ship in the vicinity there.

Billy:

Oh, I see, then you are probably the reason why the cattle are so restless up there on the southeastern slope of the forest.

Quetzal:

4. That may very well be, because Menara is with the cows, which she is fond of and with which she is gladly occupied.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_136

Semjase:

170. Already in the beginning time, when the papacy and the Vatican were founded and brought to life in Rome, the most negative place existing in Italy was unconsciously selected for the residence of the Pope, the city of Rome, where the Vatican resided, from which, for almost two thousand years, murder, enslavement, exploitation, deception, and every possible crime spread across the earthly world, and even other worlds in the Universe and in distant, foreign galaxies did not remain spared from these vile, murderous, religious, and deadly deeds because innocent extraterrestrial visitors on Earth were confronted with the madness of the religious cult of the Vatican and, therefore, Catholicism, and succumbed to this delusional faith, and after their return to their homeworlds, their people living there were also infected by the acquired delusional faith until religious wars broke out, and that is why entire planets and even enormous solar systems have been destroyed.

...

Semjase:

459. Toward the latter part of 1983 or spring of 1984, we are planning to introduce an effective peace meditation to benefit Earth, its inhabitants, and events that will occur there. Included in this effort will be everyone on Erra and many members from our federation, who total will comprise more than 3.5 billion (3,500,000,000) humans.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_137

Semjase:

24. If we had put one of our androids in your position, then he would have destroyed himself if all of this illogicalness had arisen.

Billy:

You have strange jokes in stock.

Semjase:

25. No, because my words correspond to the truth.

26. We actually expected too much from you; a test has proven this.

27. Quetzal came up with the idea.

...

28. He wanted to know to what extent a half-organic apparatus could bear the illogicalness that has crept into the group.

...

32. Quetzal programmed an android with all records of negating and negative forms of all group members.

33. The results were awful.

...

34. These stored illogical modes of acting and thinking led to the fact that the android became crazy in all of its actions and speeches.

...

36. Our androids are programmed based on absolute logic in thinking and acting, and these abilities surpass even our own respective abilities and potential.

37. Now, during the transfer of data, Quetzal also paid close attention to the fact that your own data of your work and all your efforts toward the instruction of the group members and all their interests became programmed into the second android. Thus, the exact situation arose in the two androids, which included everything that happened between you and the group members since the beginning. On the one hand, the overall view of the group members was placed into the first android, and on the other hand, your data was placed into the second android.

38. Expecting something terrible to happen, Quetzal placed both androids in an old beamship in the vicinity of the planet Pluto, where he then activated them and they began to live.

39. Then, on our view screens, we could watch the terrible sight.

40. Already after a few minutes, the android programmed with your data began to become visibly ill, while our recording devices registered an action of complete helplessness.

41. Soon, completely apathetically, it wanted to destroy itself, but then suddenly, in the very next moment, it senselessly and angrily raised its voice.

42. Meanwhile, the second android spoke absolutely crazy words without thinking and manipulated all of the ship's apparatuses without sense or purpose.

43. Despite the visible internal difficulty of the android programmed with your data, it tried, again and again, to bring the other android, stored with the illogical data, to its senses, which it apparently managed to do quite often.
44. But truthly, this was only apparent, for as our recording devices clearly determined, the attempts of reconciliation and reason only worked so far that the logic of the words of the android representing you released reassuring impulses, while the second android did not at all have in mind to make the logical explanations its own.
45. The investigations of the registry devices unambiguously proved that the negatively programmed android had developed a blatant form of self-addiction, egoism, and individualism, as well as a lust for power and, despite the superficial acknowledgment of the logical explanations offered to it, etc., was unwilling to actually adopt them.
46. Truthly, as the recording devices unambiguously showed, it only wanted its own will to count and to enforce it, which finally went so far that your android rapidly deteriorated and suddenly became crazy.
47. As we could see from our devices, his artificial organic brain mass slowly began to cook and to steam.
48. Then, there was an explosion, and his head was torn up beyond all recognition.
49. Meanwhile, the other android, who only cared about this briefly, continued to act completely illogically and, moreover, spoke very confused and crazy things.
50. Then the moment came when he wildly and senselessly hit the ship's equipment and created an inferno, when he accidentally touched the automatic self-destruct mechanism of the ship, and it was destroyed in an immense explosion.
- ...
51. For us, it was proof that we had expected inhuman traits from you.
52. What an android cannot take, a human life form cannot take either.
53. Only through Quetzal's test could we grasp the full scope of what had caved in on you over all the years.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_141

Semjase:

82. For about forty days, there has been another station on Earth, created by human life forms, similar to us, of extraterrestrial intelligences from the planet HASTER in the GARON system of the JENAM galaxy.
83. This galaxy is located 483 million light-years away from the Earth, and 413 different human races live on the habitable planets there throughout the entire galaxy, which is, relatively seen, very little for an entire galaxy.
84. Just a few years ago, we entered into connection with the highly sophisticated inhabitants of the planet Haster, who have progressed so far in their overall development as it will be for the Earth-humans in approximately 1,120 years.
85. With ethically and very highly distinct lifestyles, the inhabitants of Haster are very peaceful and loving, and besides this, they live in the same time-level as the SOL system, thus, in the present level, as this would be said or called by you.
86. Because the Haster inhabitants are now interested in life forms in the remote vastness of the Universe which is still inaccessible to them but cannot yet reach these areas with their technology, we have extended our connections with them in such a way that we brought an expeditionary command of the Haster inhabitants here in the Great Spacer.
87. We also helped them build their station, which was created in the depths of the North Sea and from where they will expand their expeditionary work across the whole world.
88. Since their mental, physical, and consciousness-related development has not yet progressed as far as ours, we can only maintain physical contact with them using our swinging wave-neutralising devices, as we must also do so with the Earth-humans when it is necessary now and then.

89. However, this now means that the Haster inhabitants can freely move among the Earth-humans because their swinging waves turn out to be bearable with those of the Earth-humans, but only briefly.

90. The Haster inhabitants cannot remain in the direct range of the swinging waves of the Earth-humans for more than 17 hours; otherwise, they begin to lose control of themselves.

91. But since they have this 17-hour possibility, they have decided that they will seek contact with one or several Earth-humans for their study purposes and also for the instruction of the Earth-humans, but certainly with no more than three people, who must remain silent about it for their lifetimes, which is why especially upright people are to be selected for these contacts, who can be completely trusted.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_142

Semjase:

9. The few human races in the area of the Cassiopeia constellation in another space-time configuration are well-known to us, but they have no resemblance to the life-forms mentioned in this letter.

10. Also, their flying apparatus do not correspond in any manner to the kind described here, and besides, their technology is not so far and highly developed that they could, with their own flying apparatuses, reach the Earth.

11. The technology of one of the two races is presently developed so far that they prepare just the first flight attempts to outer space, and they stand just a little bit behind Earth's technological development.

12. The second race, which is on another planet behind the Cassiopeia constellation, only has flying apparatuses that master their own planetary space somewhat certainly.

13. Among these facts is the further complication that both of these races of human life-forms exist in a different time plane in relation to the Earth, like I said, so separated from the time plane that is known to the Earth human being and in which they live.

14. So when the human beings of the Cassiopeia constellation one day master space travel, they still will not be able, for a long time, to penetrate into the time plane in which the Earth-humans live their existence.

Billy:

And in our time plane known to us, no human life-forms exist, who would be capable of space flight in Cassiopeia, i.e. in that area?

Semjase:

15. Sure, there are human beings there, but these are not yet advanced in space flight or are not yet so far advanced that they could carry out journeys through universal space.

16. Like on the Earth, secret stations of foreign-planet human races exist there on their planet, which do not, however, practice direct contact with the planet's inhabitants.

...

Billy:

... how many of all solar systems have planets that are actually inhabited by humans, which are visible from the Earth and which are known to us? If one believed all alleged contact reports of Earth-humans with extraterrestrials, practically all solar systems would be inhabited.

Semjase:

...

18. Truly, there are only very few solar systems inhabited by human life-forms that are known to the Earth-humans, and on the other hand, a lot of suns have no planetary systems.

19. To these facts, there is still to add that many of the space-traveling races that come to the Earth are not resident in the time plane known to the Earth-humans.

Billy:

Ah, we already spoke very often about space-traveling human races that do not belong to you and which come, nevertheless, to the Earth. In which time plane do they all belong?

Semjase:

20. It is different for each.

21. To mention all of them would be difficult and time-consuming.

Billy:

Then let's say, for example, the humans of the area of Alpha Centauri, then Reticuli, or whatever it is, then...

Semjase:

22. The first ones live a tiny fraction of a second shifted from the Earth-time plane, so therefore, they cannot be reached by Earth inhabitants before they master time-travel.

23. The second human race you mentioned also does not live in the same time plane as the Earth-humans.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_144

Semjase:

22. These conflicts within him {"H.", possibly Hans Schutzbach} finally led him to the case because through his steady insistence of getting in touch with me, I allowed myself to be led to approach him in my ship so close that he came into my personal swinging wave field.

23. Thus, he suddenly became aware of the true love and peace, which seemed like a paradise to him.

24. But disaster immediately fell upon him when I went away again and he fell out of my swinging wave field.

25. It seemed like the end of the world to him, which made him deal with suicidal intentions, from which I was able to prevent him only with great difficulty.

26. For this reason, I tried to influence him to the better through my own swinging-waves, but this was clearly wrong because he only responded to any attempt to help him on my part by starting to pity himself more and more, and at last, a dangerous hatred built up inside of him against everything that has to do with calm, peace, and love, as well as with truth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_148

Quetzal:

32. This is also the reason why our own keeping of animals on Erra is uniformly handled in such a manner that dogs and cats may only live in the wild or in special and very large enclosures, to which the human beings have no direct access.

33. Already very early on, our scientists of the past recognised what pathogens these animals carry on themselves, which are dangerous for human beings, which is why they arranged appropriate measures for their keeping.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_150

Quetzal:

40. Not only did we have to remove all of our available forces from the Earth, but also from many other worlds, including Erra.

41. We need all available forces because the population of a whole system, which includes 16 inhabited planets and three suns, has prepared itself for a space traversal in warlike form because their system is doomed.

42. The targets of these still war-accustomed humans are the habitable planets of the most diverse constellations, whereby also the SOL-System is included, and thus the Earth.

43. These rather inhumane human life-forms are willing to kill the inhabitants of the planets they have chosen in order to gain their own living space.

44. On the one hand, our forces now prevent these life-forms from realising their plans by breaking out into space, but on the other hand, further of our forces systematically resettle the populations of the various endangered planets in uninhabited but easily habitable areas, while another part of our forces looks for new habitable and suitable planets on which the rest of these human beings can be settled and relocated.

Billy:

Incredible, but cannot the Lyrians and Vegans also help you with that?

Quetzal:

45. We have also included many forces of theirs for this task; another part of them will take over on the Earth at the end of this month, as I explained to you earlier.

Billy:

I know you spoke of the fact that Menara's father, brother and sister will come here, along with 35 others.

Quetzal:

46. That is of correctness, but these 38 human beings only represent the first wave that will take over our own station and our tasks.

47. Ours and both of those two other stations, America and Asia, will be fully staffed with our allies.

Billy:

So with Vegans and Lyrians – and, are they all differently coloured?

Quetzal:

48. You say that they are chocolate brown.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_151

Billy:

But then, I have a question: How do you handle such cases on Erra?

Quetzal:

28. We know of no such problems because every human being on our world abides by the unwritten laws and recommendations.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_153

Quetzal:

95. Our linguistic computers speak very fluently and even correctly emphasise when they are stored and programmed with human voices.

...

Billy:

... the group members should be given the opportunity to be able to direct all personal questions and other questions of interest to them to a special computer, which will then answer their questions for them using the best of logic. ...

...

Quetzal:

100. The computer will not be in this room because it is a device designed by me, which is to be installed in the telemeter disc located high above the Centre.

101. In the aforementioned room, there will only be earthly apparatuses and equipment, which will transmit the voices of the group members to the computer and which, in turn, will also let the voice of the computer in space become audible.

...

103. It is also necessary that this apparatus hovers very high above the Earth because it will not have certain data stored in it, which must then be retrieved from the central computer in the station.

Billy:

Aha, now I understand. Now, it interests me only whether a meditative process will be necessary for a question?

Quetzal:

104. No, because the question has to occur acoustically and through a microphone.

105. But for this, it is also necessary that the psyche is very balanced; otherwise, the computer will not release an answer to the questions directed to it.

106. Thus, this necessary balance must be present in the human beings, so that questions are accepted and answered.

...

Billy:

And how do the females among you hold up, now, with the creation of the balance, if you even have such question-and-answer computers at all?

Quetzal:

111. Those actually are there with us, and they are used very often.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_157

Quetzal:

79. Until we meet again, my friend; I am suddenly freezing.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_164

Quetzal:

11. Nevertheless, these strangers, who are sometimes well-known to me, do not disturb me because I am also protected against them.

12. They also cannot see me.

Billy:

Then I understand nothing more at all. Tell me at last, where are the difficulties to be found?

Quetzal:

13. The difficulties are to be found in the swinging waves.

14. My device only works properly, in reference to the shielding of swinging waves and their neutralisation, if the group members of the watch, etc., are not approaching me in a range closer than 70 centimetres.

...

17. All that, however, causes no difficulties for me, for I have constructed my device in such a manner that upon approaches of individual group members and according to their swinging wave ranges that are dangerous for me, I am automatically removed from the danger zone by the device as soon as the persons concerned come closer to me than the safety threshold of 38 centimetres beyond the distance of the swinging wave measurement that is dangerous for me.

18. The mechanical possibilities for such manipulations, however, lie in an area with a maximum of 9 metres, so I can, therefore, protect myself in this manner up to this distance.

19. If I would now find myself somewhere, where I have no exact overview – thus, I cannot see a threat early on when someone approaches me, having swinging waves that are dangerous for me and that are beyond the 9-metre distance, then it could be fatal for me.

20. If I stand or sit somewhere and someone approaches me, whose danger limit for me is beyond the 9 metres mentioned, then everything would lead to a bad end.

Billy:

But you still have the alarm device that warns you about it, when someone is within 500 metres.

Quetzal:

21. The stronger energies of my device make the function of this warning device impossible.

Billy:

But then, why does your bucket function with strangers when they are standing on the promontory or on the new path, etc.?

Quetzal:

22. From a 14-metre radius from my person, an apparatus in my flying apparatus takes over the monitoring.

23. If a corresponding warning arises, then this is transmitted to my carrying device, through which this enters into function without any time delay.

24. But now, if someone moves in the circle between 9 and 14 metres around me and is dangerous for me in their swinging waves, in this 9 to 14-metre circle, then there is no protection but only mortal danger.

Billy:

But why do you leave this 4 or 5-metre circle open? You could, nevertheless, also protect yourself for this distance, right?

Quetzal:

25. Unfortunately no.

26. For the time being, the possibility with a carrying device is still fully exhausted at 9 metres, in reference to its function.

27. But after this distance, there must be a neutral ring of at least 4 metres, so that the energies and surveillance equipment of my aircraft can operate and work.

28. If this safety belt did not exist, then the energies of my carrying device and those of the ship would collide with each other or overflow into one another, through which a destruction of the equipment would come about.

...

Billy:

But I do not yet understand, who among us is a danger for you? You said yourself that the extreme danger of a little over 7 metres lies with our people.

Quetzal:

31. I told you, however, that someone else is present, who is to be reckoned as outside of the group members.

Billy:

I do not understand that.

Quetzal:

32. W.

Billy:

W.?

Quetzal:

33. That is of correctness, and he is a constant and ever increasing danger for me.

34. In the extreme case, he may only come 13 metres and 71 centimetres close to me.

35. Closer than this mark, I run a great risk.

Billy:

That is puzzling to me.

Quetzal:

36. His sense toward us is not good; it is even strangely hostile and interspersed with thoughts that exhibit doubts regarding our actual existence.

...

Billy:

Yes, but something else just came to me: somehow, it seems to be illogical to me concerning W., that you cannot shield yourself against him. I think that beyond the 14-metre limit, your apparatuses in the spaceship react, through which you will be taken out of danger?

Quetzal:

70. Unfortunately, that is impossible because in regards to W., I must store him programmatically in my apparatuses and devices, according to which he does not fall within the range of the warning of strangers.

71. But if I would store him as a stranger, then he would be removed from the closeness warning.

72. Unfortunately, these devices cannot be constructed differently, at least not for the time being.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_167

Quetzal:

37. All data of ours and also that of other groups working with us are separately and directly sent to a central office on Erra, where they are evaluated by coordination, and then, the appropriate decisions are made.

38. We strictly adhere to this so that we can carry on our work correctly and without influence.

39. This is a fact that the Earth-humans can hardly understand, which brings us a lot of advantages, however.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_169

Quetzal:

78. Talking is purely a communicative device, a means for understanding, so this should only be used for this purpose.

Billy:

Yes, Sfath even said this, explaining that language serves only for communication, and the communication contains only everything that is of a harmonious nature, which is why there are human races that only communicate with each other in song/musical form.

...

Quetzal:

81. In your ranks, you should at least consider being active at times in this form, namely with singing.

...

83. It should be made a duty by an ordinal rule because without this harmony, what is required will never be reached.

...

84. ... even we and still more highly developed humans cannot help but be harmoniously active in this form, by which means also our feelings and thoughts, etc. become more peaceful, calmer, and also more affectionate.

Billy:

This, I can vividly imagine, especially since I have previously heard you singing rather often – together with several others, as well as alone.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_172

Quetzal:

49. Your earthly mission obviously allows you to find ways in your mind to obtain absolute, egalitarian brotherly love and universal love, which still remains closed to us, so I ask you, please, to speak with me about this at an appropriate time and by order of our spiritual leaders on Erra, and about other very important things, through which you can be helpful to us if you would agree to this?

...

54. That is of correctness because at least with respect to the aforementioned, we and our intellectual leaders need your teachings and instructions.

Billy:

By your 'intellectual leaders', you probably mean 'spiritual leaders', right?

Quetzal:

55. That is of correctness.

56. These are very wise men and women on our home planet, who teach and lead our people as leaders, as well as publicise the advice of the High Council.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_173

Quetzal:

8. We all feel at home in the Center {Semjase Silver Star Center}, which is why we very often spend all of our leisure time there – all of us who are from Erra as well as all those whose homeworlds are different from ours but who, nevertheless, fulfil their duties here on the Earth and cooperate with us.

9. And for this reason, I would ask you to make it clear to your group members that from now on, they must be prepared every now and then to meet humans at night, in or around the Center, who are foreign to the Earth, and in this context, there is also the possibility that light phenomena, etc. will appear if materialisations of our allies occur and so on.

10. But there is nothing to be afraid of or to fear, for as you know, all our allies are also peaceful people, who inflict no harm on anyone or on any life form.

...

14. Moreover, a conversation would be impossible in many cases because many of us and our allies do not master any earthly languages but only understand these through the use of translators, which may not be in operation as a result of a certain purpose-driven order from our home centre that is connected to such a visit.

15. Thus, every difficulty can be avoided if on the part of the group members, no attempts of contact are made, neither through any attempts of communication nor through any attempts of physical contact.

16. This must be made completely clear to the group members because such attempts could be misinterpreted, by which means there could be a defensive reaction which, under certain circumstances, would produce rather unpleasant consequences for that particular group member, if he/she would be struck by a paralysis swinging wave or by the force of a stun gun, such things finding their use among our various allies during a fright-reaction.

17. So it is fitting that neither attempts of address nor attempts of physical contact take place if there is an encounter, whether the outer appearance of the respective visitor appears to be so very human, according to Earth's sense, or whether it appears to be completely foreign to the Earth.

...

18. It may be that every night, they will be visiting among you because in truth, the entire number of visitors to the Center amounts to 2,862 life-forms.

...

Billy:

That is a right amount of human beings, man oh man. And if you speak of all, then that means that actually everyone comes, thus the small elves, just as also the largest ones, the middle-grade ones, the luminous ones, the ones with luminous eyes, and all others.

Quetzal:

22. That is of correctness.

23. The largest of our allies, Andron, is 5 metres and 26 centimetres tall {17' 3"} according to earthly measures, and then there is Danel under him, who is 2 metres and 48 centimetres tall {8' 2"}.

24. The smallest ones are around 70 centimetres tall {2' 4"}, and then there are those whose eyes illuminate very brightly and whose eyes are on the upper forehead of the skull.

Billy:

I know, but then there are those whose entire bodies fluoresce, or those whose bodies illuminate radiantly, along with those who always practice gymnastics on elevated places, such as on rooftops and trees, etc.

Quetzal:

25. That is of correctness, but in addition to these, there are still other variously-formed life-forms, but they are all of human genus and species.

Billy:

Yes, of course, such as one, of whom someone might think that a rubber ball rolls across the ground.

Quetzal:

26. That is of correctness; this is also under them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_176

Quetzal:

40. The three days on Erra will be strenuous for you, and you will hardly find any sleep during this time.

...

Billy:

You can give me your 'special food' and your 'special drinks', which expel sleepiness.

Quetzal:

42. Those will be necessary either way, nevertheless, it is appropriate that you find plenty of sleep.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_182

Quetzal:

120. ... we already lead our lives in pure logic.

...

Billy:

... Yet I think that what you can do with your people on Erra, that should also be good and inexpensive for the Earth-humans. Just the fact that you do a lot of regular duty work on Erra between the sixth and eighth hour of the morning and after that, you can leave and do what you want, I have found that to be very fine and reasonable ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_184

(Florena's Note – 8th January 2004: The Plejaren and the Druans established intensive contact with each other. In the course of two years, negotiations took place over an admission of the Druans into the Plejaren Federation, which found its fulfilment with the integration of the Druans in February, 1985. At the same time, they agreed on the integration of the Druans into the spirit teachings, as this is taught by the Plejaren, because the spirit teaching [now referred to as the Creation energy teaching] of the Druans are in conformity with the teaching of the Plejaren, as they are also taught by Billy on the Earth. On the 11th of May, 1985, Quetzal, accompanied by a Druan named Zeltan [= the thoughtful], appeared to Billy and explained to him that the spirit teaching, which Billy prepares for the Plejaren spirit leadership, would also be passed on to the Druans in the future for learning purposes. The Contact with Zeltan [= the thoughtful] remained unique, however. Since that time, the Druans have been working with Billy's teachings.)

...

Billy:

... But tell me, you always speak as though you yourself would see it as the Plejaren do. How does this happen, since you come, nevertheless, from the Vega and Lyra systems?

Taljda:

...

37. The Plejaren, as you call them, thus our mutual friends, originally came from our systems, assuming that we take as a reference point that period when their ancestors left our systems.

38. Unlike the Earth-humans, the direct contact between the emigrants and those who remained on the homeworlds has been maintained and preserved up to the present day, even though much has changed in the wise of life and in the overall development of both poles, different forms of technology developed and differences more or less also appeared in the overall evolution.

39. But the preserved connection was and is and will remain such that we see ourselves as a single people, even though we have our home worlds many light-years apart.

...

Billy:

... I estimate that you are about the same age as Semjase. Is that right?

Taljda:

41. In terms of age, I am somewhat younger because since my birth, 314 years have passed.

...

Billy:

... My question should be whether your average age of your life expectancy is also around a thousand years, as this is the case with the Plejaren.

Taljda:

43. In this regard, the average age with us is set a little lower, namely at 987 years.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_211

Billy:

Yesterday, we talked about the fact that the aid agencies, which operate their craft here on Earth, are actually profit-gangster organizations because they only provide their so-called assistance for a fee, whereby they put aside a large portion of the cash donations for their own machinations, such as for compensation, etc. What do you think of this – and do you also have aid agencies for people in need of assistance?

Quetzal:

1. Such aid agencies do exist with us, however, not in relation to our own people, but rather in the context of the assistance that we provide for other peoples who belong to our federation, respectively who are cared for by our federation, because they still live in lower levels of development and are not yet in a position to bring themselves to a state of their own assistance.

Billy:

Interesting, but this does not contradict your directives, which state that you may not interfere in the affairs of foreign worlds and peoples, who are not yet developed far enough to be able to master spaceflight?

Quetzal:

2. Concerning the peoples, to whom we can provide assistance, on the one hand, it concerns those who are arranged into our federation for the purpose of protection, and on the other hand, the fact applies that they know very much about spaceflight technology and, thus, also about the existence of other civilizations on other planets, and they also stand in connection with these; however, they are not yet in a position to manage their own affairs in such a way that they would not have to suffer any need.

Billy:

Aha, now I understand. But how do you handle the matters around these aid agencies? Are profits also made there, and are relief goods, etc. set aside as compensation for giving assistance, as this is the case with the earthly aid agencies? By the way, I find this to be extremely infamous because I am of the view that assistance should never be handled in any way that involves repayment and profit. In my opinion, an aid agency should consist of people who should not provide assistance in order to be repaid but who should provide it voluntarily in their leisure time and, thus, without compensation.

Quetzal:

3. That is also of correctness.

4. What exists on the Earth in the so-called aid agencies must honestly be described as profiteering and as deceiving the donors of the relief goods because – especially with respect to the monetary contributions, respectively the cash donations – a large percentage is set aside for the machinations and the compensations of those members of the organization, who do not provide their assistance voluntarily but only for a respectable compensation.

5. All such activity is absolutely unacceptable with us because all our helpers of all aid agencies, which operate both privately as well as for the whole population, work free of charge and use their leisure time for this.

...

Billy:

... Sometimes, I must confess that I am ashamed when I see how women let themselves be degraded or be humiliated by men, when I see how men treat women like dirt – they beat, prostitute, exploit, and rob them of their personal opinion and freedom – and when I see how the female gender must suffer almost entirely under the rule of the male world, unable to have equal rights and often being treated like a rag that has all the filth of the world in itself.

...

With you, this is fortunately not so, as it is the case here on the Earth. Anyhow, that is what Semjase taught me. But what about with other peoples, I mean with other peoples of your federation, etc.?

Quetzal:

21. In our entire federation, there exist laws that prevent such, as it is common on the Earth.

22. Nevertheless, there are foreign civilisations and peoples on foreign worlds, who are not allied with us and who exhibit similar conditions of the mentioned form, as these are usual on Earth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_213

Quetzal:

170. Our laws clearly stipulate that if such an act was committed in a drunken state, then it would equal a serious felony, which would also accordingly have to be punished very harshly.

...

Billy:

Aha, and I thought that you only had weak alcoholic drinks and no more people who get drunk.

Quetzal:

...

179. We have very weak alcoholic drinks, but the alcohol content is so low that it can only be measured as a small fraction of a percent of alcohol content.

180. Therefore, it is not possible that a person could get drunk on alcohol, not even if they could drink several litres of such a drink.

181. Nevertheless, we still have an old-conventional legislation that governs alcoholism, as well as intoxication by alcohol and acts of every kind that are committed in this state, so when one is killed or a crime is otherwise committed or when any harm, accident, or misfortune is caused.

182. But this legislation is already more than 5,600 years old and has never had to be put to use since that time when our alcoholic drinks were reduced in their percentages in such a manner as I explained to you.

183. Moreover, the people of our world have learned and have adjusted themselves to get by without alcoholic drinks, for these are not necessary for a normal and healthy lifestyle.

184. Of course, wine, for example, can have a health-promoting effect, if this is enjoyed with measure and a goal, as this is also the case with other substances, but on our part, we have so aligned our food toward the highest possible health values that we have no longer needed alcoholic drinks for more than 5,600 years, which also eliminated the dangers of evil caused by drunkenness.

Billy:

Oh, I see. I have actually misunderstood something there. But could I expect that you, and maybe even Ptaah, would drink a glass of wine with me, if I were to find you one?

Quetzal:

185. Nothing should prevent that, if it is a rare or unique case.

...

Billy:

... Ah, I suppose that you have the freedom to decide for yourselves as to whether or not you want to drink alcohol – or is there an ordinance that forbids this, thus, a ban?

Quetzal:

187. No, that is not the case because the abstention from alcohol is founded on a voluntary basis, so we can very well drink alcohol if we want.

Billy:

And concerning this, how is it with your federation members?

Quetzal:

188. Some are inclined towards moderation in strong alcoholic drinks, but others act as we do.

189. But even those who consume alcohol in moderation do not get drunk.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_216

Billy:

We on the Earth have consulates or embassies in all countries. These have the task of representing citizens who belong to their home countries in foreign countries and also of performing other duties that result with the host country and the home country, whereby also purely political matters must be settled by these institutions, and in particular, the transmission of messages also falls to the embassies. ... Here, I ask myself, how is this with you, for you certainly also have similar institutions, through which home country citizens are represented and through which messages, etc. are transmitted, right? Also, such enterprises are probably necessary in regard to contact with your Federation and the governments as well as with those who do not belong to your alliance.

Quetzal:

76. That is quite correct.

77. We also have such institutions, of course, but on our own planets, they are not related to the same political framework as the one you know on Earth.

78. Purely planetary institutions in relation to this only have the duties of care, order, and administration, but no political aspects, etc., for our worlds are guided by the spirit leadership of a central form, whereby the institutions mentioned, then, are the actual executive bodies.

79. Of course, the same are also responsible in certain cases, which are specified very much together with the central spirit leadership, for particular aspects concerning the governments of planets of our Federation as well as with governments of worlds that are foreign to the Federation.

80. But overall, they are only representatives who exercise their duties on behalf of the central spirit leadership who, in turn, represents the people's will, which is fathomed in each case by planet-wide votes.

81. Such votes, for which you say elections among yourselves, take place in accordance with proposals, etc. from the people, but also in accordance with the ideas and proposals of the central spirit leadership or with regard to advice from the High Council.

82. In the past, when separation and discord still prevailed among our peoples, institutions of the aforementioned kind also existed, of course, whereby these were likewise exposed to attacks by discontented ones, etc., as this will also be the case on the Earth in the coming time in different countries ...

83. Thus, our very distant ancestors had the same problems with discontented ones, with fanatics, terrorists, and assassins, with regard to attacks and destruction, etc. on the aforementioned institutions, whereby also racial hatred, hatred of foreigners, and other degenerate extremism played important roles.

84. In order to protect the institutions, and indeed, also a wide variety of others that had official forms of government, a decision was put into effect, which stipulated that all governmental buildings and administrative buildings, etc. be banned from all residential areas and be transferred to uninhabited areas that were exclusively valid for the purpose of the institutions and that, of course, also found appropriate formations with water features, trees, and all sorts of bushes, flowers, and other plants.

85. Far outside of these institutional systems, so that the residents did not feel trapped and imprisoned, everything was fenced in and was equipped with security equipment, which made it absolutely impossible for an undetected penetration by water, land, or air, as well as for a penetration of an underground kind.

86. In this connection, there were also guards who closely monitored every person and every vehicle or aircraft, when allowed entry, driving, or flying into the secured area.

87. Through this, unauthorised ones were prevented from entering the premises and causing harm as well as disaster and destruction and endangering human lives.

...

Billy:

What seasons exist on Erra?

Quetzal:

193. The same as the ones on your home planet, the Earth.

Billy:

So spring, summer, autumn, and winter?

Quetzal:

194. That is of correctness.

Billy:

And the duration of the individual seasons, these also approximately coincide with ours?

Quetzal:

195. Even that is of correctness.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_218

Quetzal:

32. The Plejaren language, we call SARAT; the intercosmic language, we designate as KOSAN, and the language of the people, to whom Menara belongs, we call JENAN or DERON-language.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_223

Billy:

... How is it, actually, with you, when teeth are damaged or are no longer available? And what about dental care and dental hygiene of a personal form?

Quetzal:

66. We maintain our teeth by sound waves ...

...

70. Our teeth as well as dental care and dental hygiene are such that the first teeth, which, to my knowledge, you call milk teeth, independently cease their functions and fall out, like with the Earth-humans.

71. The second renewable teeth are preserved in the best possible way through authoritative cleaning and through healthy and vigorous care.

72. If these become damaged for some reason, which is extremely rare, then the corresponding teeth are removed in a completely painless manner, after which they grow again independently, which traces back to a genetically engineered process that is given through heredity.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_224

Quetzal:

3. What you say is of correctness; on our part, we always only spoke of the fact that other than on the Earth, no human life-forms exist in the SOL system on other planets and on their moons, and indeed, even if we have only used the term life-forms alone.

4. But always excluded were those human life-forms that, for your understanding, we designate as SOL-system foreigners or SOL-system outsiders and who look around on SOL planets and their moons solely for expeditionary purposes.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_226

Billy:

... And as we are talking about technology, the question is whether you can explain how energy is obtained from Erra's thermosphere, which, like with us, is around 2000 degrees hot, if you may explain this?

Quetzal:

78. The fact that we obtain energy from the thermosphere does not fall under secrecy.

79. Concerning the technical details, however, I may give no information officially because according to our directives, this would be an unauthorized intervention in the technological development, which would plunge the Earth-humans into a catastrophe.

80. Once it is considered that the Earth-humans repurpose practically all their valuable technological inventions and achievements in apparatuses and devices, in order to cause destruction with these, especially in terms of wars and the destruction of nature, then they would also abuse these insights.

81. If the earthly scientists would have knowledge of the utilization of the thermosphere's energy, then they would construct the thermosphere-energy technology into an all-destroying weapon, by which entire countries could be burnt to ashes within seconds.

...

Quetzal:

99. Well, then I would now like to drink another glass of your good wine with you, if you still have this beverage.

Billy:

You probably mean the peach wine. Of course, I still have that here. I'm honestly glad that I may offer you a glass and may drink one together with you. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_231

Billy:

... Then I have a question about the Chinese, who always claim that their whole culture originated from their own people, but Sfath once told me that this is not the truth. You told me the same thing, but neither you nor Sfath went into it. Both of you have only explained that Chinese culture also contains foreign influences.

Quetzal:

260. That is of correctness.

261. More than 25,000 years ago, the actual ancestors of the Chinese were immigrants from an area beyond your galaxy, which is why the term 'beyond the sun' was used, meaning the galactic central sun in which the galactic black hole moves.

262. The real Ur-ur human beings in China lived more than two million years ago.

263. After the immigration of foreigners from beyond the Milky Way, the much later Earth-born natives who lived in the areas where today's China is, died out over time.

264. They died as a result of an incurable hereditary disease that spread as they mixed sexually with the new immigrants from 'beyond the sun'.

265. All this knowledge, however, as well as the knowledge of space technology and many other things, was lost, as was the knowledge of the original origins of the immigrants.

266. The immigrants from 'beyond the sun', i.e. the actual ur-forefathers of today's Chinese people, already took over many cultural values of the natives from the natives alone, who inhabited the ur-chinese areas and had created certain small cultures.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_232

Ptaah:

12. But we hoped that with time everything would change for the better, so, on the one hand, in the group and on the other hand, also in world affairs, that yes, by the peace meditation operated by you, with which since then also 511 million human beings of our peoples on Erra and the 3.02 billion (3,020,000,000) human beings from the peoples of our federation, galaxy-wide, support you.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_235

Billy:

... But what about an earlier statement by you that in the future a spaceship would officially land in the USA? I think that this was explained to me in September 1975, at the 34th or 35th contact.

Ptaah:

98. Yes, to my knowledge this explanation was given to you at the 35th contact meeting with my daughter Semjase on September 16, 1975.

99. In addition, I may explain to you, in the expansion of the explanation at that time, that these interests have changed thoroughly.

100. For our part, we were able to locate the group that would have come to Earth in the future and would have made official contact with the Earth-humans in America.

101. In the knowledge of the true, unpeaceful and arrogant machinations and all other evils, which prevail in America and influence the whole world negatively, we informed those, who were intended for the official establishment of contact with the terrestrial humans in America, recognised by foresight.

102. After taking note of our information, however, that group decided not to carry out this enterprise, although it had already been decided.

103. Consequently, this planned event does not take place, because America is not yet mature enough in any wise for such contacts; but this does not preclude other strangers from coming to Earth and seeking contact.

Billy:

And, were the members of this group belonging to you or your Federation?

Ptaah:

104. No, in no wise.

105. They are at home beyond the sun, in the same star region where the Japanese and Chinese originally also had their original homes.

Billy:

Interesting. And by "beyond the sun", as I found out some time ago, you do not mean our sun, SOL, but the central sun of our galaxy, our Milky Way. Is that right?

Ptaah:

106. That corresponds to the circumstances.

...

Billy:

... Although I have often declared that you live on Erra according to the laws of polygamy, the question is always raised whether you would not have any problems with that?

Ptaah:

124. The conditions in this respect are completely different from those on the Earth.

125. In contrast to the women of the Earth, our female powers know no jealousy and no egoism.

126. They are unfamiliar with quarrelsomeness and they are also aware of all the advantages that are peculiar to them in that they live in an association of several female partners and can afford mutual assistance in every respect.

127. But they are also aware of all the advantages they enjoy by having only one spouse responsible for them, whom they are devoted to in common.

128. Through polygamy, however, it is also given and guaranteed that it never appears that a man has a secret lover, as in monogamy it very often appears in the Earth human sense, which leads to quarrels and assaults and destroys marriages and families, because the women of the Earth-humans are not aware and not big enough to grant to the man the natural-creational right of polygamy allocated to him.

...

135. The conditions in this respect can be compared with ours, which can look back on a polygamy tradition of many millions of years.

136. However, we have different terms for the marriage of one man and several women.

137. For us, the term monogamy always prevails, even if the man is married to several women.

138. The man is always in complete union with a woman, so they are always one and therefore one.

139. But this refers to any case of a woman who lives in an alliance with a man who is married to several women.

140. Our law says that the marriage covenant is based on a marital relationship between a man and a woman, who marry together and form a covenant in order to form a unity of two.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_236

Ptaah:

11. You are not the only one who can enjoy and be refreshed by the most diverse styles of music.

12. Even as you love classical music, rock, country, truck songs, folk songs, pop, marching music, rap, soul, spirituals, gospel, and our music, as well as Oriental, Middle Eastern, and Far Eastern music and rhythms of the natives, I, too, am just as versatile and have no fixed boundaries in reference to the style and direction of this very pleasing, loosening, and profound muse.

...

Ptaah:

239. ... we know of and have stored more than 3.7 million languages in our entire field of knowledge and understanding.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_237

Billy:

... When Nokodemion returned from the Arahath Athersata level to the material world in his time, he found conditions on the planets that were significant for his peoples that were quite devilishly similar to the political conditions that prevail on the Earth today. The countries had degenerated into monarchies and dictatorships and other unfair regimes. Many countries fought each other, murdered and enslaved, tortured and exploited. Nokodemion did not take long to establish a multi-national peace-keeping force, which was built in such a manner that each responsible country maintained an armed permanent army of a certain strength of combat-capable men, at its own expense, which was only intended to create and maintain peace in combat-capable form on all worlds. However, each army of a country was only just large enough to ward off an attacking enemy, but no revolution or war of aggression could be waged against another state. The total number of combat-capable men of all armies of a planet amounted to 3 million men, distributed on all countries involved, which were individually however trained and armed according to a uniform system. These multinational peace-combat troops were under the direct command of the multinational army command. If an unrest, revolution or fratricidal war broke out somewhere in one country, or if one country attacked another, the red button was pressed on the multinational army leadership. This meant that the command was issued immediately, that so many men of the multi-national peace-combat force appeared together at the scene of the revolutionary or belligerent events, within 24 hours and in one fell swoop, in sophisticated coordination and put an end to every revolution and every war within a few hours by force of arms in completely logical consequence of the application of the law of self-defence. ...

Taljda:

58. What you tell me is known to me; and I know that peace was actually created through this method at that time.

59. But in the course of time people softened and abolished the army of multinational form, as soon as wars broke out again over the worlds and power-hungry people rose into the governments.

60. This then lasted for tens of thousands of years before the same system was introduced again 52,000 years ago with a multi-national peace-keeping troops.

61. Then it lasted 67 years, after which there really was peace actually prevailed everywhere again, which has been maintained until today, not least because of the multi-national peace-keeping troops, which have been an integral part of our entire Federation ever since.

62. Weapons may only be manufactured for this troop and for leisure purposes, whereby, however, the hunting and killing of animals of all kinds is forbidden, as this, unfortunately, does not apply on the Earth.

63. Animals may only be shot in our Federation in self-defence or in their form that impairs the environment.

64. The so-called illegal black market or private trade with weapons of any kind known to you is not permitted, but every person has the granted right to possess and use one or more weapons in a legal form, if the weapons are registered in a central computer and checked for their respective individual characteristics and features, whereby it can be proven at any time where and when and whose weapon was used.

65. In addition, it is so important to us that any weapon can only be used by the owner, as their personal swinging wave is necessary to use the weapon at all.

...

Taljda:

116. Maybe I could help you with your questions and the rest?

Billy:

No, unfortunately not, because they are mathematical question formulas of that kind, which should reach out into higher levels and which in my opinion can only be handled by Ptaah or Quetzal. Of course, there are at least 29,000 spirit guides in your Federation who are capable of doing so, but I do not know who I could commission or ask, because I do not know them personally.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_238

Ptaah:

359. All the peoples of our Federation are committed to respecting the laws of nature and to allowing natural climatic processes, etc., to run their course.

360. We do not influence the weather in the form that we would design it according to our personal desires.

361. We only intervene where there are threats to land, plants and human and animal life, as you explained earlier.

...

Billy:

That almost sounds like Skrill, but surely there's no connection to the dimension from which the supposed dimension changers come, those brutal and bestial Skrills that sometimes attack humans in their greed for sex!

Ptaah:

...

621. The term Skrill means 'Ausartung' [to get very badly out of the good human nature].

Billy:

Aha, then they are thus called the 'Ausgearteten'.

Ptaah:

622. This is so.

623. But we also call them dimension changers, as you already mentioned.

624. But the term Skrill means 'Ausgeartete' only for us, because truthfully the Skrills call themselves Skrill, which means dimension changer in their language.

Billy:

Without a doubt, these Skrills are human beings, even if they are completely vicious, brutal and bestial and incredibly sex-hungry, males as well as females. The horror of these differently dimensioned beings is only that they are completely ausgeartet and capable of switching from their dimension to other dimensions, whereby they then attack and rape human beings in the other dimensions. It is a good thing that this does not happen very often and that human beings of other dimensions, such as our dimension, can only clear and pave the way for these Skrills through psychological misconduct. By this, I mean that these Skrills can only penetrate into other dimensions and work there if other human beings of this dimension clear the way for them by self-destructively driving their psyche to malfunction and thus psychical collapse. I know all this from Quetzal, who also explained to me that you only know about it because some of your scientists once succeeded in connecting with these Skrills and experiencing their way of life and all the trimmings.

...

Billy:

... When Nokodemion built up his Robot Armies and his Android Armies in his time, he did so in a manner that still seems utopian to today's Earth-human, because he built a multi-duplicator for this purpose, which multiplied everything he programmed with an atomic blueprint, etc., infinitely many times in absolute unison. Thus Nokodemion actually only needed to construct one copy of each type of robot, as well as one copy of the androids, after which he could multiply them in infinite numbers using the multi-duplicator. Even the tiniest atomic detail of the final product resembled the prototype, which served only as a perfect model. In fact, such a multi-duplicator is a giant apparatus that produces clones. In other words, one could also say that it is a copier or duplicator that provides an exact copy of the original, not only the externally visible, but also the interior, down to the last and finest atomic structure. The question is whether you also have such multi-duplicators, which are based on electrons, which are based on their operation with regard to the required energies, but also with regard to the required matter for the multi-duplications to be generated. If I remember correctly, then the unexhaustible cosmic electron seas are tapped in order to transform and form the necessary matter from the electrons, from which then the templates programmed by atomic images receive their material form and are materially duplicated.

Ptaah:

896. This wonderful invention of Nokodemion has remained with us, even if today everything has been changed and renewed to such an extent, precisely in accordance with the inevitable progress that nothing points to its origin.

897. We have been producing all necessary building materials of all kinds, machines, robotic tools, androids and also medicines and food etc. in this form for thousands of years by duplicating them.

Billy:

But you also have gardens, orchards, vegetable gardens, etc., as I know.

Ptaah:

898. Certainly. –

899. What we can gain from nature in a natural wise, we work out together with nature in a natural way, but always in such a manner that neither nature nor the planet nor the fauna or flora suffer any damage.

Billy:

You really breed meat as just the product you need, so you never have to kill an animal life form.

Ptaah:

900. That is correct, but we do not only produce meat from cell tissue by breeding, but also from our multipliers.

901. Other things also belong to it.

Billy:

Why, is my name not correct?

Ptaah:

902. According to the word value, your name is completely correct.

Billy:

Well, yes. Well, I suppose you also make all the metals with the multi-duplicators, because if I remember correctly, Semjase told me in 1975 or 1976 that you were extracting the basic materials for metal production from the realms of the planets, etc., in order to convert them, which would result in lead first and then all the pure metals or alloys required. At that time I did not think about it any further, but in the meantime the idea came to me that you would get the necessary raw materials for certain metals or alloys directly through the multi-duplicators, in order to process them in cold processes in order to create special alloys from them. Perhaps, I could imagine, you get the ready-made metals and alloys directly from the multi-duplicators, which duplicate all matter in cold processes according to given atomic image patterns. Of course, a multi-duplicator could also be called a cold processor, even if the human being on the Earth may misinterpret this, because for them a processor is something else, namely a central part of a data processing system, which contains the arithmetic unit and the control unit. Do you call the apparatus a multi-cold duplicator in your own language?

Ptaah:

903. The meaning of your word roughly corresponds to our name.

904. In any case, everyone here would understand the meaning of your newly created term.

...

Ptaah:

931. For our part we have a 'community of independent worlds' or even a 'union of sovereign worlds', which we call a federation, as it is in and of itself the case on the Earth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_239

Billy:

... So, my friend, and now, I long for a good drink. Although I already drank a small glass tonight, I am still feel like a second one. If I may, perhaps, also offer one to you – I would be tremendously pleased. It is a peach wine with very low alcohol content, but which I can still drink without difficulties, without it affecting me somehow. What do you think, Ptaah?

Ptaah:

110. I am not entirely at ease with your offer because as you know, we only drink alcohol-like drinks, but not alcoholic drinks.

111. Therefore, I do not know whether the drink would be good for me.

Billy:

It will surely agree with you because if I can drink it, in spite of my many medicines, without it harming me somewhat, then it certainly will not harm you in any wise. The wine only has 9 percent alcohol by volume, which is as good as nothing. You just have to drink the wine slowly and in small sips and over longer periods of time. You may need twenty or thirty minutes to do it calmly.

Ptaah:

112. Since you are so sure and because I have full confidence in you, I would gladly like to do this once and drink a glass of this wine with you.

...

117. Ah, this is really very good, and it is also refreshing.

...

Ptaah:

131. This music that you are playing there, it has a lot of resemblance with our music.

Billy:

It is the 'Chorus of the Hebrew Slaves' from 'Nabucco', by Giuseppe Verdi.

Ptaah:

132. It is well-known to me, like also many other melodies that you are playing.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_241

Ptaah:

11. I would desire a sip of peach wine if I could ask for it?

Billy:

But certainly, that is not a question. Wait – here, a glass for you and one for me – now I will get the wine, which I put outside to chill, because I myself drink a glass every now and then, if I feel like it – – – Well, here I am again. If you allow me, I will pour it right away. You know, I thought to myself that you would certainly like to have some bottles of this wine, that is why I also provided a box of six that you can take with you. – How did the wine taste with Quetzal, by the way? But now cheers ...

Ptaah:

12. For the good ... hm, just refreshing. –

13. Well, when Quetzal heard from me that I had tested the wine together with you, found it to be very good and received another bottle from you as a gift, he could no longer be deterred from tasting the bottle I had brought with me to him.

Billy:

A huge tasting, a whole bottle like that, I would like to say. And did he find the wine as good as we did?

Ptaah:

14. Certainly.

15. He found it as refreshing as we did.

...

Ptaah:

18. Just take French cuisine as an example, whose composition is often absolutely inedible.

Billy:

I know that when I think of 'rice casimir', which is 'seasoned' with pineapple, or other dishes where meat dishes are mixed with berries and fruits or 'seasoned', then I feel sick.

Ptaah:

19. The nausea also rises in me when I think about it.

...

Billy:

Several years ago you were still talking about the fact that towards the end of the 20th century Earth would be visited by extraterrestrial people, who would then officially make contact with Earth-humans. Through all sorts of bad machinations of Earth-humans, however, it then emerged that this extraterrestrial visit would no longer take place and therefore no such contact would take place. Are the facts today still as they were when you told me that such a contact had no chance anymore?

Ptaah:

422. Things have changed fundamentally again in the meantime by all that has changed in the meantime in political form in many countries of Earth.

423. A lot of positive things have come about and the prospects for such a contact have increased by a great deal, so that the old plan can come true again under certain circumstances, whereby we ourselves or any other forces from our federation have no connection whatsoever to those human beings who are supposed to establish official contacts with terrestrial people and whose knowledge and ability in every respect will not yet have developed to such an extent that they understand all things that are peculiar to us in terms of knowledge.

424. They will also not yet be able to grasp our dimension in which we live and exist.

425. And with regard to the teaching of the spirit and Creation and their laws and commandments, they will also not be developed according to our state.

426. If the contact with these alien beings one day comes about in official form, but this is still questionable, then this means for us and all our allies that we then withdraw and keep away from Earth in every form, whereby we will then only maintain telepathic contacts to you.

427. If the mentioned contacts actually take place, but what is really questionable for the next decades, then Earth-humans will enter into connections and alliances with Earth strangers, into which we may interfere according to our laws in no case and under no circumstances.

428. This means that we must then withdraw into our dimension and no longer be active on Earth.

Billy:

Then it is certain that these contacts with aliens will take place?

Ptaah:

429. At present, the overall situation points to this, but the next six to eight years can again change a lot, because Earth-man is so unstable and fickle that in the long run everything always floats in the air and in the unknown.

...

Billy:

Another question concerning the events against the year 2000, when aliens are supposed to approach the terrestrial people. Is this something that has already been determined, and if so, how will it happen?

Ptaah:

434. My explanation already went to the effect that such an event will only take place if the overall situation of earthly politics and the efforts of all human beings develop in such a way that such an event can occur.

435. Even if at present everything points to the fact that what has been said could take place, it is in no way certain that what is positive on Earth and among terrestrial human beings will actually take place in such a way that the event can take place.

436. The fickleness of Earth-humans is simply so great that not much can be predicted for a nearer or later future.

437. In order to be able to give such predictions of the future in precise form, we would need the effort of looking at the future.

438. But we don't want to do these, for which you know the reasons.

439. If it can be avoided, then we refrain from this kind of exploration of the future.

Billy:

Of course. Can you tell me, however, whether human beings from otherworldly worlds will otherwise visit Earth in such a way that they will be recognized by terrestrial humans, without the aliens being harassed by authorities or the military or by any madmen, or even endangered their freedom or their lives? Is it therefore possible that even before the year 2000 alien astronauts will come to earth, with whom earthlings will perhaps be able to make secret contact, as is the case with you in a similar or identical form – I mean between you and me?

Ptaah:

440. Such occurrences could very well occur, both in this century and in the next.

441. This form of alien appearance is more possible than that of official contacts with authorities and the military.

442. Space travellers are usually extremely cautious and take certain protective measures into account if they do not make themselves known officially.

Billy:

Doesn't that contradict what you said a few minutes ago, that possibly even before the year 2000 foreigners could get in touch with earthly authorities etc.?

Ptaah:

443. No, this is not the case, because I explained clearly that this would only be the case if the overall situation on Earth would change in such a way that such an event could become possible.

444. Even though a lot of positive things are happening at the moment, this is by no means a guarantee that people on Earth will continue to do so.

445. It can very well be that everything will soon be negative again, because Earth-man is just unsteady and fickle.

446. However, this has nothing to do with the fact that non-earthly people from other worlds cannot nevertheless land on Earth in this form in a secret way and move among Earth-humans without being recognized, or that they are only recognized by a few, who, however, remain silent about it responsibly until the space travelers have left Earth again, so that they cannot be hugged by madmen, authorities and the military etc.

447. However, it will be more difficult for all those who crash or are forced to make an emergency landing due to an accident of their spacecraft, because their technology does not yet correspond to the form that such incidents would no longer occur.

448. Such crashes and emergency landings have occurred on Earth since ancient times, and will continue to occur in the future, albeit very rarely.

449. But this must always be reckoned with, especially for spacecrafts whose technology has not yet been developed in such a way that no more damage can occur.

450. The crews of such crashing spacecraft usually suffer death, while there is a high chance of survival during emergency landings.

451. The crews of such emergency landed spacecrafts, however, are usually helpless and are not able to carry out the necessary repairs on their missiles, which makes them planet-bound in the world where they crash.

452. The rule is also that they cannot survive or that they are captured in the most mild case, etc. when they crash on worlds whose inhabitants are still barbaric, such as the inhabitants of Earth.

453. Of course, there are many other barbaric humanities on foreign planets, whose inhabitants simply kill crashed space travellers or often worship them as gods and then do not let them leave again as such.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_244

Billy:

Then I would like to know which planets you are responsible for as Jschwisch.

Ptaah:

51. For Erra, for Earth and for a planet called Amateban.

...

53. The planet Amateban is in a system of our space-time structure, which we call Harkomen and which belongs to our federation.

...

56. Quetzal is responsible as Jschwisch for two planets in the Harkomen system.

...

Ptaah:

85. I assume that something similar will appear in our Federation, namely among a peoples who bear the name Demener.

86. These Demeners are still very underdeveloped and are cared for in an impulse-based manner by the powers of our Federation.

87. The human beings of this people have gotten very badly out of the good human nature to a great extent.

88. Murder, lies and fraud, etc. are part of their agenda, but also every form of inhumanity and crime.

89. As a result of these things with the Demeners, it has become common practice in the languages of certain of our federation peoples that only the word Demener is used, or Demen, when there is talk of degenerated forms of life or degeneration.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_246

Ptaah:

8. My task was to create a colony on an uninhabited planet called KATHAN in the space area IDAM, known on Earth in this space-time structure as the Spiral Nebula NGC 2997, at a distance of 45 million light-years.

9. I was also busy in the space area NOSIR, where we also founded a new colony.

10. This also happened on an uninhabited planet called NASADAN.

11. The space region NOSIR is a galaxy which is 16 million light-years away from the SOL system in this space-time structure and which is referred to as M 83 in earthly astronomy science.

Billy:

Then the spiral nebula and the galaxy are not in your space-time structure, if I have understood correctly. However, the question remains as to why you are founding colonies if you have enough space on your planet, since you do not tend towards overpopulation, as is the case on Earth.

Ptaah:

12. The colonies were founded to separate two enemy races that threatened to destroy each other on their home planets by waging endless war against each other.

13. Capable of both nuclear technology and the first space flight, they attacked each other's planets and brought them very close to the danger of destruction.

14. And since our Federation is in charge of these two planets and of the inhabitants, we decided, according to the advice of the High Council, to transplant the two contentious peoples in order to guarantee their continued existence to the other and peace-loving peoples of the two planets.

15. They also dominate the first space flight, but they do not pose any danger.

16. However, the mistakes, 124 million of one people and 106 million of the other, were transferred to the planets I mentioned in the space areas IDAM and NOSIR, where they will live from now on, without knowing the whereabouts of the other people.

17. Moreover, it is impossible for the transplanted of both peoples to fly to other planets for many hundreds of years to come, because care was taken to ensure that the next inhabited planets are more than 130 light-years away from the colonies, so that they cannot be reached by the resettled, on the one hand because their space technology is only just developed to the extent that distances of at most 430 million kilometres can be covered, while the age of the colonists is still very low with an average of 83 years.

...

Billy:

... But what about the names Semjase, Ptaah, Quetzal, Sfath and Pleija – how often do they appear in your newspapers? Are these with you common names like Hans and Heiri etc. with us?

Ptaah:

...

100. No, these names are no longer common and therefore not frequent.

101. The names you mentioned only appear once each, so for my daughters Semjase and Pleija as well as for me, Ptaah, and Quetzal.

102. The name Sfath no longer exists at all.

103. So with these names the same case is given as with the names of your children and with some children of your group members who have chosen old names from your name books for their descendants.

Billy:

Then the names only exist once in your entire Federation.

Ptaah:

104. That corresponds to the meaning of my words.

Billy:

And how is that possible?

Ptaah:

105. The names mentioned have been handed down and preserved in our family and in Quetzal's since ancient times, because they have historically important meanings.

106. This is limited to our family and Quetzal's family.

107. All other families and people of our home planet Erra have different and more modern names, while the non-Plejadic federated peoples, people and families naturally have names that have nothing to do with the Plejadic or the old lyrical ones.

...

Billy:

... My next question relates to the freezing or shock freezing of all kinds of life-forms: If, for example, a person is shock frozen for any reason, perhaps to overcome time, etc., then I assume that this person is in a kind of apparent death. This means, however, that the spiritual form does not leave the body, but remains in it until the time when the body is revived. Am I right in my assumption? To my knowledge you yourself have used such methods in the past, have you not?

Ptaah:

129. That is correct, as is your explanation.

...

Billy:

Another question: Have there been any bases or stations of aliens on Venus or Mars during the last 1000 years, or perhaps on Mercury or any other planet of the SOL system, or perhaps on the Earth Moon?

Ptaah:

151. Except on Earth and on the Earth Moon not, no.

Billy:

And, were these stations related to different extraterrestrials?

Ptaah:

152. On Earth they all came to us without exception, while on Earth's satellite there were also four (4) bases, which went to space-travelling peoples who had no connection to us, but who had very little contact with Earthlings, which in no way refers to modern times.

...

Billy:

... Still at Semjase's time, that emerges from the contact report of the 3rd of January 1981 {see Contact 141}, extraterrestrial people from the planet HASTER appeared in the terrestrial airspace, which travels in the system GARANTEE of the galaxy JENAN. It was said that these travellers at that time were interested in making contact with some earthlings. However, I heard nothing more about it and assume that this did not happen?

Ptaah:

161. Your assumption is correct.

162. We ourselves have tried to enlighten the Hasterans, after which they gave up their project and left Earth again without having achieved anything.

...

Billy:

... Do you also have a universal language in your Federation, and if so, how is it called, and how many languages are spoken in your Federation as a whole?

Ptaah:

200. We have a universal or federation language, of course.

201. However, this is not only spoken in certain circles of higher offices, as is the case with Earthly artificial languages, but it is common with everyone.

202. SAMTEE the language is called by us, and as such it is learnt from the ground up by every member of the Federation as a second mother tongue in childhood, because in addition to this, of course, the native mother tongue of the respective people still exists.

203. The total number of our federation-wide languages is 127 603.

Billy:

Well, then I would like to know what your new travel and transport options are. How does this transmitter system work, and how long will it take to get it up and running?

Ptaah:

204. Do you see this little device integrated into the chest of my clothes?

Billy:

You mean this little matchbox-sized thing?

Ptaah:

205. Yes.

Billy:

It's hard to tell that from the clothes. Without my flashlight I couldn't see it at all. It doesn't stand out at all.

Ptaah:

206. This enables me to generate a transmitter gate by thought power, through which I can simply step through, after which I am already at my destination without any loss of time, even if this is billions of light-years away.

207. More precisely, I have to concentrate my thoughts in such a way that they are picked up by the device and amplified in such a way that the resulting forces create the transmitter gate through which my transmission to the destination is made possible.

208. The system is not yet fully operational and usable, but we are constantly experimenting with it by transporting objects, etc., in this way for testing purposes.

209. The required target data are created by the personal knowledge of the destination, which is then mentally programmed by the device, whereupon the transmitter gate is created, in the form that the destination appears as a gate into which one can directly enter and is immediately at the destination.

210. If the destination is unknown to one in such a way that one knows it neither by picture information nor by a personal being there ever, then mathematical coordinates are sufficient, which one enters into the device by thought power and which must be known to one naturally.

211. If you like, I can give you a small demonstration of the possibility of such a transmitter gate.

212. However, you must promise me that you will not let yourself be carried away by your indomitable thirst for adventure and that you will simply step into the gate, because it is not yet fully developed for human transmissions and can therefore still be dangerous.

213. The danger is still that transmitted objects etc. do not reach their destination, but disappear somewhere untraceable and not retrievable between the dimensions and thus get lost.

Ptaah:

214. Can I fulfil you a wish what you want to see through the transmitter gate as a destination – maybe something you know?

Billy:

Would it be possible for you to open the gate to Quetzal's house where the fountain is at the pond?

Ptaah:

215. That doesn't mean a problem, because the place is well known to me – look!

Billy:

Fantastic – two steps, and I would be on Quetzal's terrain on Erra; ah, look, Quetzal's Ulrak passes. By the way, where did he get this little cattle from? And can't that suddenly enter the transmission gate and get lost here?

Ptaah:

216. It's an animal that lives on Erra.

217. It can't get here, because the gate is only visible from here on the one hand, but not from the other side, and on the other hand it can only be used from this side.

218. This has been designed for safety reasons to prevent unwanted life forms from passing through the gate.

219. If it were different, it would be very dangerous.

220. On the other hand, the gate can only exist as long as it is thought to exist.

...

Billy:

And – is this technique of transport then the absolute ultimate for all time, or is a further development still possible?

Ptaah:

226. The development only ends where the power of consciousness alone is sufficient to transport oneself and materials of all kinds by teleportation or telekinesis from a point of departure to a specific destination, without any technical aids being required.

227. This also means that you do not need any spacecraft etc. to move from one place to another or to transport materials from one place to another.

228. The next development, however, will be to find and use the means to move from one place to another without a transmission gate, and to do so solely by the power of thought, which is technically amplified in such a way that a teleportation can be carried out that can bridge billions of light-years as well as the technology of transmitters that is now emerging.

229. Nevertheless, even then the spacecraft will still be needed, which will also be further advanced in development.

Billy:

And everything is based on the speed of Creation, 107,000 times the speed of light. Even with the present transmitter gate this cannot be any different.

Ptaah:

230. That is not quite correct, because for the time being it is based only on 21,000 times the speed of light.

231. Besides, the speed of the spirit should never be reachable by technical means.

Billy:

The size of the gate is about 2 metres by 90 centimetres and ...

...

For a human, the gate is just good in size, but what if a larger gate is needed, such as for large goods and the like?

Ptaah:

233. The size of the transmitter gate can be customized according to your needs.

234. This is done by a simple command, mentally directed to the gate generator device.

Billy:

Fabulous. It really could not be simpler. But what happens now, if somebody takes over the transmitter gate generating device without authorization, is there perhaps a safety device, as you use it with your weapon tools, that only the owner of the device can use it, because it is tuned to his thought frequency?

Ptaah:

235. That's what you say.

236. This alone guarantees the best possible security, so that no one can use the devices for unfair and nonsensical purposes without authorisation, should they fall into unauthorised hands for any reason, if we are active on worlds whose people cannot yet be expected to use such devices.

Billy:

As is the case on Earth, for example, isn't it?

Ptaah:

237. That's right.

Billy:

Well, now you also have devices and the like, which look like a simple piece of metal or plastic etc., without these being recognizable as devices or apparatus etc., but in which there is a high-quality super-minielelectronics, which again is not recognizable as such, if you cut the metal or the plastic, because everything is poured into each other. Isn't there the possibility that through some circumstances the truth can be found out?

Ptaah:

238. This danger does not exist – not even on earth, because in order to be able to fathom this technique, Earthly scientists would have to have a knowledge and a technique that would be 7,500 years in the future for them.

Billy:

That means that over the last 18 years you have made progress approaching 4,000 years, right?

Ptaah:

239. It's 216 years more, yes.

Billy:

But this can only have happened through the friends of Asket's people, if I see the matter correctly, namely those friends who are ahead of Asket's people by about 4,000 years resp. 4,216 years in technical development.

Ptaah:

240. That is also true, but I must enlighten you about the fact that also the people of the Ischrisch Asket have attained the entire higher development of the 4,216 years.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_248

Billy:

At earlier times, I often spoke with Semjase about the Earth-humans and about people of foreign worlds. Semjase also used certain terms for the people of the Earth and for those of extraterrestrial origin, like also you and Quetzal and all others of your federation. Thus, there was always talk of humanoids and of extra-humanoids, non-humanoids, and inhumanoids, etc. In this respect, unfortunately, there are always misunderstandings, which should one day be removed from the world. Let me, therefore, explain these things in the way I have understood them. Correct me, please, if I make a mistake: Humanoids are Earth-humans. Only, these are so-called because they are just earthborn, respectively Earth-created, in accordance with the Latin word humanus, which means something like terrestrial. The Latin term was already used by the ancient Lyrans, and to be sure, in the same way as on the Earth since time immemorial. So the term comes from the ancient Lyrans, who had also named their home world, in the original sense, Earth, and in consequence of this, they had also designated themselves, using a word adaptation, as Earth-humans, as humanoids, after which then, in the course of time, the word humanoid was exchanged for the term HUMAN and, thus, for all human life-forms throughout the whole Universe, but with the difference that the differently disposed, exotic human forms – who didn't exactly resemble the Lyran humans, respectively the terrestrial humans, in their inner and outer anatomies – were called extra-humanoids, respectively foreign humans; consequently, the term humanoid was only used for the kinds of humans of a more terrestrial, respectively Lyran, nature. Nevertheless, the extra-humanoids, respectively the so-called extraterrestrials, belong to the genus OMEDAM and, thus, are humans; it's just that they are of an exotic nature. Both terms, humanoid and extra-humanoid, trace back to the value of OMEDAM, which means something like FIRST HUMAN or just simply HUMAN. So humanoids are, always and in each case, humans, no matter what exotic appearance and what anatomy they have and no matter whether they are designated in other ways than as extra-humanoids. I often mistakenly referred to these extra-humanoids, while speaking or writing, as "non-humanoids," which doesn't correspond to the truth, of course, because non-humanoids, respectively inhumanoids, are, in reality, non-human life-forms that are animalistic, respectively of a fauna-like or floral-like nature, and, therefore, have nothing to do with human life. The term NON-HUMANOID, respectively INHUMANOID, clearly means that such a life form is NON-HUMAN. In contrast, there are, for example, the peoples of Asina, extra-humanoids who deviate in their appearance and in their anatomy very exotically from the actual humanoids and look accordingly different as amphibian beings, respectively amphibian humans, and are arranged into other living conditions than those of humans, the kind to whom we and you belong. But these foreigners are called "extra-humanoids" not because of their appearance but simply because they are of an anatomically different nature than we, who simply designate ourselves as humanoids. There are, for example, many extra-humanoids that are outwardly identical or very similar to humanoids, but they have extremely notable differences in their internal anatomies. This also testifies of the fact that they are not of terrestrial creation but are simply beings of alien worlds, which is why they are, indeed, extra-humanoids; however, their anatomy also contributes to this designation because they are alien to those who are simply called humanoids, respectively humans. However, this should not mislead one to regard and judge the extra-humanoids, the foreign humans, as non-humanoids, respectively non-humans. They are still HUMANOIDs and, thus, OMEDAM HUMANS. So extra-humanoids are, in every case, always human beings; it's just that have no direct birth relationship with actual humanoids, the race of humans embodied by the Earth-humans and your people. And to address the NON-HUMANOID life-forms once again: these are life-forms that are not humanoid and, thus, are in no way of a human nature and that also have no relationship or other connections with the human species, respectively with the OMEDAM and humanoids as well as extra-humanoids. And to come to speak once again of the extra-humanoids, it must be said that these are neither better nor worse humans than the humanoids of the Earth, the Earth-humans, even though they often have very different and rather exotic natures, and indeed, in every respect. Extra-humanoids as well as extraterrestrial humanoids aren't supernatural and aren't divine and, thus, are no monsters and no terrors; rather, they are just as human as the Earth-humans, the Earth-humanoids, of whom, at least for the last 10,000 years, not exactly much that is praiseworthy can be said, when one considers that during this time on our planet, only 250 years of actual peace has prevailed, so in terms of this, as well as in reference to their manner and humaneness and compliance with the natural-creative laws and commandments, as you know, not very many positive things can be said. Concerning the reproduction of the extra-humanoids and other humanoids in the entire expanse of the Universe, it must be said that in this respect, it doesn't behave any differently with all of them than it does with the Earth-humanoids, so with the Earth-humans; therefore, sexual acts are necessary in order to witness descendants. What is different from the Earth-humans is just the manner of the physical act of reproduction, in accordance with the exoticism of the respective life form and, accordingly, its exotic reproductive organs and reproductive practices, which are often connected with rituals that are strange to the Earth-humans. Also, humanoids and extra-humanoids can mate with one another in order to witness descendants, if this is possible due to the dissimilarity between the exotic reproductive organs and if the DNA factors, etc. are compatible and allow for procreation. It is, of course, utter nonsense that procreation and births of descendants can occur in a purely spiritual form, for a material body is always tied to a physical reproduction and birth. This is a fact that punishes all those dreamers, know-it-alls, believers in angels, and other delusional believers in lies, who maintain the contrary.

Ptaah:

91. Your explanation corresponds to the facts.

...

Billy:

There, it would once again interest me as to how far this Federation actually extends, because you have told me several times that you have investigated some very far away enterprises. It would also be interesting to know whether other civilizations have the same laws and rights as those of the Pleiades.

Ptaah:

186. The duties, laws, and rights are uniform throughout the entire Federation.

187. This is one of the basic prerequisites to join our Federation.

188. The Federation is very broad and extends to a distance of 6.2 billion (6,200,000,000) light-years, where in connection with our Federation, another member federation exists according to our model.

189. In between, between the two federations, which have a sphere of influence of many millions of light-years, there are isolated systems that also belong to our federations.

...

194. Indeed, there are still other civilizations that have the same or similar directives as we have, but there are also many that know no inhibitions in this respect but rather interfere without hesitation in other cultures and wage wars, etc.

195. In relation to this, there are quite furious space-traveling peoples.

Billy:

Do you have political and diplomatic relations with such?

Ptaah:

196. That is an inevitable consequence of spaceflight.

...

Billy:

... Semjase, your daughter, had reddish-colored hair for a long time. Is that usual with you, I mean that women dye their hair? Although we have talked about these things once before, we weren't detailed enough. You explained to me that women among you do this, but it didn't arise as to whether they only do this for purely medical reasons and whether this is not actually harmful to the hair?

Ptaah:

206. Female beings among us actually colour their hair every now and then because a certain amount of vanity is not to be denied to them.

207. Nevertheless, the dyeing of the hair is not just vanity-conditioned, but is always connected with a health measure.

208. It's like this:

209. Even though prominent diseases no longer appear among us, this doesn't mean that certain sufferings still don't come to light.

210. However, these are of an insignificant form, like a runny nose.

211. There are also allergies and a few other insignificant illnesses.

212. All these illnesses are often lengthy and require prolonged treatment, like also headaches, for example, but this doesn't mean, now, that many medicines would be necessary for their treatment.

213. Per symptom, only one active agent is necessary against it, which is delivered with a long-term effect.

214. These active agents aren't ingested, injected, or administered through special requirements for deposit; rather, they are introduced in healthy, absolutely harmless carrier substances that are mixed with equally neutral and non-health-hazardous coloring means, with which the hair is then dyed.

Billy:

So then, you do know illnesses.

Ptaah:

215. These aren't actual illnesses according to your sense but rather trifles that occur in the course of life due to some circumstances that the persons concerned are exposed to, like when they come in contact with some things on strange new worlds that then cause the suffering.

216. But such sufferings are, in fact, always only trifles, which also no longer appear on our world and, thus, don't matter any more.

Billy:

Then your world is, so to speak, sterile?

Ptaah:

217. No, the humans are immune to all diseases that once existed on our planet.

218. They are also largely immune to diseases of other worlds, but various insignificant sufferings as well as accidents with insignificant consequences cannot be avoided every now and then, when these have their origin on planets that are foreign to Erra.

Billy:

Then only those people who also visit foreign worlds become sick with the insignificant sufferings?

Ptaah:

219. That is right.

220. That is also the reason why we exercise great caution with respect to health.

Billy:

Now I understand somewhat better. But how, for example, can one of you suddenly suffer from a headache, which seems like a migraine?

Ptaah:

221. That can happen through the inhaling of an atmosphere that is very well breathable for us but which contains weak components of toxic gas that attack certain parts of our nervous systems, as this was the case with my daughter Semjase, for example.

Billy:

But still, you do have your devices and apparatuses that indicate to you such toxic gases, etc.; accordingly, you can then wear protective suits.

Ptaah:

222. Certainly, that is right, but on the one hand, our measuring instruments can only detect and indicate those materials that are known to us, in order, then, to analyse them.

223. However, other substances that are unknown to us cannot be analysed immediately, if we must first explore their composition.

224. Moreover, it can happen that certain gases, etc. only arise here and there or in a locality, and indeed, in such a quick way that a counter measure is hardly possible anymore.

225. So it may just happen that every now and then, such substances are inhaled, which can then produce lasting consequences, which we then just treat in the explained manner.

...

Billy:

Aha. – In foreign worlds, these surely aren't just gases that give you a hard time healthwise, right?

Ptaah:

232. Of course not, because dust particles, pollen, viruses, bacilli, bacteria, plant juices, and various other things can infect us with diseases if we aren't immune to these.

Billy:

Aha, so yes! Then you are not just susceptible to trifles.

Ptaah:

233. As a rule, it only concerns trifles, which are then treated in the way that I explained.

Billy:

And when, apart from the rule, a worse illness makes its appearance?

Ptaah:

234. That would be a great exception, and such would be treated, of course, with the suitable medical means, whereby the healing process would then take no more than a few minutes or, at the most, a few hours.

Billy:

And, in cases of accidents with fractures, etc.?

Ptaah:

235. Our medical possibilities are capable of healing a fracture in less than 6 hours, if the break does not first have to be addressed.

236. But if this is the case, then the process takes a few hours more.

237. Concerning diseases, our immune systems are so strengthened and protected that all diseases that are known to us cannot befall us, but only those that are unknown to us and against which we have no immunity, respectively those whose originators are unknown to us and against which we can't even protect ourselves.

Billy:

And how does it stand, then, with the cold? Semjase once complained to me that you also have to struggle with it.

Ptaah:

238. It concerns an insignificant evil that befalls us, but only on the Earth; however, we are still able to become masters over this.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_249

Billy:

... Can you tell me the number of alien races that are currently flying in and out of the earth or doing their studies here or working here in any other way?

Ptaah:

14. For many years they have always been the same and in their number only three.

...

Billy:

Three alien races have been on Earth for several years, you said. Do they also have stations here, if they are constantly present?

Ptaah:

168. Only one of the three groups is still stationed on Earth for some time, while the other two groups appear only sporadically or periodically.

Billy:

And new aliens, how often do they come into contact with the earth?

Ptaah:

169. That is quite different.

170. In earlier times it happened only twice that during a period of 100 years more than two groups of non-Earthly intelligences flew into the earthly space.

171. Usually, such occurrences are only sporadic, as often as many hundreds or thousands of years pass before another alien race reaches Earth.

172. Sometimes several thousand years pass before such an event takes place again.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_250

Billy:

Prostitution – do they also exist on Erra?

Ptaah:

134. This degeneration has not existed in our country for a long time, but it is still prevalent to a low degree among various Federation peoples.

Billy:

And what about sexually transmitted diseases?

Ptaah:

135. Such diseases are no longer present in any way, not even among those Federation peoples where prostitution is still common in a limited form.

...

Billy:

Another question regarding prostitution: Why does some of your federation peoples still have prostitution?

Ptaah:

143. There are only three of them, and they are still very young in our federation.

144. They were accepted into our Federation only a few years ago, and the efforts to abolish prostitution are running in controlled final forms, so that in less than 8–10 months these peoples will also be freed from this inhumane bad habit.

...

Ptaah:

157. Since time immemorial, we have used a bat symbol as a hazard image for radioactivity.

...

{Note: the following comments relate to Billy Meier's time in India 1965, visiting the Buddhist monk Dharmawara Bellong Mahathera at the Asoka Mission in Mehrauli.}

Billy:

... Swami Dharmawara, so I know, is one of those Earth-humans who had contact with two mysterious humans, Phobol Cheng confirmed that to me again, who just appeared out of nowhere with him and disappeared again in the same way. So it was the same kind of disappearing and coming back as if you 'beamed' me into the ship or back to Earth. The appearance of these two mysterious men who visited the Swami was the same like his, therefore Asian. Can you explain something about it to me?

Ptaah:

187. Officially I can only confirm that this is true.

188. But these are not intelligences who were located beyond Earth, if that's what you think.

189. They were probably distant descendants of extraterrestrial humans, but they were earthbound, even if they mastered the ability of the craftless journey, which was handled by technical means.

190. The how, what, where and why etc. I unfortunately cannot and must not officially explain, which is why I can only explain this to you in confidence.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_251

{Note: This Contact Report contains a detailed history of the Plejaren and their emigration to our solar system, which is not reproduced here.}

Billy:

... All of them, all extraterrestrials who stayed on earth and died here, never returned to their homeworlds. Their spirit-forms slipped into the earthly realm of the afterlife and since then have reincarnated again and again in new becoming bodies of people who were born on earth ...

...

Billy:

But what might be of interest for the group and for all other people is the fact that for years it was not allowed to talk about certain things related to visits of extraterrestrial intelligences, except of those that were mentioned by you and especially by you. You told me that I was allowed to speak openly about this when you left.

Ptaah:

49. That is correct.

50. We were just talking about those who had played an important role up to that point, namely the three groups that we had discussed in one of our last conversations.

51. In addition to these, there are a few other groups of extraterrestrial origin that fly to Earth and can be observed here more often, but none of which is in contact with any Earth-humans, neither on a private nor on a military or governmental basis.

52. Some of them come to earth purely for excursions or expeditions, others have other interests, but none in the way that the hysterical Americans portray this with the impregnation of earth women by Earth alien intelligences or the impregnation of Earth alien women by men of Earth.

53. The nonsense about massacring animals etc. etc. can also be forgotten, for such things do not apply either.

54. Those who have interests other than those of an excursion or expedition will make a name for themselves on earth in the distant future; but why this will be so, we must keep quiet about it, which of course also applies to you, who are informed about these distant things of the future.

...

Billy:

Well, thank you. But why were not we allowed to talk about those aliens you just talked about all these years?

Ptaah:

57. On the one hand, this has to do with the new, distant future and with the new era of Earth, about which we are not allowed to talk openly, as I explained, and on the other hand, careless information about it would only have led to further hysteria and to lies and deception as well as to swindles and charlatanry, as was unfortunately already the case in America, Germany, England and Japan as well as in Sweden, etc.

Billy:

Yes I know. Especially America is raging in hysteria and madness.

Ptaah:

58. That is correct, but there not only the MUFON is to blame for the whole hysteria, but also the many religious sects as well as in particular the government itself, which actually conceals and keeps under lock and key much important evidence for the existence of extraterrestrial life and their appearance on Earth as well as forbids by laws the contact with extraterrestrial life-forms.

...

Ptaah:

101. The rule also proves on all our Federation worlds that hardly anything can be done against heavy earthquakes in a reasonable way, if high buildings etc. are erected, which is why only small buildings are usual everywhere and largely secured against heavy shocks.

102. Also our worlds live and are shaken by earthquakes, but we behave accordingly in the construction of the buildings and in their protection against shaking of the planets.

Billy:

You also have houses or buildings that are not composed of small pieces, such as stones or concrete slabs, etc., because your buildings are made of plastics and also of a single piece, seamlessly, as I have seen. In addition, they are on spring systems, which are made as vibrating bodies.

Ptaah:

103. That is correct, but these are only two of the methods used to prevent vibrations.

...

Ptaah:

144. In the time to come, even farther away, a lot will happen and change with regard to alien aircraft and their crews, but also with regard to earthly, mysterious and strange-looking flying machines.

145. Also contacts with extraterrestrials are to be expected, which will be however of a completely different nature than all previous lying, swindling and deceitful would-be contactees have presented them with all their religious-sectarian nonsense etc.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_257

Billy:

... Then I would have another question now, which refers to the coming and appearance of extraterrestrials who have no connection whatsoever with you and who should actually make open contact with Earth-humans. Can I find out, for example, when this time will really be? The date once mentioned to me has become obsolete because things have happened with Earth-humans and in their politics, which made the appearance of the extraterrestrials impossible.

Ptaah:

77. The time is relatively close according to our terms, but for certain reasons I will not name the more exact time, because thereby steps could be taken by the terrestrial man, which would thwart everything another time.

...

79. Then the question should only be answered in such a way that no exact dates are mentioned.

80. It must therefore suffice if I say that the time is relatively near at which people of an alien world will appear openly on this planet.

Billy:

After which you will finally withdraw, as you have always assured!

Ptaah:

81. That was always the meaning of our explanations in this regard.

Billy:

Your concepts of time are of course different from ours here on earth, so your word is a broad concept if you say that the time is already relatively near when official contact between extraterrestrials and terrestrial humans can be expected.

Ptaah:

82. Time is really not very far away anymore.

83. The only question is whether the military, secret services and governments will not change the open appearance in such a way that the public will be misled and the real facts will not be falsified and concealed again, as this was done with regard to previous occurrences of a similar kind with extraterrestrial aircraft and beings of foreign worlds.

...

Billy:

Let me ask a question about the old earthlings: Did they also do so primitively and stupidly with the appearance of extraterrestrials, as is the case with today's mankind, especially with the military, the secret services and the governments as well as the sectarians?

Ptaah:

95. No comparison can be made in the matter of military, secret services and governments.

96. Where people acted abnormally, there was actually the delusion in play by which aliens were judged either as devils or as gods.

97. In military, secret service and governmental respects, however, with few exceptions, no aggressive machinations were common on the aliens, which unfortunately has changed drastically in modern times.

Billy:

Certain people become more stupid than normal.

...

Billy:

Extraterrestrials

I am often asked whether then only the Pleadian/Plejaren come to Earth as extraterrestrials. Naturally that is not the case, because there exists yet various other extraterrestrials, who fly into terrestrial airspace and can also often be observed. They are, in part, members of the Pleadian/Plejaren federation, who cannot however be counted as foreigners who stem from planets and solar systems that have no state of affairs at all with the Pleiadian/Plejaren and their federation worlds. These foreign extraterrestrials come from the most different star systems, which as a rule, belong to our galaxy, respectively, the Milky Way, whereby however exceptions also exist, however only very few, in which the extraterrestrials stem from foreign, and millions of light-year distant, galaxies. There are, however, few like this to note, that they can only be spoken of as a rarity.

...

... Therefore the greatest caution is recommended with extraterrestrial contacts in the sky, because too much about this are lies, deception, swindle, charlatanism and speculation, etc., whereby also the truth-despising efforts and falsifications as well as disinformation machinations of the governments are implicated through the committal and establishment of unbelievable lies, slanders, falsifications and trickeries in the world to veil the truth, to contradict and to deny. The Roswell UFO crash is just one of many inglorious examples. Naturally not all terrestrial governments and military work in this slimy way, but there are many. And they get ever more difficulty from those peoples who are really interested in the UFO clarification and the events connected therewith, as they turn the heat up under the governments, the military and the secret services. The time namely presses ever more, because ever more UFO incidents take place and also pure UFO observations increase ever further. So the responsible ones use their lies, defamation and denial ever less, whereby they apply a new obscuring technique to keep secret the actual existence of extraterrestrials, as well as their visits to Earth. Their new method is to demonize everything that has to do with UFOs and extraterrestrials. That, thereby, also serves to hinder the coming about of contact with extraterrestrials and civilians, because that can no longer be controlled and because, as a rule, civilians who are not bound by a military or secret service security status do not shy away from making such experiences and events openly known. But such open information is exceedingly uncomfortable and even exceedingly dangerous for the governments as well as for the military and secret services, etc., as their power structures could become shaky. Of this it was already clear to a whole line-up of authorities as well as their military and secret services in the First World War because, over the battlefields of Europe UFOs were observed whose appearance was however kept secret. It went the same way in the Second World War, as the foo-fighters surfaced everywhere. Indeed, it was already firmly established by the military and secret services and highest government positions by the First and Second World Wars that UFOs were of extraterrestrial origin, yet the secrecy was still maintained. The facts of the extraterrestrial origins of flying devices was recognized in America through the observation of a landing of such an object, where four unusually-clothed humanoid beings disembarked, collected some plants in the vicinity, re-entered their device and flew away. The observers of these events were two members of the military who, co-incidentally, were in just that area while on vacation. Both reported the event to the nearest military facility, allowing the secret investigations and clarifications to proceed, as had already happened in other similar cases that preceded, and also subsequently occurred even more. But everything happened under the strictest nondisclosure, as the Plejadian/Plejaren have affirmed, so the public received no knowledge about these incidents whatsoever, as neither did the main body of the governments, the military and the secret services. It was always only the very highest positions and officials who were privy to the secrets. And it was also these people who even then concerned themselves with, and worked out, concealment tactics to deceive most of their subordinates and the entire population. It was to be avoided that on one hand everything would be known, and on the other hand that those not in the know and not sworn to secrecy, or even civilian personnel, could have contact with extraterrestrials. Therefore a possibility was sought to place fear in humans in relation to the extraterrestrials so that no contact would result from a possible landing or from a crash of extraterrestrial projectiles.

...

But that was not enough by far, because the longer the UFO appearances in the new age were observed, the more secretly these were dealt with, and indeed not the least on that account, because the arrival of the extraterrestrials, and the enslavement of the terrestrial humanity through the invaders was feared by the American government and their military as well as secret services. And (so) that the population should be left in ignorance about the truth of the existence of extraterrestrials, nevertheless, however (that) fear must be developed in the peoples against the extraterrestrials, out of which a far-reaching hate must be established against the invaders, and, thereby, once again a defensive rage steered by hate should result, the US presidency, as well as the leading officers of the military and the secret services, etc., came upon a psychologically sophisticated idea to work out a horror scenario in extraterrestrial matters and to start it in such a way that not only America would be seized by it, rather also great parts of the rest of the world. This scenario should be configured in such a way, that once angst and panic should first break out regarding Extraterrestrial invaders, thereafter they then spread further fear and hate far, and could spread it over the world, and indeed also then, when it would be officially recognized, that it all only dealt with fiction and therefore a poor utopian piece of work. Thereby the psychological trick would be established, that when once fear is sown then from that yet greater fear and finally also panic and hate must develop, that follows itself further, always spreading out farther. A fact that was already known then and also today, yet would be practiced again and again over the whole world in different relationships. And exactly angst and terror were necessary, according to the view of the responsible ones, to incite the population against the extraterrestrials, and to prevent them from coming into contact with them if the opportunity should present itself. Through this perfidious and fully-thought-out psychological machination of the highest government authorities as well as the military and secret services, it also should be avoided that at any time, any one of the people would gain admission to the extraterrestrials if the opportunity offered itself. The responsible ones not only had fear of a peaceful extraterrestrial official, or unofficial, landing and contact initiative, but they also feared an invasion. And because an official or unofficial extraterrestrial appearance and effect on the Earth was not compatible with the religious philosophies, since 1915, Pope Benedict XV, (1914-1922) as well as Pius XI. (1922-1939) and Pius XII. (1939-1958) would also be drawn into the entire conspiracy. Also certain Jewish dignitaries were enlisted in this, who even at that time in America had quite a bit to say and had a voice.

In the most secret of missions, it was therefore resolved to create a horror scenario which would agitate the population on one hand, who, however, should be left in ignorance of the truth of the existence of the extraterrestrials who already manoeuvred in terrestrial air space and also landed sporadically on the Earth, as it has been established from secure sources, and through that, on the other hand, that fear and hate be sown against the strangers from other worlds. The mean and slimy trick was in and of itself simple: a radio broadcast should be transmitted, that on one hand spreads angst and terror of the extraterrestrials, and on the other hand, should also strike very far, and as much as possible, worldwide circles. To this end, through American secret service agents, as well as through the responsible superiors of these positions of duty, as well as the government and military, suitable authors and works were sought, which could be exploited and used for the perfidious machination. It was US President Franklin D. Roosevelt (President, 4th March 1933 – 12th April 1945) who quite personally, however, sought out the science fiction work of Englishman Herbert George Wells, who as an author, in 1898, brought out a work under the title "War of the Worlds". In this episode American secret service agents made contact with Wells and beseeched him coercively to adapt his work to a radio play. But the man himself did not feel in a position to do this, so he suggested chartering a young American author of his acquaintance, Orson Welles, who would certainly be suitable. Under threats of death, H.G. Wells was obliged to lifelong silence, after which, then in America, the still young Orson Welles would be coerced by the secret service people to refashion H.G. Wells's work, "War of the Worlds" into a realistic-seeming horror radio play. Out of the science fiction novel Wells wrote in 1897 and published in 1898, such a work that broadcast on the radio, would release wild panic and angst as well as hate for the extraterrestrials. The work, in which extraterrestrials, formed unlike humans, and of monstrous and evil-nature, land on the Earth and cause trouble and destruction, was exactly that which had been hoped for by the responsible ones of governments, the military and the secret services. It's no wonder that as a result of panic breaking out there was quite a number of dead.

The goal of the government, the military and the secret services was achieved with the broadcast of the radio play (War of the Worlds), because from then on fear, and also a certain hate, ruled against the extraterrestrials, of the kind and form, as well as the sense, that was also always desired. And exactly that has remained that way until today and even still spreads out, because fear and hate would again always be newly stirred up, and the American secret service powers, etc., are especially proficient in doing exactly that. Were that not enough, that they – and certain also determined government and military powers – financially support and demand contra films against the extraterrestrials, no, they do not shy from simulating all kinds of horror-events, like, for example, abductions by extraterrestrials, as well as human and animal mutilations and so on and so forth. They are also not inactive in matters relating to the falsification of crop circles, and indeed in the most differing countries. Naturally, in respect of all these things there are also charlatans, deceivers and swindlers and every other sort, yet the secret service machinations are probably indeed the worst, because it is precisely through these that disinformation is established, through which the genuine and actual events in this regard are bedevilled and made laughable. Scarcely anything is known about exactly this, as everything runs so secretly as it always has, and as does the actual story of the radio play of "War of the Worlds" by Orson Welles. And the danger exists that something could not be held secret, then the responsible ones of the government and military as well as the secret services do not shy away from bringing the witnesses to silence under death threats or through an otherwise erasing, like, for example, through elimination or through a consciousness-stupefying brain wash and psycho-terror and so forth. Herbert George Wells, who died on the 13th August 1946, also knew that, as did Orson Welles who departed this life on October 10th, 1985. Neither left behind any indications about the true incidents regarding the radio play, as they correctly feared that their families, friends and acquaintances after their demise also could be vengefully persecuted by the secret service people and the responsible ones of the government and military. And that I now do not hold my tongue about that which the Plejadian/Plejaren explained to me in regard to this ... what comes of that remains to be seen... The nasty machinations of the government, military and secret service people in respect of the demonizing of extraterrestrials have increased ever more since 1938 – indeed slowly and successively, thus, however all the more incessantly and expansively, until in the eighties, essentially, the greatest machination for the bedeviling of extraterrestrials began – through a shifty structure in the fashion of the secret service, as well as miscellaneous UFO and extraterrestrial enemies. Stories came about like the ghastly human and animal mutilations, the theft of human babies and the impregnating of terrestrial women through foreign visitors out of outer space. Horror stories were also disseminated about subterranean laboratories and the inhuman experiments taking place there. Were that still not enough, because the angst of the extraterrestrials wreaked even worse blooms, like, for example, it would be asserted that women impregnated by aliens would, after some months, have the baby growing in the womb snatched out to be allowed to finally grow further in a fluid-filled incubator, etc., in order to breed up a new humanity, etc. using these hybrid children. A further horror story was that the earth humans would be abducted, in order to take their genetic material that would be necessary for the extraterrestrials' further breeding of humans, who would serve as, so to say, nourishment providers, because the evil foreigners out of the depths of outer space supposedly nourish themselves on human blood. Similarly, it would also be asserted in respect to the animal mutilations in America, whereby the related far-fetched feeble-mindedness that namely beef blood demonstrates a genetic relationship with human blood, therefore the mutilated cattle would have their blood sucked out to store in the blood banks for crisis times – naturally through the evil extraterrestrials. Yet even that is not enough, because still many other assertions, slanderings and lies, and clearly to be recognised as feeble-minded, are put about, through which the humans are led into error and would be shifted into angst and terror, as has had manifold success, and certain mass hysteria has been released by a worldwide group of certain earth humans, which also leads to feelings of hate, etc. ...

...

Billy:

Well, then a question about the alleged appearance and official landing of extraterrestrials on Earth. Some people claim that on 27.3.1997 extraterrestrials should officially land on Earth. Do you know anything about this?

Ptaah:

118. We know these erroneous assertions, which are nothing more than bare nonsense and which are connected with the 'Hale-Bopp'-comet, which is also known as Nibiru or Nubiru or Unis, on which gods live and should now return to Earth.

Billy:

You explained all this to me years ago. So everything is nothing but bullshit and nonsense what is talked about the comet and the alleged official landing of extraterrestrials on Earth. I would also have been surprised if it had not been like that. – Unfortunately, we have so many crackpots here on the Earth, and unfortunately even more misguided ones who believe all the nonsense of these crackpots. Furthermore, there are still many conscious liars, cheaters, swindlers and charlatans who take advantage of the New Age madness of the believers and make horrendous profits out of it.

Ptaah:

119. Unfortunately, that is the truth.

Billy:

It goes to the year 2000 and there it is, of course, like at every turn of the century or the last turn of the millennium: the doomsday mood, the alleged return of the dear Jesus Christ as well as the coming of extraterrestrials or even of the dear God himself. All nonsense. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_260

Billy:

... But now, here's a somewhat loosening-up question: one approached me in reference to whether I knew anything about the use of make-up by the female gender on Erra. One wanted to know specifically whether lip balming occurs, even with lipstick, as the women and girls do this here on Earth. For my part, I never saw such with your women.

Ptaah:

136. This isn't common with our female gender in the way that it is with the women on Earth.

137. In general, only a certain part uses subtle make-up from natural materials, while others don't use these things.

138. The make-up is such that it doesn't change the naturalness of the skin, so it can hardly be seen, which isn't the case, unfortunately, with the earthly female gender.

139. But that the lips are coated with colored lipsticks, as the women and girls do so on the Earth, that isn't the case with us, for we have already considered such actions as nauseating since ages ago.

...

Billy:

The certain part of female people who use make-up, is this predominant?

Ptaah:

141. Unfortunately, that isn't known to me, but as I estimate, that part should only be small and be more restricted to younger women and girls.

...

Ptaah:

185. But even when the technology {on Earth} will one day be perfected to the highest, cultivated, living test forms will still be essential, as this is also the case with our relevant medical science researches.

186. But as you correctly said, we do not use live animals but only specially cultivated organisms that have no feelings of pain as well as no psyche and no consciousness, etc.

187. This form of medical research is extremely limited, however, and is only used when we discover life forms on foreign worlds that are unknown to us in every respect and about which we, therefore, still have no medical knowledge.

188. For medical researches of all kinds, however, which concern our Plejaren as well as all Federation worlds and, thus, also all their life forms of all kinds, we no longer depend on cultivating special organisms in order to be able to pursue the necessary researches, for in this respect, our computer programs are fully sufficient.

...

Billy:

... Then another question: even the people of your worlds and your federated allies certainly aren't so perfect in terms of their organs and bodies; therefore, surely health or rather physical injuries can come to light, or am I wrong there?

Ptaah:

197. Our medical knowledge and possibilities are so developed that we no longer know diseases.

Billy:

Of course, I know that; you explained this to me sufficiently. I also don't mean that some diseases can still appear; rather, I'm coming from the perspective that, for example, there can be accidents and the like, by which health or rather physical injuries can appear.

Ptaah:

198. Now I understand. –

199. Of course – accidents cannot be avoided, for in spite of all precautions of the people, such dismal events can occur over and over again.

Billy:

Good, now we've brought it to a common denominator. My question about this is: how is a treatment or an intervention handled when, for example, a surgical intervention becomes necessary? Surgery is, indeed, a very bloody work, I think – is it also still so bloodily maintained with you?

Ptaah:

200. Of course not, because we have long outgrown this bloody barbarism.

...

204. Now, our technology relating to this is so far developed that we can avoid all bloody interventions.

205. Our apparatuses and devices, etc. are designed in such a way that open surgical interventions no longer have to be made, for all manipulations in or on the body are carried out in a pure, vibration-related manner.

206. Thus, internal or external wounds as well as broken bones and torn blood vessels can be closed, joined, and healed within seconds or a few minutes.

207. The operation of the apparatuses and devices, etc. occurs, of course, through trained doctors and other specialists, including bioorganic, electronic androids, simply said.

208. In addition, these are able to transport themselves to any location within a range of 300,000 kilometers, even there where they are needed.

209. This occurs through a teleportation by apparatus.

Billy:

You mean that they can beam themselves to any location – just like that?

Ptaah:

210. Yes, but that is nothing unusual.

Billy:

For us earthlings, it is. – Then these androids are true doctors?

Ptaah:

211. Certainly.

Billy:

With you, is anything also operated within the framework, as here on Earth with the so-called spiritual healing?

Ptaah:

212. No.

213. In addition, I must also say that what is operated under this designation by many people on Earth must be referred to as charlatanism.

214. Of course, exceptions are given, but these are based on suggestion and self-healing.

...

Billy:

... Then here again is a question about the health of the people on Erra and your other worlds. Although you have already answered this question for me once, it wasn't held in writing. Moreover, it is also answered with the fact that there are no longer diseases with you. But still, various people would like to be able to read your answer. So: on Erra or with your people in general, is there still blindness, deafness, disability, and muteness, etc.?

Ptaah:

222. No, all these evils, together with all diseases and infirmities, have no longer appeared for many millennia, which is also connected with our prenatal investigations and necessary medical measures, which are based in the creative law, that each newborn life has an absolute right to consciousness-related and physical intactness.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_264

Billy:

... There are several groups of extraterrestrials who function around here on Earth, but to my knowledge you have nothing to do with them. But do they know that you are here?

Ptaah:

49. No, because we also keep ourselves secret from these few.

50. Our directives demand this – but also our security.

...

Billy:

Observations of unknown flying objects, a large number of which are certainly of extraterrestrial origin, have become very frequent in recent years. Can you give me the reason?

Ptaah:

55. The time is approaching when the first official contact with Earth-foreigners is to take place.

56. The efforts of certain Earth-foreign humans come down to this.

57. I am not allowed to explain more about this, because we are not allowed to intervene in current events that are not directly connected with our own interests.

58. Whether this encounter with Earth-humans will actually take place in the near future, however, has already become questionable again, as a result of the new political turmoil, which will also increase again in the future, whereby malicious acts of war are to be expected.

Billy:

Of course not, you have explained that to me very often.

Ptaah:

59. It must be said, however, with regard to the fact that many humans on Earth observe the sky more attentively and see the most diverse unknown flying objects and that this is due to the controversy that has been triggered worldwide as a result of your contacts with us as well as your photo evidence and your person and history.

60. Through this controversy, many humans have become aware of the existence of the Earth-foreigners, and consequently the humans are paying more attention to the heavens.

61. From the whole it follows, however, that very many Earth-humans become familiar with the thought that extraterrestrial human life exists.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_269

13th May 1996, 14:59 hrs {Note: probably a private conversation during Contact 256}

Billy:

It has been some time since you told me that now is not the time to expect official contact between extraterrestrials and terrestrials.

Ptaah:

1. The time is really not very far anymore.

2. The only question with regard to the expected contacts is whether the military, secret services and governments will not once again reshape the open appearance in such a way that the public is misled and the facts are distorted and concealed, as has been done with regard to previous incidents with extraterrestrial flying apparatuses and beings from foreign worlds.

Billy:

Apart from you Pleiadians/Plejaren and the members of your Federation, other Earth-foreigners visit our world very rarely and their flying apparatuses can be observed here and there.

Ptaah:

3. That is right, but that is not our concern, because we do not have any contacts to these strangers.

4. We have never done that before.

5. However, it is not to be denied that aliens are sometimes present in earthly area who have nothing in common with us.

Billy:

On your last visit you also told me that with regard to the so-called crop circles everything is no longer of a purely earthly human nature, but that for some time now there have also been earth-foreigner influences at play?

Ptaah:

6. That's also true, but I do not want to go into any more detail about it, because we are not allowed to interfere in things and events that are not compatible with our mission.

7. We must not disregard our directives and therefore not violate them.

Billy:

Then things have actually changed with regard to crop circle forgeries in certain things, just in the sense that now also extraterrestrial influences are involved.

Ptaah:

8. For quite some time this is actually swinging-wave-based the case.

9. However, this does not mean that the pictograms etc. are not genuine and cannot be traced back to the Earth-foreigners.

10. As always, counterfeits are being made by freeloaders who are not exposed to the swinging waves.

Billy:

And what is the connection between the pictograms which are created by the influence of extraterrestrial vibrations of forces? I think it's rather stupid that humans on Earth who are not yet highly developed make themselves felt in this way.

Ptaah:

11 So the connection does not exist by coming events within SOL-system and also not by the announcement of the appearance of earth-foreigners, whose ancestors came to Earth earlier.

...

25. The only thing that is certain for us so far is that there are certain extraterrestrial energy influences that influence humans on Earth, among others, so that they are active in making pictograms.

26. This does not mean, however, that everything concerning the so-called crop circles is allegedly of honest origin, that it is traced back to influences of earth-foreign beings.

...

Billy:

Recently I was asked whether it is just as common for you on Erra and in your Federation for humans to do plastic surgeries and the like as it is here on Earth – until now actually more for the female sex, but recently also more and more for men.

Ptaah:

59. No, such things are frowned upon by us, because all humans with us are of the opinion and conviction that one should age in honour and see and wear the signs of age on the face, hands and body and never tinker with nature's craft, as you once said – unless uncontrollable circumstances and influences cause physical deformations and devastations, which are then naturally aesthetically repaired and corrected.

Billy:

Then there is cosmetic surgery, like facelifts etc., and as is so common among the humans here on Earth, isn't there?

Ptaah:

60. No, I already said that.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_272

Billy:

... And the foreigners? What kind of beamships or flying apparatus do they have, and what do they want?

Ptaah:

57. Their flying apparatuses bears a certain resemblance to ours and could therefore easily be confused by the uninitiated and ignorant.

58. What the foreigners want is easy to explain:

59. They appear once every 70 to 80 years on Earth, taking care of all sorts of things that reach into political as well as military and scientific matters, whereby their aim is to make an official appearance at the appropriate moment and to establish open contact with the Earth-humans.

Billy:

And, were there contacts to them at earlier times, resp. did these foreigners interfere in the earlier concerns of Earth-humans?

Ptaah:

60. That was to some extent the case, yes.

...

Billy:

... Then there's a question I asked you a long time ago, but you still have not answered it. Obviously you have forgotten the matter. It is that you promised to clarify when the first extraterrestrial people came to earth. ...

...

Ptaah:

92. We have found traces up to 234 million years in the past.

93. These are our latest findings and discoveries.

94. However, I have not forgotten your question about these things, but I have been silent about it so far, because we're still researching and do not have any final results yet.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_278

Billy:

Can I ask you something about viruses and bacteria, etc., how you protect yourself against them when you are on other planets? Can you tell me about it?

Florena:

52. I can do that very well.

53. On the one hand, we are protected by our clothing, which is so much worked and equipped with sensors, that it registers all kinds of pathogens known or unknown to us, etc., and destroys them with special radiation that is harmless to us.

54. This applies both to bacteria and viruses of all kinds that you have mentioned, as well as to other pathogens, which, however, may still be unknown to earthly physicians.

55. Our clothing, which we wear outside of our home planet, is equipped with an appropriate filter system, which eliminates all parasites etc., all germs and all viruses and bacteria of every form.

56. In addition, each of our flying apparatuses has a large, equally active filter and radiation device in the entry area, which is in continuous operation, so that no germs can be introduced.

57. These systems are absolutely safe.

Billy:

But then there is something I do not understand: Semjase once told me that they always have the problem of snuffing here on Earth.

Florena:

58. That was indeed the case, but this fact only referred to when they or other of our groups wrapped themselves in earthly garments and thus lost the protection explained to you.

59. As you know, Semjase and several others temporarily moved among earthlings at very short notice when there were special things to do.

60. At that time, this could only be very short because heavy equipment had to be carried to protect the consciousness and the mind.

61. However, if one of us was affected or infected by the common cold or any other illness, this was regulated and remedied by re-entering the flying apparatus and wearing the usual clothes again.

Billy:

What was it like or is it like with me? I have suffered from various diseases caused by bacteria or viruses.

Florena:

62. That may be true, but as you yourself know, your diseases have never been so dangerous for Semjase or any of us.

63. Besides, as far as I know you have already been informed about this by Semjase, special safety measures have been taken with regard to you and in function, so that you can unhindered be with us and enter our flying machines.

64. Further you also know that in relation to your earthly physics, only these can be considered for disinfection, but not your inner organs etc.

65. This possibility exists only for us, which is why only we can keep ourselves free from any germs etc..

66. Our devices and apparatuses are only tuned to our bodies and organs etc..

Billy:

What do you think of it when you transport foreign planet inhabitants in your flying machines?

Florena:

67. Special filter and radiation devices are required for this, which are tuned to the life forms concerned and which are then subjected to a holistic disinfection.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_282

Ptaah:

...

37. What was held was used for demonstration and information purposes for all our federation members.

Billy:

I am flat. By all federation members, do you really mean all humanities or just spiritual leaders? The latter would not be logical, because you speak of all members of the Federation.

Ptaah:

38. You already understand it correctly:

39. The meaning of my words refers to all members of the Federation.

Billy:

Then I am reassured when only 120 billion (120,000,000,000) humans from foreign solar systems and planets know what's going on in the centre, how the group members behave here, what they do and work, and what their interests are, etc. I am not sure what I mean. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_283

Ptaah:

10. ... the presence of those strangers on Earth which we observe and with whom we have not been able to come into contact yet – although it is questionable whether we can ever do this.

foreigners

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_287

Zafenatpaneach:

25. She {Enjana} had to make observations regarding the foreigners.

26. These are now increasingly active in Swiss and German as well as French, Italian and Austrian areas.

27. Also in the Nordic countries they are increasingly noticeable for us.

Billy:

And – do you still not have any knowledge about their being here?

Zafenatpaneach:

28. Both the purpose of their being here and their origin are still unknown to us.

Billy:

And why you do not just simply make contact with them?

Zafenatpaneach:

29. The foreigners offer us too many uncertainties in many respects.

30. For this reason, we must strictly adhere to our directive of not establishing contact.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_291

{Note: see Contact Reports 90, 91, and 93 for information on Billy's first encounter with Asina.}

Asina:

3. And that I speak your language is because of this little device here on my body belt.

4. It is a language converter.

Billy:

Aha, this is what Ptaah told me about, that you Deneber have received such devices, as well as other flying apparatuses with which you can travel through space.

Ptaah:

3. That is right.

4. Furthermore, the peoples of Deneb have been members of our Federation for quite some time, which is why they have been equipped with appropriate technology.

Billy:

And, why are you here again, Asina?

Asina:

5. As usual, we are on an expedition, and since the Earth serves us well as a stopover to our next destination, we have moved into your time by a leap in time.

Billy:

Aha, I suspected something like that when I saw the lights in the sky. I assume that you jumped out of your dimension directly into our time and we became aware of you just at the moment you were materialized, and I assume that this must have happened about 200 kilometres away from our Centre, somewhere in the north and over German territory.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_292

Billy:

And, how did you find Asina after all?

Ptaah:

6. Of course by calling them via our remote communication devices, when our search equipment and analysers as well as the planetary communication attempts produced no results and remained unsuccessful.

7. Consequently, we thought that the armada must be outside the Earth, which is why we considered success through remote communication, which then produced the desired result.

Billy:

You speak of remote communication and probably mean a hyperwave or interstellar radio or something. For us here on Earth, distance communication unfortunately only means from place to place, from country to country or from continent to continent – or in the highest case to earthly space stations and manned space capsules and the like.

Ptaah:

8. I understand.

9. Of course, our remote communication devices refer to a technology that enables us to bridge millions and billions of light-years at above-light speed.

Billy:

That's how far we earthlings should be. But tell me, what is the average age of Asina's race, I mean of the Denebers? Can you tell me that?

Ptaah:

10. Of course, it's no secret; their average age is 320 earthly years.

...

Billy:

... Earth-humans have been eating genetically modified things for many thousands of years that have been genetically manipulated by extraterrestrials, such as the pear or the avocado fruit ...

...

Ptaah:

51. Anonymously I shall also send you greetings and best wishes from many people of our Federation, whereby it must be clear to you that in our Federation many more people know you than you can imagine.

52. Truly there are billions, which is especially due to all the works of spiritual doctrinal form etc. which you have made for us in all the years of our contacts and which we of course spread through our spiritual leadership and through our communication channels etc.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_296

Billy:

... Then there is a question about rituals for weddings, births and naming and about saying goodbye when people die. What do you think?

Ptaah:

104. That is different for federations, because there are allies with us who cultivate rituals according to their kind.

105. But for our part, and this refers only to us Plejaren, we have no rituals whatsoever.

106. In the case of alliances, only a short word is spoken about the alliance to be entered into, as in the case of naming, in which a few words of welcome are also spoken about birth and appearance in life and as a new community member.

107. If a person dies, then a farewell speech is given, which shows the deceased person in his deeds, thoughts and feelings as well as in his works and in his character, virtues and personality etc.

108. This also includes merits, etc.

109. In all cases, however, no rituals take place, which is also the case for honours and merits etc. during one's lifetime.

110. Everything in the aforementioned matters takes place in a simple and simple framework.

Billy:

Aha, so no Tam-Tam. And what about busts and monuments etc. in honour of people who have achieved great things?

Ptaah:

111. Such commemorative works are also created by us, but no ritual acts are performed around them.

Billy:

So simply pure works of honour and memory. This includes – as with us – gravestones and memorials?

Ptaah:

112. That corresponds to the circumstances.

Billy:

Even with memorials there are no rituals and acts of worship, I suppose?

Ptaah:

113. That's also true, yes.

Billy:

Here on earth, unfortunately, these things are handled differently – pilgrimages, worship, cultural actions, etc. It's not about commemorative visits or simple memorial and testimonial visits to such places or monuments, etc. How is that with you in this relationship?

Ptaah:

114. We also visit memorials and monuments, etc., but in any case this is done only for the sake of remembrance and honour, and, as I said, no rituals and no ritual acts and the like are performed.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_297

Billy:

... How do you deal with wild animals; do you care for them in the same way as the people here on earth? So do you also go hunting – do you also have hunters for this purpose?

Ptaah:

35. Hunting is not permitted in our country and we leave the regulation of the population in the animal world to nature and its laws.

36. The free nature is left with us so big and actually free enough that all animals have their necessary free space.

37. Consequently, no animals migrate into villages and cities, as is the case on earth, because the animals no longer have sufficient living space due to the enormous overpopulation of humans. –

38. It is forbidden for us to enter wild areas in order to build recreation or dwellings there.

39. In addition, it is customary in our country – which unfortunately is not yet the case for all federates – that no game and no other animals which are kept in large parks and enclosures and which are used for dairy farming, etc., are killed in order to produce food from them, etc.

40. We produce the necessary animal proteins for our food through special duplicators, etc., by producing synthetic meat that is absolutely equivalent to real animal meat.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_304

Tanissa:

1. I am Tanissa and 182 years old.

2. My homeland is Erra, and I am Florena's closest friend and at the same time I am also associated with Zafenatpaneach.

3. I greet you.

Billy:

Splendid, that pleases me. I thought to myself that Zafenatpaneach is a sneaky feller. By this I mean that he is already courting another woman – in addition to Florena.

Florena:

2. That is his right.

3. And Tanissa and I get along very well, and we are very pleased that Zafenatpaneach has made his choice in this way.

...

Ptaah:

6. Are you in pain, my friend?

7. You move so strangely.

Billy:

Unfortunately my knees have been giving me trouble for about three weeks now. You know, my osteoarthritis. I can no longer stand or walk without much pain, so I bought a medical microwave therapy device in Germany, which should probably arrive this week, then I can treat myself or my knees.

Ptaah:

8. Sit down here and stretch your legs out.

9. ... So, yes.

10. One moment, this device diagnoses your suffering. –

11. Aha, especially the left knee is severely inflamed and suffers from a very severe lack of cartilage substance.

12. The right knee is also badly affected.

13. For a moment, this device will give you immediate relief and neutralize the inflammation.

14. ... So, how do you feel about your knees now?

Billy:

You only drove over it once with your device – well, actually, I do not feel any pain anymore. I get up and walk around a bit. Great, no more pain and everything seems to be normal again.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_311

Billy:

... Regarding the Sirians who at that time presented Sfath with their pear-shaped space ship: did that concern a people who, here on the Earth, is called "Nommo", and did those who provided the gift belong to the genetic manipulators?

Ptaah:

9. A people called "Nommo" is unknown to us, and indeed in our space-time configuration as well as in yours.

10. My father Sfath received his flying device as a gift from a Sirian people who are called Samanet.

Billy:

Did these people have something to do with the genetic manipulators?

Ptaah:

11. No, that is not the case.

12. With the Samanet people it deals with a people who live in a space-time configuration which is not identical with that in which the genetic manipulators live.

Billy:

Does it deal then with our space-time configuration?

Ptaah:

13. No, that is not the case.

Billy:

Then, in 1976 Semjase, your daughter, also did not speak of two solar systems of the planets of Sirius in our space time configuration, rather of a completely different one?

{Note: See Contact Report 63:85-88.}

Ptaah:

14. Certainly.

15. We always only speak of the constellations known to you in your space-time configuration in order to show, in terms of direction, approximately what the talk is about in regard to the space-time configuration spoken about by us.

Billy:

Aha, and how does it stand then with that in regard to inhabited systems in our space-time configuration?

Ptaah:

16. Then we also do not speak of another space-time configuration or of other dimensions.

Billy:

That's clear. Understood. – I assume that those who were genetically manipulated also have nothing to do with the Samanet?

Ptaah:

17. That corresponds to the situation.

18. The Samanet are quite normal humans who have not been genetically manipulated.

Billy:

Those who were genetically manipulated, who came into the solar system together with the refugees from the ranks of the genetic manipulators, and therefore with the sympathisers of the genetically manipulated ones, were the descendants of those who had been genetically manipulated as well as descendants of those who did the genetic manipulations, or?

Ptaah:

19. That is correct.

20. The genetically manipulated descendants were descended from the eighth generation, as were the descendants of the genetic manipulators.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_319

Ptaah:

62. If it pleases you, then I would like to play chess with you in the joy of a chess game.

Billy:

Of course. Then let us start right away.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_321

Billy:

Among the adolescents and also among the younger adults here on Earth, unfortunately, there is very often a lack of respect for old age and for human beings in general. In disgracefulness, people of all ages are shown neither respect nor reverence. But how could that be, when you consider how war, hatred, vindictiveness, racism, xenophobia, lack of love, betrayal, torture, the death penalty, injustice, sectarianism, exploitation, fraud, crime of all kinds, greed for profit and power, as well as terror and murder and manslaughter, along with labour exploitation, rape and mistreatment of children and women of all ages and religious, social and racial backgrounds prevail.

Ptaah:

82. All these inhumanities are just as foreign on all our worlds and among all our races as they are on the worlds and among all the races of our Federation.

83. In contrast to the human beings on Earth, we cultivate reverence and dignity and respect and honour in every respect, and consequently no hatred and quarrelling, nor any of the evils and degenerations as you have called them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_323

Ptaah:

40. That slaughter according to Jewish ritual was never and at no time demanded by an Ischwisch, respectively by a god, as it is expressed by Earth-humans, because the renegades themselves who carried the title IHWH held to the law that animals of every species and kind should not be exposed to any kind of torture, rather if they are ready to be killed, that it must happen very quickly and completely painlessly.

41. This was an irrevocable law since time immemorial that was always respected and followed by the vilest renegades themselves, and also today has unconditional validity for all of our peoples in the entire federation, and is followed without exception.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_328

Billy:

... Then another question: What is your situation with the language mix, will your various languages {break in text} are they preserved or do they fall into decay like here on Earth? And is there anything of the kind that, as with us, is attempted by all means to exterminate other languages in order to make a special language the world language, as has been practiced here for decades or even more than a century by the Americans, who are primarily trying to exterminate the German language, along with all the others, and replace it with their American language?

Ptaah:

81. Something like this does not happen here and would not be allowed.

82. On Erra 16,403 alone we have different languages, which in turn have many dialects of their own, and for this it is determined by a corresponding law that all languages and dialects are preserved in their form.

83. This means that the languages and dialects must not be mixed with others either, but must be preserved in their originality, which is a conscious duty for all Errands to keep to it and not to let any violations arise.

84. Many inhabitants of Erra learn several foreign languages and dialects, much more frequently than is the case with humans on Earth.

85. For the general understanding of all people of all ethnic groups among themselves, it is the duty of every single person on Erra to learn the standard language, which we simply call Erranisch (ERRIN) as well as Plejaren (SARAT).

86. This language is used from the earliest childhood, therefore it is equal to the mother tongue and it can be said that every erranische citizen learns and cultivates two mother tongues perfectly from childhood on.

87. In addition to this we have the Intercosmic (KOSAN), a language spoken throughout our Federation and spoken by little more than a third of our total population.

...

Billy:

... But another question: Now and then the Earth-humans from our future come into our dimension and thus into our space-time continuum, as you explained to me on my Great Journey. Also the Skrills and bio-organic flying objects, two special species, penetrate into our dimension from a dimension affiliated to us. Does this also apply to other humans of other dimensions who do not belong to you or to the Earth from the future?

Ptaah:

139. That is the case, yes.

140. But such occurrences are very rarely observed by us.

Billy:

And what about foreigners from outside our DERN universe coming into our universe area from a foreign universe, apart from Asket's race from the DAL universe?

Ptaah:

141. Something like that is not known to us.

142. Even our very extensive monitoring and constant checks have never revealed anything that would indicate such events.

Billy:

There's no possibility?

Ptaah:

143. At least it's extremely small, because outside of our DERN-DAL twin universe we are mostly surrounded by universes that are only subtle and therefore much more highly developed than our two universes.

...

Ptaah:

159. But now, dear friend, do I once again have a request concerning a game of chess, if you are not too tired?

Billy:

Fine, of course. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_329

Ptaah:

22. This is Melchora and this is Urlana, both in the post of erran spiritual guides.

23. Her companion is Jaspan and he is an erran spirit guide.

...

Reporter:

A nine-fold greeting of female and male voices is heard, whereby the hands are also raised to the left side of the chest for greeting and a slight bow is made, whereby I naturally follow the familiar greeting gesture.

...

Billy:

... But what about you contacting future generations from Earth? Have you contacted any, or will you do so at all? And finally, I would like to know whether they are the same future pilots who have been seen, observed, filmed and photographed in various forms all over the world for years? Is it possible to get more detailed information about this, or is the whole thing secret?

Ptaah:

58. It is not classified as a secret.

59. No, we have not made contact and will not do so, because our directives do not allow us to do so.

Billy:

But these are Earth-humans of the future, who are already quite sophisticated.

Ptaah:

60. The development of that form does not matter, because the directives also determine other conditions, such as the fact that a humans or a human race may no longer be subject to warlike actions, which is not the case with the future human beings, as you call them.

Billy:

I see. So then at least these future generations still play warriors. It's a pity, a real pity.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_334

Enjana:

8. Since on the Earth the 66th birthday of a human is considered a special day, which is known to us, your day has also been commemorated on Erra as a result of many requests in your honour, which is why your entire life story will be openly presented for several hours via our worldwide communication system to all Erran human beings, who take a great interest in your work as well as in your life and your mission.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_345

Billy:

... What arises from the foreign universe? ...

Ptaah:

...

10. First, after a many month long search we found a planet, on which rather still wild humans lived, who were only equipped with stone axes, stone spears and stone knives.

Billy:

Thus, cave men, respectively Stone Age humans or similar, correct?

Ptaah:

11. Yes.

12. They lived partly in caves, but also partly in primitive huts, which they made out of branches, leaves and moss.

13. Across the planet, we were able to identify 46 different groupings.

14. The planet itself had large primeval forests as well as fertile land, on which many and diverse animals roamed and fed themselves on all kinds of things.

15. You can yourself imagine approximately the same appearance that Earth presented around six million years ago.

16. Weeks later, after which we further penetrated into the foreign universe, we came upon a small artificial object, which was drifting through free space.

17. When we got hold of it, we established, that it was a probe created by intelligent life-forms, which certainly had served for the exploration of a planet, but however apparently was driven from its course and was thrown out into free space.

18. So we calculated the flight path of the probe and followed it for several months, after which we then actually reached a solar system, in which about a dozen planets moved around a central star, although certainly only two of the planets were developed in such a way, that they were able to carry higher life, as we soon discovered.

19. On one of the planets, the third, which was somewhat smaller than Earth and which was about 1.51 astronomical units distant from the sun and which travelled on its 677 day long orbit about the central star and had a self-rotation of 21 hours and 37 minutes, there existed no human, but only higher animal lifeforms of primeval form, as well as also this primeval condition applied to the vegetation.

20. The second planet, somewhat greater than the Earth, had three large island continents, which existed in a large salt water ocean and were surrounded by a large number of smaller islands.

21. Their entire mass was around one third greater than the continental masses and islands of Earth together.

22. This planet was at a distance from the sun of 1.48 astronomical units and had a self-rotation of 22 hours and 52 minutes.

23. The planet carried human civilizations, in fact there were three different races, which consisted of diverse peoples, who were of white, green and blue colour, adding to a total number of around 498 million human beings.

24. Our clarifications, which we carried out unobserved and without direct contact undertakings with the occupants, resulted in astonishing things as I want to explain as follows:

25. The populations of the three continents mastered only three different languages each one with a uniform dialect, which we nowhere else have yet detected.

26. And although the three races work together in every respect, such as, medically, scientifically and technologically, etc., they do not mix with one another in the way that there would exist marriage alliances between members of different races.

27. All three races had the same culture, the same state of knowledge in all things and a medical science, which, highly developed, registered only just minor sicknesses, so in this respect they are far ahead of terrestrial medical and surgical science.

28. There was nothing to find regarding religions and cults of any kind, because all three races in no way at all recognize faith, but only a kind of universal philosophy, which is based on the fact, that all life and existence arises from a higher power, which is simply called the 'Power' by them.

29. This is quite reverently observed, respected and honoured, however it is not worshiped and not venerated.

30. The 'Power' constitutes for them all origin of life and all existence, which both comes to be, and again passes away and again comes to be, and a unity in a duality is taught, so the material and the 'Power', which lives in the material, passes away and again comes to be, while the material dissolves and changes into other material forms.

Billy:

This is practically the reincarnation of the spirit-form. The 'Power' would be then simply Creation and at the same time the spirit-form.

Ptaah:

31. So it is, just only with other terms, as well as also everything interpreted and understood by the occupants of the planet.

32. Regarding these three races still is to say, that they are absolutely peaceful, in fact, both from human to human, as well as however also among the races and their peoples themselves.

33. Wars are foreign to them just as well as hate and criminality, and purely technologically viewed, they are at the position which prevailed with Earth-humans in the year 1968.

Billy:

Astonishing. Then, these human beings are far ahead of earthlings. However, how is it then with the form of government?

Ptaah:

34. Each people decides totally on all interests, although a total representation of all three races exists, which is built in the form of an assembly of men and women, which as highest authority is to gain the required recognition of the will of the people.

Billy:

A little complicatedly expressed, my friend. If I correctly understand your words, then with these three races and their peoples so to say there exists a combined leadership, which consist of persons, respectively representatives, of all three races. This leadership personnel exists in the service of the people, respectively of all peoples and executes their decision, respectively, they are responsible for the fact, that the will of people, respectively peoples is carried out. Then it is so to say a proper democracy. And how is it with these leadership personnel, do they have then also their own power of decision?

Ptaah:

35. Your interpretation corresponds to the sense of my words.

36. The leadership personnel, which consists of three persons from all peoples have only executing and advisory powers of the respective peoples and they do not have their own possibility for decision.

37. All leadership personnel are elevated to the standing of wise persons, whose duty it also is, to work out all required necessities and present them to the people, who then decide about them.

38. The three races and all of their peoples have no other party natures at all, like this is the case with Earth-humans.

39. On the other hand they have the manner of voting in the way, as was the case since ancient times in Switzerland in the manner of rural communities, in which the majority decision applied.

40. The interests, on which must be voted, are announced first by the leadership personnel on the day of the vote, when the people assemble and have to deliver a, for or against, vote.

41. So therefore no previous consultations are able to be made, consequently each citizen of each people according to his own discretion and in accordance with his decision has to make his own choice.

Billy:

Interesting. How is it then with the military, respectively the armed forces?

Ptaah:

42. Here, pure harmony and peace exists among all three races and all of their peoples for a little more than 1,208 planetary years and also exist no armed forces and no weapons industries for military purposes.

Billy:

And so what about the police?

Ptaah:

43. There is no such organization in the way, like on Earth.

44. Security personnel are certainly existing, but these constitute an order protection and safety protection which provide for the order and safety of the population regarding natural events, by which I mean events of nature.

45. The races and their peoples themselves live in an order, which has no degenerations, like this is the case with the people on Earth.

...

Billy:

What to me is still of interest, dear friend is their technology of locomotion. Do they have also still such primitive airplanes and automobiles, etc., like we on Earth? This is certainly to be assumed, if they have the technological position, which we possessed in 1968, am I correct?

Ptaah:

47. Your assumption is not entirely correct, because certainly they have a similar technology of locomotion, but the drives are not sustained by explosion motors using benzene and diesel oil, but they are driven with synthetic substances.

48. All three races and all of their peoples do not exploit the petroleum of the world.

49. All necessary substances for all things are from plants of many kinds as well as produced synthetically.

Billy:

And the food?

Ptaah:

50. There exist large community gardens as well as joint farming holdings, like gardens and small farms, which however are also run by individual persons or small groups.

51. And before you ask:

52. There are economically useful animals kept and bred for work and for food purposes, though however any form of cruelty to animals is taboo.

53. Flesh for food of humans is solely produced through breeding and slaughtering of certain animals.

54. Fruits, vegetables and flesh of many and diverse forms as well as all other necessary food items and required products of other kinds are in abundance and plentiful, and from this follows that nowhere does famine exist.

55. All bodies of waters and forests, meadows, fields and marsh areas are healthy and completely intact.

56. Chemical products are not laid down for the purposes of protection or growth of plants, but only substances, which in turn consist of natural products.

57. Hunting for any wild game is taboo, because game flesh is likewise only produced through breeding, like this also is the case with fish flesh, etc.

Billy:

Have you also established how old the humans get to be?

Ptaah:

58. Naturally.

59. The average age of the humans of all three races is a uniform 128 years and death as a rule is due to old age.

Billy:

So they are also much ahead of the Earthlings in this respect. But what happens to the deceased human beings, I mean, how are they laid to rest – cremated or buried, etc.?

Ptaah:

60. The deceased are laid out upon a stone bed far away from residential areas in especially created for them, individual small, yet very stable stone houses, after which the entrance is closed with rocks and boulders.

61. After that, the deceased are left to decompose.

Billy:

Do you mean by this something like a vault? Is it with the bereaved then also as is usual on Earth, that they visit these tombs?

Ptaah:

62. No, this does not likewise belong to tradition as well as also not the decoration of tombs with flowers, etc.

63. Also, no inscriptions are displayed, and no ritual at all is indulged in, at the burial.

64. Among all races exists also no fear of dying and death.

65. The whole thing is considered and honoured as a natural and inevitable event.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_350

Billy:

Aha – it happens all the time, day or night, that one of you is in my office. I always notice this when the chair is moved or the computer is turned on, when I come back into my office. The CD player is also used and all kinds of music are listened to. Maybe they even make phone calls, maybe to Erra or something? Sometimes you can also smell quite lovely scents in the office, which I suppose can be traced back to some of the lovely girls?

Ptaah:

18. We all feel very comfortable in your work room, but also in the whole area around the centre, where we often go for a walk or a stroll and enjoy it.

Billy:

And what about our people when they are out on the grounds, such as on the night watch?

Ptaah:

19. That means no more difficulties for us, neither by day nor by night.

20. Our security devices and camouflage devices have been developed in such a way that we can move around in the immediate vicinity of the group members without being noticed by them, even during the day.

21. However, we may be heard walking around if we are not wearing footwear that muffles the sound of footsteps.

22. Also, certain sensitive group members may be able to perceive our vibrations when we are sufficiently close to them.

23. However, none of us use your telephones, because we would not know who to call.

24. However, several of us have already thought that through these devices we could call you in the living quarters if one of us is here in your workroom and wants to speak to you.

25. But we did not dare to do so, because if someone other than you were to make the connection through the apparatus, we would not know what to do.

26. But the whole thing would also be just a joke on our part.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_352

Billy:

... But look here – these chocolates were given to me by Mariann, and I promised her that we would both enjoy them together. As a chocolate tiger, I do not suppose you would say no to that, would you?

Ptaah:

11. Certainly not – please allow me – ah, but they are really very delicious.
12. Send my heartfelt and dear thanks to Mariann.
13. We will be careful with them.

Billy:

It is not necessary, Ptaah, because I can get some again.

Ptaah:

14. Nevertheless we will be thrifty.

...

Billy:

... But now I understand what Ptaah meant about the chocolate here. Please help yourself, because you both like sweets of this kind.

Asket:

5. Thank you, I am so free. –
6. But this is very delicious.
7. Thank you very much.

Semjase:

6. Really excellent.
7. The chocolate is so tender and fine and exceptionally good in taste.
8. Thank you.

Asket:

8. We have not had chocolate for a long time.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_357

Quetzal:

56. ... our great federation, which encompasses a measure of distance of 48,000,000 light-years ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_362

Billy:

Well, the thing is this: Last Wednesday, it was the evening of the 30th of June, Silvano drove the old Volvo to the garage car park to park. And since I had something to talk to Silvano about, I went there, seeing various marks on the bonnet of Atlant's car, so I asked Silvano what had happened. His answer was that he knew nothing, while I went to the car to take a closer look at the supposed scratch marks. When I got closer, I first saw that they were small finger and hand prints that were on the bonnet, hands that had six fingers and a thumb, or seven fingers. Of course, it was immediately clear to me that alien visitors must have been here, some Trilans who had probably examined Atlant's car somewhat handily, because the handprints were etched into the first layer of paint, as were the papillary lines, as Silvano and I quickly discovered. The prints of the delicate hands were clear and distinct. So I was of the opinion that the whole thing must have happened just that day, around noon, because Silvano and I saw a silver disc-shaped object fly away at 11:17 hrs. Of course, we then showed the handprints to all the members who came to the centre, so also to Philia. This proved my view wrong, as she explained that she had already seen the tracks sometime over the weekend and wondered what it was all about. Since her observation, however, it had rained several times in veritable torrents, but this did not harm the etched handprints, because they remained unchanged. Of course, everyone asked me which aliens could leave such traces etc., so I explained that it could only be the small and about 110 to 120 centimetres tall and green-coloured as well as completely hairless and absolutely human Trilans, which I had been allowed to see three times so far, twice in your giant spacecraft and once here in the centre or on the front storage area. And of course they wanted to know how the chemical burn could have come about, which is why I explained that these small human beings have a light green skin that is covered with a thin film of acid, which has a slightly corrosive effect. And now, because the rascals were leaning on the bonnet and also otherwise touching Atlant's car, the handprints and the papillary lines were etched into the paint. For my part, as you know, I cannot reach out to the little ones or I will cauterise them. Nevertheless, you also know that I briefly touched the arm of one of these Trilans with my middle finger in your spacecraft, after which I felt a burning sensation like stinging nettles for about 18 hours, while my finger was reddened for almost three weeks.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_364

Billy:

... Regarding the alien artifacts that will one day be found on Mars by the earthlings. Can you tell me what these discoveries are about? ...

Ptaah:

...

78. The discoveries made in more distant times by terrestrials on the planet Mars are usually only artifacts that were created by human influence in various Martian rocks and are often misunderstood as human work of art.

Billy:

A short and concise answer. Then everything will not be of great importance and nothing earth-shattering. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_365

Ptaah:

46. Then I would like to play another game of chess, if you like – my need is there.

Billy:

Of course.

Ptaah:

47. I am also thirsty – if you can offer me something?

Billy:

I have some mineral water outside the office entrance or ginger ale, which you already drank. I can also offer you dark chocolate.

Ptaah:

48. I would like to have 'Ginger ale' and some chocolate.

Billy:

Your wish is my command. Just a moment ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_367

Billy:

... Also with regard to UFOs, which are supposed to be of extraterrestrial origin, but which are in fact of earthly origin, I have learned a great deal through your help and have gained knowledge which proves that on earth everything in this respect is usually based on faith and delusion as well as on the machinations of lies, deception, charlatany, tricks, deception and illusion, but also on imagination, deception and self-generated visions etc. Also regarding many UFOs you have proved to me that they are not of extraterrestrial, but purely earthly origin. Power states of the Earth, like especially the USA, England, Canada and Russia, have been consciously organizing deception manoeuvres since the thirties by carrying out secret test flights with new and futuristic airplanes and other flying objects. They continue to do so without informing the public, which leads to the belief that the planes and other aircraft are alien spaceships. So the governmental secrecy consciously continues to fuel the belief of the population that the UFOs are spacecraft of alien visitors or intruders, which is of course absolute nonsense, because extraterrestrial flying machines can only be observed very rarely on Earth. Thus, mankind is led by the state powers and secret services as well as by the secret research forces with regard to the UFOs by the nose. Alien visitors – if I disregard you – are so rare that they are to be looked for like a needle in a haystack. That was different when you still had fixed stations on our world, but that is long gone now, and therefore alien aircraft can only be observed very rarely. But the fact that earth people continue to claim that they have any contact with extraterrestrials or spirit forms etc., whether physical, telepathic or channelling etc., that is simply senseless swindling, delusion, schizophrenia, charlatany or even lies and deceit, because for several decades there has been no such contact whatsoever, if I disregard our permanent contact. At least this is how I have been oriented by you. But exactly this fact is denied by all kinds of believers or know-it-alls and by so-called 'experts', because everything that is lies, nonsense, deceit, fraud and charlatany is accepted by scientists, believers, know-it-alls and so-called 'experts' as real and effective reality, believed and declared in this form as truth, not only with regard to UFOs, but also with regard to telepathy, telekinesis, levitation and teleportation. But in contrast to this, all that is real and effective reality and truth and reasonable, normal and conclusive for logical thinkers, is slandered and denied as lies, deception, charlatany and swindling, and those few who have accepted telepathy, telekinesis, levitation and teleportation etc. are denied as truth. are really mastered and can be counted on one hand, are humiliated, ridiculed and trampled into the ground by sceptics, ignorant critics, know-it-alls of all kinds as well as by slander and lies. But now the real question: What can you explain about all this?

Ptaah:

...

69. ...we and our allies of our Federation have been the only strangers to the Earth for a long time, who come to this planet and maintain contact with a person of this world, and that is you alone.

70. But that has its own special reason, as you yourself know very well.

71. But it is precisely this fact that has led to you and us being slandered and attacked and insulted by lies since the beginning of our contacts.

72. The pathologically inclined troublemakers, slanderers and other malicious people in this respect are, however, so lacking in intelligence that they cannot think far enough to recognize the real reality and truth.

73. They are not able to recognize that the alleged messages of alleged extraterrestrials given by alleged contact persons are so stupid and banal that they originate from nothing but a completely illogical and usually religious-sectarian fantasy.

74. In fact, we know nothing of these alleged contact persons and their messages from alleged extraterrestrials etc. that corresponds to truth and logic.

75. It must also be said that if contacts had ever actually existed in such a way that important messages or a teaching had been transmitted, these would then have continued until the end of the lives of the contact persons concerned and not simply been broken off.

76. Such an action would be completely illogical, because if some beings set out from the vastness of the universe to a planet to bring messages and a teaching, then this is not just a trivial religious-sectarian nonsense or the like, which is then also ended after a short time.

77. If it really is true that contacts between earth people and earth strangers come about with regard to messages and a teaching, then such contacts are not simply broken off again unless there are compelling reasons for breaking them off.

78. Other individual contacts, which are unexpectedly brought about simply by chance, are based only on brief encounters, which, however, are of no significance and are not connected with any mission.

79. Real contacts between terrestrial people and terrestrial strangers, as is the case with us, lead to a lifelong connection and to a lifelong and immense work.

80. And that in our case you alone are our only contact person on earth has its own special reason, as you yourself know very well.

81. You are in fact in every respect the only person on Earth whom we can meet physically and with whom we can maintain telepathic contact without any mental damage.

82. This also means that it is impossible for us to make contact with other earth people, so we cannot make any other connections – except through you as a mediator.

83. And should it be that in the coming time other alien beings find their way to earth in such a way that they establish open contact with earthly humanity, then we will withdraw definitively into our space-time structure, because our directives are aligned in this form.

84. But I have already explained this to you on previous visits and conversations.

Billy:

Yes, I know. Also good. But, you are talking again about aliens coming to Earth. Is that going to happen in the foreseeable future? For my part, I thought that due to the extremely negative circumstances of humanity on earth, this would no longer be the case for the time being.

Ptaah:

85. Your train of thought is also correct, because we do not know anything for the foreseeable future about alien beings coming to earth to establish open contact with earthly mankind.

Billy:

But your flash-forwards?

Ptaah:

86. They only exist in this relationship until the end of the year 2004, because for us the appearance of alien beings is only then of importance when they actually visit the earth in order to get in open contact with earthly humanity.

87. But that will not be the case so very quickly.

88. Those who were originally supposed to come here will in any case no longer appear, because through secret visits and clarifications on earth they became aware of all the evil and negativity that is especially driven by those responsible for the state and their followers as well as by the earthly population.

89. They were thus deterred, and the decision was made that contacts with earthly humanity should not be made, so that the evil and negativity of earthly humanity could not spread to their humanity.

90. Thus, if it is to be that one day extraterrestrial intelligences openly contact humanity on earth, they will be other beings whose mentality, technology and science etc. we know neither their state of evolution with regard to the observance of creative laws nor their state of evolution.

91. Nor do we know anything about their social laws and regulations etc.

Billy:

Then there may come some unpleasant surprise.

Ptaah:

92. This possibility is given, but it should not be expected.

Billy:

Of course not – would be idiotic and would be completely in line with the bullshit that has been practiced in the worst form since the entertainment film industry was founded, because all films that are based on aliens assume and are designed in such a way that aliens are only evil and degenerate. Especially – how could it be otherwise – the USA is the sounding board in this respect, with the government and secret services fuelling the whole nonsense in a mean way to panic the people. In addition to this there is also the crazy law in the USA that Earth-humans can be punished in the USA, if they have any provable contacts with extraterrestrials. Especially it is punishable if regulations concerning quarantine are violated, if contact with extraterrestrial people, animals or materials etc. has taken place.

...

Billy:

... But another question I am always being asked: Even in your country, deceased bodies are burned at will. I am always asked why you do this, because the burning of the body destroys the fluid vibrations. Although I know that this is not the case, because the skeleton is preserved when the body is burned, it would be interesting to know why this is so.

Ptaah:

98. Burning is a process of cold fire that does not produce heat.

99. You can imagine it as if something is burned and dissolved with dry ice.

100. So the cold fire only dissolves the actual body, without affecting the skeleton.

101. Through the process of the cold fire burning, the mental fluid vibration of the human being settles into the skeleton and is thus preserved, whereby the following personalities can use the powers again when they are born through the rebirth of the spirit form and the total consciousness block.

Billy:

Short, concise and clear. Unfortunately not yet possible with us. – Well, then, I suppose, after this cold burning process, the skeleton is buried.

Ptaah:

102. That's correct.

103. In this regard, we have burials in graves and catacombs, as well as burials in small ossuaries far away from residential areas.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_368

Ptaah:

3. ... I feel impelled to discuss a few things with you and also to devote myself to chess, if you are willing.

Billy:

Sure, it will be my pleasure. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_369

Ptaah:

83. Our Spiritual Leadership has conducted a survey among the entire population of Erra, which includes not only the adults but also the children, with the aim of finding a suitable term for the mission that you and all your fellow comrades-in-arms are fulfilling in spite of all the adversities that are being faced.

...

88. The decision was based on a suggestion made by an eleven-year-old girl who felt that a term like 'Silent Revolution of Truth' was appropriate for you, your comrades-in-arms and your mission.

89. This suggestion was generally accepted and now finds its way into our chronicle.

...

Ptaah:

96. There is also the erroneous view that tourism in foreign countries brings profitable growth, earnings and prosperity for their people.

97. But this is not true, because poverty persists among the population in all countries, because in reality it is only a few from the population and above all big business people who earn a lot from tourism.

98. And of these big business people it is often those who come from rich industrial countries and make enormous profits with hotels and sports facilities etc. in the poor countries. –

99. In very early times, our ancestors acted in the same way, creating the same problems as you have called them and as they have existed on earth for many years, since the populations of the rich industrialized countries have large financial resources that allow them to flood foreign countries with tourists.

...

101. The whole thing should be stopped in the way that our ancestors handled it and solved all the related problems, which banned and dissolved all the travel companies and thus also stopped all the mass tourism, which caused a lot of disaster, such as when natural disasters destroyed tourist resorts and killed countless humans.

102. This was indeed the solution to all problems, from which a worldwide cooperation of all political and economic concerns developed, which led to a worldwide uniform mechanization, politics and economy as well as a uniform world government, which finally led to spiritual leadership and the advice of the High Council.

103. Since then, some 52,000 years ago, peace and harmony has reigned among all the humans of our world and throughout our Federation.

104. Of course, there were many other problems to be solved, which would go too far to mention, but when reason triumphed and the beginning was made, one problem after another was solved and resolved.

105. The whole process of reason lasted 101,036 years, but then everything was sealed.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_370

Ptaah:

54. With us, the task of disaster relief and the like was placed very early on in the administration of the state, whereby the police and security forces were trained for this purpose, made responsible and remunerated through the normal state revenues.

55. Donations collected for relief operations were used down to the last cent for what they were intended for.

56. And today, as we no longer have any financial resources whatsoever, the regular law and order and security bodies are still responsible for relief operations in the event of disasters

57. Of course, we also have many volunteers who carry out valuable operations in the event of disasters, but these are managed by the competent bodies, because there must be a certain order on which any real assistance depends.

Billy:

Then there are also natural disasters in your country?

Ptaah:

58. Not on Erra itself, because there everything is kept under control and properly organized, but there are still different worlds in our widely ramified federation, on which often great natural disasters occur, where great damage is done and loss of life is to be lamented.

59. Here we provide organized help through our law and order and security forces, with the participation of volunteers who carry out their duties voluntarily and selflessly.

Billy:

So this means that when you speak of you, you are not talking about Erra, but about other worlds which belong to your Federation and which are not yet as far along in terms of mastering the forces of nature as you Errans are – is that right?

Ptaah:

60. Yes, that is the meaning of my words.

61. On Erra, we have everything so controlled, organized and legislated in relation to natural disasters that no one can be harmed if nature allows its forces to play.

62. We do not influence nature in such a way that we would completely tame it, but the influence is only in responsible forms of weather formation etc.

63. So the forces of nature can also unfold on Erra, but they are tamed in their worst forms, so that no damage is done to human property and no human lives are lost. –

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_376

Billy:

... Look here, I got some good chocolate from Hanni, from Eva's mother, which I have to share with you, so if you want to help yourself, please. ...

Ptaah:

9. Thank you, I like the chocolate; pay Hanna my thanks.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_380

Billy:

We received the Old Plejaren alphabet a long time ago, but the new Plejaren characters are unknown to us. Although I have seen them on various occasions in your giant spaceship, in your spaceship and in the beam ships, I do not understand them. Could you please dictate me the new Plejaren alphabet, which has completely different characters than the Old Plejaren alphabet!

Ptaah:

17. That is right, about 4,000 years ago – 4,012 years ago to be exact – the old alphabet was replaced by a new one, which is different from the old one.

18. Of course I can give you the characters.

19. If you want to copy them, you can read them here on this little device.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_382

Ptaah:

3. But first I would like to come back to what we talked about on the 13th of March 1999 in relation to the video with the statements of the group members.

...

13. This is also connected with a wish on our part, because we want to broadcast the completed work on Erra to the entire Erra population through our planet-wide information channels, because a great many requests have been received from the entire Erra population regarding the fact that they would like to get to know all group members and their experiences etc. in this way.

...

Ptaah:

26. It has also been the case for many years now that our worldwide efforts of clarification and surveillance in this regard have not produced any positive results and therefore no contacts between terrestrial human beings and extraterrestrials have been recorded.

27. These clarifications are without any doubt, because our monitoring in this regard is absolutely faultless, because our apparatuses and devices register all foreign to Earth mental vibrations of acute activities, but also of telepathic nature, therefore nothing can escape us in this respect.

28. If communications between Earth foreigners and Earth-humans had taken place in the last major period of time, then this would have been recorded by our automatic recording devices and would have become known to us.

29. This in addition to the fact that we have always made individual clarifications with regard to all persons who claimed and still claim to have had or still have contact with extraterrestrials in any way.

30. But the results concerning such contacts are consistently negative to this day, and that is absolutely clear.
31. It is no different with extraterrestrial flying objects, because also with regard to these we have built up a global surveillance network a few months ago, so that no objects can enter or leave the airspace without being registered by us.
32. Until recently this was different, because we had not yet installed the necessary equipment, consequently some foreign objects escaped our attention in recent years, but this has nothing to do with the registration of foreign mental vibrations, which we have been controlling worldwide for more than 82 years, therefore we are also informed about when and where contacts between Earth-humans and Earth foreigners have actually taken place.
33. During this time their number – you excepted – applies to only eight such contacts, but of all those who claim that they have or have had such contacts, only one is who openly admitted the truth and came forward – the American Daniel Fry.
34. All others remained silent to the public about their contacts.
35. And what else is to be said about extraterrestrial flying objects:
36. They have entered Earth's airspace very sparsely since 1984.
37. What has been observed since then of unknown flying objects were usually – with very few exceptions – secret military or official flying objects of terrestrial origin.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_386

Najdescha:

7. What you say regarding the female sex on the Earth, is known to us on Erra, but incomprehensible, for we do not use to have our faces or our body parts surgically altered in order to appear more beautiful, young or younger.
8. We find it a great honour to grow old with dignity and to bear the marks of age.
9. So even the mention of age does not cause us any problems, as I can also tell you my age of 422 years.
10. My task and activity is not an elevated one, for I am a simple woman and also work in a simple way in a monitoring plant of natural food production, together with my husband.
11. We have three children, two daughters and one son, all grown up and working with Ischwisch Ptaah in his big flying machine.
- ...
15. On earth, you call my family task, to my knowledge, housework or housewife, while my other task and activity is based on the supervision of food production.
16. To be more precise, I am a trained gardener and am responsible for planting and caring for and harvesting natural food.
17. In other words, it can be explained that I carry out my activity in a very large vegetable cultivation plant.

...

Billy:

... Why, Ptaah, does Najdescha speak of you as Ischwisch Ptaah? That's new to me, because I thought that it wasn't usual for you to mention the titles or something.

Najdescha:

21. I just like to call him Ischwisch Ptaah, like many others do.

Billy:

Aha, but still I don't understand?

Ptaah:

6. When someone in our country speaks in the manner of Najdescha, it is the same as when we speak to each other with my friend or dear friend.
7. So it is a matter of dignified naming, but this has nothing to do with the fact that people on earth address each other with titles, which is nonsensical.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_388

Ptaah:

7. ... I myself am a great philatelist and have owned all postage stamps of all earthly states since such stamps have existed at all.

8. So I also own all postage stamps, as well as all stamps that have ever been used privately and by transport companies etc.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_390

Ptaah:

2. We agreed I would come a little earlier, so we still have time to play chess.

Billy:

Yes, that is what we agreed. ...

...

Ptaah:

45. Well, something else pleasant happened in the last days and nights as well, as Florena and Enjana told me, who moved around the centre on various occasions during the day.

46. They also observed that around the main building and in the trees and bushes in the house-tree-garden many songbird species feel comfortable and have built their nests, where they do their breeding business and raise their young.

47. Among them are also various species of migratory birds, which can only rarely be observed in Switzerland.

48. They have also observed roe deer, foxes, martens, badgers, dormice and a trusty hare, some of which can reach as far as the house.

49. They have also observed four squirrels, which you fed at the house and which have become quite trusting.

50. In this regard, Florena and Enjana have on several occasions observed how you fed these small animals by tapping the floor with nuts and holding a nut in your hand, where the squirrels took it away.

51. Other centre residents could do the same, as well as two children who were in the Centre.

52. Florena and Enjana have recorded these events and your bird and animal life, which we do not have on Erra and which we will show to our humans via the remote viewing systems, on devices.

53. It will be a joy and surprise to our humans to see what a little paradise the Semjase Silver Star Centre really is, not only in terms of the whole environment, but also in terms of the bird and animal life.

54. Also different lizards, beetles, butterflies and honey-suckers, also pigeon tails, but also a lot of insects and beautiful night owls, like moths etc., two owls, several bats, an eagle owl and a normal one as well as a barn owl together with different day birds of prey, like buzzards, falcons, sparrowhawks, hawks and kites, which are unknown in their earthly forms here on Erra, have captured Florena and Enjana on their devices.

...

Ptaah:

58. If you have no more questions, then we can still go outside and walk around a bit, where we can talk.

59. Afterwards we can play a game of chess together.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_391

Ptaah:

45. Good, then I would like to have a private conversation over a game of chess.

Billy:

I am very pleased. – Here is the chess game. So let us do it ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_393

Taljda:

3. Your writings and books are not only read and studied by the few of us who know the German language, but also by very many other people on Erra, on Sater, Njsan, Deron and Druan.

Billy:

But surely they do not speak German, do they?

Taljda:

4. No, of course not.

5. Your and the group members' writings and books will be translated into our languages and distributed through the public information and teaching medium.

6. Thus, everything can be read and studied by everyone on our home worlds.

...

Menara:

11. In fact, your writings and books are taught, read and studied by all Federation peoples.

...

Taljda:

8. But now Ptaah has just announced himself on my device here.

9. He will be here shortly.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_402

Billy:

... Are there actually prophets on Erra and on the worlds of the Federation, and if so, how do people feel about them? We have never talked about this before, so I therefore know nothing about it. But what I do know is that on Erra there is only one direction of philosophy, and it is oriented towards the creative laws, which are taught by spiritual leadership and are learned and followed by the people at their own discretion and will. Consequently, there are no sects and no gurus like here on earth. But what about the non-Plejaren races of your Federation?

Ptaah:

43. We have actually never talked about that.

44. Yes, from time to time wise prophets appear here and throughout the Federation, giving prophetic instructions to the peoples, which are actually followed by every people.

45. Our prophets, just like the earthly prophets, show us what negative things will happen in the future as a result of the behaviour of the peoples, if the wise advice is not followed, because all our peoples have a great respect for them.

46. This, besides the fact that they are also instructive in all things of life, as well as in the creative and natural laws and commandments, as is also proper to spiritual leadership and its duty.

47. So in this respect we can speak of an equality of our and the earthly prophets.

48. Our wise prophets are held in high esteem by all nations and are respected in venerability.

...

63. And now, as far as the various numerous peoples of our Federation are concerned, it must be said that some of them are connected to the philosophy of creation and thus also to the teachings of the spirit, while others are only on the way to becoming so or still represent purely human-ideological ideas, but have nevertheless developed a very high level of evolution.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_407

Ptaah:

36. I will visit you on the 5th of January to spend an hour in chess with you and give you new predictions.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_410

Ptaah:

49. The direct ancestors of the yellow races, as the races of China and Japan are called with you on Earth, came to Earth 25,994 years ago – counted from today on – and settled in the areas of today's China and Japan.

50. Their very distant ancestors were at very early times or millions of years – like the white, red and brown races – partly refugees from the Sirius areas, which were shifted to the Dern space-time structure.

51. The yellow races first settled in distant regions beyond the sun or central sun, where they founded large races in the Nisan system on a planet called KUDRA and created a huge overpopulation.

52. As a result – in addition to the fact that the planet was slowly becoming uninhabitable – a great emigration took place about 2.4 million years ago, with large masses migrating and settling in the Lyra systems on this side of the central sun, on a neighbouring planet of Lasan.

53. Their planet was called NISSAN.

54. These systems and planets in the Lyra regions were also offset to our space-time structure by fractions of a second or seconds, whereas the Nisan system and its planets – thus also Kudra – beyond the galaxy belonged to the Dern space-time structure.

55. Now it must still be said that about 2.4 million years ago, when the emigrants separated from Kudra and moved to the Lyra regions, a certain part also came to Earth and settled already in the areas of today's China and Japan, where also already earth-born human beings existed.

56. The early emigrants from the Kudra peoples who settled on Earth were left to their fate without any technical achievements, because the transport ship that should have brought the technical materials never arrived on Earth, but remained lost.

57. Thus the immigrants were also deprived of the technology that would have enabled them to contact the emigrants in the Lyra systems.

58. This resulted in them being 'forgotten'.

59. 25,994 years ago, Nissan was once again overpopulated, and larger groups of emigrants were formed to investigate other emigrants in the past.

60. So they also came across the Earth and the areas of today's China and Japan, which resulted in migrations to these areas on the Earth and the resettlement of today's China and Japan, including the merging with the very distant descendants of the former emigrants and with the earth-born.

61. These later immigrants came to Earth by popular decree, free of any technology, to find a new beginning, which should prevent another problem of overpopulation from arising

62. Nevertheless, the peoples retained their knowledge and their sense of invention, and consequently, despite the lack of technology, they continued to make technical progress, albeit in a way that no longer corresponded to the old technical forms.

63. The tendency towards overpopulation has continued to this day.

64. It should also be mentioned that the two yellow races were never on good terms with each other, which is why they were constantly engaged in strife, which often led to armed conflicts.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_411

Billy:

... The first question is about how humans die on Erra, because you do not know any more diseases that could cause death? The second question is about the care of humans who are in need of care due to accidents etc. or in old age. We have never talked about this before, so I myself am not aware of it and would be grateful for an answer.

Ptaah:

9. In fact, our health care and health hygiene are so highly developed in every respect that we no longer know any diseases in our world.

10. Nevertheless, we must protect ourselves from germs when we come into contact with other humans from other worlds and with the conditions of other worlds.

11. We are generally only immune to all kinds of diseases that existed on our world, but not to diseases of other worlds.

12. So for us immunizing protective measures are necessary when we enter other worlds, which also applies to the Earth.

13. But this does not cause us any problems, because our medical knowledge has allowed us to protect ourselves against all germs for a very long time.

14. And that brings me to your question:

15. In fact, humans no longer die of any diseases in our country, but usually only as a result of old age or – which unfortunately can also happen – as a result of accidents.

16. Normally about 94 percent of all accident injuries can be healed by our medical science and medical practice, but unfortunately there are also those cases where no medical art of healing can help anymore.

17. If injuries require a longer period of recovery, medical professionals are available to provide all necessary care until the injuries are completely healed.

18. However, these cases are rare, because usually injuries of all kinds can be healed within minutes or hours, including fractures of the bones, as you know from your own experience.

19. If care is necessary, it is not provided in hospitals, which we have not had for a long time, but each injured person is cared for in their own home by specialists.

20. And as far as dying in old age and the state of health of the Errans is concerned, it has to be said that such signs of old age, as they are given with the terrestrial human being, are no longer true with us, consequently all humans on our world are in good physical condition up to old age and there are no complaints of old age, consequently they die in old age as a result of old age itself, because the vital functions fail.

21. Thus, except for causes of accidents, no more humans die of diseases in our world, but this only applies directly to Erra and to a few races of the Federation, while the majority of them have not yet reached our level in all relations.

22. The average age of us Errans is 1,050 years, which is also equal to the earthly years.

23. The races of our Federation, on the other hand, have average ages between 248 and 793 years.

Billy:

Aha, then the Earth-humans are still very much at a disadvantage to be accepted into your Federation, if that would be possible at all. The average age of your Federation is probably based on the fact that they have reached this high age through a corresponding evolution of consciousness, through which they have got everything under control, including technical and medical science etc., through which they have achieved a longer life span?

Ptaah:

24. That is correct.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_412

Quetzal:

22. But now, my friend, I feel like competing with you in chess and having a private conversation with you.

23. And if you have some chocolate here, then ...

Billy:

Sure, just a minute – here, my son, you can feast on this.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_424

Billy:

... Another question regarding your federation: You once said that it stretches over many dimensions or space-time structures, and over 50 million light-years. May I ask you, how many different dimensions your federation consists of?

Ptaah:

...

88. And it has to be said in regard to our federation, that it is spread out over three dimensions, and that our two dimensions – ours and yours – are included.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_426

Ptaah:

1. I did not have a long time, because I listened to the music playing on the radio.
2. It was uplifting for me.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_428

Billy:

Aha, but how about the strolling on our terrain by you and your confederation members?

Ptaah:

45. That is part of each of us' pleasures, and we do not want to miss it – even if we have to exercise caution.

Billy:

Of course, but you are always welcome – the acid guys, the Trilans, too.

Ptaah:

46. They will be the ones who will probably walk most frequently on your terrain in the near term.

Billy:

Ah, then our car owners can be happy again, when the little ones delight the paint of the cars with their little fingers. But that does not anger us.

Ptaah:

47. It is their habit to fathom things tactilely with their fingers.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_436

Ptaah:

50. Can we do a chess game afterwards, because I feel like it, also I would be grateful for some chocolate if you have some here?

Billy:

It is obvious, the chess game as well as the chocolate. One moment – here my friend – with best regards from Mariann. She always provides me with it.

...

Ptaah:

55. The chocolate is good, thank Marianne for that.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_438

Billy:

... Now the question is, what percentage of water and land surface does Erra have?

Florena:

6. Of course I can answer this question, because it is part of my knowledge.

7. So I can say that Erra has a total water area of 55.7% and a total land area of 44.3% of the total planet surface.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_439

Billy:

... I would like to ask you how many continents Erra actually consists of and how high is the highest mountain? ...

Ptaah:

9. Erra consists of two big continents, one of which you have visited.

60. The highest mountain consists of a volcano that has been extinct for thousands of years and has a height of 26,403 metres.

Billy:

When I was on Erra, I did not see much of the continent. There are certainly islands in the sea, but what about volcanoes? And further: What about seaquakes, earthquakes and storms? I'm also interested in how old the planet Erra actually is? You, who are also a geologist, know that very well.

Ptaah:

61. Of course.

62. On Erra there are also various islands in the seas, which we call by different names, just like on Earth.

63. There are also active volcanoes on both very compact continents, which according to our research have remained the same for about 320 million years and have not undergone any major changes, because the tectonic movement is only moderate and does not cause major changes in the event of seaquakes and earthquakes.

64. Moreover, the planet has already calmed down so much in its activity that seaquakes and earthquakes are no longer of great importance to us, quite contrary to those that occur on earth.

65. Erra itself has an age of 7.2 billion (7,200,000,000) years in relation to the oldest solid matter.

Billy:

From Florena I know that the entire planet surface is 55.7% water surface and the total land area is 44.3%. The islands are also included in this land area, and I'm interested in what percentage of land area they have to be calculated with?

Ptaah:

66. I can answer this question as well:

67. Of the 44.3% land area, 5.7% of the total land area falls to the islands, while the two continents have 38.6% land area.

68. And before you ask that:

69. The smaller continent comprises 17.4%, of which 3.1% is mountainous, and the larger continent with 21.2% has 4.2% mountainous.

Billy:

And can you say what the continents are called?

Ptaah:

70. The big continent is called Galian, which means 'the big one', while the small continent is called Saruma or 'the fertile one'.

...

Ptaah:

124. But now, Eduard, my friend, we should finish our official conversation, so that we can talk privately and play another game of chess.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_441

Billy:

Around 22 years have now passed since you and Quetzal told me privately that you had comprehensive cognitions in regard to terrestrial UFOs and the massacre of animals and alleged abductions which were disguised as the shoddy efforts of extraterrestrials. You said thereby that, in regard to this, involved in these machinations are governments, the military, as well as industrial businesses and powerful ones of finance, which constitute a special group, to which still smaller groups are also related. At that time you promised that you would officially explain more about that when the time is ripe for that. Can one now speak publicly about that?

Ptaah:

...

21. With the named group, it concerns a worldwide branching from governments, the military, industrial groups, secret services, paramilitary and powerful ones of finance, as you correctly said.

22. Those in the know and contributors are only certain elements of the same, who profit greatly, financially and power-politically, from their secret machinations, for which reason the entire powers of the government, military and industrial as well as finance are not involved in the situation and are also not informed in regard to this.

23. The group is not organized, as such, rather is only a loose collection, whereby their interests, however, have a common form, which, already since the 1920s, was designed to operate a continuous, ingenious, large-scale disinformation campaign regarding the question of extraterrestrial life.

24. The group, which is split into many small groups, has many kinds of technical possibilities at their disposal, which they employ for their evil and human-misleading purposes.

25. That started with technologies of electromagnetism to do with precision electronics and computer engineering, up to and including apparatuses through which brainwashing and the programming and altering of consciousness is evoked in humans.

26. They even have back-engineered beamships at their disposal, whereby, in certain contexts, even antigravity finds application.

27. It has also occurred many times that premeditated "abductions" of Earth humans by "extraterrestrials", and the massacre of animals, has been and is faked by this group.

28. That stands partly also in connection with those illusionary and schizophrenic visions and apparent experiences of those who believe that they have had, or have, these kinds of real experiences.

29. Also wrong information and falsified pictures of alleged extraterrestrial flying devices is strategically circulated worldwide, whereby according to our investigations, about 98% of all false pictures, films, videos and false information is directed at moving the Earth humans to angst and terror of extraterrestrials and to engender hate and thoughts of revenge in the Earth humans.

30. Therefore, in this way, angst, terror and hate is stirred up against all life foreign to Earth.

31. Especially films for cinema and television serve this purpose, as also, however, do many books which are constructed on lies and untruths and are written partly by "experts" in psychology and psychiatry.

32. All this nonsense sells very well to the Earth humans because many on the search for the effective truth trust and believe this false information, and these films and pictures.

33. Angst, horror, terror, hate and revenge always sell well, while the truth appears too banal and therefore appears uninteresting as well as not worth knowing.

34. Only the fantastic and unreal find a place in the interests of Earth humans. 35. However, precisely that is the launching platform for the infamous machinations of the worldwide group, because, through disinformation and fear-mongering in regard to the malicious foreigners to Earth, the entire group, which reaches right around the world, derives horrendous advantages of a financial, governmental-power, military-power as well as an economic form.

35. However, precisely that is the launching platform for the infamous machinations of the worldwide group, because, through disinformation and fear-mongering in regard to the malicious foreigners to Earth, the entire group, which reaches right around the world, derives horrendous advantages of a financial, governmental-power, military-power as well as an economic form.

36. The entire war, electronics and weapons industries, and so forth, thereby gain an enormous boost.

37. Yet, in the worldwide group, secret paramilitary units also exist as smaller groups which carry out the same kind of operations which, however, are mostly controlled by the worldwide group.

38. In particular, these small groups carry out premeditated abductions which are credited ostensibly to the extraterrestrials, as well as, however, also simulated appearances of alleged extraterrestrial flying craft, which are then collectively declared to be extraterrestrial UFO appearances and are often observed, photographed and filmed by many people.

39. Thereby the illusion of an ostensible extraterrestrial abduction or observation of extraterrestrial flying devices is evoked.

40. What is further to say about that is that, in this worldwide group, with all the small groups who partly also work autonomously, there exists a proper "UFO trade" and a subculture in regard to animal massacres and abductions and so forth.

41. The entire thing is secretly financed through governments, the military, industrial groups and financially powerful ones who are interested in angst, terror and hate being stirred-up to their highest forms in regard to the alleged evil extraterrestrial foreigners, because they can thereby gain gigantic financial profit and advantage.

42. It is on this basis that, in every regard, from this group, only stories, cinema and television films and observations of UFOs will be accepted and profitably exploited, which are based on everything negative and – as is becoming proverbial with the Earth humans – on the malicious and aggressive nature of the extraterrestrials.

43. Only that which evokes angst, fear and terror as well as engenders hate and revenge is accepted by the group and exploited worldwide in order to obtain enormous profit with it.

44. Conversely, in addition to that, everything which is good and positive is vehemently slandered and is designated as a swindle, lie and deception, as is the case with you and us, since, in keeping with the interests of the group, we are not permitted to exist, and you are not permitted to be in contact with us, rather you must be a liar and a fraud.

45. So, from the group and their small groups, the Earth humans will be served up deliberately false and fear-influencing stories in regard to extraterrestrial UFOs and foreigners to Earth and their alleged horrifying machinations like, for example, painful examination contacts and animal massacres along with falsified encounters with alleged extraterrestrials.

46. Along with profit, the whole matter also serves deeply-based psychological propaganda in order to insult forms of life who are foreign to Earth and to brand them as malicious beings and to create angst, hate, revenge and hysteria because great financial means will be thereby freed up which serve research for the production of innovative and futuristic weapons of all kinds.

47. Therefore, in these Earth humans, in regard to the extraterrestrial, an enemy will be psychologically, deliberately created which does not exist and which will, in a manner, be made into a malicious being such that the Earth humans, in their angst, will be driven to freeing up horrendous sums in order to therewith manufacture weapons against the alleged malicious invaders.

48. Also, with these acts, various groups play off against each other, which, however, is part of a well-thought-out plan which is carried out and implemented by secret services, psycho-terrorists, espionage groups and treacherous disinformation agents and which is underpinned by false information regarding UFOs and alleged extraterrestrials.

49. Additionally belonging to this plan is the invention of an imaginary extraterrestrial enemy, as well as a danger emerging from this – an enemy and a danger which, naturally, will have to be fought.

50. The infamy is thereby that, first of all, everything is made ridiculous because the concerned "abductees", "examinees", "chance contactees" and UFO-observers can provide no evidence for their experiences which would withstand a real examination.

51. Then comes the second fact, which exists in the fact that angst, terror, hate and feelings of revenge is produced in the Earth humans whereby then the weapons industry can be built up and indeed especially in regard to futuristic weapons, of which the normal Earth humans have no idea, and of which they do not ever dare to dream.

52. The entirety is thereby a well-thought-out psychological network on which the progress of the entire weapons industry and the power of the military, of the federal leadership, the finance sharks and the industry businesses as well as the secret services can be built up ever further.

53. To this end angst, terror, hysteria, hate and revenge is sown in regard to all foreigners from outer space.

54. So the Earth humans become duped and financially exploited by the responsible ones of this dangerous group and their small groups and are deliberately driven to abhor and to hate the extraterrestrial foreigners.

55. Corresponding cinema and television films serve as especially suitable means for that.

56. The foreigner-angst, respectively, alien-angst, which is thereby produced surpasses all normal angst and the responsible ones of the group know that precisely, for which reason they can also thereby calculate that all necessary finances flow to them, which they require for their weapon research, their weapon manufacture, their leading of wars, and desires for power, as well as for unrealistic cinema and TV films which demonize the Earth-strangers.

57. The creation of an supposed threat from extraterrestrials as well as the alien-angst is, for them, a profitable matter which is operated under the shabby cloak of a federal, respectively, country security and of world peace.

58. For the entire machinations of the group, the meanest machinations are quite good enough which, as said, were already operating since the 1920s and to that also belong highly developed electronic weapons systems, futuristic flying discs, Earth humans who are hypnotically and surgically converted, as well as converted in their consciousness, to robots*, whereby some have an appearance like the being which is called the "Little Grey".

59. On one hand there is the dim-witted paradox that the extraterrestrial flying devices are denied and the strangers to Earth are made ridiculous or made out to be monsters by means of psychological propaganda, while, on the other hand, a financial exploitation of the peoples results through the inciting of angst, terror, hate and revenge and indeed thereby in that a simulation results in regard to a supposed threat from extraterrestrials.

60. A paradox without compare, to which the question must be put, how far are the Earth humans imbued with reason and understanding that they do not recognise this paradox.

61. The entire pre-arranged game of the group and their small groups, as already said elsewhere, also includes faked encounters with alleged extraterrestrials, whereby these are truly nothing other than normal Earth humans or those who have been transformed into "aliens".

62. In order then to affirm the improvised "encounters with those foreign to Earth" psychologists and other experts are pulled in into whom the wildest stories are hammered for so long until they believe the entire swindle and nonsense and employ "verifiable" and "genuine" analyses which are recorded and published in books and documentation as well as in cinema and TV films.

63. And since, as a rule, the supposed extraterrestrials are described as horrible villains, just according to the plan of the group and their small groups, the picture of the extraterrestrial threat is powerfully incited.

64. Thereby, not only is the slandering in regard to the real strangers to Earth always more exaggerated, as also more and more finances flow into the cash box of those who stupidly and dimwittedly earn as a result of the entire tissue of lies and slander and thereby come by the means to reach their criminal goals.

65. A certain part of the group has also fallen to a Christian sectarianism and to the supposed "End Times" in such a way that hope is directed at a malicious invasion of extraterrestrials resulting on Earth, and thereby the prophesied Armageddon will become reality in which Jesus Christ celebrates his official return and God the father will exercise his judgment.

66. Their delusion is therefore bound with a biblical end of the world, which, as they believe, rests on the terrible badness of the Earth humans.

67. And in order to accelerate this divine judgement as well as the return of Christ they do everything in order to make the way free for that.

68. The monstrous power of the worldwide group and their small groups as well as the religious fanaticism, together with the cultic maintaining of the secret of the entire underhanded, degenerated and deceptive as well as criminal and felonious machinations, lead to malignant effects which could not be worse.

69. These are the facts which I have to name in regard to your question.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_445

Billy:

... so I can raise a question about the way the Plejaren dress. What I have seen in everyday life on Erra in this regard was that women, children and men dress in an appropriate moral form. So I have not seen any of them walking around half-naked or even completely naked. But what does it look like when you take a bath? During a kitchen talk on the 21st of February the following question was put to me about this, which I could not answer, because during my short visit to Erra I did not see very much, which refers to the question: "Nudity in public: what is the acceptable limit of clothing for the Plejaren? If you can tell me in a few words the most important things relating to that question, I would be happy to.

Ptaah:

...

15. We Plejaren are always so fully clothed in public that there are no parts of the body freely visible that could be sexually provocative to the opposite sex.

16. When bathing in public, a sparse bathing costume is worn, of course, but this is kept within chaste and ethical or moral limits with regard to the nakedness of the body.

17. Therefore, it is neither customary nor permissible to wear lewd clothing in everyday life or when bathing in public waters or in facilities intended for that purpose, nor to go half-naked or completely naked.

18. Semi or fully-nakedness is only given in an intimate manner in living communities or special friendships, but never in public.

19. In the case of special friendships, it should be noted that half or full nudity is only justified if the friendship of both sexes exists in a purely platonic form without any sexual intent.

20. Morality has a very high value for us Plejaren, which is why the ethical forms are strictly maintained and cultivated in every relationship, whereby of course prostitution of any form is frowned upon and prohibited by law.

Billy:

In communities, are there any taboos or rules?

Ptaah:

21. There can be no question of that, because private life is inviolable in every respect when it takes place within the framework of legislation.

Billy:

By that I mean that a community is run in all things legal, according to a specific community law. So there must be no violations of the rights of cohabitation in any form whatsoever. It should be remembered that this applies to both same-sex and opposite-sex partnerships, right? Besides, I suppose that this legislation has nothing to do with the state laws?

Ptaah:

22. You see everything in the right way.

...

Ptaah:

28. If you feel up to it, we can talk a little more over a game of chess.

Billy:

In private. That is convenient. – Good, here is the game ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_446

Billy:

... But now I would like to ask a question about your handling of weapons in connection with the population. It is a question that has interested me and others for a long time, although I have never asked about it, but what I want to do now is this: Firstly, are all your weapons designed as working tools, whereby I only mean the ones you carry with you or which are simply considered to be handguns, like handguns in our country?

Ptaah:

37. All weapons in this regard, as well as all other small and large weapons, are also designed as working tools of various kinds.

38. The type of use as a tool is, for example, the lifting and transportation of heavy weights or of objects and goods, in that anti-gravity is generated by the weapons or by the working device, which facilitates the lifting, moving and transportation of loads.

39. The devices are also used to generate heat, cold or fire, etc., if required, as well as to dig up earth, to fuse metals, glass, synthetic materials and many other materials with each other, also in such a way that, for example, metal can be fused with glass, with stone, synthetic materials and other materials.

40. There are many possibilities in this respect, as well as in the use of our weapons as working tools.

41. Of course, we also possess exclusive working devices, working robots and working apparatus of every possible kind, but which would appear futuristic to the Earth-humans if I were to describe them as such and in their function.

Billy:

I am aware of that, but I have no idea of the full extent of its possible uses. Of course, I am aware that your weapons can be used as such, with various forms of weapon energy, and that they can shoot tiny energy projectiles of great penetrating and explosive power. As I know from Menara, Semjase, Asket and Quetzal – although I myself was once allowed to do shooting exercises with such an old weapon – you only have energy-based weapons that only shoot energies and energy projectiles, but no more material projectiles. We call them ray guns.

Ptaah:

42. That is true.

43. The energies are of various kinds, as are the energy projectiles, which are much more effective than all the material projectiles of earthly weapons of any kind known to you.

Billy:

Heat rays, cold rays, rays with an anaesthetic or lethal effect, then also electromagnetical oscillations and energy projectiles etc. The weapons and the associated working tools are not operated mechanically and not manually, but only by thought vibrations, as I know.

Ptaah:

44. This also corresponds to the facts.

45. Every weapon and all the possibilities of using it for work purposes etc. can only be used through thought vibrations that are tuned to the thought patterns of the person to whom the weapon belongs.

46. Second and third persons can therefore under no circumstances use a weapon once it has been adjusted to the thought vibrations of a particular person, not even as a working tool.

Billy:

You once explained to me, that in your country weapons are also used for sporting purposes, such as marksmanship or simply for personal enjoyment. What about the possession and carrying of weapons, which are without exception designed as energy weapons? ...

... I believe that weapons should only be in the hands of humans who can be absolutely certain that they will never cause harm. This would, however, require thorough psychological tests to ensure that the person to whom a weapon is entrusted never misuses it. This would have to be done not only in the civilian, but also in the military sphere, and this would have to continue until the man of the earth in general has reached the point where he lives his life according to the creative-natural laws and commandments, as is the case with you.

Ptaah:

47. Our ancestors already had your idea, who acted within the framework you mentioned, until one day our folks were ready to cultivate their world of thoughts and feelings as well as their way of acting according to the laws of Creation, from which the state of our present way of life has resulted in a comprehensively responsible form.

48. These absurdities are completely impossible for us, because our evolution of consciousness has already reached a level several thousand years ago that is far above these inhuman primitivities.

49. Thus, weapons are not intended to kill, but only in an extreme emergency, when there is no other possibility of self-defence.

50. Possible conflicts – which, however, have not occurred among our races for thousands of years – which may arise among foreign races and in which we may become involved, we settle by force of arms only when circumstances require it, but only with stunning effects, because we consider killing to be contrary to creation in relation to the teachings of the spirit.

51. Only in the very first emergency of self-defence against a human being would the use of a deadly weapon be considered for us.

52. This order also applies with regard to the killing of animals, so that we do not know any hunting as it is practiced by terrestrial human beings.

53. Only in extreme emergencies would we kill low animals for self-preservation in order to obtain food.

54. However, our animal world is left to itself, therefore it regulates itself.

55. The fact that we let the fauna, as well as the flora, lead their natural life can only be achieved by regulation, because we keep our planetary population within the limits of the natural and therefore do not allow overpopulation to occur.

56. We cover our meat requirements by cloning or replicating living cells of animals and all kinds of creatures, which have been bred by replication for about 4,000 years, which also applies to many animals and creatures and all kinds of plant products, in addition to the fact that we also do horticulture and field cultivation for vegetables and fruits as well as herbs and spices etc.

57. We also produce many kinds of materials by replication or multiplication, as you once called this process.

58. But as far as the possession of weapons is concerned, it has to be said that every human being on our planet – as well as on various other worlds of our Federation – is free to possess a weapon without any permission, for whatever purpose.

59. Many possess weapons which are used as pure working tools, but also for the pleasure of leisure time activities regarding shooting in competition, for which only electronic targets are used.

60. And indeed, many people of our worlds possess any kind of weapons, but no mischief is done with them, just as they are not used for murder etc.

61. Such degeneracies as murder and manslaughter, jealousy, hatred, vengeance and revenge, war, terror and fanaticism of any kind have not been seen in our world for several millennia, nor have crimes, crimes and uprisings etc. in any form, because all people of our worlds live according to the spiritual teaching and thus in full awareness of the fulfilment of the creative laws and commandments.

62. In this form, our efforts are also directed towards pacifying other peoples of other planets, with whom we can contact and instruct according to our directives.

...

Billy:

... But now something else: With regard to the clothing of the Plejaren, you said the following on the 8th of March:

"We Plejaren are always so fully clothed in public that no parts of the body are freely visible which could be sexually provocative to the opposite sex. When bathing in public, of course, a sparser bathing costume is worn, but in relation to the nakedness of the body it remains within chaste and ethical or moral limits. Therefore, it is neither customary nor permissible to wear lewd clothing in everyday life or when bathing in public waters or in facilities intended for that purpose, nor to go half-naked or completely naked. Half- or full nudity is only given in an intimate way in life communities or special friendships, but never in public. In the case of special friendships, it should be noted that half or full nudity is only justified if the friendship of both sexes is in a purely platonic form without any sexual intent. Morality has a very high value for us Plejaren, which is why the ethical forms are strictly maintained and cultivated in every respect, which of course means that prostitution of any form is frowned upon and forbidden by law."

I was asked what is meant by 'sexually suggestive' in terms of the wearing of clothing. From my understanding, I explained that this meant the wearing of clothing which sexually displays sexual characteristics in a provocative way or which provocatively expresses the sexual organs. In the case of women, I think this also applies to the bosom, because I have only ever seen the female sex in your country chastely cover the bosom up to the base, unless clothing is worn that reaches completely to the base of the neck. Am I going with my explanation correctly?

Ptaah:

63. Your explanation corresponds to what is given.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_447

{Billy, Kabul, Afghanistan, 16th September 1964:}

... In this way also the traditional prophecies of the signs in the sky have become reality, because for years these have been seen and observed at all hours of the day and night and in all parts of the world, but unfortunately they are often misinterpreted and ridiculed. But the signs of the times are fireballs, explosions of rays in the atmosphere, earth-electromagnetic-atmospheric phenomena, strange clouds and misty phenomena, which appear by the hundreds like small flying objects. But there also appear jet ships or space ships from foreign planets, which are steered by foreign people, who come here in order to indirectly enter into the evolutionary process of consciousness and into the action of consciousness through a proclaimer and his teaching of the spirit as well as through the teaching of truth and through the teaching of life, to intervene in the actions and work of earthly humanity because necessity demands it, because the man of the earth with his still limited consciousness forces the basic and structural elements of nature and life to react, in order to destroy in his insanity myriad life and the climate of the earth. ...

...

And what is to be said further: The ray ships resp. spaceships of foreign intelligences from distant worlds are no fantasy, because they exist like you and me – they are not cloud agglomerations, balloons, lightning, flocks of birds and the like, as they are so gladly called by scientists and leading authorities, by opponents of the truth or by laymen, who do not want to make themselves ridiculous with the recognition of the existence of the so-called UFOs. These unknown extraterrestrial flying objects – if they are not, as is often the case, top-secret earthly-military aircraft and planes -, they are real, as thousands of very good photographs, films and reports prove. And there is no shortage of real contacts – even if there are very few of them worldwide and only a small handful in number – who have spoken with extraterrestrials. They all testify to the real existence of the extraterrestrials and their objects, the beam ships. They and everything else testify to the effective existence of the extraterrestrials – even if this existence is ridiculed by the terrestrial authorities and evil antagonists as not being proven or simply presented as a hallucination or even a lie. But for what reasons do the denying and denying authorities and antagonists maintain very secret UFO reconnaissance groups etc., which have the task to clarify the origin of the UFOs from space and to arm them for a possible space war or a sudden invasion from space? An idea, by the way, which corresponds to a complete nonsense, because the space men do not control our earth in order to conquer or subjugate it, if they wanted to, they could have done so long ago, because their technology reaches to the fantastic compared to the earthly one – and the earthly weapons of all armies would be nothing more than a toy for them, which they would throw away as rubble and useless junk due to unworthiness and uselessness. Moreover, their very highly developed technology goes back many centuries and millennia, so that, if it had been in their will, they could have conquered the earth when it was still in antiquity or in the dark Middle Ages when it was growing towards its present state. But why are the authorities so eager to find out the secret of UFOs and especially the unsolved mystery of the radiation propulsion, which makes the extraterrestrial aircraft or UFOs fly through the earth's atmosphere at speeds of up to 100,000 kilometers per hour and more, neutralizing the gravity? So why these secret researches under exclusion of the public, when everything is supposed to be only lies and deceit? Why that? The authorities are afraid, frightening, deadly fear, for they fear an attack from space, and for this purpose it would be urgently necessary that they themselves be in possession of ray ships and ray weapons, so that they could counter the enemy attack already in world space itself. Others, however, fear panic and rampage of the population, if they should really become aware of the existence of the extraterrestrial UFOs and their crews, because panic and rampage already rolled over the population of different countries, when UFO sensational reports, so-called 'direct reports from the place of the event' were broadcasted over the radio stations. Direct reports, however, which did not correspond to the truth and were only sensational radio plays. The number of deaths of the population running amok went into high figures.

However, the authorities, who stop practically all UFO reports – if they have real backgrounds – do not consider that the panic of the masses will be much greater one day, if the extraterrestrials should really come in masses, in order to prevent perhaps the greatest insanity of the earthly humans and to change the face of this world for the better, if the revolutionary events, which are caused by the humans of the earth in a responsible way, roll over this world. But it is questionable whether extraterrestrials ever interfere in earthly matters in this respect, because they have directives which would only allow them to intervene under certain conditions. A real contact person, as well as reconnaissance planes and simple observers of really extraterrestrial flying machines resp. UFOs are dealt with by the authorities as well as by the people and by malicious adversaries and slanderers, who insult lies and fraud and may even be imprisoned for many years in a mean way or interned in insane institutions, because as already mentioned, the authorities are unwilling to reveal the profound truth – they do not shy away from publishing denying notes and treatises in the newspapers or from having them published by bought-in laymen, critics, opponents and so-called 'experts'. For these reasons, in various countries, a real contact person – of which there are not even a handful – an observer or enlightener plays with his freedom when he takes his task seriously and tries to create enlightenment. And the few people who have or have had contact, not even a small handful, have a very difficult position, because they encounter hatred, mockery, disbelief, official intrigues and partly church-destroying statements, as well as slander and much more.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_448

Ptaah:

43. ... we Plejaren and our confederates live in other space-time configurations ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_450

Billy:

Then a question regarding the Sirians, with whom you've been in contact for some time now after all. My question is based on the fact that Bernadette is working on the 'Nokodemion Line' into a brochure, in which a statement of mine from the year 1995 is also integrated. At that time, it was still the case that you were not able to maintain contact with the Sirians, but that has changed some time ago, as you explained to me. How was it that you were able to get in contact with the Sirians after all?

Ptaah:

58. It is not the Sirian folks with whom we have come into contact, but our contacts take place only in remote communication form with some groups of consciously higher-evolved scientists.

59. These form our liaisons with the various governments, which are occupied by scientists who are also consciously higher-evolved and who lead the peoples.

60. We do not yet maintain personal or physical contacts, because various prerequisites for this are still missing.

61. The populations of the Sirian peoples themselves are not yet so far advanced in the evolution of consciousness that they would be equal to their scientists, and it is this fact that we cannot yet maintain official contacts with the Sirian peoples.

62. Physical contacts are not yet possible with regard to scientists either, but nothing stands in the way of remote communication contacts, because the evolution of consciousness of scientists allows this, which is why we have opened these contacts.

63. In the remote-communicative way we have also appealed to the Sirians' reason, so that the old persecution mania against those genetically manipulated by their primeval ancestors was abolished, which, however, had already been handed down only in ancient annals, but had long since been forgotten by today's Sirians and was only cultivated by a small group of fanatics who, like the neo-Nazis on Earth, for example, created and practised their hatred from the old writings within themselves.

64. But we only found out about this some time ago, just when we were able to contact various Sirian scientists by remote communication, whereby we did this because we wanted to get hold of those hateful fanatics who threatened your life for so long and called themselves the Men in Black.

Billy:

But if you are now in remote communication with the Sirian scientists, then they must be really advanced in terms of consciousness development. This reminds me completely of the earlier times, when scientists were the genetic manipulators.

Ptaah:

65. Then, as now, in the Sirius regions, scientists are the rulers and the powerful ones who have the peoples under their command and give them the directions of thought.

66. But these scientists of today are so far removed from the old forms of government that they lead the peoples in a free form, so that they too can evolve consciously, although they are still far below the level of the evolution of consciousness of the scientists.

67. The old system of government by scientists has been maintained over very long periods of time and has only changed to its present form about 140 years ago, so it will take a long time until the peoples in general reach a higher level of evolution equal to their present scientists, whose earliest ancestors used their knowledge to bring their peoples under their power and to keep them in that power.

68. This is no longer the case today, and as a result of the high evolutionary development of the Sirian scientists, we have been able to establish remote communications with them, which will enable us to establish physical contact with them in the near future, but which will be limited to the scientists and not extend to the peoples.

69. So we will give development aid to scientists in every possible relationship and in every responsible way possible for us and for them, whereby the teaching of the spirit will also be a comprehensive teaching.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_453

{Note: This Contact Report contains several charts which provide data on the age, birth date, planetary origin and other information pertaining to the extraterrestrials who have been in contact with Billy.}

Ptaah:

34. The origin and existence of all life owes this to the basic laws of universal chemistry and physics, from which left-turning amino acids developed fundamentally for the emergence of life itself, which formed and also continue to form the main factor of the biological emergence of life as a whole in universal breadth.

35. From this it also emerges that every form of life is planetary chemically-physically conditioned, consequently this is also different from planet to planet and has innumerable forms universe-wide and is not necessarily human-like, as you know and as you were able to see for yourself together with us on your Great Journey through large parts of the universe on the most diverse worlds.

Billy:

Yes, I never forget that, all the different life-forms, which also included various intelligent ones that were not human-like. I would like to say, however, that despite the very great strangeness, they cannot be called monsters, just as they cannot be called human-like life-forms. Some have also developed higher and higher cultures and techniques, which may seem futuristic and fantastic to earthlings, but nevertheless corresponds to the truth. Many of the alien life-forms, however, were of the animal kind, and you let me look at a great many bacterial forms under a device that I would like to call a microscope for the sake of simplicity, because it had such a function, but has no resemblance to the devices we know. It was interesting for me to be able to determine that human life is extremely thinly spread throughout the universe and that most life-bearing worlds carry life-forms that look completely futuristic to earthlings. And I remember you explaining that human life-forms found their widespread expansion in the universe on various occasions only because they created the technical means to be able to emigrate to other worlds through space travel...? I also still hear your words today when you said that life-forms existed on practically all planets, comets, meteors and celestial bodies as well as in the nebulae and gases in the universe, even if, as a rule, they were only bacterial life-forms, except on planets? And as you have let me see, such life-forms also exist on the moons of our SOL satellites, as well as on these themselves.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_454

Xeruel:

2. We are triplet siblings and we are here on behalf of Florena and Enjana, and as you say correctly, we use language converters, because we do not know your language.

3. This here is my sister Xeruella, and she here is my sister Xaruala.

...

5. Of course – we are 122 years old, and our home world is Erra.

6. Xeruella is the first-born, I am the second-born and Xeruala is the third-born.

Billy:

It is interesting that you have three names that almost all sound the same.

Xeruella:

3. In our family we can look back on many generations that have always borne names of this kind.

Billy:

Do you mean the names themselves or just names beginning with the letter X?

Xeruela:

4. My words refer to the initial letter X, but not to the name itself.

5. According to our annals, no other name has been used in the traditional lineage of our family for more than 6,000 years whose initial letter would not have been an X.

Billy:

And what about the surname we call family names here – do they also begin with the letter X? Ptaah once told me that also bears his surname.

Xeruel:

7. That is correct, and these surnames have always started with an X from the male side of the descendants, because the family name of the father, Xerianam, is taken over and carried on.

8. This, while female descendants change family names because when marriage alliances are formed, they are attached to the male family name of the spouse.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_457

Billy:

And in regard to the three groups that have been traveling around our world, do you have any new insights on that?

Ptaah:

33. As I mentioned before, we are no longer concerned with them.

34. They are indeed active in the whole earthly airspace and also in the outer Earth envelopes.

35. Furthermore, it seems that they have no knowledge of each other, as I explained to you before, just as they have absolutely no knowledge of our presence, although we leave it at that, because, as we could clearly see with our latest technology, which we received from the Sonaern, their technology and their behaviour as well as their evolution of consciousness is still very much in need of development, and this although they are masters of space travel and probably also of time-travel.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_463

Billy:

There are programs on television which explain that many private people, also well-known scientists, are sending messages with big antennas purposefully out into space, in order to make extraterrestrials aware of the Earth and the earthlings. What do you think about this?

Ptaah:

69. This nonsense is as familiar to me as the enterprise that was started decades ago from the US-American side with the golden, round plate that contains a lot of information about the Earth and the earthly humanity, for the purpose that human exo life-forms should become aware of the Earth and Earth-humans if they can get hold of the information.

70. The whole thing is not only nonsensical, but also dangerous, for all sorts of unpleasant things can happen both through the information plate and through the messages that are sent wildly out into the world space.

71. It is a fact that not only on earth exists an unpeaceful and warlike humanity, but also on foreign worlds.

72. And if such evil-minded life forms catch the earthly messages and are powerful in space travel, then this can have very bad consequences for the Earth and Earth humanity.

73. And that also when several or many decades or even a century or more pass until such nonsensical messages are caught and then spaceships are sent to earth to wreak havoc here, whereby even mankind could be exterminated.

74. There are life forms powerful enough for space travel in all galaxies suitable for it, whereby these are very far scattered, but have created space possibilities, as diverse as they also have the necessary technology to get to earth.

75. Time is not an issue for certain human space-capable life forms, because they reach old age, so they can easily travel to Earth for 40, 60, 100 or more years, if their technology also allows them to do so.

76. And indeed, there are dangerous contemporaries among them, as you say in each case, who can bring destruction and ruin, which they also do in their home systems.

Billy:

Not pleasing, but the firecrackers who send messages out into space can't be proven wrong, because they claim that the radio and TV shows that are broadcast constantly reach aliens and draw their attention to Earth. Consequently, the messages they send out are no more and no less in the same frame.

Ptaah:

77. This is of correctness to a certain extent, but to send out targeted messages with exact information into the space of the world is more dangerous.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_467

Ptaah:

9. You can, but today I would like to talk to you again in a very private way, where we can also enjoy a game of chess.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_469

Ptaah:

99. Thus I will begin with us actual humanoids, whereby I must explain that all life form species, which I have to call, show human or human-like forms in shape, as well as forms mixed with their other species, whereby the only human-like beings are not actual humanoids, but just different and embodying two different species.

100. All of them, however, are capable of a conscious development of consciousness, have their own cultures and languages as well as techniques, whereby some of the ones we know are also masters of space travel and belong to our Federation.

101. All of them, at least those who belong to our Federation, are peaceful beings and have no warlike or violent ambitions:

102. 1) Humanoids are human beings in the form in which we Plejaren and the Earth-humans as well as many of us are allies of our Federation, to which, however, other life-forms also belong, which cannot be called humanoids in our sense, because they are of a completely different kind, but nevertheless consciously capable of evolution and have developed their own cultures and techniques as well as languages, as I already explained.

103. 2) Amphiboids are, in terms of form, life-forms of mixed human and aquatic animal nature, which can live both in water and on land, as well as in a climate that is heavily water-filled. Asina, for example, and her people are among them.

104. 3) Reptiloids are life-forms of mixed human and reptilian form, their bodies being covered with scales.

105. 4) Insectoids are life-forms of mixed human and insect-like form, their skin showing chitin-like characteristics.

106. 5) Sauroids are life-forms of mixed human and sauropod-like form with a skin similar to elephant skin.

107. 6) Primatoids are life-forms of mixed human and primate-like form with a hairy body, but in a stronger form than the terrestrial humanoid or Earth-humans.

108. 7) Condidoids are in form of life-forms actual humanoids, but with the ability to move by levitation.

109. 8) Teropoids are life-forms with human and birdlike body, with long neck, face and beak-like mouth.
110. 9) Hydroids are life-forms with human and fish-like bodies, whose actual life-element is water, which they can also leave for a longer period of time.
111. 10) Thermoids are in shape humanoid life-forms with a human-like body, whose own life-element is hot areas with very high temperature.
112. 11) Frigoroids are in form humanoid life-forms with human bodies, whose life-elements are very cold areas with very low temperatures below zero.
113. 12) Aërioids are in form humanoid life-forms with human body, whereby they are poison gas breathers and their life-element are various gas atmospheres.
114. 13) Acoroids are in form humanoid life-forms with a human body, but their skin is covered by a fine layer of acid, like e.g. the Trilans.
115. 14) Floroids are life-forms with human-like and diverse plant bodies.
116. 15) Centauroids are life-forms with partly human and partly equine bodies.
117. 16) Faunoids are life-forms with partly human and partly various ungulate bodies.
118. 17) Cheruboids are in shape and weight very light human life-forms, equipped with feathered wings through which they can fly.
119. 18) Seraphoids are life-forms very light in shape and weight, partly human and partly animal, equipped with feathered wings through which they can fly.
120. These are the people we know of various genera and species resp. races of human and human-animal-like life-forms, which I name in the above mentioned way, so that Earth-humans can also get an idea of them.
121. Our names are of course of a different kind, but they correspond to the value of the names mentioned.
122. Basically, however, it is to be said that all the life-forms mentioned which are the same as human beings are also beings who in their whole or in part resemble our human forms, to which they have changed over millions of years.
123. Apart from this, however, their appearance in terms of the appearance of their skin and its excrescences is different from that of us who call ourselves pure humanoids.
124. But since several of the life-forms I have mentioned are probably humanoid in appearance, but different in the outer appearance of their skin and its outgrowths, we call them peregrinhumanoids, as has been explained to you earlier.
125. This term means as much as foreign humanoids.
126. All mentioned life-forms are therefore in their essence humanoids, which also have a humanoid spirit-form and are part of a conscious evolution of consciousness.
127. The origin of the peregrinhumanoids is not the same as with us pure humanoids, but their development into peregrinhumanoids has taken place in a similar way as with the pure humanoids.
128. Their primeval forms were very small and only gradually developed into larger life-forms, which in turn were subject to multiple changes until they became the beings they are today.
129. Such a course of evolutionary form has also taken place in relation to us purely humanoids, because our course of evolution has also brought about various changes, until finally the purely humanoid human being was created.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_472

Safarina {female extraterrestrial}:

13. I studied geology and geophysics, astronomy, the art of pragmatics and scientific cybernetics in relation to biological, technical and sociological systems.

14. I also carry out the activity of a controller for various tasks.

15. My age is not a secret, so I can tell you my age at 236 years.

...

18. I do not have a life partner, but I do have a female companion.
19. With her I have maintained a very loving alliance for 73 years.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_475

Ptaah:

146. In a direct democracy, the parliament, the rulers and the authorities, etc., are no more and no less than mere executors of the will of the people, by which alone it is determined what shall and shall not be.

147. That is what we Plejaren and all our federates understand by an open democracy.

148. And in such one it must also not be that the supreme rulers, a parliament or other governing bodies propagandise for any things and decisions, but rather present only elaborated plans and proposals to the people in such a way that all advantages and disadvantages of the project are mentioned to them, after which the people have to weigh everything up at their own discretion and make the decision by an election without partiality.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_476

Billy:

... If something breaks, how long can you keep fixing things?

Ptaah:

11. First of all, for every achievement, no matter what kind it is, small or big, there is only one form of production respectively one brand worldwide, as you say.

12. And secondly, our production is geared to ensuring that repairs can be made to small appliances and equipment etc. in the event of damage occurring for 70 years, because components can be produced for this purpose during this period if required.

13. For large devices and large apparatus, such as our planetary and spaceworthy flying apparatus etc., a period of 350 years is specified.

14. We are careful to use as few resources of our and other planets as possible and also to take care of the environment.

15. Waste products are therefore avoided, so everything is designed so that everything can be recycled.

Billy:

One brand of product per product, I think that makes sense. Yes this is only possible because you produce everything and everything of use on a social basis and do not know of money anymore, therefore everything is produced by the people and every human being receives everything necessary of every kind, who he needs or what he simply wants.

Ptaah:

16. A fact that also contributes to the fact that there is not crime in our country, because every person can get everything he needs or wants at any time.

17. This system, however, requires that means of payment are no longer needed, so we also no longer have them.

Billy:

And what about garbage and litter and so forth? When I think of the packaging mania that exists here on Earth, which generates billions of tons of waste and billions of dollars, I am terrified.

Ptaah:

18. That is not the case here, because all goods are handed out to the population without packaging, with a few exceptions, where the packaging decays after a long time of self-decomposition and decomposes back into its natural components.

19. If it concerns materials that do not completely disintegrate back into their original components, such as things made of materials such as metal, glass, crystal and plastic etc., which we of course also produce, then these are collected completely and sent for recycling.

20. This also happens with devices and equipment etc., which can no longer be used, so we do not have any wear and tear on any materials.

21. Our entire population is careful to observe this order, so that no one produces waste, rubbish or rubbish, because otherwise it would be impossible to keep nature and the entire environment clean.

Billy:

Then you have not got any incinerators or garbage disposal plants or garbage dumps in nature.

Ptaah:

22. No, we do not have that, because such things, like money and crime, are also phenomena that only occur in cultures that are still in a state of low progress.

...

Ptaah:

75. The population of the planet Akart belonged to our federation, as well as also, the population of the worlds of Proxima-Centauri and others from there and other local regions of space around there, from which several of them have come to the Earth.

76. However, all of these worlds belong in our space-time-configuration, consequently they also possess several of our technologies, like for example, that technology with which they are able to bridge the time barrier and come into your space-time-configuration.

77. The population of Akart however no more exists since the year 2007, because in the only 32 years from 1975 to 2007 their total population had increased to 34 billion (34,000,000,000), when through their stupidity, like also is apparent with the terrestrial population, nature and the climate were completely destroyed, when, in the end, an oxygen collapse and an atmosphere collapse occurred, as you have described this.

78. As a result all life was wiped out on that planet.

Billy:

However, you still have advised and helped them, as you said at that time.

Ptaah:

79. Unfortunately, our advice was just disregarded and not followed, as well as also our help was declined.

80. Only then, when there was nothing more to give, the humans came to think things over, but then it was already too late, as a result we only could just save as many humans as possible, unfortunately only 116 million, and resettle them to other worlds.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_505

Billy:

So then: First, a question about Mount Shasta respectively about the distant descendants of extraterrestrials who lived there, which I talked about several times with your daughter Semjase, but also with you. ...

Quetzal once told me outside of an official conversation that you took all the inhabitants from Mount Shasta and on the Aleutian Islands and in Alaska.

Ptaah:

53. That is correct.

54. We have tried to get all the inhabitants of the three places to return to their peoples, with whom they have always been in contact.

55. We gave them the reasons for our own withdrawal from the Earth, which led to their withdrawal.

56. Their dwellings and all the trappings have returned them to their original earthly state, so that there is no longer anything to indicate their former presence.

57. The process in this regard was the same as in the pyramid of Giza and on Mars.

Billy:

I understand. So then you did not take them away yourselves, but they left of their own accord with those who came from their original homeland, but simply on your advice. I have misunderstood something. But can you tell me where these human beings actually belonged, respectively to which people?

Ptaah:

58. That is not a secret.

59. They were distant descendants of a lineage of the old Lyrians, to which they also returned.

Billy:

Then they are, so to speak, related to you, the Plejaren, because the Plejaren peoples came out of the old Lyrians.

Ptaah:

60. That is correct.

Billy:

Thank you. So there is now nothing in Mount Shasta, Alaska, or the Aleutian Islands that indicates their former presence?

Ptaah:

61. That is also correct.

Billy:

And may we know what you told them that they went away?

Ptaah:

62. That is not a secret.

63. The reason was that we too had abolished our stations on Earth and returned them to their natural original state, but it was important that we had included the inhabitants of all three places in our protection, which was not given after we had left.

64. So a further stay on Earth would have been too dangerous for them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_511

Billy:

... But I am now interested in whether, since my last question regarding other extraterrestrials who do not belong to you Plejaren or to your Federation, any other extraterrestrial flying apparatuses have flown into earthly space in the meantime?

Ptaah:

27. Since we completed our surveillance technology for objects entering or entering the Earth's space years ago and are therefore able to locate and register even the smallest objects, there have been no entries of unearthly flying apparatuses that do not belong to us Plejaren or to members of the Federation.

28. It is also not to be assumed that there will be any more such foreign incursions in the foreseeable future.

29. And what has happened in the last 300 years with such flights into the earthly space has found its reason in the fact, as we have clarified in the meantime, that really all extraterrestrials who came to earth found their way to earth by some unforeseen coincidence or in two cases by coordinate information.

30. The fact that the way from extraterrestrials to the SOL-system and finally to Earth led in some cases, was either due to uncontrollable coincidences or due to coordinates received etc.

31. Some also came to Earth through curiosity, aberration or by accident, after they unintentionally or intentionally entered the SOL system.

32. However, most of the entries took place because of uncontrollable coincidences and also because the Earth was discovered.

33. There were also flights into Earth from the Alpha-Centauri area when the SOL system was approached, and of course Earth was discovered and explored.

34. So it was usually a rare coincidence that extraterrestrials other than us, the Plejaren and our federated ones, came to Earth.

35. Only in two cases aliens came to Earth via the coordinates given by very distant Nokodemion descendants.

36. There were not any other strangers to the Earth other than those who came to Earth through the coordinates and uncontrollable coincidences.

37. So the visitors were not those who flew to Earth as a special destination, with two exceptions.

38. But we Plejaren and our Federation and the ancient Lyrians are excluded from this, because even our very distant ancestors knew the SOL system and the Earth, and so they visited the Earth millions of years ago.

Billy:

This is familiar to me, because they came to the SOL system because of the Moon, whose path they followed when it blasted out of their space-time structure through a dimensional gate into our space-time structure and settled on Earth. And it is also clear to me that there is not extraterrestrial-human life at every corner of space and that extraterrestrial human beings are not to be found in every corner of the universe, as the human beings on Earth are led to believe by science fiction films. There are indeed billions of solar systems in which there are also planets, but those that carry human life, which is also highly developed and capable of space travel, are very rare in our DERN universe. That is why, as you once said, your Federation is spread out over hundreds of millions of light-years in your space-time structure, because the human beings are scattered in the vast expanse of space and it is not densely populated with humans. Often there are dozens, hundreds or even thousands of light-years between human inhabited worlds, and also only a few of the human beings on these inhabited planets are capable of space technology. The same applies to our space-time structure, and consequently also to the fact that there are not masses of human beings on the planets, but only a few of them in the vastness of our own or any other galaxy. For this reason alone, it is crazy to claim that aliens from this or that constellation would come to Earth from this or that constellation, simply to make some nonsensical religious and sectarian speeches and conversations and to give divine advice etc. This apart from the absurdity of the fact that there is no evidence of such alleged contacts between aliens and the human beings of Earth, neither material nor photos and films.

Ptaah:

39. That is indeed the case.

...

Billy:

Do you know anything about whether any aliens still know the coordinates of the SOL system or even Earth, apart from those who already came here?

Ptaah:

69. We don't know, but I also have to say that all extraterrestrials who came to Earth were more or less well versed in space technology, which cannot be taken for granted.

70. The majority of unearthly human races are still not capable of space travel.

71. And others who have mastered space travel are only able to move within their own solar systems and cannot leave them.

72. Interstellar space travel is extremely rare, as is the possibility of moving through dimensional gates into another space-time continuum, as we do and can also create such gates.

73. And it must also be said that those who came to Earth from other space-time continuums could not deliberately create and fix the necessary dimensional gates, because in fact they were only able to move into this dimension of the DERN universe through momentary natural cracks in their space-time continuum.

74. Others, on the other hand, who came from the DERN dimension, only came to Earth because they could create and use space-time gates, which is also a rarity.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_513

Ptaah:

4. I still have some time left, because I have taken some time off, because I still want to enjoy chess with you.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_516

Ptaah:

1. Hello, Eduard, here I am, unfortunately I am four minutes late.
2. But I like the music that comes out of your computer.

Quetzal:

1. It also suits me.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_519

Billy:

... It is now almost ten years since you said that you have come across something very interesting in relation to the investigations of the various extraterrestrials who have come to Earth in the last 300 years. But you wanted to say something more about this only when you know all about it for sure. Is it about what I asked you to clarify some 30 years ago – do you have any detailed information about it now?

Ptaah:

37. Yes, we have this information, and it is based on many years of very laborious research and clarification.

38. After 30 years of investigation and research, it has now been proven with absolute certainty that all known flights into Earth's airspace and landings on Earth by Earth-foreigners have only occurred because all those who found their way to Earth had exact or halfway exact coordinates of the Lyra and Centaurus systems and the SOL system at their disposal, which they did not evaluate until thousands of years after their receipt and recovery.

39. The interesting thing is that for all Earth-foreigners who came to Earth, these data were based on very old and millennia-old records, which were based on connections with peoples from the very extensive Nokodemion line.

40. And the fact that all these records have been analysed by a wide variety of Earth-foreigners civilisations over the last 300 years was based on very old regulations, which were designed to ensure that these records were found and analysed in more recent times and that the respective Earth-foreigners flew to the elaborated coordinates.

41. The whole purpose of all this was to enable everyone to find their way to our Federation and unite with us.

42. This was also the case for those who came from the Centaurus systems and from other areas.

43. Some of the Earth-foreigners who came to Earth, due to errors in coordination, strayed directly to Earth instead of reaching the Lyra system, others were looking for the planet Malona/Phaeton, which they did not find, but came to Earth in their search.

44. Others were looking for Mars, but found it inanimate and finally came to Earth.

45. But there were also those who suffered an accident, including the Gilgamesh spacecraft of the very early days, as well as the spacecraft that caused the Tunguska catastrophe.

46. With one exception, all Earth-foreigners who came to Earth in the last 300 years are now part of our Federation, and interestingly, all of them have proven that their early ancestors were, as I explained, connected with earlier peoples of the Nokodemion line, from whom they have received records of the coordinates of the systems mentioned.

47. They used this data to get to the Lyra and Centaurus systems and to the SOL system.
48. If they hadn't had these coordinates from the ancient records, they would also never have come to Earth.
49. So they only came here to your homeworld Earth by certain coincidences.

Billy:

Asina and her people, what about them?

Ptaah:

50. They also belonged to it in the same way.

Billy:

So then everything was predetermined. When was that? ...

Ptaah:

51. The whole thing leads back to the time 389,000 years ago.

52. Even then everything was determined and directed in such a way that everything is fulfilled in modern times and especially in the modern age.

...

61. And further it is to be said that apart from us Plejaren and our Federation no other Earth-foreigners are on Earth or even penetrated or entered the Earth's airspace, therefore no Earth-humans can have contact with any Earth-foreigners.

62. And all those Earth-foreigners who came to Earth by the coincidence of the coordinates of the ancient Nokodemion peoples belong to our Federation today, and they too do not maintain contact with Earth-humans.

...

Billy:

But what if unknown flying objects are observed?

Ptaah:

65. If they are Earth-foreigners flying apparatuses, then they can only be those of us Plejaren or of our federated ones.

66. Otherwise they are exclusively earthly unknown flying apparatuses, like secret aircraft of futuristic design etc., as they are constructed in secret aircraft construction factories, mainly in Area 51 in the USA, but also in South America, Russia, China and Canada.

Billy:

Is this really all clear and real?

Ptaah:

67. Absolutely.

Billy:

This once again triggers angry cries and howls among the UFO believers, the ufologists and the alleged contactees, which in turn makes me a snail again.

Ptaah:

68. This will be so, because the deceivers, liars, swindlers and charlatans regarding alleged contacts with Earth-foreigners as well as the UFO believers in general and especially those who boast of being experts in ufology, do not want to understand that apart from us, the Plejaren and our federated ones, no other Earth-foreigners come to Earth, and also that those who came here in former times found their way to Earth only by means of old coordinate records which led back to connections with old Nokodemion peoples.

69. Only such Earth-foreigners and future Earth-followers have come to Earth, but never any others from foreign galaxies and solar systems that did not have the coordinates handed down.

70. So others did not reach Earth, as alleged contactors lie and claim.

Billy:

This apart from the Skrills and the bioorganic flying objects and the future of Earth from other dimensions, as you say. If all the many claims about contacts between the human beings of Earth and extraterrestrials were true, then Earth would be teeming with extraterrestrials.

Ptaah:

71. That is correct.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_530

Billy:

... When I was on Erra, I saw huge apple plantations, with trees and apples much bigger than here on Earth. The biggest apples I saw, according to your explanations, weighed several kilos. The apples, I was taught by Quetzal and you, are used as food and medicine ...

...

... I am wondering what you do with apples from a medical point of view?

Ptaah:

66. Highly concentrated food is made from them, and because of their high concentration they are also effective in a completely natural way from a medical point of view.

67. Apart from the stalk, no waste products are produced during the production process, which means that every apple is fully utilised, including the skin, the seeds and the core.

Billy:

Similar or identical to our food supplements?

Ptaah:

68. No.

69. These are pure, highly concentrated foods that contain all the natural substances of apples, but no chemical ingredients etc., which are used as normal food in daily use.

70. Every human being on Erra eats such products every day.

Billy:

Liquid or solid?

Ptaah:

71. Both possibilities are possible, whereby the high concentration of the food corresponds absolutely only to pure fruit.

72. The same is also possible with vegetables.

Billy:

And the nutritious cubes I ate on my Great Journey and on Erra, are they also of a similar kind? One or two or three cubes were enough to satisfy my hunger.

Ptaah:

73. They are.

74. The high-concentrate is specially cold-dried and pressed for this purpose, so that a cube of about 2x2x2 centimetres will contain about 3 grams of apple high-concentrate, which corresponds to a raw apple weight of about 500 grams.

Billy:

This corresponds to about three large apples as we have them here on Earth. By cold-dried you mean a kind of freeze-dried, or?

Ptaah:

75. That is so, but the process is of course in line with our more advanced technology.

Billy:

But you also eat fresh and raw apples and other fruit, as I saw in your large scale room.

Ptaah:

76. Self-evident.

Billy:

We use chemical spraying for apples and also for all other fruits and vegetables, which is not the case with you, I know. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_532

Billy:

Then my next question, which does not apply to the future, with those of whom you of course do not want to have contact, but my question does apply to the unknown to you, respectively, to the unknown to you Earth-foreigners, of whom we have spoken about in our last conversation. I have indeed no contact with them and also do not want to get in touch with them, yet I think, that you nevertheless know something about them, for I can myself imagine, that you do not put aside the matter without observation and thought.

Ptaah:

49. That is correct, yet we do not concern ourselves too much with it, for the technology, on which they operate, as well as their conduct does not correspond to prerequisites, which would be important in accordance with our directives, which would allow us to enter into contact with them.

50. From their technology and their behaviour alone, we can infer their state of consciousness, which does not correspond to one that would allow us to contact them.

Billy:

Their technology must however still be well developed, for they are able to come from somewhere in space to the Earth. And with their conduct ...

Ptaah:

51. Admittedly, this is actually so, yet the aliens are, regarding their consciousness development and their fallible conduct patterns, contrary to the inviolableness and the dignity of all life in exactly the same way still are not sufficiently developed enough, as also not their technology, as a result we are not able to arrange them in accordance with our directives into the important security stages, which are predetermined by us as our directives.

52. And regarding their conduct, many matters do not correspond to a consciousness development, which would allow a contact starting and association with them in accordance with our directives.

53. There, were and are, many incidents caused by them, which are not able to be reconciled with a healthy and higher consciousness ability development as well as also not with various creative-natural predetermined laws and regulations.

54. Despite the higher developed technology, through which they are able to cope with travel through space, they are on this matter not much further developed than terrestrial scientific field skilled workers, who as a rule, all live just according to Earthhuman laws and regulations, while at the same time, they however still follow little, or in general nothing, in the exercising of the creative-natural predetermined laws and regulations.

55. Thus also the integrity of the body as well as the psyche of humans, animals and creatures, which is given by these laws and regulations, is not considered by them just as it is also the case with the Earth-humans.

Billy:

And is this the case with all three groups unknown to you?

Ptaah:

56. Yes.

57. With these three groups is however to understand here, that it concerns a matter about them of three different factions, who however all together build a unity, thus belonging together and in accordance with our observations of only one origin, however who have different areas of responsibility on the Earth.

58. Of three groups is only generally to speak, because our realizations of these Earth-foreigners is that they are clearly organized for certain tasks in three different terrestrial areas, in which they become evident and are variously working.

59. So one group moves entirely in the west continental area of Antarctica over Tierra del Fuego and all Americas with various islands up to Alaska and to the Arctic, then another group moves in entirely Europe with Africa and all islands, with Greenland, Eurasia, Arabia, Madagascar and the Arctic as well as various islands, and finally the third group moves entirely in Asia and Oceania with all islands, as also in Australia, Tasmania, New Zealand and in a part of Antarctica.

Billy:

Thus, also, here once again a misunderstanding, for we always thought, that with the three groups may have meant three different earth alien races, which would come from different worlds.

Ptaah:

60. That was actually a misunderstanding, hence, it is good that you have again brought up this matter.

Billy:

And were you able to find out, where these Earth-foreigners come from, respectively, where their origin is?

Ptaah:

61. Regarding the discovering of their origin planet, we have ourselves tried, yet I cannot give any information about it, because up till now we do not know of this and also on account of the lack of their consciousness- and technological development, do not want to enter into association with them, in order to find out.

62. There must arise, regarding this, an unwanted foreordination, which however is doubtful, because we ourselves in no way seek a contact with them, as I already explained.

63. Hence, we also do not watch their exact activities, but only take notice of them, which arises through unintentional observations, etc..

64. And as far as the number of Earth-foreigners is concerned, such were we able up to now only to observe a few of them, although all of these however were clearly registered by us.

Billy:

However you still would be able to follow the chaps secretly, in order to find their home world if they would currently leave the Earth.

Ptaah:

65. Up to now we were not able to register any excursions by them from Earth space, as a result we presume, that they are permanently stationed here.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_536

Billy:

... But you are wearing such interesting new clothes. Is this the latest fashion?

Florena:

...

26. No, the clothing does not correspond to a new fashion, it is technical.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_538

{Note: The following are excerpts from a lengthy explanation about true democracy.}

Ptaah:

22. My explanations are only intended to clarify the understanding and the state of democracy, as it applies to us Plejaren.

...

28. It is about 52,000 years ago that true democracy was established among all peoples in our Plejaren, and with it a lasting peace and extensive freedom, which has also been established since then, by prohibiting all undemocratic forms of government and their actions.

29. This also led to the final peace among all peoples, so that since then the Plejaren have lived in true peace and freedom.

30. For the peoples themselves want peace and freedom, but not war, despotism or dictatorship.

31. Wars, despotism, dictatorship and tyranny of all kinds always come from rulers, from parties, parliaments, military and secret services, etc., as well as from rulers and their supporters and followers, but never from the peoples themselves, for they are fundamentally opposed to wars, discord and unfreedom, etc.

32. The whole thing was based on the recognition that forms of government based on parliaments and parties or on despotism, dictatorship or republics etc. are contrary to any true democracy and are a fraud against the peoples because they are deceived by untenable promises, propaganda and lies etc.

33. This is how our forefathers took as their starting point what has survived to this day and confirms our true form of democracy, that when the peoples have to make their own decisions under their own responsibility, their true and uninfluenced opinions are brought to bear.

...

49. This is what we Plejaren are deeply aware of, that no form of government of any kind can ever represent the peoples, but only representations of the people as determined by the peoples.

50. This realization was used by our ancestors to build a true democracy encompassing all peoples.

51. Only a representation of the people for the people is democratic, whereas a representation is a fraud.

52. And it was only through the recognition of this fact by our forefathers that the instrument of democracy could be brought into being and all the problems which had constantly led to popular discontent, as well as to discord, lack of freedom and, in many cases, also to uprisings, revolutions and war, as well as to immense destruction, could be solved.

53. In this way, all-encompassing people's democracies were created and realised on our worlds, putting an end to all despotic and dictatorial forms of government and rulers etc., and giving all power only to the peoples and implementing it through elected leaders of the people.

54. And this has proved its worth, according to the earthly sense of mankind, for more than 52,000 years, and consequently there have never been any more uprisings, revolutions, popular discontent or small or large wars since then.

55. Thus our distant ancestors as a whole have found the final solution to all political problems on all our worlds and have shown all peoples the way out of the path of the dictatorial rulers and ruled and into a true democracy based solely on the extensive power of the people, without representatives or substitutes.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_541

Billy:

... how is it with regard to friendships and enmities with you Plejaren, as well as with regard to Gewalt and coercion? ...

Ptaah:

28. Hostilities and enmities and ausartende outcoming effects in the sense that Gewalt and coercion arise, such as is the case with the Earth-humans, do not appear, at least amongst our Plejaren people.

29. If necessary, we answer Gewalt and coercion with logical Gewalt (force), but never in the sense that life is endangered.

30. And that is the case even if an attacking Gewalt or coercion would be directed against us, because we combat such ausartende Gewalt-activities in the extreme case without life-endangering arms, through which the antagonists are incapacitated only through fine-spiritual perceptionlessness-making, i.e. through anesthetization.

31. This, however, has no longer been necessary for thousands of years.

32. However, this only applies for our own Plejaren peoples, because it's different within our diverse Federation, however and in no case is it so bad, as it is among the Earth-humans with their killing, murder and destruction.

33. Naturally, even with us Plejaren there is resentment, irritation, malice and bitterness, and so forth, because from these, no human beings nature is immune, however with us these unvirtues are kept within limits and get badly out of the control of the good human nature, in no case.

34. Without exception, such virtuelessness holds only a short time, a few days at most, after which, intellect and rationality, honour, dignity, compassion and mutual benevolence again prevail and return to normalcy.

35. However, hostileness, enmities and effects of the getting badly out of the control of the good human nature, never come to prominence.

36. This finds the reasoning herein because with us, already from early childhood, through an ample education, an ample virtuousness as well as the logical mastery of thought-feeling-based and emotional impulsations and working them out, is learned from personal discord.

37. This speaks to the fact therefore that no enemies or any other similar forms also appear, with the winning of friends, because this would contradict our ethics and logic.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_542

Billy:

... But now my next question, which I have to put forward: It concerns you, the Plejaren, and your federates: You Plejaren are also active in your Federation for the spreading of the 'Teaching of Truth, Teaching of Spirit, Teaching of Life', and I would like to ask how far you are trying to go in this respect and whether your Federation is also involved?

Ptaah:

49. Our Plejaren spiritual leaders and other sages are active in teaching the lessons of our Plejaren Federation to the peoples, but only as far as is desired, because we too are subject to the missionary condition of not missionizing.

50. And what we do with regard to the peoples of our Federation, their spiritual leaders and other sages also do in the same way with regard to foreign peoples of the world, if they have them under their care or if new contacts are established with them.

51. There are also human beings who call themselves proclaimers and prophets of their own accord, namely when they have knowledge of the doctrine or knowledge of future events, which is why there is also talk of prophesying and prophethood, because future things are prophesied or spoken as a warning respectively as a possibility for the future.

52. In this way the teaching spreads into all the vastness of the universe, but there must always be a precondition that the teaching is desired, which is not always the case, because as a rule, even among the peoples of other worlds, traditional beliefs are prescribed, from which the believers can only free themselves with difficulty.

53. The infamous and deceitful as well as infiltrating missionary work, by which the human beings are misled and persuaded to believe, as it is done by the earthly religions and sects, is absolutely forbidden.

54. If the human beings want to turn to teaching, this must be done in their own interest, as well as out of their own decision and of their own free will, and without infiltrating influence.

55. In small groups etc. there is always an interest in the teaching of Nokodemion, and therefore it can and may be taught in this respect, after which larger groups of other interested people are formed when they recognise the changes for the better and good of those who begin to live and act according to the teaching.

56. This is how the teaching spreads.

57. But also in this respect any kind of missionary work is excluded.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_547

Ptaah:

19. However, in 1995, when we dissolved our stations on Earth, the danger still existed.

20. According to our calculations of probability, from that time on there was the impending possibility that we Pleiar peoples could have been drawn into a war.

21. As we explained to you at that time – to which we obliged you to remain silent – an attack on Earth could have taken place, namely by a large armada of space planes of a planet-wide dictatorially led and warlike multi-ethnic state from the same space-time structure from which we Plejaren also come.

22. These peoples, who did not belong to the Plejaren Federation, were very warlike and conquest-addicted in nature, similar to Earth-humans.

23. They had been constantly fighting with their own races for more than 1,700 years, and at that time they were about to penetrate the space-time structure of the DERN universe through their space technology, on the same path that also gives us the possibility to enter this dimension, where the Milky Way galaxy and therefore also the SOL system and Earth are located.

24. With us, the Plejaren, these peoples maintained constant and contentious contacts, and often warlike actions were also threatened, because the dictatorial powers of the planetary multi-ethnic state called 'Hardem' were constantly trying to invade and conquer the Plejaren worlds.

25. As a result, we had to be on constant defensive alert to these peoples – while also keeping our secrets, which were related to many things of our technology and which we had to protect – in order to protect ourselves against these ever-present aggressors.

26. But through infamous machinations they managed to get hold of the technology regarding the possibility of breaking through into other space-time structures, so they learned to master them in the course of time and also gained knowledge regarding the DERN-space-time structure and the Milky Way as well as the SOL system and the Earth.

27. Then, however, about 95 Earth years ago, a completely different form of government was introduced and other rulers came to power, more peace-loving, but still subject to the urge for war and conquest, but to a somewhat lesser extent than the dictatorial rulers.

28. Consequently, they tried to join our Plejaren Federation, but they were denied the possibility of being admitted, with the possibility of being admitted if they would give up all their warlike conduct and make peace in every respect, which they were not prepared to do

29. In 1918, through some unpleasant events, they learned of our efforts in the SOL system and on Earth, in terms of Earth years, so that from then on they tried to come into this space-time continuum and to Earth, which we always managed to prevent.

30. Then, however, from the terrestrial year 1977 on, new technical possibilities arose for the 'Hardem', which again increased the danger that they could attack Plejaren areas and also advance into the SOL system to Earth.

31. According to our probability calculations, this could have been the case from 1995 on, which is why we Plejaren were advised to stay away from Earth at that time, in order to avoid getting involved in warlike actions with earthly-military armies and the 'Hardem', because our directives prohibit such actions on foreign worlds.

32. So if the Hardem had attacked, we should not have done anything about it.

33. This is also because otherwise there would have been serious conflicts with our Plejaren Federation in the form of a very vicious war with the 'Hardem' on their homeworld.

34. So the only option was to withdraw from Earth, but we tried – as we had done for many decades – to negotiate with the Hardem and to dissuade them from their craft of war.

35. In the end, it became generally accepted on 'Hardem' that a large group of people had an objective interest in the matter and that this led to a planet-wide overthrow of power, by which all dictatorial rulers – who had all united to form a common world dictatorship – were driven out and executed by armies accustomed to war and violence.

36. In 1996, the whole thing actually led to the new rulers coming to their senses and taking care not to allow any more power-hungry people to emulate any kind of war and also to dissuade their peoples from the art of war.

37. Through us and our allies in the federation we have been advising the 'Hardem' ever since, so that the war-loving peoples could also be pacified.

38. Through our and our Federation's efforts and the manifold assistance provided, the peoples have been taught how to live peacefully and will also continue to do so.

39. This has been going on since 1996, and fortunately the 'Hardem' are making a very serious effort to grow into a completely new way of life, which in just 16 years has led to the 'Hardem' being incorporated into our Plejaren Federation protection and thus becoming a candidate for our Plejaren Federation.

...

45. Although the 'Hardem' do not yet belong to the Plejaren Federation, they are under its protection, which ensures that they are no longer a threat.

...

Billy:

... But what interests me is this: You always speak of the 'Hardem' in a way that is also true of you Plejaren. You call yourselves Plejaren and your homeworlds also Plejaren. Is it the same with the 'Hardem', if they do not call themselves 'Hardemer' or similar, but as 'Hardem', equally also their world?

Ptaah:

47. That is indeed the case.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_559

Ptaah:

31. Very many of our people have learned the German language and are therefore learning the textbooks and the spiritual textbooks according to your German language, which you so excellently present.

32. For all those who do not know the German language, all your written works have been and will continue to be translated into our inter cosmic language, which is spoken by all our peoples without exception.

33. The only exceptions to this are in the area of the outer federation, where this language is also very widespread.

34. The intercosmic Kosan and our erranic language Errin as well as our Plejaren language Sarat are based on our very old original language, which – as you know – is the real origin of the old German and therefore of the German language of today.

35. All our languages are therefore equated with German in every term and word, so there is no difference in this respect.

36. This means that every term and word in the German language has absolutely the same meaning and value in all our languages.

37. Consequently, there is no difference in this respect.

...

Billy:

But super smart people always think that Swiss-German is a German dialect.

Ptaah:

40. This is evidence of insufficient knowledge, because our highly educated language scholars probably know this better than better-knowing and in this respect uneducated Earth-humans.

Billy:

I am sure you are right. Unfortunately, there are many know-it-alls on Earth who put false information into the world and thereby spread misinformation.

Ptaah:

41. Such an action is not possible with us, because there is no such thing as know-it-all, because all knowledge is only accepted as truth according to the effective reality and its facts.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_560

Ptaah:

65. He {Quetzal} was particularly affected by all this because the care and maintenance of bushes and trees is one of his great passions, which he cultivates with great dedication in his three own bush and tree plantations on Erra.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_565

Ptaah:

62. But the fact that the four groups unknown to us are active worldwide, as you say, and in many ways, is an absolutely undeniable fact.

63. And what the sense and purpose of their actions are, that is just as unknown to us as whether they are of earthly, future-earthly or extraterrestrial origin.

64. We are also not interested in that, because it is not in any of our tasks to get in contact with them or to find out their origin.

Billy:

So many observations, things, and strange occurrences can be traced back not only to the former 'Ashtar Sheran' group, but also to these four groups?

Ptaah:

65. It was never mentioned, but only that many events and occurrences could be attributed to this 'Sheran group', from the hypnotic forced contacts to all kinds of unpleasant happenings and strange occurrences.

Billy:

Of course. But now it is finally clear that the four groups, unknown to you, are very active in different ways. But the question is, will you continue to ignore them and will you also continue to protect yourselves against sight and detection from them?

Ptaah:

66. Yes, that is clearly the case, because we are not interested in any contact with them.

67. And since our latest clarifications and findings, we are now also absolutely sure that these four groups have no knowledge of our real existence.

68. This, if we dispense with unclear assumptions, which are perhaps or even very likely, because your activity with regard to the dissemination of the contact conversation reports has probably not remained hidden from them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_571

Billy {in response to a question from Michael Horn}:

In my opinion, Platonic love, even if it is related to a very close friendship, is based on a pure illusion, because in the case of a very close friendship both the woman and the man have almost inevitably erotic feelings for each other in their thoughts and feelings. So this is really to be understood in the case of very close and deep friendship relationships which go far beyond normal and everyday interpersonal friendships, which cannot necessarily be measured by the same standard of eroticism as so-called everyday friendships. Even in the case of everyday, normal, open friendships which do not fall into the realm of very close and deep friendship, erotic impulses are not necessarily excluded under certain circumstances, because the human being's sexual drive is quite naturally predetermined and cannot simply be denied, even if many human beings deny this fact with regard to their own personality and therefore say the untruth about it.

...

Ptaah:

13. What you say is absolutely correct, and that I should say something in addition from our Plejaren point of view is something I would like to do with pleasure, whereby in this regard I would of course like to express our Plejaren insights, which are not only valid for us Plejaren, but universally and thus also for Earth-humans:

14. Platonic love, as it is generally understood by Earth-humans, is illusory and cannot be translated into reality, because very close and deep intersex friendships according to Platonic philosophy are problematic in every respect and not free of eroticism, and are also contrary to nature.

15. On the contrary, there is also genuine open friendship between men and women, as well as between women and women and men and men, but the same rules sometimes apply to eroticism in this respect as well as to erotic impulses.

16. In such genuine and open friendships, however, different conditions prevail than in much closer and deeper friendships, which are understood to be platonic friendships, because in genuine open friendships there is a respectful and often shy distance between the human beings, which disappears when the friendship is very close and deep.

17. In close friendships, if these are considered platonic according to Plato, eroticism is therefore inevitable and always more or less always present, even if this is only in thoughts and feelings, in dreams or daydreams and imaginations as well as wishes.

18. So there is always the lurking fact of situations where a so-called close platonic friendship suddenly turns into a sexual love, be it effective, in terms of thought and emotion, as a result of dreaming, imagining or desires and fantasies, etc.

19. In any case, however, this already corresponds to a breach of the Platonic principle, as misunderstood by Earth-humans, because they understand Platonic love to be a love of friendship without sexual acts.

20. Platonic love in the sense of Earth-humans therefore corresponds to a pure utopia.

21. The reason for this is the erotic ulterior motives, ideas and desires which are not only related to men but also to women, whereby both sexes assume romantic thoughts and feelings, which are decisive factors in the game of sexual ideas and desires etc.

22. If this is disputed, however, then it is either that a man or woman wants to present himself or herself 'more pure' and better than the truth, and is therefore lying, or the truth about his or her own erotic impulses is suppressed and not acknowledged, which is also a lie.

23. According to our ancient knowledge, which is also confirmed again and again today in all our federal areas, women and men of all ages judge independently of each other the fact that the erotic attraction itself consists in every good, pure, deep and close friendship relationship.

24. In all relationships oriented towards forms of friendship, it is also clearly evident that as a rule it is not a certain attractiveness of the human beings that is the main focus, but the relationship in terms of the love connection.

25. Women and men are equally attracted to their 'good friends' and 'girlfriends' and feel romantically and erotically desirable to each other.

26. Other relationships with fellow human beings also play a role, depending on whether they are peaceful, offensive, alienating or crisis-ridden.

27. There are also many reasons in the evolution of consciousness, as well as in true knowledge and wisdom.

28. It follows that, in practice, sexual attraction between the sexes is an undeniable fact of life, except in the case of misogyny, which tends to be based on hatred, but which may not prevent the appearance of sexual impulses which are also given room to develop, despite the hatred.

29. So it is a fact that eroticism is always present more or less as wishful thinking feelings, and sexual impulses of all kinds cannot be avoided even in the case of a close and so-called platonic and long-standing friendship.

30. This is the same with us, therefore erotic relationships can also be cultivated in an honourable way in pure close and long lasting friendships, without the need for a real marriage alliance between two human beings, be it between woman and man, man and man or woman and woman.

31. It is natural for a man to be focused on grasping a possible sexual opportunity because he is naturally reproductively oriented.

32. The women, on the other hand, are naturally conceptive beings, who are equally classified as men with regard to erotic impulses.

33. The woman is, however, somewhat more selective than the man with regard to her sex partners, which is due to evolutionary biology on the one hand and also to her greater sensitivity, although the man is less sensitive to this.

34. From the fact that the erotic impulses between the two sexes are lived out, it follows that the respective genus is preserved.

35. However, the human being, who is evolutionarily much more highly developed than any animal or creature form and who also has a conscious life of consciousness, thus acts consciously and no longer in pure form instinctively like the animals and the creatures.

36. This also enables him to cultivate erotic thoughts and feelings and to control the corresponding impulses according to his own needs and will, and also to live them out, without the need to procreate offspring.

37. So he can pursue his sexual life out of pure lust and pleasure in the matter as well as with regard to the sexual urge, which, if everything is correct, is not detrimental to him, but on the contrary gives him psycho-physical satisfaction and health.

38. If man and woman are considered in relation to polygamy, as is the case with us Plejaren and also in various ways with Earth-humans and peoples of other worlds, then a man can mate with several women for procreation, whereas a woman can normally be mated with only one man.

39. This is our justification for our polygamy in the way that a man can lead matrimonial alliances with several women, whereby we act in accordance with the creative-natural laws and commandments.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_572

Billy:

... Surrealism is therefore based on something completely imaginary, imagined, illusory, deceptive, deceptive, and on something strange and utopian, unreal, intangible and unreal. In my opinion, the whole thing has nothing to do with fantasy. What is your opinion?

Ptaah:

32. Surrealism really has nothing to do with fantasy, but with pathologically unreal and imaginative, illusory ideas, which in a certain sense show unreal forms of delusional structures.

33. The whole of surrealism thus corresponds to something unreal, confused and erroneously alien to reality, which is a sign that the human being, who is temporarily or permanently addicted to surrealism, lives in a completely abnormal world of thoughts and feelings, which he cannot reconcile with reality and thus behaves towards it in one of the many forms of outsiderhood.

34. This corresponds to a certain pathologically absurd, confused thought behaviour which cannot be reconciled with a really healthy combination of real ideas about reality.

35. With regard to the human beings who create surrealistic things, such as so-called 'works of art' etc., or who are also only temporarily addicted to surrealistic ideas, they are unstable with regard to reality, and therefore, at least in certain moments, openly break through a certain unreal and unworldly reality and unfamiliarity with the world in terms of ideas, thoughts and imagination.

Billy:

Does that also exist with you?

Ptaah:

36. No, this phenomenon is only known to us from Earth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_576

Billy:

On the 2nd of November, during a private conversation you told me that you had received new techniques from the Sonaern that might give you better insights into the four groups that operate around Earth.

Ptaah:

70. That is correct, but I cannot talk about it in detail, because I have to keep silence about the exact activities and processes as well as the details of the new technology – at least officially.

71. We ourselves have been reluctant for some time now, as a result of disinterest, to investigate the background and existence of the four groups.

72. In September of this year, however, something special happened which made it necessary for us to take another look at the four groupings, or at one of them in particular.

73. This prompted us to look for technical aids from Asket's friends, the Sonaern, in order to get to the bottom of the particularities we had noticed.

74. As a result, during the last month, with the means made available to us by the Sonar people, we have carried out in-depth investigations and have thus obtained important information about those particular aspects of the grouping to which we were particularly interested.

75. As a result of our investigations in this regard, we have been able to clearly establish that the grouping in our interest is not of terrestrial origin, but is in fact Earth-foreigners.

76. With the new Sonaer technology, we were also able to penetrate the materials of their round, triangular and boomerang-like flying apparatuses and use special equipment and devices to get inside their flying apparatuses, without them being able to register this.

77. In this way, we gained knowledge of the life-forms themselves inside their flying apparatus, and also of their technology, which is still inadequate compared with ours.

78. We were also able to take a look at records which provided us with a lot of interesting information, also in this respect that it has been impossible up to now for the Earth-foreigners to locate or otherwise recognise our Plejaren flying machines.

79. So we have remained unknown to these strangers to this day, which will remain so, because we continue to shield ourselves and do not wish to have contact with them, as our directives also prohibit us from doing, as a result of certain serious negative observations we have been able to make about this species.

80. Our linguists were also able to decipher the language and written language of the Earth-foreigners in less than 9 days, which also allowed us to gain extensive knowledge.

81. We were also helped in this by tiny recording devices which we were able to beam into the interior of the foreign flying apparatus, which provided us with a great deal of interesting information and which could also not be registered by the foreigners because their technology in this respect is still extremely deficient.

82. In the end we were also able to determine the origin of the Earth-foreigners, so that we now know where this group is going, or from where it came to Earth and continues to come here.

83. I am not allowed to say more about this.

...

85. We also know from our investigations and studies that these Earth-foreigners are not able to penetrate our space-time-structure.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_578

Billy:

... Should I assume according to this declaration that it can be dangerous to get in contact with any Earth-foreigners or aliens? To find contact to extraterrestrials, that is what the Earthlings have been trying to do for decades, especially through the SETI programme, in which a probe with information about the Earth and the Earthly humanity was shot out into space.

Ptaah:

57. I know this, and it is effectively a profound stupidity of the earthly scientists responsible for it, because it cannot be foreseen what kind of Earth-foreigners will be when they get hold of the SETI-probe.

58. Civilizations of foreign planets, both in the Milky Way and in other galaxies, are not necessarily peaceful-minded and are conquering other habitats or worlds they colonize in war.

59. And yet, among these conquerors there are often quite barbaric beings who are in no way inferior to the Earth-humans in terms of similar machinations, as they are peculiar to them, if religious mania and sectarianism are left out of the equation, for in this form we know of no Earth-foreigners who have degenerated in terms of religious sectarian belief as the majority of Earth-humans.

60. Therefore it is particularly stupid and irresponsible what was started with the SETI programme, because if one day the probe falls into the wrong hands, it can become quite bad for the earthly humanity and lead to disaster.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_582

Billy:

... I would like to know regarding how you yourself takes care to behave when a death occurs and at the same time something festive. At the same time, I want to ask, how do you handle it when a friendship of a person very close to you is laid to the last rest, but at the same time a celebration is also pending, for example a marriage or engagement in one's own family, such as of one's own children, as well as the relatives. What do you Plejaren consider as an overriding obligation, an engagement or marriage or the last honours acknowledgements with regard to the deceased person who is laid to rest?

Ptaah:

7. What you call as a precedential duty is understood and maintained by us in such a way that, first and foremost a deceased human being in their bedding of rest, as you bring forth the sensitive expression, is offered their last respects and appreciation.

8. This goes before all festivities of any kind, indeed even if such arises in one's own family, therefore if a laying to rest is pending at the same time as a marriage of one's own children, for example.

9. If the parents or one parent stand in a close, honest friendship connection with a human being and he or she dies, then it must be implicit that the last honours acknowledgements and appreciation stands as first duty and priority with the laying to rest, whereas the festivity of a marriage will be left out of the attention, even of one's own children and relatives.

10. We are not acquainted with a betrothal celebration, as you maintain such, because with us such an action goes forth without celebration, because when two human beings provisionally join together for a communality of living in order to later unite in an open or closed bond, then that is done in a simple wise.

11. Our mentality as well as customs and traditions, necessitate that without exception everything is handled as I have explained, and indeed this applies for all our Erran peoples.

...

Ptaah:

16. Our folks are all living in a democracy, of the freedom and of the peace, so therefore no comparison can be drawn to what is happening on the Earth.

...

22. Furthermore, it must be said that our system knows a world government, which demands general democratic forms by all countries and peoples, as well as that of absolute peace and freedom for the people and the individual human must prevail and that therefore no war or other hostile acts may take place one against the other.

23. Furthermore an absolutely free circulation of goods and persons on the whole of Erra is given, wherein regarding this extreme care is taken that no flora or fauna seeds or even plants, as well as any fauna forms of life are transported from one region to another, as unfortunately the opposite is the case on the earth through the stupid and irrational globalization, by which originates much damage and wherethrough all sorts of coming calamities are yet to be wrought.

24. So there is no border customs for persons and wares with us on Erra, and every human being can freely go anywhere to wherever he or she wants, without being controlled by officials, and so on.

25. Now, even though everything is free and open, every country's territory has its own territorial boundaries, which are respected in complete uniformity by all peoples and not violated.

26. Each country and nation governs itself in spite of the world government, and indeed independently according to their own customs and traditions, wherein no regulations of the global governance are given, because this is only authorized to ensure that our world's system of values is preserved with regard to peace and freedom and for the legislation of the planet as also with regard to the dealings with the governments and peoples of other planets.

27. Regarding the regular and special legislations for all the necessities of everyday life and of the life, this is nation-wide and peoples-wide (internationally) uniform throughout and directed to absolute humanity, justice and equality for all human beings, so therefore only a single identical legislation and applicable law is laid down worldwide and is valid for all human beings.

28. So, laws and ordinances cannot be bent ...

29. And as for the intermingling between our peoples, it must be said that such occurs only in rare cases, in the wise when members of different peoples enter into bonds with one another, which however is actually extremely rare.

30. The rule is that the individual peoples and the prevalent ethnic groups in these dwell amongst themselves and therefore neither mix nor change their customs and traditions through other cultural influences.

31. This helps that each ethnic group's own system of health and all their characteristics are preserved, which contributes to the fact that diseases no longer appear, or even if, then only very rarely.

32. The whole issue of this non-mixing of peoples also contributes in that no diseases and epidemics are carried about, as well as one peoples part doesn't clash into some troubles with another ones, either with regard to foreignness or race nor concerning goods, products or language, etc.

33. Since, as a rule, the members of a peoples remain amongst themselves – with only very few exceptions in very rare intermingling partnerships – also no mixing-of-peoples and foreign-hostile and race-hostile conflicts arise with other peoples or between families and neighbours etc.

34. And what is also extremely important, is the fact that we know not of religions and sects, as well as not of different political parties and orientations.

35. All Plejaren-Erran nations are solely and equally inclined to the creational-natural laws and recommendations, which are taught by the spiritual leadership.

36. Consequently, with us Plejaren there is neither religious- nor sect-hatred, nor religious or sectarian cult-activities, rites, or any other such sectarian hostilities.

37. Finally, what is still very important to say, is the fact that there is not any prostitution in all our peoples in accordance with their entire cultural behaviour and as a result of the legislation, such as regarding the turning to the creational-natural laws and recommendations.

38. Everything is so regulated with us with regard to the democratic determinations of the people, that all peoples, i.e. their populations are information-technology connected with the centre of the world government as well as with the respective peoples-authority, which itself works out, on the one hand, agenda items as well as proposals from the authorities of the people or individual persons proposals, and puts these up for the evaluation and vote of all populations.

39. Regarding this, all peoples i.e. their populations are requested, three hours before a vote i.e. before a ballot, as you say in the given situation, to be present for a ballot for a certain period of time at the corresponding devices or those several which are mounted in public everywhere and in dwellings for voting operations.

40. The accrued matter which is brought to a vote, will then firstly be officially announced just three hours after the populations are present at the ballot devices.

41. The announcing of the ballot agenda item – which is always handled just a single item per time – takes place in such a wise that not only will all advantages be named and explained in detail, but also all of the disadvantages.

42. Only after this, when all the facts of the positives and negatives are cited, begins the period of the considering and reconsidering of the ballot agenda item put forward, for which a period of around 30 minutes – according to your terms of time – is set, while the human beings of all populations can electronically make known their position i.e. a yes or no, which of course will be automatically registered and tallied up.

43. In this wise, it is given that no gatherings of people can take place, in order to bring about a mass persuasion, therefore all persons voting must make their own opinion known.

44. All accrued election agenda items of any kind are handled in this wise, and indeed also with regard to an appointing of persons in the world government and the peoples authorities.

45. Additionally it must still be said, that the world government and the authorities are no more and no less than merely democratic representatives of the people.

46. These exercise only the supervision with regard to the compliance with the laws and regulations as well as the decisions of the indigenous peoples, together with their corresponding assigned forces of order, whereby however, they have no self-determining Gewalt, because the determination of all concerns and things is situated solely in the might of the planetary or national population.

47. The world government and the peoples authorities must therefore never act otherwise, as this is determined by the planetary or national population.

Billy:

Then the whole thing is based on a kind of internet? How does it stand, however, when crises and emergencies arise that require a quick decision and a prompt action?

Ptaah:

48. According to your understanding, you can call the whole thing as such.

49. And when a crisis or an emergency arises, which then requires a quick decision and a prompt action, then the whole planetary population or each relevant population of the people is called to the voting machines, namely in the form of a general mobilization alarm call, where only one hours time will be given for that to become active.

50. Then every person has the right to duly raise comments, which are heard and discussed, from which ultimately a logical decision must come forth, which is then put to the vote.

51. However, such situations are more than extremely rare, consequently a last such mobilization dates back two decades.

Billy:

However, if such a case of a mobilization occurs, then that can perhaps take a long time until something is well-regulated?

Ptaah:

52. Such can actually take up much time, whereby however, crises and emergencies are extremely rare, as I said a little while ago.

Billy:

And who leads and then directs the whole thing in such situations? And generally what is the nature of such crises and emergency situations?

Ptaah:

53. When it comes to planetary matters, they are carried out and handled by the spiritual leadership familiar with the matter, and in collaboration with the world government and the world's population.

54. When it just concerns matters pertaining to a country, then the authorities of the peoples concerned and the corresponding populations are needed.

55. And concerning the crisis and emergency situations, these can be very different, such as e.g. regarding a tactical intervention, if such is demanded from a region of a people or an entire planet of the Plejaren Federation.

56. Even extensive relief operations in one or more peoples, or even a whole planet of the Federation may be possible, such as in the case of threatening dangers from outer space or with natural disasters, and so on.

Billy:

Then with regard to Erra, actually there are seen more external i.e. extra-planetary situations, than just those that apply to Erra and its population?

Ptaah:

57. This is the case, yes, because on Erra we have reported, for as long as anyone can remember, no more crises and emergency situations, neither with regard to natural events nor with respect to the population.

Billy:

How nice if that would also be the case on the Earth. But if I gather correctly from your words, then at the very least not everyone in the Plejaren Federation stands in such a high level of development as you Plejaren, or am I wrong here? Is there in the Federation perhaps still peoples who are somehow unpeaceful and make trouble?

Ptaah:

58. You are not wrong, because although we Plejaren are making great efforts, federation-wide, to keep everything in a peaceful form, various Federation peoples are still deplorably devoted to unpeacefulness and thus also armed confrontations, which sometimes requires, yet only rarely however, our intervention.

59. However, any intervention on our part must firstly be approved by a consent of the total population of the Plejaren, wherein the pros and cons will extensively be discussed and weighed out, as our democratic vote formulas demand this.

60. The reconnaissance work regarding this is carried out by specialized spiritual guides and law enforcement forces, which also have the corresponding forward-looking capabilities in order to predict what will result as effects from the causes, which are taken.

Billy:

And how about it, when lots of folks come forward for a word, is there not a mess? And when I think that the entire world population gets in on the act, then ...

Ptaah:

61. Much attention is taken to ensure that order prevails and therefore no Ausartungen comes forth.

62. Therefore in each case it is carefully handled and spoken, whereby no excessive chatter arises and the individuals who have something to say, will not be interrupted if their objections and contributions are pertinent and correspond to the rationality.

63. Thereby the rule applies that only short and concise objections, clarifications and suggestions, as well as the listing of possibilities and necessary actions and so forth will be made.

64. Those fond of speaking, who want to run the speech-marathons, there are indeed those unfortunately, but every such word-barrage is interrupted and the word is passed on to the next person who has something to bring forward.

65. The fact that several people talk together, this is not permitted, therefore regarding this, there is no mayhem.

66. Therefore it may well take several hours or two or more days under certain circumstances, before a promising rational solution comes about and to a vote, which is useful and gives enough consideration to the crisis at hand or the emergency problem.

Billy:

With us one says, long speech, short sense. Unfortunately, with the running of long speeches without actually saying something substantial, this is also the case with us on the earth in politics. This is also expressed in our group every now and then, because similarly not everything is perfect with us. Some humans just like to hear themselves talk. But it is gratifying to hear that this problem occurs not only with some of our group members as well as with the politicians and people of our earthly peoples, but in your population as well. If I now understand correctly, then it is with you in such discussions of voting, commitment and action, since around such it is indeed my opinion, therefore no joyful chattering, but given the opportunity, only reasonable words, statements, action requirements and modes of behaviour.

Ptaah:

67. That is so.

68. Each speech marathon will be stopped, and any problems at hand of any kind must be quickly, well and efficiently handled and supplied a solution.

69. Therefore nothing should be pushed onto the back burner, as you tend to say at times.

...

Billy:

... If I have understood correctly, then one could understand the whole of your democracy similarly to a democratic rural community, as we still have this in Switzerland in the cantons of Glarus and Appenzell, whereby beforehand, regarding the election process, no propaganda, i.e. advertising for a matter may be made, as this is however the case elsewhere than the mentioned rural communities in Switzerland. So that with you no mass persuasion can take place, as also no gathering of people can take place, as you had said, being that the election agenda is called only a short time before the elections open. And since the time for the election is only 30 minutes, and so each person is practically situated only by themselves and with their own opinion, no nationwide and partisan election propaganda can take place. Also as a result, no party system and no party dictatorship can take place, and I find that fair, good and democratic.

Ptaah:

72. That is correct.

73. We handle a direct democracy in this wise, which in every respect prescribes that neither the world government nor the authorities of the countries and their peoples may take any of their own decisions nor make regulations, unless the entire planet's population has decided about that based on a ballot and has considered something as right.

74. As I explained, all countries i.e. their populations have a uniform legislation, valid planet-wide and a determination of might, as well as with regard to all other things that uniformly affect all peoples.

75. If the authorities are elected in a nation, then this of course pertains only to the nation, i.e. its population, although the voting process remains the same, as if a planet-wide vote takes place.

Billy:

So only the people can determine who belongs to the peoples-authority or to the world government?

Ptaah:

76. This is indeed so, because such a process of a direct democracy corresponds solely in this wise.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_584

Billy:

... How do you feel about neutrality?

Ptaah:

22. We cultivate it in a very serious way.

Billy:

But what is it like in relation to your Federation?

Ptaah:

23. On all the worlds of our Federation the same laws, rights and regulations apply, both to the world governments of the different worlds and to the governments of the people.

24. Our Plejaren World Government is the guideline for all other world governments, as it is also the case for the governments of the people.

25. No world government, as well as no people's government, which you call e.g. cantonal or district and municipal government etc., interferes in any way in the interests of others, because they maintain neutrality throughout.

Billy:

On the 1st of March you said that you Plejaren on other worlds of your Federation are entitled to intervene in emergency situations or in the maintenance of order etc.; what about your neutrality?

Ptaah:

26. Interventions are only made according to established treaties with the different worlds, but such interventions do not mean more than assistance, which, above all, is only given when it is demanded by the majority of the respective world population.

Billy:

By aid I mean aid that is really only aimed at doing the best possible for the benefit of the respective populations. I also understand that this does not mean going to arms, but really only providing assistance. But what is it like when situations and events of violence occur on any world of your Federation?

Ptaah:

27. Then these are matters which have to be settled by the respective forces of order of the respective Federation worlds, and this in a way which corresponds to non-Gewalt (note Billy: non-Gewalt means: active use without harmful Gewalt).

28. In such things – if such things arise at all, which is extremely rare – we Plejaren have no authority to interfere and become action-oriented.

29. If, however, a decision is made by the respective world population to provide mediatory and advisory assistance, then we may of course become active in this way.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_585

Billy:

... This 3D printing technology, is it in any way comparable to your multi-cold duplicators, multi-duplicators, replicators, or whatever you want to call them, machines or devices?

Ptaah:

27. No, not at all, because it corresponds to a completely different technique than our duplicators, as you call these devices.

28. These 3D-printers need various material materials to produce any kind of objects etc., so they are still a rather primitive technology and therefore no comparison can be made with our duplicators.

29. Our devices do not need any material materials, because their basic material for the production of all utility and other objects, as well as machines, flying apparatus and residential buildings etc. etc., we obtain from the spheres of planets as well as directly from the space of the universe, whereby we extract the necessary substances from the inexhaustible cosmic sea of electrons and generate the necessary matter from the electrons, in order to then duplicate all conceivably necessary products from them by means of programmed templates.

...

Billy:

My question is not just about wild animals that you do not hunt, but also about all other animals and all the creatures. You are also producing meat through your multipliers, which, as I mentioned in the extract, is equivalent to animal meat. This synthetic meat, on the one hand, is it made up of animal protein and all the other substances that animal meat has, and on the other hand, is it also possible for you to synthetically generate different kinds of meat from animals and from creatures and also their meat taste?

Ptaah:

30. That is of course the case.

Billy:

Then another question on this: Do you kill any animals at all, as well as reptiles, fish, birds and other animal creatures?

Ptaah:

31. We Plejaren respect and protect all life of every genus and species, so we do not kill animals, creatures or other living creatures for food, care or other purposes.

32. If, however, necessity should require it, which is practically impossible, that as a result of life-support and thus for the food of human beings, living beings would have to be killed, then these would only be very low animals and low animals etc.

Billy:

This is also known to me, but I wanted to hear it from you again. But what do you define in terms of low animals and low animals?

Ptaah:

33. The comparison with earthly low animals is not just any kind of animal or creature, but their size, which is estimated to correspond to a dwarf rabbit of earthly norm.

34. However, killing is only permitted if no other food source, such as fruits, vegetables and herbs etc., is available.

Billy:

You also keep pets, such as the Ulrak, which runs around Quetzal's compound. Quetzal also has cattle and horses, etc., which he has brought from Earth to Erra because he loves to play farmer in an earthly way and often sits in his log cabin, which he has built in an earthly style. When he is there – in fact, I had to laugh out loud when I saw him – and he is reading old earthly newspapers, he has glasses on, but they only contain window glass.

Ptaah:

35. He finds it very romantic, so he pursues this leisure activity in his leisure hours.

36. Many of the human beings on Erra, as well as in our whole Federation, also indulge in some kind of speciality which they cultivate in their leisure time.

Billy:

We call it a hobby. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_586

Billy:

Then I would like to talk about why you are not allowed to accept gifts from earthlings, because I am always being asked to give you, your daughter Semjase or Florena, etc. things. It is simply not to be understood that you are forbidden to do so because of the possible introduction of bacteria and viruses etc. into Erra. It is true that if you drink or eat chocolate with me, you will first have to neutralize it with your little device, and you will always be surrounded by your own personal shield, which will protect you from being infected by bacteria or viruses here on Earth.

It should not be forgotten that when you are with me, this shield also neutralises everything you come into contact with, including me.

Ptaah:

47. On the one hand our directives determine this in this way, on the other hand we have to protect ourselves from all the earthly influences which are harmful to our health, because the Earth is full of dangers for us with regard to bacteria and viruses etc.

48. So we must be extremely careful not to come into contact with any germs that are harmful to our health or in any other way, so as not to endanger our own health on the one hand, but also to ensure that we do not introduce dangerous germs into our flying apparatus or onto Erra and other of our worlds.

Billy:

But how is it that you used to bring all kinds of things from Earth to Erra?

Ptaah:

49. This required special permissions, whereby the things, as you call them, had to remain in quarantine for several months in specially equipped flying apparatus, where all objects, but also animals and creatures etc. were neutralised with regard to dangerous and harmful bacteria and viruses as well as vermin etc.

Billy:

You could also do that today, couldn't you?

Ptaah:

50. We could, but our directives prohibit it.

51. In special and important cases, exemptions can be granted, but these are very strictly weighed and are hardly ever granted anymore, because in the past very bad experiences were made by importing objects, animals and creatures etc. to Erra.

Billy:

Then it is also clear now that when we come together you make me neutralized by vibrations each time, so to speak, and harmless to you in terms of bacteria and viruses. I knew this from the first meeting with Semjase, because she told me in confidence, but if we are now talking openly about it, then this can also be said in the end.

Ptaah:

52. Which is nothing to object to.

Billy:

What else interests me about the exemptions, when things from other worlds want to be imported into Erra, to what extent are such exemptions granted, to which persons, and also for hobbies?

Ptaah:

53. In principle, all persons can apply for exceptional permits, which as a rule are also granted, although all security precautions must be taken and observed.

54. However, it is extremely rare that such applications are made, because there is no great need in our populations for things, objects and any goods from other worlds.

55. The interest is usually in things and goods that exist and are available on Erra.

56. If there is a need for goods which come from other worlds and which are of erra-planetary or erra-volcanic necessity, then these goods will be imported under the same security conditions as those which also apply to the extremely rare imports which are applied for by private individuals with exceptional permission.

Billy:

Quetzal and one of his friends have a hobby of terrestrial animals and vehicles. Are there others who have similar hobbies?

Ptaah:

57. This is not the case, as far as I know, because such incidents are registered by the world government, and no other person with the same hobby passions is mentioned in our records.

58. Nevertheless, there are persons who collect various things from other worlds and are passionately connected to them.

59. As I have said, this is very rare, because our people are more interested in our different cultures and all their connections to them than in things, objects and goods from other worlds.

Billy:

So, then, every human being has the right, when he wishes or wants, to obtain things and goods from other worlds.

Ptaah:

60. That is so, yes, but as I said before, such interests are extremely rare, because on Erra we have everything that the human beings and the entire population need.

Billy:

So the Errans are very frugal in this respect, but they are also frugal in other ways, aren't they?

Ptaah:

61. That is so.

62. Even if all Errans have everything possible at their disposal, they are also content with what is simply necessary for them.

Billy:

Which probably means that they do not overdo it in their demands, do not hoard and do not grab all kinds of things, even though everything is available to them in good measure at their whim?

Ptaah:

63. You said it.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_588

Billy:

Actually, it would be time to officially mention what you just pointed out, namely that you retrieve the answers to many of my questions etc. with your little device, just as your daughter Semjase and Quetzal also did whenever it was necessary to answer my questions.

Ptaah:

73. Actually, we have never talked openly about this, because there was never any reason to do so, but it is indeed the case that I – as well as my daughter and Quetzal – cannot always reproduce all the data etc. only from our memory, which is why we always call up the corresponding data when it is necessary to be able to answer your questions.

Billy:

But still you have a fabulous memory. But it is perhaps good that the readers of the contact reports now know that many of my questions have always been answered in the way that you retrieved them with your little device. But I would also like to know how it all works.

Ptaah:

74. With this little device I transmit your questions to my archive in my flying apparatus, where your words are automatically converted into the language of the archive at the moment of speaking, evaluated and at the same time the corresponding answer data is picked out and transmitted to me again, directly into my consciousness.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_590

Billy:

... Now a question regarding your {Quetzal's} Ulrak, is the animal male or female? Ptaah once told me that it is native to Erra.

Quetzal:

51. It is a female mammal, and in fact it is an animal native to Erra.

Billy:

You Plejaren do not keep pets in the same sense as earthlings, that is, that animals are kept in human living quarters. ...

...

And how is it with you, is it usual to keep animals or animals in enclosures, as for example with us on Earth, where especially dogs and cats, guinea pigs, mice, rats, hamsters, birds and fish are kept and given false love?

Quetzal:

53. This is not the case here, because all animal and gelatinous life-forms, as well as all other life-forms, live in the wild, where they may also have suitable stables and shelters, as you once called such buildings.

54. But this is only true when animals or creatures etc. are looked after by human beings, which is extremely rare.

Billy:

You are a hobby farmer with cattle that you brought from the Earth to Erra. So you have cows and of course from time to time also calves, besides bisons, buffalos and horses as well as various red deer etc. I have also seen chickens, geese, ducks and rabbits on your very large grounds used for this purpose, and apart from a few animals that you look after yourself, there are also some cows that you milk, as well as two horses that you sometimes ride, all others living completely free and wild. You are also often surrounded by your Ulrak, which has simply become accustomed to you without any special training or education, as you told me. But how big is, according to the earthly masses, the whole huge area of land, which you control with all the life-forms on it in many different genera and species and which is also partly cultivated by your androids?

Quetzal:

55. According to the masses known to you, the entire area is about 340 square kilometres, but my personal property per family is only one hectare, while the rest of the land belongs to the general public, but is made available to me for the purpose of keeping animals and other forms of life.

56. Some settled life-forms originate from Erra itself, others from the Earth or from other worlds unknown to you.

57. The whole area of the country is open and freely accessible to all persons from all over Erra, who are able to enjoy themselves in terms of their interests and through observations of the animals, animals, birds, reptiles, amphibians, fish and other living creatures, as well as the diverse plants, flowers, blossoms, trees, bushes and shrubs etc.

58. My large area of land in this respect is known all over Erra and corresponds to what you on Earth would call a national park.

Billy:

As you told me once before, none of the animals and creatures etc. are killed, nor are they used for food or in any other way. And you also said that hunting is not allowed either.

Quetzal:

59. That is of correctness.

60. All animals and all creatures etc., including those in the wild, may not be hunted or killed in our country, unless there is an emergency situation when an animal or creature living under human care is injured by some unfortunate circumstance to such an extent that it suffers terrible pain and is no longer viable.

61. In such a case it may be released from its suffering by killing.

62. Hunting is not permitted as a matter of principle, because every animal and creature stock etc. in the wild can and must regulate itself by its own laws.

Billy:

And predators and birds of prey, do you also have them? That is actually to be assumed. But what about the protection of the human beings from predators, especially when confrontations arise?

Quetzal:

63. That is of correct, because predators, beasts of prey and birds of prey etc. are natural regulators of all wildlife in the wild.

64. And since we do not interfere with our nature in any way through human activities, everything in the whole of Erra's wildlife is regulated in a normal, natural way, so no human intervention is necessary.

...

69. And what you ask about the protection of the human beings when they are confronted with predators and large birds of prey – our largest Erran birds of prey have a wingspan of six metres, while the largest predators have a total length of five metres – they are driven away by vibrational vibrations.

...

70. Our vibrating devices are absolutely reliable and when we go out into the wild and it is expected that predators, predators or dangerous birds of prey may be present in an area, each person carries an appropriate vibrating device.

71. This ensures all safety in connection with dangerous encounters and, as far as our records make clear, there has never been a dangerous confrontation between human beings and any predators, beasts of prey etc. or birds of prey for hundreds of years.

72. So we do not kill any animals, beasts of prey etc. or birds of prey either, because no dangerous extreme situations can arise between them and the human beings.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_612

Billy:

I wonder why you photographed the previous device {stack cutter} and now want to do it with the new one?

Ptaah:

53. The purpose is to archive all your equipment and machines necessary for you, the mission and for the construction and maintenance of the Centre, as well as for the management of fields, paths and forests.

54. We have also recorded the work with the equipment, devices and machines in action since the very beginning in the Center, both with all the group members and with you, when you were using the caterpillar machine. (note Billy: loader crawler for earthmoving with rear excavator) and the excavator, you have excavated the biotope and worked the pulpit lacquer and the garden with the tractor and the rotary cultivator (note Billy: rotary cultivator) and ploughed the snow with the snow plough (note Billy: snow plough) and the rotary cultivator has thrown away the snow.

55. All that we have photographed, we have of course presented to our peoples on Erra and also treated in public discussions, because the whole was completely foreign to our peoples, both in terms of earthly techniques, as well as your work with only one arm and your tireless commitment.

56. Our peoples could not imagine that, so the whole thing was only comprehensible to them by showing them the records.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_613

Ptaah:

25. But if you want to play chess with me now, Eduard, because I feel the need for it?

Billy:

Undoubtedly, dear friend. So let's play chess ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_619

Billy:

... And when I listen to your words, I think that on Erra you don't have all these problems regarding toxins in food, as is the case here on earth. This is precisely because I think that you do not apply any poisons and therefore no artificial fertilizers, pesticides and pest poisons to your food, such as berries, fruits, vegetables, herbs and fruit.

Ptaah:

135. Exactly, this is the case, because we only use natural substances that are purely vegetable and absolutely non-toxic for the environment, plants and animals and for humans in food cultivation and production.

136. On the other hand, we also produce a great deal of food through multi-duplicators, as you once called these devices, whereby the basic material for this type of food production are the all-pervasive and immeasurable masses of electrons from which anything can be produced.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_628

Billy:

... I explained to the listeners in the kitchen that you are carrying a tiny, millimetre-sized device with you, which has a vibration protection screen around you with a radius of action of about one meter, sphere of influence, half diameter, sphere of action, i.e. a diameter of two meters, which protects you on earth or on other foreign worlds etc. from bacteria and viruses, but also from insects and vermin, as well as from dirt, rain etc. and from any atmosphere. This protective umbrella, in which you are also given your own atmosphere, which I did not explain, allows you to embrace me or each other, allowing the umbrella to be squeezed imperceptibly to a fraction of a millimetre without being damaged in any way or ineffective for you as protection. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_645

Billy:

And what about you Plejaren with traffic accidents? You don't ride on roads with bike vehicles, you glide through the air with hovering vehicles?

Ptaah:

32. Our planetary airways are designed and secured in such a way that accidents caused by collisions, etc. are impossible, and consequently human lives are neither harmed nor lamented, nor is there any material damage to the hovering aircraft.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_646

Billy:

... As you have told me several times in the course of our conversations since 1975, the pear or avocado fruit was already genetically manipulated more than 13,500 years ago by extraterrestrials or by Plejaren immigrants in the tropical regions of Earth and called 'pear' by the people of that time, because the fruit was also used for feeding pigs. So there was a cultivation of naturally genetically modified avocados, which have been used as food by humans ever since. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_650

Ptaah:

16. First, the number of 144,000 people corresponds to a very early norm of a 'emigration power' created by Nokodemion, which was usually led by 228 commanders – although there were seldom small exceptions – who, together with the emigration power, were under the command of an emigration swiss.

17. Such emigration powers were volunteers who idealistically agreed to spend the rest of their lives with early humans on other worlds – as well as on Earth – in order to teach them many helpful things about life management and development.

18. For the first time, such an emigration force was sent out millions of years ago, followed by several more in four galaxies over all times, and thus also into the SOL system and finally to Earth.

19. The last one to Earth was sent according to earthly time calculation about 13,500 years ago, where the Nokodemion people emigrants on the one hand were to have an instructive effect on Earth-humans, which they partly did, but on the other hand caused for the most part many calamities, especially with regard to rising up as deities and bringing religions into being.

20. And they did so when they were smuggled into all earthly peoples and great tribal communities, whereby delusional beliefs in God developed among all peoples, tribes and groups etc. throughout the world, even among wild indigenous tribes.

21. This led to the emergence of religions and sects, which expanded more and more and have survived to the present day and into the third millennium, respectively, and will continue to do so for a very long time to come.

22. All those of these extraterrestrial immigrants who remained on Earth also died there, and since then their spiritual forms have also reincarnated and will continue to reincarnate on Earth, precisely in ever new personalities of newly born Earth-humans.

23. So the 144,000 emigrants and their superiors and leaders were integrated worldwide as instructors into all existing earthly peoples and large tribes as well as various groups in which they had to act as instructors.

24. And like I said:

25. Many also fulfilled this obligation and thus led Earth humanity in technical, medical and scientific regard on a higher level, however always in accordance with the possibilities prevailing at that time and also further on Earth.

26. In this way everything has been carried and developed since then up to the present time, consequently by the descendants of the old extraterrestrial immigrants from the Nokodemion descendants who came to Earth – who since then have been born again and again as new personalities and continue to be born -, innovations in medicine and technology etc., as well as new insights and expanded knowledge have been brought and continue to be brought.

27. And many of these distant descendants of the former 144,000 Nokodemion descendants-ethnic-emigrants became and are, as a result of their evolution of consciousness and their abilities of various kinds transferred to them by their total-conscious-blocks, very talented in certain areas and powerful in this respect in progressive innovations which are not yet possible for the pure Earth-created Earth-men.

28. And such persons from the number of 144,000 – as well as various others at other times, but also in the number of 144,000 each – were also the ones whom we, as the authoritative inventors, researchers, physicians, technicians, computer scientists and scientists etc. of certain areas on Earth, taught about knowledge, insights and developments etc. in an apparatus-impulse hypnotic manner and without their knowledge, which was made possible for us by our directives.

29. Therefore, when we committed ourselves to this teaching activity, we were only allowed to take care of the distant descendants of the former immigrants of the Nokodemion descendant peoples who were in active life, but we were not allowed to take care of any pure terrestrial human beings who existed from the ground up.

Billy:

How often did the Nokodemion descendants of such emigration powers, each comprising 144,000 people, come to Earth? And what would also be of interest to me here would be the number of people who have finally remained on Earth and died there as a whole of these immigrants, so that they were born again on Earth as new personalities and continue to be born? It would really be very interesting to know this, if you have records of it?

Ptaah:

...

31. If for a moment ... yes here yes, our annals refer to a number of eight different emigration powers of 144,000 persons each and 228 superiors each, who came to Earth in the course of more than two million years from the Nokodemion descendant peoples.

32. And here is a total number of 1,151,828 people who were involved.

33. Of these persons, 575,914 remained on Earth, died there and are born again with their old reincarnating spirit-forms as new personalities.

Billy:

And these have been decisive since time immemorial with regard to all developments and great achievements of humanity on Earth, are also active in the modern age and will continue to be so in the future. Through their help, in the course of time, many pure Earth-humans could also develop to a high level of knowledge and can, consequently, a great deal of progress has been made for some time in all areas and in every respect also by pure Earth-humans, I think, isn't it?

Ptaah:

34. That's true, but it's still mainly the reborn new personalities of the former Nokodemion descendants who are in the foreground.

Billy:

Can I understand it, but how did it happen that 144,000 each agreed to give up their highly developed culture and live on Earth with early humans like Homo erectus?

Ptaah:

35. On the one hand, they were pronounced idealists who were willing to provide development aid, so to speak, as is similarly the case on Earth, where such aid is provided for third world countries, etc. On the other hand, they were also very active in the field of development aid.

Billy:

Then it kind of rubbed off on Earth-humans.

Ptaah:

36. You can say that, but on the other hand there were also genetically manipulated refugees from the Sirius regions among the immigrants from the Nokodemion descendants, as well as fallible resp. delinquents of the home planets, who preferred – instead of being sent into exile, which was applied in the most drastic and severe manner – to emigrate with such emigration powers and at liberty to teach early humans in the manufacture of various kinds of products, such as tools and hunting weapons, clothing and food containers, etc.

37. Primitive art, music and all kinds of knowledge were also taught to early man by these immigrants, as well as knowledge concerning the heavenly bodies, medicine concerning medicinal plants, etc., and the use of fire, etc.

Billy:

And how and where were the distributions of these immigrant persons made among the early earthly human beings?

Ptaah:

38. Small immigrant groups were formed, which were integrated into earthly early human groups all over the world, while others joined early humans as loners or lived as their own small groups, which then also mixed with the early humans over time.

39. In these forms it was possible that mergers with the immigrants and the early humans could come about, which was however not always simple, but often connected with fights, which also claimed deaths on both sides.

40. But in the end everything regulated itself in one way or another, so that the teachings could also take place and bear fruit.

Billy:

So the whole thing was not easy, but therefore the actual creators of all progressive inventions of the early humans were to be led back to the immigrants of the Nokodemion descendants peoples. And this was the only reason why the humanity of today, which emerged from the early humans, could develop so drastically fast and as far as is the case today, with regard to electronics, inventions, craftsmanship, art, medicine, music and technology, etc. and so on. In principle it would not have been possible without the direct immigrants from the Nokodemion peoples and without their distant descendants and all their teachings, as well as also without your apparatus-impulse hypnotic influence of the descendants of the extraterrestrial immigrants that earthly mankind could develop so rapidly and to a large extent up to the today's conditions.

Ptaah:

41. During the first millions of years and millennia this was indeed the case, of course only in primitive developments of various things, for everything always had to be adapted to the corresponding state of consciousness of Earth humanity.

42. This is because it was only possible to avoid an overdevelopment in every respect, because such an overdevelopment could not have been coped with by the Earth-humans in terms of understanding and reason.

43. The early extraterrestrial immigrants naturally had to withhold their knowledge as well as their abilities and possibilities in every imaginable form and to downgrade themselves in this respect in order not to overtax the early earthly humans – who became known as 'Homo erectus' through research in modern times – and also later the more highly developed earthly humans with 'excessive abilities', on the one hand, and on the other hand in order to adapt to them in every necessary way.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_651

Billy:

... How do the Pleiarians and the members of their federation feel about alliance love or about entering into love relationships; how high is the proportion of Pleiarian women and men in the total population who are classified into a polygamous alliance?

Ptaah:

62. Our federations are in no way subject to the provisions, laws and regulations of the relevant Plejaren forms, for all federations have their own, over which we Plejarens do not exercise control.

63. However, in all federations it is given that their own regulations, laws and ordinances are largely – but not necessarily – aligned with our Plejaren values.

...

67. The number of women and men out of the total population of registered polygamous alliances is not known to me personally, but only the last statistics, which were evaluated according to Earthly time two Earth years ago and resulted in a result of such alliances of 62 percent according to the total population.

Billy:

The rule with you is one to three or a man to three women, but more rarely also one to four. But what about monogamous alliances, lack of alliances or being single or alone and unregistered or free alliances, as you say, which are called 'wild marriage' by us, can you please also name the data in this regard?

Ptaah:

68. Of course.

69. Monogamous alliances are listed here according to statistics with 5 percent, non-alignment with 7 percent and free alliances with 26 percent of the total population, whereby here also in this respect no numerical data are given.

Billy:

That'll do, thank you. The next question is: In spite of the high level of consciousness and self-control of the Plejaren, are there still problems with jealousy, claims to possessions and comparable emotions between partners who have united in an alliance love?

Ptaah:

70. Unfortunately, such unworthiness can also appear with our Plejaren peoples, but in extremely few cases such unworthiness results, which are usually regulated without exception peacefully in the end and whereby the misconstrued in this way end their alliance for reasons of reason and remain from now on usually unaligned.

Billy:

Good and patented regulation, I think. Then the following question: How do the Plejaren keep it with the personal freedom within the alliance love form; are there any obligations and mutual dependencies that restrict freedom?

Ptaah:

71. Every form of alliance contains obligations for all persons of both sexes who are in alliances, which must be clarified and adhered to jointly in the alliance partnerships between the performers of the alliances.

72. Personal freedom must not be negatively affected in any way, but must be preserved and exercised.

73. So, in the case of alliances of all forms, the necessary obligations must also be discussed and complied with in mutuality, with no dependencies whatsoever being allowed to appear, which could restrict freedom, because, as I explained, personal freedom must never be negatively affected.

74. Personal freedom inevitably excludes degenerations of any kind that could question, damage, or dissolve the alliance, and consequently degenerating incidents in alliances are extremely rare.

Billy:

... How do the Plejari women and men practice everyday life in a polygamous alliance; does the man live alternately with a woman with whom he may have children, or do all of them live together in a polygamous alliance of united partners in a house or in a common dwelling?

Ptaah:

75. In this respect, there are various forms, depending on the agreements between the husband and his wives.

76. Thus, both polygamous Alliance communities in a single dwelling may be possible, as well as polygamous alliances in separate dwellings in one place or in different places for each woman and her children can be maintained.

77. This depends on the agreements of the allies.

Billy:

Then that's clear too. Then the following question: Who takes care of the upbringing of the children in a polygamous alliance?

Ptaah:

78. Of course, the education of children is without exception the task of the biological mother and father.

Billy:

Sure, can't and shouldn't be any different, I guess. Then this question: Do Plejaren women practice same-sex love or sexuality among themselves?

Ptaah:

79. This is not the rule, but it can be absolutely possible, which is also the case for rights, if certain women have corresponding bisexual predispositions.

Billy:

You regard male homosexuality and female lesbianism as natural-normal, as you once said, and consequently there are also homosexual and lesbian alliances, which can also result in monogamous and polygamous alliances of female-male form.

Ptaah:

80. That's right too.

Billy:

Then there was this question: It was once said that a couple should get to know each other better over a certain period of time in the Plejaren, before an alliance is formed and then it is examined whether the two people really should fit together and form an alliance. How exactly do the Plejaren and their spiritual leaders determine whether two people fit together so well that they can enter into an alliance love?

Ptaah:

81. Such exams are absolutely voluntary, but are nevertheless conditional on registration and are recommended and offered by the Spirit Leadership and used and conducted by the allies of all kinds

82. For more than 3000 years no case has been known that an alliance would have been formed without these prior checks, which also applies to the free alliances.

83. In this way, false alliances are so extremely rare that they are not recorded statistically.

84. The tests themselves are carried out after very precise and varied clarifications, factor analyses and tests, primarily with regard to the type and condition of the partnership relationship, the character value, as well as with regard to partnership freedom, partnership behaviour, partnership relationship ability, Descendant parenting skills, partnership crisis management skills, partnership compromise skills, partnership handling skills, partnership willingness, partnership ability, partnership trust, partnership openness, partnership attitude, partnership communication and partnership commonalities, etc.

85. The entire list of clarifications, factor analysis and tests includes 70 important moments, which also include non-partnership and social, but also psychological and interpersonal relationships, as well as educational and life-style values, etc., all of which, however, would have to be enumerated.

(Note Enjana: Exam takes three to six days, depending on the time.)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_653

Billy:

... You promised me during your last visit to our private meeting that you would do some research in your annals in order to be able to give me more precise information on my questions regarding the fact that you Plejaren have been living in peace for more than 50,000 years, i.e. without wars and revolutions and terrorism etc., and also in a truly direct democracy. I am also interested in how it was before with regard to the forms of government and the administrations of your countries, and how did your united world or the community of nations on Erra come about? As you know, on Earth we have various state governments up to dictatorships, as well as lower administrations subordinate to the state governments, as is the case, for example, in Switzerland, where the Federal Council, the National Council and the Council of States form the supreme government, then in the cantonal governments as well as district and municipal administrations, and so on. Did you Plejaren have similar conditions in earlier times, or what was it like? ...

...

... But now I have another question: whether you Plejaren previously had similar forms of government to those that exist today on Earth?

Ptaah:

14. That was in fact the case, as the ancient records regarding a peaceful global world-leadership among several Plejaren folks were not heeded, for which reason insurrections, wars, revolutions and diverse forms of terrorism occurred.

15. But that resulted from the fact that five different folks distantly descended from the Nokodemion-lineage had settled on Erra, who were rivals to each other, about which however I should give a few significant explanations for your information.

16. Of course, I cannot be too detailed with those, but will only discuss the most important information, because the whole history is so extensive that a day-long lecture would be required to discuss it all.

17. Hence, I shall begin: our ur-ur-folk, from which I myself am distantly descended, bore since time immemorial the designation Nokdemisdarn, which means, in the language of our ur-ur-ancestors, in brief, folk of Nokodemion.

18. This ur-ur-folk comprised 11 folks, which had their homeworld on a planet called Errana in a star-system called Isdkura.

19. When the astronomers realized that a destructive change was happening in the star-system Isdkura, in which our ur-ur-ancestors lived, and that an annihilation of the whole system was imminent and the destruction was spreading rapidly, through which the home-planet Errana was also threatened with destruction, a resettlement-possibility in another star-system on another planet was sought for all the folks.

20. Such a star-system was in fact found after a few years, so all 11 folks – who in total comprised 510 million human beings – were resettled in the new system within 28 years, namely on two different planets in two different solar systems.

21. The cosmic destruction-process of the Isdkura-star-system lasted 214 years before the whole system was entirely wiped out.

22. The resettlement in the new star-system, which was about six light-years across, happened about 26 million years ago, and since then till the present time we have been based in the Plejaren-system, which will also remain so.

23. The resettlement occurred into two different solar systems on two life-bearing-able planets in a large star-system resp. a so-called open, loose star-cluster.

24. Already at the beginning of the colonization in the new star-system, it was called Plejaren by our ur-ur-ancestors, namely in alteration of the name Pleijara, after the Jschrjsch presiding over the resettlement.

25. Our ur-ur-ancestors chose this star-system-designation according to an old, passed down tradition that stated that the first folk that colonized a formerly uninhabited but now habitable planet in a new star-system should take for the name of the star-system the name of the Ishwish resp. Jschwjsch, or of the Ishrish or Jschrjsch in charge of the action.

26. Borrowing from the home-planet Errana, the new home-planet was then named, in abbreviated form, Erra.

27. This on the one hand, on the other hand the new planet Erra was colonized by the first six folks that had been following the teaching of the prophets since time immemorial and were therefore peaceful, democratic and heedful and following of the Creational laws and recommendations.

28. From this lineage descended all the clans of my genealogy, who have undertaken since time immemorial to follow and spread the teaching of the prophets, namely the teaching that had its origin with the universal prophet Nokodemion.

29. The ancient undertaking traced back to then, because – as our annals state – the most distant ur-ur-ancestors of my own lineage issue from the universal-prophet Nokodemion.

30. The mission on Earth is also in this succession of undertaking, which has lasted up to this day and in which also our early as well as our direct forebears were involved in recent millennia.

...

35. So, the home-planet of the emigrants from the star-system Ildskura had been destroyed by a cosmic catastrophe, for which reason the humankind existing there had to leave and seek out a new home, which they found in the new star-system which was known to them and was located more than four thousand light-years away, which after the colonization they named Plejaren, and which contained, in the six-light-year-encompassing system-space, about 563 system-members.

36. In this Plejaren-system there existed solar systems with planets, among which two were capable of bearing human and other diverse forms of life.

37. Consequently, these worlds were considered for colonization by the settlers, so the first six folks – to which my ur-ur-ancestors also belonged – who formed a knowledgeably and teaching-successive community, colonized the planet that was called Erra.

38. The other five folks were entitled a planet in a neighbouring solar system that was given the name Erras.

39. This planet, too, was naturally a planet capable of bearing life for human beings and for other life-forms, so the settlers remained there from then on.

40. Everything went well for all the following millions of years, as the population of all folks was maintained, in accordance with the prescribed law, at a size of a little more than 500 million in total, as had been laid down in law since time immemorial in order that no overpopulation could occur and so that no unsolvable problems and no destructions to nature or to the planet be elicited.

41. But then it came to pass a little less than 112,300 years B.C. by terrestrial Jmmanuel-based-reckoning, that a might-obsessed Ishwish and an Ishrish from two of the folks joined forces in an Ausartung-corresponding wise, who united their two folks and brought about a Gewalt-rule by means of minions drilled in acts of Gewalt, and were able to enforce this against all resistance.

42. The conjoined populations were terrorized and tormented, as all the ancient traditional laws, recommendations, regulations and manners were replaced by Ausartung-corresponding new decrees, and the two might-obsessed ones were placed in the position of a higher might.

43. The process lasted more than 200 years and disabled the population in regard to their own powers of decision-making as well as in their intellect and rationality.

44. And this occurred in a form whereby the two might-possessors were obligatorily treated as absolute dictators, which quickly led to compulsory submissiveness and servitude of the population as well as ultimately to the delusional belief that the dictators be in possession of the almightiness and the Creation-power.

45. The inevitable consequence thereof led quickly and inevitably to worship of the dictators, and so to a state of belief of a religious form, because the human beings had submissively distanced themselves far from the reality through the Gewalt-rulership and imagined themselves, contrary to intellect and rationality, to be free, protected and independent, so long as they humbly, prayingly and undissentingly submitted to the Gewalt-rulership.

46. Hence, in a religious wise, real flesh-and-blood might-obsessed human beings were worshipped as Creational omnipotences, unlike the imaginary, unreal deities, as the wonder-working Creator-beings in our fairytale-forms were called.

47. In doing so, they unlearned that they owed their entire existence ultimately to their own achievement and not to the dictators.

48. Ultimately the human beings came to believe, in their centuries-long Gewalt- and compulsional suggestively indoctrinated delusion, that the Gewalt-rulers and their later successors of the same kind had in primeval times originally created them as human beings and had also created the air to breathe, the water to drink and even the sun, all the heavenly bodies, the planets and all life-forms.

49. For all the human beings, the Gewalt- and coercion-based delusional belief became an axiomatic resp. incontrovertible, unquestionable fact, so that all these things should have been provided to them since time immemorial by the Gewalt-rulers, who they believed to be

Creationally superior to them, and that they were obliged to worship these dictators servilely, thank them for their benevolence, and in their presence to lower the gaze and cover the head. 50. Thereby, the belief came to be – and so the fact of religion – that, in having been created by the Gewalt-rulers resp. dictators, the human beings have a connection-back to these, thus exactly what is said by the term religion:

51. Binding-back (re-ligare).

52. This term relates, in the form of an irrational teaching, to the situation of the religion-believers having supposedly relinquished a connection to their dictators resp. creators, namely the belonging together with them, wherefrom there then be the obligation for them, the human beings resp. religion-believers, to reconnect with them.

53. It bears saying furthermore that, through the combination of these two folks and the delusional belief in the Gewalt-rulers resp. dictators as well as through their might-machinations and acts of Gewalt, also unpeace arose with the other three folks.

54. From this circumstance there resulted terrible and destructive wars between all the folks and, 75,140 years ago, triggered a planetary catastrophe, which ultimately spread over the whole planet Erras and took on global and devastating proportions, namely in that the planet and its atmosphere began to die off and slowly but constantly made all life impossible.

55. Hence, a mass exodus of the hostility-embroiled and embattled folks took place, and the nearest solution for them was to approach the planet Erra as their nearest place of refuge and there to set down their craft with Gewalt.

56. The anciently indigenous six folks on Erra additionally wanted to become involved in no belligerent actions, so they, albeit reluctantly, permitted the Gewalt- and invasion-ly immigration of the refugees and, naturally, refrained from their hostile entanglements, but did, however, endeavour in the name of the folk through the spirit-leadership to put an end, through peace-efforts, to the repeatedly igniting Gewalt- and war-actions among the Gewalt-ly immigrated folks, which however was completely without success.

57. The population-count of the Gewalt-doing immigrants consisted of 382 million human beings, thus all of those who had survived the war-actions on Erras.

58. Thus, the population-count on Erra rose to about 900 million, which naturally led to many problems and difficulties, which the anciently settled folks had to deal with, who naturally, in accordance with their laws, recommendations, rules and regulations, etc., were helpful to the folks of their neighbour-system.

59. They, however, did not conform to the laws and recommendations, etc, of the anciently indigenous folks, but continued their feuds and wars amongst themselves and against each other, and this continued for following centuries, yet the anciently indigenous six folks abstained and did not interfere, which was respected by the intruders.

60. This respect resulted from the fact that they knew full well that the anciently indigenous inhabitants of Erra were ready, in the event of an attack upon them, to defend themselves, and moreover were greatly superior to the would-be attackers in every respect.

61. For that matter, it further bears saying:

62. Of the eleven folks of that time thus only six of them were peaceful, democratic and, in regard to their way of life, aligned with the teaching of the prophet, which already since very early times had determined in every respect within these folks their life, their deeds, actions and behaviours and comprehensively likewise everything else about them.

63. In the course of time, these six folks formed themselves on our planet Erra together into a single folk, and this folk vested supreme authority in a nine-person spirit-leadership, which had the office of conducting the affairs of the folk according to the democratically-charactered folk-will, which has unfailingly remained the case to this day and also will remain so indefinitely.

64. The other five folks practised, as I previously explained, religious and higher-human-power-oriented belief-forms, so for the sake of Gewalt-rulers resp. dictators, whom they worshipped in a religious wise as their creators, which, for our great-folk, was naturally irreconcilable with the reality, and thus also did not correspond to the real truth.

65. All of these five diverse higher-power-believing folks were mutually unpeaceful and even hostile to one another, as similarly the populations were peaceless and loveless as well as aggressive amongst themselves.

66. Hence, also after their exodus from the unlivable home-planet Erras, they continued as before repeatedly to carry out hostile actions against each other and disturbed the peace on Erra, until ultimately, 74,200 years ago, a global war took place in all those regions inhabited by the war-obsessed folks who were engaged in their mutual hostility.

67. Toward our great-folk, however, they respected our efforts for peace and so kept at rest toward us and abstained from offensive actions against us, yet this was also no doubt ensured by our much higher technology in regard to defensive actions, for ours were very superior to theirs.

68. Insurrections, wars, revolutions and terrorism were inevitable among these folks of believably dictators because of the systems of government in operation over them, which were operated by the might-obsessed rulers.

69. These ruled the folks in a gruesome wise, similar to how has been done on Earth since time immemorial and as continues to be done, for this has been perpetuated into the present time.

70. The whole of the undemocratic systems were on the one hand practised in the form of monarchies, dictatorships and other Gewalt-rulerships, as well as, however, through similar forms as are called republics, etc, in the terrestrial sense.

71. Not until a final seven-year, extremely terrible and devastating global war, about 74,200 years ago, by the mutually hostile folks that had fled from Erras to Erra, did it come about at last – after more than half of the human population of these hostility-embroiled folks was reduced through the war-actions –, that the Errasans' minds changed for the better.

72. A political upheaval and transformation process was then sought with many ideas, which lasted around 14,000 years and did not bring any success, but always remained present and was taken up again from time to time.

73. The remaining war-folks of Erras engaged in rationality-wanting quarrels, were at odds with each other and brought forward some objections and proposals that could not be implemented, so everything came to nought.

74. They frequently imagined themselves to be disadvantaged, wanted special conditions, more might and rights, so time and again the whole matter fell through and the old forms of government were continued and validated.

75. That led again and again to insurrections, actions of war, to revolutions and terrorism.

76. Not until the individual spirit-leaders of these quarrelling, warlike folks confederated into a spirit-leadership and unitarily gave teachings to the war-folks, were the Errasans stimulated to concern themselves deeply rationally in the framework of the ancient-traditional teaching of the ancient prophet and to learn it comprehensively.

77. But the efforts for that fundamentally came from the spirit-leadership of the anciently indigenous folks, who intended to debut a whole-planetary leadership, if the warlike folks could assent to it.

78. Yet the teachings-giving and teaching lasted a further about 3,000 years, before the teaching was sufficiently accepted by and integrated into the thought-world of all the quarrelling folks that had fled to Erra and had incessantly sowed discord there, that the human beings began to cultivate a better attitude in themselves and toward the relations with the population of their own countries as well as the population of other countries.

79. Nonetheless, time and again there still arose aggressions and Ausartungs in regard to insurrections, acts of war and terrorism, and in general the responsible motives for these were religious and related to the various extant belief-communities still believing in the Gewalt-rulers and dictators.

80. Eventually there came at last the point in time when, in cooperation with the indigenous spirit-leadership, the spirit-leadership of the hostile folks had also worked out a new form of state-leadership, which was approved by all folks, according to the system of the old teaching of the prophet.

81. Having at last grown weary of the insurrections, wars, revolutions and terrorism, the countless dead and the destructions, ultimately, of the about 382 million human beings of the Gewalt-employingly immigrated hostile and embattled folks, more than half were killed by the global war, namely more than 217 million, and so there were only 165 million survivors.

82. This ultimately led to the situation that the rest of the hostile folks were actually willing to heed the drawn-up rules and proposals of the spirit-leadership and to approve these.

83. That did occur only with great effort, but such that rapid progress was made and the human beings who had been devotees of the higher powers disengaged themselves from their delusional belief, broke free thereof and assimilated into the democracy of the indigenous Errans and also unanimously into the rules and laws of the planetary spirit-leaders, who had been appointed by the great-folk as the supreme planetary spirit-leadership, yet there was also likewise a spirit-leadership responsible for each country resp. state.

84. Thus, for the entire planet and also for all the previously hostile, now however semi-peaceful countries resp. states, the planetary-unanimous leadership-form of the spirit-leadership could be implemented.

85. Consequently, all extant formerly hostile and Gewalt-usingly immigrated folks of all countries were, in the course of the following five-thousand years, further given teachings by the spirit-leadership in accordance with the teaching of the prophet and led into a peaceful future.

86. And since, through the Gewalt-ly migration of the formerly warlike folks from the planet Erras, the population of Erra increased by 382 million human beings – of which ultimately only about 165 million remained following their global war – and therefore the prescribed norm of few more than 500 million human beings had been greatly exceeded, naturally the population of Erra surpassed the established quantity.

87. They were naturally integrated into the whole Erran population, so the prescribed norm of 500 million was exceeded and this no longer accorded with the standard per the relevant law, so population-regulation-measures were taken in order to reach the correct population-size.

88. So, through the planetary spirit-leadership, a guiding and for the Erran total population unanimously valid behaviour-directive was drawn up regarding a strict birth-regulation, and explainingly promulgated to the population of Erra in all connected relations and concerns and put to a vote.

89. And as is recorded in our annals, the whole population of Erra assented to the directive without a single dissenting vote, so it was implemented and the goal of reduction of the population to the prescribed standard was achieved through an appropriate yet strict birth-control within 311 years of terrestrial time-reckoning.

90. From that point on, the size of the Erran humanity remained constant, for, as the immemorially prescribed norm pertaining to progeny has been, owing to intellect and rationality of the Erran population, upheld for the sake of their own and their world's well-being as well as for that of the nature, fauna and flora, the planet and its requirements, there are no destructive problems in this regard.

91. Lastly, it is to be said that during the subsequent five-thousand years, that is before the definitive peace could be created, it also happened, and without Gewalt or coercion, rather only through the once-hostile Errasans ever more following the teaching of the prophet and beginning to think, act and live according to it, that resultingly all of their religious issues became resolved and eventually there existed no more religion-believers on Erra.

92. That was then the definitive cause for our world being permanently pacified and democratized, and since then no insurrections, wars, no revolutions and no terrorism have occurred anymore, so on our planet Erra, about 52,000 years ago, among all folks unanimously the true democracy, and so also a henceforth-lasting peace were created, and with that also an ample freedom for all human beings on Erra.

93. Thereby, it came to pass that all ideas and belief-forms pertaining to undemocratic forms of government and behaviours of the earlier ruler- and might-government-forms on the planet Erras were forbidden by the formerly hostilely delusional believers of Erras themselves among their kind and replaced by new laws and regulations, etc, of the spirit-leadership, and these were accepted and approved by the extant remaining total population of Errasans in a democratic wise.

94. So, everything was regulated in every respect and this has upheld up to the present day, and shall also remain so for all the future.

95. The consciousness-development of the Erran population, which is to be assessed at between 20 and 30 million years higher than that of the terrestrial human beings, does not enable for us Plejaren any relapses into dark, de-evolutive and inhuman machinations, because the entire Plejaren population has once and for all progressed onto the way of the teaching of the prophets and shall also, with sureness, tread that way further.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_654

Billy:

... So now I come to the next question, which refers to one of the four groups or groupings, of which there are actually five, whereby in this relation there is a double grouping, but which you both call the same, namely 'future Earth'. This may be a little confusing, but it is acceptable and does not refer to my question, because it is aimed at whether you are allowed to tell me openly whether you now know where this fourth group from outside Earth comes from?

Ptaah:

76. We know that by now, but ...

Billy:

I thought to myself, then not officially – was just a question. Furthermore, I think it has now become clear to me why you have always talked about grouping on the one hand or about grouping on the other, because if I have understood correctly, then you understand group to mean a closed community and in a grouping several groups of the same or different kind, don't you? In that case, I have misunderstood you for years.

Ptaah:

77. You obviously did, because what you are saying is true.

78. The term group is to be understood as a smaller or larger number of members coming together or belonging together, whereby these people form an ordered unit or a community, a circle of people who belong together on the basis of certain similarities because they have joined together on the basis of common interests and goals, as is the case with the FIGU core-group.

79. On the other hand, a grouping forms a closed combination of several groups of the same character, e.g. the FIGU core parent group and the FIGU passive group, study groups and interest groups, thus in this sense a grouping comprises several like-minded groups.

80. On the other hand, however, a grouping can also include a number of groups which are of completely different nature and interests and are therefore not a closed unit, but which in themselves form an autonomous, autonomous and independent whole, although these groups as a whole have one thing in common.

Billy:

Interesting, but annoying for me, because all these years I have misunderstood your and generally your Plejaren interpretation of group and grouping and I did not ask Latschkopf for an explanation earlier. But now it is clear to me what is meant by group and grouping, so if I have understood correctly, you are also talking about several groups in relation to the other groupings that you keep mentioning. So I was thoroughly mistaken that there were only four groups, because in reality there must be several of them. But then there are the grouping of the Earth-foreigners and the two other groupings that are based on earthly things. Is it permissible to speak openly about this?

Ptaah:

81. What you say is correct, but we can only talk about it in a private way.

82. You know ...

Billy:

Yes, I understand, because although I misunderstood you for years, I did not exactly fall on my head and know that you have to talk about your directives again. But if I repeat, then you have spoken of one group or of four specific groups on the one hand, therefore the speech was of a single group or of four groups from a specific grouping, as for example of the grouping 'Future Earth', which consists of two groups. And according to what I now know, the other groupings must comprise more than just two groups, perhaps three, four, five or more.

Ptaah:

83. Yes, that is how it is.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_675

Billy:

... But something else that refers to you Plejaren, because as you have explained to me, the majority of the population works only two hours or so per day according to our time, while the other time is used in a private way. You have told me that in your free time the Plejaren work and maintain their large private gardens, which cover at least one hectare or 10000 m2. Others fly with their aircraft over land or around the planet and land where other people work to do private work together. And all this happens without any financial compensation, because you have no financial economy anymore. But even if you are only about 530 million people on Erra, there is quite a lot of work to be done to feed the whole population and to satisfy all their other needs. I will ask you how you manage this so that everything can be created when the majority of your humanity works only two hours a day for the general public; is there no problem with that?

Ptaah:

80. The whole thing would be impossible if we did not have our very sophisticated, extensive and diverse technology at our disposal.

81. Basically, of course, our planetary population also has to do a lot of work, which has to be carried out, but which is largely carried out by our highly developed technology.

82. The main of all activities is carried out by elaborate androids, apparatuses and machinery, which are monitored and controlled by the majority of the working population during the two hours of work.

83. And these are effectively only surveillance and control works to be carried out by the majority of the Erra population, according to times in day and night divisions, to which you once said 'around the clock' in another context.

Billy:

The majority of the population, what does that mean?

Ptaah:

84. It must be understood to mean all persons at any age from 140 years of age – which is to be understood according to Earthly years – and this is maintained until old age, because every person in our society is involved throughout his or her life, either for the general public or in a purely private way.

85. Our 530 million or so humanity is to be understood in terms of the people who carry out their work, which, however, do not include descendants up to 140 years of age, who also include a number of about 110 million.

Billy:

You mean 110 million. So there is no rotting in any way of the physical and thought-feel-psychological, as is very often the case with us on Earth, after people retire and then know nothing more to do with themselves. But I didn't know that you wouldn't count the 110 million descendants, who are up to 140 years old, among the approximately 530 million of the working people, but I think that this has to be added up because your planet Erra is about the same size as Earth, but has more mainland, as you once explained.

Ptaah:

...

89. We Plejaren measure in this respect the possible population according to the fertile land that, when cultivated for food products, produces abundant food for the total population.

90. As a result, no part of the population can ever be affected by famine, as is the case on earth, where around a billion people are currently suffering from hunger and many die from it.

91. And as far as such behaviour, which you call 'rotting', is concerned, Plejaren is alien to us, even if a person wants to withdraw from general work and only be active privately – which is of course possible, but must be guaranteed.

92. However, this is usually only possible at the age of 800, although very little use is usually made of it.

Billy:

Then it must also be the case that these people still have their entire livelihood when they retire from general work at the age of 800. How's that settled?

Ptaah:

93. They are fully granted everything necessary in every respect and for every need until the end of their lives, so they do not have to renounce anything in any way, but receive everything according to their desires, be it food or any things of any kind that they desire.

Billy:

So there are no people among you who are, as they say, poor or rich, if I understand your social system correctly, which is also due to the fact that you no longer have any means of payment or money.

Ptaah:

94. This is indeed the case, because since we have no system whatsoever with regard to a monetary or financial economy, but an equal structure of equality, on the one hand, with regard to social status and, on the other, with regard to the values of goods, there are no social and no social differences.

Billy:

And this also not between the simple people, the spiritual leadership and all those who have to carry out higher tasks than the normal daily general work.

Ptaah:

95. There are no differences whatsoever, and there must be no differences, because the equal status of the entire Erra population means that neither greed nor envy nor other negative factors, which could be caused by material causes, prevail.

96. Every plejarian person has equal rights, including the right to meet all his material needs within the same framework as any other.

97. Thus, all manufactured goods of any kind are available to any person free of charge, as are all other goods.

Billy:

And the rest of the majority of the population, what about it in terms of work and old age, how many percentages does this rest comprise, and what does it do?

Ptaah:

98. According to our calculations, the majority of the entire Pleiar population comprises 72 percent, which is active in the way I have just explained, while the other 28 percent is responsible for other tasks, in which, calculated according to Earthly hours, the working hours vary per day depending on the activity, but which are higher than two hours and are often 12, 15 or more.

99. This is the case, for example, with the exercise of tasks related to spiritual leadership, planetary control tasks, and various other important matters.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_679

Billy:

... Today I once again have some questions concerning the peoples of Erra and their behaviour in relation to various things such as work, state of consciousness, ethics, criminality and crime, etc., as well as the offspring of you Plejaren. It would be good if you would explain how it is with you on Erra with the duty to work and with the responsibility for it. ... The other day you said that you have a total adult population of around 530 million and around 110 million offspring under the age of 140. ...

Ptaah:

14. As I explained in an earlier conversation, the peoples on Erra remain among themselves, and only very few persons emigrate to other peoples, whereby the reason for this is usually living together with other members of the peoples, or if there is some unavoidable need to do so.

15. Otherwise, the individual peoples remain among themselves and preserve their own folk customs and traditions, etc.

16. With this I also explain that there are no migrations of peoples on Erra, but also no refugees for any reason, because there are no uprisings or even wars on Erra etc., consequently there are also no reasons for a flight from one people to another.

17. There is also no hunger among the peoples of Erra, for since we Plejaren adhere to the planetary requirements for the preservation of all life, so in relation to Plejarian humanity, nature and all its fauna and flora on the land, in the waters and in the air, the entire natural food cultivation and the further food production for the entire Erra humanity can be produced in abundance without any problems.

18. As far as unemployment is concerned, which you mention, we Plejaren do not have it, because all Plejaren of both sexes are comprehensively integrated into our planet-wide system of labour regulation.

19. So there are also no work-shy persons on Erra who would exhibit parasitic behaviour, as is often the case with Earth-humans.

20. Also with regard to criminality and crime there are none among the human beings of Erra, for the evolutionary stage of consciousness and ethics and their stability of value, as well as the resulting sense of duty and responsibility, are so highly developed in every Plejaren human being that negative deviations no longer appear.

...

23. According to our birth regulation it is to be explained that it is regulated on the one hand according to our high life expectancy, and on the other hand according to the number of the population, from which it results that consequently on Erra the descendants are also to be determined according to the deaths, as however also according to various other necessary regulations, which can only be made when a humanity has reached a necessary high level of consciousness, as is the case with our Plejaren peoples.

...

27. This is in contrast to us Plejaren, who are entitled to beget offspring at the age of 70 at the earliest, after which it can then take several hundred years until the next offspring is begotten – perhaps two or three hundred years, if at all, for the rule is – which is privately observed as an unwritten law – that offspring are first begotten only at the age after 150 years.

28. And this is so because all members of the population, without exception, learn several other fields of activity beyond the normal learning activity which lasts until the age of about 70.

29. Only then are all the main activity trainings completed, after which one enters into full and all-round active life.

...

31. And since with us Plejaren each marital alliance or other cohabitation may only produce three offspring, the fixed number of adults of about 530 million and of 110 million offspring under 140 years of age can be maintained by the regulation of our birth control.

32. The total Plejaren population of the world is regulated in such a way that it always remains approximately the same, which nevertheless means that the number of offspring can fall or rise by a few million, so that the number of around 110 million is not always exactly constant.

33. On the one hand, offspring may only be begotten on request, but on the other hand it can also occur that, as a result of various natural circumstances or necessities, more or fewer procreations are permitted.

34. So when I gave the figure of about 530 million adults and 110 million Errans under 140 years of age, these figures correspond to the present time.

Billy:

Your birth rate could not be introduced on Earth, I think. And the question: with regard to the peoples; are there no problems there with regard to the birth control that has been ordered?

Ptaah:

...

38. No, there are no problems, because among our Plejaren peoples, logical reason and logical reasoning are factors and values acquired thousands of years ago, which have become such a matter of course and for the benefit of the entire Erranian population that not even a suggestion of breaking the rule appears.

Billy:

... What you have now said with regard to the learning of diverse and varied activities, which we call vocational training here, you once told me that often 20 to 30 or even more fields of activity are learned, which are also practised alternately throughout your lifetime. ...

...

Billy:

But something else: as you once told me, on Erra you also radiate catastrophic events from alien planets worldwide, as well as in relation to natural disasters and overpopulation, which perhaps also contributes to the fact that from the Erra population – purely psychologically – there is a satisfaction and recognition in relation to the whole Erran forms of order. In addition, I think that Plejaren humanity is oriented towards this and accordingly also works to ensure that everything on Erra remains in good order in every way. For my part, I think that such emanations can have a good psychological effect, because there is no indifference among your humanity, as is unfortunately the case with the majority of Earthlings. ...

Ptaah:

...

44. And with regard to the entire Erranian world population, it is made aware again and again of the disasters and calamities that occur through overpopulation.

45. So, planet-wide, information broadcasts are repeatedly broadcast, through which catastrophic conditions of uprisings, torture, war, murder, revolutions, terror, strife, misery and distress, hunger, diseases, epidemics and terror etc. on overpopulation worlds are pointed out.

46. The reason, however, is not that of deterrence, but purely informative, to show what generally unpeaceful and barbarous conditions still prevail on those worlds which in every respect are still millions of years behind our entire Plejaren high development.

47. The whole thing also has an instructive character in regard to the very early past of our primitive peoples, which occurred in the same or a similar framework, as is also still the case today in a very lasting way on other and still extremely uncivilised worlds and among their peoples, as is also the case with regard to the earthly world population.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_688

Ptaah:

55. What will happen, however, when the Earth-foreigners, who have been moving in Earth space for a long time, or others who will sooner or later appear – which will also only be a question of time – is still open and will be an event that will certainly cause many problems for all Earth-humans.

56. It must also be clear that Earth-foreigners or Earth-future beings do not have to be the same kind as us human beings, because various Earth-foreigners are beings who are not human and also not peaceful.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_697

Billy:

... How do you Plejaren create interpersonal relationships, and how do you make contacts for friendships and alliances?

Ptaah:

51. In a very natural way, by holding events and making acquaintances, as well as through meetings of all kinds, such as getting to know other persons through acquaintances, neighbours, family members and friends, through travelling around, doing work, as well as through all kinds of other ways.

Billy:

So roughly on the same scale as we do on Earth?

Ptaah:

52. No, because the same thing that is practised on Earth through so-called Internet acquaintances does not exist here, just as it does not exist in the way that public bodies are searched for acquaintances and life partners.

Billy:

Then the next question: What is family life like among you Plejaren, the upbringing of children, the organisation of leisure time and the coexistence of parents, children and young and old? This question is also connected with how the education of children and young people is organised, whether there are schools like ours on Earth, what subjects are taught and learned, as well as what interests the children, young people and adults have.

Ptaah:

53. In this respect everything is given in a reasonable and correct framework, for the unalterable rule is that with us Plejaren in every family everything is maintained in a family-conscious, peaceful and correct manner, consequently there are not the same vicious scenes, Gewalt and quarrels, which often end with physical harm or even with murder and manslaughter, as is very often and increasingly the case throughout the Earth.

54. Our entire Plejaren population is trained from infancy in such a way that peace and freedom and equality between the sexes and between the offspring must be cultivated, and indeed they prevail in this way in every family.

55. Of course, it is also the case in our families that there can be disagreements between parents, just as there can be disagreements between children and parents – although this is not necessarily the rule – but every dispute is avoided and everything is always kept under control.

56. And this is indeed the case planet-wide and is observed as it is already taught through education and is also further taught later in adolescence through special educational courses.

57. The upbringing of children and youth is given in completely peaceful measures, not based on chastisement, but nevertheless strict in order to ensure the best.

58. Necessary recreation for children, youths and also for adults is also cultivated, whereby the whole is extremely varied, ranging from games to hikes, excursions and factual learning and hobbies, etc.?

59. The interests of the individual persons – children, adults, juveniles – are taken into account, which can be extremely varied.

60. And as to the question of the subjects which can be learned, these are, of course, according to our entire stage of development, accessible to every Plejarin and every Plejaren, according to their desire and ability, for learning and later practice, these subjects being as great in number as all our developments so far created, whether in regard to medicine, biology, zoology, every possible technique or manual skill, which is also necessary with us, as well as otherwise hundreds of other subjects.

Billy:

That should actually suffice as an answer. Then, what should actually be a statement and not a question, namely how you Plejaren observe the events on other planets and whether you are interested in world events, politics, society, art, culture of the Earth and in how the human beings are on the Earth and deal with their lives. I think that should be obvious, otherwise you would not come here and observe and analyse everything. And as you observe what is happening on other planets, I think you do that equally as you do here on Earth, in that you can control everything through your apparatuses and devices in such a way that nothing remains unseen to you.

Ptaah:

61. So the whole thing needs no further answer or explanation.

Billy:

Exactly. What does a daily routine of a human being on Erra look like, a child, a teenager, a woman or a man?

Ptaah:

62. During the first years of their upbringing, children are naturally with their parents, in whose care they can learn on the one hand, and on the other hand also play and do all kinds of things that bring them joy, but are also instructive.

63. From the age of 5, children are taught in schools in a variety of ways, while from the age of 14, young people learn specialist subjects – professions in an earthly sense – which continues until the age of 70, although there are also leisure times and 2 hours of work every day.

64. Women and men also have to fulfil the obligation of 2 hours of work daily for the whole community, after which all the other time of the day is used at their own discretion and their own leisure time.

65. All Plejaren people have their own small plots of land and a dwelling on them, the plots of land being cultivated and cultivated as gardens with vegetable crops, etc.

66. Also very often people fly overland to get in contact with known or foreign people somewhere on the planet and possibly to work together.

67. Women and men also do work together in their homes, where of course there is also cooking, cleaning and maintenance work.

Billy:

I know. Further this question: do all Plejaren and the human beings of their federation undertake journeys through space, and what are the requirements for this, and for what purpose do such journeys and missions serve?

Ptaah:

68. Neither among us Plejaren nor among our federates is there space tourism, for the populations only undertake journeys through space when there is an urgent need to do so.

69. Space flights to other planets etc. are only undertaken for economic trading purposes and the like, and for missionary purposes and for assistance to Plejaren-foreign planets and their populations, as well as for exploration and reconnaissance purposes.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_698

Enjana:

2. That is correct, and I have to explain that the Earth-foreigners you mentioned, or their early ancestors, were already present and active here on Earth in prehistoric times, as they were afterwards, but also again and again throughout all the ages of the Earth, throughout all the ages and epochs of the world.
3. The various epochs and each era of the ancient history of the planet are to be reckoned in millions of years, during which the Earth-foreigners came to Earth again and again, whereby, however – as Ptaah has already explained to you several times, as he mentioned – we have not been able to fathom their effective origin until the present time, whereby we have, however, been able to discover that even these Earth-foreigners no longer know their own prehistoric origin.
4. Our research so far has only revealed that their prehistoric ancestors came into the DERN universe from another space-time structure or from another dimension, unknown to us so far, and then also reached Earth and other SOL system planets.
5. But as far as the origin of the distant and present-day Earth-foreigners and thus very distant descendants of those who came to Earth again and again in prehistoric times and also afterwards is concerned, their most distant descendants also come here to this day, whereby they also have stations on Earth.
6. As far as their present origin is concerned, we are very well aware of their present world of origin and the system, although we have no need whatsoever, and our directives also forbid us to make ourselves noticeable and recognisable to them, or even to make contact with them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_699

3. Question: Concerns landing of extraterrestrial intelligences.

{Billy} Answer:

A public landing of extraterrestrials at the beginning of the 21st century – whereby the appearance of the extraterrestrials was announced in the contact reports, but their nature and origin and also the exact time were only mentioned unofficially, was planned for the 10th year of the new millennium – should not have taken place by the consciousness-advanced Plejaren, but by Plejaren federates called up on call for preparation and standing by. This, in addition to other extraterrestrials who were to come openly to Earth – of which there was already talk earlier during contact conversations – but which was prevented by interventions of the Plejaren because the hostile and warlike developments of the human beings were too dangerous to Earth – which they still are and will also be far into the future. The aliens who were to land openly on Earth at the beginning of the third millennium, namely in the USA, would not have been the Plejaren themselves, but members of the Plejaren Federation. This is because they have a simpler and more simple development of consciousness than the Plejaren themselves, which means that they – in contrast to the Plejaren – could have easily entered the direct sphere of the human beings of Earth in order to communicate and work with them. The whole thing was to be done by first contacting the US government through me (Billy) and through an American intermediary {Lee J. Elders; see Contact Report 117 and Contact Report 122}, on the condition and precondition that the USA would have responded to a request from the Plejaren corresponding to the aforementioned matter in the early 1980s. This was to be done – as explained – through the mediation of my personality, in order to submit political and world peace-promoting guidelines and advice etc. to the USA through the Plejaren. These should have been considered by the state leaders of the United States of America and their results implemented peacefully in the countries dependent on and under the control of the USA all over the world, in order to create effective peace and real freedom for all peoples worldwide. If at that time the state powers of the USA in their megalomania had not reacted with nonsensical and for the Plejaren unfulfillable primitive stupid demands, when my US middle man submitted the Plejaren request to the US government, then in case of success also the then still existing Soviet Union and also China, Switzerland as well as the then incipient EU dictatorship would have been included. In this way, a worldwide process of peace and freedom and the abolition of dictatorships as well as the establishment of fully democratic government structures would have begun under the advisory supervision of the Plejaren and through the work of their federates. Furthermore, through ongoing Plejaren advisory assistance, the whole would certainly have become a state of peace and freedom encompassing the world and all earthly states within two and a half decades, which would also have led to the power of determination of the peoples in political and military matters and to the end of all acts of hostility to war on Earth. This would have created the basic prerequisite for a public landing of a delegation of peaceable Plejaren federates, for whom it was decided and determined that they would have had to assist earthly humanity with advice and action in every conceivable good and positive way. However, since the state leaders of the USA, in their delusions of grandeur with regard to their insane, pathologically stupid, nonsensical, confused, self-important and power-driven demands, ruined everything from the outset and condemned it to failure, the plan of the Plejaren to make an attempt to establish contact with the authoritative earthly governments was shelved again. However, it was left open to them and they waited a whole twenty years to see whether those who were active at the time or those who followed them in the USA would come to their senses and respond in the affirmative, but this was not the case. As a result, the whole programme of the attempt to establish contact was finally discarded, and the Plejaren closed everything down and declared unofficially that no further attempt of this kind would be made, and that they would therefore also not declare themselves ready for a second attempt, even if the US government should still come forward today or in the future.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_705

Bermunda:

36. With us on Erra, news is also spread, as is the case on Earth, whereby of course it is also pointed out what is happening on Earth in all ways.

37. The same information is also spread among our federates, so what is happening on Earth is known far and wide in the universe.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_710

Billy:

... With this I can say that the Earth-foreigners, who are generally simply called extraterrestrials or aliens by the Earthlings, have in fact been around for a long time. They stayed here and worked in many ways, as did their distant descendants, but they have also been active on Earth for centuries and millennia up to the present day, flying around and in and out of the Earth, and are observed again and again around the world by the Earthlings, whereby the American continent is of particular importance in this respect. Their early ancestors worked in many different ways on Earth, and also in various countries in Asia, North Africa and partly in Europe, but mainly in the early days in the North African country, which in later times was called 'Kemet' and then finally in later times Egypt, after which this name has been preserved until today. Your father Sfath taught me during a leap in time into the past to the land there, where the Earth-foreigners ruled at that time, whom he called 'long-skulls' and whom I have seen myself, that they had been on Earth for thousands of years. Because, in contrast to the round skulls of the human beings of Earth, they had skulls that were long and thickly protruding towards the back, they stood out unmistakably from the human beings of Earth just as other Earth-foreigners did around the world, such as giants up to about 3 metres tall, half-small people with large and somewhat v-shaped heads and excessively large eyes. Various such long skulls have also been found in modern times by archaeologists, etc., although to this day people still puzzle over what secret is connected with these skulls, which were not from human beings of the Earth, but belonged to Earth aliens. ...

...

Billy:

... But now I will bring up something from your history that your father Sfath has already told me about, namely, that you Plejaren on Erra and on other planets have been at peace among all peoples for about 52,000 years only because something strange has happened. At that time, I remember Sfath's explanation, a round structure or a large metallic sphere appeared above Erra and other Plejaren planets, after which all male and female inhabitants of all planets, so to speak, experienced a comprehensive change of heart. Neither at that time nor to this day, however, could you Plejaren fathom what this sphere was about, nor where it had come from and where it had disappeared to. Only one thing was clear, namely that through this sphere some process of consciousness took place in all human beings of all Plejaren planets, which immediately led to an all-embracing peace, as well as to freedom from strife, war, crime and so on. And as Sfath explained, as you also once did years ago, you never found out where this orb came from, who built it and where it disappeared to, consequently it was only clear to you that it was through this that your peoples came to peace and all that has distinguished you Plejaren as true human beings for 52,000 years.

Ptaah:

169. What had to be explained in this respect, you have now done, but I must mention that up to now, despite a great deal of research, we have not been able to gain any knowledge about the origin of the sphere, which was completely untouchable and secured against all attacks and therefore also indestructible, because it resisted all attempts at attack, which was a good thing in the end.

170. This large spherical missile, which according to our annals had a size that I have calculated to be 248 metres according to the earthly system of measurements, circled around each Plejaren planet for 32 days and nights, and then disappeared without a trace.

171. Since then, all the corresponding efforts to clarify the matter, which still continue today, have not been successful, which is why we also have no knowledge of what kind of technology the flying objects had, through which all our peoples were pacified.

{Note: See also Contact Reports 711:47+ and 728:179-182 for further information about this "orb".}

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_711

Ptaah:

47. I must begin by addressing what occurred on Erra and our other Plejaren planets some 52,000 years ago.

48. At that time, swinging waves were emitted from the flying sphere, which circled around Erra and also around the other Plejaren planets for 32 days each, which took control of a certain brain region and a precisely defined area in all planet inhabitants, against which there was no possibility of defence, as could be fathomed by our scientists at that time.

...

55. However, I may explain, which I will do only briefly and without elaboration, what happened to our ancestors 52,000 years ago, but I really do not intend to go into detail.

56. It turned out that the swinging-wave impulses emitted by the aforementioned spherical flying machine very effectively influenced certain areas of the brain of all the planet's inhabitants and had such an effect on special areas that all impulses of violence and degeneracy were appeased, but not extinguished, only put into a softened state and made peaceful.

57. This was sufficient for the populations of all the planets to fall away from all malignant violence and become in a peaceful mood within the time during which the spherical flying machine circled the worlds, but nevertheless they retained their free will and, above all, without external verbal influences from the state leaders and their unpeaceful propaganda, etc., they became more and more inclined to rationality and intellect, and began to think, consider, decide and act independently.

58. The calming swinging-wave influences, which acted only on certain areas of the brain and in these only on special areas, were neither aggressive nor compelling, for there were only vibratory impulses through which understanding and reason were stimulated and led to the populations discarding their collective world of thought within a few days, because they became free from all the unpeaceful suggestive collective thinking controlled by the governments and religions and were able to form their own independent thoughts and opinions.

59. By very quickly discarding their collective thinking controlled by governments and religions, and also very quickly learning and using their own individual thoughts, the human beings of the Plejaren planets learned and grasped their personal self-knowledge and formed their own and ever-increasing self-determination, through which they attained personal mental strength.

60. In a special way, the dropping and abandonment of all religious belief factors and thus the perception and realisation of the natural-creational laws, which are universally oriented towards peacefulness, freedom and self-reliance, had an effect.

61. When this was recognised by all Plejaren populations of all our worlds and every religious belief was discarded and frowned upon, manifold realisations were formed and from them the result of personal attitudes and far-reaching thought processes and certainties, which led to all human beings of all peoples setting themselves independently challenging goals and sticking to them even under difficulties, learning to cope with failures better and well, working out a higher motivation and achieving their set self-realisation goals.

62. It was also found that within only eleven days they were less and less distracted by the opinions of other persons and above all also no longer allowed themselves to be distracted by the suggestive, unpeaceful whispers of the government, nor allowed themselves to fall back into unpeacefulness.

63. On the contrary, all the populations of all the planets henceforth made all the necessary efforts and perseverance to achieve their goals.

64. Very quickly they became aware of their own abilities and just as quickly learned to control and master situations of all kinds that arose and quickly became mentally strong persons who also learned to make use of their abilities by constantly seeking and finding new challenges for their intellect and reason as well as for their self-development and self-realisation and by realising them, as well as themselves.

65. Thus, within a very short time, the individual human beings learned to cope with stress and strain and to live in control of all their self-created personality traits.

66. Through their steadily growing mental strength, they very quickly created a consciousness-like capacity that also had a strong effect on their mental and physical health, as well as on the fact that they were always setting themselves new, challenging goals and realising them.

67. And all this, together with many other positive developments, finally led within only 32 days – during which the orbital aircraft circled the worlds – to all persons of all populations finally freeing themselves independently and according to their own free will from all Ausartungen [getting very badly out of control of their good human natures] and from all violence and immorality, etc.

68. Through the unimaginably strong swinging-wave impulses of evolutionary effect, which were emitted by the flying sphere and influenced the personalities of all our Plejaren planets, all human beings became aware within a very short time that they were being influenced externally by other persons, forces and populist and unpeaceful government-controlled influences which were hostile to peace, degenerate, inciting violence and destructive, as well as impairing the intellect and reason, negative and malignant, and were influencing them negatively against their own will and causing them to lapse into violence, etc.

69. This realisation led the human beings of all our planets to renounce violence, immorality, degeneracy, evil and wickedness and also to conquer their bad habits.

70. It was also recognised, however, that in spite of all knowledge and efforts with regard to the conduct of life in the good, the correct, the human, and with regard to righteousness, as well as with regard to the observance of the natural positive creative laws, the human being always remains susceptible and can fall back again into old ungood, negative, evil and bad behaviour, if he does not make the necessary effort to control it in order to prevent it.

71. And it has been recognised that this can always happen again if the human beings are influenced from the outside in any verbal, physical or consciousness-, thought-, emotion- and psyche-burdening forms for long enough.

72. So in this respect all human beings of all Plejaren planets or their populations were subordinated to this natural-creative law of action in such a way that countermeasures had to be taken, which were recorded and followed in directives, and which consisted in the fact that no direct or otherwise harmful connections were to be sought and maintained with alien worlds and their populations, in order not to relapse into the old modes of behaviour through such contacts with alien peoples who were not like our ancestors.

73. We Plejaren of today are also human beings – like our ancestors 52,000 years ago and all our descendants since then – who must resist such external influences without being harmed, for unfortunately we are still susceptible to negative external influences that would cause us to relapse into the old ways of behaviour if we were to fall long enough into areas of negative influence that were harmful to us and were hit by factors that had a negative effect on us.

74. We Plejaren, too, are human beings and are ordered to develop within the framework of every natural-creational order and lawfulness, through a very laborious working out of our higher evolution of consciousness, which even after 52,000 years of peace we must follow and continue to learn.

75. And this we can do today through the life-teaching of Nokodemion, the 'Teaching of Truth, Teaching of the Spirit, Teaching of Life', which helps us unspeakably much in our further evolution of consciousness, but which was known to us only in small parts up to the beginning of your mission, but which you now bring and teach not only to Earth-humans, but also to us, in many expanded versions.

76. But as far as our ancestors were concerned, more than 52,000 years ago, they only gained their knowledge at that time and only then became aware of the effective facts and values of life according to the natural-creative laws, when the flying sphere appeared and circled around our Plejaren planets, whereby all Plejaren populations were struck by its vibratory impulses and were appeased and peacefully tuned in a restrained, yet definite and effective manner.

77. Through these vibratory impulses their minds and reason were stimulated, whereby the populations turned to the gently urging peaceful impulses and gave themselves consciously learning to their evolution of consciousness.

78. Through this attention our ancestors of that time recognised the truth and effectiveness of the natural-creative laws and correct natural-creative-conditioned way of life, learned to fathom them and to follow them and made them their own, whereby henceforth all populations consciously developed according to them and aligned themselves to them in every way.

79. But they were able to do all this only after they realised that their entire very high technical development in all its forms and possibilities did not turn them away from their degenerations, their violent behaviour and from all evil, from all warfare and all destructive and negative and evil behaviour with regard to peace, real freedom, righteousness, justice and humanity as well as a way of life according to natural-creative laws.

80. Only through the influence of the vibrational impulses, which were emitted by the spherical flying device and by which they were peacefully influenced, did they find their way to personal change and finally, through their own development of consciousness, cognition and their efforts, their own will, their intellect, their reason and the use of their intelligence, they attained their personal inner peace, their personal inner freedom and righteousness.

81. And this inestimable gain and victory over themselves they also began to bring to bear externally, whereby all peoples also allied themselves among themselves in a continuing state of peace and freedom, and since then all violence, degenerations and wars etc. have also become a thing of the past

82. However, it must be repeated as a fact that all violence, wars, all hatred and falsehood, all discord, all unfreedom and unrighteousness, as well as all injustice and degeneracy, etc., in all forms, could only be ended. In all forms could only be brought to an end when the vibratory impulses of the Orb had an effect upon all the Plejaren peoples and soothed them into peace, whereby they became consciously powerful of their own independent and externally uninfluenced faculty of thought, as well as of their intellect, their reason and the application of their intelligentsia, and thereby their own self-evolution could take place.

83. This did not mean, however, that our ancestors 52,000 years ago, or since, were above any susceptibility to and reversion to the old degenerate, malignant, warlike, violent and all other negative forms and disregarding all natural-creative laws.

84. And this is not the case even in modern times, for even we Plejaren of today are not immune to this, just as all our ancestors were not.

...

Ptaah:

105. The negative factors mentioned, as they are drastically present in Earth-humans, also occur in the third grouping as well as in the Earth future beings, who on the one hand have already been on Earth for thousands of years or otherwise for a considerable time, again and again demonstrating their presence in various ways.

...

Billy:

... But it must be clear that in the vastness of the universe there are also other human beings and life forms who are equally 'sick in the head' and live with degenerations of all kinds, unpeaceful and unrighteous and therefore also make their existence hell by their own doing in a similar or the same way as the earthlings. And as Sfath has already said, it can be said that the absolute majority of all human and human-like creatures in our entire DERN universe have, through their own early degenerations, fallen into a convergent state with that of degenerated Earth-humans. This, however, can one day lead to enormous unpleasantness and even to acts of war with extraterrestrials and to the danger of the extermination or enslavement of Earth-humans, as well as to the annexation of Earth by Earth-foreigners. And it is precisely in this respect that crazy Earth-foreigners, who do not possess reason, rationality and intelligence for a penny, have done everything with the SETI project so that it can happen under certain circumstances if Earth-foreigners find the SETI probe. Through this crazy project, extraterrestrials are to be made aware of Earth and contact is to be sought with them ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_713

Ptaah:

112. This, however, can one day become a risky doom for Earth-humans, namely through the stupidity and irresponsibility committed by earthly researchers and scientists, namely with the SETI project 'Cyclops', or 'Search for Extraterrestrial Intelligence'.

113. And such a fate can befall all Earth-humans if official contact with unpeaceful Earth-foreigners should one day occur; an attempt at contact which was started unreasonably and recklessly by the 'search for extraterrestrials' and which under certain circumstances can bring not only great horrors etc., but ultimately also a nasty end to all Earth human existence.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_717

Billy:

... But what I wanted to say when you interrupted me was simply this: "... whose presence on Earth has been based since time immemorial on behaving according to certain guidelines that also give them security and protection." I did not want to say more, for their existence could also be endangered if the real truth about them, their doings, their ways, as well as their origin and whereabouts, etc. were known, but this must not happen. Earth-foreigners are also beings whose right to exist and live must be granted and assured to them, but which would be endangered if certain facts about them became known. But this also applies to the earthly grouping, which also makes itself felt here and there.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_718

Billy:

Also good, then the following question is whether you guys influence planetary weather on Erra, like maybe through lightning control and cloud formation by lasers or something, if that is even possible. Also the further question is related to whether you have a poison industry to produce any substances, like herbicides, insecticides, neonicotinoids, pesticides and fungicides and so on.

Ptaah:

158. Weather manipulation in the context of your question is possible, but we do not carry out such manipulations on Erra.

159. The climate conditions of our planet are normal and are not influenced by our humanity in any way.

160. Regarding your other question, it is to be said that we do not have any production facilities on Erra where any toxic substances would be produced, so also not such as you mentioned.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_719

Billy:

... Now that we're on the subject, I can also combine it with something else, namely with make-up, which is common here on earth for women and also for men. Although I have also seen you on Erra, as well as all the women who come to me from you, that you take care of yourself cosmetically, but I have never seen that you look effective in the same or a similar way as the earthling women would paint on their faces. By that I mean the areas around the eyes, the cheeks and lips, as well as the draping of the lips, the tongue, the nose, the pubic area, breasts and other 'pieces of jewellery' embedded in the body, some of which are young people, but many women and men do. In and of itself, I don't care at all, because that's everyone's own thing and therefore none of my business. But I have something to mock, namely that I find the smearing on the lips extremely disgusting and the whole thing also disfiguring. I have nothing against a light, subtle and hardly or not at all visible lip care, just as I have no objections to a subtle skin resp. Facial and eye care, as I know it from your Plejaren women and as sensible women do with us. But I find a woman messing up her face in a painted war landscape just gross. In addition, the ostentatious lip-painted women are repulsive and look like disfigured circus clowns, who are still original in a certain way, but this does not apply to these women, but who, with their lip painting, look more like a worn-out deep-sea frigate and also act accordingly. What is your opinion on this, my friend?

Ptaah:

55. I can understand what you are saying and I would like to say that after listening to you, I am kind of glad that in our world as a whole, all women take care of themselves with the kind of discreet cosmetic care that you mentioned.

56. For my part, I also cannot find any pleasure in what female beings do in the way you have described.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_721

Ptaah:

30. The beginning of the spirit form of Nokodemion on Earth came about 389,000 years ago, when a Plejaren herald from the Nokodemion lineage named Aijum (meaning of the name: 'the prudent one') came to Earth with 144,000 human beings from the Nokodemion people and settled in the Gobi Desert.

31. However, the teaching that Aijum taught was disregarded, as has been the case since time immemorial and always, which is why there were always only a few who opened their ears to the efforts of the Annunciator.

32. The majority of the masses, therefore, did not care for the teaching brought by the herald, but in their delusion of faith continued to follow their gods, which equally led to differences and disputes among the various faith groups, as has always been the case, even in later times, and has remained so to this day among all the delusional believers in religion on Earth.

33. At that time, however, after only a short time, the hostilities among the immigrants broke out to such an extent that the city built in the desert and the other populated areas, as well as the Earth, had to be abandoned.

34. More than 25,000 years ago, new Plejaren immigrants arrived on Earth with a slightly yellowish skin pigmentation and mixed with already existing earthly human forms, resulting in another human species that migrated to a large island.

35. The original immigrants, who came from our ANKAR universe more than 25,000 years ago, had created a dimensional gateway millions of light-years beyond the Milky Way galaxy you know, and so entered the DERN universe and from there to Earth, where they settled in fertile areas that are now all part of China.

36. What happened about 389,000 years ago, after only a third of a century, then quickly led to the termination of the action and the abandonment of Earth, after which their distant descendants many generations later, about 13,500 years ago, once again formed an Earth immigrant community and came to Earth.

37. These settled east and south in various places in the areas bordering the Mediterranean Sea and sought a new beginning.

38. This, then, was after another ancient Pleiadian emigrant community had migrated and settled in the fertile lands of what is now called China, some 11,500 years earlier.

39. When then about 13,500 years ago the up to then last Plejaren community of immigrants came to Earth, then this happened in a completely secret form, namely because since the time of 389,000 years earlier other extraterrestrials had come to the Earth in the meantime and had settled down far and wide on all continents, above all the long-skulled ones.

40. In ancient Egypt in particular, they rose to positions of power, waged wars and subjugated tribes of peoples, such as those who called themselves 'Ebraya'.

41. It was these who, in later times, under the leadership of a Negrid Plejaren descendant called 'Avian' (note meaning of name: 'He who gives refuge') – who was, however, called 'Avrahm' by the 'Ebraya' – had joined forces about 4,500 years ago with the still few distant descendants of the ancient Plejaren immigrants who appeared about 13,500 years ago and also begat many descendants.

42. From these descendants begotten between Plejaren descendants and the 'Ebraya', a sixfold lineage of termination then emerged, namely from the reincarnation line of Nokodemion, whose spirit-form reincarnated several times and in rapid succession among the 'Ebraya'.

43. This was after the then messenger Aijum from the Nokodemion line lost his life in the Gobi desert during the warfare of the earth immigrant community about 385,000 years ago and his spirit-form either remained in the earthly realm or migrated and returned, about which unfortunately nothing is known in detail.

44. What is known to us, however, is that the old Plejaren immigrants very quickly mixed with the above-mentioned tribes of peoples, but it turned out that this time, too, unpleasant disputes arose, which led to the fact that, despite the efforts of the heralds, various of these peoples split up and partly also fell into bondage to other peoples.

45. However, when I speak of those peoples into which the Plejaren immigrants integrated themselves, I am not referring to large peoples, but to larger tribes of peoples that did not correspond to complex forms of social organisation.

46. The members of these tribes of peoples, which corresponded to a tribal ethnicity, traced back to a common ancestry, which ensured that a certain mutual cohesion was given as a result of kinship.

47. This, however, did not prevent larger national peoples, who could no longer be called tribes of peoples, but real great peoples or state peoples, from forcibly binding smaller tribes of peoples into servitude.

48. This was also partly the case with the tribes of peoples who had settled around the Mediterranean areas and had mixed with the Plejaren immigrants at an early stage, who were then forced into servitude in the land of the ruling long-sufferers.

49. But the same thing happened to the 'Ebraya' not only by the rulers in ancient Egypt, but also to their distant descendants by the king of the New Babylonian Empire, Nabu-kudurri-usur II, who is also called Nebuchadnezzar II.

50. The proto-tribal leader of the 'Ebraya' was a very distant Negrid descendant of a Plejaren group who had appeared on Earth as immigrants more than 13,500 years ago, who had also mixed with Earth-humans, this proto-tribal leader called 'Avian' living in a land area called 'Plecht', east of the Mediterranean, with a nomadic tribe of 'Ebraya' who called him 'Avrahm'.

51. The denunciation by six heralds with the Nokodemion spirit-form took place after the Plejaren immigration on Earth some 13,500 years ago and lasted until the time of the year 632.

52. The heralds were the following:

53. Henoah born 3rd February 930–894 before Jmmanuel (BC)

54. Elia born 5th February 891–780 before Jmmanuel (BC)

55. Jesaja born 7th February 772–690 before Jmmanuel (BC)

56. Jeremia born 9th February 662–580 before Jmmanuel (BC)

57. Jmmanuel born 3rd February -2–111, 9th May

58. Muhammad born 19th February 571–632 after Jmmanuel (AD)

59. They all endeavoured to teach the doctrine of Nokodemion not only among the 'Ebraya' but also among various peoples who existed in the regions bordering the Mediterranean to the east and south, as well as in Egypt and on both sides of the Red Sea down to its end.

60. But they also taught far eastward to Mesopotamia, where King Gilgamesh formerly ruled in Uruk Gart, as well as to the Aryan country.

61. What I still want to explain for today, this refers to the fact that also in the sister creation the teachings in the DAL universe are taught among the peoples who have migrated from our planets, so also among the people of Ischrisch Asket, as also among all Sonaer peoples.

62. And the fact that we also brought this teaching to Earth at an early time was due to the fact that our ancestors discovered a natural dimensional gate 22 million years ago by chance, which is located here in the DERN universe about 120 light-years beyond the Pleiades stars known to you.

63. The dimensional gateway was discovered because a moon from our ANKAR universe that had drifted from an exploded planet entered the DERN universe through this dimensional gateway, which our ancestors investigated and then found to be Earth's satellite.

64. One consequence of this was that over the course of millions of years small groups of Plejaren repeatedly migrated to Earth and also died here.

65. Later, when the first human life-forms also developed on Earth around 12 million years ago in various areas that are now Europe, Africa, Asia, North and South America, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Japan, China and Russia as well as various islands, several small groups of our Plejaren ancestors had also already settled in some areas on the planet, but they all died out in the course of the next millions of years.

66. About 6 million years ago, when the distant descendants of the first human beings moved in a few specimens all over the Earth and had developed more highly over the next 3 million years, more Plejaren emigrants came to Earth, some of whom joined forces with the original earthly humans and mated with them.

...

Billy:

The norms established by Nokodemion with regard to morals, ethics, ethos etc. became valid for every single life-form up to the great mass of all human life-forms, whereby the only prerequisite for their use and implementation was to possess a clear consciousness as well as understanding, reason and a functioning intellect in order to be able to make the norms of behaviour valid.

All the conventions created by Nokodemion in primeval times and brought to Earth in the course of time and forgotten were, however, brought here again by early Plejaren some time before antiquity, when other Earth-foreigners were also coming and going and had already spread all over the world. Even from these, however, the early Plejaren kept themselves secret for millions of years, so as not to provoke interplanetary conflicts and also not to let such excesses break into their dimension. So they also held back from the Earth-foreigners who ruled in various pre-ancient countries on Earth, such as the Long Skulls, who exercised their might especially in the areas around the Nile and in the southland of the American continent. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_724

Ptaah:

16. ... the existence of the many kinds of aliens who have been working on Earth since time immemorial, about which you also have much better knowledge than we do.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_725

Ptaah:

115. This is known to me from our very numerous war records, which have been made by us during all wars and other weapons engagements on Earth since time immemorial, which are broadcast to all our worlds and Federation members as information, which has a general deterrent effect with regard to acts of war and terrorism.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_743

Ptaah:

58. Any person with Swiss citizenship who is of a different mind and violates it in such a way as to seek or even advocate membership in a foreign power, as you have stated in the Europe Union dictatorship, then such a person is not worthy of Swiss citizenship and should be immediately deprived of it and excluded from all political rights.

59. This would be done in our country according to our legal system if something similar were to arise, which will never be the case, because neither in our country nor in our entire federation do any dictatorial systems exist or are any elements that would produce such a nonsensical request.

60. Such a request would be considered a betrayal of our homeland, as well as a betrayal of our peoples, of our Plejaren and all-Federation sentiments and of our world, according to our legal system and state constitution.

61. Such a person, disloyal and disloyal to the homeland, would, according to the State Constitution, be pardonlessly excluded from all political rights of the society.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_748

Billy:

... But while we are at it, perhaps we could spend a few words on how you manage to maintain your motility and remain physically mobile at all times. As many times as I have encountered Plejaren human beings on Erra or elsewhere, I have never been able to observe any who have had physical births.

Ptaah:

57. I also, of course, use our hydrodynamic regeneration converter technology, which ensures that we reach our old age in full mobility.

Billy:

I know that, because Sfath already explained it to me. However, I am interested in something else that I never asked about, namely whether and to what extent you can self-regulate your old age? ...

Ptaah:

58. Our long lifespan of over 1,000 years corresponds to an uninfluenced natural generative process.

Billy:

What do I understand by this? A generative process, if I look at 'generative' etymologically and try to classify and define the word value as such in relation to your long lifespan correctly, then it tells me that the whole thing is 'time-honoured' and must always have been so. Therefore, when I consider this 'generative' in relation to your long lifetimes, I think that this 'generative' must probably be associated or composed with a natural 'generating' and probably at the same time with an equally natural 'regenerative process'. I could also use this to define and explain the totality of life support from conception to death. Is it true or am I right – or have I fallen on my head?

Ptaah:

59. What you think and how you put it all together can be described as correct, because you obviously understand the etymological 'traditional' in this sense as the basic meaning of 'traditional' and the like, not only with regard to a word, but also with regard to other things, such as our age of life.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_750

Ptaah:

95. Ageing as a physiological process corresponds to an elementary life process which is inherent in all higher life-forms and represents a biological phenomenon which can be positively influenced and prolonged by the most diverse measures, but whose effectiveness cannot be cancelled or terminated.

96. In general, ageing is therefore a process of a series of different, highly complex organic processes that influence the entire organism and determine the lifespan of all biological systems such as cells, consequently also limiting the organs, tissues and organisms built up from them in terms of time.

97. This process of ageing can be influenced and extended by suitable means, although maximum limits are also set in this respect, consequently organ regeneration cannot take place endlessly, because when a certain state is reached by natural ageing of the organs, they become susceptible to ageing and fail inexorably.

98. And this brings me to the explanation regarding our age limit, which according to earthly time calculation is not normally given at 1,000, 1,200 or 1,400 years or more, because our Plejaren lifespan, calculated according to earthly years, which differs only by a few with our time calculation, amounts to an average of 380 years.

99. Furthermore, with regard to the age and ageing of our Plejaren humanity, it is to be said that many persons do not endeavour to prolong their lives and consequently do not avail themselves of any of the hydrodynamic regeneration converters available to all, but live through their lifetime normally and die just as normally when they have become tired of life.

100. Suicides are absolutely unknown here, as are also diseases.

...

102. Other persons of our humanity use the regeneration apparatus to live on for a few years, decades or centuries, especially when very long commitments lasting many centuries are made and exercised.

103. However, it is seldom the case that life beyond 1,500 years is sought, because inevitably, with time, life fatigue or the natural ageing process occurs, consequently, dying then also naturally becomes the end of life.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_754

Billy:

Then something else: If I remember correctly, on Erra you have no political parties whatsoever, as this bullshit exists on Earth. Can you explain to me how you guys manage to run everything world-community-wise?

...

Ptaah:

185. 1. We Plejaren have had no political parties of any kind on Erra or on any other of our worlds, as was the case in former times, since the peace came to all our peoples more than 50,000 years ago.

186. Parties of all kinds were then banished extensively from all Plejaren rules of government, because they led to constant disagreements, as our state chronicles record.

187. Parties always meant that they discussed, negotiated and determined motions and regulations concerning any municipal matters, laws, regulations, ordinances or other necessities, and that they decreed and implemented them, which, however, did not correspond to the will of the people as a result of disagreements.

188. This was the result of a wide variety of inaccuracies and deliberate falsehoods in election proposals, which were brought about by lying and deceiving the people, because they were not enlightened in accordance with the truth, but were misled with false promises and declarations.

...

194. 2 Since the abolition of any party system more than 50,000 years ago, our experience and knowledge has shown that since then no disputes, no political differences, no quarrels, no discontent, no quarrels of opinion, no disturbances of the peace, no other inconsistencies in local, regional or national communities, and no wrong decisions have arisen.

195. Nor have there been any planetary political dangers, uprisings, demonstrations, wars or terrorism etc. since then, not even in the slightest way, which, however, was often the case in earlier times and a general unrest was permanent, as our chronicles show.

196. 3. Our exact and clear knowledge and action concerning the suppression of all political parties – as such still existed in former times more than 50,000 years ago – prove since their legal abolition that in former times, and just when parties still existed:

197. a) Political parties led unrestrictedly and inevitably to differences of opinion, quarrels and quarrels as well as to violence, discontent and communal political as well as private discord, ...

...

202. c) With us Plejaren, therefore, there has been no party system for more than 50,000 years, but our entire population-election-determination procedure is geared to our planetary or territorial communal system, respectively to our planet-wide communalisation of electronic transmission in relation to the people's sovereignty as sovereign, who determines the state duties and public tasks for transformation and implementation into action, after which the communal administrative bodies have the duty incumbent upon them to implement the electoral decisions through suitable forces, etc.

203. Basically, then, it is to be defined by way of repetition and explanation that our entire system of electoral determination is geared to the fact that all the electoral facts that arise and have to be dealt with, which originate on the one hand from the peoples and on the other hand from the state bodies, are discussed, negotiated, explained, defined and decided upon in a thorough, detailed and comprehensible manner in question-answer mode over the entire planetary expanse by means of remote communication with the populations.

204. All facts arising and put to the vote will be made known to the populations of an arising territorial or the whole Pleiadian area 30 days before the election-determination date via the corresponding remote-communicative areas.

205. After that, the people can take part in the electoral process of their own free will at the corresponding time, which will be conducted in detail over a whole day, during which everything that has to do with the election will be openly discussed and clarified in a question-and-answer procedure and finally the election will be decided.

206. d) Finally it is to be explained that our committee, which is known to you, like all the persons who assemble in the great pyramid hall, as you call our great assembly place, determine at consultative meetings which facts arise that are to be brought before the people for the determination of the election.

207. As you know, there are about 1.5 million persons present in the Pyramid Hall, who are composed of all classes of the population and who fulfil this task according to their own free will, and consequently correspond not to certain but to voluntary deputies of the population, who declare themselves willing to do so, and who are also composed of other persons at each deliberative meeting.

208. The persons who designate themselves as deputies also voluntarily change among themselves during the sessions, so that several persons can give their opinion on a single matter.

209. When, at the end of the deliberations, everything has been discussed and clarified in detail and beyond doubt, which may take several days, then the final act takes place, in which, as a rule, there is unanimity in favour of an electoral provision, which is then presented in the manner mentioned to the people for their electoral determination.

...

Billy:

... how is it actually with you on Erra and on all other planets, do the human beings of the Plejaren have any private lethal weapons at all? And what about militaries, armies and security forces etc. regarding lethal weapons etc.? ...

...

Ptaah:

249. As far as your direct question concerning weapons among the Plejaren is concerned, i.e. whether the Plejaren privately possess weapons, I can explain that this is not the case, just as we do not have any weapons of war, nor do we have any instruments etc. that are designed to kill human beings.

250. We are only equipped with effective defence instruments that are manufactured in such a way that they cannot be used to kill, but only to temporarily disable human beings or other living beings of all kinds and species, without these being in any way impaired in terms of health or even bodily-organic damage.

...

Billy:

... But that is not what I want to ask, but whether demonstrations are also known at all among you on Erra or among you Plejaren?

Ptaah:

271. In our entire Plejaren-planetary realms, demonstrations such as are carried out on Earth are absolutely unknown, because no justifications whatsoever arise that could lead to such behaviour.

272. As you know, all the concerns of each and every person are profoundly settled by our Board, which presides – together with some 1.5 million voluntary representatives of the people and in the presence of the person of concern – and consequently nothing is ever left unresolved.

273. As a result, in such discussions, clarifications, determinations and negotiations, nothing arises that cannot be clarified to the satisfaction of the person concerned, group of persons or a community of people, etc., if such negotiations and clarifications, etc., have to be clarified to the satisfaction of an individual person, a community or a population by all those participating in them.

Billy:

I know that and have already experienced it together with your father Sfath. I also know that such an event happens only very rarely and just hardly ever.

Ptaah:

274. That is correct.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_763

Florena:

... Ptaah is far away on a Federation planet called 'Orbun' where a lengthy Federal conference is being held.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_766

Billy:

Earlier I started to ask something about the first and following journeys of the Plejaren, first 25 million years ago. As I know, contacts with earthlings were made again and again, but never on a large scale, but only with individual human beings, and usually only with captains of small groups or larger tribes, as well as with sages and clever inventors. There were also other Earth-foreigners on Earth with whom the Plejaren never had any contact, among them also the long-skinned and the giants, who lived especially in Egypt, South America and Asia. But there were also the small-bodied extraterrestrials, whose distant descendants still live in Asia today, but who hide from the so-called civilised and can only rarely be observed. On the other hand, a small group of small aliens had settled around Lake Sanura, which existed here in the Pirc region about 20 or 30 million years ago before it disappeared. I would like to ask you to what extent you are aware of your earlier emigration history with regard to migrations or other longer or shorter stays on foreign worlds, whereby I am asking specifically with regard to Earth.

Ptaah:

I can't give more details on that, because in that regard I have never dealt with it much, but only to the extent that I have some limited knowledge of self-orientation.

Billy:

But perhaps your knowledge is sufficient to enable you to tell me to what extent the early Plejaren interfered on a large scale with Earthling cultures here on Earth?

Ptaah:

I can comment on this, for I know from the historiography of our early emigrants who came to Earth that there was no direct interference in cultural or otherwise profound matters on Earth. No groupings of our ancestors saw fit to do so, nor have they to this day, except for one attempt {see Contact Reports 117 and 122} which we sought to test through you, but which did not materialise as a result of the megalomania of those responsible for it in the USA, but which we had assumed beforehand – and without foresight – to be so.

Billy:

So there were never any overt or covert contacts with governments, any peoples or major organisations etc., that is clear now, but what about contacts with you alien extraterrestrials here on Earth?

Ptaah:

There are also no records in the relevant historiography that would point to such occurrences, consequently no such contacts have taken place, and indeed not up to the present hour. We of the present time also have to refrain from such contacts and to do all we can to avoid being noticed by aliens, which is what our directives tell us to do in this regard, and for good reason, as you and Onkoton have already discussed.

...

Onkoton:

... To search for other life-forms in distant regions of the galaxy or in alien galaxies involves very great dangers, for very many alien life-forms of various kinds are not only aggressive but malignant. And when such beings get to alien worlds that offer life possibilities for them, they conquer them and exterminate all life that could be dangerous to them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_770

Billy:

Excuse me – you mean that you Plejaren also learn and study music and all the trimmings?

Florena:

Of course, and Bermunda is a renowned virtuoso on Erra and is proficient on several harmony instruments.

...

Billy:

Excuse me, what do you mean by 'persons who are very strictly involved with music'? Do you mean professional musicians, like the ones we have on Earth, who earn their living with music? If so, then the question: do you also have such musicians?

Bermunda:

I suppose you call these persons so. – Yes, that is the meaning of my explanation. And yes, we also cultivate music in this wise and conduct studies of musical teaching. And that I can explain everything to you for your understanding, that I am able to do, because through my musical education I am equally well versed in the fundamentals and forms of music as well as in the theory of composition, and also in the measures and time and notation, as well as in the naming of notes, rhythm, keys and tone levels, etc.

...

Billy:

... how many languages do you actually have on Erra?

Bermunda:

We have several languages, but only one that is common to all and that each person is completely fluent in.

Billy:

Then every person can communicate with every other person, wherever they meet.

Florena:

Yes.

Billy:

Then I have the question about prostitution, fornication. I was asked how you on Erra do it? Do you also have brothels or something like that?

Bermunda:

We do not know of such things. Our directives also do not contain any such records, because basically everything in this respect is frowned upon and regulated among our peoples before it comes to emergency situations. We have regulated everything in this respect in such a manner that androids are available to regulate all private needs in this respect, on a truly private basis, without any public prostitution taking place. Thus everything is regulated privately, in such a way in female and also in male respect, consequently female as well as male androids are available, but never human beings who would give themselves to this activity. Of course, partnerships of this kind exist between two human beings, but as such they are firm unions and consequently no prostitution is practised in this relationship either.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_781

Ptaah:

... as a rule not all alien beings from foreign celestial regions or from foreign worlds of foreign celestial bodies are peaceful-minded. Peacefulness is in no way common among life-forms in any universe, for peacefulness requires a socially balanced evolution, which unfortunately is not very common. Our Federation, which is spread over several universes of 2 Creations and covers so many light-years in earthly terms that they cannot be put into usual words, is quite peaceful, but outside the Federation community everything is of a different nature.

But let us return to our peoples on Erra, as well as to our other 5 worlds that exist in our vast double-solar system, some of which are also known to you. They all have the same systems of governance, so there are no differences whatsoever from one Plejaren planet to another, for each and everything is uniformly the same in governance, in the treatment of the rights of the peoples, as well as in their developments and everything else, so there are no differences whatsoever. This is also the case with regard to gender, i.e. female or male, as well as children, activities and abilities, etc., so that there are no special positions among us, not even with regard to the fact that a human being is valued more or less because of his achievements or his office, or enjoys more or less prestige, or would attract special attention as a prominent person. The fact that human beings make themselves great and go public because they want to present themselves in their wrong thinking and wrong feeling does not exist here. E...

Billy:

So there is no publicity lust, as we call it. There is no such thing with you guys, I already know that since the time with Sfath.

Ptaah:

No, that would also be frowned upon from the ground up. We are all equal as human beings, consequently we never do anything to make ourselves look, behave, attract special attention or value ourselves more than any other.

Billy:

Sfath said respectively: A human being who puts himself in the foreground and thinks himself special is not only selfish but always looking out for himself in every way, not honest, devious and will go over dead bodies if it is necessary for him.

Ptaah:

That's how it's taught with us and how young people are taught, even in their early youth, because according to our ethics it's not acceptable that one human being – for whatever reason – thinks he's more valuable than another. But if I were to go on about our universally valid systems: If, for example, we receive any knowledge and new achievements from the Sonaern, then these are made available indiscriminately and without conditions to all our peoples, who, by the way, all practise birth control and do not allow their population to rise above the level that could somehow bring harm and destruction, annihilation or extinction to the planet, its atmosphere, climate, ecosystems or nature and its fauna and flora. Since our planets are of different sizes etc., they are also inhabited with different numbers of human beings of the total population, so, for example, according to our calculations, Erra could support, feed, provide for and maintain about 1.4 billion human beings without any problems, without harming the planet, all ecosystems and thus nature and its fauna and flora for the duration of several million years.

...

... we do not have a military, because we do not need one, because all around everything is peaceful and our peoples of all planets are classified in this peacefulness. So also all our devices and apparatuses of possibly necessary defence do not have any lethal effect on human forms or animals etc., but in any case they only produce a paralysis which lasts for several hours, but without exception all vital functions are guaranteed and harmless. We may well learn to use such apparatus and appliances, but we do not hold exercises involving the use of such things.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_790

Billy:

This is actually what I have to say, and what I learned especially from Sfath nearly 80 years ago and have never forgotten. He knew a lot more about the human psyche than is peculiar to earthly psychologists, who fancy themselves kings of their field, but in reality and truth know very little.

Quetzal:

He was really very knowledgeable in this subject, which he also taught on Erra and was a master of it.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_791

Bermunda:

... I must mention that we have had no murders on Erra and our worlds since time immemorial. This has already occurred after human beings separated from their religious beliefs more than 50,000 years ago and became free from all faith and thus free in themselves and also peaceful.

...

Bermunda:

But as far as religious faith is concerned, our faith-captured Plejaren peoples also had to realise and experience the truth about this over 50,000 years ago. This led to a great many of them ending their own lives. In the course of time, only those remained who began to cultivate their own thoughts, thought out their own decisions and carried out their own determined actions. And there also remained those who were fickle and who ultimately chose between religious faith and the reality of reality, consequently all religions and every human being whose faith very quickly became void and extinguished and the result was that the human beings became peaceful. This became established very quickly, as a result of which the nonsense of all religiosity and religious belief was recognised by the human beings themselves and reduced to absurdity. This gave rise to religion-free peoples who, without any religious belief, have now lived in peace and harmony for more than 50,000 years, because 1. the quarrels between the various religions were resolved, and 2. the human beings learned to think for themselves and also to decide logically, rationally and reasonably, consequently they also learned to act accordingly. This was also learned by the humanities and peoples belonging to our Federation, for our ancestors endeavoured to spread their new way of thinking and their new way of life and the necessary understanding of it, which was accepted and realised by all humanities in a short time.

Billy:

And the great orb at that time that had started all this, was that involved in that also with the Federated?

Bermunda:

Yes, that is how it is handed down to us.

...

Billy:

... Do you also have organ transplantation from one human being to another, or from dead to living, on Erra or elsewhere?

Bermunda:

But no, that is not possible with us, because all the dignity of a human being speaks against such a thing, because the dignity of human beings is inviolable for us. It is respected, protected and preserved in every way. This is laid down in our directives and obliges all directive order. All our peoples are committed to this and therefore they will never violate this directive and respect it as a human right, as the basis of all human dignity. This also includes peace and justice with regard to the humans themselves and their lives, whereby their fundamental rights as independent Wesen are also guaranteed and may never be violated. This fundamental right is bound up with the fact that no executive Gewalt and jurisdiction may ever be used as a directly applicable right against life and limb and therefore also not against organs, thus opposing the removal of organs, regardless of whether or not there is still life in them. ...

...

Billy:

So in terms of your directives, the meaning is, if I understand the whole thing correctly, that in any case there must be no transplantation of a foreign organ into a body.

Bermunda:

That is correct. But there is – if I may explain this in a simple way for the explanation – the possibility of a transplantation in such a way that a correspondingly necessary organ is grown from the body's own substance, if I may say so for the sake of understanding, which can then be transplanted. So our directives explicitly prohibit the transplanting of organs foreign to one's own body, which includes blood, as well as other fluids, but which are largely still unknown to earthly medicine for insertion into a living body.

Billy:

... I can still remember this. I still remember that there was talk of the corresponding organs being cultivated beforehand, depending on the possible need, before they have to be used in an emergency.

Bermunda:

That is correct, it corresponds to our procedure and practice. However, our directives forbid the removal of any organs from the deceased, because this is not only barbaric and unaesthetic and therefore unacceptable in every respect, but from a purely human point of view it means nothing other than desecration of the dead, what you call desecration of corpses on Earth. ...

Billy:

And – well, how did you Plejaren get into the business of growing human organs and transplanting them?

Bermunda:

As I know the history of our development in this regard, our path – explained in simple terms – led us to the early recognition of the properties of artificial methods for growing complex organ models from stem cells.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_794

Bermunda:

... But I would like to say that in the past it was also common for the military to play an important role and for wars to be fought until ...

Billy:

... I know, until the giant sphere appeared on Erra etc. more than 50,000 years ago and everything quickly improved and changed, as the military was also abolished at that time and true peace actually came about.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_795

Billy:

... But with him I not only learned a lot through journeys into the past and the future, which prove to me today that many things are not true what the scientists assume and spread as truth. Many things were really quite different from what they claim, for example, what actually happened with the Maya, or with other ancient peoples, and that foreigners really did come to Earth from other worlds, from far away and outside the SOL sphere of influence, from the distant expanses of the DERN universe – also the Long Skulls. What I wrote at that time, when it was, I do not remember, in response to a request to ... after which ... began. The Long-skulled were also in Babel, in Egypt, in South America and in Asia, where they ruled, whereby Sfath gave me the opportunity to check everything. ...

...

Bermunda:

... you have retrieved and created the correct peace sign, which has been prevalent among us on Erra and in our Federation for many millennia, conveying peace that is real and firmly exists.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_799

Billy:

That is unfortunately the case, because the earthlings simply allow themselves to be directed and let themselves be ruled over without daring and mustering the courage to say what would be necessary. The peoples are like will-less cows that are jumped on and ruled over by thuggish bulls and do not dare to stand up to them.

Ptaah:

What you say, we are aware of. We know that this has been so since time immemorial and will remain so for a long time to come, and for such a long time until the bulk of humanity finally awakens and demands its rights of being independent, so that it is finally no longer deviously and incorrectly guided according to the will of those in power, but is guided justly according to what it wants and determines for itself in common with its own kind, uninfluenced by vocal propaganda.

Billy:

You are thinking of the libertarian system that you have and maintain on Erra?

Ptaah:

Yes, you know that very well, and this maintains the free opinion of the human being as well as of the whole people, which also ensures peace and its freedom, Federation-wide in such a way that between all 274 worlds belonging to the Federation, spread over 702 light-years, there is vain peace and freedom.

...

Billy:

... But tell me, shouldn't we say what is actually connected with the naming of the 'foreigners', what is behind it, as well as that it is ... about, and that ...

Ptaah:

The whole of the connections of the 'foreigners' we must continue to keep quiet about, for far too much depends on it, which reaches far into the future and will change everything to such an extent that ... But about that silence is still the order of the day, and you must keep to it, as before.

Billy:

But I suppose I can bring that in and write down what we talked about, can't I? I'm sure it would also help me for not being asked anymore what and who these 'foreigners' actually are and what their purpose is.

Ptaah:

You really must not let any of this be known, because it would also be dangerous for your safety. Your knowledge of the whole of the connections of the foreigners, as we call them, so as not to have to say what they are really about, that should stay with you and not get any further, because it is really too ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_802

Ptaah:

Indeed, the whole thing is more than illusory for a long time to come, for that the Earth-humans, as emigrants into interstellar space, will ever reach outside the SOL system with their still very primitive technology, also in the future, is something that probably does not need to be talked about.

Billy:

Unless the 'foreigners', as we now call them, intervene and help, as you once said, the Earth-humans will never, ever reach galactic space with 'emigration ships'. The 'foreigners' have been particularly active again in the last 2 decades, as you keep saying, ...

...

Ptaah:

... it has been around 20 million years since our distant ancestors first came to Earth, and they kept themselves largely covered up, as did those who followed them all this time after. This has remained so to this day because it was forbidden even then, which has remained so to this day, for the Plejaren to spread out into another universe of Creation than just their own dimension. A special regulation arose very early with regard to the sister universe or the DAL universe, consequently 2 Plejaren peoples were allowed to settle there, so the Sonaer and those you know as the people from whom Asket originated.

Billy:

... Sfath, your father, has also told me a lot, and so I also know that the Plejaren used to be warrior peoples and only became peaceful a little more than 52,000 years ago with the appearance of the orb, which you were then able to enforce throughout the Federation. ...

...

Ptaah:

... It is also questionable whether the 'foreigners' will ever intervene with their more highly developed technology and help the Earth-humans so that they can really leave the Earth and SOL space one day. At any rate, it does not yet look as if the 'foreigners' will do anything of the kind, although we do not know whether any plans or arrangements have been made on their part for this, which may not be pleasant for the Earth-humans, because ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_812

Billy:

... the foreigners that we just call them that, because they are just foreign to the earthlings, even though we know about them ... Especially what the high government official – Weaver or something his name was, I do not remember exactly – explained to you {Ptaah}, Wendelle Stevens and me in confidence and then also said that he has to lie in public and hide everything. {Note: This may (or may not) be referring to retired U.S. Air Force Col. Richard Weaver who oversaw a government report on the Roswell incident in 1994.}

Ptaah:

... yes, who and where the foreigners are must be kept quiet because ...

Billy:

It's good, because I will keep quiet and I certainly will not say anything more about it than I have said so far. So I will be careful not to say who and where the foreigners are, I will not say anything about that. ...

...

Billy:

... The mass of exuberant humanity is creating its own demise, and this is happening despite the wild illusions and fantasies of being able to resettle Earth-humans on foreign planets and let them continue to exist through earthly technology and its progress. When the 'foreigners' ... ..

...

Ptaah:

You say things which you should not say.

Billy:

I do not intend to say it when I call it up, because I am only saying it to you. I can say what I said with dots ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_813

Ptaah:

... As we know very well, a great deal is negotiated and decided by many of the leaders in all the states of the Earth, which, however, remains secret from the peoples and consequently does not reach the public. Such a thing is not possible with us Plejaren and, moreover, would not be permitted according to our directives, for every member of our Federation and planetary humanity is entitled to know explicitly everything that is discussed and decided by state leaders. Furthermore, it is handled in such a way that every negotiation of state duties, as well as other duties that arise, etc., is carried out reciprocally by other persons, thus never the same persons carry out a meeting, deliberation and decision, consequently different persons are involved each time. Furthermore, all meetings, deliberations, decisions, etc., are broadcast planet-wide, so that every single person of the populations of all the planets of our vast Federation and of our planet can interfere or intervene if he or she feels it is necessary. However, this happens so rarely that it is not really worth mentioning.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_816

Billy:

... do you actually still have primordial creatures on Erra, as we do, that supposedly or really exist, such as the Yeti?

Quetzal:

Nothing is known about this on our planet. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_818

Florena:

The neutrality of the peoples of the Plejaren has represented various state leaders of the Federation for more than 52,000 years and preserves their security and the peace of the state ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_819

Ptaah:

Fundamentally, the discovery of a natural dimensional gate, still unknown to our very early ancestors, was the beginning of the whole of your mission, when it happened that about 25 million years ago a lunar structure penetrated this gate, which then found its way into this universe and to Earth and pushed away another lunar structure of little more than 1,000 kilometres in diameter, which was later captured by the giant planet Saturn. A group of explorers had also followed this lunar formation and thus found their way to Earth, which has since been visited again and again by our distant descendants, who brought a great many life-forms, plants and other goods with them to our planet, which at that time was still called 'Minator', but was renamed ERRA about 52,000 years ago, when the time of peace spread to our world. Everything old was supposed to be in the past, and so everything that seemed important to our ancestors was given new names, which is why the name of our planet was also subordinated to these changes and given the designation 'Erra', which in our language – which has remained the same since then and has not changed – meant something like 'soil' and 'earth'. This planetary designation was also used when a distant descendant of Nokodemion first came to this Earth world about 280,000 years ago and decided that the 'Teaching of Truth, Teaching of Creation-energy, Teaching of Life' should also be brought into this universe resp. into this dimension of Creation and thus to Earth. Thus it came about that via the level 'Arahat

Athersata' later on, at a certain time, down-born energies of the Nokodemion could be born on Earth, which then happened for the first time about 14,000 years ago, after which this then further came about with Enoch, Elijah, Isaiah, Jeremiah, Jmmanuel, Muhammed and you. The name of our planet, however, i.e. 'Erra', remained and was then also adopted in the Latin language on Earth, but changed to 'Terra', which meant something like 'land' and was later also interpreted as 'Earth'.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_820

Billy:

... With Sfath I once saw a monster wave in the Pacific; they sweep giant freighters into the depths of the seas when they simply roll over them. The giant thing was 38 metres high, as your father said. So I have been wanting to ask for a long time whether there are also such water monsters on the seas here on Erra?

Ptaah:

That is so.

Billy:

Sfath explained that planetary internal earth movements would create such monster waves.

Ptaah:

That corresponds to the fact, because internal earth movements create such monster waves, with magma creating internal displacements that vibrate and spread to the waters of the seas, causing them to churn.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_823

Billy:

... Also many other planets carry life-forms, some of which are very high in their consciousness development and much more advanced and intelligent than the cleverest earthlings. Other worlds also have lakes, streams and rivers, forests and seas and much more that also exists on Earth. It's just that the surfaces of other planets are shaped differently than those of Earth. But the earthlings are not ready, especially the 'heroes' who cannot imagine, do not understand and do not want to admit that many other worlds in the entire matter belt of the universe are full of life and even carry higher life, which even has highly developed techniques that also allow them to travel through the matter belt, and so on. Very many of our 'scientists' – airheads, I farewell to say, to which also various normal people belong – do not understand that the Earth in the humanly incomprehensible 'infinity' of our Creation, which is only a 7th part of all universes of Creation, is not alone inseminated and carries life, and partly also more highly intelligent life than exists on our planet. ...

return to Index

Extraterrestrials – Giza Intelligences / Bafath

{Note: This group of extraterrestrials is singled out here due to their long history of causing trouble for humanity on Earth.}

see also Ashtar Sheran

see also Fatima Apparitions (Miracle Of The Sun)

see also Heaven's Gate cult

see also Patty Heart kidnapping

see also Lourdes Apparitions

see also Men In Black

see also Reinhold O. Schmidt

see also Sodom and Gomorrah

see also Thule Society

see also UFOs / Flying Saucers

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Asket%27s\_Acquaintanceship

{Billy:}

Suddenly Asket grasped me by the hand and led me to a small entrance, opening to the pyramid.

Through long, musty passageways, we walked in twilight through the interior of the pyramid.

Then it was so dark that I could not recognise anything more.

I wondered about the fact that I did not collide with anything and that Asket found the way in spite of this literally Egyptian darkness.

(Translators' note. This German idiom "Egyptian darkness" corresponds to "pitch dark" in English.)

We walked in that manner for a long time and I felt that we climbed down somewhere on various occasions.

Then suddenly a very weak light was discernable precisely as if the first light of dawn entered, yet I was not able to fathom the source of this twilight.

Now we stood before an enormous, squared stone, somewhere deep in the pyramid.

Right before my eyes, suddenly the gigantic ashlar simply dissolved into nothing.

And already Asket pulled me over the position where, just a few seconds before, the giant ashlar had been completely joined with other squared stones.

A steeply descending passageway, which was guarded by two oddly-clothed men, opened behind the ashlar which had just now vanished.

And as I threw back a glance as I walked down the passageway, I could not help but ascertain that the squared stone, which had just disappeared, was again precisely as visible and completely joined as just shortly before, when I saw it for the first time from the other side.

As I made this assessment, Asket's "voice" whispered in my consciousness that I should be mute and not try to speak because we were in a place which was not constructed by her race and it additionally would not be even slightly useful if we were to be identified here and uncovered by the guards.

The guards we saw are members of, or are related to, a power-conscious, extraterrestrial group, who, through certain impure means, force a majority of Earth humanity under their control, in order to bring the entire Earth under their control.

So then I became silent and mutely followed my leader past the two guards, who took no initiative at all against us.

Quite obviously they could not see us and it seemed to me as if, for the two of them, Asket and I simply did not exist.

...

The passage, which was furnished throughout with steps, led steeply and deeply down into the pyramid – deeper and deeper it went down, and then, suddenly, we stood in a gigantic hall which seemed to overflow with light coming from everywhere and nowhere.

The hall was giant sized, as was the gigantic disc-shaped spaceship which rested here next to various smaller ships in the middle of this hall, deep below the surface of the Earth.

A giant spaceship deep below the foundation walls of the Pyramid of Giza.

...

Here, resting deep below the Pyramid of Giza, was actually a disc-shaped spaceship of approximately three hundred metres in diameter.

A ship similar to the one I already had seen once on June 2nd, 1942.

And this ship here must indeed already have been in this giant storage hall for centuries or even for millennia, very deep under the earth and, by my reckoning, at least 3,000 or 4,000 metres below, or to the side and downward, from the Pyramid of Giza.

Asket did not allow me very much time to sink into astonished contemplation of this ship, because she already pulled me by the hand further to a small plateau on which I had already, from a distance, been able to see some sort of still-unidentifiable things.

Yet with what this dealt did not stay a secret to me for long, because, as I arrived at this small plateau with Asket, I was not spared astonishment.

I required minutes in order for me to finally become conscious of the complete facts.

On the small plateau lay an ancient, large and very heavy, wooden, Y-shaped cross.

There were three rusty things right next to it, which, indeed, hundreds or thousands of years ago, must have once been hand-forged nails.

Or was the brownish-black coating on the nails not rust at all – was it perhaps blood?

Was it perhaps blood like the brownish-black coating on three different positions on the wooden cross?

It must indeed have been so because right next to these things lay an ancient wreath, wound around many times, with abnormally big thorns, on which this red-brown coating was likewise recognizable.

That this wreath of thorns was unmistakably constructed something like a crown could not be overlooked.

Also the about two metre, blackish, wooden rod and the purple-coloured cape were not to be overlooked next to a small leather pouch out of which glass pearls or glass stones appeared to have rolled.

It was unmistakable: here I stood before Christ's, respectively Jmmanuel's, crucifixion utensils. It simply had to have been so and nothing else.

I was not even able to imagine another possibility.

Here I stood before everything which was connected with the death of Jmmanuel alias Jesus Christ – and the glassy stones in the little leather pouch were not stones, rather certain precious stones, whose sense and purpose, however, I was not yet able to fathom.

...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Asket%27s\_Explanations\_-\_Part\_1

Asket:

184. But Sfath spoke the truth, because even as with all other religions, the Christian religion is also only an evil and wrong enslaving, poor piece of work of Earth-humans, who, in their establishment of religions, found the wealth promised to them, and power over fellow men, and found that they would be addressed by a degenerated group of extraterrestrial intelligences if they would spread the erroneous religious teaching.

185. I hereby speak of the extraterrestrial race, which here, since ancient times, wants to attain supremacy over the Earth humanity and, accordingly, to always again unfold the glow and flame of the various religions and always new sects because only through that may they obtain their goal.

186. For thousands of years they deceived the Earth human with religious "miracles" and "visions" of every kind, in order to maintain, and to yet further increase, the religious delusion.

187. Out of these grounds they have also created a mighty station under the Pyramid of Giza, in order to guide, from there, the religious delusional events of the Earth.

188. Self-evidently, they had to bring their great space ship into security, so they constructed the underground hanger where their ship has already been stored for thousands of years.

189. They direct and lead everything from under there that serves the purposes of religion and serves the religious and sectarian enslavement of the Earth human.

190. And, in order to top it all off, they made the utensils some decades ago which you have seen there.

191. They are as false and inane as the attitude of this space-faring group itself, because the true utensils of Jmmanuel and also the cross are already long rotted away and decayed to dust.

192. The imitation of the utensils succeeds as deceptively genuine, and this falsification would not be recognized even by an expert of your science with all the devices and apparatus available to him, because, in those kinds of things, this evil-minded group work with the most extreme precision and greatest ability.

193. The life-forms seen by you are the guards of the secret station and they kill every life-form which is ever lost in there.

194. Their technical possibilities for the positioning of distorting radiations are, at any rate, very small, subsequently we can go in there, unconcerned, in invisible form.

195. The meaning of the falsified Christ-utensils lies in the intention that an Earth human, in a very short time, will be influenced in a hallucinatory way by these malicious life-forms, to such a degree that all that was seen by you can be transmitted to him as an entire experience.

196. This Earth human already stands under the influence of these malicious beings.

197. Often he is transferred into a trance state by them and then the images are transmitted to him.

198. He thereby perceives and feels everything exactly as if he hears, sees, feels and experiences it in reality, although he only lies and sleeps somewhere, and everything is impressed into him as a dream.

199. In the state of being awake, he will be just as much tricked as his friends and acquaintances by images of space ships which indeed can be projected so true to reality that anyone can catch them on film.

200. These appearances are, however, without exception, only nebulous and holographic pictures which are not able to exhibit actual contours.

201. The entire meaning lies therefore only in a malicious deception with the purposes that the concerned Earth human, who will be called \(Reinhold\) Schmidt, talks about himself - and spreads the images and experiences, and so forth, implanted in him by means of holographs and dream-state-hallucinations - in order to maintain the religion of Christianity.

202. Thereby such an Earth human will become an unconscious deceiver of himself and of all those who believe his explanations.

203. Indeed, he does not know that he has never been in this pyramid with the spaceship and the counterfeit utensils, or that it has all only been implanted in him as reality, through trickery, and that he has never flown in a spaceship ...

...

205. The list will be very long of those Earth-humans who, already in the shortest period of time, will appear publicly to fraudulently and maliciously bring their fellow humans under their power by saying that they are in contact with beings of extraterrestrial origin.

206. There will be many among them who will do this as a result of delusion or for religious and profit-driven reasons, while others will be partially steered by the malevolent life-forms in the pyramid.

207. In order to make these fraudulent assertions appear more believable, they will even go so far as letting it be spread that the extraterrestrial intelligences are very interested in the terrestrial Christian religion, and, in this regard, will very gladly be taught by the Earth human.

208. The first weighty steps in this direction have already been undertaken in order to spread this new false teaching and thereby to make the evil soil of religion which is increasingly retreating into the background, more fertile again.

209. Everything is intended to appear as if the extraterrestrial life-forms, up to now, in a religious regard, have been misguided and are ignorant, and that now they will find the great salvation on the Earth and will carry it out into space.

210. It will be asserted that these extraterrestrial life-forms will even be grateful to the Earth-humans for this, because only through them will they recognize the son of god, Jesus Christ, as redeemer and lord of the universe, and so forth, and to that end, towards the end of the millennium, even the Pope will extend the hand, at least in the form of the alleged universal validity of Christianity.

211. This will already be so within a very short period of time, because the plans for these evil machinations are already being evaluated and converted into reality.

212. However, the Earth human should protect himself from these machinations, because they only serve the purposes of enslavement by those who maintain their station in Giza.

213. If the Earth human continues to work according to their wishes and demands, then they will, in the not too distant future, as in earlier times, appear officially in order to again bring Earth humanity under their rule through murder, tribunals and barbarism.

214. That will then be so if the Earth human continues to allow himself to be led astray by their religions, and brings himself so far that the evil life-forms can again appear as angels and gods, as they have done in earlier times.

215. But if they do not succeed in that, then in spite of that, further danger from them exists, because they are so malicious that, if need be, they will also try to reach their goal by barbaric violence and a great worldwide war.

...

218. But, if the Earth human continues to live attached to religions, then he thereby only serves the wishes, and desires for power, of those who have worked for a long time towards the conquest of Earth and thereby for world control.

219. The Earth human must pay very precise attention to these things because otherwise a worldwide war of annihilation threatens him, which, as the Third World War, could bring the final defeat and enslavement over the Earth - directed and steered by the malicious extraterrestrial life-forms under the pyramid of Giza.

...

257. You will therefore attain the proof that, that which is known to you as the New Testament is exactly as much a malicious falsification as all the other religious books which exist on this world.

258. These were not only maliciously falsified by Earth-humans themselves, rather also often with the help of the malicious extraterrestrial life-forms who steered many events of this kind from the pyramid of Giza.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_031

Billy:

... But what is it now about the Giza-Heinis also taking human beings for flights?

Ptaah:

996. I see, you are thinking of the world domination addicts.

997. Well, in earthly terms, these life-forms are enemies of Earth-humans, but on the other hand they are also enemies of us, whereby by us I again mean all intelligences of extraterrestrial origin.

998. So they have nothing in common with us in terms of our tasks.

999. Therefore, when I spoke earlier of only three Earth-humans being taken on flights into outer space in this century, I was really speaking only of us, not of these malignant life-forms.

1000. In order to achieve their devious aim, they have made contact with various Earth-humans and have also taken them on very short flights into space, but only outside the Earth's atmosphere, and such occurrences are many more with them than with us.

1001. For our part, we are anxious only to take Earth-humans out into free space who, according to their evolution of consciousness and spirit, are capable of evaluating these flights.

1002. The malignant life-forms, however, transport Earth-humans who are absolutely incapable of consciousness into the near Earth space in order to make them willing and to deceive them in order to be able to exploit them for their plans of world domination.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_033

Semjase:

5. The object which appeared yesterday and the day before yesterday was the same that you had already photographed on the evening of the 20th of April.
6. This however was not a beamship, as you assumed, but a small spaceship.
7. It also did not belong to us, but to other and rather unfriendly intelligences.
8. These strive very much to interfere with our work and maybe even to destroy it.
9. They have been particularly interested in you for months, because they want to get you into their custody.
10. The reason for this is the following:
11. These intelligences are striving to bring the planet Earth and its humanity under their sovereignty.
12. For this they make use of very unfair means, and do not even shy away from human abductions.
13. They are one of those groups which operate with the earthly religions, and which successfully profit from it, as unenlightened Earth-humans get into connection with them and become religiously influenced.
14. Misled by these intrigues, the deceived contact persons then work unconsciously for the evil purposes of these troublemakers, and step by step they slowly bring them closer toward their goal.
15. Namely the goal, means the domination of the Earth and of the Earth-humans, which these intelligences have already been working towards for thousands of years.
16. Unfortunately, the deceived ones often come out of their silence, and spread the religion-induced misguidances that these ill-intentioned liars have given to them.
17. And they achieve great success through this, as you already well enough know, because the Earth-human is exceptionally strongly trapped in unreal religious paths.

Billy:

That is known to me, but what does this have to do with these "birds"? To which group do they belong? Are they perhaps members of the 'pyramid moles'?

Semjase:

18. If you mean the Giza intelligences, then I confirm it.

Billy:

I almost came to that conclusion from your words, but what do these guys want from me then? You already told me that they were a danger to me.

Semjase:

19. They surely are a danger, and a very large one which you must not underestimate.
20. They know the history of your life and your task very precisely.
21. They know that you must enlighten humans as the prophet of the truth, and that you must bring back the true spiritual teaching.
22. This represents an enormous danger for them, because through it, the modern age human will sooner or later abandon religion, and will then seek the true religion in association with the Relegeon, because they will in other words, find and recognise the real truth.
23. As a result, these evil intelligences would naturally be hindered in the execution of their domineering plans, and their very long term enterprises would be put into question.
24. Their previous mode of operation, to secretly work with the false religions, was and still is their only way to achieve their goal and to appear as gods and angels.
25. They do not have another possibility, because they know very well that if they were to take dominion over the Earth and its inhabitants by force, the Earth folks would recognise the truth, and rebel against it by all possible means and fight back.
26. A war would become inevitable, but this is something that these intelligences could not afford, because they number only a few thousand beings.

27. Their technology is very outdated and they must fear the terrestrial explosion weapons in every respect.
28. Because of this, nowadays they would even be less able to involve themselves in a war with the Earth-humans, than they would have in previous times.
29. Their only possibility is to drive humanity into the final madness of their religions, in order to appear as gods and angels and take over the dominion of the Earth for themselves as they once did, before they were displaced again.
- ...
31. We have already been striving for a long time for a termination of the progress of these intelligences, and we are also capable of putting them in their place.
32. For a few months now, they have been trying to abduct you, to stop you from promulgating the truth.
33. With their appearance, they hope that you would let yourself be tempted to move to a convenient place for them, where they could kidnap and deport you.
34. Therefore be very alert and do not let yourself be enticed into making unwise moves.
35. We do monitor these evil-wishers, however they are equal to us in certain things, and we have our hands full with them.
36. Practice therefore the most extreme caution, because they truly do not shy away from any scheming.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_034

Billy:

... I am now still further interested in a matter related to the so-called appearances of Saints. I mean those phenomena, that are in a religious fashion dressed up in a holiness like for example the alleged appearance of a so-called Saint, after which the dear humans at the location of appearance are then creating places of pilgrimage out of it. ...

...

Semjase:

195. You know very well that these phenomena are only personally generated visions or machinations of those power groups and those Earth humans who want to cast their spell over the Earth humans through the religious forms of appearance, and in others are caused by Earth humans through their exuberant religious imagination.

196. This means, on the one hand, that the evil-minded extraterrestrial Giza intelligences, who want to bring the Earth into their power, cause such phenomena by projections or play such a role themselves, and, on the other hand, that Earth-humans afflicted by the religious delusion send out their horrendous fantasy by their consciousness-based powers and cause such phenomena by projection or visually-semi-materially.

...

201. And you also know very well that as another example the appearance of Fatima was nothing else but the evil play of the Giza intelligences, who let one of their ships appear in radiant light and then one of their female life forms appeared as the Mother of God, although they made the mistake that the woman remained in her space suit and this was registered by critical observers.

...

275. I have told you several times that various groups are working to disrupt our work, and your work in particular.

276. These are, without exception, associations, individuals and groups that have fallen into untruth, partly by religion and partly influenced by the dark powers of those addicted to seeking power.

...

277. You also know very well that every human is able to influence other human beings at unlimited distances in such a manner that they do exactly what they are commanded to do.

...

279. ... my speech is related to the world domination addicts mentioned earlier.

280. And I am talking about those of extraterrestrial origins who want to bring this world under their control, the Giza intelligences.

281. They use not only mystically inclined and misguided earthlings, but also other groups, mostly those that for some unclear and rather confused reason show anarchistic tendencies, such as the Red Army in Japan, the German Baader-Meinhof-Group, the Red Army Fraction and the American Symbionese Liberation Army.

282. The latter group, the American, is to be inspired by the aforementioned malignant intelligences to commit an extraordinary crime.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_035

Semjase:

3. You shall once again interfere in earthly events and exercise your powers, for things are happening which are of decisive importance with regard to the standing of the reality of all extraterrestrial life-forms.

4. The world domination-addicted intelligences of Giza are preparing a very malicious crime to harm various other intelligences they dislike and question their credibility.

5. In recent times they have made great efforts to influence terrestrial humans in sectarian form in order to commit, in this form, an unusually malicious crime against human life, whereby the existence of extraterrestrials is to be made impossible and ridiculous, but whereby on the other hand their madness of religion for the purpose of their world domination addiction is to find new breeding ground for them.

6. Here's the thing now:

7. For some time now, a couple of earthlings in particular have been under the evil influence of the Giza intelligences in order to initiate criminal and degrading things in their evil sense.

8. The purpose of these machinations is to mislead earthlings in larger masses with the lying instruction that the Earth will no longer be habitable in about a decade.

9. According to this assertion of lies the Earth-humans would therefore die en masse and everything would fall prey to death.

10. However, it is not given that all terrestrial humans must die, why a rescue by extraterrestrials is intended.

11. Willing persons would therefore be picked up by extraterrestrial intelligences by a spaceship and brought to another, better and more beautiful world, where they would have a free and better life.

12. This has already been announced through billboards and other advertising.

13. Also, a meeting serving this evil cause was already held last Sunday (14th September 1975; Declaration of 16th September 1975) to get hold of the willing.

14. That is what happened in America in a place called WALDPORST {see Heaven's Gate cult}.

...

Billy:

... But tell me: What about the Gizeh twerps? Asket once told me something about how they wanted to influence a person to make him believe that he had been in the pyramid and had seen the crucifixion utensils there. She told me that in 1956, but I have never heard of such an incident before. Didn't the Gizeh fellows run this undertaking back then? If it were true, I should have heard something about it.

Semjase:

43. The deception manoeuvre has taken place, and the Gizeh intelligences have even succeeded very well.

44. The deception took place with an American named REINHOLD SCHMIDT, a grain buyer from California.

45. But he was also misused for other things, so he was fooled into travelling to the Arctic with a spaceship and so on.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_036

Semjase:

29. Via the then leaders of the Thule Society and their clairvoyant Hanussen I, the Giza intelligences managed to take possession of the being of Adolf Hitler and to abuse him for their dark and malicious purposes, without him resisting it, because a delusional greed for power had flared up in him himself.

30. In addition to this undertaking, innumerable forces in the form of human beings of Earth who had fallen prey to the Giza intelligences were regarding their consciousness manipulated and placed in his closest vicinity, whose influence he was also unable to withstand.

...

33. Adolf Hitler had succumbed to a delusion of power and was also maliciously abused by the Giza intelligences, with the old Thule Society playing a not inconsiderable part in this, which, however, cannot be transferred to the society of the same name of the new form.

...

35. A few days ago, through painstaking research and surveillance, we were able to gain a clear understanding of the fact that Ashtar Sheran actually exists and that the only reason we could not recognise him was because he fraudulently wrapped himself in this name.

36. A part of his real name is ARUSEAK along with another sequence of names, and he is a cousin of the supreme Giza intelligence.

37. On their behalf he controlled the old German Thule society, in which he introduced two strong telepathic factors, but which also influenced many Thule society members and various outside groups on a telenotic basis, including those who received the pseudo-messages of Ashtar Sheran.

...

107. The events of Fatima actually trace back to these intelligences, as do many similar events.

108. All we knew so far was that the Giza intelligences were responsible for all these events and that everything was done by Ashtar Sheran or by his command.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_038

Quetzal:

15. Aruseak, alias Ashtar Sheran, and so forth, is, as far as the fulfilment of his apportioned mission is concerned, the leader of an assembly of intelligences consisting of thousands of individuals, who, until 15 years ago, stood under the direct command of the world-control seeking KAMAGOL.

16. Aruseak and Kamagol are, according to their blood association, cousins, as it is named by you.

17. But Kamagol is the leader and ruler over a splinter group of many thousands of descendants who, in earlier times were separated, which means that this group had been separated by those powers who, earlier, possessed the control over your Earth and whose highest leader was an JHWH.

18. As it has always been, however, power struggles and lust for power also ruled among them, as unfortunately is characteristic of the human life form in its course of evolution.

19. One of the most greedy for might at that time was ARUSSEM, who, with a group of many thousands broke away from the majority of the celestial sons who had already become peaceful, and went his own way with the mind to make the Earth and its life forms subordinate.

20. His way of obtaining his goal was that of lies and deceit, of misleading and false teaching in the form of cultic false teachings which he was able to very skillfully weave into the religious teachings.

21. Through emissaries, and Earth-humans who had succumbed to him, he mixed these teachings among the Earth-humans whereby he soon won many followers of his false teachings.

22. It was primarily the gypsies on the Nile and in the further vicinity of the Mediterranean Sea and the Red Sea, who fanatically hung on his false teachings and began to spread them.

23. But the Hebrews, as they were, later freed themselves from this rule, as Arussem had to cede control to his successor, who was then named JEHOVAH, and so forth, in the tongue of the Earth-humans.

24. Having grown in the number of their people, the Hebrews created their own might and elected themselves as chosen ones.

25. They assumed for themselves the right to be qualified for world-control and to be worthy as chosen people, although they were never a people, rather only a low human group of gypsies of all kinds of colors and races who had come together.

26. But since the events of that time, they unjustifiably presented themselves as the first-ones, as the pre-entitled to rule the Earth, faithful to the examples who wanted to bring the whole Earth into bondage.

27. Thereby they became renegades, as also were their models, who now from their side, had to seek new ways to realise their wishes for power.

28. They found these ways then also through Kamagol the First, who succeeded Jehovah, who had assumed the name of an JHWH.

29. Like no ruler before, Kamagol the First forced all terrestrial religions into the frame of blood-demanding cults which, unfortunately, were able to be maintained on the Earth up to the current time.

30. In spite of many efforts of the righteous celestial sons they were not able to prohibit his evil machinations, therefore he could grasp the cultic religions around himself more and more and control the world.

31. Mighty in many kinds of technical and consciousness-related resources and powers, Kamagol's assembly was able to force the Earth-humans into its power and completely lead them into a cultic religion confusion.

32. However, also Kamagol the First could not assert his position of power because, after he had created for himself a centre and a headquarters deep under the surface of the pyramids of Giza, he was overthrown and disempowered by his own son, KAMAGOL the Second.

33. In many things he was even more malicious than his father, which he also soon proved through the introduction of monstrous mass killings of the Earth-humans.

34. Very many bloody events on the Earth which were carried out through the cultic religions, in truth, concern the will and the influencing of Kamagol the Second.

35. He and his assembly have become known, in insider circles, as the GIZA INTELLIGENCES.

36. This is because they maintain their actual command centre there and guide all events from there.

37. Many kinds of efforts were undertaken to prepare an end for this command centre and the driving force of this malicious assembly, yet that has basically failed up until now, because they have secured everything so much that effective alterations could only be obtained with malicious illogical force, which is not allowed to us and all others who are oriented regarding these facts.

38. Kamagol the First now selected one of his cousins as the authority over a group of thousands of individuals which had a quite special mission to fulfil - or would have had.

39. This task was essentially based on the telenotic guiding of various groups of humans of Aryan lineage into certain paths, in particular in Germany, America, Argentina and Brazil, in order to provide unconscious assistance for Kamagol's plans.

40. During the first time period, Aruseak, therefore Ashtar Sheran and whatever his other names may yet be, followed these orders unconditionally, so thereby Kamagol allocated further great power.

41. But in the course of time he obtained many kinds of understanding and modified his behavior.

42. Until then, he acted only according to the orders of Kamagol, so he only modified his tactic unnoticeably and thereby influenced, firstly, his assembly, which he indeed required.

43. By and by he obtained their trust, and they acknowledged him as their actual leader.

44. So it was an easy game for him to, by and by, include the obtained understanding of the truth and also to act according to it, even with the knowledge of his assembly.

45. With their acquiescence they loosened themselves from the control of Kamagol and formed a new splinter group.

46. That happened in the Earth year 1933.

47. Since then Aruseak followed his mission, imposed on him by Kamagol, to a degree, and transmitted his messages to various Earth-humans using telepathic impulses.

...

Billy:

... Your explanation says therefore, that Aruseak has broken away from the Giza Intelligences and has made himself autonomous. ...

...

Semjase:

144. A real vision describes a certain form of a guided vision.

145. It is a form of vision that is dominated by many intelligences, including the Giza intelligences.

146. By these arbitrarily provokable and steerable visions, different extraterrestrials – and also we – influence life forms, in order to obtain certain impressions for them in this way, which are instructive to them and which they are to make accessible by spreading also to others, in order to also purposefully affect the surroundings.

147. These steerable visions are so massively realistic that the influenced life form becomes convinced that it has experienced the vision as reality.

...

179. As you have been oriented by Quetzal, Aruseak has been pinning his hopes on the Giza intelligences, and therefore it is necessary to wait for further development first.

180. Furthermore, we are informed about the names in books and writings of the Ventla-Publishers as well as many other groups and individuals.

181. But as contact persons they are completely foreign to us, although we know from many of them that they partly belong to the Giza intelligences or grossly abuse any truth.

182. The Ventla-Publishers are sectarian in nature, and also publish false contact reports.

Billy:

There will be an uproar, Semjase, because Ventla-Publishers has a lot of names ...

Semjase:

183. ... of which only a few belong to very few real contact persons.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_039

Semjase:

174. 723 Earth-humans are contact persons of the Giza-Intelligences.

175. These, however, are not counted among the real contact persons.

176. 27 of these 723 Giza contact persons have come to the public worldwide.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_043

Semjase:

55. ... the Giza Intelligences, which unfortunately we are not always able to monitor very precisely with their dark machinations.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_044

Semjase:

85. But I do not want to exclude the possibility of explaining to you that the persons I have described as negative may have been in connection with the intelligences of Giza or may still be in connection with them, because we do not exercise precise control over them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_051

Semjase:

60. At three different locations, extremely small amplifier stations were set into trees at intervals of 230 meters each.

61. These stations with a size of just under one square centimeter, functioned and served as relay stations which interference transmitted oscillations from a central transmitter in very intense and dangerous values.

62. The central station floated in a constant position high in free space, but we could not clarify its origin.

63. We only have probability calculations for this, but with only 47 values they allow a very small evaluation.

Billy:

I understand, but I am still thinking about a certain possibility.

Semjase:

64. We have also considered this possibility, and there are indeed several things that point to Giza.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_054

Billy:

... Would you rather tell me how many other alien races are actually still stationed on the Earth?

Semjase:

54. There are seven more of them.

...

Billy:

Are the Giza intelligences included in these seven races?

Semjase:

57. They are not.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_055

Billy:

... But much more interesting would be the answer to the question whether Ganymede, the moon of Jupiter, is inhabited and whether it is perhaps a spaceship?

Semjase:

96. Ganimed is a very metal-like small planet and not habitable.

97. There are no people living there either, but there are a few alien human life-forms that are stationed there for a short time.

98. But it is not a spaceship.

Billy:

But the life-forms that are stationed there maintain the contacts with the Earth-humans?

Semjase:

99. Sure, because they are the Giza intelligences.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_069

Billy:

... Recently I was told that one evening about three or four weeks ago a triangular and radiant ship hung almost vertically high above our house for about twenty minutes. This was told to me by an innkeeper who wanted to have the object observed. It is interesting to note that exactly at this time in our house different people began to rotate and I finally ran away because everything became too much for me. I thought about it and came across all sorts of things. Do you have any idea what kind of ship it might have been? You know, it must have looked like a delta, with bright rays of light at the front and colourful play of light rays at the back.

Semjase:

137. You say delta-shaped?

138. That can only have been Giza-Intelligences who let their influence play.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_070

{Note: This Contact Report contains a detailed history of the Plejaren civilization and their expeditions to Earth and the Solar system, along with the emergence of the Giza Intelligences and the history of their leadership, which is not reproduced here.}

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_076

Menara:

24. The main thing is that the intelligences of Giza have made themselves noticeable again and are trying by all means to disrupt the construction of the Centre.

25. But not only that, because they try to destroy everything in all possible ways, because in their evilness they fear and have to fear the truth.

26. This is also the reason why all sorts of evil has befallen you in recent times and that you have had various accidents and other nuisances.

27. Some of your group were and are particularly at risk, which is why Semjase warned you some time ago at night when you could prepare the persons concerned to exercise special caution.

28. These are all the persons in the group who are particularly sensitive to the forces of the negatively controlled Giza intelligences, who have agreed in alliance with the Brazilian group to use even malicious means to destroy the Centre.

29. Be careful, therefore, for you may be threatened by danger in a material form even from Brazil.

30. The consciousness-based influences of the intelligences of Giza should not be taken lightly either, as you are used to saying, because they are particularly dangerous.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_080

Semjase:

60. What is certain so far is that the Giza intelligences have joined forces with a group of fleeing and malignant intelligences from space who are involved in the concerns of the Giza intelligences and are helpful to them.

61. Their outer forms correspond to your observation that they have oversized eyes and some other special things about them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_081

Ptaah:

42. Certain events of the recent past can even be traced back to this, because through the unreasonableness of a certain member (Margreth Flammer) who, despite repeated warnings, continues to indulge herself with new spiritualistic sessions, negative swinging-waves were able to spread from the medium in question, registered by a brain-analyser of the Giza intelligence's that found a weak spot and consequently created that artificial insect, with the help of a malignant refugee group from a space-time displaced area of the Pegasus constellation, guilty of bacterial contamination in the Center.

...

Quetzal:

2. The evil occurrence with the collapse of the wall could have been avoided if the reports had been followed.

3. Semjase had long pointed out that the Center was to be secured and guarded.

4. However, this advice was not followed, which is why it was possible to push down the wall.

...

7. It is a work by the Giza-intelligences in collaboration with the refugees from the Pegasus area.

8. They were located by and brought to the attention of the group in Brazil about 6 weeks ago, after which a connection was established between them.

9. The merger with the Giza-intelligences was then only a matter of time.

10. Best oriented about the processes in your Center and in detail about the group members, they also know about the growing existence of the actual value of the Sohar-Centre {see the last entry here, a meditation area at the Semjase Silver Star Center}.

11. But this, the actual value, means extreme danger for them, because when it is completed and when it is in operation, then they have finally lost.

12. This is precisely what they want to prevent, which is why every inconspicuous path to destruction is right for them.

13. So they took advantage of the knowledge of the Pegasus refugees and of their equipment.

14. A swinging-wave vibrator, working on a microwave basis, thereby came to them very conveniently, in order to cause damage to the actual value of the developing Sohar-Centre and to possibly destroy it.

15. A Pegasus refugee, whom you have observed, investigated the data of the value, after which on August 30th around the fourth hour of the morning the Pegasus ship was directed to the Centre to bring the swinging-wave vibrator into action.

16. The swinging-wave bundle was placed behind the wall, which had already collapsed earlier due to a water ingress.

17. The strong swinging-waves released caused a very high vibrational wave, which within a few seconds pulled the nearly 150 centimetres thick concrete wall from its anchorage, lifted it a little and hurled it forward, which is why it had fallen so far forward.

...

19. The microwave swinging-wave vibrators work with such a strong potency that in a few fractions of a second they are deadly to any form of life in such a manner that it acts like a lightning-fast ageing process, which even an ignorant person could immediately detect.

20. But this is precisely what the negative Giza-intelligences cannot afford, namely that things can be determined that point to their actual existence.

21. If this were to happen, they would publicly expose themselves and reveal their existence, after which your explanations, which you would certainly spread, would be accepted by the Earth-humans, and especially by scientists and the authorities, with the result that the Giza-intelligences would be searched for and every religion, which are their best aid for their world domination plans, would be shaken.

22. Therefore, they must not do anything to indicate their existence, which is why they would not have done anything if any of you had watched in the vicinity of the area of value.

Billy:

I understand. – So the twerps will not do anything that would be inexplicable to the Earth-humans, which is why everything is arranged in such a manner that it looks as if it were earthly?

Quetzal:

23. That is correct.

...

Billy:

... But tell me, Quetzal, how does the crazy vibration swinging-wave work?

Quetzal:

24. It is a swinging-wave vibrator, not a vibration-swinging wave.

25. Unfortunately, I am not allowed to explain officially how it is constructed, but you can be assured that the Earth scientists are already developing these apparatuses in their early days.

26. These, however, are completely different in operation from those of the Pegasus refugees.

27. They are highly transformed by a precisely tuned thought oscillation, after which they generate the necessary energy.

28. The Giza-intelligences are not able to do this, because they are not able to generate these thought impulses, thus they were dependent on the Pegasus refugees.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_082

Semjase:

35. The truth is that Margreth's various séances over the last three months have released and radiated secrets from her subconscious by the medium that referred to the Sohar-Centre.

36. These negative vibrations in this sense were located and analyzed by the Giza intelligences, who were only then informed about the emergence of the Centre.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_092

Semjase:

38. You destroyed your blockade by all your work and your burdens, which you did not realize, because your anger almost made you race and lose all control.

39. As a result, malignant swinging waves penetrated into you, which are directed at you by directional beam devices through the Giza Intelligences.

40. The rupture of the blockade meant that these swinging waves were able to penetrate you unhindered and trigger reactions in you that are dangerous not only for yourself but for all our tasks, because you act so unreasonably and emotionally when these swinging waves hit you that have to work destructively upon you.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_102

Billy:

... About 150 metres away, I suddenly heard the howling of a low-flying jet plane, looked around and saw a jet fighter racing up at only a low height above the ground. Only a few hundred meters before the derelict building the devil-bird all of a sudden shot half diagonally into the sky, ripped over the building – and then a completely hellish crack. Like a primordial thunder, the sound shattered back over me, and then I saw, as if in slow motion, how the dilapidated house collapsed into itself as if destroyed by a ghostly hand, while it somehow seemed to vibrate and dust was whirled up. The tremendous thunder now on the last Saturday morning, it sounded exactly like the smashing of the sound barrier at that time, only this time it was directly above me and thus above the roof of our house.

...

Quetzal:

91. Menara and I were at a low altitude directly above your actual Centre in a state of invisibility.

92. Suddenly, after the first explosion in the village, a triangular ship shot in from the south, just when the second explosion took place.

93. At a height of only about 60 meters, it hovered briefly above your house, only to shoot into the sky with triple power immediately after the third explosion in the village.

94. I immediately realised what this meant and acted in a fraction of a second.

95. Our ship shot forward and the next moment it floated directly over the fireplace of your house, less than 10 meters above the ground.

96. Then the blow came from high above and threatened to smash our ship, which fortunately withstood the vicious force.

97. The huge soaring cracking sound of the breaking sound barrier fanned away from the ship and raced across the house, while the acoustic waves continued downwards in spite of everything and hit the house as an evil force, shaking it very hard.

Billy:

Then these were our dear friends, the Gizeh-twerps, yes?

Quetzal:

98. That's correct.

Billy:

... Did you and Menara at least this time give these lousy brothers a little lesson?

Quetzal:

99. That was Menara's work.

100. The Giza ship, a remote-controlled apparatus, the last of its kind they possessed, was completely eliminated by her after a short chase.

Billy:

Aha, so you blew it out, yes?

Menara:

14. It was like that, yes.

Billy:

Thank you, my child, I am glad. Then we do not have to fear anything similar anymore?

Quetzal:

101. Certainly, because other ships of this kind are no longer owned by the unpleasant intelligences.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_103

Quetzal:

18. Since days already we had to realize unfortunately that negative forces penetrate again with different group members, which are sent out in hateful form by the Giza Intelligences.

19. This, probably because Menara and I prevented their murderous attack on your Center and then destroyed their aircraft.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_105

Quetzal:

72. But now to other and more important things that relate to you, such as the malicious attack of the Bafaths, the Giza intelligences, on you on the afternoon of March 30.

...

88. What is being done by our side is that we are considering the idea of removing the Bafath beings from the earthly system, getting hold of them, destroying their entire stations by a total elimination or restoring them to their original state, and abandoning them, deprived of any technology whatsoever, somewhere in a strange and uninhabited region of a distant galaxy, where they can live out the rest of their lives built on evil.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_107

Pleija:

13. Unfortunately, already for a long time, Quetzal could no longer be granted leave, and neither could all the others.

14. The reason for this is that all were in full and constant effort, in order to remove the Intelligences of Giza, who desperately made all attempts to escape us.

15. Thus, the whole undertaking took a long time, and only on the 17th, so four days ago, could the last ones be captured by Quetzal and his assistants, so he is now deporting them to a very distant galaxy in the Neber system, where they can do no more harm, for there, they will have no technology and must rely on their hands, if they want to continue to live.

16. It was simply enough, because what these malicious ones have all undertaken in recent months, in order to rid the world of you and destroy everything, was just too much.

Billy:

I thought so, too. But could not these heinous ones have already been deported before?

Semjase:

25. It was not our right to do that, for we have to respect the will of a life form, even if it is wrong or malicious.

26. You know that, nevertheless.

27. The fact that it could now come to this deportation, however, lay in a self-defense situation.

28. The malicious and insidious attack on your residential building justified this tough course of action.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_109

Billy:

... may I still direct another question to you regarding the Giza twerps?

...

... It would interest me and all others, what was actually done with all the underground buildings, with the equipment and the ship and the rooms, after you transported the fellows away. Are you allowed to give me information about that?

Ptaah:

...

124. All equipment and the ship were completely eliminated by us.

125. As well as the buildings that were erected in the rooms.

126. The rooms themselves were then filled with solid matter, namely with rock and other matter.

127. This was done on the technological basis of the de- and re-materialisation.

Billy:

Then today, practically nothing points to the former existence of these things anymore?

Ptaah:

128. No, for it had to be.

Billy:

I understand. But did you also fill in all the other corridors and rooms?

Ptaah:

129. No, we let these remain, of course.

130. Only everything that was necessary was destroyed.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_174

Billy:

... But then, I saw it, and it was not a person with a lamp but rather a huge mass of ionized air that looked like a luminous fog in the light of the yard lamp. But peculiarly, there were strange movements that flowed from this ionisation-thing, out of which an enormous hand then emerged, which moved towards the fence and appeared as if it was searching for and reaching for something, but oddly enough, it avoided the direct light of the yard lamp towards the side and towards the top, and at the same time, I realised that I was met with evil swinging waves ... when Ingrid made her remark, she referred to the fact that she had been sitting with me the night before on the sofa in front of the barn, when on the upper path in the rabbit enclosure, possibly someone from your federation materialised, who for 15 seconds was a bright green and was surrounded by a corona of blinding white light, from which a radiant red figure emerged, while all the air around ionized, and then there arose a strong smell of sulfur. This was about an hour after I had observed two other materialisations, but which appeared red in colour, near the shed during Ferdinand's night watch, but these were not seen by Ferdinand, even though he sat on the bank beneath the pulpit and actually should have seen these things. In all other respects, the whole process of the ionisation of air seemed to me such that these forces cannot simply arise out of the air, but beneath the ground slope behind the trees, there probably must have been some ship, from which these forces were sent up to us. This impression was reinforced in me even more after I ran out, having recognised the structure from the window, left the office, and wanted to rush to the yard lamp behind the office. As I ran around the corner of the house, I saw that the ionizing structure paused suddenly and alarmingly in its climbing-hand-over-hand movements, in order to become a furiously rotating whirl within a split second, like what happens with water or with a sandstorm, whereby this rotating whirl created a compression in itself at breakneck speed and first rushed down and then backwards towards the forest, in order to flare up brightly there, high up in the branches of the trees, and in order to disappear between the tree branches.

...

Quetzal:

9. It was a product of the Giza Intelligences, with whom we had not sufficiently considered their capabilities of consciousness with their deportation.

10. Very well, we had them sent to a safe place, appearing in a very remote galaxy, where they were completely isolated.

11. But we did not take into account that they were capable of creating, as an entire block united in spirit-telepathic form, a thought transmission factor of unlimited range.

12. So they got together as an entire block, and somewhere in the universe, they found a human race of negative directives that gave them a response and which consults with the Giza Intelligences using highly sophisticated spacecraft.

13. With this space-flying race that is still unknown to us until now, a dangerous conspiracy was forged, in order to make the Earth subject to the Giza Intelligences once again.

...

17. But how the Giza Intelligences and their new co-conspirators could build up the negative forces directed against you and concentrate them to such a terrible extent is, so far, inexplicable to us.

...

27. Furthermore, it is still to be said that we brought an aircraft with Giza Intelligences under our control, and we now have the fallible ones in safekeeping, which is foolproof and supervised.

28. However, the aircraft of Giza's allies withdrew using a hyper-leap procedure that is not recognisable to us, so we also could not detect any structural swinging waves neither with the entry into hyperspace nor with the exit of the craft from the same.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_179

Quetzal:

4. We have finally succeeded in tracking down the allies of the Giza Intelligences and have succeeded in coming into possession of them and all of their technical aids.

...

8. By getting a hold of the Giza allies and their technical aids, we have encountered things and realisations that make us ashamed, for we ourselves did not expect such things and also did not consider them with our premonitions or suppositions.

...

11. During the course of yesterday afternoon, on a small planet system, which we call the Karan system and which is located on the far side of the Andromeda system, one of our search units identified impulses that were identical to those which emanate from the energy bell that is roofed over you.

...

15. Our unit followed these impulses to a small and very inhospitable planet, where metal domes were soon spotted, which were located in a large desert and from which the impulses were apparently being emitted.

16. This quickly proved to be true, as defensive reactions of the dome stations appeared, which very quickly brought our unit under control and to a halt, after which the stations were then seized and the inhabitants were arrested, but it turned out that it was another faction of the Giza Intelligences, who had to leave the Earth at a very early stage and who had formed a separate people, whom they call SABAN.

17. As it turned out, these folk have always been in constant touch with the real Giza Intelligences remaining on the Earth, so it was easy for them and their allies to get in touch after the deportation through us, through a consciousness block, after which the Sabans then helpfully stepped in and gave the Giza Intelligences every aid, while they themselves also actively cooperated and even pursued the same objectives since ancient times.

18. In addition, they had not remained idle over many centuries, but they developed malignant technologies that enabled them for several months to send out, across millions of light-years, negative swinging waves that were polarised toward the smallest targets, which exhibit the characteristic that they take the available negative swinging waves of the same kind from the target and concentrate them into an immense ball of power, without the originators of the swinging waves noticing a reduction in their strength and without the originators of the swinging waves losing anything of their own swinging waves.

Billy:

Ah, I understand. Then the negative swinging waves of the believers, sectarians, and religious fanatics, etc., are probably those which are taken and concentrated into an enormous and destructive ball of power, right?

Quetzal:

19. That is of correctness, but that is not enough because as a result of the acquired technology, the Sabans have succeeded in having their swinging waves affect targets, located millions of light-years away, in such a concentrated manner and exactly to the millimeter, such that they could locate and hit a fly on the Earth from their impulse location in the Karan system.

20. Taking advantage of these, they attacked those group members, who are still, in certain parts, dependent on faith and who indulge in unrealities and in uncontrolled emotions, etc., whereby these ones increasingly thought and acted illogically and improperly.

21. But now, that should not and cannot be an excuse for the misconduct of the fallible ones because already long ago, they should have overcome the conditions of such degeneration and instability, so that they could not be attacked by and could not be influenced by such powers any more.

22. However, these fallible ones are not the only ones who were directly impacted by these Giza impulses because the same thing also happened with many other human beings of the Earth, who have been in contact with you within a nearer or further framework, since the days when Semjase first made contact with you.

23. It is just that previously, we knew nothing about all this, so we could do nothing about it.

24. We also lacked the knowledge that several centuries ago, a Giza group had isolated itself and had departed from the Earth, in order to form their own new nation, which continued working, nevertheless, within the old framework and with the same goals, far from the Earth and in constant connection with the remaining Giza Intelligences.

25. Only now has all of this become clear and perceptible to us, after we have apprehended the criminal elements, of whose existence we had no knowledge.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_180

Quetzal:

40. The annoying concerns surrounding the Giza Intelligences are finally settled, according to which we are now only dealing with the analyses of the discovered and seized material.

41. However, this will take several years to complete, as I have already explained to you earlier.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_215

Billy:

... what was it with Sodom and Gomorrha; what actually happened there – how were these two cities destroyed?

Quetzal:

117. Several factors are to be mentioned:

118. On the one hand, a meteorite fell to the Earth and exploded high over the area of the two cities, which would now actually be designated as larger villages.

119. This led to devastating destruction of both cities, triggering a massive earthquake, by which the Earth was torn open – like in Petra – and by underground volcanic activity, small and larger chunks of sulphur were flung high and across the country, which also naturally caused much disaster, and by this – as also by the exploding meteorite – many human beings were killed.

120. The remaining part of the total destruction was caused by the megalomaniac and crazy God of the Hebrews, an extraterrestrial who had his headquarters deep under the pyramid of Giza.

121. His punishment for the disobedience of the population of Sodom and Gomorrha, against his commands, was that he let two small atom bombs ignite over the two cities, which finally levelled everything to the ground, killing all humans and animals.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_264

Ptaah:

19. Several times your own films, which you gave to the photographer Schmid during the first time of your contacts to develop and to make pictures, were replaced by completely new and faked films, consequently you already received many false negatives and photos from the very beginning – or even faked pictures.

20. This also happened with the film on which you captured Asket and Nera and which you only got back months later, and which was in fact a product of the Black Men who had found and photographed Asket's and Nera's doubles in America, after which the pictures were edited and handed over to you by Schmid.

...

26. It was precisely with regard to these pictures that we found out that Schmid immediately handed over the film handed over to him in this respect to the 'Black Men' or to the 'Men in Black', as they are called in your ufological circles, as the case may be, who within just a few days were able to locate and photograph the Asket-Nera doppelgangers in America several times, so that the two pictures known to you were created and handed over to you.

27. The Giza intelligences also played a certain role in the whole thing, as well as on other occasions, as you know very well.

28. But we were not able to clarify the exact connections.

29. It is clear, however, that they had an impulse telepathic negative influence on a large number of people on Earth to damage, defame or even kill you, as has been attempted several times – unsuccessfully, fortunately.

30. And in the end everything was done to make you and your mission impossible, especially by accusing you of cheating on photo forgeries.

31. And both the 'Men in Black' still work today, as do the decades-long impulse telepathic negative machinations against you and your mission to be destroyed.

32. And affected by these impulses of the Giza intelligences should be all those who work full of intrigues, slander and other negative machinations against you and the mission without having knowledge of the impulses.

Billy:

Not exactly pleasing. – But how long will these Giza impulses continue to be effective on Earth?

Ptaah:

33. This may take another 200 or 300 years.

...

Billy:

Actually, I feel sorry for the schemers and slanderers, because if they are blinded by the impulse telepathic machinations of the Giza intelligences, there is hardly any hope for them that they will ever come to reason and truth in this life, consequently they are more and more mistaken. – By the way, you have sent these Giza twerps elsewhere – is it really the case that they cannot get back to Earth from there or cannot make contact with other intelligences to influence them and cause new harm?

Ptaah:

47. The Earth-humans can be sure that they will never again be bothered by these degenerates.

48. Other intelligences are also safe from them.

...

72. And these enemies against you and your mission, that is beyond doubt for us, are all purely earth-human persons, who are under the influence of the Giza impulses, which are still effective for a long time.

Billy:

So also {Kal} Korff and B.?

Ptaah:

73. Without any doubt.

...

112. Nevertheless, it must be said that the dangerous telepathic impulses of the 'Men in Black' as well as the impulses of the deported Giza intelligences that will remain effective for a long time to come must not be regarded as harmless.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_424

Ptaah:

29. As to the Gizeh Intelligences and the Sirian Black Men, that is another matter which leads back many thousands of years, whereas the Brazilian Group consisted of former Nazis who were able to take over an object of the Gizeh Intelligences, what we also were able to find out.

30. This group does not exist anymore today, and the Gizeh Intelligences were sent into exile and are becoming extinct.

...

35. Some others, such as Dan Fry and Schmidt etc., were by the Giza intelligences through means of teleprojection put into pseudo-realities with visionary experiences, which they deemed to be reality.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_452

Billy:

... Firstly I would like to question you regarding the deportees, the Gizeh-twerps and the Pegasus-refugees. In the 81st Contact on the 4th of September 1977 Quetzal said the following:

...

Thereto now the question: At that time it happened, that the Pegasus-refugees attempted to cause severe damage to us in the centre. How does it now make sense, however, their appearance on the Earth thus, since you have recently said anyway, that through your clarifications you have determined that during the last 300 years there have been no other Earth-foreigners other than those which you mentioned to me. However, what was it then with the Sirians and Ashtar Sheran and gangs?

Ptaah:

5. We were only later able to clarify the facts about the Pegasus-refugees, when the whole story about the Gizeh-Intelligences clarified.

6. The refugees belonged to a splinter-group of the Gizeh-Intelligences, who lived in the space-time-displaced region of the Pegasus-constellation and who had entered an alliance with the faction living on the Earth, therefore they were counted as one of the Gizeh-Intelligences and consequently were not described as special foreigners.

7. Therefore, also today we do not refer to these as special foreigners, which also applies to the sirian fanatics and the faction of Ashtar Sheran, who for a very long time on the Earth tried to cause mischief again and again and also were in alliance with the Gizeh-Intelligences.

8. All factions of the Gizeh-Intelligences consisted of escaped criminals, delinquents and power-addicts, who practically in every connection with the Gizeh-Intelligences were willing with reference to their machinations and acted according to their plans.

9. Definite knowledge with respect to all of these connections of the Gizeh-Intelligences and all of their factions, however, we first received, when we could establish contact with the scientists of the Sirians, whereby also the fanatical small group, who were fundamentally responsible for the murder-attempts on you, could then be eliminated by sirian forces.

10. Then it was also this small fanatical-group with few members, who reported in detail about all of the connections, before they were sent into exile.

Billy:

Oh so, then the Sirians therefore were active on the Earth for a long time. It is to be probably assumed, however, that they were not from the beginning allies of the Gizeh-Intelligences, while however the Gizeh-twerps and the Pegasus-refugees apparently already from the beginning belonged together. But why were they then refugees?

Ptaah:

11. They had to escape, because they also caused mischief on the world where they lived and were pursued by security forces of their home-world.

12. Yet it was, however, some other Earth-foreign fraternised factions, who were part of the Gizeh-Intelligences, who were in contact with these and had their bases with them.

13. We do not consider these also one of the Earth-foreigners of course, that I mentioned to you.

14. Still you are mistaken respecting the sirian Men in Black, because these also formed links with the Gizeh-Intelligences from the beginning, also like the faction of Ashtar Sheran.

15. The Gizeh-Intelligences controlled all approaches to the earthly airspace for millennia and forced all those, who they could use for themselves, into the alliance through despotism and a forcible change of power of judgment and attitude.

16. Since, however, you have never asked and apparently were also not therein interested regarding these connections, we also have never spoken about it.

Billy:

I understand a brainwashing, that comes about by a forcible change of the power of judgment and attitude of the human being, through strong psychic and physical pressure, in which also drugs and electromagnetic, electric and mechanical torture are often applied.

Ptaah:

17. This corresponds to the meaning of my words.

Billy:

Then, that now is finally clear. The connections with the Gizeh-honchos and other extraterrestrials are therefore much trickier and more extensive, as you told me. But even so, I also have never asked about it, consequently you also have told me nothing about the details. Then, however, I have a problem again, and in fact with the extraterrestrial aircraft, that the Brazilian-group had, from which I was set about in the year 1976 in Winkelriet near Wetzikon. You told me at that time – which unfortunately was not recorded in any contact-report – that it concerned a beamship, which indeed was piloted by people from a distant galaxy, and in fact with poison gas breathers or such, that they, however, were members of your federation, if I am not mistaken. With the 65th Contact on the 23rd of October 1976 you said the following:

Ptaah:

52. Further also, I was able to clarify the events in the Winkelriet near Wetzikon near your domicile, so in addition also the existence of that track of a beamship, which was not from one of our beamships.

53. With the track discovered by you, it concerns a ship of the Brazilian private interest group, who had sent out a command for the most exact probe of your circumstances.

54. In accordance with my investigations, it was about five people, who checked everything very accurately.

55. The ship doesn't even represent a product of the power-group itself, but loot.

56. It was stolen from a crew from a distant galaxy who landed in Brazil years ago, who had to make a forced landing because of some damage.

57. The interstellar drive of the ship was completely destroyed and cannot be repaired again, at least not by the technicians of this power-group.

58. Only the planetary anti-gravity-drive is fully functional, which is suffice for planetary flights.

59. However, you saw the same ship weeks later in the Winkelriet, where you on your very irrational search for this, for you, mysterious object, also discovered this, which put you very much in danger.

60. Two men were in the terrain out there and observed your arrival, which was an easy game for them, because at the time they observed you constantly.

61. In the desire to kill you, they prepared everything and steered you to the place of the planned event.

62. It was your luck, that you drove in your vehicle with caution and without lights on that dark night, because it was only through this, that you were not exactly recognisable in the darkness, that the shot from the gun missed you.

Ptaah:

18. Unfortunately you are mistaken, dear friend, because the strangers were not members of our federation, but they belonged to another group of the Gizeh-Intelligences and were stationed also with these, whereby they had to make an emergency landing in Brazil at that time and were captured by the Brazilian-group.

19. Actually they were poison gas breathers, who all died, when their respiration-equipment failed.

20. They could not leave the Earth anymore, because their interstellar drive was completely destroyed, which was a work of the Gizeh-Intelligences, as we found by experience through the members of the Sirian group.

21. The reason for the destruction of the drive was so that they could not flee, because the Gizeh-Intelligences had a `change` in fundamental attitude.

Billy:

And the Gizeh-twerps didn't undertake anything, as the ship had to make an emergency landing in Brazil, and the respiration-equipment failed, so also nothing, since the old Nazis of the Brazilian-group captured the ship?

Ptaah:

22. Their nature and behaviour was, that they simply gave up lost aircraft, as also they were not concerned about missing people etc. either.

23. Furthermore they were on close terms with the Brazilian group, which, however, that already for a long time does not exist anymore, because everyone of the faction has died by now because of ageing and illness.

Billy:

All members of this group were former officers of the German empire who escaped from Germany to Brazil, they were mainly leading lights and henchmen of the Nazi-empire and therefore escaped war-criminals.

Ptaah:

24. This was actually the case.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_457

Ptaah:

28. And what is currently in the earthly airspace, apart from us who are Earth foreigners, are those three groups of which we have spoken several times during the last months.

...

31. However, we should also mention those strangers who have been in contact with the intelligences of Giza since ancient times and who came to Earth from distant worlds.

32. These, however, we do not count among the usual very rare Earth foreigners who came or are coming to Earth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_710

Billy:

... Then I want to end this subject and hear from you what you have to say about the matter of the Giza Intelligences, who were in reality the Earth-foreigners, of whom there has been talk since time immemorial. ...

...

Ptaah:

47. But the threat of the secret agents and dark figures had to be prevented, which could only be done by deliberate misleading, and this also with regard to the Fatima event, which we misleadingly called the machination of the Giza Intelligences instead of the Earth-foreigners, when it came up in our conversations.

48. In fact, the Giza Intelligences were also Earth-foreigners, whom we actually deported, but who were just as unknown to the Earth-foreigners as we were to them.

49. Like us, the Giza Intelligences also had similar devices for complete shielding, so that they too could not be located by the Earth-foreigners and could also not be perceived in any other way.

50. Consequently, they also knew nothing about their presence on Earth and were therefore simply non-existent for the Earth-foreigners.

51. So, confusing as it all may seem, we had to put the Giza Intelligences in the foreground, which, according to our providential plan and hope, obviously appeared to be a fantasy product of your statements by the Earth-foreigners, the secret services and 'Black Men', as well as our contacts and conversations.

52. This only furthered the controversy, which, however, helped the fulfilment of our plans, because the interest of the Earth-foreigners, secret services and 'Black Men' quickly waned and you were left alone by them, which has since been maintained in your favour.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_724

Billy:

... Ashtashran, like the Giza intelligences, also belonged to the old split-off old Pleiadian splinter group, which had already departed to our DERN universe more than 22 million years ago and was up to mischief in it. In particular, the Giza intelligences were in some respects malevolent elements, while Ashtashran was also evil in other ways, spreading an impulse-driven delusion of belief about his person among the earthlings.

Now, just as you Plejaren of today exercise caution and secrecy towards the strangers on Earth, these two groups were also careful never to make themselves known to the strangers, which they have succeeded in doing extensively and without any problems throughout the ages, so that the strangers still do not know of their former existence, just as they do not know of yours. And the trick of the two groups, the Ashtashran alias Ashtar Sheran and the Giza intelligences, was that they were only in our presence when they caused mischief, whereas they were resident in another space-time plane and only came into our presence temporarily and unnoticed by the strangers. So that is one thing, while on the other hand your Plejaren existence must now also be addressed, for which a few things need to be explained. Firstly, as far as I know, the strangers on Earth have never been able to ascertain the existence of the Giza intelligences themselves, but have at most heard of them and, as a result, even assumed, because they themselves could not perceive them – because the Gizaers, according to their old Plejaren technique, were able to shield themselves against any locating etc., as you Plejaren are also wont to do today – that the speeches would only correspond to suppositions or a fib. And as far as Ashtashran alias Ashtar Sheran is concerned, as far as I know he was never in our presence anyway, but worked on his confused believers on Earth from another space-time plane.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_797

{Note: It is not clear (to me) whether or not the Umigos mentioned in this Contact Report are the same as the Giza Intelligences/Bafath, or another group of "aliens" who also "set up their headquarters deep under the main pyramid at Giza in Egypt".}

Bermunda:

... the whole of the lowliness against you goes back to your childhood, because a woman hated you because you told her your opinion about religion and faith when you were a boy. However, this woman was a fanatically strict believer and belonged to a faith community to which she complained about you, consequently some lengthy consultations took place and then attempts were made to win you as a member of this community. The smaller group somehow came into contact with beings that were alien and called themselves Umigos, although it is not yet clear how this was possible. These alien beings were originally also fanatical believers in an all-creating higher might, which they called Selidan and worshipped. In the course of time, however, they fell away from this erroneous belief and turned to Christianity and sought like-minded people far and wide, which they also found in your hometown, among others. But how the connection with the woman came about, who became the actual origin of your lifelong embrace, has not yet been clarified.

These Umigos were vicious and fanatically hostile to everything that did not correspond to their views and their faith, therefore they tried to secretly undermine the faith of all human beings, which was different and strange to them. This was done imperceptibly in such a way that with the help of their devices brought from their homeland, they influenced almost all believers – with unnamable exceptions – of the earthly religions worldwide through their electronic micro-technology, which was still absolutely unknown on Earth at that time, and its possibilities in such a way that they gradually lost control over their own thinking and became largely incapable of thinking for themselves and also unstable. Furthermore, they influenced the believers in such a way that they fell prey to malice and blood lust, whereby they created enmities again and again, which led to evil wars, to religious murder and all imaginable evil. In the course of time, however, it came to pass that the Umigos, through the influences of the Earth-humans' faith in Christianity, became doubtful of their higher might, ultimately repugnant and apostate from it, consequently becoming more and more foreign to their faith, which ultimately led them gradually to turn to the earthly religion of Christianity and to acknowledge the God of that creed.

Something that also happens today with Earth-humans who are lulled by religious platitudes or who very quickly change their faith through coercion or benefit and become believers in another religion. With the Umigos, however, it was a lengthy process that took a long time. But when Christianity began to spread, they finally turned to it and stuck to it. ...

How the Umigos came into contact with the woman and this religious community in your hometown has not yet been investigated by Arlion and his followers, to which he also said that this was not really important, because the only thing that was important was what resulted from it, and that was what haunted you throughout your life.

...

... just now I was talking about this woman being a strict believer, regarding the Christian faith, yet she was as vicious in her disposition as the Umigos who had set up their headquarters deep under the main pyramid at Giza in Egypt.

Billy:

Something dawns on me, namely the Giza Heinis, who were then caught and deported by the Plejaren. Am I right?

Bermunda:

Yes, they were, a splintered group of a criminal tribe of our Federation that found passage into this universe and likewise to Earth, because they had our through...

Billy:

... because they must have been secretly following the Plejaren when they came to Earth to join us. Bermunda, that's about the way it was, isn't it?

Bermunda:

Yes, that is how it was, as I have been oriented in that regard. ...

Billy:

Horat, was her name, but I do not know exactly how her name is spelt correctly, just whether this name has an additional H or not. I also want to mention that the majority of all believers are probably deeply unbalanced in their character and in such a way that all evil immediately breaks through to the outside and these human beings quickly become active in the respective form, up to and including hatred and killing etc.

Bermunda:

What the additional "H" concerns is not important. But what you are saying with regard to the evil deep in one's character, that is undeniable. – Now, Arlion related that there were 11 other persons, men and women, with this numerous faith community who revealed a nature that was strictly devout, but like the woman, they were also evil, but maintained good relations with some of the local government, specifically 2 men named ... and ... who had intimate relations with the woman, although all 3 were married. This woman also had an intimate relationship with your teacher ... with whom you spent 1 year in Year 4, who often beat you mercilessly in front of all the students and ...

Billy:

I remember that, and furthermore, I once saw him and the woman you are talking about on the so-called 'Volebers' when they ...

Bermunda:

That will not have pleased them both, but let me report further. Arlion explained that the woman and the other 11 persons hated you and wished you to die, which of course did not come to pass, so it was arranged that very evil was done to you and that you were shouted down. Intrigues were devised and carried out against you with the help of the community officials and the police, with teachers also helping, but they honestly supported you, but they were forced to

...

Billy:

... to howl with the wolves, otherwise they would have been out of a job, like teacher Lehmann, I know, because he told me himself.

Bermunda:

Yes, that's how it was, but I do not have to tell you about that, because you know yourself what happened and how you coped and managed everything. But Arlion said that in the whole affair the Umigos were very much involved, so in their wickedness and Christian fanaticism they did much to harm you how and where they could. They succeeded very well with the help of the influenced members of the local government, but your will to resist was stronger than their intrigues and all the malice that was shown to you. Besides, I must also mention, the umigos used 2 of their 5 devices, which they possessed and handed over to the woman, to maliciously influence many human beings in your hometown. These devices, powered by electrical energy, produced an electronic micro-vibration that could be widely broadcast and adjusted to certain human beings. One of the devices was given in 1948 by a man of the 11 group, namely ..., to an American friend whom he did not know belonged to the Dark Government of America. Since then, the latter have been using the virtually indestructible device to this day to influence or even kill certain persons according to their will and benefit. The Umigos brought these devices with them from their homeland, and they are constructed of metal unknown on Earth, which the experts of the dark government have not yet been able to analyse. The devices can be used in many ways, e.g. to induce hallucinations in human beings that seem so real that the people concerned firmly believe that what has happened to them is real. This happened, for example, with Semjase and other persons in your workroom, as Arlion explained. They also have many other efficacies, one of which is how they are used to attack your electronic devices and negatively affect your work and damage everything when you work with them. The emanations of the electronic microwaves also work in other ways, such as how you described to me the strange occurrence that happened in the kitchen of the Centre. But in another way, the second device was used by the group in your hometown to influence various persons in such a way that they did everything that was harmful to you, which ultimately led to you being taken everywhere and harassed. You, however, did not let yourself be influenced and always remained yourself, as you had learned from Sfath to defend yourself against foreign swinging waves of various kinds and to simply neutralise them. This is the reason why you were never affected by malicious swinging waves and consequently all attacks of any kind against you were ineffective. However, it is different with regard to the electronic devices and other materials that you have to handle for your work, for these naturally react to the negative influences that are directed towards them, consequently they no longer work correctly for you when you work with them, while other persons can use the same devices without any problems. How it works in this way is because all the swinging waves are aligned with your personality, but are deflected by your defences and transferred to the equipment or material you are working with.

...

When the last three of the first adversaries died of old age, and then also two of the descendants, so that today there are only seven persons left, two of whom, however, are struggling with death because they are afflicted with the Corona plague, the three of them, who have extraordinarily good knowledge and abilities concerning electronics, took out again the futuristic device that had been stored for a long time for them, which at that time the woman had received from the Umigos and with which various persons had been influenced, and made it functional in order to harm you. The Umigos could no longer be asked because they were deported, and so the descendants worked so persistently on the futuristic device until it became functional again and they found out how they could use it. Since then it has been used to do you such harm that you should get into trouble with the human beings, and in such a way that it is very difficult for you to prove that the incidents that occur are not of your making. This already started when you returned to Switzerland in 1969, and since then there have been repeated attempts to deprive you of your life, which even ... tried to do. It has happened 24 times so far, but every single attempt on your life failed as a result of inexplicable providence.

return to Index

Extraterrestrials – “Grays”

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Grey\_alien

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_037

Semjase:

36. Our examinations in the year 1961 revealed that there was nothing to fear from these space traveling intelligences.

37. They are humanoid in form and in fact only did research.

38. Their forms are absolutely human, though their body dimensions are somewhat different from ours.

39. Their size varies between 126 and 163 cm.

...

40. They originate from the planetary and star system ZETA RETICULI, as I already explained to you.

41. This system is located at an average distance of 37 light-years from the Earth.

42. Their spacecrafts are similar to our beamships and are extremely well equipped and very suitable for space travel.

43. The atmosphere of their home world is very similar to the earthly atmosphere, so that they can breathe it without great difficulties.

44. However, they are provided with close-fitting filter suits, which offer them protection in a number of respects.

45. To the human beings of Earth I would say that they are similar to the suits given to the fantasy figures Batman and Superman in the comics, except that in this case the face and the whole head are completely wrapped in the suit, whereby the area around the eyes is secured by viewing and protective 'glasses' built into and integrated into the suit.

46. No doubt you are familiar with the fantasy films of French production about a criminal named FANTOMAS.

47. If you look at this fantasy figure and replace its eye area with dark protective lenses, you have a pretty good representation of the Zeta Reticuli intelligences in their suits.

...

62. Of course, they differ from us only in their anatomy as well as in their size and skin color.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_039

Billy:

... But now, I have a question for you: what, actually happened with the two drawings that you promised me, regarding the Zeta-Reticuli Intelligences?

Semjase:

58. Unfortunately, I could not make these for you.

59. The permission for it was not granted to me.

...

61. In order to be able to make the pictures correctly, I would have had to draw certain details, from which insights for the earthly scientists would have arisen, which they are not yet permitted to obtain.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_238

Billy:

... I have one more question about things I have been asked over and over again, like the 'little greys' in America. As crazy Americans claim and stir up an immense propaganda for it, the American government should maintain contacts to these 'little greys' and even allow them to carry out inhuman experiments on terrestrial humans, in addition to gruesome animal experiments, etc. There should even be an exchange program between these 'little greys' and the Americans and the Americans should profit from the technology of the little twits, from which I have not yet discovered an iota. Also an alleged former secret agent of the CIA with the pseudonym 'FALCON' should play a certain role, as well as the constellation RETICULI or what that should be called.

Ptaah:

246. I have told you several times before that this whole puffed-up story and all the trimmings are nothing more than a crazy and deceptive fantasy of power-hungry elements that make many kinds of profit out of it, even including government agencies and intelligence services.

247. Similarly, or even remotely similar, or on the same scale, are countless other identical or similar stories and allegations concerning alleged contact with humans or other beings from foreign worlds, whereby I would like to point out another time that at the present time you are the only human being on Earth who has actual contact with extraterrestrial life-forms, both in telepathic and physical form.

248. All other claims made by any human being on Earth in this regard are either pure invention, hallucinogenic, insane, delusional, conscious or pathologically fraudulent, fanatically religious or otherwise unreal.

Billy:

You have explained this so often, but the lunatics and the sceptics on the Earth simply do not allow themselves to be taught. ...

...

Ptaah:

...

291. The innumerable liars, swindlers and deceivers and the pseudo-scientists in matters of ufology, alleged contacts, channeling, etc. and the believers of these gloomy and slanderous and misleading machinations, however, are all recognised and denounced, no matter whether it is about the falsehoods of the alleged 'FALCON' of the American secret service or about other lying stories and machinations of 'LITTLE GRAYS' and other nonsense.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_246

Billy:

... on a private basis, fraud, lies, charlatanry and fraud have been practiced in these matters for a long time, which, according to your statements, should increase in the future. Unfortunately, this also discredits and ridicules the real UFO observations, if we want to stick to this name. But there are other UFO observations, namely those that fall within the scope of official and military secrets. This also involves various events of the past and present, about which a great deal has been written, claimed, talked about and kept secret in the private sphere of so-called UFO research. Stories about crashes and salvages of UFOs also appear, e.g. the case of New Mexico towards the end of the 1940s, etc. But also names like 'Falcon' and 'Condor' etc. play an important role, whereby it should concern CIA members etc., who should pass on UFO information to the public under these pseudonyms, of course without letting their face become recognizable. Also the so-called 'Little Greys' play a very important role, which allegedly in the USA about three million people are said to have insisted, impregnated and maltreated with operation scars and painting etc. ...

Ptaah:

37. Which, of course, is sheer nonsense and has no reality at all.

38. We are well aware of the hysteria of such delusions in America.

39. This is already spreading to Europe, with a particularly fertile soil to be found especially in Germany.

40. On the other hand the delusion and the hysteria are still consciously stirred up from different places, whereby also this 'Falcon' appears, whose false information is taken by all stupid believers gladly as cash coin.

41. Certain official bodies, offices and organizations also deliberately allow such false information to be disseminated, whereby the reasons for this are very varied.

42. I am not yet allowed to speak openly about this, nor about which things correspond to the truth or untruth in matters of UFO crashes and UFO salvages as well as other related matters.

43. Also with regard to the clarification of earthly offices and military and defensive forces in matters of UFOs, my duty of secrecy, which is apparent from one of our directives, is that we must not interfere in any matters of human life with which we are not in official contact.

44. So we must also keep in mind that we must not decipher secrets that are kept by earthly authorities, government officials, security organizations, the military, etc.

45. Which secrets earth authorities and military as well as security organizations guard etc. regarding interests of allegedly extraterrestrial aircraft and humans etc., must remain according to our directive instructions their secrets, which we do not have the right to air.

...

Billy:

... Then a question about the Hills in the USA, which had been abducted by life forms of extraterrestrial origin, namely by human beings from the area of the stars Zeta Reticuli, 37 light-years away. I believe that you told me at the time that this was correct.

Ptaah:

47. Yes. –

48. This forced contact is also the origin of the nonsensical stories and hysteria about the 'Little Greys', which have nothing to do with the truth in any way.

49. The fear and hysteria and the imaginative stories about the 'Little Greys' correspond to a well-managed false propaganda to put certain things in a false light on the one hand and to conceal certain events and machinations on the other.

Billy:

What is certain is that there are inhabited planets in the area of Zeta Reticuli, planets inhabited by humans. Does this apply to both Zeta Reticuli 1 and Zeta Reticuli 2?

Ptaah:

50. This is true, but we do not maintain any contacts with the local inhabitants, who are not even aware of our existence, which we have been observing for several millennia.

51. However, our interests do not lie in establishing contact with the ways of life of those areas, since they do not yet possess certain forms of development that would be necessary for establishing contact.

Billy:

Probably in reference to your directives?

Ptaah:

52. That's right.

...

Billy:

Well, then we can talk about something else again. My question refers once more to alleged contacts of human beings of Earth with extraterrestrials, whereby the specific is directed at claims which in my opinion sound quite ridiculous. Apart from the approximately three million human beings who were in America allegedly harmed by extraterrestrials and subjected to all kinds of tests, whereby many women supposedly developed pregnancies and the 'Little Greys' allegedly then stole the hybrid children after the birth, the kidnapped and harmed human beings of Earth would after the tests have often suffered from pain and complained about operation scars and burn marks etc. In addition, however, cows and cattle are also said to have been outrageously massacred by the 'Little Greys', and namely also by the thousands and millions, whereby the beasts were allegedly also missing various organs and at the same time mysterious things are said to have occurred too.

Ptaah:

73. This of course does not correspond to the truth, but to an unbelievable nonsense, which fanatical or otherwise incapable UFO- and ghost believers only too gladly want to recognize as real truth and believe in it rock-solidly, although not a word of the whole dizziness corresponds to the truth, which is well-consciously invented and controlled by certain organs for deception and scaremongering, in order to achieve certain goals.

74. In addition to these organs and persons, however, there are still many UFO-phantasts, who are mostly secternically burdened, who themselves care for their bodies by teaching themselves wounds and burns, etc., by implanting crystals or pieces of metal into their flesh and letting everything scar in order to then claim that they have been kidnapped and persecuted by extraterrestrials, of which the scars and burns, etc. would testify.

75. Incompetent hypnotists, who then subject such persons to so-called 'truth hypnoses', then claim that the information given in hypnosis by the hypnotised would unfailingly correspond to the truth, because hypnosis could not lie.

76. However, it is never taken into account that a person in a hypnotic state can tell and pronounce the worst lies just as untraceably as is the case with the so-called technical lie detectors, without the specialists being able to recognize the lies, because the technical devices of this kind on earth are still so imperfect that they can be outwitted with simple and man's own means.

77. With regard to the allegedly massacred animals, it must be said that this is just as much unbelievable nonsense as the alleged pregnancies in American women caused by the 'Little Greys'.

78. The massacred animals are also purely earth human machinations for the purpose of scaremongering and misleading all those who are incompetent in the matter of UFO matters, spirits and extraterrestrials and simply believe all nonsense unthinkingly, if they are extraterrestrials and their flying machines or ghosts or religious 'appearances' and other imaginations etc..

79. In some cases, however, no terrestrial humans are involved in such events, but predators who tear and mutilate the cattle.

return to Index

Extraterrestrials – “Reptilians”

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Reptilian\_conspiracy\_theory

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/David\_Icke

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_031

Billy:

... Recently it was explained to me that in various governments of our Earth extraterrestrial intelligences are carrying on their activities and are even permanently employed there. What is this all about, can we believe these statements?

Ptaah:

365. You call such things fairy tales.

Billy:

So this means that there are no 'star people' working in our Earth governments?

Ptaah:

366. That's what it says. –

367. If these statements were true, then peace would have come to Earth a long time ago and Earthly humanity would have been taught the truth by the governments.

...

Billy:

But it is said that these extraterrestrials would secretly and undetected participate in or with government agencies.

Ptaah:

373. This is also not so, which your logic itself can confirm.

374. If it were really so, then within only a few days no authority, no government and no military power would hunt down our ships, because we actually have all possibilities to nip such things in the bud.

375. If we were to be active in any governmental bodies, there would be peace on Earth.

376. So all the claims are nothing more than lies, I mean, when such things are claimed by us or by any other extraterrestrials.

377. Such lies are often due to religious machinations of some sectarian elements and of unscrupulous fantasists, liars, swindlers and frauds.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_441

Billy:

Around 22 years have now passed since you and Quetzal told me privately that you had comprehensive cognitions in regard to terrestrial UFOs and the massacre of animals and alleged abductions which were disguised as the shoddy efforts of extraterrestrials. You said thereby that, in regard to this, involved in these machinations are governments, the military, as well as industrial businesses and powerful ones of finance, which constitute a special group, to which still smaller groups are also related. At that time you promised that you would officially explain more about that when the time is ripe for that. Can one now speak publicly about that?

Ptaah:

21. With the named group, it concerns a worldwide branching from governments, the military, industrial groups, secret services, paramilitary and powerful ones of finance, as you correctly said.

22. Those in the know and contributors are only certain elements of the same, who profit greatly, financially and power-politically, from their secret machinations, for which reason the entire powers of the government, military and industrial as well as finance are not involved in the situation and are also not informed in regard to this.

23. The group is not organized, as such, rather is only a loose collection, whereby their interests, however, have a common form, which, already since the 1920s, was designed to operate a continuous, ingenious, large-scale disinformation campaign regarding the question of extraterrestrial life.

24. The group, which is split into many small groups, has many kinds of technical possibilities at their disposal, which they employ for their evil and human-misleading purposes.

25. That started with technologies of electromagnetism to do with precision electronics and computer engineering, up to and including apparatuses through which brainwashing and the programming and altering of consciousness is evoked in humans.

26. They even have back-engineered beamships at their disposal, whereby, in certain contexts, even antigravity finds application.

27. It has also occurred many times that premeditated "abductions" of Earth humans by "extraterrestrials", and the massacre of animals, has been and is faked by this group.

28. That stands partly also in connection with those illusionary and schizophrenic visions and apparent experiences of those who believe that they have had, or have, these kinds of real experiences.

29. Also wrong information and falsified pictures of alleged extraterrestrial flying devices is strategically circulated worldwide, whereby according to our investigations, about 98% of all false pictures, films, videos and false information is directed at moving the Earth humans to angst and terror of extraterrestrials and to engender hate and thoughts of revenge in the Earth humans.

30. Therefore, in this way, angst, terror and hate is stirred up against all life foreign to Earth.

31. Especially films for cinema and television serve this purpose, as also, however, do many books which are constructed on lies and untruths and are written partly by "experts" in psychology and psychiatry.

32. All this nonsense sells very well to the Earth humans because many on the search for the effective truth trust and believe this false information, and these films and pictures.

33. Angst, horror, terror, hate and revenge always sell well, while the truth appears too banal and therefore appears uninteresting as well as not worth knowing.

34. Only the fantastic and unreal find a place in the interests of Earth humans. 35. However, precisely that is the launching platform for the infamous machinations of the worldwide group, because, through disinformation and fear-mongering in regard to the malicious foreigners to Earth, the entire group, which reaches right around the world, derives horrendous advantages of a financial, governmental-power, military-power as well as an economic form.

36. The entire war, electronics and weapons industries, and so forth, thereby gain an enormous boost.

37. Yet, in the worldwide group, secret paramilitary units also exist as smaller groups which carry out the same kind of operations which, however, are mostly controlled by the worldwide group.

38. In particular, these small groups carry out premeditated abductions which are credited ostensibly to the extraterrestrials, as well as, however, also simulated appearances of alleged extraterrestrial flying craft, which are then collectively declared to be extraterrestrial UFO appearances and are often observed, photographed and filmed by many people.

39. Thereby the illusion of an ostensible extraterrestrial abduction or observation of extraterrestrial flying devices is evoked.

40. What is further to say about that is that, in this worldwide group, with all the small groups who partly also work autonomously, there exists a proper "UFO trade" and a subculture in regard to animal massacres and abductions and so forth.

41. The entire thing is secretly financed through governments, the military, industrial groups and financially powerful ones who are interested in angst, terror and hate being stirred-up to their highest forms in regard to the alleged evil extraterrestrial foreigners, because they can thereby gain gigantic financial profit and advantage.

42. It is on this basis that, in every regard, from this group, only stories, cinema and television films and observations of UFOs will be accepted and profitably exploited, which are based on everything negative and – as is becoming proverbial with the Earth humans – on the malicious and aggressive nature of the extraterrestrials.

43. Only that which evokes angst, fear and terror as well as engenders hate and revenge is accepted by the group and exploited worldwide in order to obtain enormous profit with it.

44. Conversely, in addition to that, everything which is good and positive is vehemently slandered and is designated as a swindle, lie and deception, as is the case with you and us, since, in keeping with the interests of the group, we are not permitted to exist, and you are not permitted to be in contact with us, rather you must be a liar and a fraud.

45. So, from the group and their small groups, the Earth humans will be served up deliberately false and fear-influencing stories in regard to extraterrestrial UFOs and foreigners to Earth and their alleged horrifying machinations like, for example, painful examination contacts and animal massacres along with falsified encounters with alleged extraterrestrials.

46. Along with profit, the whole matter also serves deeply-based psychological propaganda in order to insult forms of life who are foreign to Earth and to brand them as malicious beings and to create angst, hate, revenge and hysteria because great financial means will be thereby freed up which serve research for the production of innovative and futuristic weapons of all kinds.

47. Therefore, in these Earth humans, in regard to the extraterrestrial, an enemy will be psychologically, deliberately created which does not exist and which will, in a manner, be made into a malicious being such that the Earth humans, in their angst, will be driven to freeing up horrendous sums in order to therewith manufacture weapons against the alleged malicious invaders.

48. Also, with these acts, various groups play off against each other, which, however, is part of a well-thought-out plan which is carried out and implemented by secret services, psycho-terrorists, espionage groups and treacherous disinformation agents and which is underpinned by false information regarding UFOs and alleged extraterrestrials.

49. Additionally belonging to this plan is the invention of an imaginary extraterrestrial enemy, as well as a danger emerging from this – an enemy and a danger which, naturally, will have to be fought.

50. The infamy is thereby that, first of all, everything is made ridiculous because the concerned "abductees", "examinees", "chance contactees" and UFO-observers can provide no evidence for their experiences which would withstand a real examination.

51. Then comes the second fact, which exists in the fact that angst, terror, hate and feelings of revenge is produced in the Earth humans whereby then the weapons industry can be built up and indeed especially in regard to futuristic weapons, of which the normal Earth humans have no idea, and of which they do not ever dare to dream.

52. The entirety is thereby a well-thought-out psychological network on which the progress of the entire weapons industry and the power of the military, of the federal leadership, the finance sharks and the industry businesses as well as the secret services can be built up ever further.

53. To this end angst, terror, hysteria, hate and revenge is sown in regard to all foreigners from outer space.

54. So the Earth humans become duped and financially exploited by the responsible ones of this dangerous group and their small groups and are deliberately driven to abhor and to hate the extraterrestrial foreigners.

55. Corresponding cinema and television films serve as especially suitable means for that.

56. The foreigner-angst, respectively, alien-angst, which is thereby produced surpasses all normal angst and the responsible ones of the group know that precisely, for which reason they can also thereby calculate that all necessary finances flow to them, which they require for their weapon research, their weapon manufacture, their leading of wars, and desires for power, as well as for unrealistic cinema and TV films which demonize the Earth-strangers.

57. The creation of an supposed threat from extraterrestrials as well as the alien-angst is, for them, a profitable matter which is operated under the shabby cloak of a federal, respectively, country security and of world peace.

58. For the entire machinations of the group, the meanest machinations are quite good enough which, as said, were already operating since the 1920s and to that also belong highly developed electronic weapons systems, futuristic flying discs, Earth humans who are hypnotically and surgically converted, as well as converted in their consciousness, to robots*, whereby some have an appearance like the being which is called the "Little Grey".

59. On one hand there is the dim-witted paradox that the extraterrestrial flying devices are denied and the strangers to Earth are made ridiculous or made out to be monsters by means of psychological propaganda, while, on the other hand, a financial exploitation of the peoples results through the inciting of angst, terror, hate and revenge and indeed thereby in that a simulation results in regard to a supposed threat from extraterrestrials.

60. A paradox without compare, to which the question must be put, how far are the Earth humans imbued with reason and understanding that they do not recognise this paradox.

61. The entire pre-arranged game of the group and their small groups, as already said elsewhere, also includes faked encounters with alleged extraterrestrials, whereby these are truly nothing other than normal Earth humans or those who have been transformed into "aliens".

62. In order then to affirm the improvised "encounters with those foreign to Earth" psychologists and other experts are pulled in into whom the wildest stories are hammered for so long until they believe the entire swindle and nonsense and employ "verifiable" and "genuine" analyses which are recorded and published in books and documentation as well as in cinema and TV films.

63. And since, as a rule, the supposed extraterrestrials are described as horrible villains, just according to the plan of the group and their small groups, the picture of the extraterrestrial threat is powerfully incited.

64. Thereby, not only is the slandering in regard to the real strangers to Earth always more exaggerated, as also more and more finances flow into the cash box of those who stupidly and dimwittedly earn as a result of the entire tissue of lies and slander and thereby come by the means to reach their criminal goals.

65. A certain part of the group has also fallen to a Christian sectarianism and to the supposed "End Times" in such a way that hope is directed at a malicious invasion of extraterrestrials resulting on Earth, and thereby the prophesied Armageddon will become reality in which Jesus Christ celebrates his official return and God the father will exercise his judgment.

66. Their delusion is therefore bound with a biblical end of the world, which, as they believe, rests on the terrible badness of the Earth humans.

67. And in order to accelerate this divine judgement as well as the return of Christ they do everything in order to make the way free for that.

68. The monstrous power of the worldwide group and their small groups as well as the religious fanaticism, together with the cultic maintaining of the secret of the entire underhanded, degenerated and deceptive as well as criminal and felonious machinations, lead to malignant effects which could not be worse.

69. These are the facts which I have to name in regard to your question.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_443

Billy:

... On the 17th of February 2005, Quetzal and I talked privately about the conspiracy books of various scribblers, such as Zacharia Sitchin, David Icke, Jan van Holey alias Jan van Helsing as well as Andreas von R tyi and others. ...

Ptaah:

5. All in all, these kinds of nonsensical writings are commercially oriented to make the ruble roll, as you say, so that the scribblers – if I want to use your expression – can fill their pockets with money.

6. The whole of all the conspiracy theories described in all the countless books are based on sheer nonsense, as are the writings in books containing supernaturalism and assertions about the alleged infiltration of earthly governments by extraterrestrials.

7. Conspiracy theories of all kinds, as well as supernatural, occult and esoteric nonsense, are in great demand among the believers in these drivel.

8. In fact, all the many books of this kind are based on silliness, senselessness, folly, as well as blooming and higher nonsense, as you always say so aptly.

Billy:

If you will allow me to interrupt, I have a few other terms for the whole thing, such as noble baloney, bullshit, hoovey, stupidity and folly, torchlight, ridiculousness, simple-mindedness, gibberish, folly and folly, etc. I would also like to say that, with regard to all this nonsense, there are special bookstores which, for good money, bring the rubbish books among the people, from whom the roaring rubbish is eaten like hot cakes. With very many people on earth the unreal, untrue, fantastic, occult, esoteric, religious, sectarian, supposedly supernatural and supernatural is not only considered to be more than truth and reality, but effectively everything.

Ptaah:

9. These are all good terms I will remember.

10. And your explanation hits the truth.

11. Furthermore, these humans are sectarian and esoteric, as well as occult and supernatural, and move in their thoughts and feelings, as well as in their delusional beliefs, in illusory worlds and other unreal imaginings.

12. The entirety of this matter of faith and fantasies has developed into a delusion in them which already moves in schizophrenic forms, whereby they no longer perceive the truth and reality and consequently also can no longer recognise it.

13. And in this delusional form they infiltrate the humans with their absurdities which they imagine and also adopt them from other scribblers which you call 'abkupfern'. [copying?]

14. Thereby the readers of the entire nonsense are seduced to believably accept the lies, slanders, the swindle and the fantasies of these irresponsible scribblers as truth while they assess the reality and the real truth as unrealistic, unreal and as untruth.

15. Belief is just very much simpler than investigating the effective truth through one's own seeking and one's own cognitive work.

16. Furthermore the fantastic and illusory will sooner be accepted by the Earth-humans than even the truth and reality which appears banal compared to the fantastic and illusory.

17. Therefore it is so that standing on the firm ground of the facts, truth and reality is proscribed while the untruthful, fantastic, and illusory and all the swindling, lies, deceit and slander which is bound with it – which, since time immemorial, have always been booming business – effect the Earth-humans like sweet balm which stills the delight and demand for that which is fantastic and illusory.

18. So lying, swindle, falsehoods, deceit and slander are means through which the human allows himself to be very easily beguiled, because everything is only swallowed and does not have to truthfully be contemplated, while the search for the effective truth and its processing is bound with very much effort and cognitive work as well as with a sense for the recognition of reality.

19. However the irresponsible scribblers – who invent the crazy and unreal as well as unrealistic conspiracy theories, copy the entire nonsense from each other and throw everything to their believers as fodder, and therewith earn much money – know exactly that.

20. That is also the case with the books of the hacks named by you who, without conscience, spread their horrendous nonsense of their dim-witted conspiracy theories and thereby lead their faithful readers into error, convey to them a completely wrong picture of the world and hound them into angst and terror.

21. The books named by you by David Icke, as well as, however, also the books of Zacharias Sitchin, van Helsing and of Rétzi belong just as much in the realm of the nonsense and feeble-mindedness of illusory and fantasy-rich conspiracy theories as also do other similar kinds of works which, if I may use your words, must be labelled as sheer idiocy and schizophrenic delusional imaginings.

22. Truthfully, from the complete contents there are no things at all to name which could be designated facts of truth and reality because basically it deals with nothing other than freely invented fantasies and illusions which are irresponsibly given a coating of truth in order to thereby take those Earth-humans into their power who believe the dim-witted nonsense and allow themselves to be taken prisoner by it.

23. From the entire exposition of all books of such a kind no letter may be considered as true because everything is only built on deception, lies, deceit, slander, fantasies and illusions which also applies to the supposed reptoid beings or reptilian humans.

24. Such kinds of beings are pure inventions of the scribblers because they thereby connect the evil and want to thereby transmit the impression of the evil and diabolical, whereby the Earth-humans are driven to angst and terror which naturally again has its effect on the numbers of sales of the books and brings in great profit.

25. Reptoid, respectively, reptilian beings, as these are described in the nonsensical books, exist even less in the entire universe than they do in other dimensions of this universe, so however, also not on the Earth – also not in forms of transmuted humans.

26. It also corresponds to a lie that such extraterrestrial beings, or other kinds, have lived on the Earth since time immemorial or since more recent times and are even active in the governments, because assertions which claim that it is true, indeed, correspond to the crazy fantasies, illusions, angsts or conscious lies and slandering of the book-scribblers.

27. Yet in every regard believers do not, as a rule, let themselves be impressed by the truth, rather they faithfully remain in the prison which they themselves delusionally imagine because that is simpler than having to grapple with the real truth.

28. The truth is just simply and somehow banal, as you tend to say, for which reason it only addresses humans who consciously use their reason and understanding, while the others, who depend on the fantastic and illusory as well as that which pertains to belief, are not willing to free themselves from the nonsensical and the unreal as well as from their not making use of reason and understanding.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_469

Ptaah:

104. 3) Reptiloids are life-forms of mixed human and reptilian form, their bodies being covered with scales.

...

Billy:

The reptiloids, are they metamorphoses, beings that can change shape, like, to pure humanoids?

Ptaah:

131. No, they do not have that ability.

132. But why do you ask?

Billy:

The question refers to a nonsense, namely to a nonsense of a conspiracy theory that circulates in certain esoteric and other crazy conspiracy circles, about which crazy authors also write crazy books, namely that – especially in the USA – the government cliques and other powerful people are supposed to be vicious alien reptiloids in earth-humanoid form. Of course I know that this is absolute nonsense, as well as other morbid conspiracy theories that the various governments of the Earth are supposed to be contaminated with aliens. But a lot of money is made with such nonsense, because the stupid believers of such lies and conspiracy theories buy the rubbish and believe in it, and very many of them with fear and shudder, because they see only evil in everything. And with fear and evil a lot of money can be earned on our Earth with the stupid believers.

Ptaah:

133. This nonsense is as familiar to me as all the criminal and fraudulent practices of fear-mongering by the writers of such books and reports with nonsensical conspiracy theories.

Billy:

The stupid and the faithful want to be deceived and duped because they cannot exist in the light of the truth, because the truth is too banal, not sensational enough, not exciting enough and does not cause the fearful shudder that many human beings are addicted to.

Ptaah:

134. A true word.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_672

44. Reptiloids: Reptiloids are human-like intelligent beings derived from reptiles or reptilian-like aliens. They had infiltrated Earth and were part of a secret pyramid-like organizational structure.

Ptaah:

144.FALSE

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_698

Billy:

... But I would still be interested to know what you think of these people who always claim, lie and fantasise as busybodies and alleged UFO contactors and 'knowers' etc. that extraterrestrials, also so-called reptiloids etc., would participate in governments on Earth without being recognised, which Ptaah, Semjase and Quetzal as well as Asket denied?

Florena:

8. Concerning your question about lying or confused claims that alleged Earth-foreigners or extraterrestrials and reptiloids etc., as you say, are active in earthly governments, our assessment corresponds to the fact that all these persons in their consciousness reality are addicted to disorders of mind and reason, as well as to the need for self-portrayal, but they also have delusions and also show strong tendencies to lie.

9. Many are also pathologically out of touch with reality and therefore do not orient themselves to reality and truth, but to hallucinations, fantasies, illusions, self-deceptions, sensory illusions and mirages that are out of touch with reality.

10. Many simply allow themselves to be influenced and guided by lies and deceptions, and as a result of their own ignorance, weakness of intelligence and inability to cultivate their own clear thoughts and reflections, fall prey to a stupid faith, as is also the case with any belief in God.

return to Index

Fatima Apparitions (Miracle Of The Sun)

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Our\_Lady\_of\_F%C3%A1tima

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Miracle\_of\_the\_Sun

see also Extraterrestrials – Giza Intelligences / Bafath

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_034

Billy:

... I am now still further interested in a matter related to the so-called appearances of Saints. I mean those phenomena, that are in a religious fashion dressed up in a holiness like for example the alleged appearance of a so-called Saint, after which the dear humans at the location of appearance are then creating places of pilgrimage out of it. ...

Semjase:

195. You know very well that these phenomena are only personally generated visions or machinations of those power groups and those Earth humans who want to cast their spell over the Earth humans through the religious forms of appearance, and in others are caused by Earth humans through their exuberant religious imagination.

196. This means, on the one hand, that the evil-minded extraterrestrial Giza intelligences, who want to bring the Earth into their power, cause such phenomena by projections or play such a role themselves, and, on the other hand, that Earth-humans afflicted by the religious delusion send out their horrendous fantasy by their consciousness-based powers and cause such phenomena by projection or visually-semi-materially.

197. You have experienced it yourself several times and also produced such projections yourself several times.

199. Also in the past you witnessed such events when Asket brought you together with your friend into the past.

200. You have experienced and recognised that the appearance of Lourdes was a projection as well as the fantasy figure of Satan, which you projected into your field of vision as a child by your own powers.

201. And you also know very well that as another example the appearance of Fatima was nothing else but the evil play of the Giza intelligences, who let one of their ships appear in radiant light and then one of their female life forms appeared as the Mother of God, although they made the mistake that the woman remained in her space suit and this was registered by critical observers.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_036

Semjase:

107. The events of Fatima actually trace back to these intelligences, as do many similar events.

108. All we knew so far was that the Giza intelligences were responsible for all these events and that everything was done by Ashtar Sheran or by his command.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_250

Billy:

Whereby the so-called supernatural of course does not exist in any way, because everything and everything is always naturally explainable and also naturally given. The supernatural exists only in the ignorance and the incomprehension of man, because he has no knowledge about all those things which he cannot understand and cannot explain himself. Truthfully everything so-called supernatural is absolutely natural and thus also classified according to the corresponding laws of spirit or matter, which are able to give an explanation for everything and everyone, whereby something supernatural becomes a fact of non-existence. Everything that can be grasped and perceived, everything that can be seen and heard and everything that can be felt, recognized, experienced and experienced, etc., is always real, real and natural in every case, regardless of whether it takes place on a spiritual or material level or on a medium level between spirit and matter, which is so often called the level of the supernatural or the supernatural by parapsychologists and esoterics who do not understand it.

Ptaah:

181. A true word.

Billy:

... statements are not actual prophecies, as it is generally so gladly seen, because often they are so to speak prophylactic warnings, if I may say so. ...

This fact also applies to statements of other visionaries etc., which appear in large numbers. Also religious-fanatic and abysmal-sectarian are among them, whereby particularly these are given in extremely threatening form, like e.g. also the three prophecies of Fatima, with which the third tells as it were of an end of the world with all worst horrors and atrocities and of unspeakable infernal agonies, which are to break in in the second half of the 20th or in the course of the 21st century over Earth and the entire mankind.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_710

Billy:

Then I want to end this subject and hear from you what you have to say about the matter of the Giza Intelligences, who were in reality the Earth-foreigners, of whom there has been talk since time immemorial. So I have another question about Fatima, because at that time, on the 12th or 13th of October 1917, tens of thousands of onlookers in central Portugal were able to observe and witness a furious 'solar phenomenon'. As early as the mid-1950s, Asket told me that the whole thing had been arranged by the Earth-foreigners, whereby Asket also took me back in time to the exact moment when the event took place, which gave me the opportunity to observe the spectacle for myself and to realise that the alleged 'solar phenomenon' had been conjured up for the whole crowd of onlookers by an Earth-foreigners' flying objects. Nevertheless, Asket, your daughter Semjase and I, at the 34th contact conversation, on the 14th of September 1975, foisted a misinformation on the public, because we said something that was only half-truthful, namely the following {see Contact Report 34:

201. And you also know very well that, as another example, the Fatima apparition was nothing but the evil machination of the Giza Intelligences, who made one of their ships appear in radiant light and then one of their female life-forms appeared as the Mother of God, but they made the mistake that the woman remained in her space-suit and this was registered by critical observers. }

So it was said that the Fatima incident was something arranged by the Giza Intelligences, but this did not correspond to effective correctness, for it was fundamentally only an evasive truth, the meaning of which was explained to me but concealed from the public. The explanation was that the whole truth could only be told when at a certain time in the new millennium all or part of the whole connections could be revealed and would no longer cause any problems. The disclosure could be today, if we can talk about it now, as you recently said and explained that it could be in the month of September. So I think that now with regard to the presence of the Earth-foreigners on Earth, it should be explained that through them really abductions and so on and also other occurrences have taken place. If you yourself would say some clarifying words about this, there would then also be clarity in this respect.

Ptaah:

43. I can do that, but there is not much to explain, because for various reasons connected with the Earth-foreigners and the 'Black Men', as well as with the US and other secret services, we had to behave in such a way that we pretended to be uninformed and our contacts appeared unreal from the point of view of the Earth-foreigners, the 'Black Men', and all the various secret services.

44. This could only be done by distancing ourselves from calling the Earth-foreigners the originators of the Fatima phenomenon, for if we had done so, the insidious efforts of the dark men and secret services against you would have continued.

47. But the threat of the secret agents and dark figures had to be prevented, which could only be done by deliberate misleading, and this also with regard to the Fatima event, which we misleadingly called the machination of the Giza Intelligences instead of the Earth-foreigners, when it came up in our conversations.

48. In fact, the Giza Intelligences were also Earth-foreigners, whom we actually deported, but who were just as unknown to the Earth-foreigners as we were to them. ...

Billy:

... the Earth-foreigners, who are generally simply called extraterrestrials or aliens by the Earthlings, have in fact been around for a long time. They stayed here and worked in many ways, as did their distant descendants, but they have also been active on Earth for centuries and millennia up to the present day, flying around and in and out of the Earth, and are observed again and again around the world by the Earthlings, whereby the American continent is of particular importance in this respect. Their early ancestors worked in many different ways on Earth, and also in various countries in Asia, North Africa and partly in Europe, but mainly in the early days in the North African country, which in later times was called 'Kemet' and then finally in later times Egypt, after which this name has been preserved until today. Your father Sfath taught me during a leap in time into the past to the land there, where the Earth-foreigners ruled at that time, whom he called 'long-skulls' and whom I have seen myself, that they had been on Earth for thousands of years. Because, in contrast to the round skulls of the human beings of Earth, they had skulls that were long and thickly protruding towards the back, they stood out unmistakably from the human beings of Earth just as other Earth-foreigners did around the world, such as giants up to about 3 metres tall, half-small people with large and somewhat v-shaped heads and excessively large eyes. Various such long skulls have also been found in modern times by archaeologists, etc., although to this day people still puzzle over what secret is connected with these skulls, which were not from human beings of the Earth, but belonged to Earth aliens. ...

return to Index

Foo Fighters

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Foo\_fighter

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nazi\_UFOs

https://www.bibliotecapleyades.net/ufo\_aleman/esp\_ufoaleman\_8a.htm

see also UFOs / Flying Saucers

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_031

Billy:

... I have heard and read that our scientists are trying to make their own earthly beamships. Is that true and how advanced are these things?

Ptaah:

383. This information is consistent with the truth to the extent that such flying apparatuses are in their infancy being built on Earth.

384. However, they are not beamships, but flying machines similar to our ships, equipped only with explosion engines or, more recently, with jet engines with recoil effect.

385. The construction of such ships on Earth in modern times is not entirely new, however, for the first ships of this kind were completed in planning and construction as early as 1941.

386. In mid-February 1945, the first flights were carried out up to altitudes of around 12500 metres, developing speeds of just over 2000 kilometres per hour.

387. It was all commissioned by the Führer of the Second World War, Adolf Hitler.

388. At the end of the war, however, everything was destroyed so that it would not fall into the hands of the enemy.

389. Various plans and devices and apparatuses, however, were overlooked and fell into other hands.

390. From these, various groups developed the disc-shaped ships of terrestrial origin that exist today.

391. These 'flying discs', as they are called by the designers, naturally require their test flights to test their properties, etc.

392. Many of these objects can therefore be observed by Earth-humans as they are flown about to be flown in or tested.

393. The largest of these terrestrial flying objects of this type already reach nearly 10 metres in diameter and are already quite numerous.

394. Of course, this is quite vigorously denied by the governments of the states possessing them.

395. However, their machines have often crashed, because they are still rather poorly developed in all respects.

396. But the uninitiated human beings of Earth live in the mistaken belief that these 'flying discs' they observe are of the same kind as our beamships and come from extraterrestrial worlds.

Billy:

So that is how it is. Then several of the UFOs observed around the world are not UFOs at all, but simply terrestrial 'flying discs'.

Ptaah:

397. That is so, yes.

398. Often they are also forced to make emergency landings because their constructions, devices and apparatus are still very inadequate.

399. Their explosion engines and jet engines, which they recently also want to operate atomically, but which are still wishes for the future, very often cause combustion damage.

400. Human beings who come into the vicinity of such combustion fires are so often also threatened by dangers of atomic radiation, starting from experimental atomic reactors, which are supposed to serve for propulsion, but which will not succeed for a long time yet.

401. If distressed ships of this kind are approached by observers, by which I mean that they go near them, then they are often frightened by the occupants, or even abducted and deported, in order to ensure their absolute silence.

402. Such occurrences are unfortunately not uncommon on the Earth, but through the ignorance of human beings and various unreal 'enlightenment striving' groups they are invariably attributed to extraterrestrial life-forms.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_044

Semjase:

87. The same goes for those who have been deceived by earthly intelligences, namely by those who have the stolen beam ships of the Germans at their disposal and pretend to be extraterrestrials to earthly men.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_050

Billy:

... Are there alien bases under Caluert or Caluest/Texas and under the mountains near Salzburg and in Lake Constance?

Semjase:

62. None of the three places mentioned.

Billy:

But it is said that extraterrestrials have a base there, especially under the mountains?

Semjase:

63. That is not so, however.

64. All stations on the Earth are known to us, there is absolutely no doubt about that, so it is a certainty when I explain to you that there are no extraterrestrial bases, etc. underneath the mountain.

...

67. On the other hand however, this may be connected with another station hidden there, namely that of a group of earthlings who had secretly built a base there during the Second World War, deep in the cliffs where they could live and work.

68. It was one of those groups that got their hands on plans by which they were able to produce beamship-like flying objects.

Billy:

You are referring to the German 'Flying saucers'?

Semjase:

69. Certainly.

70. However, their ships are still quite primitive and not space capable.

71. So they are still Earthbound, but here they have all kinds of possibilities.

72. These Earth-humans are also one of those groups, that approach Earth-humans and claim that they come from the stars with their saucer-shaped flying objects and are extraterrestrials.
73. But this group is no longer in Europe, but like other groups in the South American region.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_062

Semjase:

65. ... in the 1950s a disc was shot from a private station into free space, which was occupied by four people.

66. They were a woman and three men of Russian origin.

67. The originators of this enterprise were one of the groups that, after the Second World War, had seized the plans of the Flying Disks in Germany and set up their own organisation.

...

69. ... the total destruction of the voice and radio signal traffic, as well as that of the command functions of the ship, were to blame for the fact that the ship got off course and drifted into free space.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_065

Ptaah:

23. Almost abruptly it came to pass that at various points on Earth there were stations of those elements and private circles of interest that seized the plans of the Flying Disks at the end of the last World War, namely in Germany and Canada.

24. These elements, however, which have built stations in inaccessible places for the Earth-humans and have developed quite airworthy devices there from the stolen plans, now feel extremely endangered by the investigations of certain countries and they fear that you could give exact information about their existence and the coordinates of their stations if you were to be questioned by any secret services involved in these investigations.

25. That would mean that armies could be set in motion to destroy the stations and get hold of all the achievements.

26. But to prevent such a step, a special group in Brazil is trying to shut you out and to push you out of this world.

27. This is a group of fanatics led by a man from Germany called Dünneberg.

{Note: See Men In Black.}

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_066

Semjase:

184. The two other attacks were carried out by a Nazi group that had settled in Brazil after the end of the war. {Note: See Men In Black.}

185. They robbed German and Canadian plans for the construction of flying disks with which they are able to fly almost effortlessly into the earthly space today.

186. They also came into the possession of a foreign spacecraft of a human race from a distant galaxy.

187. The interstellar drive, however, was destroyed beyond recognition, so they could only use the antigravity drive for planetary flight.

...

190. The crew of the ship that had used the aircraft to fly to the Earth is dead.

191. They all died after their breathing apparatus became empty and could not be refilled.

192. They were poison gas respirators.

193. A gas that is still unknown on the Earth.

194. Over time, their ship, in the hands of the Nazis, could have had dire consequences for the Earth-humans, which is why we were forced to destroy it completely when they left it unattended for a few moments.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_231

Billy:

... Well, there are always questions about the flying discs that were secretly constructed in Germany before the Second World War and also during the war. I could observe flight attempts of such discs together with Sfath during the war still before the middle of the forties over Germany, whereby he explained to me some. Ptaah also spoke of it, it was on the Great Journey that the flight tests sometimes brought very valuable results and flights were carried out up to altitudes of around 12,500 metres. The engines were first explosion engines and later jet engines. In 1941, Sfath and Ptaah said, the planning had been completed and the construction of the flying discs had been tackled. – Look here, in this contact report the following is written which Ptaah explained:

Ptaah: "The construction of such ships on the Earth in modern times is no longer completely new, however, because the first ships of this kind were already completed in 1941 in the planning stage and beginning to be built. In mid-February 1945, the first flights were carried out to altitudes of around 12,500 metres, at which speeds of slightly more than 2,000 kilometres per hour were developed. Everything was commissioned by the leader of the Second World War, Adolf Hitler. At the end of the war, however, everything was destroyed so as not to fall into the hands of the enemy. But various plans and equipment were overlooked and fell into other hands. From this, different groups developed the presently existing ships of disc-shaped kind and earthly origin. These 'flying disks', as they were called by the constructors, of course needed their test flights in order to test their characteristics, etc. Many of these objects can therefore be observed by terrestrial humans when they are flown around to fly them and test them. The largest of these earthly missiles of this kind already reach nearly 100 metres in diameter and are already quite numerous represented. Of course, this is vigorously denied by the governments of the states owning them. But their machines have often crashed because they are poorly developed. But the uninitiated human beings of the Earth live in the erroneous belief that these 'flying discs' observed by them are the same as our beam ships and come from extraterrestrial worlds."

Now, however, claims are being made again and again which, according to what Sfath and Ptaah have explained, have no basis whatsoever, because most of it is based only on wild fantasies and speculations, which probably serves to make a profit. For example, the crazy story that the Germans flew to Mars with their flying discs. Can you say something more about this?

Quetzal:

280. Some things are known to me, which is why I can say that the disc aircraft of that time, which were already planned very early, i.e. from the twenties onwards, and later constructed, were developments that were considered 'miracle aircraft'.

281. This was because they were so-called single wing aircraft.

282. However, these flying discs or single wing aircraft were nothing more than airplanes, even if they were of a completely different type than the normal wing aircraft.

283. So they were not extraterrestrial or esoteric marvels, in which alleged extraterrestrials or people of other dimensions, etc., participated, as has been claimed to be, for some time, by lying and deceitful profit-obsessed ones, as well as by self-proclaimed false experts, contact persons, esotericists and parapsychologists, by those who want to be great, by self-obsessed people and by patients afflicted with inferiority complexes.

284. The truth concerning the flying discs is simple and lies beyond all delusions, fantasies and all erroneous assertions and stupid ideas.

285. The fact is that not only in Germany since the twenties there have been projects concerning the planning and development of flying discs, but also in Russia, England and America.

286. At the same time, America, Germany, England, and Russia were already planning to conquer the moon and the entire solar system with regard to aircraft suitable for space travel.

287. Everything happened, however, under strictest secrecy, as I already said.

288. When at the end of the war the Americans and Englishmen illegally appropriated large parts of the German flying disc technology, which was already very advanced, the war winners had won.

289. So it became just one year later, when the British and the Americans tested the captured technology together in Canada as well as the Americans also in their own country, and with success.

290. Since then, progress has not stopped, so that many different types of flying discs have been developed, which can be seen again and again when they are on test or spy flights.

291. Ultimately, all this technology should serve to monitor the entire Earth, as should be the case with humans themselves, who should be subjected to total surveillance by implanted control chips.

292. Such plans already exist in secret, whereby in Europe the European Union, which is already on its way, will be the authoritative dictatorship.

293. The flying disc technology, however, when I want to come back to it, is also integrated into space technology, because for a long time there have been efforts to construct the flying discs in such a form that they can be used to travel around space and reach other planets, which are Earth-like in shape and inseminated.

294. These newly developed flying discs have been leading to UFO sightings all over the world for quite some time now, and then it has been deliberately mistakenly claimed by a wide variety of sources that these are aircraft of extraterrestrial origin.

...

305. So it is a fact, that since 1945, when the plans of the air disk technology fell into the hands of the Americans, Russians and English, with few exceptions the whole earthly humankind is lied to and deceived, and for this every means is justified – also alleged activities of extraterrestrials.

306. And all those fools, irresponsible, criminals, deceivers, liars and swindlers etc. in matters of alleged contacts with extraterrestrials, spirits, dead and higher beings are co-responsible for the fact that the secret machinations can be promoted in relation to the flying discs, because with their lies and deceits they promote everything still.

307. So they help those who have been lying to and cheating on humankind since 1945, who can secretly make enormous technical achievements on the flying-discs and realise their secret projects in order to control and subjugate all of humankind and the planet to totality.

308. And all this is financed with huge sums of money stolen from people with unjust tax money.

309. But back to the flying discs in Nazi Germany:

310. The single-winged flying discs of all kinds of the Nazi era were as purely of earthly origin as they still are today, since they are technically very much further developed and can often be observed.

311. In fact, however, they are nothing more than terrestrial airplanes.

312. In Nazi Germany, too, the planning and construction of flying discs was also a strictly secret military project, but under the leadership of Adolf Hitler.

313. These projects involved many distinguished scientists, such as a certain Belluzzo, a Miethe, an Epp and a Schriever, to name but a few.

{Note: This is likely referring to Giuseppe Belluzzo, Richard Miethe, Joseph Epp, and Rudolph Schriever.}

314. At that time, the technology of the single-wing flying discs was a completely new technology, which had very futuristic forms and was preserved until today.

315. Nevertheless, this whole development was and is based on the terrestrial-normal aeronautical technology, so that no extraterrestrial or other-dimensioned flying technique or propulsion technology comes into effect.

316. So neither anti-gravitational drives played a role or could be used, nor any converter devices, which allegedly originated from extraterrestrials or other dimensions, because in fact they are all only wild and nonsensical, imaginative or quite consciously lying and fraudulent claims.

317. The same applies to claims that the Germans flew to Mars or even to distant galaxies with their flying discs.

318. Truthfully, first the engines were explosion engines and later radiation and rocket engines, which in turn were improved later by air combustion catalytic converters.

319. The aim was to suck the air from the wing of the flying disc, to liquefy it quickly by cooling it down, after which it was burned catalytically and thus served as propulsion energy, which was ejected by rotating nozzles on the outer ring of the flying disc in a fogging manner, whereby the missile was seen only blurred.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_254

Ptaah:

4. We already worked with those flying devices, which you call the cake-ship, in the twenties, but it was indeed only at the end of the seventies that they were brought to the required status for their use on the Earth.

5. The form of these flying devices was specially thought up for the Earth, for which reason we made the effort to transmit the entire necessary specifications for the design to terrestrial scientists through impulse-telepathy so that, out of that, flying disks could be developed.

6. This impulse-telepathic information went predominantly to aerospace technicians, as I will designate these persons, whereby especially German engineers were included for this, to whom we transmitted exact plans for the external form as well as certain technical particulars which were responsible to transmit.

7. Thereby the German scientists also actually experimented, whereby they could construct halfway suitable flying disks, which according to our thinking at those times should have been used to constitute an air power through which an early-brought-about world peace should have been achieved.

8. However, the political machinations changed very quickly into a bellicose direction, for which reason we brought an end to further impulse-telepathic information to the German scientists and allowed the project to expire, whereby we however initially transmitted false information so that the flying disks could not be created specifically for warlike purposes.

9. However, the plans existed furthermore in isolated copies because we could not obtain them all.

10. Which was, however, no longer bad, because these still-existing papers were extremely incomplete, and disappeared in this form.

11. In practice, these drafts were only available as sketches which only showed the outer ring and the underside of the flying device while the extension underneath and the construction of the top were no longer available; and it is exactly these sketches, of the outer ring as well as its underside, which survived for several decades and reappeared in the middle of the sixties.

12. Though this happened without our knowledge, because, since the disappearance of the sketches which had become useless, we concerned ourselves no further about that until just now, when you called Florena and communicated to her that you discovered that the forms of lids for large containers exist, which, in their configuration and construction, are made exactly the same as the lower ring and its underside, of our flying device and show the same structure more than only approximately.

13. And because you gave one of these kinds of lids to Florena in order to provide clarification, it was easy for us to compare it with the construction of the flying device, which made the astonishing sameness clear to us, which also gave us occasion to dedicate our attention to the matter.

14. Therefore we cleared everything up very precisely, and thereby found out that the sketches which surfaced again were evaluated in industrial firms and found application, and that these same sketches were utilized for the design and manufacture of forms of lids which were completely atypical, because, until then, the designers usually only ever drafted forms of lids which showed simple lines, however never forms which could be called futuristic and complicated.

15. Thus came about the form of the lids for the container named by you, whereby the form of the lids, as I already said, is deceptively similar to the area of the lower ring and its underside, as is shown by our flying devices which relate to this.

...

Billy:

... But say, dear friend, because of the flying discs of the Germans, one hears strange things again and again. Is it true that flight tests were actually carried out, with the discs reaching Mars and an altitude of 12,000 metres?

Ptaah:

39. Such assertions are absurd, because the flight spinning tops, as they were really called, did not find such perfection in Germany, and the fact that flights into space should have taken place with them corresponds to an imagination.

40. On the other hand, flying discs were later built in other countries, e.g. in South America.

41. In the former Soviet Union and in America, too, efforts were made to build such aircraft, after the occupying forces of Germany had received the corresponding construction plans, which were so incomplete that the new plan owners themselves had to do a great deal of work and contribute so that the flying discs could be built, but which could also only be used for terrestrial airspace, as is still the case with these aircraft today, apart from a certain group in South America, as you know.

...

Billy:

Can you still tell me whether the construction plans for the flying discs seized by the occupying powers were the same kind that you impulse telepathically transmitted to the Germans, and who was actually responsible for them?

Ptaah:

43. You mean those plans from which the covers were finally made?

Billy:

Exactly.

Ptaah:

44. The transmissions went to two men named Schriever and Miethe, who also dealt with self-constructed plans for flying gyroscopes.

45. It was these plans that fell into the hands of the Americans and the Soviets, who then devoted themselves to their studies and constructions.

46. Also the group in South America came into the possession of copies of the same flying gyroscopes, namely by theft.

Billy:

Surely one may say that this group was higher Nazis, who fled Germany at the end of the war and disappeared to South America.

Ptaah:

47. But you shouldn't say more about it.

Billy:

Of course not. – Because of the Second World War, disc-shaped missiles were observed in Germany and even all over the world.

Ptaah:

48. That corresponds to the circumstances, yes.

49. These missiles, however, were not of earthly origin, but were our companions as well as our federation allies.

Billy:

So the observed flying disks had no reason whatsoever with the flying disks or flying gyroscopes of the Germans. Then other assertions are actually only stupid assertions of liars, phantoms and know-it-alls etc. We actually wanted to know that for a long time.

Ptaah:

50. But that only refers to the flying gyroscopes of Schriever and Miethé.

Billy:

Were there any others?

Ptaah:

51. There were, yes.

52. These, however, were in private research, secretly conducted by power-hungry Nazis, using the plans of Schriever and Miethé.

53. These flying gyroscopes had already been further developed in Germany and were tested flights which yielded good results.

Billy:

Today's South American group?

Ptaah:

54. Your assumption is correct.

Billy:

And all this could happen under the eyes of the Gestapo?

Ptaah:

55. Many of the major Gestapo and SS leaders were involved and secretly working to keep the rest of the world ignorant of the constructions and test flights, etc., and when the end of the war came, they fled to South America with all their material and all their people.

56. This was not a difficult undertaking for them, because the flying gyroscopes were already so airworthy that they could circumnavigate the earth non-stop and transport away all materials and people before the Allied forces could seize them or find out anything about these secrets.

Billy:

So that's how it happened. But how far has the construction of the Schriever and Miethé flight gyro advanced?

Ptaah:

57. On 15.7.1941 the prototype was ready for the first test flight.

58. We monitored this very closely.

59. But the flying gyroscopes were not built after our transmissions, because these had already been made unsuitable by us by false information, because we saw the great danger, which would have resulted from it for the entire earthly mankind.

60. However, we did nothing against the development of the Schriever and Miethé flying gyroscopes until we realized that they suddenly posed a tremendous threat to humanity.

61. Consequently we interfered in the preparations for the first test flight just at the time when it was certain for us that the flight would be a complete success and the mass production of the flying gyroscopes would entail, which would have meant that with the help of these flying machines the entire earthly mankind would have been subjugated and enslaved, which however did not lie in their destiny and also in the future does not lie in their destiny.

62. So we asked the Arahath Athersata plain what to do in this particular case and then followed their advice to damage the project and completely destroy the flying gyroscopes and three other semi-finished specimens by transferring malfunctions into the machinery of the gyroscopes, destroying them in an explosive manner.

Billy:

And why didn't you do that to those who later escaped to South America?

Ptaah:

63. They meant no danger to the world and mankind, and they still don't do that today.

64. They have meanwhile shrunk to a small group that has no more clout and is slowly dying out, because in the pure male world in which they live no offspring are to be expected.

65. Women and children are frowned upon, for they live solely by their technique and their desires for world domination, which, however, they are unable to realize.

66. They live isolated for themselves, even if they often fly around the world with their flying discs, whereby they can also be observed here and there.

67. They do not look for followers in the world outside either, because they are afraid that they might be betrayed by newcomers.

68. As a result, they are completely closed off and have long since given up all attempts to find followers somewhere outside.

69. All of them have also grown old since then, with the youngest now 78 years old.

70. The whole group counts to today only 334 men, of once more than 2,000 men.

71. The rest have all died of illness or accidents, such as mistaken experiments or windshield crashes, or they have died quite normally.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_259

Ptaah:

4. My assumption was correct, that the utilization of the plan, in regard to this flying device, found wider-ranging interest than that merely futuristic forms of container lids were manufactured from them, as I communicated to you at our conversation on 28.11.1995.

5. Our very extensive clarifications have revealed that the flying-device plans were variously divided up and were used for further manufacturing, as, for example, for various forms of decoration and holding devices for various purposes.

6. Also, exposed bolts for furniture shelves were created out of certain parts of the plans, as well as roller bearings from other parts of the plans.

7. A flower pot base came about from another part of the plans, which, in its outer edge part, is very precisely configured in accord with the plan sketch, consequently, therefore, even the surrounding pertinent special elements for the screening of the visibility of the flying body was carried over, and indeed so precisely and correctly that no difference exists between the plan sketches and the terrestrially created product.

8. However these are not the only terrestrially manufactured products from the flying-device plans, because we could determine a total of 17 different objects for different purposes which were worked out from the plans.

9. We have gained no knowledge as to why that happened, if you exclude the fact that the flying-device plans of that time were ripped out of their entirety and were distributed in several European countries as well as in America and Japan where they found utilization for the planning and manufacturing of the most varied products which, in part, are still produced and utilized on Earth today.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_265

Reader's Question {Catalin Morarescu/Germany}

What happens to the knowledge from the research and construction of the successor flight discs of the German South American group, which consists only of men, if one day the group no longer exists due to the death of its members? If these men live so far back and have no contact with other people outside their area, then they have no successors who could continue or end their experiments (technical in nature). Will the Plejaren later eliminate these machines, or what happens to this legacy? (One can only hope that this technology will not fall into the wrong hands.) Can you make a statement about the technological lead compared to today's conventional drives? How great are the successes of this group in researching these alternative drives?

Answer {Billy}:

Today, the South American group exists only as a small and closed community of old men who are decimated from year to year by their death and do not pose any danger to the world – not even with regard to their technology. The leading technical minds died a long time ago – the last of them about 15 years ago. The rest of the workforce was made up of auxiliaries and fanatical leaders who, in terms of technical developments, must be called zero forces. Even workers who were responsible for the maintenance of the technical equipment and aircraft etc. have not existed for quite some time, which of course means that most of the equipment and aircraft have already been destroyed, so that in 1996 there were only two operational aircraft left, which at that time also had serious defects.

Regarding the plans for the flying discs, it has to be said that these were already destroyed in the sixties by certain circumstances, about which I can give no information at all. As far as discarded aircraft are concerned, the following factors must be taken into account: Various flying discs were completely destroyed in crashes, to such an extent that no technical knowledge can be gained from them, should they ever be found. The reason for this total destruction was a self-destruct mechanism that is built into every flying disc – even the two that existed at least in 1996. The self-destruction was so effective that it completely shredded the flying disc and practically tore it apart when the self-ignition was triggered. The self-destruct mechanism has been an integral part of the flying disc since the beginning of its existence, very cleverly constructed and deadly safe. A flying disc could never and should never be left unattended, because otherwise it would automatically destroy itself. In this consequence, a guard always had to remain on board the aircraft in order to prevent the self-destruction of the flying screen, because the self-destruction mechanism was constructed in such a way that no treason could be practiced and no escape could be made. Once the self-destruct mechanism had been activated, it could not and cannot be deactivated in such a way that the self-destruction of the flying disc could have been prevented. A prevention of the self-destruction was and is only possible for 60 minutes at a time, after which the self-destruction automatically starts, if not caused by a complicated sensor, which could only be or can only be influenced in a certain way, another 60 minutes delay. However, this meant and still means today, when the remaining two flying discs still exist, that day and night a guard person remains in the aircraft and has to 'calm down' the self-destruct mechanism every hour and thus influence it. If this does not happen, the mechanism becomes active and can no longer be stopped, completely destroying and tearing apart the aircraft. This also eliminates the danger that is mentioned in the question of what happens to all technology, as a legacy, so to speak, when the last of the South American group blesses the temporal. The technique of self-destruction is certainly not new, but its nature and function are based on a high level of technical and electronic development. And the facilities of the South American Group base are also equipped with such self-destruct mechanisms, so that all facilities are completely destroyed if the delay mechanism is no longer activated. However, hardly anyone will notice this when the time comes, because the group's facilities are well camouflaged in previously unexplored areas of the jungle/rainforest. So there is no reason to fear that the technology of the group will fall into other hands.

Florena:

50. ... Your answer explanation is appropriate.

51. It has to be said, however, that of all flying discs only one is left, which, however, already has flight-inhibiting defects and will probably be destroyed within the next few months.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_452

Billy:

Then, that now is finally clear. The connections with the Gizeh-honchos and other extraterrestrials are therefore much trickier and more extensive, as you told me. But even so, I also have never asked about it, consequently you also have told me nothing about the details. Then, however, I have a problem again, and in fact with the extraterrestrial aircraft, that the Brazilian-group had, from which I was set about in the year 1976 in Winkelriet near Wetzikon. You told me at that time – which unfortunately was not recorded in any contact-report – that it concerned a beamship, which indeed was piloted by people from a distant galaxy, and in fact with poison gas breathers or such, that they, however, were members of your federation, if I am not mistaken. With the 65th Contact on the 23rd of October 1976 you said the following:

Ptaah:

52. Further also, I was able to clarify the events in the Winkelriet near Wetzikon near your domicile, so in addition also the existence of that track of a beamship, which was not from one of our beamships.

53. With the track discovered by you, it concerns a ship of the Brazilian private interest group, who had sent out a command for the most exact probe of your circumstances.

54. In accordance with my investigations, it was about five people, who checked everything very accurately.

55. The ship doesn't even represent a product of the power-group itself, but loot.

56. It was stolen from a crew from a distant galaxy who landed in Brazil years ago, who had to make a forced landing because of some damage.

57. The interstellar drive of the ship was completely destroyed and cannot be repaired again, at least not by the technicians of this power-group.

58. Only the planetary anti-gravity-drive is fully functional, which is suffice for planetary flights.

59. However, you saw the same ship weeks later in the Winkelriet, where you on your very irrational search for this, for you, mysterious object, also discovered this, which put you very much in danger.

60. Two men were in the terrain out there and observed your arrival, which was an easy game for them, because at the time they observed you constantly.

61. In the desire to kill you, they prepared everything and steered you to the place of the planned event.

62. It was your luck, that you drove in your vehicle with caution and without lights on that dark night, because it was only through this, that you were not exactly recognisable in the darkness, that the shot from the gun missed you.

Ptaah:

18. Unfortunately you are mistaken, dear friend, because the strangers were not members of our federation, but they belonged to another group of the Gizeh-Intelligences and were stationed also with these, whereby they had to make an emergency landing in Brazil at that time and were captured by the Brazilian-group.

19. Actually they were poison gas breathers, who all died, when their respiration-equipment failed.

20. They could not leave the Earth anymore, because their interstellar drive was completely destroyed, which was a work of the Gizeh-Intelligences, as we found by experience through the members of the Sirian group.

21. The reason for the destruction of the drive was so that they could not flee, because the Gizeh-Intelligences had a `change` in fundamental attitude.

Billy:

And the Gizeh-twerps didn't undertake anything, as the ship had to make an emergency landing in Brazil, and the respiration-equipment failed, so also nothing, since the old Nazis of the Brazilian-group captured the ship?

Ptaah:

22. Their nature and behaviour was, that they simply gave up lost aircraft, as also they were not concerned about missing people etc. either.

23. Furthermore they were on close terms with the Brazilian group, which, however, that already for a long time does not exist anymore, because everyone of the faction has died by now because of ageing and illness.

Billy:

All members of this group were former officers of the German empire who escaped from Germany to Brazil, they were mainly leading lights and henchmen of the Nazi-empire and therefore escaped war-criminals.

Ptaah:

24. This was actually the case.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_510

Billy:

Something else: Many of the great Nazis fled to Argentina at the end of the Second World War, and they also took secret plans of flying discs with them. Then it happened, as happened at Area 51, that suddenly many different unknown flying objects were sighted over the country, called UFOs. In Argentina it was the German Nazi engineers and Nazi greats who had fled, and at Area 51 it was the German Nazi engineers who had been captured by the USA and enlisted to build flying discs and rockets etc., for which these Nazis had their past simply erased and were granted American citizenship. The question: There are still various reports of UFOs in areas of Mexico and Argentina and elsewhere in South America, as well as in the USA, what is to be thought of? Do old Nazi engineers still work in Argentina, and are strange flying apparatus still being worked on in Area 51, which are then observed as 'UFOs'?

Ptaah:

42. For a number of years now we have not made any special efforts to deal with these things, because they are no longer of any importance to us, so we only deal with them sporadically.

43. Our findings, however, are that there is always something to be found in relation to so-called UFO observations.

44. It is true that with regard to such observations, which are made from time to time all over the world, today not as many unknown objects are observed as in the past from Area 51 and from Argentina etc., and also not with regard to our and our allies' flying apparatus, but they still appear sporadically.

45. The main phase of alien terrestrial missile development is over, for its main period was during the Second World War and then during the so-called 'Cold War'.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_511

Billy:

... The film sequences were black and white shots that looked as if they really came from the forties or fifties. In my opinion, it is very possible that the various flying apparatuses shown are original shots, showing flying apparatuses that really flew through the air and were classified by observers as extraterrestrial UFOs. This is precisely because, due to the nationwide military secrecy, they had no idea that these were secret terrestrial developments of futuristic flying apparatus. The same was the case in Argentina and elsewhere in South America, except that at the end of the Second World War, Nazi engineers who had fled Germany realised their plans for futuristic flying apparatus, which then flew through the air as UFOs and still do so here and there, as in the USA and elsewhere. ...

Ptaah:

7. What I can say is that the black and white film sequences you mentioned really do correspond to original footage and show secret US flying apparatus that was further developed according to Nazi plans.
8. This also involved Nazi engineers who were acquitted of their Nazi past in the USA and became American citizens.
9. These, like the Nazi engineers who had fled to South America, also continued to work on the development of disc, bell and balloon-shaped flying apparatus which were airworthy and with which extensive test flights were carried out.
10. This could be kept secret until today, apart from the fact that the flying apparatuses were seen by many people from the population, who classified the whole thing as extraterrestrial flying apparatuses respectively as UFOs.
11. However, the further development of such secret flying apparatus has not been discontinued, neither in the United States nor in various places in South America, nor in other countries. Consequently, test flights are still being carried out with such apparatus today, not only over the production areas but also in the airspace around the planet.
12. And as it must be, these flying apparatuses are judged by observers around the world to be extraterrestrial UFOs, as has always been the case.
13. This is not least because the US secret services and the US Air Force, as well as those in charge of Area 51, have been secretly fuelling UFO mania among the population through all kinds of machinations in order to conceal the truth of the experimental flying apparatus.
14. The so-called 'Cold War' was a very special factor, which is why everything was handled in great secrecy, and this has remained so to this day, even if the whole thing was interrupted by the end of the {break in text} of cold warfare has diminished, so the great boom in test flights with secret futuristic flying apparatus is over.
15. This does not mean that such flying apparatuses would not continue to be further developed and tested with secret test flights, because this is actually the case in various places, and therefore such objects can still be observed as UFOs, although no longer to the same extent as was the case in the past.
16. Most of these test flights are still carried out in the USA and at various locations in South America.
17. With regard to such flying apparatus, even today a secret further development is still underway, which is why the USA is also still trying to portray the Roswell case as an illusion and as an accident with a balloon apparatus.
18. This in order not to have to admit that they gained important technical knowledge from the crashed object, which they have been evaluating since then, in combination with the plan documents they have from the Nazi flying discs and Nazi flying bells they acquired in Germany at the end of the war.
19. And the fact that German Nazi engineers worked with US scientists, engineers and technicians after the end of World War II on all the secret flying disks and bells and on rocket construction, as was also the case in the USSR, should also remain secret.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_533

Billy:

... that group in South America, which emerged from fugitive NAZI engineers, which built flying discs in Germany and then later in the USA and in South Africa? I knew about that, but is there anything special about it, in particular whether such flying discs are still being produced today and whether they still fly around the world?

Ptaah:

47. None of this has changed, not even the fact that certain states continue to work within the same framework and that the NAZI flying apparatus technology captured by the war victors continues to be worked on, as do many descendants of NAZI engineers who have been trained as engineers and who can also work on NAZI techniques relating to flying discs, etc. and show good results.

Billy:

Mainly in South America, but probably not only in one country, right?

Ptaah:

48. That is correct.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_565

Billy:

... But the UFOs, the so-called 'Foo Fighters', which were observed during the Second World War, were they secret earthly flying machines?

Ptaah:

59. No, we were also able to clarify this; all of them were members of the four groups unknown to us, whose flying apparatus we are also unable to penetrate today with our latest analysis apparatus and equipment.

{Note: Here there seems to be the clarification that actual "Foo Fighters", spacecraft originating from the "four groups" (extraterrestrials, "resident extraterrestrials", and "future Earth" humanity) are different from the secret Nazi aircraft technology, also popularly referred to as Foo Fighters.}

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_672

Ptaah:

141. The NAZI empire developed disc flying apparatuses, which were about 2,000 kilometres per hour fast and reached over 12,500 metres altitude.

142. However, these flying discs were single-wing aircraft, which were of a completely different type than normal wing aircraft.

return to Index

James Forrestal murder

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/James\_Forrestal#Death

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_724

Mr. ... {letter with questions}:

10. There was a man in America whose name was James Forrester, etc...

Answer {Billy}:

And as for the 10th question, "There was a man in America named James Forrester who knew something about UFOs, but then he killed himself, but why I do not know, so I want to know why?"

To this it is to be said that this man did not commit suicide - and I know this very well, for at that time the whole incident was observed by Sfath, for which he explained the whole circumstances to me and bound me to silence in such a way that I would never mention publicly the effective and true background and machinations of the far-reaching incidents, but only to that man who would then be the real one, who would take up my contacts with you Plejaren and make them known world- wide, but then persistently keep silent about all the special things I would entrust to him. {Note: "that man..." may be referring to Wendelle Stevens.}

Now the fact is that on the one hand the name of the man was not James Forrester but James Vincent Forrestal, the first Secretary of Defense of the United States of America, and he had such extensive knowledge in matters of UFOs and US defense plans and intelligence operations, etc., etc., that a certain group and their forces, etc., feared in it a great danger as regards the exposure of their devious machinations. This was because Forrestal did not agree with these machinations and was therefore a danger to the group, as a result of which it was decided to liquidate him, which was then done by murdering him at 1:47 hrs on the morning of the 22nd of May 1949, first by strangling him to unconsciousness in the Bethesda Naval Hospital and then by throwing him out of a window on the 16th floor and consequently crushing him on the floor.

return to Index

Fortune Telling / Divination / Clairvoyance

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Fortune-telling>

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Divination>

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Clairvoyance>

see also Channeling / Mediums / Psychics

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_250

Billy:

Whereby the so-called supernatural of course does not exist in any way, because everything and everything is always naturally explainable and also naturally given. The supernatural exists only in the ignorance and the incomprehension of man, because he has no knowledge about all those things which he cannot understand and cannot explain himself. Truthfully everything so-called supernatural is absolutely natural and thus also classified according to the corresponding laws of spirit or matter, which are able to give an explanation for everything and everyone, whereby something supernatural becomes a fact of non-existence. Everything that can be grasped and perceived, everything that can be seen and heard and everything that can be felt, recognized, experienced and experienced, etc., is always real, real and natural in every case, regardless of whether it takes place on a spiritual or material level or on a medium level between spirit and matter, which is so often called the level of the supernatural or the supernatural by parapsychologists and esoterics who do not understand it.

Ptaah:

181. A true word.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Sfath%27s\_Explanation

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_307

Sfath:

180. Never let yourself be influenced by false teachings, nor be deceived by hocus-pocus and by conjurer's tricks and magic tricks, rather learn to recognise their falsenesses, to which end I will instruct you, so that you are also able to see through and recognise these kinds of deceptions.

181. Also fortune telling, exorcism, clairvoyance, and spiritual healing in a deceptive manner, together with many other similarly orientated things, will be brought to you, as well as automatic writing and alleged channelising, which will, in the time to come, be called channelling.

182. Their rule is only lying and deceit, delusion, false teaching, illness and profit-making, for which reason you shall also protect yourself from it; as well as from the false teachings and machinations of the religions and the sects which have arisen from them and continue to arise from them, which will be degenerating in such a way in the coming time that, from them, murder and mass-murder will result.

183. Protect yourself from all these things every moment of your life, because lying, deception, slander and untruth will, in the coming time, be rife more than ever before.

184. It will be especially so when the change of the millennium will send the human beings into excitement and confusion.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_656

Sfath:

278. Even esoteric groupings and organizations, religions, sects and philosophies, etc., which are alien to reality, will increasingly dominate the faithful and – as since time immemorial – keep them away from reality and truth and lead them astray.

279. Faith-based forms of delusion promoted by religion and sectarian aberrations will increase worldwide in the future and the people who believe in them in this way will be deceived by sensory illusions, illusions, illusions, religious lies, pretences, delusions, juggleries and unrealities.

280. Superstition and belief in ghosts and ghosts, sect induced clairvoyance, God's message and religious miraculous activity will lead to new highlights in the future, as will fear of ghosts, mysticism, belief in miracles and delusions.

281. All this will be irresponsibly controlled by the lies and deception of religions and sects and their fanatical and power-obsessed advocates, who gather many believers around them and seduce them to torture, violence, war, murder, rape and destruction in the name of an alleged Creator God, in order to torture and kill innocent people as God's warriors and thereby reach their alleged God in Paradise.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_017

Semjase:

78. The second possibility is that of calculating combinatorial seeing, as it is also done in part by you and is known under the wrong name or the wrong designation CLAIRVOYANCE.

79. This kind of future view is also doubtful and erroneous with us and does not exclude false observations and false descriptions. ...

107. But be aware that these kinds of predictions may be subject to certain changes or that they may contain errors.

108. They are not the result of a direct material vision of the future, but only the product of calculating combinatorial seeing, as your clairvoyants do.

109. For a direct material view of the future, however, the great mass of your humanity is not capable of experiencing and coping with it, which is why I am not allowed to give it

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_367

Billy:

... But all this has nothing to do with the so-called 'places of power' as they are thought up by people who believe that great mental powers or other vibrations occur and work in a parapsychological or esoteric framework, which is of course pure nonsense. All this is based solely on a profound imagination and on delusions that are the preserve of all those who believe this nonsense. I know from my own experience that the people who cling to the nonsense of this belief are as completely unteachable as those who have a strong religious, sectarian, political, scientific or philosophical belief. For them, truth and reality are something foreign or imaginary, which is why they banish themselves to the realm of illusion and negate everything that has to do with truth and reality. In fact, I know what I am talking about, because I have had enough experience around the world, also with regard to the deceptions of alleged 'ghostly apparitions', 'ghost photos', 'spirit operations', 'spirit healing', alleged telekinesis, telepathy and levitation, clairvoyance etc. Also with regard to UFOs, which are supposed to be of extraterrestrial origin, but which are in fact of earthly origin, I have learned a great deal through your help and have gained knowledge which proves that on earth everything in this respect is usually based on faith and delusion as well as on the machinations of lies, deception, charlatanry, tricks, deception and illusion, but also on imagination, deception and self-generated visions etc.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_407

Billy:

Today Silvano drew my attention to the fact that on Swiss television SRG1 at 20:00 hrs to 21:00 hrs a programme was being broadcast which was about clairvoyance. I watched this program of course. It was about a woman in her thirties named A. C., who is supposed to be clairvoyant and to see dead humans, aliens, the aura of humans, etc. She is also in the habit of giving advice and treatment to other humans, and she also works in a hospital under the patronage of a doctor. But as I see it, the woman suffers from a meditative form of schizophrenia, as you once described this disease to me. I cannot remember the correct name you gave to this form of schizophrenia.

Ptaah:

8. But there are a large number of forms of this kind of illness – and that is what it is – among the humans on Earth.

9. And I have to say that your observation and judgement is correct with regard to the fact that the woman suffers from a very rare form of a persistently acute form of schizophrenia, which is unconsciously meditative-delusional due to childhood-related desire circumstances.

10. It is an acute and persistent paranoid-hallucinatory schizophrenia, which, due to an unconscious and likewise acute permanent and thus persistent alpha wave meditative state, causes delusional or paranoid and hallucinatory modes of experience and forms of experience, whereby only a very slight or no impairment of the formal world of thought appears, and the formation of feelings, the emotional world and the emotional responsiveness are fully preserved.

11. This is a permanent condition which is extremely difficult to diagnose and therefore difficult to recognize even by our specialists, psychiatrists and trained psychologists.

12. This is especially true because a person afflicted by this consciousness-related disease appears to be completely normal and does not have any recognizable brain-organic disease or abnormal behaviour, speech, conduct or movement etc.

13. As a rule, this form of consciousness-disease also brings with it the fact that those afflicted with it have an excessive sensitivity or sensitivity, whereby they are able to absorb and define all kinds of impulses with regard to thoughts, feelings and pain of their fellow men, which is also true for this woman.

14. On Earth, the psychological and psychiatric specialists are still completely ignorant of this clinical picture, which is why they classify people suffering from this kind of illness as completely normal and even admit that they are clairvoyant and psychic, etc., which is not the case.

15. It is not uncommon for humans who have fallen prey to the disease of paranoid hallucinatory schizophrenia in the form of alpha wave meditation to have extraordinary psychological abilities, through which they can stimulate suffering fellow humans to unconscious self-healing by suggestive influence.

16. Often fantastic as well as realistic images of the schizophrenia sufferers come into play, which they suggest to the sick and suffering people, who then accept them, take them for granted and work with them, whereby self-suggestion generates self-healing.

17. The process is similar to the one that is practiced and applied by the so-called spiritual healers.

18. In the condition of the woman you mentioned, the origin of her illness can be traced back to her childhood, namely to the fact that she felt extremely alone in childhood and intensely wished to have company around her.

19. In the course of time, this desire became a mania, from which the aforementioned form of paranoid hallucinatory schizophrenia soon developed into the alpha wave meditative form, which already broke out in puberty.

20. The disease developed in such a way that she perceived delusions in the form of apparent auras around people as well as energy points and energy fields on and in their bodies.

21. It also resulted in her visioning to see the supposedly deceased and communicating with them – as well as with imaginary other beings – which has been preserved until today.

22. Eventually, the disease spread to the point where she became delusional in believing that she could communicate with objects, animals, fruits and vegetables etc. and that these would give her valuable answers etc., which is due to the fact that in her schizophrenic state she also has voice hallucinations.

23. Her illness is therefore based on acoustic and optical hallucinations in addition to other things.

24. The whole thing has become more and more intense in her over the years and has developed to such an extent up to the present day that there is practically no possibility of a cure.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_432

Billy:

... It is the same with those who believe in spiritual healing, in radiesthesia or in swinging, as well as in clairvoyance, card fighting, dowsing, table-turning, ghosts, etc., and in the tricks and machinations of magicians as supernatural powers. It is only a natural consequence that, of course, telepathy and telekinesis as well as teleportation and levitation – which are in the realm of reality – are brought into disrepute by tricksters through tricks and sleight of hand. But also with regard to these tricksters humans believe in supernatural powers, which do not really exist, because everything that is presented or appears as supernatural leads back to the human consciousness energies and their powers. These however are completely normal phenomena, even if they must still be called special abilities in the present time – always provided that humans possess such abilities, which with very few exceptions is however not the case.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_499

Billy:

... when we talk about the 'Great Oracle', we are referring mainly to the site at Delphi in Greece, where certain seers and priests made mysterious and ambiguous statements and interpretations, and dark hints about things and dreams, and prophesied prophecies. Correctly seen, then, the whole thing was based on fortune-telling and the like, as is still the case today, since countless fortune-tellers and soothsayers, card clubs and dubious media tell nonsense and also pull the wool over their followers and believers who are addicted to them, in order to frighten them with their nonsense and bollocks. Nowadays, everything concerning 'fortune telling' is such that the 'fortune tellers' who beat the cards, read the future from the coffee grounds, make their pendulum play and do all sorts of other 'mysterious' things, have even better psychological knowledge than the 'fortune tellers' of ancient or other ancient times. This way they can 'pull the worms out of the noses' of their believing customers without being noticed by those who are guided by them, who then take everything at face value and believe what they are told 'fortune-telling'.

Ptaah:

45. Unfortunately, this nonsense will continue for a long time, because only when Earth-humans find their way to the real reality and truth and free themselves from any belief, they will be able to free themselves from the whole that is to be called nonsense.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_703

Billy:

Prophecy has absolutely nothing to do with the unnatural or supernatural and in no way with fortune-telling, for fortune-telling, which brings together numerous practices and methods, is supposedly intended – which is of course nonsense – to predict future events, happenings and situations, etc., but also to predict happenings in the future. but also events, occurrences, incidents, happenings, encounters, episodes, incidents, occurrences, phenomena and peculiarities etc. from the present or the past, which are beyond the knowledge of those who ask fortune-tellers about them and commission them to 'ascertain' everything fortune-tellingly.

...

Fortune-telling and clairvoyance are absolutely nonsensical and have nothing to do with prophecy or effective prediction, for a truthful prediction is fulfilled with 100 per cent certainty, but only comes about through a vision of the future according to a high-percentage probability calculation or through a real vision or technically founded time travel into the future. Fortune-telling and clairvoyance have nothing to do with anything other than a nonsense practice and charlatanry, even if, to the contrary, esotericism and parapsychology claim that both come about through precognition (Latin: before knowledge), whereby future events can supposedly be predicted in this way. Since the 18th century, however, this fact has no longer been open to scientific discussion.

Fortune-telling has nothing to do with prognostication, which is created solely by recognising and understanding normal causal connections that are fundamentally comprehensible to any person with understanding and reason. This is in contrast to fortune-telling, which claims to possess a knowledge of occult connections hidden from the uninformed, which enables the fortune-teller to see into the future, present or past, which of course corresponds to an absolutely imbecilic and fraudulent claim. Certain fortune-tellers claim in the same nonsensical framework that they have immediate intuitive access to knowledge about the past, present and future, just as they have a 'second sight' or precognition. Others, on the other hand, are faking that they can interpret signs that are symbols of the future, whereby this interpretation of signs usually has two different types, one in the form in which the fortune teller interprets events or circumstances etc. that cannot be influenced by him or her as signs that the future is coming. The first is the form in which the fortune-teller interprets events or circumstances, etc., which cannot be influenced by him/her, as signs that future events can be read out of them, whereby the whole thing is effectively caused by the fortune-teller himself/herself, according to his/her own specific rules, whereby an event is supposed to result, the course or result of which is in turn invented solely by the fortune-teller and is then understood and interpreted as coded information about the future.

The first form includes, among other things, the interpretation of astrological constellations, as well as unusual weather phenomena and chiromancy or palmistry, while the second form includes card-reading or the so-called throwing or placing of objects such as dice, bones, etc., and in the case of the egg oracle, of course, eggs, from which an invented fantasy answer to a previously posed future-related question is 'read'. Even in ancient divination theory, a distinction was made between 'natural' or immediate knowledge of the future and 'artificial' knowledge based on the interpretation of signs by 'experts'. A somewhat different distinction is found especially in the shamanic practices cultivated by ethnically oriented religions, which make a special classification with regard to so-called intuitive divination, in which the diviner refers only to his/her supposedly 'intuitive' intuition from his/her 'spirit' and its 'knowledge'. This, whereas in an alleged 'possession divination', gods or other disembodied beings are said to temporarily take possession of the body and transmit messages through it. In such divination, which is supposed to be 'wise', the diviners claim that it is a basis of their knowledge of the future and objective laws known to them, from which they can derive accurate conclusions in individual cases; which is of course absolute nonsense.

Fortune-telling is also used in connection with religious and sectarian prophecies or divinations, although this should not be understood as a real prophecy or divination. In truth, the whole of this kind of religious-sectarian reference comes to the same thing, because it has been a matter of divination since time immemorial. This is precisely because the early 'prophecies' and 'divinations' allegedly brought by prophets and heralds were not revealed and brought by effectively real and true prophets and heralds, but by soothsayers. These alleged and effectively false 'prophecies' or 'divinations' were slanderously put into the mouths of the real and true prophets and heralds, consequently all the lies have been handed down religiously and sectarianly throughout the ages until today as naked lies. These are future-related false and lie-laden assertions for which a direct 'divine' inspiration has been claimed by their obedient and unsophisticated believers since the existence of the religions and sects and is still believed by today's believers. The former true prophets and prophetesses listed by the religions and sects are, on the one hand, being falsely traded and misused as 'God's messengers', and on the other hand, they are being attributed with ancient prophecies of various kinds which they never revealed. And if true prophetic or prophesying unveilings have been handed down, they have usually been so misleadingly falsified that the actual meaning of the revelation can hardly or no longer be defined. On the other hand, a prophet and herald – also of a female nature – was and still is understood and worshipped as a commissioned herald of a divine plan and will by the obedient, thoughtless blind believers who are incapable of making their own decisions. It should also be explained that prophecies or divinations by true prophets are directed towards the fate of a nation or the fate of several nations or even the fate of the whole of humanity. Fortune-telling and clairvoyance cannot be scientifically proven to this day, as even the advanced Pleiadian sciences make it clear that it is not a real human ability and possibility. Consequently, a human being cannot divinely perceive and predict a present, future or past event, occurrence, circumstance or situation, etc., or divinely or clairvoyantly state any facts concerning the present or the past. The fact is that at the time of the alleged foresight, present vision or past vision of a fortune teller, no rational knowledge is available for the recognition of any knowledge or events etc. and no vision, recognition or knowledge can be obtained through precognition. ...

Fortune-telling and clairvoyance have nothing to do with prophecy, nor with intuition, which is fundamentally inherent in every rational human being. ...

Prophecy must also not be confused with so-called occult or demonic fortune-telling, nor with any religious-sectarian, threatening 'prophecies', which without exception belong to the realm of fantasy. Unfortunately, however, false prophets and prophetesses have appeared time and again since time immemorial – and still appear today – whereby their 'revelations' were and are very often or even without exception of a religious-sectarian nature.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_722

Billy:

If the human being believes in symbols, is addicted to a religious faith or subscribes to horoscopes or fortune-telling, etc., then at a certain moment he thinks and acts completely unconsciously and carelessly exactly according to the meaning he assigns to the symbol, the horoscope or the fortune-telling, etc., because he believes in it, as a result of which what he imagines will become and prove to be reality inevitably comes to pass and is fulfilled. And then everything actually comes to pass in the imagined way, and it does not matter whether it is in origin an alleged energy or power of a rune, some symbol of some form, a horoscope, a thing or a prophecy, etc., because it is believed in, then it inevitably comes to pass, and exactly in the way that the human being assigns to it meaning and expects from the whole.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_779

Billy:

... fortune-telling, which is about inventing something factual on the basis of the subject matter of the conversation, which is presented to the believers, who are supposed to believe it – usually for a horrendous fee. This is a method that is usually used to make money, but which has nothing to do with the actual truth, but whose invented lies – as life plays out – may at some point result by chance (as human beings call it).

return to Index

Ghosts / Poltergeists / Apparitions

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ghost>

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Poltergeist>

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Apparitional\_experience

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Fluidal\_Energy

Teleplasty is the conscious generation of shadowy forms and projections by means of the block of mentality's powers.

With this, however, if the human psyche, in cooperation with the entirety of the mental powers, is the actual trigger of the phenomena, then the projections are completely unconsciously evoked.

In this case it then deals with an apparition in the form of psychoteleplasty.

However, this phenomenon has, in no way, anything to do with a "materialisation of ghosts/spirits" as these materialisation phenomena are interpreted and explained by spiritualism.

Actually, with that, it therefore does not deal with so-called ectoplasm apparitions, respectively, teleplasma apparitions, from which the term teleplasty has recently appeared.

[translators' note: teleplasma is a Greek word used in German, but not English]

If these materialisation phenomena are unconsciously evoked as a result of certain damaged states of the psyche, then it is psychoteleplasty.

Therefore, none of that, neither in one form nor the other, has anything to do with the so-called ectoplasm apparitions of spiritualism.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_225

Billy:

... an you tell me – since you deal with brain research – whether a human being's belief in God and saints is based on any damage to the brain or not? Somehow, it just seems to me that belief in God and saints as well as in ghosts, dead-talkers, and similar nonsense could be based on brain damage and damage to the consciousness.

Quetzal:

121. One could say that, in a certain sense, but this damage is caused by the world of thoughts and feelings of a person himself/herself.

122. Through religious as well as other delusion-believing thoughts and feelings, electric tensions, which affect certain areas of the brain, arise in the brain.

123. If these areas are hit by the electric swinging waves, then impulses form in the brain, by which a delusional faith is awakened and by which even strong visionary pictures can appear and things can be sensed, which in nowise correspond to the reality.

124. Visions such as the seeing of God, saints, and Jesus Christ as well as Virgin Mary apparitions, etc. are not unusual, as also not the appearance of stigmata, as these were added to Jmmanuel during the crucifixion on the hands and feet, on the loins, etc., or on the head through the crown of thorns.

125. The electrical swinging waves, which are caused by religious beliefs and other delusional beliefs or otherwise, influence the affected brain areas so much that very quickly, a form of addiction and mania arises, from which a person can only escape with difficulty.

126. Fairly often, the whole thing leads to evil fanaticism.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_250

Billy:

Whereby the so-called supernatural of course does not exist in any way, because everything and everything is always naturally explainable and also naturally given. The supernatural exists only in the ignorance and the incomprehension of man, because he has no knowledge about all those things which he cannot understand and cannot explain himself. Truthfully everything so-called supernatural is absolutely natural and thus also classified according to the corresponding laws of spirit or matter, which are able to give an explanation for everything and everyone, whereby something supernatural becomes a fact of non-existence. Everything that can be grasped and perceived, everything that can be seen and heard and everything that can be felt, recognized, experienced and experienced, etc., is always real, real and natural in every case, regardless of whether it takes place on a spiritual or material level or on a medium level between spirit and matter, which is so often called the level of the supernatural or the supernatural by parapsychologists and esoterics who do not understand it.

Ptaah:

181. A true word.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_386

Billy:

... The electromagnetic vibrations from electronic devices as well as strong Earth-magnetic vibrations are indeed really not harmless, because hallucinations, aggression, depression, low morale and discord – indeed also the phenomena of "ghostly apparitions" – can even be provoked which have no connection with acute or stored mental vibrations, respectively fluidal powers, rather, are based, as a rule, on fantasies and imaginations which are normally simply caused by states of angst. The basis for this can really be very strong electromagnetism, for example, by way of electronic devices, and so forth, or it can simply arise as a result of a strong magnetic field of the Earth. Extremely low-pitched sounds from electronic devices and other things as well as from nature, which cannot be perceived by the human ear – so-called infrasound – can cause strong vibrations, in the case of objects and with the human body and all its organs, such as, for instance, also in the eyes. The consequences of that are hallucinations and panic attacks as well as depression, discord and negative moral states, because the thoughts and feelings as well as the consciousness succumb to confusion as a result of the vibrations. In the said form, there is a connection among infra-sound, electromagnetism, and ghostly apparitions. Infrasound and electromagnetism can trigger the internal attack-and-escape mechanism of the human being as well as panic attacks and hallucinations, and so forth, and it is especially the case if one is in a spooky or weird-looking place, in a depressed mood or in a mystical situation, and so forth. That which is decisive in this regard is that the sense of the human beings is under great tension, whereby he perceives the environment and his situation, and so forth, as a threat. In this state, then "ghostly apparitions" can be seen or strange, ghostly sounds can be heard, or unreal touches can be felt, and so forth. Strong electromagnetic fields have effects on the human body and its organs, which therefore also includes the brain and consciousness as well as the thoughts, emotions and the psyche, which lead to hallucinations, whereby the human being sees, hears and feels things which are not real. Electromagnetism and infrasound produce an effect on the human brain in such a way, that, for example, the feeling is created that someone strange is present – a ghost, and so forth, because he cannot be seen, or can be dimly seen as a result of the imagination. Faces and figures can also be seen and sounds as well as unreal breathing, and so forth can be heard, or, in the same way, unreal touches can be felt. Thereby the human being can become increasingly insecure and anxious, because the activity of fantasy and the imagination increases and everything is considered absolutely real, as for example in a similar manner to the way human beings appear who believe that they have been abducted and examined or impregnated by extraterrestrials and later have their foetuses stolen, which, in regard to pregnancy, naturally, only applies to women. With all of these human beings, fantasy and the imagination – so to speak – go mad, whereby everything is of such a strong nature that the fantasy images and the imagination appear absolutely real – all caused by infrasound, or by strong electromagnetic fields. And human beings who succumb to this, consider everything to be real, and believe that it is truthful reality, in such a way that, consequently, even polygraphs and interviews under hypnosis can be withstood.

return to Index

Sir John Franklin's lost Arctic expedition

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Franklin%27s\_lost\_expedition

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_214

Billy:

Recently, I was asked for the reason why the so-called Franklin Expedition had failed and why all the participants had died? It was a pole expedition.

Quetzal:

189. That is well-known to me.

190. Without exception, the participants of the expedition died as a result of lead poisoning, which was brought about by canned food, for the cans contained high concentrations of lead that poisoned the contents, which were then eaten by the people, by what means they fatally poisoned themselves.

191. And those, who did not die directly from lead poisoning, miserably perished by freezing to death.

return to Index

Gilgamesh

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Gilgamesh>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_069

Billy:

But now I am surprised how big Gilgamesh was, actually, king and demigod? According to Sumerian tradition, he would have measured more than 7 metres if I used the big old cubit [ancient unit of measure = to length of forearm/ulna]. But according to the small cubit it would have been only a little more than three meters. Which measurement is correct now, can you tell me that?

Semjase:

63. Sure, it is the big ulna with which you have to measure.

Billy:

Well, then Gilgamesh was about 7.50 metres tall, was that right?

Semjase:

64. That is correct – except for a few centimetres.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_222

Billy:

... Gilgamesh was descended from a race that came from a galaxy that is still unknown on Earth. Moreover, he was about 3 metres tall. How can it be, that he still lives on Earth today unrecognized? Relatively seen to the Earth-humans, he also does not age, for he, as you have explained, is 50,000 years old or more. And since you know him so well and also have the possibility of taking him back to his world, why don't you do this?

Quetzal:

24. You are mistaken in reference to the fact that the home galaxy of Gilgamesh is unknown on Earth because it was already discovered in the year 1781 by an astronomer named Méchain.

25. This is a somewhat oval spiral galaxy, which is simply called M94 – NGC 4736 by the earthly astro-scientists and which is seen about 20 million light-years away from the Earth.

Billy:

In our space-time configuration?

Quetzal:

26. That is of correctness.

27. But listen further:

28. With Gilgamesh's people, it concerned a race of morphogenetic ones, whose special ability was to change their shape and size.

29. A process that took several months for each occurrence, however.

Billy:

First of all: why do you speak of "concerned" and "was?" And secondly: does your explanation with regard to the morphogenetic ones mean that it concerns a morphogenesis, precisely in terms of biological morphology? Morphogenesis, nevertheless, refers to the formation of an organism or life form during his or her development, whereby everything depends on the hereditary predisposition and on the environment. Do you mean this?

Quetzal:

30. No, that is not the meaning of my words; rather, I speak of a shapeshifting that can be carried out arbitrarily during normal existence.

Billy:

Do you mean, for example, when the development of the physical body has already been completed? By this, I mean that a shapeshifting can be accomplished when...

Quetzal:

31. That is the meaning of my words, yes.

Billy:

Shapeshifting – then one could very well call these humans "shapeshifters." Can they change, then, also their external and internal features, apart from their shapes?

Quetzal:

32. That is of correctness.

Billy:

You have not yet answered my question, however, as to why you said "concerned" and "was."

Quetzal:

33. Gilgamesh's people no longer exists because a sudden and unpredictable planetary catastrophe caused the whole race to become extinct within a few minutes.

34. There were no survivors because no human beings of this people also stayed outside of the planet.

35. Gilgamesh is, thus, the sole survivor, who has adapted his shape, however, to that of the earthly human and has morphogenetically transformed and found a new home in this world, which he no longer wants to leave.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_519

Ptaah:

43. Some of the Earth-foreigners who came to Earth, due to errors in coordination, strayed directly to Earth instead of reaching the Lyra system, others were looking for the planet Malona/Phaeton, which they did not find, but came to Earth in their search.

44. Others were looking for Mars, but found it inanimate and finally came to Earth.

45. But there were also those who suffered an accident, including the Gilgamesh spacecraft of the very early days, as well as the spacecraft that caused the Tunguska catastrophe. ...

Billy:

Then there is a question about Gilgamesh, which you mentioned: In 1976, at the 69th contact, I spoke to your daughter Semjase about the fact that Gilgamesh was about 7.5 metres tall. But in 1988, at the 222nd contact, I talked to Quetzal about the fact that Gilgamesh was only three meters tall. This was based on the fact that Gilgamesh was a morphogenesis and therefore had the ability to change his height and appearance. In these conversations with Semjase and Quetzal, it was unfortunately forgotten to mention that Gilgamesh was 7.5 metres tall at the time his spaceship was damaged, after which he changed his height and by the time he was in Uruk Gart, he was only three meters tall. In the course of time he reduced his height by about 120 centimetres, so that he was then only about 1.8 metres tall. I think this should be made clear, before another hooligan thinks that there is a contradiction.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_721

Ptaah:

60. But they also taught far eastward to Mesopotamia, where King Gilgamesh formerly ruled in Uruk Gart, as well as to the Aryan country.

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/863/6795.html#POST24133>

[Scott posted on Wednesday, November 29, 2006 - 08:37 am:]

In Billy's Book the Rose-Pink Crystal on page 70 it is written. Gilgamesh and 52 crewmembers crashed in the Himalayas approx 20,000 years ago. Gilgamesh survived with two other crewmembers a man by the name of Atlan and a woman named Atlanta. Atlan died as a gladiator during the times of the Romans, and it is not known what happened to Atlanta. They came from a planet named Arkon, and were able to extend their life spans up to 350,000 years by drinking heavy water. Gilgamesh's lifespan and size have been reduced because of the lack of heavy water available on this planet. According to the information Gilgamesh is still alive and the Plejarens have offered to take him back to his home world, but he prefers to stay on earth. This is how I understand the story.

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/7601.html#POST27885>

[Norm posted on Wednesday, May 30, 2007 - 01:51 pm:]

Dear Billy, Why is Gilgamesh still on Earth & what is he doing?

[Billy] Answer:

Probably he is working as a scientist where he has access to „heavy water“ which he is needing.

Gilgamesh, whose original lifespan was 120.000 years (but is now reduced to about 50.000 years), will live here for the rest of his life. He cannot go back to his people even if he had a beamship to fly to his native planet. His home planet (in the spiral galaxy known as M94 – NGC 4736, 20 million light years away from us) has been destroyed by a catastrophe and all of his inhabitants have died.

Gilgamesh belongs to a race of morphologists and is capable to change the shape of his body and size within several months. (Source: 226th contact of February 3, 1988)

return to Index

God

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/God>

see also The Devil

Arahat Athersata, 2019 FIGU-Landesgruppe Canada, pages 241-246

Billy:

137. It comes from the tremendous energy-richness of the ur-life and the Creation which are responsible for the life of the entire universe.

138. This undefinable and mysterious ur-life embodies the actual breath of life, which universally enlivens all and everything.

139. The ur-life, however, also embodies that secret which indeed a human being will never be able to fathom:

140. The Ur-Creation itself.

141. It would, however, be false, arrogant and irresponsible to call this Ur-Creation or the Creation GOD, for neither the Ur-Creation nor the Creation are god or anything similar.
142. The word god is only an ancient term of an equally ancient language of a foreign people, a foreign extraterrestrial human race who were the actual ancestors of a part of the Earth human beings.
143. Up to the present time, their language still could not be proven, but it ought to be the one which is known as ancient Hebrew.
144. It is for sure, however, with absolute certainty (even if the theologians and scientists, etc. deny it), that the word GOD stems from this ancient language and has not the slightest to do with the Creation.
145. The expression god was from time immemorial used as a designation for human beings who, on account of their consciousness-based powers and their abilities resulting from them, were able to master and accomplish things which were denied to kings and emperors.
146. In most cases, these god-human beings were great scientists.
147. Because of their abilities, these human beings were consequently called GODS or GODDESSES, which meant nothing other than 'standing above the kings and emperors' (in a consciousness-based sense).
148. The exact translation of the designation god into the German language is:
149. King of wisdom.
150. Standing higher in esteem and honour than the rulers of the land themselves, those who were called god were consulted by the rulers of the peoples themselves and as well were revered by the people as human beings with tremendous knowledge and ability.
151. Catastrophes, megalomania, mishappening and wars, etc. as well as slow degeneration, however, have in the course of the thousands of years also taken their toll on these gods, consequently they slowly died out or developed into tyrants.
152. With time, they only still exist in the memories of a few human beings, while some other of these gods fled and began to tyrannise different worlds.
153. Memories of the tyrannical rule of the gods were to blame for the fact that the ones called god lived on in myths and legends and began to influence the Earth human beings.
154. Some resourceful leaders of people let their godliness get very badly out of control of the goad human nature and called themselves the Creation itself.
155. Through tyranny and barbarism, they forced the human beings to be subservient to them and to worship them.
156. But it happened that sub-leaders of these gods likewise wanted to exercise their might and therefore, in the name of the respective god, raised themselves as leaders above a human race.
157. If the respective gods themselves were not already tyrannical and domineering, then the leaders of the human race most certainly were.
158. As domineering leaders over great masses of peoples, they took up the old legends and myths in which the gods lived on, and developed them into an irrational teaching of a single and all-dominating God.
159. As rather clever and resourceful leaders, they formed formulas, laws, recommendations and prohibitions from this and attributed them to the gods.
160. And already the religion was born.
161. This in turn gave rise to a single God who was made responsible for all Creation and all happenings - and who should embody the love and salvation.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_001

Semjase:

41. Above all there is only one thing that possesses the power over life and death of every creature.

42. This is the Creation alone, who has laid out her laws over everything – laws that are irrefutable and that have eternal validity.
43. The human being can recognise them in nature, if he/she strives for it.
44. They show him/her the path of life and the path to the spiritual and consciousness-based greatness, which represent the life-determination.
45. But as the human being indulges in his/her religions, and thus in evil irrational teachings, his/her consciousness atrophies more and more and leads ultimately to a bottomless abyss.
46. The human being may realise that a god can never assume the role of the Creation or determine the destiny of the human being.
47. A god is only a ruler and moreover a human being, who mightily exercises rule or tyranny over his fellow human beings.
48. God is not the Creation, but only a creature of her, like all creatures dependent on the Creation.
49. However, the human being chases after his/her religious irrational belief and claims that God is the Creation herself.
- ...
56. The Creation herself never gives commands because she embodies the mightiest in this universe and never needs commands or religions.
57. Religion is only a primitive machination of human beings intended for the purpose of leading, subjugating, and exploiting, to which only life that is weak in consciousness is able to succumb.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_005

Semjase:

149. The scientists with their spacecrafts and abundantly provided means of all kinds and fantastic application possibilities used the dimension gate known to them, to (in another space-time configuration of the DERN universe) reach the Milky Way area and explored the space for ever newer things.
150. They found many new habitable worlds and solar systems, which they often made subservient to themselves using their beam weapons in short one-sided fights, in order to conquer them for the settlement of their race.
151. However, apart from their horrendous material and gene-based technology they also perfected their consciousness and their spirit, so that nothing which they wanted to experience remained foreign to them any more.
152. The use of their powers of consciousness became implicitness to them, and so they gradually raised themselves to rulers vis-à-vis their peoples.
153. They called themselves kings of wisdom with the word JHWH, which is on the Earth translated as God.
154. Far superior spiritually, and in terms of knowledge as well as consciousness to the normal people, they soon dominated it in evil dictatorial form.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_503

Billy:

... But now I have a question, which respectively your answer is interesting for some human beings. It concerns the terms 'God' and 'Goddess', which are not only used by us human beings of the Earth, but also by you, but in a completely different form than with us. So you use these terms e.g. in relation to the meaning of names, but also in fairy tales etc., as I know.

Ptaah:

31. That is correct.

32. For us Plejaren, the terms 'God' and 'Goddess' have always had the meaning of an imaginary, fantastic fable creature who rules, exercises power or protects human beings, animals and plants or any other things.

33. These are instructive fairy tales, respectively invented and fantastic stories.

34. However, imaginary mythical creatures like a 'God' or a 'Goddess' are not real in any way and therefore cannot be equated with a religious 'god' or a religious 'goddess', because there are no such religious or other religious fantasy figures like a 'God' or a 'Goddess', only Creation.

35. The terms 'God' and 'Goddess' already lead back to the ancient history of our ancestors, to the Lyrians, who also brought these terms 'God' and 'Goddess' together with fables respectively fairy tales to Earth.

36. Thus many such fables or fairy tales lead back to our ancestors as well as to us Plejaren, whereby the Earth-humans have partly transformed and changed the story contents to earthly things and conditions.

37. But back to the terms 'God' and 'Goddess', which have been used equally in our languages since time immemorial, as is also the case in the German and Swiss-German languages.

38. In the German language, the term has found its original form back to 'God', while Earth-humans in all languages known to us have transformed the term 'God' into all kinds of other terms and it still exists today in other modified forms.

39. In the course of time, these transformed terms gave rise to the names of God as they are used today in all earthly languages.

40. With regard to our traditional terms 'God' and 'Goddess', however, the terms 'God' and 'Goddess' have developed again in the course of modern times, especially from the Germanic term 'Guda', which was to be understood as a bi-sexual, i.e. in the form of a male and a female god.

41. Before the Germanic term 'Guda' the terms 'Gotu' and 'Godan' were common for 'God', whereby the term 'Woodan' developed from 'Godan'.

42. The two terms were also used by our Lyrian ancestors as 'God' and 'Goddess' in the same way, as it is also the case with us, i.e. as a term for mythical creatures respectively fantasy creatures, which as an imaginary power stand above all things, but which are not in any way equated with Creation.

43. From time immemorial, the peoples whose origins can be traced back to Nokodemion, have consciously recognized and regarded universal consciousness as the highest form of energy and power and as the origin of all existence.

44. As a consequence, it never appeared that a 'God' or a 'Goddess' would have been recognized or appreciated as universal creative force respectively as 'Creator' or 'Creatress'.

45. A 'God' or a 'Goddess' has always appeared as a pronounced mythical creature or as a fantasy figure of higher power in our fables respectively in fairy tales, which are offered in tearful or satirical or joyful forms, mainly for children, although adults also take pleasure in such stories.

46. Basically, these fairy-tale narratives are connected with doctrinal factors, but also with legends and true events, which are embellished in the fairy-tale narratives, whereby often a male or female mythical creature is interwoven, a 'God' or a 'Goddess'.

47. This, however, never leads us to the false doctrine of a 'God-creator' or a 'creator of all things', because our children are basically taught at an early age that fairy tales and their characters etc. are only mythical creatures and that a God or Goddess also only correspond to freely invented characters.

48. This is why it is possible that even small children, as well as older children, can learn in a way appropriate to their thirst for knowledge through such fairy tales in which, for example, animals and creatures speak and to which human behaviour is attributed.

49. Our fairy tale narratives in this regard are designed to contain generally accepted truths regarding the way of life and behaviour of human beings, which are illustrated as practical wisdom, etc.

Billy:

That probably also explains why you and your Lyrian ancestors, who also come from your space-time structure, have 'Gods' and 'Goddesses' in your male and female names, which are certainly also considered mythical creatures, right?

Ptaah:

50. That is indeed so. ...

Billy:

Then again, something about 'God'. This term has consisted of four letters since ancient times, at least since the time of the Lyrians, your ancestors. Was it also like that before in other languages of your ancestors respectively primeval peoples?

Ptaah:

54. I can tell you that this was indeed the case, because the two terms 'God' and 'Goddess' go back very far, but without exception the terms were only used in relation to imaginary mythical creatures, and that for millions of years and before our distant ancestors came to Earth.

55. That is what we have been told.

Billy:

So these terms were used by your primordial people when there were no humans on Earth, not even early humans?

Ptaah:

56. I have expressed this in my words, yes.

Billy:

Which I also understood. But what is interesting about 'God' is that in most earthly languages the terms for 'God' also have only four letters, as I have listed in OM as follows

What is of even more interesting value with regard to the name God is that in all the existing languages of the Earth it is always written with only four letters, and that the relevant cabbalistic calculations of these languages always evaluate the name God as death, destruction and damnation, etc. And in order to demonstrate that the name of God, the name of death and destruction, is indeed written with only four letters in all languages – since time immemorial – let the following brief list clarify this:

The four-letter name of God of the different Peoples and Languages:

Abyssinian	= AGZI
Aden	= ILLI
Egyptian	= TOTH, TEUT
Albanian	= BOGO
Angolan	= ANUP
Arab	= ALLA
Armenian	= ABYD
Assyrian	= ADAD
Ethiopian	= ABYD
Belgian	= GOED
Bethulier	= SILA
Bohemia	= BUEG, BURG
Boëter	= ARIS
Braming	= PORA
Camboser	= MIRI
Caramans	= SUNA
Chaldeans	= HAVA
Chileans	= XANA, HANA

Chinese	= TELI
Congolese	= ANEB, ANAB
English	= GO(O)D
Ecuadorianr	= HOBA, HOBO
Etruscan	= ESAR
French	= DIEU
Teutons	= GOTT, GUTH
Georgians	= MOTI
Greeks	= TEOS
Gymneophn	= TARA
Hebrews	= JHVH
Hesperides	= AGAD
Hibernian	= DIEH, DIAH
Illyrians	= BOOG
Indian	= TUSA, TURA
Irish	= GUDI
Japanese	= ZACA
Kabbalists	= AGLA
Californian	= SOLU
Canadian	= BIUD
Copy	= TEOS
Cretan	= DEOS
Latin	= DEUS
Mage	= ORSY
Maltese	= OBRA
Moors	= ALLA
Melinda her	= ABAG
Mesopotair	= ELLA
Mexican	= BOSA
Mongols	= ALLI
Ormusen	= ALAI
Paraguayar	= PIUR, PINO
Parse	= BILA
Peloponner	= DEOS
Persian	= SIPI, SYRI
Peruvians	= ZIMI
Philippinos	= MORA, MARA
Philosophers	= ABDA
Phrygians	= ZEUT, ZENT
Poland	= BOOG
Russians	= POLA
Samaritan	= TIOS
Saracens	= AGDI, ABDI
bulkheads	= GOOT
Spanish	= DIOS
Tatars	= ANOT
Thracian	= KALO

Tibetan	= GENA
Turks	= AYDY
Hungarian	= BOGY
Zaliaer	= BORA
Zelamites	= PARA
Cyrenaica	= POPA

return to Index

Grand Canyon

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Grand\_Canyon

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_654

Billy:

... Your father Sfath took me to the Grand Canyon in the USA in his pear ship once – it was in the summer of 1947, if I remember correctly, just in the hot summer where 47 degrees of heat were measured – and explained to me that this canyon was about 5.7 million years old and had been created by the Colorado River. The Colorado River is said to have originated from the Rocky Mountains or somewhere from a huge lake in the Rocky Mountains, which had overflowed and run out after a long time and finally disappeared. And why I bring this up is based on the fact that still today researches are carried out and always new statements are made regarding the age of the Grand Canyon, which amount to up to over 70 million years. Regarding Sfath's explanation, I think you've done some research and found out when and how the Grand Canyon was formed, based on the layering, etc. of the canyon, and perhaps also by traveling through the past.

Ptaah:

84. That was indeed the case, because even in the early days we carried out such research on objects on Earth that were of interest to us, which we still do today, because there are always significant geological changes.

85. These are often not noticed by Earthly scientists, as this also refers to all biological, fauna and flora-conditioned as well as geological things, which destroy all existence on earth ever more by the machinations of the overpopulation.

86. So already at early times of the 16th century our scientists determined the age of the Grand Canyon, and then what my father explained to you is true and correct, but the claims of Earthly scientists are wrong with their statements of the high age of the Grand Canyon.

return to Index

Gravity / Anti-Gravity

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Gravity>

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Anti-gravity>

see also Dark Matter

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_054

Billy:

... I would have another question, however, concerning gravity. Is the electromagnetic nature, one- or two-pole, or does it happen through the mediation of gravitons?

...

Semjase:

...

70. Gravity is electromagnetic in nature with two uniform but opposite forces.

71. Gravity is therefore both attractive and repulsive.

72. But this is connected with the mass itself, with the Earth, thus by the planet, whereby the mass exerts the coherent, however the second factor itself, namely the production and application of what you call gravitons.

Billy:

The term graviton does not come from me. But it seems to me now that you explain that these gravitons and electromagnetism are present at the same time and would act as attraction and repulsion?

Semjase:

73. Sure, that is all I am allowed to tell you officially until I have consulted with the others.

Billy:

It is all right, I do not want to rush you. But can you still tell me how gravity is created, I mean gravitons and electromagnetism?

...

I mean only in broad terms, like e.g. by warmth and cold.

Semjase:

...

76. But good; on the one hand, the causes can also be found quite correctly in the heat and cold, in the self-heating of the planet and in the cold of the space.

77. On the other hand, the solid core of the planet in its density as well as the atmosphere, etc. are also important factors in the formation of gravity and antigravity.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_066

Billy:

... Does the overcoming or mastery of gravity, the antigravity of the beamships, etc. presuppose that one has at the same time freed oneself from such effects of 'gravity' in one's consciousness-based or emotional-based development? That one can only work physically with these forces when one has reached the inner stage of development in the aforementioned sense?

...

Semjase:

...

80. I will begin with the last question concerning the control of gravitational forces:

81. The natural cosmic laws require a uniform and consistent development within the framework of all evolutionary concerns of all levels.

82. This means that the spiritual as well as the material-consciousness-based development constantly progress in harmony with each other and must always be in harmony with each other in accordance with the consistency of all things.

83. In the case of the control of gravity, the rules of the laws are ordered in such manner that primarily the consciousness-based evolution is of decisive importance for the development of technological aids for the control of gravitational forces.

84. Thus, as a rule, the application of the power of consciousness to paralyse the gravitational forces first leads to technological coping, and only at a much later point in time, with the corresponding development of the power of consciousness, does the possibility occur through which a human being can move weightlessly through space.

85. You call this state produced by the power of consciousness a levitative moment, which means nothing else than that a levitation process takes place, in other words a levitation.

86. At the ur-beginning point this state is evoked in an unconscious form to the human being, and only gradually does he/she learn to master it consciously and to purposefully steer it.

87. If the human being has learned to master these powers, only then will he/she be able to devise and construct highly technological aids.

88. Thus the control of gravity at its ur-primary and primary point is based first and foremost on the evolution of consciousness, which means that physically the above-mentioned powers can only be mastered when the human life-form has freed itself from the 'heaviness' of unknowledge and non-consciousness-based matters.

89. According to your linguistic usage, however, I must now explain:

90. Exceptions confirm the rule, even if this exception is not easily recognisable and precedes in a form that does not appear very frequently.

91. Such an exception is the Earth-human:

92. He/she is not yet capable of mastering consciousness with all its consequences, and yet they are already capable of finding their way in the field of gravitational-force research to a great extent.

93. This exception rests in the confusing fact of a very rare erroneous development, which has fundamentally shifted the potential of the rectification of consciousness and the material realm overall, whereby the material realm has become overpowering and dominates in relation to the evolution.

94. This explains why the material realm has come to the fore and has become dominant in terrestrial human beings, whereby evolution takes place primarily in this direction, while the purely consciousness-based evolution lags behind at a disadvantage, as you yourself once said.

95. This is why technology on Earth is far more developed than the evolution of the consciousness.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_225

Billy:

Then still another question about gravity: Like each and every thing that exists, gravitational power surely also has a speed. In addition, at least, so I have understood Ptaah's explanation relating to this, gravitational power is incorporated into the same speed limit as light.

Gravitational power is not just given with suns and galaxies, planets or meteors, asteroids, comets, as well as with universal nebulous formations and neutrino clouds, but rather, it also exists in universal space itself. At least, that's how I understood Ptaah's explanations. And since I have now been asked about this by Professor Brenner and I want to give him the answer correctly, I would again like to ask if what I have said is right?

Quetzal:

114. As usual, everything is of correctness.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_228

Quetzal:

86. Moreover, our universe – like any other, of course – consists not only of gross matter, but also of pure energies, one of which is black energy, as we call it, which is responsible for a certain form of antigravity in the material universe and is estimated to account for  $\frac{3}{5}$  of all universal energies.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_260

Billy:

... But now, I have here another question: Anti-gravity – Semjase once told me that both heat and cold are connected with it.

Ptaah:

37. That is quite right, but not to be regarded as general.

38. Heat and cold play a role only in the way that through these, electric energy, i.e. electromagnetic energy, is produced, from which then, among other things, anti-gravity arises through certain processes.

Billy:

Can or may you explain that in more detail?

Ptaah:

39. No, for the time still isn't ripe for that.

40. It would be too dangerous for the people and their applications of technology if they already fully mastered anti-gravity.

41. Already, the researches relating to this of the Earth-humans and their resulting applications of anti-gravity are heading towards them seizing world power for themselves.

42. There are already extensive experiments in this regard, whereby the scientists in the USA can report authoritative successes.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_586

Billy:

Here is my question: On the one hand you say that 'Dark Matter' is an expanding substance or matter, but on the other hand you also once said that only through 'Dark Matter' is gravity possible and can function. Isn't that a contradiction? Somehow I just do not understand the whole thing, it confuses me.

Ptaah:

103. As far as I am allowed to make a statement, I will explain the following:

104. Dark matter is an interactive mass, which means that it is massive particles which – measured in the atomic range – have an enormous weight.

105. These massive particles have an interaction that is related to both gravity and expansion force, which is why I explained that dark matter is expansion matter, although I did not mention that it is also gravity matter.

106. So without the dark matter there would be neither centrifugal force nor gravity.

107. So without gravity no expansion substance can exist, and without expansion matter no gravity.

108. Both factors, centrifugal force and gravity, are everywhere, but they are only perceptible and therefore also measurable, but not visible, because they radiate neither light nor darkness visible to the eye.

109. I am not allowed to explain more about this.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_592

Billy:

Thanks, then once again I have a question about dark matter, which you call expansion matter. I was asked a question about what is meant by this. So I answered what you explained to me, that expansion substance is the universal gravitational force, which runs through the whole universe like a net and forms knots in groups, in constant change. And if I myself have understood correctly what you have explained to me, then the entire network corresponds to an invisible gravitational energy, which attracts or forms and collects every form of fine matter, and at the same time expands or expands, from which material formations and even galaxies are formed, whereby in this respect the very energetic nodes play a particularly important role. So this invisible universal gravity net, especially its nodes, forms all kinds of fine-matter, whereby this fine-matter matter is not yet known to earthly scientists. The nodes are constantly widening and expanding, which ultimately results in visible matter that develops into galaxies. And because the dark matter expands in this way, you call it expansion substance, whereby the invisible matter develops and expands into nodes or visible matter, from which planets, suns and whole galaxies develop over billions of years. Dark matter is not to be confused with the factor called dark energy, which corresponds to the universal centrifugal force.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_605

Billy:

First I want to say that I am glad that you are still in the area and that you could still come here this night, and secondly our correction work on Guido's book has shown that I cannot cope with certain formulations, namely the terms mass and weight as well as weightlessness and zero gravity. My logic tells me that a mass can probably change in terms of its consistency, density and volume, both on earth and in world space, thus it can condense or expand, through whatever circumstances, but it remains in its entirety as a mass and thus becomes 'more' or 'less' only in the way that it expands or contracts. As a result, the mass as such always remains the same and only changes physically or in volume. But every mass now also has a weight, and this is in and of itself unchangeable, and that regardless of whether on earth or in space and thus also in so-called weightlessness. But now it is asserted by earthly scientists that through the increase of weightlessness and through the fact that gravity no longer exists, a weightlessness arises, just as in the space of the world, where there is no perceptible force of gravity and therefore no one can be measured. I find this assertion illogical and contradict my reason, because no matter whether gravity or gravitation is given or not, the given weight remains the same, thus according to earthly measure 100 kilograms are exactly the same weight on earth as on the moon, on an asteroid or comet, consequently the weight does not become lighter, but remains in its weight measure. What changes is only the gravitational attraction ratio, which is followed by the fact that the 100 kilograms appear to be lighter on the moon than on earth due to the lower gravitational attraction, although they remain constant at 100 kilograms. This apparent lightness of weight in the world dream, in free fall or on the moon is explained by Earthly scientists as weightlessness or weight reduction, which however contradicts my understanding of logic, because by a reduced or cancelled attraction a weight cannot be reduced, but it remains the same, if nothing of it is taken away. So I think that scientists start from false assumptions and do not stick to reality and try to explain something they don't understand. It is also possible, however, that they simply have no idea what it is really about, when a reduction in attraction seems to reduce a weight – our dear Uèli has 'apparently' led into the field. Also I do not know of any such term that could be used for the apparent lightening of the weight and explain the matter.

Ptaah:

6. I am familiar with this problem of the lack of concepts in relation to what you are referring to, although we do have a corresponding name for it if a weight is apparently reduced or even eliminated by a reduction or complete suspension of the gravitational force.

7. We call this state, when I translate our term into the German language, 'Anti-Gravitation-Status', which in the sense of your question expresses that it is a matter of an annulment of the gravitational pull of the body in question or of a material in which the outer gravitation becomes ineffective.

8. Every matter on earth, e.g. a human body, has its own weight and thus also its own gravity, although this is extremely small in relation to Earth's gravity and cannot be consciously felt by Earth's inhabitants.

9. The fact is, however, that only this dead weight together with the dead gravitation makes it possible for the body to be attracted by Earth's gravitation.

10. This means that only if something has an own weight and thus only a minimal own gravitation in the nanoscale, can it be attracted by an external gravitational force.

11. However, if something is given that has neither a dead weight nor a dead gravitation, then it cannot be attracted by an external gravitation.

12. It must therefore be understood that every matter, however small it may be, has its own gravity and thus attracts other material, even the tiniest bacteria.

13. Also Earth naturally has its own large force of attraction, which is also called gravitation, gravity or even force of attraction.

14. This gravitation causes bodies to attract each other, with the corresponding force depending on their mass and the distance between them.
15. The closer they are to each other, the more they attract each other.
16. If one body is much heavier than the other, it also pulls much harder on the one that has a lower weight.
17. On Earth this can of course only be determined by extremely sensitive measuring instruments, but in comparison also by the use of magnets.
18. If, however, the outer gravitational force is weakened or even eliminated, as in the case of the outer planetary layers, up to nearby space, then any outer matter loses its own attraction according to its own weight, which results in an 'anti-gravitational status' for it, which is erroneously called 'weightlessness' by earthly scientists.
19. But this does not correspond to the correctness, because every matter, thus also the human body, does not become weightless, but only an 'anti-gravity-status' takes place, which means that it escapes from the planetary gravity.
20. The body thus escapes the external gravitational force and influence of Earth.
21. And the further the body moves away from earth gravity, the smaller it becomes and gives it the possibility that it attracts some material by its own gravitational pull, even if these may only be very small quantities.
22. If, for example, the International Space Station (ISS) is taken as a comparison in this respect, then it is still in a gravitational orbit of Earth, but due to its size it already has a low inherent gravity, through which it can draw materials from space.
23. So there is no weightlessness, as it refers to your question, because it is a weight deception that appears as fact and reality, but in reality is not really given and contradicts the effective fact, because it is only apparently existing, given and present.
24. In any case, a weight always remains of the same weight, regardless of whether there is a light or large gravitational force; this only determines whether a weight is more or less attractive than a stronger or weaker gravitational force.

...

Billy:

... But another thing: When we talk about weight, it only refers to the units of weight that we use here on earth, such as the units milligram, microgram, gram, nanogram, pound, kilogram, hundredweight and tonne in the large part of the European area, whereby the whole thing also depends on the gravitational force. So inevitably on other worlds as well as on our moon, on asteroids and comets completely different amounts of the same materials are necessary, depending on the gravitational strength, in order to obtain the same weight as with us on earth. So materials can be much lighter and thus planet etc. can show less gravitational force, or materials can be much heavier because planet etc. shows much greater gravitational force, as a result of denser resp. more compact matter, resulting in much greater gravitational force. The gravitational force is also dependent on the speed of rotation of Earth as well as the temperature, respectively cold and heat in such a way that these have an influence on the density and consistency of the matter, as your father Sfath already explained to me in my youth, as well as your daughter Semjase, after our contacts began in 1975.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_643

Billy:

What I've wanted to ask you for a long time refers to what your father Sfath explained to me, that earthquakes and volcanic eruptions influence the gravitational waves of Earth or change them in a certain way, whereby the gravitational vibrations can be measured and registered. Such and other gravitational oscillations, Sfath explained, would arise on the one hand on all active planets, but also when planets or two or even three black holes, but also suns or galaxies collide. He also explained that such events produce very strong gravitational oscillations which propagate at very high speed throughout the universe. However, as I have searched in vain for relevant explanations in specialist journals and books so far, I want to ...

Ptaah:

119. Up to this day, you can not find any descriptions concerning this phenomenon in earthly-scientific publications, because as far as I know, there are no findings and experiences corresponding to the matter, no findings or experimentally successful attempts of specific efforts concerning findings and recordings of gravitational oscillations.

...

Billy:

Then must I understand by what you say that Earthlings cannot yet measure and record Earth gravity vibrations, nor the other gravity vibrations as I have called them according to your Father Sfath's explanations?

Ptaah:

123. That is the point of my words ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_645

{Sfath, 1947:}

10. So time only exists where there are gravitational forces.

11. Where however no gravity exists, there is also no time, but only endless duration and thus timelessness.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_790

Billy:

This is what I learned to say from Sfath, and what I learned from him is all just a little different from what earthly science claims. As far as I know, the earthlings still have no idea that everything is also dependent on swinging waves, namely on the swinging waves of the Earth itself, that it is precisely the Earth's gravitational swinging wave that makes it possible for something to grow and flourish. However, it is not only the gravitational swinging waves that play a very decisive role, which emanates from the Earth, but also other aspects that are just as unknown to earthly scientists as the gravitational swinging waves, which, as far as I know, they do not yet know. ...

return to Index

Patty Hearst kidnapping

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Patty\_Hearst

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Symbionese\_Liberation\_Army

<https://www.nydailynews.com/news/kidnapping-crimes-trial-patty-hearst-gallery-1.2569403>

<https://www.latimes.com/archives/la-xpm-1999-feb-28-me-12624-story.html>

see also Extraterrestrials – Giza Intelligences / Bafath

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_034

Semjase:

279. ... my speech is related to the world domination addicts mentioned earlier.

280. And I am talking about those of extraterrestrial origins who want to bring this world under their control, the Giza intelligences.

281. They use not only mystically inclined and misguided earthlings, but also other groups, mostly those that for some unclear and rather confused reason show anarchistic tendencies, such as the Red Army in Japan, the German Baader-Meinhof-Group, the Red Army Fraction and the American Symbionese Liberation Army.

282. The latter group, the American, is to be inspired by the aforementioned malignant intelligences to commit an extraordinary crime.

...

301. Your job is to influence different people in San Francisco in America and give them knowledge of the SLA hideout where the gang members William and Emily Harris, Wendy Yoshimura and Patty Hearst are located.

302. This gang must be held in secure police custody for at least some time to prevent a worldwide disaster.

303. The most important person that you have to influence is the person of the leading man who is leading the search for these criminals.

304. His name is Mister BATES, Charles Bates, and he is an official of the American FBI under his own name.

305. Here – this is a city map of San Francisco, and here is the Municipality called Mission District.

306. Only Mexican-Americans live here with small exceptions and here, here in this house, the gang of criminals has settled down and is hiding.

307. These are the dates that you are supposed to broadcast.

...

Billy:

Fine, then I'll see that the robber's den is smoked out on Thursday, 18th of September 1975.

return to Index

Heaven's Gate cult

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Heaven%27s\_Gate\_\(religious\_group\))

<https://offbeatoregon.com/1606a.heavens-gate-ufo-cult-394.html>

see also Extraterrestrials – Giza Intelligences / Bafath

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_035

Semjase:

3. You shall once again interfere in earthly events and exercise your powers, for things are happening which are of decisive importance with regard to the standing of the reality of all extraterrestrial life-forms.

4. The world domination-addicted intelligences of Giza are preparing a very malicious crime to harm various other intelligences they dislike and question their credibility.

5. In recent times they have made great efforts to influence terrestrial humans in sectarian form in order to commit, in this form, an unusually malicious crime against human life, whereby the existence of extraterrestrials is to be made impossible and ridiculous, but whereby on the other hand their madness of religion for the purpose of their world domination addiction is to find new breeding ground for them.

6. Here's the thing now:

7. For some time now, a couple of earthlings in particular have been under the evil influence of the Giza intelligences in order to initiate criminal and degrading things in their evil sense.

8. The purpose of these machinations is to mislead earthlings in larger masses with the lying instruction that the Earth will no longer be habitable in about a decade.

9. According to this assertion of lies the Earth-humans would therefore die en masse and everything would fall prey to death.

10. However, it is not given that all terrestrial humans must die, why a rescue by extraterrestrials is intended.

11. Willing persons would therefore be picked up by extraterrestrial intelligences by a spaceship and brought to another, better and more beautiful world, where they would have a free and better life.

12. This has already been announced through billboards and other advertising.

13. Also, a meeting serving this evil cause was already held last Sunday (14th September 1975; Declaration of 16th September 1975) to get hold of the willing.
14. That is what happened in America in a place called WALDPORT.
15. The interested people were told at this meeting that from now on they could go to a camp where they would be prepared for the alleged flight into space in order to cope with the complaints of space flight, but also to gather the necessary knowledge of the new life on the pretended other and better world and to adapt to the new life.
16. The only condition for this resettlement undertaking was that all earthly goods be sold or otherwise disposed of and that no children be taken along.
17. Unfortunately, there was more willingness for this evil enterprise than could be calculated.
18. In haste many of the interested followed and chased after the lures of the advertisers to await in said camp for the things which were supposed to come.
19. The further consequences of this well-considered criminal enterprise are absolutely clear to us, and there are various prospects for the misguided:
20. 1) The whole enterprise is to be disguised in a religious form, in the form of a new sectarianism, whereby all the willing are to be deceived and misled in order not to grasp the real background.
21. 2) Weak and otherwise unfit persons shall be gradually separated and murdered.
22. 3) Several of those found to be fit are to be slavishly forced, as 'work robots' on Earth, to perform frontline duties for the benefit of the Gizeh intelligences, who need many earthly things, but which they do not want to acquire through their own work.
23. 4) Several of those found to be fit are to be abducted and enslaved away from Earth.
24. 5) Several should found a new sectarian organisation and thus work on Earth in a religious form for the plans of the Gizeh intelligences.
25. These 5 points were elaborated by the Gizeh intelligences and will be applied.
26. However, the earthlings advocating this plan are not aware of these facts, because they live in an implanted delusion.
27. Now, however, the Gizeh intelligences have ascertained that we are concerned about the matter, so they are looking for new ways in order to not let their undertaking fail.
28. But there is the danger that the misguided ones will all be murdered, because for those addicted to world domination the life of an Earth-human is of absolute insignificance.
29. We now instruct you to try to do things in your form and to try to avert the worst.
30. We ourselves endeavour to disrupt the Gizeh intelligence themselves in their actions.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_260

Billy:

You surely know what all happened on the Earth in connection with this comet, with which I mean the sectarian machinations, through which mass suicides occurred in bulk, like with the suicide cult of the American guru Applewhite.

Ptaah:

242. Yes, these sad events are familiar to me.

243. On the one hand, they are connected with the appearance of the comet and, on the other hand, with the end of the world fantasies and delusional ideas that allow many confused people to forget all reason.

244. And the many sectarian preachers of salvation will also contribute to this in this deadly form in the future because the Christian turn of the millennium, which is supposed to come but which has truly already been exceeded, incites all those who are confused to continue to believe in the saviors of extraterrestrial origin, who will allegedly fetch the chosen ones among the faithful sectarians of the Earth into spaceships, in order to save them before the end of the world.

245. And since these allegedly extraterrestrial saviors should be of a “spiritual” nature and should be beings of light, etc., whom one should only be able to approach as a “spiritual” form, the slogan applies that the human must rid himself of his material body through suicide, so that his spirit form or soul can be taken up by the alleged luminous saviors into their spaceships.
246. This is actually the basic, sick thought of the cult leaders and their followers.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_568

{Billy:}

... One only has to think of all the other UFO sects of the same orientation, which in the same way carry out their sick machinations and make their believers docile with all the nonsense, exploit them and drive them into mental distress and misery or even suicide. A bad example of this was the religious sectarian 'Heaven's Gate' UFO sect founded in the early 1970s in the USA by Marshall Herff Applewhite, which he then led together with the nurse Bonnie Lu Nettles until her death.

The members of the cult were under the delusion of being extraterrestrials themselves, and the collective suicide of most of them took place in 1997, during the appearance of comet Hale-Bopp. In preparation for their suicide, they drank lemon juice to ritually cleanse their bodies, believing that their suicide would also contribute to the growth of the Internet because the members of the sect were web designers. Death was ultimately brought about by taking phenobarbital mixed with apple juice and vodka.

The 39 dead bodies of cult members were found in March 1997 in a rented villa in Rancho Santa Fe community (north of San Diego, California). The dead bodies lay in bunk beds, neatly covered with purple blankets and shoes with the same new Nike trainers. All of them also had luggage and money for the journey in the UFO or space ship with them. The whole thing caused a big sensation worldwide. Applewhite convinced 38 of his followers to commit mass suicide, because this was the way to send their souls on a journey in a UFO or spaceship. The spaceship was supposed to be located behind the comet and fly after it. Marshall Herff Applewhite (1931–1997) worked as a church musician and was the son of a Presbyterian preacher. However, due to health problems of a psychological nature, he was released in 1970. A year later, because he was homosexual, he tried to be 'cured' of his 'illness' in a hospital. There he met the nurse Bonnie Lu Nettles, who was born in 1927 and died in 1985. The two stayed together after they met until Nettles' death. Both were interested in astrology, and also believed to have known each other in previous lives. In their religious delusion, they saw themselves surrounded by various spirits and guardian angels. And according to their delusion, which also referred unrealistically to UFOs, they founded their fanatical UFO sect and called themselves 'The Two', later also 'Bo and Peep', as well as 'Winnieh and Pooh' etc. In the following years they gathered a small following around them and became widely known. First they called their UFO sect 'Guinea Pig', then HIM (Human Individual Metamorphosis), then TOA (Total Overcomers Anonymous). Finally, they named their sect 'Heaven's Gate'.

The sect structure of 'Heaven's Gate' was similar to a medieval monastic order, where the members of the sect abandoned all private property and privacy, lived ascetically and did, performed and undertook everything collectively. They lived in a villa which was fully equipped with technical surveillance facilities, so that all members could be closely monitored. Various male members, of course also Applewhite itself, had themselves neutered in order to maintain a better asceticism. Everything in the villa was very precisely labelled, also all light switches, all shelves and containers. When Bonnie Lu Nettles died in 1985, Applewhite continued the UFO sect on his own, which was financed by professional website development under the name of 'Higher Source'.

return to Index

Adolf Hitler

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Adolf\_Hitler

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Alleged\_doubles\_of\_Adolf\_Hitler

<https://www.jewishvirtuallibrary.org/was-hitler-jewish>

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Death\_of\_Adolf\_Hitler#Suicide

<https://read.qxmd.com/read/16341329/did-adolf-hitler-have-syphilis>

<https://academic.oup.com/gh/article/30/4/528/574849>

see also Thule Society

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_036

Semjase:

21. Adolf Hitler was a genius in many respects.

22. His knowledge ranged from various fields of art and technology to various sciences and the use of the powers of suggestion.

23. In his inner form he was an incarnated life-form of very good values.

24. However, he was not a human being with a highly developed spirit, but rather a human being with values of intellect and rationality, destined to lead the entire earthly politics and economy as well as all states in a certain positive direction so as to create a peaceful united world and Earth humankind.

25. For this purpose he was trained and incarnated at his place.

26. He was intended to give the Earth a new appearance and to initiate new forms of development through positive gewaltsame Gewalt[samkeit] [powerful actions using logic and rationality].

27. This was strictly monitored and overseen.

28. But ultimately all efforts were in vain and he was not able to fulfil his task in the form in which it was envisaged.

29. Via the then leaders of the Thule Society and their clairvoyant Hanussen I, the Giza intelligences managed to take possession of the being of Adolf Hitler and to abuse him for their dark and malicious purposes, without him resisting it, because a delusional greed for power had flared up in him himself.

30. In addition to this undertaking, innumerable forces in the form of human beings of Earth who had fallen prey to the Giza intelligences were regarding their consciousness manipulated and placed in his closest vicinity, whose influence he was also unable to withstand.

31. So he was soon forced to act against his own destiny and to do things that did not correspond to his destiny.

Billy:

I imagined something similar. For I could never come to terms with the fact that Hitler was supposed to have been simply a completely normal and not a power-addicted ruler. All his doings and actions, his trains of thought known to me from newspapers and radio speeches, which I followed with interest and often with Sfath's help during the war, cannot be reconciled with the image that was generally made of him during the war. This was also made clear to me by Sfath.

Semjase:

32. Sure, it is as you say.

33. Adolf Hitler had succumbed to a delusion of power and was also maliciously abused by the Giza intelligences, with the old Thule Society playing a not inconsiderable part in this, which, however, cannot be transferred to the society of the same name of the new form.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_202

Billy:

My question: as Sfath once explained to me, Adolf Hitler was syphilitic and already terminally ill in the third stage, and in consciousness, he was already no longer entirely clear in the head. His consciousness had already been partially impaired, by what means he could no longer think clearly and act, and he also became megalomaniacal and unpredictable. From this disease, syphilis, he would have died sooner or later if he had not shot himself, which he actually did, right? Anyhow, that's what Sfath said.

Quetzal:

13. What you have said corresponds to the truth.

14. But why do you mention these things?

Billy:

Quite simply because there are always people who maintain that Hitler is still alive and, thus, did not commit suicide.

Quetzal:

15. That corresponds to erroneous, stupid, and know-it-all claims as well as wishful assertions because Adolf Hitler actually shot himself, and to be sure, in Berlin on the 30th of April, 1945.

16. At that time, he was just 56 years old.

Billy:

He actually was not German but rather Austrian, son of the Austrian customs official Alois Hitler. He really became a German citizen in 1932. As Sfath said, he was also a Jew, but he denied this throughout his life.

Quetzal:

17. That is of correctness.

18. He kept this secret until his suicide.

Billy:

Thus, Hitler, with absolute certainty, has no longer been alive since 1945, as Sfath said.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_260

Billy:

Then I have another question, and indeed, in reference to Adolf Hitler, about whom Semjase, your daughter, once said something before. I have here the 36th Contact Report from Monday, the 20th of October, 1975. From this, I will read aloud to you what Semjase said, to whom the question was asked: at what place had Dolfy been educated and how did the monitoring of him take place?

Then, a further question relates to whether there is a significant destiny for his next incarnation. So now, here's what Semjase said (Pleiadian/Plejaren Contact Reports, Volume 1, page 460):

Semjase

... Adolf Hitler was, in many respects, a genius. His knowledge ranged from a variety of areas of art and technology concerning a variety of sciences up to the use of the power of suggestion. In his internal form, he was an incarnate life form of very good values. Nevertheless, he wasn't a man of highly developed spirit but rather a man of intellect and reason, who was destined to lead the overall earthly politics and economy as well as all nations in a certain positive direction, in order to create a peaceful, united world and Earth humanity. For this purpose, he was educated and incarnated at his place. He was destined to give a new style to the Earth, through a positive and enforced non-violence, and to initiate new forms of development. This was very strictly controlled and monitored. But ultimately, all efforts were in vain, and he was unable to fulfil his task in the way that it was provided. Through the leaders of the Thule society at that time, as well as through their clairvoyant, Hanussen I, the Giza Intelligences succeeded in taking possession of Adolf Hitler's being and in misusing him for their dark and malicious purposes, without him being able to defend himself against them, for a delusion-related lust for power flared up inside of him. In addition to this endeavour, still innumerable forces were manipulated in the form of the Earth-humans who succumbed to the Giza Intelligences in their consciousnesses and who were placed into his closest range, whose influence he also couldn't oppose. Thus, he was soon compelled to act against his own determinations and to do things that didn't correspond to his destiny.

{Billy, continued:} At that time, Semjase wasn't allowed to say more, she explained. But maybe it is different today, such that I might learn something more from you? You once said before that Adolf Hitler also had or just would have had the task of creating a united Earth world.

Ptaah:

108. That was actually so; that is correct.

109. The path that he then took, however, even with terror and war, was absolutely wrong and was neither in his destiny, nor in any guidelines assigned to him, nor even in our interests.

110. The reason for his wrongly chosen path developed quite early on, when he secretly came in contact with the Thule Society of that time, in consequence of which he also came in contact with Hermann Steinschneider, who also belonged to the Thule Society and supported its unfair goals and who called himself the clairvoyant, Eric Jan Hanussen.

111. Steinschneider, i.e. Hanussen, moved in all circles of major Nazi figures, among whom he had many clients, so even also Adolf Hitler, who became enslaved to him, and indeed, even before he seized the leadership for himself.

112. Steinschneider/Hanussen emerged as a middle man between the Thule Society and Hitler, and, so to speak, directed Adolf Hitler according to the Thule Society's leaders' will.

113. The efforts of the leaders at that time of the Thule Society went out for the acquisition of world domination; consequently, already very early on, they allowed Steinschneider to influence and shape Hitler in this direction, by what means this then began, in accordance with their will, with terror and murder, to trigger World War II in the end.

114. At the same time, Steinschneider became ever more powerful in the course of time, with respect to his domination over Adolf Hitler, which didn't appeal to various people who were against Hitler and his machinations.

115. The consequence of this was that they allowed Steinschneider, alias Hanussen, to be murdered in 1933, but this didn't change anything in Hitler's attitude and course; therefore, he became more and more of a monster, as you would say.

116. It's interesting to know that Adolf Hitler was born on 4/20/1889 in Braunau, Upper Austria, and Hermann Steinschneider, alias Eric Jan Hanussen, was born in Vienna, also in the year 1889.

117. Thus, both were Austrians. –

118. What is to be said further in relation to your question is that Adolf Hitler had already been instructed by our forces through telepathic impulses in his earliest youth, in terms of his determinations and guidelines, and indeed, on an ongoing basis and at every place where he always stayed.

119. Thus, he was also under constant control.

120. At the same time, he learned a lot, and everything started off very well, until he went to Vienna to enjoy an artistic education, at which he then failed, however.

121. From that point in time, he rapidly fell more and more toward the negative and evil; consequently, he soon fell outside of our control, and our telepathic impulse attempts remained fruitless.

122. From then on, he not only developed an unhealthy ambition but also an uncontrollable fanaticism as well as a hatred for all life, which he considered from his viewpoint as imperfect.

123. From this, everything that resulted later from his thoughts and actions and that brought million-fold misery across the Earth developed within a short time.

Billy:

And how should it be understood, that he, by force, should give to the Earth a new style and new forms of development? You never told us any more details about it. What must we think of this?

Ptaah:

124. Logical enforced non-violence, which means in this case that he should have taken all humane possibilities into consideration, in order to give weight to his destiny and to fulfill this.

125. However, enforced non-violence, in this sense, means that the necessary changes should be proclaimed and be implemented through weighty decrees, in order to create the goal of world peace and a united Earth world through a truly peaceful mission.

126. Acts of war were never taken into consideration because these are not only unlawful against Creation, inhumane, and destructive but also promoting of hatred and against all reason.

127. Thus, if there was talk of "by force," then it was only in the sense of the enforced non-violence that should have rested in decrees and regulations that could be implemented peacefully.

128. Nevertheless, Adolf Hitler ignored this and violated this guideline in the worst way; consequently, immeasurable misery and millions of deaths came over the Earth-humans.

Billy:

And that in no way justified all his knowledge in various things.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_385

Billy:

About Adolf Hitler, who started World War II. To this day it is still unclear how this mass murderer killed himself. Do you know about that? It is always claimed that he poisoned himself, while others claim that he fled to Spain or South America.

Urlana:

22. These matters are all part of my knowledge.

23. Adolf Hitler, fearing that his suicide might fail, robbed himself of his life in two ways: first he took a cyanide capsule, which he bit and swallowed, and then he immediately put a handgun in his mouth and shot himself in the brain with it, the bullet then escaping at the side of the back of his head.

24. His remains were secretly buried by the Russians in East Germany, where they were dug up again in 1975 and thrown away so that no neo-Nazi cult site could be established.

25. Parts of the skull and dentures were brought to Russia, where they are still kept today.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_463

Billy:

Once again a question regarding Adolf Hitler: You have clearly explained to me that he committed suicide in Berlin on the 30th of April 1945 and was then burned to death. The Russians then buried his few remains left over from the cremation several times, dug them up again and finally brought them to Moscow. In recent times, when the bone material was released for analysis, it was also possible to prove that these were really the remains of Hitler. Now, however, recently various people, such as a certain Giordan Smith – perhaps an invented name – have been claiming that Dölfi's death was only invented, by the British, who only invented the story of the suicide to damage the reputation of National Socialism. This damage to the reputation, a psychological warfare, so to speak, was intended to break the will of the German people to resist the foreign occupiers.

Ptaah:

51. This assertion is pure nonsense, because Adolf Hitler actually committed suicide, as my father Sfath has told you at the time when the event took place, which he also observed himself, as I know from his notes.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_520

Ptaah:

20. Hitler, who himself was partly of Jewish descent, took the false 'Protocols' and used them to fulfil his lust for power, for his criminal work and to trigger the Second World War.

21. With the help of the falsified 'Protocols of the Wise Men of Zion' he incited himself and the German population against the Jews, finding particularly diligent supporters for his anti-Jewish propaganda among those who glorified him and with whom he was able to build up the Nazi system.

22. And it is a fact that Adolf Hitler's plans for world conquest, which were criminal to humanity, were only discovered through the wrong 'protocols', with the old Thule Society supporting him in his mania for war and world domination.

23. Only through this it was also possible, against false 'chroniclers' and false 'factual experts' in the matter of Adolf Hitler etc., that this fanatical and insane criminal of humanity could lead the world into the Second World War and the Holocaust.

24. But fanatics and lunatics in the matter of Jew-hatred existed and exist in many countries on Earth, whereby nowadays especially the neo-Nazis in Germany, Russia and the USA have to be mentioned.

25. But even before the Second World War, the USA made a big name for itself in terms of hatred of Jews as a result of the book of the 'Protocols of the Wise Men of Zion', whereby the automobile giant Henry Ford stood out in particular, who had malicious and hateful inflammatory writings against Judaism printed in huge editions and spread them everywhere.

26. Hitler of course did not remain unaware of this activity, although it is worth noting that the hatred of Jews did not find such good ground to flourish in the USA as it did in Germany.

27. It was only after the Second World War that the great neo-Nazi movement emerged in the USA, nationwide and in various groups.

28. Hitler took a liking to Henry Ford's anti-Semitism, just as many conspiracy theorists, neo-Nazis and other right-wing extremists of all kinds still have anti-Semitic tendencies today and live them out in an incredibly deep hatred of Jews.

...

Billy:

Again and again there are TV broadcasts about whether it can be proven that Hitler really committed suicide and therefore is really dead. You have already explained earlier that this crime against humanity really did commit suicide together with his wife Eva Braun and is not a fugitive from Berlin to Argentina or the South Pole, as conspiracy theorists have been claiming since the 1940s. So in 1945 the Russians actually found the burnt bodies of Hitler and Eva Braun above the leadership bunker in Berlin, but not the bodies of doppelgangers, as is claimed. That is one thing, while the other question is whether or not children were born out of the relationship between Hitler and Eva Braun. Conspiracy theorists claim that the two of them fathered at least two children who were taken to safety somewhere in Norway.

Ptaah:

38. Adolf Hitler and Eva Braun undoubtedly killed themselves, were then doused with petrol and burned beyond recognition.

39. The Russian military then also found the remains of the two and secured them.

40. But as far as the children are concerned, who according to conspiracy theorists were conceived by Adolf Hitler and Eva Braun and brought to safety in Norway, this is not true.

41. The two of them did not sire any offspring.

42. Hitler himself was severely ill with syphilis, was addicted to pervitin, suffered from Parkinson's syndrome, chronic conjunctivitis as well as intestinal inflammation and very bad teeth, and in addition he was delusionally damaged in consciousness.

43. He was constantly under strong drug influence, as he was constantly using against 100 different drugs, of which various painkillers, nerve poisons and also prohibited substances.

44. Just on the basis of these facts alone, the question is how this man should have fathered offspring.

Billy:

One must indeed ask oneself that. But can you explain to me what the 'pervitin addiction' is all about? What is Pervitin?

Ptaah:

45. It is an amphetamine that many addicts still use today, although the current name is known as the party drug meth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_616

Billy:

... I can still hear your father's voice in my memory today, when he told me that Hitler was a liar, a criminal of humanity, a psychopath and a perfect actor, who also suffered from megalomania, which he dictatorially implemented from the very beginning of his power through his degenerated destructive instinct, no matter that he had to go over millions of corpses and tremendous destruction. Furthermore, Sfath said, Hitler was extremely cowardly and 'shot himself out of life' when the time came for him to face accountability. That by this he meant Hitler's suicide, I actually understood that, but only realized it later, when he actually shot himself. I remember that your father also said that Hitler had fallen prey to a degenerated mania of annihilation and destruction that had arisen in him at the beginning of his puberty, between the ages of ten and twelve. The reason for this was because his father mistreated him and physically maltreated him, but also demolished him psychologically. His mother was also to blame, for she had been mentally ill and had therefore raised Adolf Hitler wrongly from her side. Hitler simply let himself go, and he did not try to get a good education for himself, said Sfath, because he had truly alienated himself from his parents, and with regard to all the things that had an effect on him he had never sought blame on himself, but always only on others. So, your father said, Adolf Hitler saw himself in his childhood and youth as a victim of others and his environment, by which he also apologized for his constant failure, but swore that he would take revenge on all the human beings if he ever gained power. As a psychopath, Hitler, on the other hand, contrary to the fact that he constantly saw himself as the victim of others, was fully aware that through his suggestive speeches he could seduce his fellow men and bring them to his side, which he also used abundantly to gain advantages and power over others, which ultimately led to him establishing the NAZI system in Germany and being elevated to the status of leader. Truthfully, Hitler also had a death instinct, as Sfath said, which not only related to himself, but also resulted in the death mania of countless other people and the boundless destructive rage. And by this far-reaching madness he could also instil hatred into the German people and all those people who have attached hatred to him and his fanatical and radical speeches, who spoke after his madness and put everything into action in the worst way possible. He was as suggestive in his speeches as many other people are who suggestively rake their fellow men with fanatical and radical utterances, allegations, lies, speeches and slander and make them commit murders, develop hatred against whole groups and peoples as well as races, religions and sects. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_662

Billy:

The consciousness-ill and megalomaniac Adolf Hitler, who was God-fearing and Bible-loyal and also an eighth part Jew, saw himself as a Messiah who wanted to fulfil the prophecies of the 'New Testament' on behalf and in the name of 'God' and thereby also support the Christian churches.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_676

Billy:

... Recently there was once again a visitor here, who unfortunately is unteachably following conspiracy theories and of course does not allow himself to be taught any better, as is so usual. This time it was about that our visitor service was covered with the old nonsense of the adventurous "Schwachsinn-Theorie", which claims that the corpses of Hitler and Eva Braun had been brought after their suicide on the 30th of April, 1945 on a secret submarine with the designation U-977 into a Nazi bunker in Antarctica which was also secret. There clone experiments are said to have been carried out in order to save the genes of the leader and to resurrect him as a clone. So in this respect secret research is said to have been done and to continue to be done, which of course awakens crazy rumours that Hitler and his Eve were alleged to be sleeping deep under Antarctica. Keywords like 'Hitler in Antarctica' or 'Russian researchers have drilled Lake Vostok in Antarctica' can be found everywhere on the internet. The underwater world, untouched for millions of years, not only promises an unknown ecosystem, but also awakens memories of the Nazi leader Hitler – for in Russia there are crazy rumours circulating about a Hitler clone station in the Antarctic, for which the question is asked: "Are Hitler and his beloved buried there? But what has to do with the subglacial Lake Vostok is the fact that a Russian Antarctic research team has reached the surface of Lake Vostok with a special drill at a depth of 3769.30 metres, which corresponds to a great scientific success of Antarctic research. According to the Itar-Tass agency, this was communicated by the Ministry of Natural Resources and disseminated worldwide. But this successful Antarctic research now also leads to the fact that at the same time the rumours are boiling up again regarding Adolf Hitler and Eva Braun – who married this mankind criminal before the suicide – whose corpses were taken after the suicide to a secret Nazi bunker in Antarctica near Lake Vostok, according to idiotic rumours, in order to allegedly carry out clone experiments there. The stupid conspiracy theory claims that the Nazi leader ordered the construction of two underground bases in Antarctica to begin as early as 1940. But the whole conspiracy theatre goes even further, because some time ago it was possible to read, for example, in the British 'Sun' about a 'New Berlin' of the Nazis, because some time ago Russian researchers found remains of a Nazi research station in the Arctic, which was built 600 km away from the North Pole. But why this was not also at the South Pole resp. in the Antarctic or on the backside of the moon, where the Nazis – according to conspiracy theories – are also supposed to have been, that is just as strange, as that once more the mysterious Atlantis, as well as the Illuminati, are used and associated with a Hitler-Nazi bunker cloning station, as any extraterrestrials are associated with an alien Antarctic station or a giant asteroid. To all this I have searched the internet and found something on Wikipedia, which I present to you here, if you want to read it please, because it also has some interesting things. Of course I already know from your father Sfath what happened to Hitler and his wife and that the Nazis were also briefly in Antarctica, as I also know about the misguided conspiracy theory, but I would like to hear briefly what you have to say about it.

Ptaah:

3. I know the absurdity of this conspiracy theory, as well as what you have just said, but I will not fail to read what you have copied from the Internet. ...

{article duplicated in Contact Report 676}

4. What you have here copied from Wikipedia corresponds to the effective facts as they are contained in my father's annals.

5. Accordingly, I can confirm that the information given in these documents is correct in relation to the conspiracy theory as well as in relation to the research findings and clarifications of Summerhayes etc., which cannot be doubted.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_709

Billy:

The death rune, as well as others, has its origin in the Germanic culture, like Odin resp. Wotan and Thor resp. Donar. For centuries, the mysterious inscriptions have inspired the imagination of so-called scientists and laymen, as they also do in modern myths. Nowadays, especially in Europe, but also all over the world, runes are associated with Nazis and neo-Nazis, and partly rightly so, because in the Third Reich, dictator Adolf Hitler ran a cult around the runes. But the fact is that even today, more than 70 years after the Third World War of 1939-1945, the rune of death and other runes are used as a sign of recognition by many mad imitators of the former NAZIS, who stupidly out themselves as young Nazis. The harmful and disastrous false peace sign, which falsely and peace-destroyingly represents an upside-down tree of life, is extremely popular in the left-wing scene and among peace activists. However, these ignorant, uneducated people who are misled with regard to the false peace symbol are not aware, and to this day are not aware, that they are promoting harm, discord, war, murder and manslaughter with this false symbol. The false peace symbol, which is effectively a death sign, became popular through the hippies, who made it a trademark for themselves. The rune symbol is effectively a rune that does not mean peace, but death and destruction. Almost nobody knows that the peace sign, which is used worldwide, is actually a rune and the symbol of death. As a peace sign, the rune should stylise life, so the symbol should represent a tree growing upwards, which effectively symbolises life or the beginning of life. The inverted tree of life, however, as depicted in the false peace symbol, stands for death and the end of life. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_733

Billy:

... I just want to say that the idiotic conspiracy theories are absolute nonsense, that Hitler and his Eva fled to Argentina. There must have been a Hitler lookalike and an Eva lookalike who were 'built up' as Hitler and Eva Braun during years of hard training in the 1930s, and consequently both became so perfect in their roles that the uninitiated could not tell the difference between them and the real thing. Only the two closest confidants around Hitler knew the truth, for all those involved in 'building up' and training the two doubles were liquidated. These doubles were also provided with false papers in the names of Hitler and his Eva Braun, just as they were given false papers and fled to Argentina when the Soviets attacked, while Hitler himself and his wife Eva holed up in the Führer bunker in Berlin and really blessed their time. The lie, however, is that the criminal killed himself and his wife, because he was too cowardly to do so, so he and Eva Braun were shot by 2 fanatics who listened to him, which was then presented as suicide and also recorded as such. Hitler himself was really too cowardly to shoot his Eva and commit suicide, after which the two executioners, loyal and completely obedient to Hitler until death, killed him and his Eva Braun on the 30th of April 1945 at 15:33 hrs with two shots to the head. The two Hitler confidants had already held discussions about this days before, during which the two Hitler fanatics swore to draw up false, lying protocols, just as the two Hitler fanatics also vowed to maintain silence about everything until their deaths and to let Hitler continue to exist as an allegedly courageous suicide hero even after his death. This explains from the point of view of reality how it actually happened and what actually happened, completely different from the lying and falsified protocols and the later statements of the two murderers.

...

It should now be clear, even without this matter, that Eva Braun and Hitler were not shot by two of his fanatical followers on his orders, because the scumbag was too cowardly to judge himself, and therefore two of his followers took matters into their own hands in order to save him from capture by the Soviets and from their brutality, etc. It is to be regretted that Eva Braun and Hitler were not shot by the Soviets, because the scumbag was too cowardly to judge himself. Eva Braun was to be pitied here, who was horrified when the two Hitler confidants appeared and announced to them that the Soviets were approaching and also explained what they were now going to do and then also shot without further ado with their pistols, which they already had in their hands when they entered, so that Hitler and Eva Braun or Hitler could not even say anything back.

Adolf Hitler and Eva Braun had also surrounded themselves with two pairs of doppelgängers, which was largely concealed and thus kept secret, as was the fact that they sometimes came to the fore while Hitler or Eva Braun were elsewhere in safety. One of the two pairs of doppelgängers was so similar to the originals that no differences could be discerned, so to speak, also with regard to the way of speaking, the movements, the behaviour and mannerisms. Therefore, during certain appearances, not even Hitler's direct staff noticed that Hitler pushed his practically perfect doppelgänger forward when an appearance seemed too risky. Also, there were never any suspicions, etc., because only his two fanatics knew about the whole thing, who then shot Hitler and his wife, who was finally married to him, so that they would not fall into Russian captivity, of which Hitler was hellishly afraid. The two fanatics were then practically the executioners who executed Hitler and Eva Braun, because Hitler was too cowardly to do so, although he had been proclaiming for some time that he would kill himself if everything went wrong. But when the time came that his delusion of world domination did not come true, he broke down psychologically and staggered around in the bunker like a sad heap of misery, and then, full of miserable fear and cowardice, he hid in the bunker with his wife, whereupon the two fanatics who had listened to him joined forces and decided to kill their boss and his wife before the Russians could get hold of him, the man obsessed with world domination. So the two conspirators went into the room of Hitler and Eva Braun, where they both sat on a couch and were murdered. First Hitler was shot by his personal aide-de-camp and body servant and then, a few seconds later, Eva Braun, who was Mrs Hitler. But the two executioners concealed this all their lives and, moreover, falsified this fact mendaciously, because they knew very well that they would have been made to pay for it and would also have been shot away from the present by Hitler's SS killer comrades of the bunker crew, etc., even after the war by neo-Nazis and other Hitler fanatics. And since they remained silent, it never became known what really happened at that time, so nothing of these secret events ever reached the public, just as nothing ever reached the ears of the Russians and Americans. And the two executioners were able to keep this secret all their lives.

...

Well, actually, I wanted to say something more about the Hitler affair, namely that the Hitlerian lookalike couple, who had been cut out of Hitler's and Eva Braun's faces, bodies, language and manner of speaking, as well as their movements, mannerisms and behaviour, fled to Argentina, where more than 18,000 Nazi henchmen had also fled. Sfath explained that, years before the world war, the doppelgänger couple had secretly rehearsed and learned Hitler's movements, speeches, behaviour, etc., so that they could perform in Hitler's manner without being bothered. Thus this Hitler-Eva-Braun lookalike couple also acted as doubles in the Reich for photographs and films, such as private life recordings, which were also distributed as 'real' Hitler-Eva-Braun films and as 'real' Hitler-Eva-Braun photos, thus deceiving the Reich people and the world.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_779

Ptaah:

... If the Nazi researchers who were working on it {secret invention of Nikola Tesla} at the time had been able to complete the invention entirely, and before Hitler, together with his wife who had married him shortly before, was shot by his servants in his bunker in Berlin, then he would have become the ruler of the world with this weapon.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_786

Quetzal:

The state powers and the people who agree to everything have learned nothing from the NAZI methods of the last world war, because they are doing exactly the same as the NAZIs did. They are applying the same and very vicious and freedom-robbing coercive methods to the people as the NAZIs already did, namely that those human beings will be punished who will not submit to the freedom-robbing coercive measures. It is strange, even the NAZI leader at that time, Adolf Hitler, came from Austria. Although he was born in Braunau am Inn on the 20th of April 1889, I know that he actually began his life in Vienna. In Germany, however, he then carried out his degenerate actions and behaviour and led earthly humanity into the catastrophe of the world war. He did this with the help of the people cheering him on, who, believing in him, thoughtlessly went along with the whole disaster, which ultimately claimed millions of human lives. The non-self-thinking of the majority of the people, i.e. stupidity, was unfortunately as widespread as it still is today. And with regard to the announced compulsory vaccination, this equally results in what had led to the world war at that time and had ignored that minority which had actually thought for itself and consequently was against what the majority thoughtlessly and as stupid followers believed this Adolf Hitler as well as followed his henchmen.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_813

Billy:

... Hitler did the same thing with Pervitin, just in a different way. Mankind, however, knows nothing about it, because everything is concealed from it, also what and who Hitler, whose real name was Hiedler, really was, that was and still is stubbornly concealed.

Ptaah:

That is indeed the case. He was not only a substance abuser as well as a drug addict, but really a nobody by origin, who was also incestuously conceived, by his father with his own daughter, who was therefore Hitler's sister. Moreover, he was not only mentally ill since childhood, but also suffered from episodic schizophrenia.

return to Index

Hobo – word origin

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Hobo#Etymology>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_503

Billy:

... But there is another question: In the USA there are the so-called railroad tramps called 'hobo', but there are impossible stories about what this 'hobo' means and where the term comes from, because the real origin and meaning is unknown. The fact is, however, that certain old railway tramps called themselves 'railway god', as Quetzal once told me, who had studied these 'hobos'.

Ptaah:

57. That is probably correct, because Quetzal was very intensively occupied with the railway history of the USA and therefore also with the railroad tramps and their origin.

Billy:

He also found out that the first railroad tramp was an Ecuadorian who said that as a railroad tramp he felt like a 'hobo', so the term quickly spread throughout the US. And he must have known this term from Ecuador (Ekuador), because there God was called 'Hoba' and 'Hobo'.

Ptaah:

58. That is correct.

return to Index

Holocaust victims

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Holocaust\_victims

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_238

Ptaah:

254. I have very extensive knowledge of both the First and Second World Wars on the Earth.

255. There is probably no section in this respect to which I could not give you exhaustive information regarding any questions.

Billy:

Thank you, then I would like to ask you the following question: How many people were murdered by the Nazi regime in view of the fact that they were of Jewish faith or otherwise Jewish? In short, the question is actually: How many Jews and Jewish allies were murdered by the Nazi Gentiles, etc.? In this regard, it was explained to me that the figures given by Jewish organisations did not correspond to the truth, that it was indeed much fewer Jews who were killed by the Nazi regime than is claimed. This question and explanation came to me from the American side.

Ptaah:

256. This explanation is also correct.

257. Truthfully not 6 to 8 million Jews were murdered, but only 4.07 million of them, if I may speak of ONLY with regard to murdered human lives.

258. The deceitful figure of 6 to 8 million Jewish deaths is a pure and maliciously purposeful invention, through which things were achieved with the help of the world so that an Israelite state could be established that could not have been accomplished otherwise.

259. The lying assertion that more than 6 or 8 million Jewish believers have been murdered by the Nazi regime is only a purpose- and profit-related work of people, who are still at work today, who terrorise the world with discord and murder, mostly by the secret service minions, who do not want constant peace, but only more power and more land and so on.

260. What is fact, however, with regard to murders in the Third Reich by the Nazi regime, is that not only Jewish believers in the number of 4.07 million, but also Jewish friends, Jewish helpers and other Jews were murdered by gassing, shooting, drowning, burning, killing, hanging, starvation and medical experiments, etc.

261. But also criminals of all kinds were killed in the same process, as well as antisocial people of all kinds, alcoholics, drug addicts, lunatics, confused ones, mentally ill ones and mongoloids as well as terminally ill ones, etc. etc.

262. Gypsies such as Sinti and Roma members were also abducted, put in concentration camps and murdered, along with many others who were not sympathetic to the Nazi regime or who violated its insane rules or simply did not fit into its concept.

263. In this way, in addition to the actual believers in Judaism, there were their further 3.73 million humans who were very often cruelly handed over to death by the Nazi regime.

264. Thus, in the end, there were a total of 7.8 million people who were murdered by racist and cleansing-action machinations of the Nazis, which corresponds to about one-sixth of the total number of all war victims of the Second World War.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_823

Billy:

... At that time, Adolf Hitler also came into play, and that already during the World War 1914 to 1918, when he, as an Austrian, assimilated in Germany and went to war together with Jew-haters, who indoctrinated him with their hatred of Jews and he became an unparalleled Jew-hater. When he then managed to come to power in Germany and proclaimed the 'Great German Reich', the persecution of the Jews really began, forming the Holocaust and millions upon millions were murdered in gas chambers, beaten to death and shot. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_824

{excerpt from the introduction to a new book being written at the time by Billy, Lehre der Schöpfungsenergie [Teaching of Creation-energy]}

... the Nazis resp. National Socialists murdered about 7.1 million – according to Plejaren data – Jews during the World War 1939 to 1945. This is repeatedly disputed by Holocaust deniers, but according to the Plejaren this figure is correct. Of these, over 4 million were murdered in so-called extermination camps resp. concentration camps, such as Auschwitz and Bergen-Belsen. For this, the death transports to the extermination camps were mostly organised by the unscrupulous war criminal and Obersturmbannführer Adolf Eichmann, who then fled to South America after the war, but was investigated by the Israeli secret service in South America and brought to Israel, brought before a court, sentenced to death by the court and executed by hanging on 1 June 1962.

Around 2.2 million more Jews were killed – according to Plejaren data – by massacres by the Wehrmacht in war zones and in the Russian campaign, while around 900,000 more Jewish believers, former Jewish believers or simply those who were friendly to Jews were murdered, who resided in the countries of Europe and also in Eurasia, but were not registered as Jews. They may not have openly professed the Jewish faith, but as a rule were simply of Jewish descent, which is why they were considered Jews according to the erroneous Nazi racial law and were therefore murdered by the National Socialists. At that time, the Jewish people lived scattered and dispersed throughout the countries of Europe and the territories of Eurasia, numbering some 11 to 12 million, who were to be completely exterminated by Hitler's regime. Especially many were in Ukraine, where the Jews were persecuted and murdered at an early age. ...

return to Index

James J. Hurtak

<https://www.egyptinitiation.com/james-j-hurtak>

[https://www.amazon.com/s?k=James+J.+Hurtak&crd=SLNUF26BY4F9&srefix=james+j.+hurta k%2Caps%2C56&ref=nb\_sb\_noss\_1](https://www.amazon.com/s?k=James+J.+Hurtak&crd=SLNUF26BY4F9&srefix=james+j.+hurta k%2Caps%2C56&ref=nb_sb_noss_1)

<https://futurescience.org/>

<https://keysofenoch.org/>

<https://www.healthplanet.org/>

<http://www.initiation.cc/>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_244

Billy:

Do you know the names Virgil Armstrong, aka UFO-Pope, as well as Douglas Pue and James J. Hurtak?

Ptaah:

39. The names are known to me.

40. Why do you ask?

41. We have talked about Armstrong before.

Billy:

Lunatics and fantasists who mess up ufology?

Ptaah:

42. I couldn't say it any better.

return to Index

Hyperborea / Hyperboreans

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Hyperborea>

see also Atlantis

see also Mu (lost continent)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_039

Billy:

Okay, then I have another question regarding Mount Shasta. I have already talked about this with Semjase, but something still seems unclear to me. Semjase told me that distant descendants of the Hyperboreans now live in Mount Shasta, on the Aleutian Islands, and in Alaska. Henoah, however, and also Jmmanuel, spoke of “the winds between the East and West” or between the “North and West.” From this, I always thought that the “green land” of the Hyperboreans, so Hyperborea, must have been somewhere far up north, in Greenland or something. But now, this does not make sense any more with Mount Shasta. What should I now think of this?

Ptaah:

187. At the time of Henoah, the North Pole was situated differently than what is the case today.

188. Through cosmic influences and through an upset of the Earth, the North Pole at that time shifted far to the west.

189. The central point of the North Pole at that time is identical to present day Florida in America.

190. The Polar Regions at the time of Henoah were wondrous landscapes, filled with palms and other tropical vegetation. ...

196. Similar conditions can still be found today in the former Hyperborea, so in Florida.

Billy:

That is fantastic! But can you tell me exactly where at the North Pole this Hyperborea lay?

Ptaah:

197. It lay exactly where the land is still called “Greenland” today, whereby the actual North Pole of that time is not identical with today’s North Pole.

Billy:

So Greenland; as far as I know, this means “grassland” in the German language.

Ptaah:

198. That is so.

199. Tir nan Og lay there.

Billy:

What is that?

Ptaah:

200. Green Land and Land of Youth.

201. But at that time, it was today's Florida.

Billy:

So then Heracles, Gilgamesh, Henoah, Jmmanuel, Amitabah, Methusalem and Noah and all others were up there and not in Florida?

Ptaah:

202. In Hyperborea, in Florida, when it was still at the spot where today, the land still means grassland.

203. But Jmmanuel was not there because he was already in Florida, where it is to be found today.

...

Semjase:

260. Mount Shasta is an old volcanic mountain with a partially still unexplored area in America, or more precisely, in northern California.

261. The mountain is very rocky and extremely difficult to climb.

262. In the interior of the mountain itself is a small city, which is inhabited by descendants of extraterrestrials and which, here and there, also receives a visit from their space brothers from outer space.

263. It is a very majestic race, peaceful and good, but which anxiously strives not to be discovered by Earth-humans.

264. The entrance to their very deeply underground city is well camouflaged under the eastern mountain peak, and it is impossible for Earth-humans to find it.

265. But if Earth-humans are ever found in their proximity, then they are made imperceptibly unable to move or distracted by the beam weapons that most of the city dwellers carry on themselves for security reasons.

266. Their golden spaceships of a spherical form – for they master spaceflight – can sometimes be seen when they do not protect these from view.

267. Human beings of this race are very well-proportioned in their appearance.

268. Their hair is mostly natural blond, long, and curly, which is very fit for their graceful, Hyperborean nature.

269. Sometimes, despite their shyness of Earth-humans, they go into their villages to conduct unrecognised bartering with them, after which they depart and flee in a great hurry, however, if Earth-humans come too close to them.

270. But Mount Shasta is not the only place where this race lives, for already at very early times, they divided themselves into three smaller peoples, with the other two living unrecognised and deep underground on the Aleutian Islands and in Alaska.

271. The whole population amounts to just about 700 human beings.

Billy:

That is fantastically interesting, and now, a few things dawn on me. But you have just said something about their appearance, from which I could infer that with this race living underground, it concerns very distant descendants of the real Hyperboreans.

Semjase:

272. You infer correctly.

Billy:

Man, that is incredible! Then these would, indeed, be the descendants or distant descendants of those who, 180,000 or 190,000 years ago, carried out the actual decolonisation in the form that can be regarded, then, as the early history of the current human race, at least for the white race.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_069

Billy:

... were the gods and demigods of Greek mythology such settlers from space?

Semjase:

60. Sure, they were a splinter group of descendants of the Hyperboreans.

Billy:

Oh well, now I understand to some extent the connections, good old Heracles said some very wondrous things, which just refer to it. But now I wonder how big these Hyperborean descendants must have been, because with Asket I once had the opportunity to see something that will probably remain closed to the Earth-human forever. And exactly according to what I saw, these Greek mythology gods or demigods must have been several meters tall. Heracles alone must have measured about three metres, right?

Semjase:

61. Sure.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_070

{Note: see also Contact Report 703:23-25 for further clarifications of this section.}

Semjase:

129. ... the distant land in the northern regions, where the climate was moderate and very good.

130. These were those regions, which are traditionally known to you as Hyperborea, and which were far in the north, before an upset of the Earth shifted its axis, so that the then regions exist today where you name Florida.

...

132. Named after Arus the Second, the India of today was at that time called Arien, which, however, split off from Hyperborea after a few centuries, after 210 years, to be exact, and joined with the inhabitants of Mu and Agharta, while from Hyperborea, Arus the First constantly troubled Mu and Greater Atlantis by wicked war activities, in order to become their ruler.

...

136. So it only remains for me to report that Arus the Eleventh, as a very distant descendent of Arus the First, was murdered in his old age many thousands of years later, and around a hundred-thousand years after the destruction of Mu and Atlantis, by his third-born son Jehavon, after which this one took over command of the hater-people, in order to rule these and three Earthly peoples and the Hyperboreans himself.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_505

Billy:

So then: First, a question about Mount Shasta respectively about the distant descendants of extraterrestrials who lived there, which I talked about several times with your daughter Semjase, but also with you. ...

Quetzal once told me outside of an official conversation that you took all the inhabitants from Mount Shasta and on the Aleutian Islands and in Alaska.

Ptaah:

53. That is correct.

54. We have tried to get all the inhabitants of the three places to return to their peoples, with whom they have always been in contact.

55. We gave them the reasons for our own withdrawal from the Earth, which led to their withdrawal.

56. Their dwellings and all the trappings have returned them to their original earthly state, so that there is no longer anything to indicate their former presence.

57. The process in this regard was the same as in the pyramid of Giza and on Mars.

Billy:

I understand. So then you did not take them away yourselves, but they left of their own accord with those who came from their original homeland, but simply on your advice. I have misunderstood something. But can you tell me where these human beings actually belonged, respectively to which people?

Ptaah:

58. That is not a secret.

59. They were distant descendants of a lineage of the old Lyrians, to which they also returned.

Billy:

Then they are, so to speak, related to you, the Plejaren, because the Plejaren peoples came out of the old Lyrians.

Ptaah:

60. That is correct.

Billy:

Thank you. So there is now nothing in Mount Shasta, Alaska, or the Aleutian Islands that indicates their former presence?

Ptaah:

61. That is also correct.

Billy:

And may we know what you told them that they went away?

Ptaah:

62. That is not a secret.

63. The reason was that we too had abolished our stations on Earth and returned them to their natural original state, but it was important that we had included the inhabitants of all three places in our protection, which was not given after we had left.

64. So a further stay on Earth would have been too dangerous for them.

return to Index

Ica Stones

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ica\_stones

<https://museocientificojaviercabrera.com/>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_212

Billy:

Then another question regarding the 'engraved stones of Ica', which should have been 'excavated' since the early sixties, namely in the desert of Ocucaje in Peru, or in the vicinity of the provincial capital, Ica. The figures engraved into the stones, so it is claimed, are supposed to have originated at least 100 million years ago, produced by people of a civilisation of a very high level. Thus, the engravings show, for example, technological devices that, nowadays, find their use in optics and in surgery, etc. Even transplants are illustrated by the engravings, but also extinct prehistoric animals of various kinds. There are even engravings to be found on the stones that show human beings or human-like creatures on flying dinosaurs, etc. These matters became known at the beginning of the seventies. The stones were kept in Lima in the 'Centro Aeronautico', but basically, more than 10,000 strange exhibits like this should be in the so-called 'stone library' of a certain Dr. Javier Cabrera in Ica. Do you know what's going on with these engraved stones?

Quetzal:

72. The whole thing is well-known to me.

73. The engraved stones are forgeries that trace back to a man named Basilio Ochuas, who engraved forms that he took from newspapers, magazines, and professional journals into the ancient stones.

74. Ochuas was a grave robber who earned his living thereby, namely by desecrating old graves and stealing the grave-goods, which he sold to tourists and collectors.

75. Then, over time, also several family members helped the forger to engrave the stones, on the basis of the drawings that Basilio Ochuas had made from the newspapers and journals.

return to Index

The Ice Man Ötzi (Urk / Onde)

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/%C3%96tzi>

<https://www.iceman.it/en/>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_238

Ptaah:

586. The next thing will happen in the Oetzal Mountains, on the Similaun glacier.

587. There the mummified remains, or more precisely the mummified corpse of a man will be found who has lost his life there 5,105 years ago and was preserved by nature's forces.

588. His death happened at that time in such a way that he fell (Note by CF: not just from standing to the ground, but some distance down) – caused by an epileptic fit – and was severely injured by one of his own arrows when he fell on his back, just at the moment when a primeval ice storm started.

589. As a member of a group of 14 persons who had camped there in the mountains, he was left laying on the ground because of his critical injury. Since the remaining 13 human beings were fully occupied with saving their own lives, they did not care for him.

590. Nevertheless, not all of them survived, as several of them died in the ice needle storm.

591. The storm covered the mountains under (a) thick (layer of) ice, and in it the corpse of the "fallen one" remained mummified and preserved until today; so it (he? the corpse) will be found this year around the 20th of September by a mountain hiker, together with his equipment, like clothes and weapons, etc.

Billy:

Fantastic. Do you also know what the man and his comrades wanted to do on the mountain, and who the man was, and where he came from?

Ptaah:

592. Certainly, I can give you precise information.

593. His name was Urk, and he belonged to the sib of the Suren (plural), to a tribal community which lived on pile-dwellings. This was in Switzerland and before the time when the Vikings were settling in Central Switzerland and the other parts of Switzerland.

594. The pile-dwellings of the tribal community of the Suren were located in the banks of Lake Zurich, from where they took long expeditions which led them to the Mediterranean Sea and to the North Sea, to the Atlantic Ocean and even to the Bosphorus.

595. At his death, Urk was exactly 37 years and 8 months old, and to be exact, 17 days.

596. The reason why he and his group was so far away from home in the Oetzal Mountains, was that he as the chief of his sib and as an influential man was in connection with our forbearers. Through them he gained certain knowledge and lived – just as all members of his entire sib – according to certain rules of our making.

597. Thus, they obeyed the hygienic rules which had been put up by us at much earlier times, which also related to the removal of unhygienic body hair growth.

598. After having been informed by our forebearers about the wideness of the countries in the East, many of the sib of the Suren felt an urge for the East. That's why they set off under the guidance of their tribal chief Urk to discover the far-away countries and to find valuable material, like crystals and ore in accordance with that time, and flints and all kind of other things.

Billy:

You could say then that this Urk was an original Swiss, so-to-say, whereby his mummified body would be brought to Switzerland. Research will surely be done on him, what then would righteously be the task of Swiss scientists, isn't it?

Ptaah:

599. If looked at it from a legal angle, it would have to be that way, that's right.

600. However, neither the Austrians nor the Italians will be drawn into this, and they will mutually claim the right on the mummified body because there will be border disputes regarding the location where the corpse will be found.

601. Of course they wouldn't pay any attention to my words and would call you a charlatan, cheat and liar, who would have purely invented my explanations, if you or someone else would make some claim on the mummy in the name of Switzerland.

Billy:

That's clear to me. – But why, that's my question, were your forbearers in contact with this Urk, and of what kind were they?

Ptaah:

602. The contact resulted from an unwanted stroke of fate, when a flying device of our forbearers had an accident.

603. Urk observed the emergency landing of the device and saved the life of two crew members when they – while exploring the surroundings – were attacked by a big bear and were severely injured, without having any chance to defend themselves in the first place.

604. From this happening resulted a deep friendship between Urk and the two space travellers, and so human beings of a still very primitive kind and very advanced form formed a very uncommon alliance.

605. Urk, who was naturally gifted and contrary to his sib comrades very understanding and knowing to a good extent, learned fast and became the leader of his sib within less than three years. According to the standards of that time he was wealthy and influential to a great degree, whereby it was helpful that it was frequently observed that the flying devices were landing or starting, with whose passengers Urk liked to have long talks, and since he was often taken into the flying devices for trips to somewhere.

Billy:

At what age did he become the chief of the sib? And why didn't your forbearers help him in that blizzard?

Ptaah:

606. He was nearly 21 years old when he became the leader of his sib.

607. My answer to your second question is that our forbearers were not present when death came upon him, because they were occupied elsewhere and were absent for more than 18 years.

608. When they returned, Urk was already buried deep beneath the ice, and they let him lay there.

Billy:

... Urk, as you said, is the name of an ancient dead man who will be found in the Ötztal in the Austrian mountains. Do you know anything about whether the scientists will recognize his age and also whether they will find out how long Urk will have been there? I ask because Quetzal once explained that very precise old analyses with the conventional methods available to terrestrial man are very doubtful.

Ptaah:

822. The man was 37 years, 8 months and 17 days old, and he died 5,105 years ago, I told you already.

823. Your assumption is correct, however, that the time of his death is incorrectly calculated by the inadequate and erroneous methods of age determination of materials of every kind, because atomic changes occur when a certain sum of years is exceeded before which most plants and materials on Earth have changed so much due to cosmic-radioactive influences that by the radiocarbon method false results up to well over a thousand years in the age determination occur when the content of radioactive carbon is measured.

824. Depending on the level of radioactive carbon more or less, depending on whether the substance to be examined is younger or older than a thousand years or older than some more than 2600 years, which will appear in the case of Urk, whereby the earthly scientists will actually obtain a false result in the age determination, which should amount to about 50-70 years.

Billy:

If I understand correctly, then age determinations can be made very precisely with the radiocarbon method up to an age of one thousand years, according to which then for the next 1,600 years a somewhat stable result can be achieved, according to which then however false results of up to 1,000 years can appear, so something more than after an age of 2,600 years upwards, because cosmic radioactive influences changed the atomic and/or radioactive structures of the earthly organic and other materials.

Ptaah:

825. That was the meaning of my explanation.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_240

Billy:

... My first question refers to Urk: According to your explanations he belonged to the family of the Suras. We've been trying for months to find something about these Suras. During our search we found out that there is a surname SURENMANN in Switzerland and also the name Sure or Sur. Also Surenbach and Surenalp etc. are names or designations, which appear quite frequently. As a rule, these names and designations are associated with the Low German and Swiss German term 'Sur' or 'Sauer'. But somehow this doesn't seem logical to me, because I can hardly imagine that Urk's clan, the Suren, were called the Sauren, so to speak. I cannot find a plausible explanation for this. Could you perhaps explain to me what the term SUREN meant in Urk's time and what we have to understand by it today?

Ptaah:

23. The explanation for this is not subject to any secrecy.

24. SUREN is an ancient Celtic term that has also become established in various other languages, including all Germanic-Germanic languages.

25. The original term SURE literally means SUMPF and SUREN were the names of those people who settled in swampy terrain.

26. They built pile dwellings in the swamp area and lived there, which is why they were called SUREN – swamp dwellers.

27. SURE however, the swamp was called because the ground was acidic, according to the old Celtic term 'Sur'.

28. The family name SURENMANN now leads back in the direct lineage to the old SUREN, namely in the form that the inhabitants were called men and women from the Suren, which later resulted in the names Surenmann and Surenfrau, of which, as far as I know, only the masculine name is still in use today.

29. The name Surenalp originated from the fact that the terrain was marshy, according to which SUMPFALP would be said in today's language.

30. It is the same with the name Surenbach, which would be called 'Sumpf- bach' in today's language.

Billy:

Then the designations SUR or SAUER in this context actually only have the meaning or the value that they were word values for the acid swamp soil?

Ptaah:

31. That is correct.

Billy:

Well, then to the second part of the question: SURE, doesn't that have another value as well? During my research I came across the fact that the terms courage and daring must also be connected with this word.

Ptaah:

32. That is also correct.

33. A single member of the Suras was called Sura, but not only because it meant a single member of the Suras, but because it also meant courage and boldness.

34. The languages of those times were still very sparse in many respects and thus also with regard to different terms.

35. The swamp dwellers, the Suren, were regarded as very brave and bold because of their pile dwellings, which is why they were also called SURE SUREN, thus as bold and courageous swamp dwellers.

Billy:

Understood, then the Sura in the Qum-ran has nothing to do with it?

Ptaah:

36. No.

Billy:

Then it's just a word value in Arabic for the term 'chapter'.

Ptaah:

37. Certainly.

Billy:

Can you tell me what the name Urk means? Hans found out that in Holland there is a place by the sea called Urk.

Ptaah:

38. Urk has the meaning of 'the steadfast'.

Billy:

And the island or the place that was an island in Holland? Now the former island has become the mainland.

Ptaah:

39. Also the meaning for this case is the same – steadfastness – an island that stood firm against wind, storm and sea.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_347

Billy:

... You here, this article has been in the newspaper. It is about Urk.

Ptaah: (... Reads the article ...)

4. What these specialists have found out is indeed astonishing, but the assumption does not correspond to the facts that Urk was involved in a battle.

5. The truth is that Urk and 13 companions observed a life-and-death battle on the mountains of the Ötztal valley between six human beings of two rival groups or tribes who were killing each other.

6. When they were dead or dying, Urk and his companions ventured out of their hiding place and tried to save the dying, but they were unsuccessful.

7. And since Urk's weapons were already quite damaged from years of use, he partly took possession of the weapons and clothes of the already dead as well as of those who died under his and his companions' helping hands.

8. Urk himself was indeed not involved in the battle – neither were his companions – and was not murdered, for he was indeed killed by an unfortunate fall during an epileptic seizure in which one of the arrows he had captured penetrated his body and he was left to his fate by his companions – several of whom also lost their lives in the storm.

9. This is the real truth about Urk's death.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_367

Billy:

A question about the so-called Ötzi Urk, which means "the steadfast one". This name seems a bit strange to me, as if it wasn't of earthly origin. Was that really his real name, or was it given to him by your ancestors?

Ptaah:

62. The name Urk is actually derived from the Plejaren name.

63. Urk's real name was Onde, but the meaning of this name is unknown to me.

64. And before you ask, which will be inevitable, let me also say that the female name is Urka.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_451

Billy:

It is strange that scientists now believe that Urk was not alone and that a raid or something went down. It just seems to me that our contact talks play a crucial role in this, since they talk about Urk being on the road with 13 companions, and that everyone witnessed a life-or-death struggle between two other rival groups, with a number of deaths. It seems very suspicious to me that those who are tracking down Urk are now suddenly taking up our discussed facts and talking about the fact that Urk was not alone. Very odd.

Ptaah:

5. Actually, it seems strange to me that people are now talking about Urk not being alone.

Billy:

One more question: Why was only Urk's body found on, in or near the Similano glacier when several humans lost their lives there? How many were there altogether? Do you know that?

Ptaah:

6. The number of the dead, besides Urk, was another six.

7. Although the bodies were slightly covered up in the ice storm, they were taken by their relatives at a later time, before they were dragged away by wild carnivorous mountain animals and could serve them as food.

8. Only Urk's body remained untouched by them, because his companions left him lying there and simply buried him under ice floes, which spared him from the predators.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_555

Billy:

... Now I have a question about Urk, the Lake Zurich pile dweller who was killed in the Austrian Ötztal mountains. It must have been five or six years ago now, when after an official contact conversation, we discussed some special things in private, and then the speech also came to Urk, and you explained that he was actually a descendant of a southerner who left his southern homeland with his son Urk and moved north across the Alps, where he settled with lake dwellers on Lake Zurich, who accepted both into their clan. However, since our conversation was - among other things that were discussed – of a private nature, your statement in this regard is of course not written down. You also did not explain at the time why Urk and his father were actually recognised and accepted as strangers by the lake dwellers' clan. That was certainly not usual. And how did it happen that Urk then became the clan leader? And how did it come about that he undertook long journeys, which also led him to Austria for the last time, to the Ötztal Alps in Similaun, where he died. That would interest me. ...

Ptaah:

59. Urk, whose real name was Onde, and his father left their homeland after Urk's mother died and the father was a human being who constantly crossed over to the mainland and made major journeys that took him as far north as Lake Zurich, where he traded with the pile farmers.

60. So he was well known to them and was taken in by them together with Urk when they asked for admission after the death of Urk's mother.

61. The fact that Urk's father risked his life in an emergency situation for the pile dwellers also contributed to their acceptance.

62. As an original southern island dweller, Urk's father was also familiar with good fishing methods, so he taught these and other skills to the clan members, which led to his being appointed as successor when the clan leader died.

63. Unfortunately, he also died less than two years later, so Urk was appointed the new leader as a result of a new regulation.

64. Like his father, however, he was constantly and often for many months on the road, usually together with other clan members, to trade with other clans.

65. This was also how he came to the Ötztal Alps, where he died.

return to Index

Jack the Ripper

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jack\_the\_Ripper

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_467

Ptaah:

24. But concerning 'Jack the Ripper' it is without doubt to say that it was a man who had fallen for a degenerated sexuality, which he fulfilled in prostitutes, in order to murder them, for which he used a dagger, but also a small sword and poison.

25. He also took organs from the dead, which he cooked and ate.

26. He was born in Canada, lived for some time in the USA and then in England.

27. The man's name was Thomas Neill Cream and he was a trained physician, but after several murders he came under suspicion, was arrested, charged and sentenced to death, after which he was hanged in 1892.

28. At the same time, however, a second man was making trouble in the same way, who prosecuted the royal house of Queen Victoria, but was never caught because he managed to evade justice and gave up his bloody activities after Thomas Neill Cream was arrested.

Billy:

A copycat. That's what we call copycats.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_524

Billy:

Now I would like to ask you which person was it that prosecuted the Queen Victoria royal family and murdered the prostitute?

Ptaah:

22. It was a grandson of the Queen, Prince Albert Victor, who murdered prostitutes because he secretly courted with them and then feared that they would publicly discredit him.

Billy:

By 'he courted with them' do you mean that he was their suitor and had love affairs with them?

Ptaah:

23. That is the meaning of my words.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_586

Billy:

At the 524th official contact conversation on the 30th of July 2011, we also spoke again about the same thing, but I am still interested in this matter. For example, on the internet his country of birth is mentioned as Scotland, whereas you said he was born in Canada. Recently, however, someone telephoned me and told me that the serial killer Thomas Neill Cream was a Scottish-born man and that he was also considered the first serial killer in modern legal history.

Ptaah:

88. That regarding the birth is not correct, because he was actually born in Canada, where his mother, in a very pregnant condition, was visiting an acquaintance and was looking for a suitable place where her family could settle, because they wanted to move from Scotland to Canada.

89. The whole thing was carried out in a secret operation, so even the neighbourhood of the Cream family knew nothing about it, and they were also not supposed to know.

90. Consequently, it was told that the mother was staying with a relative who was ill and needed nursing care.

91. So, when the time came, the mother gave birth to Thomas Neill in Canada, after which she returned to Scotland and announced the birth of her son and also registered the birth in Glasgow on the 27th of May 1850, hiding the fact that the birth had taken place in Canada.

92. No one was to know that the family wanted to emigrate to Canada.

93. So secret arrangements continued to be made for the emigration, which also took place four years later.

94. Thomas Neill Cream was then hanged as a serial killer in the United Kingdom on the 15th of November 1892, in Newgate Prison in London.

95. In fact, he was not the only serial killer of the time who committed his murders in England, but also in Australia and Brazil, for there was another one who was up to his murderous mischief, namely a grandson of Queen Victoria, Prince Albert Victor, who murdered prostitutes because he was secretly courting them and feared that they would discredit him publicly.

96. But at the same time there was a third man who spread fear and terror as a serial killer, namely a certain Frederick Bailey Deeming, who was born on the 30th of July 1853 and hanged on the 23rd of May 1892.

97. He also murdered his families and did his mischief in Australia, Paris and South America.

98. He also murdered several prostitutes, although it was only revealed that he cruelly killed his four children and two wives.

99. Neither was he 'Jack the Ripper', nor Prince Albert Victor, for Thomas Neill Cream was in fact the man who was given this title.

Billy:

So there was not only one serial killer at work in the same period, but there were three.

Ptaah:

100. That is correct.

101. This is also proven by my father's notes in this regard, which I studied.

Billy:

So then Spath was following and recording such events.

Ptaah:

102. That is the case.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_654

Billy:

... Then I would like to come another time also on the topic 'Jack the Ripper', because as always there are again and again 'specialists', who put up new theories and assertions, who Jack the Ripper was. For example, there is a certain Dr. Gareth Norris who claims that he can prove that a certain Charles Allen Lechmere (d. 1920) was the killer Jack the Ripper. During various conversations, which you and I had privately and openly (see volume 11, page 373, 'Plejadisich-Plejarische Kontaktberichte'), it was explained, however, that a man named Dr. Thomas Neill Cream (born 27th May, 1850 – executed 15th November, 1892) was the mass murderer Jack the Ripper, who was then captured, sentenced to death and executed.

Ptaah:

65. These assertions are known to me and are based solely on confused speculations based on pseudoforensic assumptions and speculative constructs.

66. This is a construct that does not yield any empirically recognizable facts within the pseudo-scientifically pseudoforensically constructed presumption theory.

67. This presumption theory construct is based on a mental or even theoretical and imaginative nature that is alienated from any reality.

68. This means, then, that the facts in question, as presented by the various know-it-alls and 'specialists', do not exist, but are only thought up from various wrongly assumed and interpreted indicators or facts that are not comprehensible.

69. The false assertion, then, that the man Charles Allen Lechmere was Jack the Ripper – who actually existed and died in 1920 and never murdered, as our investigations at the time, which were carried out by my father because this Lechmere was also suspected at the time, revealed – actually corresponds only to an imaginative latent construct, or subliminal, hidden and concealed exploration of something unknown, or an assumption, following which it is a false operationalization.

70. And in Jack the Ripper's case this is done by the know-it-alls and 'experts' creating false concretisations of theoretical hypotheses and assumptions in connection with misinterpreted observable and measurable local conditions, whereby, however, the effective external influences – such as the presence and action of persons – are completely misinterpreted by the imagination.

Billy:

Wow, that's an explanation I have got to digest, but I can understand. Did you think you were in an auditorium?

Ptaah:

71. You think that I ...

Billy:

I think so, because it would also be easier, namely to simply say that the know-it-alls and 'experts', who try to reconstruct history in a forensic-theoretical way, simply take the existing circumstances, such as street, trees, houses and the place of the victim, into account. They look at everything else all around only in a presumptuous way, like people who are at the victim's place or appear in some other way, who prove them as such with suspicions through false suspicions and also judge their actions completely wrong and award them behaviours etc. which do not apply to them.

Ptaah:

72. You're right, it could be said so in a short way.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_672

Ptaah:

66. Jack the Ripper was a man by the name of Thomas Neill Cream, a trained physician who after committing several murders was arrested, charged, sentenced to death and hanged in 1892.

67. During the same time period as him, a second man performed his mischief in the same manner, who originated from the royal house of Queen Victoria, but who was never caught, because he ended his murdering again.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_750

Billy:

... I would better ask about Jack the Ripper one more time, because even today, this murderer still will not leave certain people alone, as a result of which they are still under the delusion, after more than 140 years, that they have to find the 'real' killer, who was, however, caught and executed.

Since the events of that time, it must have been 1888 or so, if I remember correctly, some 80 suspects have been linked to the crimes of Jack the Ripper, who murdered and mutilated 5 prostitutes in London, by 'pundits' and other 'know-it-alls' and 'researchers'. Now, recently, clever British researchers from Liverpool and Leeds again believe that they finally know the true identity of the London serial killer and would actually know his identity, now thanks to a DNA trace they claim to have found.

A certain Dr. Jari Louhelainen, as well as a David Miller, who are said to be scientists, had examined a scarf that is said to have belonged to one of the victims murdered by Jack the Ripper in 1888. At least that is what is written in the research magazine 'Journal of Forensic Sciences'. The two researchers claim this because they attribute the DNA trace to an immigrant from Poland, namely a hairdresser named Aaron Kosminski who was living in London at the time. This person was already considered by Scotland Yard as one of the main suspects about 130 years ago. This suspicion has long been held by amateur detectives, but to this day it has never been effectively proven, either halfway or completely, that he or any of the other suspects was in fact the Ripper, so that the crimes they were accused of have never been proven and no one really guilty has ever been found.

Who really committed the murders, and who Jack the Ripper really was, has been the subject of repeated investigations, fantasy and sham investigations, and many theories since 1888. For example, in the 1940s the last suspect died, while elsewhere now the latest suspect had to be Aaron Kosminski, who is said to have been Jack the Ripper and to have been insane of consciousness, which is why he was admitted to a psychiatric hospital in 1890 and died there 29 years later, in 1919.

Ptaah:

143. As you know, I have dealt with this case out of my own interest, have investigated the truth at that time and have been able to find out the real facts on the spot.

144. In doing so, I have also been confronted with the real culprit, Jack the Ripper, who called himself Dr. Thomas Neill Cream, was born on the 27th of May 1850 and executed on the 15th of November 1892.

145. This man was in fact the murderer Jack the Ripper, who was also caught, sentenced to death and then executed.

146. I am also aware of the latest claims by two new scientists, Dr. Jari Louhelainen and David Miller, as I am also aware of the claim that the scarf in question was found at one of the scenes of a Ripper murder.

147. And because I was already interested in these murders and the Ripper at the time of the events, this was also the case for the scarf, consequently I also went back in time for it and found out that this corpus delicti belonged neither to one of the victims nor to Jack the Ripper, but to a 'Domestic Worker' in an Edgcumbe noble family who had lost the scarf, as I was able to establish on the spot.

Billy:

Aha, and that about Jack the Ripper, whose effective name was Dr Thomas Neill Cream, that is absolutely and incontrovertibly certain? While I don't doubt your words, because it is only a rhetorical question.

Ptaah:

148. It is answered.

return to Index

“Jesus Christ” (Jmmanuel)

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jesus>

see also Antichrist / 666 / The Beast

see also King Arthur ... / The Holy Grail ...

see also Shroud of Turin / Veil of Veronica

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Asket%27s\_Explanations\_-\_Part\_1

Asket:

33. In less than twenty Earth years, the time will come for you, when you will write a great work of the truth, that will be transmitted to you from a very, very high spirit form.

34. It will reach to you from the same level from which Jmmanuel, the carpenter's son, who you wrongly name Jesus Christ, also received his knowledge.

{Note: This probably refers to the spirit form and resulting book Arahath Athersata.}

...

191.... the true utensils of Jmmanuel and also the cross are already long rotted away and decayed to dust.

...

259. You will learn the truth about Jmmanuel, who you wrongly call Jesus Christ.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Asket%27s\_Explanations\_-\_Part\_3

Jitschi:

Indeed, Jesus said ...

Asket:

20. That is precisely what he did not even say. It is all a deliberately falsified tradition.
21. Besides, the man never bore the name Jesus.
22. He was plainly and simply called Jmmanuel.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Asket%27s\_Explanations\_-\_Part\_6

Jmmanuel:

59. Truly, out of my true humanity, a cult will be set up, which will bring with it very bad and deadly consequences.
60. Seen in me, however, is still only the human, which I truly also am, but soon a form of malevolence will be made out of me and I will be equated with Creation.
61. Truly, I know these events of the future, and, indeed, I cannot change them, not even if I rebel against them.
62. I was born a human, I live as such and, as such, fulfil my appointed mission.
63. But also as a human I will suffer the fate of corporal death in 83 years. ...

Eduard:

... But I have fully understood your explanations, because I do know the New Testament, which allegedly contains your teaching. But for a short time now I have known that the allegedly-handed-down teaching is only an evil falsification and only corresponds to the actual truth in very few things. Not at all to mention, thereby, regarding your own person, who has been pressed into a form of a god and a form of Creation and who is proclaimed as the redeemer of Earth humanity. You sit before me and I see that you are precisely as much a human as is Asket here, as is Jitschi over there and your brothers and students, who, in our time are called disciples. Now I wonder how it has come about that no direct documentation of your teaching has been handed down, because, to my knowledge, the first words of the New Testament which exists in my time were written only around 200 years after your alleged death on the cross. Do you not write down any facts at all of your teaching, in such a way that they can be kept for posterity?

Jmmanuel:

80. Truly, your question is very precisely directed.
81. Consider; my time is about two millennia before yours, and in this time only certain forms of society are literate.
82. On account of my mission, I did also learn writing and reading, yet I have insufficient time to write down my teaching.
83. And if I speak of my teaching, truly, then I thereby name the teaching of all great ages - the teaching of the spirit and the teaching of the laws and recommendations of Creation - which are eternally imperishable.
84. I learnt it in a similar way to you and furthermore spent long years in the distant land of Kush (note from Billy: today part of North India), where I was permitted to experience further learning.
85. So the teaching is indeed preached by me, yet it is truly not originally from me.
86. Truly, your question is, however, warranted.
87. I fully know the false and wrong teachings of the future about my true teachings and about my person.
88. But no practical steps are planned to change these coming misleading events, because the mass of erring and falsifying humans is too great to be able to influence them even on a small scale.
89. This will unfortunately lead to a false teaching of much longer than three thousand years, and to very much need, pain, hate, misery and bloodshed.
90. Truly, in spite of that, however, the truth will not be lost, because it will - in a safe place - remain transmitted and also outlast the time, in a written form.

91. Among my followers, I have a literate man named Judas Iscariot, who writes down the most important parts of the teaching and events, which later, well preserved, shall outlast the time in order to hand down the actual truth to posterity.

92. With the help of an ex-priest, these texts will be found by you, in your time, in Jerusalem and you will spread them again, true to their meaning, and make them accessible to the humans. ...

95. Already the texts are being sought now in order to destroy them and to use them as indictments against me.

96. One scroll has already been stolen from the writer and kept closed by the Pharisees and the scribes.

97. Juda Ihariot, a son of a Pharisee, secretly took it out of Judas Iscariot's bag in order to sell it to my persecutors for 70 pieces of silver, in order, thereby, to be able to charge me with blasphemy against God.

98. But Judas Iscariot has been ordered by me to write the text once again and now to keep it quite safe whereby its purpose will outlast the ages.

Eduard:

You speak of Judas Iscariot, who is supposed to be your betrayer, as the texts of my time still convey, nonetheless falsified!

Jmmanuel:

99. Truly, I speak of him.

100. But he will in no way be the guilty one.

101. He who will hand me over to the persecutors is the same one who stole the texts and sold them.

Eduard:

Therefore Juda Ihariot?

Jmmanuel:

102. So is it.

103. But his father will spread the lie that Judas Iscariot is the betrayer, because the Pharisee name Ihariot must not be soiled.

104. But the reason is also based on the fact that the priests, scribes and Pharisees and their followers can say:

105. "Behold, one from his own ranks has betrayed him and handed him over to a death on the cross.

106. Behold, behold, how can his teaching be truth if his own people betray him and sell him?"

Eduard:

So that is the way it is. Now I understand quite a bit more. But now I ask myself, who then really hanged himself in Potters Field - respectively, who will hang himself there in the coming time?

Jmmanuel:

107. Juda Ihariot. ...

Eduard:

... But how is it now with yourself - I mean with your name? It is indeed Jmmanuel, but in spite of that, in my time you are called "Jesus Christ". That is the way it is in the New Testament anyway.

Jmmanuel:

127. Truly, that is an evil vituperation, which is foreign to every truth.

128. Up until this point in time, in which I talk with you now, this name has never been uttered.

129. Only in a later time will it become coined by a human whose thinking will be confused.

130. He will also bear the blame for me being designated as Creation and for the lie that I am omnipotent.

131. All this will happen this way through Paul, who currently is still one of my worst enemies and is still named Saul.

Eduard:

You mean that, through the construction of Christianity, he will found his own erroneous religion; a Paulism, so to speak?

Jmmanuel:

132. Truly, you speak the truth.

Eduard:

What is your own position then in regard to the title JESU, CHRISTI or JESUS CHRIST which has been attributed to you?

Jmmanuel:

133. In your time this name is very imprinted.

134. Truly, truly, that aggrieves me greatly.

135. Never do I wish to be so named and it never should have happened.

136. Yet this has become unavoidable for the path of development, because the human of this Earth must first go into error in order to find the truth.

137. As I hear, however, the name which is not appropriate to me, Jesus Christ, truly, this aggrieves me greatly, because it will be, without exception, uttered only by humans who still live in confusion regarding thinking and knowledge and have not yet come to terms with the truth.

138. And they will unfortunately be very many at your time, and that is truly very sad and causes me pain.

Eduard:

You mean, that only a misled human calls you "Jesus Christ"?

Jmmanuel:

139. Truly, that is what I said, because every human who knows the truth will call me by my correct name, because, for him, the truth signifies life and knowledge.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Asket%27s\_Explanations\_-\_Part\_7

Eduard:

... yet now tell me, is it very unwelcome to you if the people call you "Jesus Christ" or similar?

Jmmanuel:

151. Truly, you precisely understand the sense of my thoughts.

152. This name is wrong when applied to me and I am aggrieved to know that it will be used for me in the future.

153. I bring the teaching of the truth of the Great Time, and thereby do not do wrong.

154. If one, however, associates me in any kind of manner with this name then one accuses me of wrong and of lying.

Eduard:

You are very sensitive, Jmmanuel.

Jmmanuel:

155. That is not so.

156. It is only that this name, however, is not consistent with the sense of the truth, and it insults me.

Eduard:

... But now it interests me whether the texts mentioned by you will really serve the truth in my time. I mean thereby the records of Judas Iscariot?

Jmmanuel:

158. Truly, it will be they, even if they will initially be greatly doubted.

159. Initially the accusation will be made that they are lies and a falsification, yet with time the truth will be victorious. ...

164. Truly, very evil things against the text will be brought into play in order to revile it as lies and to destroy it.

165. Very many paths will be trodden to that end.

166. Out of foolishness, even lower spirits and the dead will be called upon - although that is impossible - in order to revile my teachings, newly presented by you, as lies, in the same way as do the scribes, the Pharisees and the priests of my time, who are only able to come into contact with very lowly, ignorant and misled humans and influence them by means of belief.

167. So will it also be in your time, because the humans of your time will have succumbed just as much to delusional beliefs and ignorance as have the humans of my time. ...

Eduard:

... What will be asserted then in order to put into question the genuineness of your teaching and the text and to make the accusation that they are lies?

Jmmanuel:

169. Truly, there will be very many paths trodden to that end.

170. A new form of the lie will, however, be this: it will be asserted that the text is indeed very valuable and contains certain truths, yet it does not transmit my teaching, rather it is only the teaching of another who has also borne the name Jmmanuel.

171. It will even be doubted that I am Jmmanuel and I will be forced into another person's identity.

172. This will result in association with the name Jesus Christ, malevolently given to me.

173. It will be asserted that I, Jmmanuel, would not be falsely named Jesus Christ, so it is supposed to appear that I, Jmmanuel, and the person of Jesus Christ, who I am imputed to be, have been two different people.

174. These further lies about me will be invented about me very early in your time. ...

179. In your time you call the cult around me religion. Truly that is very well known to me.

180. But this religion is interspersed with very many false teachings of manifold forms, as well as with duplicity about the time of my birth.

181. In your time you celebrate the day of my birth on December 24th of any given year.

182. But this is only the day of the festival of a bloodthirsty idol from the lands of the Parsa peoples (note from Billy: later Persia, called Iran since 1934) and does not come near to equating to the day of my birth.

183. Your calculation of time truly does not correspond to reality, and therefore neither do your calculations about the time of my birth.

184. According to your time's calculation of time, the day of my birth is determined as the third day of the second month.

Eduard:

You mean the 3rd of February?

Jmmanuel:

185. This is what you designate this time.

Eduard:

You must indeed know it precisely - but why did this time difference come about?

Jmmanuel:

186. On one hand, it was handed down wrongly, and on the other hand, through erroneous calculations and continual innovations to the manner in which dates were calculated.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Asket%27s\_Explanations\_-\_Part\_8

Eduard:

But now please just tell me how things stand with your teachings. How should they be described and what is still correct within that which has been handed down? It is indeed said in the New Testament that you are the son of God; and that God himself embodies Creation Also, in these testament texts, God is always even spoken of as the Heavenly Father and you are spoken of as the redeemer of mankind, and so forth. Everything is quite confused and often even absolutely illogical and paradoxical.

Jmmanuel:

213. Truly, you say it.

214. I already told you that Judas Iscariot's text, which contained sections of my teaching, was stolen.

215. This text will be the basis of all falsifications.

216. Presently they are also continued, in a falsified manner, by the Pharisees and scribes and are not completed according to my teachings.

217. The reason that this is happening is truly, however, only in order to falsify them now - and even more at a later time - to the point of being unrecognisable, and also to use them against me in court.

218. As I therefore speak and teach of Creation the texts are being falsely modified in such a way that mendacious words are put into my mouth, and I am supposed to have spoken of a father in heaven, the gathering of a host of angels and many other false things.

219. But I have never done that because these forms do not correspond to the truth.

220. I have always faithfully spoken of the truth of Creation as being of Creation, and of God as being of God.

221. God was never put on a level with Creation by me, because God is a creature of Creation as are you and I and every other human.

222. In his form, he is a King of Wisdom and a ruler over human races, in the same way that a king or emperor also is a ruler over human races on Earth.

223. But Creation is the immeasurable secret and the Creation of every creation.

224. It is omnipotence, knowledge, wisdom, love, omniscience and BEING.

225. And my teachings speak of it alone, when I talk of it and its laws and recommendations and of the power of eternity.

[Translator's note: sentence 226 is omitted in the original.]

227. Truly, this alone is the truth and nothing else.

228. But, in your time, when everything is handed down differently, then that corresponds to an evil deception and abominable falsification on the part of the twisters of the texts and false teachers.

229. Truly, the point of the falsifications lies just in the slander against me from the side of the scribes, Pharisees and priests in order to have me die on the cross.

230. But the further reason also lies in the fact that, through these false and twisted teachings, the humans of Earth are to be beaten into serfdom so that they are caused to succumb to poverty in regard to knowledge and reason, whereby they will be able to be shamefully enslaved through belief so they can be exploited in evil ways.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_001

Semjase:

41. Above all there is only one thing that possesses the power over life and death of every creature.

42. This is the Creation alone, who has laid out her laws over everything – laws that are irrefutable and that have eternal validity.

43. The human being can recognise them in nature, if he/she strives for it.

44. They show him/her the path of life and the path to the spiritual and consciousness-based greatness, which represent the life-determination.

45. But as the human being indulges in his/her religions, and thus in evil irrational teachings, his/her consciousness atrophies more and more and leads ultimately to a bottomless abyss.

46. The human being may realise that a god can never assume the role of the Creation or determine the destiny of the human being.

47. A god is only a ruler and moreover a human being, who mightily exercises rule or tyranny over his fellow human beings.

48. God is not the Creation, but only a creature of her, like all creatures dependent on the Creation.

49. However, the human being chases after his/her religious irrational belief and claims that God is the Creation herself.

50. But he/she goes even further and claims that an ordinary Earth-human named Jmmanuel, who through deliberate error is also called Jesus Christ, would be the son of God and would be the Creation herself.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_008

Billy:

... We have already spoken several times about the Talmud Jmmanuel. Jmmanuel himself has over the course of the last 2000 years fundamentally been used again and again as main religious figure. Is the intention of once again using this already long dead human being to make a new belief-direction and an idol out of him? Is the Talmud Jmmanuel supposed to serve this purpose?

Semjase:

204. No.

205. Jmmanuel himself was just a human being like any other human being, which you know better than I do.

206. He was just endowed with very great knowledge.

207. He represents neither a symbol nor an idol nor anything else.

208. He was certainly a teacher; a prophet of the spiritual and conscious-based knowledge and the essence of wisdom, but however nothing beyond that.

209. Any life-forms should also never be idolised or even worshiped, such as the human being is accustomed to do.

210. Therefore, when we had the Talmud Jmmanuel gathered from his two-thousand-year-old hiding place, it was only for the reason that the time of truth has come.

211. The teaching of Jmmanuel is not his teaching but that of the Creation and the laws of the Creation, which Jmmanuel also first had to learn, recognise, and acknowledge.

212. Because of that, he has only made known what the natural laws call for.

213. A mistake of insanity shall not be made another time, with Jmmanuel being regarded and idolized as the embodiment of the teaching that he brought.

214. The truth of the Talmud shall be taught and recognised as such, without a calling into play the name of Jmmanuel and his glorification.

215. Important are only the truth and the laws, but not the person who brought this teaching, laws, and the truth.

216. Hence, if a cult would be established around Jmmanuel another time, then the purpose would not be fulfilled.

217. The human being, Jmmanuel, should not continue to be glorified, as solely the truth and the laws are of absolute importance.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_010

Semjase:

287. ... the date of birth of Jmmanuel; the 3rd of February, calculated according to your Christian calendar.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_031

Billy:

... It is said on the Earth, especially among the Christians, that Jmmanuel, whom they call Jesus Christ, is so to speak, the actual master of the world and the Universe. He is supposed to be God incarnate, where this God is regarded as the Creation. What do you say about this?

Ptaah:

229. We know about these human delusions on your world.

230. Alone the idea of a Christ being and a Christ consciousness corresponds to a very evil and degenerate delusion of the Earth-humans, and a very ill-natured presumption, because if these things would have happened or would still happen in the future, which is absolutely impossible, because it truly is only a fantasy of delusional Earth-humans, then with absolute probability the race which would be given the task of disseminating a religion would not be the Earth-humans.

231. As since many millenia on many worlds in the Universe, the Earth-human stands in the entire Universe as a purely materialistically developed life-form, which solely represents a life-form so deeply addicted to materialism, that every consciousness-based evolution over millennia has been detrimental to this degree.

232. On many of our own as well as on other foreign worlds, it is known that the Earth-human condemns any reasonable consciousness-based evolution and develops himself/herself only in malicious materialism and diverse religious delusions, and so it would be a paradox of the first order if, from all possible choices, a race so manifoldly incompetent in all consciousness-based areas would be chosen for a task of universal significance. ...

240. Especially those religions and sects, who in their heretical book name the prophet Jmmanuel as Jesus Christ and worship him, are the strongest opponents of the real truth. ...

627. Jmmanuel was already aware of the coming of this time of terror, and so he refused to be called God, Jesus or Christ, which was nevertheless officially done in 189. ...

630. The designations God, Jesus and Christ alone contain dangerous values, for each of these designations embodies death, ruin and destruction.

631. In particular, however, all three contain the triple value 666, the number of the extinction of truth.

Semjase:

522. In former times visible proofs were necessary for the human beings of the Earth in order to impart certain forms of thought to them.

523. But by these visible proofs they began to believe in miracles, and at other times they went astray.

524. The present time of the Earth has progressed beyond visible evidence, and the path of clear and logical reason and equally clear and logical understanding alone must be followed.

525. Only these values count for the present time, and they are the better evidence than all those which are visible.

526. Today, the power of consciousness, knowledge and wisdom and love are of utmost importance to be able to walk the path of evolution.

527. In Jmmanuel's time, however, it was different, for at that time the knowledge of Earth-humans was in every respect still very much imprisoned in those things which can be recognised by the eye and heard by the ears.

528. At that time this ensured that the human being who saw and heard visible evidence became aware of his power of thought and thereby progressed evolutionarily.

529. Today, however, Earth-humans have emerged from this stage, have acquired greater reason and intellect and have become very conscious of their power of thought.

Ptaah:

870. At the time of Jmmanuel there was also the factor to be considered that at that time no Earth human being except Jmmanuel himself was very highly developed in spirit and consciousness, which is why he had to demonstrate various happenings demonstratively.

871. At that time, in Earth-humans, according to their lower state of consciousness, seeing led to clarification and the development of consciousness.

872. Therefore Jmmanuel did all those things which today are so readily called miracles in your Christian religions.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_038

Billy:

Well, you have now mentioned a word several times which is completely unknown to me. I mean this 'realvision'. What's the meaning of this?

Semjase:

141. I understand, of course you cannot know that, because it's our own word composition for a certain form of guided vision.

...

144. A real vision describes a certain form of a guided vision.

145. It is a form of vision that is dominated by many intelligences, including the Giza intelligences.

146. By these arbitrarily provokable and steerable visions, different extraterrestrials – and also we – influence life forms, in order to obtain certain impressions for them in this way, which are instructive to them and which they are to make accessible by spreading also to others, in order to also purposefully affect the surroundings.

147. These steerable visions are so massively realistic that the influenced life form becomes convinced that it has experienced the vision as reality.

148. That's exactly why we call it realvision, because it seems so real.

149. Every experience experienced through this real vision lasts as long as it would take in reality.

150. Such real visions do not only last seconds or minutes, but they last as long, in time, as the real experiences would take.

Billy:

That's fantastic. This means that a human being can have an experience that is in reality not an experience at all, but arises only from a fictitious vision, but that he/she is not able to distinguish this vision from reality and thus regards the illusory experience as the truth of an experience.

...

161. Applied in this form, it is not a deception, for the process serves to expand the truth in the life form in question.

162. If Earth-humans are influenced in this manner, then this happens only for the reason that they are not capable of experiencing the visionary experiences given to them in reality.

Billy:

I accept that. But now you said that these real visions last exactly as long as the real experience takes in time. So a lot of time could flow by and many hours could pass?

Semjase:

163. Sure, even days, weeks or months.

Billy:

Man, poor creatures will starve to death.

Semjase:

164. You forget that the vision seems very massively real.

Billy:

You mean that the affected then feel their natural needs, like hunger and thirst or tiredness, etc.?

Semjase:

165. Certainly.

Billy:

But what do people eat and drink and – if they have long real visions outside the house – where do they sleep?

Semjase:

166. It's very simple:

167. In the state of real vision, they are master of many consciousness-based powers, which also slumber in their subconscious.

168. They then apply these subconsciously in such a form that they condense matter through the thirst and hunger feeling and solidify exactly those edible and drinkable things that they experience in their real visions.

169. That's how they eat.

170. It is the same process as it was demonstrated two thousand years ago by Jmmanuel when he fed 250 people on Earth (tradition of 5000 is wrong, there were only 250) with bread, which he multiplied in this manner.

171. The difference lies only in the fact that people with real visionary influence apply their abilities subconsciously, while Jmmanuel was able to generate them consciously.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_039

Billy:

Okay, then I have another question regarding Mount Shasta. I have already talked about this with Semjase, but something still seems unclear to me. Semjase told me that distant descendants of the Hyperboreans now live in Mount Shasta, on the Aleutian Islands, and in Alaska. Henoch, however, and also Jmmanuel, spoke of "the winds between the East and West" or between the "North and West." From this, I always thought that the "green land" of the Hyperboreans, so Hyperborea, must have been somewhere far up north, in Greenland or something. But now, this does not make sense any more with Mount Shasta. What should I now think of this?

Ptaah:

187. At the time of Henoch, the North Pole was situated differently than what is the case today.

188. Through cosmic influences and through an upset of the Earth, the North Pole at that time shifted far to the west.

189. The central point of the North Pole at that time is identical to present day Florida in America.

190. The Polar Regions at the time of Henoch were wondrous landscapes, filled with palms and other tropical vegetation. ...

196. Similar conditions can still be found today in the former Hyperborea, so in Florida.

Billy:

That is fantastic! But can you tell me exactly where at the North Pole this Hyperborea lay?

Ptaah:

197. It lay exactly where the land is still called "Greenland" today, whereby the actual North Pole of that time is not identical with today's North Pole.

Billy:

So Greenland; as far as I know, this means "grassland" in the German language.

Ptaah:

198. That is so.

199. Tir nan Og lay there.

Billy:

What is that?

Ptaah:

200. Green Land and Land of Youth.

201. But at that time, it was today's Florida.

Billy:

So then Heracles, Gilgamesh, Henoch, Jmmanuel, Amitabah, Methusalem and Noah and all others were up there and not in Florida?

Ptaah:

202. In Hyperborea, in Florida, when it was still at the spot where today, the land still means grassland.

203. But Jmmanuel was not there because he was already in Florida, where it is to be found today.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_041

{Note: This Contact Report contains a drawing of Jmmuel.}

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_045

Semjase:

146. Jesus is the false name for Jmmanuel, who already in his lifetime refused this name, because he knew the future and knew what would be made of him.

147. Jesus is the value of Antilogos, which however the Christian church falsified into the Antichrist, which is why the true teachings of Jmmanuel were falsified beyond recognition.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_057

Billy:

As you know, I possess from the tomb of Jmmanuel, alias Jesus Christ, a kind of flicker or mica. It looks like a transparent, multi-layered film. This material has now been analytically investigated by microscope at the Max Planck Institute (Institute for Scanning Electron Microscopy) in Munich. The result is just as literal as I wrote it down here: "Apart from sulphur and CO, O2 and H2O are also detectable. In my opinion it is a crystalline substance of calcium sulphate (i.e. gypsum). This does not exist here. The remaining sample is still examined organically, then you can get a better picture. The material is flammable. It burns odorlessly to a white powder." – What I am interested in now is this:

Do you know where this calcium sulphate comes from or whatever it may be and which does not occur in this form in our country? Do you have any idea?

Semjase:

104. You are talking about the glass-like natural material that was in Jmmanuel's burial cave?

Billy:

Exactly, that is what I am talking about.

Semjase:

105. It was a gift from Gabriel, Gabriel the guardian-protector, to his son Jmmanuel, whose foster-father was Joseph.

106. The gift was given to Jmmanuel at the age of seven, when his father Gabriel declared that it was a gift for the purpose of constant connection, this material served Jmmanuel as a capacitor.

107. His father Gabriel brought it here from Alkyon.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_070

Semjase:

170. After his 93rd year of government Ptaah was stricken by a malicious and unknown disease, from which he succumbed a few days later, consequently his brother Salam continued to lead the government alone, until, weak from his great age, he handed over command to his son Plejos, 2,040 Earth years ago, after he had taken up connections to the home worlds already centuries before and had placed himself and his people under the home form of government, namely, that of the spiritual teachers.

171. His son Plejos was, like his father, a very wise and a kind governor, and as of 1,999 years ago of earthly chronology, the home worlds, after an interruption of around 240 years, newly positioned themselves under the guidance of the 'High Council', he too arranged himself and his people therein.

172. Respecting and following the advice of the 'High Council', he prepared for the long-yearned-for return to the home worlds, which took place 1,994 years ago, by your chronology, after Jmmanuel, at Plejos's direction, begat by the spiritual leader Gabriel, was educated as a prophet and had become right for his mission.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_150

Billy:

... Jmmanuel's disciple Judas Ischarioth was made out to be a traitor to this day, while the true traitor, the high priest's son Judah Iharioth, is not even mentioned in the lying chronicles, so that the true traitor should be innocent of the murder of Jmmanuel.

Quetzal:

471. Thereby it is still to be noted by you, as I must explain, that all now following data are calculated according to usual earthly pre- and post-Jmmanuel time reckoning. ...

Year A.D. + 32

Crucifixion of Jmmanuel, accompanied by an unusual solar eclipse produced by a tremendous sandstorm. At the same time, a very strong earthquake occurred in Palestine, Syria, Lebanon and Saudi Arabia, which occurred with several earth tremors during the crucifixion.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_200

Quetzal:

4. Thus, Pope Pius IX, among others, absurdly maintained and made the doctrine that Joseph's wife Mary, already from the moment of Jmmanuel's conception, carried a 'rational soul' in herself and that already at conception, the fertilised egg was animated by the 'soul', and so, Jmmanuel's personality and his reason had already existed.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_207

Billy:

... Then another question: In the New Testament of the Christian religion, there is talk in the Sermon on the Mount that Jmmanuel should have fed 5,000 human beings, namely through the increase of fish and bread. To my knowledge, that is not true because in this connection, the storage-banks only speak of just 250 human beings who participated in the so-called Sermon on the Mount. Also, these were not just men, as it is said in the New Testament, like among other things in John chapter 6 and verse 1, rather, they were mostly women and children who followed Jmmanuel up the mountain, whereby the mountain was truly more of a hill. Thus, the five barley loaves and two fish, which Jmmanuel increased by his powers of consciousness, were not provided for 5,000 human beings but rather only for 250 human beings, respectively women and children, among whom there were only 40 men. Now, my question is this: when was the falsification made in relation to the alleged 5,000 persons?

Quetzal:

28. That happened through John, as well as through the other disciples.

Billy:

So it was still in Jmmanuel's lifetime.

Quetzal:

29. Yes, he lived at that time when the falsifications were made, already in India, where he also married and fathered several children with his wife.

30. The falsifications originated from exaggerations.

Billy:

Then one more question. Initially, it was only Judas Ischarioth who could read and write. But to my knowledge, he also instructed all the other disciples in this art, which was not very popular at that time.

Quetzal:

31. That is of correctness.

32. Besides Judas Ischarioth, all the other disciples were illiterates, who learned partially how to read in a short time by Judas, but not how to write.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_210

Billy:

... Luke was the author of the Gospel which bears the same name, as well as of the Acts of the Apostles, which, to my knowledge, he wrote during the period from A.D. 97 to 106, namely only according to hearsay and in accordance with his own interpretations, which naturally led to falsifications, etc.

Quetzal:

6. Your words correspond to what our scientists and all historians also explain.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_212

Quetzal:

1. I concerned myself in detail around the clarification of your question regarding the authenticity of the Biblical books.

2. In this regard, I also asked our historians and worked through all the historical records that were placed at my disposal.

3. It became entirely perceptible that all the Biblical books were not written in a single instance by those persons to whom they are ascribed.

4. So it is also incorrect that the Gospel of Luke and the Acts of the Apostles come from Luke, and furthermore, the book of Job was not written by this man himself.

5. Both books of the Bible are based on what was written down at a later time, as well as various books of the New Testament.

6. Moreover, the letters that are listed in the New Testament also were not written by those to whom they are assigned.

7. In truth, these were illiterates, who let their scribes write the letters, to whom they had to pay remunerations.

8. Thus, one who was dictating a letter also could not control what the scribe wrote down, whereby it escaped the one dictating that very many things were falsified.

9. This also applies to the fantastic stories that surround Paul, who, in his consciousness confusion, saw himself as a martyr and, thus, also lived and worked accordingly, and following this, he then ultimately died by assassins, as this also happened with Moses, who made many enemies within his own ranks, who then robbed him of his life.

Billy:

So it actually is not like what I said on the 11th of June, when I thought that Luke was the writer of the Gospel of Luke and of the Acts of the Apostles. Yes, Sfath already said that Luke could neither write nor read, as this should have also been true of the others who are praised as Bible and New Testament writers. But what about the Gospel of Matthew, were you also able to clarify this?

Quetzal:

10. I was also able to do that, yes.

11. Matthew was just as ignorant of reading and writing as all the others, to whom the Gospels and the books of the Bible are attributed.

12. The Gospel of Matthew was dictated by Matthew to a scribe named Joshua, who interpreted the whole thing in his free discretion and wrote it down and, consequently, also falsified it.

Billy:

Does one know the reason, then, why all the books and letters are, nevertheless, attributed to the disciples and evangelists and prophets?

Quetzal:

13. It should be noted that out of Jmmanuel's disciples, only Judas Ischarioth was actually acquainted with reading and writing, for he was – which no one knew and, therefore, which also was not handed down – a scribe, who left his profession, however, and became a follower of Jmmanuel.

14. As a result of many years of investigations, which were also carried out by our scientists and historians through time travels, it is to be explained that already during the outset of the origin of Christianity, the disciples and evangelists were anxious to give the impression that they were experts of reading and writing and, thus, more highly educated than the common people.

15. This was because the simple persons among the people were of the erroneous view that those who were more highly educated than others would just know and understand more and, consequently, would also be enabled and authorised to teach the more unknowing and uneducated people.

16. An erroneous evil that has survived on the Earth to the current day among all nations of the Earth, which is also why the humans of today's time are still of this misconception.

17. Through this – like at that time – the humans are title-believing and office-believing, and they let themselves be suppressed, exploited, or just held down by those who have a rank and a reputation and who occupy an office.

18. So even today, it is likewise as in the time of Jmmanuel and of the old prophets.

19. And precisely of these, it remains to be said that not one of them has written down his offered teachings or his history.

20. Indeed, this was done by others, even the scribes, who were instructed to do so.

21. The first Torah originated from this, but it was later destroyed up to the last letter by a major fire, and consequently, there were no more written records, and everything was just handed down by word of mouth over generations.

22. Needless to say, the consequence of this was that enormously many falsifications arose, until one day, twelve self-proclaimed prophets, out of their own grace, gathered a large number of scribes around themselves and went out with these into an outlying area, where they lived for 40 days in austere form and, during this time, wrote down 240 books, from which then, over time, the new Torah emerged, from which then also the Bible of Christianity emerged, to which the New Testament was then simply added.

Billy:

But in addition, it must be said, so that no misunderstandings arise, that on the one hand, every one of the so-called prophets told his scribe those things and stories in the manner he had received them from the various sources. Also, it must be made clear that the so-called books cannot be compared to today's books, which often contain several hundred pages. Most of the books of the self-proclaimed prophets, their writing experts, and, thus, their scribes, only contained a few pages – apart from the books of Moses and some others. But of these books, the majority vanished again, consequently, today, to my knowledge, only 33 of these are available in the Bible. As I have learned: In the Old Testament Scriptures, one will first notice: Moses, Joshua and Judges, Ruth and two of Samuel, two of Kings, Chronicles, Ezra, Nehemiah, with Ester – these as history books. Then, as poetic books, there are: Job, Psalms, then the Proverbs, Ecclesiastes and Song of Solomon. – These are followed by the prophetic books: Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, Daniel, then Hosea, Joel, Amos, Obadiah, Jonah, Micah, followed by Nahum, Habakkuk, Zephaniah, along with Haggai, Zechariah and finally Malachi.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_213

Billy:

... And as I could learn from Jmmanuel, when I asked him about it, the story of the 'carpenter's son' is not correct, for his foster father, Joseph, had not been a simple carpenter but rather the owner of a small carpentry business, with various workers who fulfilled his orders for him. Joseph had already learned the craft as a carpenter from the ground up with his father, who had already originally placed a ship-carpentry business on the legs. Thus, Joseph and Mary, as well as Jmmanuel and his brothers and sisters, had not been simple folk from the common people, but according to Jmmanuel, they would have enjoyed a degree of prosperity, which also allowed for it that father Joseph and mother Mary, as well as all children, could learn to read and write. Thus, Joseph was an independent craftsman with his own business, so to speak, and just as independent were also Jmmanuel's brothers, who pursued their own crafts. And as Jmmanuel said, he, too, was very independent and autonomous, was an expert of reading and writing, and earned his living through the spreading of the spiritual teaching [aka Creation energy teaching], for which he received donations, which he did not administer to himself, however; rather, he let these be administered by one of his disciples.

Quetzal:

19. Those are issues that are familiar to me.

Billy:

Aha. Then you should also know that it was in no wise the Jewish people who bore the guilt for the fact that Jmmanuel was sentenced to death by the cross. In fact, it was such that the Roman garrison ruled in Jerusalem at that time, and its laws possessed validity. Only the Jewish scribes and the Jewish leaders were actually guilty of the fact that Jmmanuel was sentenced to death; although, a huge misunderstanding also contributed to this, when Jmmanuel was asked the question as to whether the accusation was correct. When he said, "you said it", he did not mean that the alleged accusation was true, but the meaning of his words was that he meant that the questioner said it. And it was precisely this misunderstanding that was the deciding factor for the guilty sentencing. The scribes and the rulers, however, who fought vehemently against Jmmanuel's teaching, were true Jews, and they were the actual ones who strove to eliminate Jmmanuel, and to be sure, finally and for all time, through an execution. At the same time, the Jewish people themselves had nothing to say here because they were forbidden to interfere in any imponderable court matters, etc. Nevertheless, as spectators, the people, as a rule, were allowed to do so, but as I said, they would not have had any authority for a verdict. But as always, it was also the case with those who were authorised that under them, there was a certain percentage of the mob that was strongly greased with pieces of silver from the Jewish scribes and elders, as well as from the synagogue big shots, etc., in order to cry out for the death penalty when those who were responsible for sentencing – and, thus, not the Jewish people – were asked for the verdict. Thus, it was the paid-up and fired-up mob that cried out for crucifixion; therefore, the Jewish people bore absolutely no guilt for this. In fact, it was also the case that the actual process was carried out by the Jewish elders, priests, scribes, and other public officials, with the chief priests possessing great power. They were, indeed, the main ones who wanted to dissuade Jmmanuel from his mission efforts, and as I said, by all of their available means. But all of these who were responsible cannot be regarded as Jewish people, who, in many respects, were actually and truly more on Jmmanuel's side than on the side of the chief priests, elders, scribes, and other public officials, for under these, very many of the Jews suffered. But the fact that the blame for Jmmanuel's crucifixion is placed upon them is based on deliberately false political, theological and, thus, religious accusations, which should serve the purpose, and which had the intention, of denigrating the Jews and lifting up Christianity high into the sky. And precisely from this arose the hatred of the Jews, to which millions of Jews and Jewish friends fell victim in the Second World War, through the inhumane and degrading madness of the Final Solution. What is still to be said concerning the trial before Pilate probably needs no great explanation, for the whole thing was just a formality, in order to satisfy the Roman justice and law. But what is to be said in relation to the first trial by the Jewish officials – who partly consisted of high priests, scribes, and elders, who influenced the rest – it was, indeed, the case that it was an effective process, even though this has long been challenged by various sides. Sfath taught me all this.

Quetzal:

20. You are very detailed, and everything is completely accurate.

Billy:

Now, in this whole connection, only Jmmanuel's journey to Kashmir in India is missing and his work there, as well as his death at the age of about 115 years and his burial. It is repeatedly asserted that this does not correspond to the truth and that Hazrat Mirza Ghulam Ahmad of Qadian, the founder of the Islamic sect Ahmadiyya, had told fibs with the story that he had discovered Jmmanuel's grave in Srinagar, India. As Sfath already explained to me, this corresponds, at least, to a form of reality because the founder of the sect was not actually the discoverer of the tomb, rather, a man named Kanishka Rashtrakuta found the tomb in the year A.D. 746. All this is vehemently denied, however, by all sorts of scientists and wannabe scientists, as well as by would-be know-it-alls.

Quetzal:

21. That will also continue to remain so, for know-it-alls and wrong scientists, etc. never die out.
22. Nevertheless, what Sfath explained to you undoubtedly corresponds to the truth because we have clarified these issues very precisely, and thus, there is no doubt that Jmmanuel had worked in India, was also married there, and fathered several children, of which a son went to Jerusalem during his older years and hid Judas Ischarioth's scrolls in Jmmanuel's tomb, where you then found them in 1964, when Isa Rashid led you there.

Billy:

... As you know, I have gathered and calculated a lot with regard to the Christian calendar. You have also told me that I had calculated very precisely and that only small errors were contained in my calculations. With respect to these calculations, I have endeavoured again and recently discovered that the actual birth of Jmmanuel must have taken place not four, six, or even seven years before the Christian calendar but rather five years. This means that Jmmanuel effectively must have seen the light of this world five years before the Christian calendar. Through a look into the past, I also discovered that at the time of his birth, not only was a beaming spaceship visible in the sky, but also actually a very large comet, which could be seen all over the world, namely for about several weeks.

Quetzal:

160. Your explanations are correct.

161. And since you alone have now found the true facts, nothing more stands in the way for me to tell you further details.

162. The exact year of Jmmanuel's birth was five years before the Christian calendar known today.

163. At that time, there actually was a very large and unusually strongly radiating comet that was observable from the Earth, which we call the 'Fruitful One', because from very early times, inseminations for the Earth and for the planet Phaeton, respectively Malona, have gone out from it, whereby life could develop on these two SOL satellites.

164. The 'Fruitful One', however, has an extremely long period of revolution on a path that leads far out into the Oort cloud.

165. Accordingly, it will take more than 11,000 years, according to Earth's measure of time, before a return of this comet occurs in the SOL system.

166. Its orbital period is 13,200 years.

167. Together with this event of the appearance of the 'Fruitful One', the birth of Jmmanuel also took place on the 3rd of February, five years before the Christian calendar, whereby the 3rd of February of today's calendar is converted for the time and the day of that time.

168. At that same time, when Jmmanuel was born, in order to monitor and supervise everything, a large Plejaren beamship was stationed high in the atmosphere over Bethlehem.

169. This radiated very brightly, for it was one of those aircraft that collect energy from the atmosphere, which light up, radiating very strongly, when they penetrate into the area of the processing system, through which anti-gravity is produced.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_214

Billy:

... did Luke ever make a portrait of Jmmanuel? To my knowledge, such is attributed to him.

Quetzal:

60. That does not correspond to the truth.

61. In nowise did Luke master the art of drawing, consequently he was also in no position to produce a portrait of Jmmanuel.

62. Such a portrait of Jmmanuel, which is attributed to him, comes from an artist of Italian origin, who never saw Jmmanuel and who also had no description with respect to Jmmanuel's appearance.

63. His name was Alphonso Stranieri.

Billy:

... But now, tell me what social status Simon Peter had – I mean the disciple of Jmmanuel?

Quetzal:

89. He was of the propertied [class] and therefore very rich.

90. It was he who constantly donated from his own wealth, for the implementation of the mission and for the spreading of Jmmanuel's teaching.

91. If this would not have been so, then everyone would have had to live a more frugal life than what was, in fact, the case.

92. While there were other wealthy ones among the disciples, who also contributed their part to everything, it was Simon Peter, however, who was the main donor.

Billy:

And Matthew, the tax collector?

Quetzal:

93. He was also quite wealthy.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_216

Billy:

... In the story of Jmmanuel, it is recorded that he had succumbed to sweating blood before being arrested by his captors. To my knowledge, this is called haematritis. Many humans, who are not educated in relation to this, suppose that sweating blood is not possible. But to my knowledge, this acceptance is erroneous.

Quetzal:

20. That is of correctness.

21. Hematidrosis, or sweating blood, is a reality.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_218

Billy:

... There is still much more to say, namely that by and large, the Earth-humans are not actually interested in the effective truth but only in unreal things and lies of religions, sects, swindlers, liars, and cheats, who lie their heads off, hypocritically preaching doctrines of salvation and plans of salvation and giving just as deceitful promises of salvation, which can never be fulfilled. And the Earth-humans fall for this because to them – in their falsehood and in their ignorance, in which they eke out their existence and search for a better life and for the real truth – there is a real need for salvation. And the rule is that through the deception of the religions and sects, the people rely on the false story of divine salvation and on the divine plan of salvation. Through this, with unintentional Gewalt, they push every responsibility far away from themselves, relying on the message of salvation and, therewith, on the redemption, which will never become a reality, by God or by his hosts of angels, by Jesus Christ, by saints or even by those who are deceased, who should bring help from the beyond, or by extraterrestrials, as this has been preached and has been maintained for quite some time by irresponsible and exploitative UFO-sect gurus, who will support themselves as such in the future, as Sfath explained, through which all of the chiefs of the sects become very rich, for they financially exploit their followers and believers, as well as those who are enslaved to them and other fools, and through this, they live in joy and glory. The Earth-humans do not run to the truth but to lies and deception, to religions and sects, and they believe everything that they are led to believe and everything that is given to them by the sect bosses and religious bigwigs. With this, I in nowise want to attack those religionists, i.e. those parishioners, priests, monks, devotees, and other religious representatives, who are devoted to their faith in honesty and who maintain love, peace, freedom, harmony, humanity, and true brotherly love, etc. in the best form. In fact, I know many such human beings, and their lifestyle leaves nothing to be desired in the aforementioned forms, therefore, I give them all necessary respect and due reverence, even though they are connected to a religious faith. But those whom I attack are all those who cannot be added to these worthy people because they are among the severe or most severe fallible ones who, in their Ausartung [to get very badly out of control of the good human nature], give no honour to the designation of human being, having parasite-like, mendacious, swindler-like, and deceitful thoughts, feelings, emotions, and manners of acting, and through these, they deeply and disgustingly alienate and dissociate themselves from the designation of honourable human being.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_223

Billy:

... do you know, to what religious persuasion Jmmanuel's parents Mary and Joseph belonged, what this was, and from where the two actually came, were they actually Nazarenes? ...

Quetzal:

21. To answer the first part of your question, Mary and Joseph did not belong to any religious persuasion.
22. They were natives of Tiberias, a place located at the Sea of Galilee at that time.
23. Mary was the daughter of a merchant family from Tiberias, and Joseph was the son of a shipbuilder and carpenter's family, which was also located in Tiberias.
24. And if you still want to have information about the two families, then I can say that Mary had three brothers and four sisters, and Joseph had three brothers and two sisters.
25. At the time of Jmmanuel's birth, all siblings and parents of Mary and Joseph were still alive.
26. What is still to be said, but which should also be well-known to you:
27. Joseph was not the biological father but rather the foster father of Jmmanuel.
28. The biological father was the extraterrestrial Gabriel.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_224

Billy:

... we already talked about the fact that the so-called books of the New Testament, which actually only represent articles or the like, were not written in a single instance by all those to whom they are attributed. Among all the disciples, only Judas Ischarioth was knowledgeable of reading and writing – in addition to Jmmanuel himself, who was not a disciple but was, rather, the teacher. All the letters, etc. of the disciples were, in fact, written by women and men, and indeed, on behalf of the disciples, for at that time, it was not the case that many were experts of writing and reading. There were only the scribes and a few others who learned to write and read because there were no special schools, as these are now available everywhere all over the world and children are obligated to attend them in most countries. But while the Bible and the attached New Testament give the impression that a large part of the people in Jmmanuel's time would have been able to read and write, this actually does not correspond to the truth, however, because the vast majority of the human beings at that time – including the disciples, with the exception of Judas Ischarioth and Jmmanuel – was ignorant of reading and writing. Only special prophets, rulers, and their subordinates in special offices were able to read and write. Thus, it was very rare that ordinary citizens could learn to read and write. And while we are at it: the Bible is an invented Jewish chronicle, which very well holds certain truths in itself but, on the whole, is fictitious and was written together by twelve of the book-knowledgeable men who called themselves prophets and who, in 40 days, wrote 240 books or stories that were based on ancient oral acceptances, assertions, and 'traditions' and deliberate distortions, from which arose, then, the second holy book – the Torah number 2, i.e. the Five Books of Moses or the Pentateuch of Judaism. The first Torah had been destroyed in a devastating fire, after which then, more than 400 years later, the second Torah was written by the twelve alleged prophets, as said. Thus, the Bible has nothing to do with true history books or with true textbooks and is in no way connected with a testament. In truth, it mostly concerns fantasised-together fables without any value, which were then stolen in their entirety by Christianity in the last consequence and reshaped for itself. Thus, Christianity itself has also created an alleged chronicle and a past, which are actually designed solely for Judaism and have nothing at all to do with Christianity. Jmmanuel also wanted nothing to do with this chronicle, for he did not teach their nonsense but rather the teaching of the spirit, as he had received it from the lineage of Henoch. And what is still to be said: it really was so, that in Jmmanuel's time, as I said, out of all the disciples, only Judas Ischarioth was knowledgeable of reading and writing, while the others were illiterates. This also applies to the seven disciples who belonged to the group, but of whom no records exist from Judas Ischarioth, as well as not of the various other women and men, who were on the move with Jmmanuel during the time of his spreading of the teaching. At the same time, I also wonder whether it will one day become known that Jmmanuel's disciples only went with him occasionally because they repeatedly had to perform their work and business, etc. at home, about which Judas Ischarioth also wrote nothing, and thus, the impression is given that the disciples had always been with and around Jmmanuel. Furthermore, everything written by Judas is only a brief outline of the entire life, teaching, and work of Jmmanuel, for in fact, this one was not just on the move and spreading the teaching for only three years or so, as is maintained by Christianity; rather, he was already active in this form starting from his sixth year of age, and thus, for a total of almost 29 years when he was beaten to the cross at the age of a little more than 34 years. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_238

Ptaah:

... the Pharisee Simeon, the father of the traitor Judah Iharriot.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_244

Billy:

... What was the name of the God with whom Jmmanuel worked, and where did these three Jschwischs come from? ...

Ptaah:

50. Jmmanuel finally worked together with Jschwisch Kalatan, who came from Erra.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_248

Billy:

... the Bible lies and twists the facts that happened at that time. As I know the facts, all of the Prophetic Books and other contents of the Bible were falsified beyond recognition, whereby the prophets themselves as well as their deeds and their activities were represented completely incorrectly, which gave the impression, which has remained preserved in Christianity up to the present day, that these prophets would have killed and murdered, but this corresponds to no iota of truth. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_257

Billy:

... Again and again the question arises whether Peter really was the first Pope. I know that you have already informed me about this at an earlier time and explained that Peter never held the papal office. This statement of yours, however, has never been recorded in writing, which is why I am now once again officially asking you for the answer.

Ptaah:

104. It has its correctness with what you said.

105. Peter never held the office of pope.

Billy:

And what is it about the Vatican's claim that Peter's skeletal remains were found in the Vatican or something?

Ptaah:

106. This assertion corresponds to a deliberately created lie, because the mortal remains of Peter were then cremated by delusional Christian enemies because they were of the belief that he could return.

107. The matter with the found skeletal remains can be clarified by the fact that they belonged to a man who was a church servant during his lifetime, who had to maintain the church buildings and ensure order.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_334

Billy:

... Didn't Florena ask you to give me an enlightening answer regarding an old bones urn that was reported in all public media in October 2002, which is supposed to be an urn containing the bones of James, the son of Joseph, brother of Jesus? This is actually nonsense, for Jmmanuel had his brother James brought to Srinagar, where he died and was buried at the age of 93, while Jmmanuel did not die on Golgotha, but also in Srinagar/Kashmir, and that at the age of 115.

Enjana:

41. Florena actually commissioned me with your question, which I passed on to Quetzal, since he is the authoritative luminary on the life and history of Jmmanuel and his siblings.

42. According to his instructions, I am to tell you that an urn with James' bones never existed and therefore could not be found in Jerusalem or anywhere else in Israel or Palestine etc.

43. The bones urn that you mention, as our research has clarified, is a forgery, in the sense that it is declared as James' urn, which has nothing to do with the bones of James, Jmmanuel's brother, for he actually died in Srinagar, as did Jmmanuel, who was buried in Srinagar in 115, according to his correct birth time.

44. According to the so-called Christian calendar, this applies to the year 111.

Billy:

Jmmanuel was never called Jesus, as his disciples accused him after his departure. And besides, in his time the names James, Joseph and Jesus were very common, so that 'James, son of Joseph, brother of Jesus', which should be written on the urn, will apply to another James, Joseph and Jesus. Just like today, there were several ways that the three names could appear in a family at the same time.

Enjana:

45. Your question to Florena in this regard, which I also put to Quetzal, corresponds to the real thing.

46. In Jmmanuel's time, Quetzal explained, the names, as they are called, must have appeared 34 times as son, father and brother.

47. But the said bone urn is a fake.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_377

Ptaah:

47. For more than 2,000 years you have been the only person on planet Earth who has been able to make such space journeys and visit planets and moons of the SOL system as well as alien systems and galaxies.

48. Jmmanuel was the last person who was born on Earth to be able to make such journeys into space, and this was made possible by my great-grandfather Gaabriel.

Billy:

What do you think about the matter of sulphur, why should it be dangerous for me? And your great-grandfather Gabriel was, of course. Nowadays they spell the name with an a. What does the name mean again?

Ptaah:

49. 'The Mighty One of Creation'.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_415

Billy:

There have been some television shows about Christian relics for which I would like to know what is true about them. The first question relates to the legendary Grail, a vessel Joseph of Arimathea is said to have used to catch Jmmanuel's blood at the crucifixion. This goblet is supposed to work wonders and make one immortal as well as heal all sicknesses and evils, etc.

Quetzal:

10. This is absolute nonsense, for neither does such a Grail exist, nor has Joseph of Arimathea caught the blood of Jmmanuel in a vessel.

11. That however no other human being has done either.

Ptaah:

5. This senseless claim was invented fictitiously centuries after the event of the crucifixion, namely by members of a sect that emerged from Jmmanuel's already early falsified teaching.

6. And the fact that no blood of Jmmanuel was caught in a vessel, rather that the little blood that Jmmanuel lost dripped to the ground and seeped away, is perfectly certain, because this was recorded in our annals by the personality of that time Gabriel, the procreating father of Jmmanuel.

7. He was direct eyewitness of the real event.

Billy:

Interesting. I did not know that. Then the second question: Do you know the story regarding a 'Holy Lance' that was said to have been used to stab Jmmanuel in the loin on the cross?

Ptaah:

8. Also this nonsense is known to us.

It is claimed that whoever possesses this lance i.e. the tip of the lance should be imparted invincibility. The lance is supposed to have supernatural powers. According to the claim, a Roman soldier is said to have stabbed Jmmanuel with this tip of the lance, which is why his blood is supposed to stick to it. This tip of the lance is also said to confer great power on the owner, which is why Hitler was also eager to get hold of the lance, as was the case with other rulers, despots and dictators, among them also kings and emperors.

Quetzal:

12. This tip of the lance is a forgery from the 8th century after Jmmanuel.
13. However, in truth there are still further such forgeries, which were made in the course of the time.
14. In 1354 Pope Innocent VI, who was in place from 1352 to 1362, declared the 8th-century tip of the lance to be the 'Holy Lance', with the claim that it was indeed the lance with which Jmmanuel was stabbed in the loin.
15. Truthly the forgery is a piece made from a lance used in combat actions, which however was not yet hand-forged at the time of Jmmanuel, consequently he could also have never been touched by it.

Billy:

That too was said in the television programme. Okay, then still the question about the shroud, the so-called Shroud of Turin, which is claimed to be a shroud that carries the image of Jmmanuel alias Jesus. However, about this you once told me that it would be an image of an Italian merchant.

Ptaah:

9. That is correct, because the shroud does not show the image of Jmmanuel, but that of a merchant from Turin/Italy, called Caesar Canova.
10. The shroud was made by the brother of the deceased, Luciano Canova, an alchemist.
11. The process took place on 7 June 1324 and lasted until 10 June, i.e. 4 days.
12. During this, the procedure was not such that the shroud was placed on the deceased and the latter was rubbed with chemicals, as is often claimed, but it was a very early form of photography, whereby the corpse was placed vertically in front of a large glass lens, through which the image was then projected for four days through an effect of sunlight onto a large fabric surface soaked in chemicals in a dark room, after which the shroud was then treated with silver nitrate and the image became in that way visible and retained.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_437

Billy:

... And do you know what blood group Jmmanuel had?

Ptaah:

62. Indeed, we know that:
63. It was blood group 0 negative.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_439

Billy:

... In the Christian world Jmmanuel and the so-called saints are always depicted with a halo hanging over their heads. Do you know where this naughtiness comes from, because neither Jmmanuel nor any other prophet had such a gloriol over his head. Even an aureole, with which the whole figure is surrounded in a circle, as well as the almond-shaped mandorla, I cannot associate with Jmmanuel, Mary and various 'saints'. I only know the whole thing from India and the Far East, where the gods and 'saints' have been represented with such garlands of rays since ancient times.

Ptaah:

27. From there, Christianity has also taken over the essence of the glorious beings in order to give their religious figures a supernatural appearance and to make the believers self-conscious.
28. The garland of lights around a religious figure is to testify to its 'holiness' and 'spiritual greatness' as well as its 'heavenly origin' and its 'sublimity above all earthly things'.

Billy:

... Fundamental to the anti-Semitism that emanates from the Christian world and relates to the Jews, many Christians hold them responsible for the crucifixion of Jmmanuel (alias Jesus Christ). For this reason alone, they have been stirring up hatred against Judaism since time immemorial, but this is absolutely nonsensical. In truth, Jmmanuel was not crucified by the Jews, but through the fault of the chief priests and the Romans, who stirred up the people, after which the crucifixion was carried out by the Roman henchmen. Thus, the actual Jewish people did not contribute anything to the crucifixion, for the pro- and hurricane cries of the people, which were under the suggestive influence of the high priests, were only their few, who, moreover, in no way embodied the people. So, in principle, the whole Jewish people cannot be discriminated against and pronounced guilty of the crucifixion of Jmmanuel, as has been done since time immemorial, the Catholic Church bearing the main blame for this lie, for it was the Catholic Church that brought this slander of the alleged guilt of the Jews into the world. The truth is also that the Romans saw Jmmanuel's teaching as revolutionary and for this reason alone they intended to condemn him and hand him over to crucifixion, which they did with the help of the Jewish high priests.

Well, the history of the origin of the people of Israel leads far back to the Hebraons and the ancient Hebrews who came out of them, who were not exactly saints as a whole, and who conquered Palestine out of it with evil acts of war and murder. But this is already thousands of years ago and has nothing to do with the crucifixion of Jmmanuel, which was unjust in one way or another, and which, as I said, was not to be attributed to the Jewish people, but to their high priests and the Romans. Like all true prophets, who brought the teaching of the spirit, or the teaching of truth, or the teaching of life to the respective people, Jmmanuel was also a revolutionary, who of course was not appreciated either by the Romans or by the chief priests. Jmmanuel's teaching was the teaching of peace, freedom, love and harmony, as well as the carrying of one's own responsibility, leaving out religion. This, of course, did not suit either the chief priests or the Romans in their dirty business, so that the revolter and 'blasphemer' they hated had to disappear from the scene, which was to happen by crucifixion – at least that was what they hoped, but they did not expect that Jmmanuel was only in deep faint when he was taken down from the cross, so that he could flee to Syria and later to India. Many Jewish believers who had taken pleasure in his teaching helped him in this, and there were many of them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_445

Billy:

... The Christian religion in particular plays the most decisive role, in which the hatred of Jews was fundamentally born, and that from the crucifixion of Christ, which was taken as a reason for hatred against the Jews and for their persecution at an early stage. But the fact that the henchmen who arrested Jmmanuel (alias Jesus Christ) in his time were just as much Romans and so-called idolaters (see Roman mythology) as the author of the death sentence, Pontius Pilate, is deliberately overlooked as is the fact that the executioners were also of Roman blood. At that time the Jews were under Roman thumb and had to do and let do what they were told. This also applied to the Jewish scribes and to the Pharisees etc., for they all had to dance to the Roman violin, which was played by the occupiers and rulers of the country and the people. Although at that time the scribes and priests of the Jewish faith deliberately had their fingers in the crucifixion of Jmmanuel, because he raged against their erroneous teachings, that is, the Romans came to them just in time to accuse Jmmanuel of revolt, but basically the Romans were the real culprits, because through them Jmmanuel was crucified, after the scribes and priests had incited the rabble to demand the death sentence by incitement. Consequently, it should be clear that it was not the Jews who were really responsible for the crucifixion of Jmmanuel alias 'Christ', but the Romans. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_453

Quetzel: former personality = Gabriel, father of Jmmanuel

Ptaah: his great-grandfather was Gabriel.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_499

Ptaah:

13. Hilak was not my great grandfather, but my great great grandfather.
14. According to the earthly calendar he became 1,463 years old and died in the year 98 before the Christian calendar.
15. His old age was and is as extraordinary for us as it is for Earth-humans, when a human being reaches an age of about 125 or 130 years, which is also very rare.
16. He was my great-grandfather on my father's side, and he sired my great-grandfather Gabriel even at an advanced age.
17. He also reached an extraordinary age of 1,402 years.
18. Great-grandfather Gabriel then begat on Earth with Maria Jmmanuel, which is familiar to you.
19. He also begat Ezekeel, my grandfather, one of whose sons was my father Sfath.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_503

Ptaah:

17. ... I would like to tell you what I have found out about the family tree of the 'Meier von Bülach' and also about you.
18. As we have both already suspected, the line goes back to Jmmanuel and finally to the son of heaven Semjasa.
19. For my research I have to admit, however, that these are only to be understood in very rough outlines and in the main and decisive points concerning the family tree, because to research and list the complete family tree would be much too costly.
20. But what has emerged from my further research into the family tree is that before the 'Mejr' of Amalfi, by whom the Hospitaller Brotherhood was founded in Jerusalem in 1048, the family tree line goes back to a man named 'Dison', who was active in Israel as a 'Maggid' respectively as a wandering herald about 180 years after Jmmanuel.
21. His male descendant Jeschua moved to Syria, after whose death his two male descendants moved to Medina and founded a family there.
22. In one family four daughters were born, in the other two sons and one daughter.
23. One of the sons died very young, however, while the other emigrated to Mecca in Saudi Arabia, married there and, due to the harassment of the population, took the name of his Arab wife.
24. This marriage produced three daughters, but also a son who emigrated back to Israel.
25. There he gave up the name he had taken in Mecca and called himself Mejr, from whose line the merchant Mejr from Amalfi finally emerged.
26. Dison was a descendant of Jmmanuel's son Joseph, who was born in India, but after his father's death went to Jerusalem and founded a family there, from which two daughters and Dison as the only son emerged.
27. His pedigree, in turn, logically led back to Jmmanuel and to Joseph, Jmmanuel's foster father and his ancestral family tree, whereby, as is well known, Jmmanuel's procreation father was the son of heaven, Gabriel, whose genetic structure was naturally transferred to Jmmanuel and passed on.
28. Jmmanuel's spirit-form, which originated from the Nokodemion line, naturally revived all the old prophets of the same line in their time, but also Semjasa, the father of Adam, who was a cousin of the ringleader Semjasa, the leader of the sons of heaven.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_504

Billy:

... seventeen disciples belonged to Jmmanuel, as well as his mother and Mary-Magdalene, who was his friend. ... the father of the traitor Judas Iharioth, the Pharisee Simeon Iharioth, had written a diatribe in the name of Judas Ishkerioth, accusing him and Jmmanuel that they themselves had caused the betrayal. ... the same Pharisee Simeon Iharioth, together with a scribe, had also written a false gospel in the name of Judas Ishkerioth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_506

{Note: This Contact Report contains a drawing (3 variations) of Judas Ischkerioth.}

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_545

Billy:

... Jmmanuel, for example, means 'the one with divine knowledge', so I understand that 'divine knowledge' is not the knowledge of a mythical creature, a God, but an 'Jschwisch-knowledge' ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_555

Ptaah:

37. As a result, the bonds and connections that had been formed over a long period of time were also lost, but only on the basis of the new sectarian Christian faith, which was first combined with the cult of Natalis Solis, the god of the sun, whose feast day was celebrated on the 25th of December and which Christians secretly adopted as the feast of Christ, respectively as the feast of the birth of Christ.

38. From the year 339 onwards, Christians officially began to celebrate the alleged birth of Christ more and more officially at the same time as the Natalis Solis festival – because this cult continued to exist for a long time – although this festival of Christ had been secretly practised for around 30 years.

39. Constantine also belonged to these Christ-festivities, for he had already fallen prey to the Christian faith in 309, although he was at the same time a follower of the Natalis Solis cult and believed that he would be able to consolidate his power more easily if he was dependent on the gods of both cults.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_568

Billy:

... The ritual of circumcision in relation to male newborns was largely replaced by baptism in Christianity. In 1962 the Second Vatican Council abolished completely the feast of circumcision of the Lord (in circumcissione domini), commemorating the alleged circumcision of Jesus on the eighth day after Christmas Eve or the 1st of January (Lk. 2:21 EU). The fact is that the story of this circumcision was a pure fairy tale of Jewish Christianity, because Jmmanuel (alias Jesus) was not circumcised.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_576

Billy:

... the values that Jmmanuel (supposedly called Jesus Christ) taught, i.e. mercy, peaceableness, justice, helpfulness, charity and gentleness, which is the right thing to do, since Jmmanuel really did teach these virtues. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_600

Billy:

... The dove is mentioned in the Bible even more times, but as a rule without an oil leaf or olive branch, e.g. at Jmmanuel's baptism. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_602

Billy:

... By the way, the ancient myrrh has also been known since ancient times. Myrrh is the resin of two or three species of the balsam tree and can prevent infections by viruses and fungi. Myrrh also played a role in the birth of Jmmanuel, in which four wise men, who came from afar, brought precious resins and oils for him. One of the four wise men was an educated physician - whatever that may have been at that time - who brought along a tree resin, the preservative benzoin resin, as well as the medically relevant sandarak or resin of the cypress tree, the scent of which has a strong effect on the vegetative nervous system. Benzoin is a traditional medicine used as an antiseptic, being used for example from Java to India for colds, coughs and sore throats, but also as a medicine for urinary tract infections ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_609

Billy:

1371. But as ever, the truthful prophet Muhammad never had time to write down his teachings and his warnings and prophecies personally, so he instructed his cousin to do it, but he interpreted everything wrongly at his own discretion and wrote it down in such a falsified way that Muhammad's teaching came to even worse shame than it had done about 500 years before with Jmmanuel's teaching through his brother James and through Paulus-Saulus and the disciples Luke, Matthew, Mark and John.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_658

Billy:

... As a result of the inability of people at Jmmanuel's time (wrongly called Jesus Christ) to understand many concepts, such as 'consciousness', the traditional and widespread term 'spirit' was used, which has survived to this day and creates a tremendous misunderstanding and confusion. Jmmanuel was aware that the term 'spirit' did not correspond to correctness, but due to the incomprehension of the people of that time he could not use the correct term 'consciousness'. So he had no choice but to use the term 'spirit' to explain the values of the 'teaching of the prophets' or the 'teaching of the truth, teaching of the spirit, teaching of the life' and the meaning and value of the prayers. And since the term 'spirit' was understood by people at that time as that and is still understood today, what happens and is done through consciousness, that thoughts are cultivated, actions and ideas are conceived and carried out, inventions are made, poems are rhymed and written works are conceived and created, etc., so it resulted with the word 'spirit' that it was understood what just had to be understood. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_662

Billy:

... The effective beginnings of racism were already set in Galilee and Judea, by the very first Christians respectively the followers and disciples of 'Jmmanuel of Nazareth', who is falsely insulted by the Christian world as 'Jesus Christ' and thus with a name, which he neither received at his birth nor later carried, because he was simply ascribed to him by his followers and disciples for 'having to be Messiah'. ...

... The hatred against the Jews began very early with the beginnings of Christianity, namely through the followers and disciples of the alleged 'Jesus Christ', who was never so thought of and called by his parents Mary and Joseph, but with the name Jmmanuel, as the prophet Isaiah predicted in chapter 7, 10-17 in a prophecy. But in the Bible, in the so-called 'Old Testament' – which in truth does not correspond to a testament but to a chronicle that was drawn up and falsified centuries later – it is claimed to be a lie that Jmmanuel was not called Jmmanuel by his parents, but Jesus. So already in the early days through the 'Jesus' followers and 'Jesus' disciples and their lies the falsification of the name from Jmmanuel to 'Jesus' arose. ...

... And because Jmmanuel, through his 'teaching of the prophets' or 'teaching of the spirit' or 'teaching of the truth, teaching of the spirit, teaching of the life', revealed true beings to the offending elders, chief priests, Pharisees and scribes, they put their henchmen on him and persecuted him. In principle, however, the Jewish people were not indifferent to the fact that those through whom they were to be taught the right laws and commandments lived contrary to their teachings and rejected the way of life of the people as wrong. And this happened because Jmmanuel described the way of life of the elders, Pharisees and scribes as degenerate, excessive and misleading, who also called the 'teaching of the prophets' a lie, which was declared by Jmmanuel to be the truth of creation. The latter found many followers among the Jewish people, contrary to the false lives of the elders, chief priests, Pharisees and scribes, who called together a number of like-minded people and testified by lies and slander against Jmmanuel, when he was arrested by the evil-doers, brought to trial and sentenced to death on the cross. So according to Plejaren records it was not the Jewish people, but only the actual ringleaders or elders, high priests, Pharisees and scribes and the 42 like-minded who were responsible for the imprisonment, the false testimony, condemnation and the crucifixion of Jmmanuel. The rest of the Jewish people had nothing at all to do with it, but what the 'Jesus Christ' inventors or 'Jesus' followers and 'Jesus' disciples, full of hatred, deliberately and completely misrepresented, and it was subsequently slanderously passed down by the so-called Christian 'New Testament'. ...

... To this hatred against the Jews also contributed the allegedly 'unadulterated' 1st Letter of Paul to the Thessalonians, which is reproduced by Martin Luther under Thessalonians 2, 14-16 (Luther Bible 1912). It is said to be one of the earliest preserved written documents of Christianity, although it is not mentioned that this letter was not written by Paul alias Saul, but by a scribe of the time. This precisely because Paul himself was just as ignorant of reading and writing as all the others who went with Jmmanuel – except for the disciple Judas Ischkerioth, who made written records and to whom the 'Talmud Jmmanuel' leads back (available at FIGU, Hinterschmidrüti 1225, 8495 Schmidrüti). Well, the first. Letter of Paul – which was written by a scribe according to Paul's instructions and interpreted by the letter writer at his own discretion ...
... the effective truth according to the Plejaren states that the Jewish people themselves had nothing whatsoever to do with the persecution, condemnation and crucifixion of Jmmanuel (wrongly Jesus Christ), but only the elders, chief priests, Pharisees and scribes of that time, as well as the 42 who were in bondage to them. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_684

Billy:

... The hilltop of Masada is formed by a plateau, and the plateau was originally accessible only by 3 narrow mule tracks, as it was protected on all sides by rocky escarpments. Essentially, the fortress was built on the site of a smaller fortress several decades older in 3 phases, within 10 years between 42 B.C. and 32 B.C. The whole thing was commissioned by King Herod I the Great, who was a Roman client-king in Judea, Galilee, Samaria and the neighbouring areas. This Herod is best known for the infanticide in Bethlehem attributed to him in the Bible according to Matthew. He was born in Edom in 73 BC, after which he died in Jericho in 4 BC and was buried in Judea. His wife was Mariamne, to whom he was married from 37 BC to 29 BC. His children Herod Antipas, Herod Archelaos, Herod Philippos, Herod Boethos were also his successors. Herod I the Great was one of the most brutal and cruel regents of antiquity and at the same time one of the greatest builders of his time in the area of tension between Palestine and Rome. When he died, his funeral bier was made of pure gold, decorated with precious gems and covered with fabrics embroidered in different colours, on which the corpse lay wrapped in a purple robe. On his head he wore a diadem and a golden crown, while his sceptre was placed beside his right hand. The whole thing was a funeral of immense and rare pomp and pageantry. However, it was not until nearly 4 decades later that this event was reported by a born Jewish historian named Joseph Ben Jathitjahu. This man came from a Jewish priestly family, but after the destruction of Jerusalem by the Romans in 70 AD, he had assumed a Roman identity and henceforth called himself Flavius Josephus. He had made it his task to present Jewish life to the Romans as authentically as possible, although he had not been an eyewitness to the burial of Herod I the Great. His records led back to the fact that, as was usual with him, he had meticulously researched everything and described the funeral procession, the line-up of the procession, the length of the route and the place of burial down to the last detail. There was only one thing that the historian, known for the reliability of his reports, had described very vaguely, namely the grave itself. Consequently, for about 2 millennia, no one knew where the tomb of Herod I the Great was located, until on the 8th of May 2007, the Israeli archaeologist Ehud Netzer finally announced that he had discovered the tomb. For 35 years he had been digging around at the mountain fortress of Herodium, but then the renowned archaeologist of the Hebrew University in Jerusalem found the tomb, namely in the eastern flank of the approximately 60-metre-high Herodium Hill, where Herod I the Great, the violent, brutal, cruel and dazzling ruler and biblical fiend had found his final resting place.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_703

Billy:

... But now I would like to talk a little bit in detail and openly about how basically the so-called 'holy' books came into being with regard to Christianity and Islam, because the truth is that neither Jmmanuel alias Jesus, nor Muhammad themselves made any written records of the 'teachings of the prophets'. Only Jmmanuel's disciple Judas Ischkerioth – not Judas Iskarioth or Ischarioth or Isharioth – knew the Scriptures, while all the other disciples, contrary to all the conventional lies and claims, were just as ignorant of the Scriptures as the followers around Mohammed. The records of Judas Ischkerioth, from which the book 'Talmud Jmmanuel' was made, were finally translated into German by those who knew the Scriptures, after Isa Rashid had falsified everything according to his priesthood. The Christian 'New Testament', however, has no connection whatsoever with the actual records of Judas Ischkerioth, for this corresponds to a work of lies whose origin lay long years after the time of Jmmanuel and Judas Ischkerioth in 'letters' of the disciples, etc., which began to circulate and from which the so-called 'New Testament' was also finally made. These 'disciples' letters', however, were not written by the disciples themselves, who knew how to write and write, but were written works of scribes, to whom various disciples etc. dictated their statements according to the time of Jmmanuel, which, however, were interpreted by the scribblers according to their own discretion and sense and were formulated and written accordingly. In the process, fanciful or misinterpreting things and events were added that lacked any truth content. This also happened with the Hebrews and their descendants when the first Torah and then the second Torah were written, from which the Christian Bible ultimately emerged. These 'holy' works were also not written according to the real truth, but according to ancient stories, fables and legends, etc., which – as with all peoples of the Earth – were based on assumptions, beliefs, hallucinations, fantasies, delusions, fairy tales, hopes, dreams and wishes, etc., which were nurtured by human beings over decades and centuries or even millennia. ...

... So it is also not accepted that the 'teaching of the prophets' or the 'teaching of truth, teaching of the spirit, teaching of life' – as it was already brought by Jmmanuel and all 4 other prophets or heralds Enoch, Elijah, Isaiah and Jeremiah – which is now also taught today for the last time and spread by the FIGU, is a teaching of the creative-natural laws. A teaching that teaches the human being to live with all fellow human beings and all peoples in peace, freedom and justice, in humanity and love. And this ancient teaching, whose origins can be traced back to Nokodemion, the universal herald who existed 9 billion years ago, also teaches that self-knowledge, consciousness-self-development, good self-esteem, empathy and healthy self-respect, etc. are of the greatest importance for the individual human being, as well as connectedness with the existence of the entire environment. ...

... Muhammad and Jmmanuel, however, were in reality humble human beings of love, peace, freedom, justice, equality and humanity, as were also the other, earlier and predetermined prophets Enoch, Elijah, Isaiah, Jeremiah from the same prophetic line before them. And, as I said, the old 4 prophets were predestined from time immemorial, as were Jmmanuel and Mohammed, because they were prophets born of earth mothers from the nations and therefore not 'sons of God', not 'chosen' by a God and not 'servants of God' or such nonsense as was attributed to them in the course of time by crazy and delusional people. Enoch, Elia, Isaiah, Jeremiah, Jmmanuel and Mohammed were pre-determined prophets or heralds of the 'Doctrine of the Prophets' or the 'Doctrine of Truth, Doctrine of the Spirit, Doctrine of Life', which was created ages ago by the ever first prophet or herald Nokodemion according to the creative-natural laws and carried on in his spiritual lineage reincarnating over all times. But in addition to the prophets or heralds of the Nokodemion lineage, wise human beings – female and male – also always arise in all peoples, who acquire much creative-natural knowledge by their own efforts and instruct the peoples, guide them and teach them the true ways of creative-natural conduct of life.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_706

Quinto:

25. ... the 'teaching of truth, teaching of the spirit, teaching of life', which was brought by the ancient prophets and which you also teach, was completely falsified by Earth-humans and became confused religions, from which also many sects emerged.

26. And that this true teaching was not written down by the old prophets themselves was because they had no means to do so, which was also the case with the last two prophets.

27. Also these two taught only orally, and their disciples were ignorant of reading and writing, with one exception, for with the messenger Jmmanuel there was a scribe named Judas Ischkerioth, who however recorded more incidents than values of the teaching.

28. Since the prophets could not record or write down the teachings themselves, it was not until many decades after their deaths that the possibility arose for scribes to create written records through extremely poor memories and false interpretations as well as badly falsified oral traditions and stories.

29. In the process, these also fell prey to new falsifications through their own interpretations, which were introduced by the scribes into their writings.

30. Thus it could happen that the old prophets, against their will, were unintentionally elevated to the status of founders of religions after their death, although this was in fact absolutely not in their sense.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_708

Billy:

... And that the nonsensical nonsense of the immaculate conception by the 'Holy Spirit of God' should have led to the birth of a Son of God, should then be believed unthinkingly by the Christian believers and become a rock-solid delusion of faith, that is unavoidable. This already ancient, senseless, lying Christian fairy tale story – as it was also told to the faithful in a similar way in various other old religious lies and from which Christianity has taken over the whole fairy tale jumble – was not spread by the prophet or herald Jmmanuel (alias Jesus Christ, who never bore this name), but was invented by some of his disciples only after his flight from the cross, when he was already on his way to India. He was also accompanied there by his twin brother James, his companion and disciple Mary Magdalene, who was devoted to him in deep platonic friendship. Mary Magdalene was never really his lover, but his stepsister, who held him in deep brotherly love, and was fathered by Joseph with his first wife, who came from Magdala on the Sea of Galilee and died giving birth to their daughter Miriam (Mary) Magdalene. Miriam (the mother of Jmmanuel) was also on her way to India with him, but she did not survive the hardships of the journey and died in the north of Pakistan and was also buried there.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_709

Ptaah:

108. At that time, Emperor Nero persecuted the Christians in Rome and had them brutally executed. The Apostle Peter is also said to have been crucified upside down, as forged apostolic writings are supposed to prove.

109. This lie, however, served to sanctify Peter and to stamp the supposedly inverted 'Christ' cross as a symbol of blasphemy and persecution of Christians for the ruler of the time.

110. In Christian circles, the allegedly inverted or upside-down 'cross' was then called the 'Nero Cross'.

111. In truth, the 'cross' was also not one in the sense of a Christ cross, but a natural thick tree branch with a ypsilon-shaped branch fork, as many Roman crucifixion 'crosses' were.

112. Peter was also crucified on such a tree branch ypsilon, erected vertically, like every tree branch ypsilon or hand carved cross on which Earth-humans were crucified.

113. And the sign for Paul's crucifixion was shaped like the Germanic death rune, consequently it looked no different from today's insane and false death rune peace symbol.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_711

Billy:

... consequently the following arises because of the twin brother of Jmmanuel, precisely James, are all around sometimes questions, but I do not want to answer them, which is why I do not want to talk about it. At that time, his twinship was deliberately concealed because James objected to being officially associated with the teaching.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_713

Billy:

... the time when about 2,000 years ago the herald Jmmanuel taught the 'Doctrine of Truth, Doctrine of the Spirit, Doctrine of Life' in Palestine, which his disciples and people made into a basic religion as a result of misunderstanding and misinterpretation, from which the Christian delusion and thus ultimately the entire Christian God delusion and religion delusion arose, which today comprise about 2.3 billion believers in delusional God. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_714

Billy:

... And if the Bible is considered further, then also the herald Jmmanuel – who is slanderously called Jesus, Christ and Son of God by the delusionists – taught other than a crazy prohibition of eating meat. He was neither the Son of God nor a vegetarian or vegan. This, however, in addition to monstrous lies, is also rightly stated in the Bible that he ate fish according to Luke 24:42–43 and also lamb according to Luke 22:8–15. Jmmanuel also distributed fish and bread at the feeding of the alleged '5,000' – where in reality and truth a group of only a few dozen human beings was present and thus not 5,000 earthlings. In fact, only about 250 persons were present at this Sermon on the Mount and the multiplication of fish and bread, and only a few men were present, contrary to the claim of lies in John chapter 6, verse 10 in the New Testament. Mainly there were only women and children who listened to Jmmanuel's explanations and also followed him up the 'mountain', which in reality was only a small hill. So the 5 barley loaves and the 2 fishes, which Jmmanuel had multiplied by his powers of consciousness, were needed for only about 250 human beings resp. women and children as well as for 40 men, but not for their 5,000. Effectively it would have been extremely strange if Jmmanuel had been a vegetarian or vegan. Also in a vision of the apostle Peter, it is explained in the New Testament that Jmmanuel had declared all food to be pure, including the flesh of animals, as can be looked up in Acts 10:10–15. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_715

Ptaah:

50. And with regard to celibacy, which you have often called illogical nonsense – as you also said in this way to Jmmanuel on your return journey with Asket into the past and told him how the fanatical Christian religion as Catholicism and from it celibacy would develop from his work – I also find the term 'nonsense' to be just as uniquely correct for it.

51. According to the information given by Asket, who recorded your conversation with Jmmanuel, he replied to you, after you had explained celibacy to him, that such a request was not only contrary to nature, absolutely nonsensical, despicable, but also such that sexual excesses and misdeeds would inevitably arise from it.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_721

Ptaah:

57. Jmmanuel born 3rd February -2 {B.C.} – 111, 9th May

231. After Jmmanuel's flight from Jerusalem, his entire life history from birth up to his death was spread and later also written down with monstrous falsifications, lies, assertions and calumnies, thus the same happened with Mohammed, whose real name indeed was Abdul Kasim Muhammad Ibn Abdallah.

232. In Jmmanuel's case, only Judas Ischkerioth was well versed in writing, however neither any female nor male member of his discipleship, which included more persons than just the twelve listed in the New Testament, which is full of inventions, falsifications, wrong commemorative-claims, interpretations, and lies.

233. In addition, the individual chapters, assertions/claims and 'recollections', etc. of this work of lies were not written until many years after his flight, by scribes, and moreover were written in a further falsifying wise through their own additional interpretations and partly also attributed to former disciples, who, however, never took part in such writings and thus did not provide any information whatsoever, out of which the work of lies called New Testament then arose.

253. Ancient Palestine was occupied by the Romans at the time of Jmmanuel and had experienced some increase in prosperity under them, even though the native population was directed by a harsh Jewish and religious-oriented rule, which is why it was opportune for the emerging Christians to devise a story of lies of a resurrection of the crucified Jmmanuel and to call him Jesus.

254. This, while southern Arabia was a very backward area at the time of Mohammed, far away from all the cultural and economic centres of the world at that time, where the human beings who were poor, suffered great hardship and were only too happy to believe in and fall prey to a new religion of salvation.

255. If the old scrolls/writings are examined, which are supposed to come from disciples, direct followers and the like as well as from direct or indirect descendants, relatives or from family members of the two proclaimers, then all such alleged written proofs correspond altogether to only sneaky and disingenuous falsifications, wrong memories (only partly true) and wrong renditions as well as very fallible interpretations by the scribes.

256. Truthly, there is not a single such ancient document which would be directly or semi-directly related to a person who had been in direct or indirect contact with Jmmanuel or Mohammed.

257. Claims to the contrary and so-called 'written documentary evidence/proofs' correspond to nothing other than falsifications and lies, because in the case of both Jmmanuel as well as Mohammed, the first written records were made only years later, after their departure, i.e. after their death.

258. And this happened according to very inadequate or erroneous memories, but also through conscious false claims and lies, etc., as a result of which glorifications and fairy tales regarding Jmmanuel and Mohammed also came about.

259. In addition, various direct and indirect followers were fraudulently/lyingly attributed to the two proclaimers, who in truth, however, had nothing to do with them.

260. Even disciples, followers and relatives as well as friends, etc., versed in writing, were attributed to the two proclaimers Jmmanuel and Mohammed at all times, but out of all those mentioned, not a single one was knowledgeable of the script and writing.

261. Judas Ischkerioth was the only one amongst all, who correctly and truthly mastered the script and who was well versed in writing and a disciple close to Jmmanuel.

262. Later he was slandered by falsifiers of writings and by hangers-on, just as the name of Jesus was then also imputed to Jmmanuel.

263. So it must repeatedly be made clear, that everything was the same with Mohammed and Jmmanuel, although concerning Jmmanuel, it was Judas Ischkerioth who was well versed in script/writing and written language and who made the chronicles, from which the Talmud then arose through your and the group members efforts, which in the end had to be correctly translated and revised by our script and language experts/specialists, because the priest Isa Rashid had translated it wrongly according to his Christian deluded belief. 264. This, while all other records concerning the teaching of Jmmanuel and Mohammed were in no way made by any of their disciples or direct or indirect descendants, etc., but by strangers, namely even only a long time after their death.

264. This, while all other records concerning the teaching of Jmmanuel and Mohammed were in no way made by any of their disciples or direct or indirect descendants, etc., but by strangers, namely even only a long time after their death.

265. Truthly, however, in relation to the two of them and their teaching, which on both sides was the 'teaching of the truth, teaching of the spirit, teaching of the life', everything was abysmally misunderstood and boundlessly falsified beyond recognition.

266. This also applies to various other ancient and newly discovered old writings, which likewise do not lead back to any disciples during the lifetime of Jmmanuel or to direct followers or relatives and so forth of Mohammed.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_754

Billy:

... This, then, is the Christian God, as he was imagined by the forebears some 4,500 years ago, although everything written in all religious books – be it Torah, Bible, Koran, etc. – all of which circulate among the faithful as 'Holy Books', but were never taught, brought or written by preachers and prophets, but only centuries after their death by some scribblers. All of these fell back on traditional legends, fairy tales, stories and teachings, which have been falsified, reinterpreted and interspersed with unparalleled falsehoods over and over again, and stylized up to the point of a mere religious rendition of lies. ...

Billy:

... Jmmanuel (Chr.) and Mohammed, whose teachings and work etc. have been abysmally falsified in the course of time and already during their lifetime as well as especially long after their death and statements have been denied, fantasised, attributed to them in their mouths and 'holy books' have been made out of them, which are so full of ashen lies and slander that they cannot be surpassed by the greatest efforts. ...

... The greater part of all alleged 'traditions' correspond in truth to unparalleled untruths, which, as Siddharta himself expressed, correspond to an 'unpardonable shamefulness', just as Jmmanuel (Chr.) and Mohammed expressed themselves in a similar way about all that has been fabricated from their teachings by lies, falsifications, fraud, malice, misunderstanding and fanaticism, etc., and has led to a delusional religion of God. ...

Billy:

Then I have another question, namely whether you found out and now know the name of the Ischwisch that was assigned to Jmmanuel?

Ptaah:

211. Yes, I am now aware of that.

212. It was Helionon, whose name means 'The Sun-like Radiant One'.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_758

Billy:

Christianity, which began with an attempted murder when the Romans crucified Jmmanuel and he allegedly died – if we were to believe the mendacious Bible book account, which is a fraud, because Jmmanuel, alias Jesus, did not die on the cross, but was only mistakenly declared dead, but then, when he awoke in the burial cave, was able to escape with the help of his disciples to Srinagar, where he died at the age of 111.

And just so, with regard to Christianity, this effectively evil has ultimately spread over the entire Earth in the alleged name and according to the will and protection as well as the love of a murderous God and faith in this imaginary fantasy figure. In the process, Christianity, and through its delusion of God in human beings, has wreaked havoc and, like no other religion, has committed murder, war, robber barbarism and rape through crusades, terror, conquests, witch massacres, murderous raids, sex orgy murders, faith ritual murders, but also homo-sexual murders, murders of illegitimate nuns' babies in women's convents, as well as murders of people of other faiths, and so on.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_760

Billy:

... Every religion, every sect and every belief in an imaginary and therefore non-existent God, or otherwise in an alleged higher power that rules and directs everything, lives and exists on the one hand solely from the stupidity – which corresponds to nothing other than non-thinking – of the believing human beings. On the other hand, every religion, every sect and every belief in an imaginary and therefore non-existent God lives on the promise of lies given by religion that God, the Lord, will reward the good behaviour of human beings in any case if they pray diligently to him or if he himself – or in the case of Christianity his alleged son – is worshipped and idolised. This, just as God also shows mercy when people diligently visit the place of worship, or, depending on their faith, beg the pew or press their face into the dirt, and 'hefty' large sums of money are 'donated' as often as possible, so that the religious leaders of all kinds can 'keep themselves healthy' at the expense of the faithful and lead a good life. ...

... the lie of faith that Jmmanuel alias 'Jesus' is supposed to have said: "I am the light of life," which he never said, but: "Truth alone is the light of life." ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_770

Billy:

... Christians have the audacity to declare the human son Jmmanuel as the son of god and to worship him as a 'holy saviour' – a human being who vehemently resisted this, but in vain, for the Christians' delusion of faith is stronger, for they cling with all their might to the delusion of god. ...

... It is true that the Jews are still waiting for their one Messiah, for someone who will save and redeem them from evil and from the evils of the world – but they will wait until all eternity; in vain, because he will never appear, because he corresponds just as much to a fantasy being as god, Allah and Adonai/Jehovah. This was also the case with the first Christians, who originally adhered to Judaism and waited for a 'holy' Messiah, but forgot about him when they met Jmmanuel, whom they simply called 'Jesus' and became believers in the delusion that Jesus was the Messiah prophesied to them by fantasists and liars. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_797

Bermunda:

... All the good teachings of the old prophets were fundamentally falsified by liars and deceivers at all times, even during the lifetime of the bringers of the teachings; but even more so after their demise, because the falsifiers no longer had any inhibitions to interpret everything according to their own meaning and to give free rein to their fantasies. In part, the old prophets themselves were fantasised into gods, such as Jmmanuel (note Billy: Jesus Christ as the Son of God), so that the most diverse religions, sects and false teachings came into being, through which the truth of reality was never able to penetrate. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_811

Billy:

... The original reason was that a hatred arose that became more and more widespread, which was based on the fact that Jmmanuel – Jesus, as he is wrongly called, although he never bore this name – was crucified, or rather that the Jews caused the crucifixion of Christ. This led to the Jews being called 'God-killers', persecuted and murdered, which led to the mass murder of them in the 3rd World War and cost the lives of millions of believers in the Jews. The hatred has maddeningly persisted to this day, even though not a single Jewish-believing human being was involved in the crucifixion of Jmmanuel. Jmmanuel was not crucified by any Jewish believers, but solely by Romans who truthfully executed him because he railed against their religion, the faith of 'polytheistic universalism'. Jmmanuel taught the 'Teaching of the Truth, Teaching of the Creation-energy, Teaching of the Life' which was destructive to the Romans and therefore Jmmanuel was considered an enemy of the state. This is the real truth that must now be told after all, for truthfully, polytheistic universalism was the reason that the Romans were able to spread their empire over the whole of the then known world. Jmmanuel was a danger to the continued existence of the Roman religion and the expansion of the Roman Empire, which is why he was sought out, hunted down and ultimately crucified, consequently the Jews had nothing at all to do with anything. Everything from the very beginning was nothing but an evil invention of the early Christians, who freely invented everything and attributed it to the Jews, whose foremost, the high priests etc., were of course also against the teaching of Jmmanuel and hated him, complained to the supreme Roman and found a hearing, because he could blame the Jews for everything. The real reason for the persecution and crucifixion, however, was the Roman religion, which attacked Jmmanuel and rebelled against it with the teaching of truth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_819

Billy:

... However, we don't need to talk about that any further, but something else, namely especially with regard to the term 'spirit', which is why I am often called or asked. Jmmanuel neither knew nor ever used this term, for he always and exclusively spoke of 'creative power'. The term resp.

the word 'spirit' was only invented later and falsely adopted in the works of religion etc. The word 'spirit' is falsified. The word 'spirit' is falsely derived from the Indo-Germanic language and has been spread all over the world, namely from the term 'gheis', whereby this word means something completely different than 'Creation-energy' resp. 'Creation-power', as Jmmanuel – as allegedly 'Jesus Christ' – truly used it. He never used the word 'spirit', which in its original Indo-Germanic meaning has no connection with 'creative power', but 'gheis' resp. the 'spirit' fabricated from it has the meaning of 'seized, excited, horrified, shuddering, frightened and upset'.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_823

Billy:

Now as for Jmmanuel, his name was really Jmmanuel, but not Jesus as was imputed to him and is still imputed to him today. He was crucified through the fault of 3 high priests as well as that of a small fanatical group of believers. There were about 10 or 12 people, fanatical followers of the high priests. He was accused by them as an alleged 'blasphemer of the truth' and 'blasphemer of the doctrine' of the Jewish religion to the chief of the Roman occupiers, to Pilate. The 3 high priests and the few fanatical followers from the people succeeded in persuading Pilate that Jmmanuel was a criminal against the teaching of 'Adonai' resp. Jod. He. Waw. He. and should therefore be sentenced to death. Pilate did not want this, because he saw no guilt in Jmmanuel, but after the efforts of the 3 priests and their fanatical followers, he finally gave in and shifted the blame for the execution onto the Jewish high priests and their fanatical followers, because the Jewish religious law of that time supposedly demanded this punishment, which however corresponded to a lie of the high priests.

The fact that the majority of the Jewish people actually saw Jmmanuel as a prophesied prophet, that they had been expecting him and waiting for his teaching, corresponded to the facts. The teaching that Jmmanuel taught, however, which was completely different from the one that had been handed down infinitely distorted since ancient times, endangered them and consequently also the high priesthood, because the teaching that Jmmanuel brought threatened to dissolve the faith. Therefore, Jmmanuel was accused with lies of being a 'traitor to doctrine' and sentenced to death. However, in reality and truth, he was not nailed to a cross, but to a long Y-shaped execution stake, on which he fainted deeply after hours and was considered dead, which is why his followers were allowed to take him down and 'lay him to rest' in a cave outside the city walls of Jerusalem. There, however, he was secretly nursed, and when he regained enough strength to walk, he fled from Jerusalem to Damascus, then northwards to the Greek city of Myrrha, and then further eastwards until he reached Kashmir, where he was called Yuz Asaf and where he continued to spread the teaching, which, however, was distorted ad infinitum.

Actually, no one knows today why anti-Judaism, I mean, why hatred of Jews arose. The consequence of Jmmanuel's execution was – what started early on – that the later followers of Jmmanuel accused the whole nation of Jews of murdering him, although only their 2 hands full of fanatics managed to condemn Jmmanuel to death by lies etc. and have him executed. In fact, this is the reason for the hatred against Jewish believers, the people of the Jews, consequently anti-Judaism as an origin is based on a few guilty people who were so fanatically indoctrinated that they themselves were willing to wish death on an innocent person. In this respect, however, this and that is fancifully claimed as the origin of hatred of the Jews. In truth, however, this only arose because there were 3 originators and a few fanatics – i.e. not the people of Israel – who wanted to have Jmmanuel murdered.

But the fact that Jesus of Nazareth was made out of the real name Jmmanuel by crazy people who did not understand him and that they made him the founder of Christianity, actually came only afterwards, when he was already in Kashmir. The fact that many separated themselves from Judaism and turned to the emerging Christianity dragged on for long centuries. The devaluation of the Jewish faith took a long time, as did Christianity, which was able to openly break through to a faith after a very long time.

That Jmmanuel died for all human beings and should have borne their sins to death, this erroneous idea was still Jewish at that time, and indeed by those apostate Jewish believers who misunderstood and misinterpreted all that Jmmanuel brought as a teaching. The believers who misunderstood everything, namely that the teaching that Jmmanuel had taught had been dictated by God Himself, had thus been completely misunderstood by the followers. This was not unusual, however, because the long-established belief in Adonai and his greatness and omnipotence did not allow for anything else. Moreover, Jmmanuel's parents were Jewish, and consequently Jmmanuel was also regarded and judged as a Jew, even though he did not represent the Jewish faith. He was probably understood by a large following as an itinerant rabbi, but his teaching was not, and not even what he actually taught. It was not understood that he wanted to teach the good and the correct throughout his life, that he wanted to break down the old faith structures, and that he did so by gently working towards teaching the human beings about the truth, without openly touching their erroneous belief in God. This was more than necessary at that time, because it was life-threatening to say something against God and, in addition, to think for oneself and not simply to think religiously. Nevertheless, 3 high priests recognised what Jmmanuel was aiming at and what value his teaching contained, which is why they complained to Pilate against him with insults of lies and demanded death.

Jmmanuel was never a believer, so he was not a Jew, but only an Israelite. For over 2000 years Christianity has concealed and distorted this truth, while the Jews have remained with their old conventional faith, because they could not be taught the truth by Jmmanuel and his teachings. It was Jewish believers at that time who were Jmmanuel's followers and who misunderstood and misinterpreted his teaching, consequently they spread the teaching according to their wrong understanding, out of which the Gospel finally arose. The whole thing was misunderstood by Jmmanuel's followers from northern Galilee and spread throughout the world without anyone ever asking about the actual truth, but everything was simply believed without hesitation. This is also why there are so few traces of the religion of Judaism in Christianity. When the followers of Jmmanuel separated from Judaism, it was already at the time when Jmmanuel was brought to the Y-pole. That was fully enough for Jmmanuel's followers to separate from Judaism and curse those who were guilty of Jmmanuel being executed. Unfortunately, the result was that many people incited by the guilty – as was customary at the time, as incitement is still customary today, which quickly creates a mob of roaring fanatics – gawked at the execution, consequently the followers, who were also present in large numbers, insulted the gapers and equated them with the guilty, which was also maintained from then on and generally the believers in the Jews were held innocently liable for Jmmanuel's execution. This was quickly spread everywhere, which also led to the devaluation of the Jewish faith and which resulted in the emerging false faith of Jmmanuel's followers. And it was not long before Jmmanuel was ascribed a sonship with God and his teaching, which was misunderstood, was declared to be the Word of God, whereby the false belief was formed into the Gospel. With this, everything became a faith with such an authoritative character of false correctness that the delusion arose to unconditionally recognise God as the highest authority and one's own actions as His will. This, together with the false letters that were written over a very long period of time again and again by followers of Jmmanuel who knew the Scriptures and by the followers' successors and their descendants, ultimately resulted in the Jesus faith and then the Christian faith and Christianity. ...

...

... Now, once again, the process of the separation of the followers of Jmmanuel from Judaism and the emergence of Christianity is to be mentioned, which was a really creeping process that already began when Jmmanuel was saved not as a dead man but as a fainter. His continued life was interpreted as a 'divine resurrection' and spread among the followers of Jmmanuel, which quickly spread far and wide like wildfire. This was also brought to the notice of the culprits, who sent out henchmen to kill Jmmanuel, but they failed and he escaped to Kashmir. Nevertheless, the followers formed a so-called early church, which dealt with the misunderstood teachings of Jmmanuel and found more followers resp. believers, namely many of those who saw in Jmmanuel the prophet who had been promised to them.

They held on to this idea, while the other believers considered everything to be completely absurd and distanced themselves from it. Jmmanuel himself never gave a confirming answer to the question whether he was this prophet, but this led to the followers seeing in him all the more the prophet they wanted to see, which has remained so until today and he is traded as the 'Son of God'.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_824

Billy:

... This also applies to the more recent past, of which there are partly written 'traditions' which, however, correspond from the first to the last letter to pure fantasies or deliberate falsifications, as for example with regard to religions, since, for example, Jmmanuel is dubbed 'Jesus', and who is supposed to have drunk from a bowl of wine at the 'Last Supper', although he never drank even a drop of wine in his life. It is the same with the alleged lance with which he is said to have been stabbed and his death ascertained. It is true that a Roman lance was used for this purpose, but it corresponds to a lie that it was kept and later seized by the early Christians. The so-called 'Holy Lance' corresponds to a forgery and a fraud beyond compare, just like the so-called 'Grail' and the 'crucifixion nail' and the alleged 'shroud'. In truth, the followers of Jmmanuel, who are called disciples in the Bible – which is anyway a forgery and a work of fantasy, since the whole teaching of Jmmanuel was misunderstood and, moreover, interpreted in a lying way – each had a small bowl for the wine, just as everyone has his own glass today when he sits together with others and drinks something. It was already the case in Jmmanuel's circle that each of his faithful had his own small drinking bowl and carried it with him, because Jmmanuel insisted on it for hygienic reasons and wanted to prevent the contagion of the diseases Oriental smallpox and a lung disease – which became a plague much later, but about which nothing has ever been handed down – and the 'Zaraat' resp. leprosy in his circle. Leprosy was widespread at that time, and Jmmanuel knew very well that it was an infectious disease that was spread by droplet infection and that the pathogen could also be transmitted via a common drinking vessel. Although leprosy required a longer incubation period, which he was well aware of, the safety and health of his followers was important to him, which is why he decreed that each person had their own personal drinking vessel. ...

return to Index

John F. Kennedy assassination

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Assassination\_of\_John\_F.\_Kennedy

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Asket%27s\_Explanations\_-\_Part\_1

Asket:

162. At the time of Khrushchev, a new president will be nominated in America, by the name of John Fitzgerald Kennedy, however, to be murdered in the year 1963, according to secret orders of different groups, and with the American security service, the CIA, having warning information.
163. The day of his death will be November 22nd, 1963 in Dallas, Texas.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_256

Billy:

Is it possible to ask officially today, how things unfolded in relation to John F. Kennedy, the 35th President of the USA, who was murdered in Dallas/Texas on the 22nd of November 1963?

Ptaah:

30. It was a plot of various interest groups, consisting of CIA, FBI, Mafia, pro-Cubans, oil barons and the military-industrial complex.

31. Lee Harvey Oswald and three other men collaborated with the alliance of conspirators, resulting in them insidiously shooting the US President dead.

32. It is true that Oswald the same as the other participants were firing on John Fitzgerald Kennedy, but the actually lethal shot did not originate from Oswald's weapon.

Billy:

The one who was for his part shot by Jack Ruby and in truth called Rubinstein.

Ptaah:

33. That's right.

34. He was a Jewish extremist and also a hired murderer, with the task to shoot Oswald, because the responsible persons of the plot did not trust him and rated him as an element of uncertainty.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_459

Billy:

... And about Fidel Castro: The matter of the assassination of US President Kennedy in 1963 still leads to speculation, also with regard to the fact that Castro was the initiator of the assassination.

Ptaah:

63. And with regard to the assassination of John F. Kennedy, it is to be said that Fidel Castro had nothing whatsoever to do with it.

64. At the time of the assassination, Castro was busy writing a letter to Kennedy and asking him to meet with him to discuss and resolve certain conflicts.

65. Castro was ready to reach out to Kennedy.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_672

Ptaah:

111. Harvey Oswald, who was under the influence of several groups, was not the direct assassin but only one of three other men who were controlled by an interest group involving the CIA, the FBI, the Mafia, a pro-Cuban group, oil barons and the military-industrial complex.

return to Index

King Arthur / Merlin / Guinevere / Knights of the Round Table / Camelot / The Holy Grail / Excalibur

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/King\_Arthur

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Merlin>

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Guinevere>

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Knights\_of\_the\_Round\_Table

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Camelot>

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Holy\_Grail

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Excalibur>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_415

Billy:

There have been some television shows about Christian relics for which I would like to know what is true about them. The first question relates to the legendary Grail, a vessel Joseph of Arimathea is said to have used to catch Jmmanuel's blood at the crucifixion. This goblet is supposed to work wonders and make one immortal as well as heal all sicknesses and evils, etc.

Quetzal:

10. This is absolute nonsense, for neither does such a Grail exist, nor has Joseph of Arimathea caught the blood of Jmmanuel in a vessel.

11. That however no other human being has done either.

Ptaah:

5. This senseless claim was invented fictitiously centuries after the event of the crucifixion, namely by members of a sect that emerged from Jmmanuel's already early falsified teaching.

6. And the fact that no blood of Jmmanuel was caught in a vessel, rather that the little blood that Jmmanuel lost dripped to the ground and seeped away, is perfectly certain, because this was recorded in our annals by the personality of that time Gabriel, the procreating father of Jmmanuel.

7. He was direct eyewitness of the real event.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_469

Billy:

... And all the catastrophes that have occurred worldwide and that have been triggered and brought about by humanity on earth have only happened because the principle of truth, and thus also the creative laws and commandments, have been violated instead of following the truly wise path of effective truth and the teaching of the true prophets, which has been handed down from primeval times as the spiritual teaching, or rather as the 'teaching of truth', 'teaching of the spirit', 'teaching of life'. And therefore this truth is also given in the book 'Goblet of the Truth', of which a first part, namely the teaching of Enoch, was also called 'Cauldron of Life' by the druid prince Myrddin alias Merlin and has nothing to do with the alleged 'Grail' of Christianity, which is based only on lies and deceit, never existed and in which therefore also the blood of Jmmanuel (Jesus) was not caught by Joseph of Arimathaia at his crucifixion. The real Grail existed only as a holy place, and in the 'Cauldron of Life' was locked up the document, a document of the teaching of the true prophet Enoch from the seven-row of the Nokodemion. The document was given as a copy of the Plejarin Kerikwena (The Triple Goddess) to the druid Myrddin (The Laughing One), later commonly called 'Merlin'. Myrddin poured the copy into the chalice that became known as the 'Cauldron of Life', and Christian adulteration was used to make the 'Grail', but this is not in any way connected to it, because the 'Grail' was a place with a spring, surrounded by trees and plants, where the druids used to do their meditations. And this Christian Grail adulteration has been handed down from its origin to the present day, but again in another monstrous adulteration which claims that it is the cup or 'Grail' of Jmmanuel (Jesus) from which Jmmanuel and his disciples drank at Holy Communion and in which Jmmanuel's blood was collected at the crucifixion by Joseph of Arimathaia. This monstrous lie and falsification of the truth also applies to the so-called 'Holy Lance' with which Jmmanuel (Jesus) was stabbed in the loins by a Roman mercenary on the cross to ascertain his death. And since this lance has been holy ever since, and since it also contains immense power, which is supposed to make rulers out of the greedy for power, it is highly honoured. In truth, however, this lance never touched Jmmanuel's loin, for it is a Christian forgery that was not discovered until the eighth century AD. It is also the so-called 'Turin Shroud', which is supposed to show Jmmanuel's (Jesus') image, but is in fact the death image of an Italian merchant named Caesar Canova, and was made by his brother Luciano Canova, who studied alchemy. Myrddin resp. Merlin tried to teach the teachings of Enoch through his influence with King Arthur resp. Arthur, who was his protégé and pupil, and with the pagan knights of the 'Round Table' (Knights of the Round Table), but failed miserably, because the fierce clan leader Arthur and his pagan knights could not get along with the teaching. So Arthur took possession of the sealed 'Cauldron of Life' and sank it into the sea by himself.

Ptaah:

34. You have also asked Florena to clarify certain things concerning King Arthur and the Druid Prince Merlin.

35. In my father's Sfath records, which he kept about my grandfather Ezekeel ('The Mediator' note Billy), I found something that might interest you, and it is this:

36. King Arthur, or Artus, king of the Celts, contrary to today's depiction of having been a hero or the like, was absolutely not a courtly king in shining armour, nor a good-hearted and noble hero. King Artus was a fierce sixth-century clan leader, a 'war king', who led his pagan warriors in bloody battles and raids. He was a slaughterer and kept the name the 'Boar of Cornwall'.

37. His 'knights' truly were bloodthirsty murderous thugs as you say.

38. Artus himself was Merlin's protégé, a pupil of Merlin the druid, for seven years.

39. Arthur, born 4.1.469, died 11.8.509 at the Battle of the Camlann (crooked valley) in a duel with his nephew, the cunning prince Medraut, was a brutal and stubborn person, for whom a human life meant very little or nothing.

40. Arthur's wife was Gwynhwyfara, Guanhamara, or Guinevere. ('White spirit' – 'Shining spirit' Note: Billy).

41. His father was Uther Tudur, carrying the surname Pendragon, who was already married and impregnated another woman in a most insidious manner and thus procreated Arthur. Arthur's mother was Ygerna, who was also married and was the wife of Prince Gorlois. (Actually the liberal Celtic marriage laws did not overvalue lifelong physical fidelity. Thus, while Gorlois, the Cornic duke was deceived and cheated by the fraud, King Uther and Queen Ygerna could engage in a sexual act.)

42. The story goes like this:

43. Arthur's father, Uther Tudur Pendragon, fell in love with Queen Ygerna of Cornwall, the young and beautiful wife of Gorlois, Duke and Prince of Cornwall.

44. Ygerna, however, was faithful to her husband, so Uther Pendragon sought the support of Merlin and devised an intrigue to abduct the Queen of Cornwall and seduce her.

45. Merlin lured Gorlois away from his castle on a pretext in order for Uther Pendragon to secretly snatch Ygerna at night and bring her to Tintagel. A confidante of Merlin who was also a servant to the Queen Ygerna of Cornwall then administered a drug to her, and she reached a hallucinogenic and will-less state.

46. Ygerna was kidnapped from the castle and taken to a certain place where Uther Tudur Pendragon and several male and female druids were already assembled under Merlin's leadership.

47. Inside the circle they formed, Uther and the drugged (will-less) Ygerna performed the procreation. From their union, Arthur/Artus/Arthus was born on the 4th of January 469.

48. Uther Tudur did not leave that matter to rest for long – the very same night he let Ygerna's prince consort Gorlois be killed by his own bloodthirsty knights. The plan he devised with Merlin thus ended with complete success, Ygerna's husband now out of the way.

49. When Gorlois's dead body was returned to Tintagel, Ygerna was already back home, but was now made pregnant by Uther Tudur and was still highly intoxicated by the drug and did not realize what had really happened, since she only later learned everything.

50. The sword 'Caladwllch', spoken 'Caladfluch' (in German) = 'sparkling sword', because it was emitting sparkling or lightning-like blazes/radiance = later "Cliburn" and falsified to 'Excalibur' in ecclesiastical Latin = was a light (lightweight) beamweapon in the form of a sword; it was forged and finished on the island of Avalon under the surveillance and the involvement of the Plejarin Keridwena, a sister of my grandfather Ezekeel.

51. Keridwena gave it as a gift to Merlin, who later handed it to Arthur, who then fought many bloody battles with it.

52. All of Keridwena's efforts to regain possession of the sword failed because it had been abused.

53. Hence, she was very angry with Merlin but could not persuade him to demand Arthur's sword back and return it to her.

54. It was only after Arthur's death that the sword was reclaimed by Merlin and returned to the Plejarin Keridwena, after which she left Earth.

55. She had already angrily ceased contact with Merlin at the time when Arthur committed his first murderous deeds with the sword.

56. At Dinas Bran = 'Castle of Bran' Merlin personally stayed.

57. Dinas Bran Valley was located in the Cymru region where Merlin (the one with great knowledge) was also working.

58. Merlin's real name was Myrddin ('the laughing one').

59. Merlin, the druid of Camelot received his initiation when he was just nine years old.

60. However, he was not a sorcerer respectively a magician, as Christianity had attributed to him, but a druid widely taught in various fields of knowledge.

61. He was also a bard, a doctor, a teacher, a prophet, a historian and ultimately the king and prince of druids of the Demetier tribe from South Wales.

62. He taught in the West/Occident on Plejarin Keridwena's (the triple goddess, Billy's note) instructions and had great visionary skills based on his practiced meditations.

63. Merlin's father was King Morvryn, and his mother was a daughter of the King of the Demetier.

64. Merlin's father was also a visionary, and these visionary capabilities led to the evil legend within the Christian world that Merlin was a 'scion of the devil', a magician, a sorcerer.

65. The naïveté and simplicity of the Christian interpretation held that Merlin and his father's paranormal abilities meant that they were satanical, and that father and son were allied with the devil and fathered by him.

66. Merlin was born on the 1st May, 449; he also picked up the sword and fought with it, and he used his skills in military operations and as Arthur's military advisor, contrary to the instruction and wishes of the Plejaren Keridwena, however without becoming morally bankrupt.

67. Merlin also fought with his sword against the warlike Christian intruders who stole into the country through murder and arson, killing off or suppressing the population, to spread the Christian faith, conquer the land and destroy Celtic philosophy and beliefs.

68. After his last fight, when he was 66 years old in year 515, at the lost battle at Arfderryd, Merlin fled and settled down in a remote area in the wilderness of Caledonia in the Cheviot Hills, where he lived as Myrddin Wyllt (Merlin in the wilderness).

69. He lived there for some time and then returned to his hometown, where an old female druid named Niniane (also known as Nimue) joined him and was a good friend to him. When he felt his death approaching, she finally accompanied Merlin on Ynys Enlli (Bardsey Island), which he had chosen as his death place.

70. He died there in the arms of the old druid, on the 14th of June 542 at the age of 93, and he was buried by the wise woman in a rocky cave according to his wishes.

71. The Knights of the Round Table were malignant, bloody knights and not heroes, as they are presented today.

72. Merlin, being a seer, made prophetic and foresighted statements of which his dragon prophecy made at Dinas Emrys (Fortress of Emrys or Ambrosius respectively) is very well known, besides those which he made in the wilderness of Caledonia.

73. Merlin was already contacted in the year 466 by the Plejarin Keridwena, a sister of my grandfather Ezekeel ('The Mediator'), as I said before.

74. This took place after the High Council decided to convey Henoch's teachings to Merlin, which he was to disseminate in order to contain the barbarism of the Celts so that they would refrain from barbarity and their bloody battles.

75. Merlin, being a Celtic druid, was chosen because the High Council hoped that with his help, King Arthur, who, according to a foresight was to be born on 4th January 469, would transform Henoch's teachings of love, peace, harmony and the freedom and equality for all human beings into reality.

76. The real reason for this undertaking was the Celtic philosophy, which in many ways parallels the teachings of Henoah, whose wise, effective and widespread approach should be implemented to make the Celts give up their degenerated behaviour of barbaric killings and fighting battles.

77. Merlin received a copy of Henoah's teachings, being the first part of the "Goblet of Truth" written on Earth, memorized it and then locked and sealed it in a cauldron.

78. This cauldron was no vessel made of gold but of bronze and decorated with a ruby the size of a cherry, and three small semi-precious stones – rose quartz – were placed in the shape of a triangle, and in its centre the ruby was attached.

79. The 33-centimeter wide cauldron was meant to collect water from a spring at the grail.

80. The grail itself was a sacred place of a spring, usually located on a mountain that the Celts considered a nature sanctuary, and where also a druid's grove was erected that was surrounded by trees and other plants, where the druids meditated in deep consciousness-related interconnection with water, the earth and plants as well as with inexhaustibility of life.

81. These holy places, which have been called the grail, were intended as places of meditation for the druids, and they existed in many places, wherever druids lived and fulfilled their duties.

82. But at the place with the water source, where also Merlin meditated, a vessel was linked to the well, known as the "Cauldron of Abundance", which captured the water located at the divine Ceridwen Spring.

83. Merlin, the druid from Camelot, removed the "Cauldron of Abundance" from its place and replaced it with another vessel, because he put a copy of Henoah's teaching into the cauldron which he and all druids then called the "Cauldron of Life."

84. Merlin presented this cauldron to his protégé and pupil Arthur when he was 16 years old in year 485, after Merlin had thoroughly instructed Arthur and his "knighthood" in Henoah's teaching, and after Arthur had fought his first battle against Germanic invaders led by the chief Aelle.

85. But Arthur and his bloody knights thirsted for blood and vengeance, and they strictly rejected the teachings because they did not want to give up killing and conquest, whereby Arthur thus became very upset and angry at Merlin and cast the gift of the "Cauldron of Life" into the sea with his own hands, although he later reconciled with Merlin again.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_471

Billy:

... I was asked some questions, especially about Keridwena, the sister of your grandfather Ezekeel. Why was she chosen for the task of teaching Merlin the teachings of Enoch? Was she an Ischrisch, and why did she make a radiant sword for Merlin, the Excalibur respectively Caladwylch, which he gave to his disciple King Arthur, who then killed with it in bloody battles? And what role did Merlin play in the murder of King Gorlis of Tintangel?

Ptaah:

131. Keridwena was not an Ischrisch, but a teacher with regard to some activities, and also a teacher with regard to Enoch's teaching.

132. This teaching activity was decisive in that she was chosen for the task of teaching Merlin in the teaching of Enoch, who, however, did not know that Keridwena was not an Earth woman but a Plejarin.

133. She fell in love with Merlin and granted him various wishes, because he saw on various occasions that she had abilities far beyond anything he could explain as a druid.

134. One such wish was also the making of the Excalibur.

135. Furthermore, Keridwena was very fond of Merlin because he did a lot of good for the human beings and was wise to a great extent.

136. Keridwena also told him many things of the future, which she had fathomed through foresight.

137. But Merlin then used these to ascribe them to himself and to mention them as prophecies.

138. Unfortunately, however, Merlin was often fickle, which is why he also did things that went against good, which saddened and even enraged Keridwena, so that she finally ended the secret relationship with Merlin – which nobody really knew anything about.

139. When Keridwena was able to wield the Excalibur again after the death of King Arthur, she destroyed it and returned to Erra.

Billy:

And the murder of King Gorlis, what role did Merlin play in that?

Ptaah:

140. The assassination was not in his mind.

141. The kidnappers murdered the king of their own accord, because he threatened them with the death penalty and also stood up to them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_688

Billy:

... Time and again it is said on television - just recently again - that Jmmanuel alias Jesus drank wine from a chalice together with the disciples during the so-called 'Last Supper', whereby this must have been very valuable. This chalice is said to have been preserved, but has disappeared to this day. It is assumed to have been found in various places in Jerusalem, but also in Greece, France, Spain and England, where it is said to have been taken. The house where the Last Supper was held, which consisted only of bread, fruit and wine, as I know, belonged to a wealthy Jew, which is why it is also assumed that the 'chalice' was very valuable. For my part, however, I know that Jmmanuel did not think much of ostentation and therefore also avoided ostentatious drinking vessels, jewelery and anything of value, for he was very modest in every respect. I also know that he and his disciples always carried their own small drinking pouches made of animal skins to quench their thirst on the way, while - when they were invited to a house - they took their libations from simple drinking bowls. As your father Sfath once explained to me, it was also like this at the evening meal, where small drinking bowls made of alabaster were used, which were about 10–12 centimeters in diameter and about 4 centimeters deep. Sfath once showed me one such drinking bowl that he received from his great-grandfather and cherished because it came from Jmmanuel's group, he assured me.

Ptaah:

64. This small bowl is now in my possession, and indeed only such small drinking bowls made of alabaster were used at the Lord's Supper.

65. That a chalice was used does not even correspond to a legend, but to an effective lie, which was already thought up and spread by early Christians.

66. The truth is that the drinking bowls were alabaster bowls made in Italy in 'Volaterrae' and brought by the Roman occupiers to Jerusalem and also to all Roman-occupied territories.

67. This already happened when Jerusalem was conquered by the Romans in 63 BC.

68. At that time the alabaster drinking bowls were very popular with the Romans - although they were not of great value - and were also popularly used in small groups and circles in the occupied regions, so also by Jmmanuel and his disciples.

Billy:

And how then did the lie that a cup was used in the Lord's Supper come about?

Ptaah:

69. About the lie that when Jmmanuel was hanging on the cross, a cup was used to catch his blood, which never really happened.

70. This tall tale led to the Grail legend, which is still circulating all over the world, also because in the course of time various valuable chalices were fraudulently produced, which were given the nimbus 'chalice of the Last Supper and chalice of the Blood ', whereby two of these fraudulent chalices were produced in Europe.

Billy:

Sfath already explained this to me, as well as another Grail story, though the actual Grail is a place with a source. ...

Billy:

Good, then my question about 'Volaterrae', was that a town?

Ptaah:

72. It was a town in Italy called 'Volaterrae' in Latin, which is now in the province of Pisa, region of Tuscany, and is called 'Volterra' and corresponds to a town of about 10,000 inhabitants.

73. It is located about 50 kilometers south of Pisa and about 50 kilometers from the Mediterranean Sea. ...

77. Volterra is also still a center for alabaster processing, as it was in the 4th century BC, when the town was formed by the union of several small Etruscan settlements dating back to the 7th century BC.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_794

Billy:

... You have now, after all, dealt intensively with the Christian religion and with the extent to which it is about truth or a fraud, concerning the alleged Grail and the Spear, which are supposedly connected with Jmmanuel alias Jesus Christ and which are today regarded and adored as sacred paraphernalia.

Bermunda:

Research, which has also involved time travel, clearly proved that the two objects have no connection whatsoever with what is claimed regarding what they are said to have served. Neither of the objects is therefore in any way connected with Jmmanuel alias Jesus Christ. The claims are based on fraud, lies and deceit, that is clear.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_802

Billy:

... But there are other things, such as that various places are mentioned where the so-called 'grail' or the 'chalice' is supposed to exist and be kept, from which Jmmanuel drank wine at the so-called Last Supper. But as it is, mainly with Christians, they are lied to and deceived, especially with alleged relics that are attributed to Jmmanuel – alias Jesus, as he was never actually called. So it is with the alleged grail or chalice, which he never had in his hand, just as he also never drank wine, because he did not like this drink. The 'grail' or 'cup' used in the circle of his disciples at that time was a simple stone bowl, but the disciple Philip, who was somewhat clumsily inclined, dropped it while taking his meal and broke it into 3 pieces, consequently the broken drinking bowl was discarded. So, since Jmmanuel did not drink wine because he did not like it and did not drink any throughout his life, he never had the drinking bowl in his hand, so the lie about the 'grail' or 'chalice' already begins there, which was followed by the deception and is maintained until today that the 'grail' or 'chalice' is kept there or thereabouts. The stupid believers are eager to take the nonsense of lies and fraud at face value and swear that they have seen the 'real' 'grail' or 'chalice' there and then. This is because they have just been shown an object of deception – which will also continue to be so – because it is precisely the delusional belief in the earthlings that displaces all logic, reason and understanding, that he is so caught up in his delusion of belief that he remains stupid and thus cannot think for himself.

Ptaah:

What you are saying is what my daughter Semjase told me, for she was anxious to connect you with Jmmanuel ...

Billy:

... yes she was, and thanks to her I know that there never was a 'grail' or 'chalice' that Jmmanuel held in his hand or drank from. Leonardo da Vinci then also understood this after some explanations, when he created the painting 'Last Supper' on behalf of Duke Sforza and just left out the alleged 'grail' or 'chalice'.

return to Index

King Tut murder

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tutankhamun#Cause\_of\_death

see also Nefertiti double

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_279

Billy:

He was elevated to Pharaoh at the age of nine and then suddenly died a few years later. The question relates to what he died of and how old he really was then. I am also interested in who his real parents were.

Ptaah:

47. Tutanchamun did not die a natural death because, on the one hand, at the age of 18 years, three months and two days, he suffered a malignantly inflicted severe fracture of his leg, which led to a fatal inflammation called blood poisoning.

48. The father of the child king was Akhenaten or Amenophis IV, who was also his father-in-law, since Tutankhamun married a daughter of Akhenaten, who in turn was his sister.

49. Tutankhamun's mother was Nefertiti, Akhenaton's or Amenophis IV's wife.

50. Nefertiti was the second mother.

Billy:

Why was Tutankhamun murdered? Second mother probably means stepmother.

Ptaah:

51. Yes.

52. The author of the murder was Haremhab, who was Tutankhamun's supreme lord leader and leading minister.

53. His mind and aspirations were to become the ruler of Egypt himself, which he actually succeeded in doing after Tutankhamun's assassination, so that he inherited the murdered man and, as the last ruler of the 18th dynasty, laid the foundations for Egypt's rebirth.

54. He attained the throne by marrying a sister of Nefertiti.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_488

Billy:

... The last time I watched a program on television, it was claimed that scientists had found out that Tut-anch-Amon had died of malaria. But you gave another explanation for this, which is not the same as what was shown in a film on television.

Ptaah:

42. Tut-anch-Amon did not die of malaria, but of a severe leg fracture that was maliciously inflicted on him, causing a protracted inflammation of the blood, which you call blood poisoning.

43. But this was only the indirect cause of his death, because it was caused by a 27 centimetre long metal needle being driven through his left eye into his brain, killing him respectively murdering him.

44. That he suffered from malaria, that is certainly correct, but he also had various other ailments, such as a bone disease, etc.

return to Index

Las Lomas UFO (1997 Mexico City)

<http://lamat-realidad-alterna.blogspot.com/2018/03/the-ufo-las-lomas-mexico-city-august-6.html>
http://www.noufors.com/Mexico\_City\_1997\_ufo\_video.html
<http://www.ufoevidence.org/Cases/CaseSubarticle.asp?ID=865>
<http://www.ufoevidence.org/Cases/CaseSubarticle.asp?ID=866>
<https://www.dailymotion.com/video/xbabfk>
https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_264

Billy:

The so-called Lomas film was made in Mexico. What do you know about it or do you know which group of extraterrestrials is connected with it?

Ptaah:

85. I am neither familiar with such a film nor do I understand your question about aliens who are supposed to be connected to it.

86. Nor can we concern ourselves with all things that take place on Earth.

Billy:

But I thought you were watching all the extraterrestrial objects that fly into earthly space and buzz around. The Lomas film shows a flying disc turning on its own axis, flying over a city and sometimes disappearing behind skyscrapers.

Ptaah:

87. None of this is known to us.

88. But as I said, we cannot take care of all things that happen on Earth.

Billy:

And, could you not clarify that?

Ptaah:

89. I do not see any sense in it, maybe later.

Billy:

Then don't. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_328

Ptaah:

126. This video, like others of the same or similar kind, are also fakes made on computers.

127. The same is true for the Mexico video, on which a large disc-shaped object can be seen, which, coming from the left, flies to the right with a slow oscillating movement and disappears behind a high-rise building.

128. The witnesses who have appeared and are still appearing, who claim to have seen the object, are influenced by the press and television, so their claims have no value whatsoever and all the testimonies given are based only on suggestive influences and imaginations ...

return to Index

Library of Alexandria

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Library\_of\_Alexandria

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_498

Billy:

Time and again, especially recently, I am asked about the library of Alexandria, which was destroyed by a major fire and in which about 800,000 valuable scrolls with scientific records were burnt. Many of the writings were snatched by the Vatican before the library was maliciously set on fire. What can you say about it?

Ptaah:

7. As you know, Alexandria's library was the largest with the most handwritten records at that time.

8. In fact, it housed around 800,000 very valuable scientific scrolls.

9. The scientific handwritings, however, fell victim to an unprecedented wave of destruction during antiquity.
10. Everything was destroyed in the 4th century by the delusion of the Christianity.
11. This, when the aim was to destroy everything that did not fit into the Christian belief.
12. These Christian belief-delusion-based destructions took not only place regarding the library of Alexandria in ancient Egypt, but also everywhere in Asia Minor, in the direct Roman Empire and in Greece etc., where as a whole all libraries were destroyed and burnt down.
13. In Rome alone there were about 30 public bibliothecas and a very large number of private libraries and collections of writings which fell victim to Christian delusion.
14. That which altogether was completely destroyed in wide sections of Rome, Asia Minor and Greece, and so forth, according to our annals, amounts to about 1,341,700 natural science scrolls.
15. Many of these hand-written texts described very valuable medical cognitions and techniques, besides actual technical inventions, which, if these records and plans had been preserved, would have led to the human beings of Earth conquering the outer space and settling on other planets already more than 200 years ago.
16. Furthermore, by the Christian destroyers 2,828,300 scrolls with political, literary and poetic written works were eliminated or stolen and incorporated into the new Christian Church.
17. All the works of antique academics and masters thus disappeared from public knowledge and fell into oblivion.
18. Everything disappeared as if it had never existed and just as if the Earth-humans no longer knew how to use their thoughts, no longer gained cognitions, and no longer made inventions.
19. And all this only because the mighty of the new Christian Church let destroy, burn and eliminate everything that could not be reconciled with their Christian belief-delusion.
20. Thus not only were all bibliothecas, collections and libraries of non-Christian culture radically made to disappear, but also all non-Christian temples, synagogues, houses of God and houses of prayer were declared blasphemous and were just as completely destroyed as all the valuable old handwritings with all the very important notes for the progress and the development of the Earth-humans.
21. The scrolls were not only berated as godless and blasphemous, but it was also forbidden under severe punishments to read the recorded texts.
22. Even the private homes were searched by the Christian henchmen, and if any scrolls were found during the search, they were burned publicly, and their owners held to account in an evil way.
23. This also happened in the year 367 AD in Alexandria, when the local bishop Athanasius ordered such raids on houses, whereby bloody punishments were also carried out for non-Christian owners of writings, which partly also cost human lives.
24. In the year 391 A.D. in Alexandria even a deadly hunt against owners of non-Christian writings was brought into being, to which a larger number of human beings fell victim.
25. In the year 409 A.D. Emperor Constantine issued a decree by which mathematical scientists were also punished with the death of incineration if they did not themselves publicly burn their mathematical notes and they did not renounce mathematics.
26. Ultimately, only a few writings were preserved that were well hidden at the risk of the owners' lives.
27. It was not until the 15th century that they were rediscovered, and it was not even half a percent of what originally existed of what was destroyed by the Christian belief-delusion and belief-fanaticism.
28. But also the remaining writings suffered a defeat, because the Christian fanatics were of course still concerned about destroying the ancient, important knowledge they regarded as contrary to the Christian belief-delusion.

Billy:

The mighty ones of the new Christian Church feared the knowledge recorded in the scrolls, like the plague and the devil, because they knew very well that their entire web of lies of their new religion would collapse like a house of cards, as a result of the public disclosure of all the important notes. All the cognitions captured in the writings, etc., were effective explosives for the elite of the new Church, which would have blown up their entire web of lies. Therefore, the old writings of antiquity found back again were then also further destroyed, however no longer burned, because at that time the parchment was still expensive. Thus, the scrolls were abusively overwritten by monks in monasteries and painted with images of saints etc., so that the old handwritings became unrecognizable. But I wonder why the antique writings reappeared at that time in the 15th century and why the antique knowledge could not be completely destroyed by the Christian fanatics and henchmen and by the power-hungry of the new Church? I think it can only be because the Islam emerged as a new and powerful religion. Due to its belief, the writings that could still be found in relation to the antique knowledge must have been secured like a golden treasure, namely at that time when Alexandria was conquered by the Orientals.

Ptaah:

29. The reason for this was indeed because of Islam, which appeared as another strong religion.

30. When Alexandria was conquered, it was in the year 642 AD. Chr., then all still findable writings of the antique knowledge were safeguarded.

31. The knowledge still found, however, was studied and evaluated throughout the Orient, consequently a tremendous developmental boost emerged, through which the knowledge for centuries exceeded that of Europe and thus the knowledge of Europeans by far.

32. It was no earlier than the Crusaders who were able to get hold of the antique knowledge again and unstoppably brought it to Europe as knowledge forbidden by the Church, partly together with what had already been common in Rome and Greece but was destroyed by the Christian belief-delusion of the Church-mighty.

return to Index

Lindbergh Baby kidnapping

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lindbergh\_kidnapping

<https://www.fbi.gov/history/famous-cases/lindbergh-kidnapping>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_247

Billy:

... What I want to know is whether the German American immigrant Bruno Richard Hauptmann was actually the murderer of the Lindbergh child and whether he actually kidnapped it, as has been claimed since that event. Hauptmann denied until his death on the electric chair on the 3rd of April 1936, that he was guilty and that he had never seen Lindbergh, his child or his house, etc. ...

Ptaah:

8. Bruno Richard Hauptmann, the American immigrant from Germany, rightly asserted his innocence until his execution.

9. He was indeed innocent, although a large part of the blackmailed ransom was found with him.

10. His assertion that he had the money in custody only for an acquaintance, who had given it to him in faithful hands, was true in every detail.

11. This acquaintance of Hauptmann was in cahoots with Lindbergh and received a lot of money from him to give the alleged blackmail money to Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the reason that it could later be found with him.

12. This ensured that Bruno Richard Hauptmann could be arrested and charged as a child abductor and child murderer as a result of the falsified charge material, which actually happened after Hauptmann had been denounced.

13. Thus, everything contributed to his being sentenced to death and executed, in deliberate guilt of the American hero Lindbergh, who had the actual or actual death sentence. the real murderess of his child, and he consciously saved her from arrest and from the electric chair by inventing a deceitful and infamous intrigue against Bruno Richard Hauptmann, with the lie that his child had been kidnapped while in reality it had already been murdered and hidden in the vicinity of the Lindbergh House.

14. The murderess was Lindbergh's former fiancée Elisabeth Morrow, whom he suddenly spurned one day because he liked her sister Ann Morrow better, with whom he subsequently became engaged and married her.

15. Elisabeth Morrow, Lindbergh's former fiancée, could not cope with this, as a result of which she increasingly terrorized the entire Lindbergh House and its inhabitants with terrible jealousy scenes; and when the Lindbergh baby was born of her sister Ann, she tried to kill her sister by all means.

16. Lindbergh and his wife Ann knew this, so they never left the child unattended with Elisabeth Morrow.

17. One day, however, Lindbergh and his wife Ann were forced to leave without being able to take their child with them or give it to someone else's care, leaving it with Elisabeth Morrow.

18. When Lindbergh and his wife Ann returned home, they were received by a distraught Elisabeth Morrow, who sobbed and confessed that she had murdered the child in a fit of jealousy by hitting her head on the tiles, shattering his skull.

19. As a result of Lindbergh's earlier relationship with Elisabeth and the fact that his feelings for her had still not gone out and that she was also his sister-in-law, who was also loved by Sister Ann, Lindbergh's wife, the three made a joint decision to cover up the murder.

20. It was decided, in common understanding, that Lindbergh, in addition to his lawfully wedded wife Ann, would in future recognise and treat Elisabeth as his wife, as requested by Elisabeth – secretly, of course – after which the police would be alerted and the lie spread that the child had been abducted, but had already been hidden by his own father in the vicinity of her home.

21. The next consequence was Lindbergh's own intrigue, which for the time being was directed against someone unknown.

22. Only through the acquaintance of Bruno Richard Hauptmann did Lindbergh then fall for the German-born immigrant, who was a welcome victim for Lindbergh in order not to bring his Elisabeth into suspicion.

23. So he devised a blackmail story together with his friend who was in bondage to him and to whom he gave a lot of money, handed over the alleged blackmail money to the friend and ensured that Bruno Richard Hauptmann got into disrepute and suspicion, while the friend handed over the false blackmail money to Hauptmann for faithful storage, the end of which took place on the electric chair.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_798

Billy:

... Therefore, I think we should turn to the other matter, namely that of the child Charly, who was murdered in the 1930s. This is what is often talked about on television and what really happened back then. I know from Sfath, who clarified everything in detail at the time, that Richard Hauptmann, who was sentenced to death and executed in the electric chair, was innocent of the alleged child abduction and the murder of Charly Lindbergh. But Sfath forbade me – I do not know why – to speak openly about what really concerned the connections of the whole murder story until 60 years after the event. However, I once discussed the whole thing with one of you, but I do not remember with whom. What had actually happened, however, still concerns many people today who still do not know that it was a matter based on a far-reaching conspiracy which Lindbergh deliberately brought into the world and which he financed with very horrendous sums of money. Now I want to say what Sfath found out at that time, and since we are now in the year 2022, i.e. about 90 years have passed since the event, it should be made clear what Sfath had to say about the Charly Lindbergh murder and what he found out, namely because he personally 'heckled' Lindbergh and put him under the 'magnifying glass', so that the facts could be learned from the best source. It turned out that the truth of the 'child abduction' was actually quite different from what the conspiracy had invented and that an innocent man had to lose his life because Lindbergh had lied to make it appear that everything had happened as he himself had lied. So it is perfectly certain – because Sfath has clarified everything down to the last detail with his infallible possibilities – that it was Lindbergh himself who had Charly murdered, consequently he himself is to be called the murderer of his own son.

That Lindbergh himself wanted to have his little son out of the world, consequently he animated his mistress Elisabeth Morrow as a murderess, who then smashed the skull of little Charly, who was not even 2 years old, but who lived for minutes before he became dead – this, however, was unintentionally observed by the nanny Betty Gow when she entered the room, with whom, by the way, Lindbergh also had a close intimate relationship, as with various other women. What happened at that time shook practically the whole of America, although Lindbergh was well calculated to blame the crime on an innocent man. The whole murder of the boy was based on the fact that Lindbergh did not want a son who was considered a eugenicist or 'noble born', but who was then handicapped, which was not 'noble', as Lindbergh thought. This was reason enough for him to kill his son or have him killed by his mistress.

He was particularly uncomfortable with the whole thing of his disabled son because he was world-famous as a circumnavigator and father, consequently a disabled son would have damaged his reputation, or so he thought. So Lindbergh did not want Charly, his son, to become a care case, because that would have been a disgrace for Lindbergh, in his opinion. However, he mentally dealt with the 'disgrace' of his disabled child shortly after his birth, when it was clear that the child would become a hopeless foster child. He confessed this to Sfath personally when Lindbergh was cornered by him and no evasion of his lies could help him. So he confessed that he was the actual perpetrator of the murder, which took place in the nursery in front of the eyes of the nursemaid Betty Gow, although this young woman was silenced by money, which later nevertheless ended in a poison murder, because Lindbergh was constantly afraid that Betty Gow might speak after all.

To prevent this from happening, Lindbergh hired an assassin who pursued the nanny and finally murdered her with poisoned cake.

Charles Lindbergh's son, who was barely 2 years old, suffered from rickets, which caused the 'English disease' as a result of vitamin D deficiency disorders or a disorder of the bone metabolism, which led to various complaints. In addition, it was largely concealed that the boy also suffered from frequent epileptic seizures, which also did not suit his father. Lindbergh, by the way, was an unscrupulous man who – contrary to false justifications by book writers, other followers etc. who wanted to 'clear' him with lies and deceit and idolised him, which still happens today – on the one hand carried out espionage in Germany from the US embassy, but was also a genuine NAZI and anti-Semite. Lindbergh was indeed an unscrupulous man, who on the one hand worked for the USA, but at the same time was a NAZI and anti-Semite and profited from the fact that he was playing a double game and was heavily remunerated for it. But as far as his son was concerned, who was really ill and suffered not only from rickets but also from epilepsy, as he was also slightly limited in his consciousness, which was usually concealed, this caused Lindbergh to have Elisabeth Morrow smash Charly's skull in – which this woman actually did because she was in bondage to Lindbergh. Then, finally, to make sure that the young woman Betty Gow kept quiet about what she had seen, he had an assassin murder her in the course of time by sending her – I do not know how and where – pastries soaked in a poisonous detergent or something.

Lindbergh also arranged everything himself, such as arranging a ladder big enough to reach the nursery window, thus faking a kidnapping even though Charly was already dead and taken out of the house.

Lindbergh managed this with the help of two criminals, but he had to pay them a lot of money. He then used this to tell a lie that he had to pay this as a ransom for the kidnapping of the child, precisely in order to get his child back. However, the fact that he paid a fictitious ransom, which was ultimately played into the hands of Richard Hauptmann, was Lindbergh's full calculation in order to be able to accuse him of being the child kidnapper and Charly's murderer. Hauptmann was chosen for this in revenge because he refused to take part in this crime, for which a request to him for his assistance had failed.

However, Lindbergh also succeeded excellently in getting possession of the alleged 'ransom money', which gave him further 'proof' that he himself was not to blame for the whole alleged kidnapping and later the death of the child. He even steered the investigation of the partially 'bought' police in certain directions, so that he got out of the murder of his son, although some people still suspected him of being Charly's murderer. Something that actually corresponded to reality, since his child was murdered on his behalf. In the end, however, an innocent man was murdered in the electric chair for his deed, the German-born Richard Hauptmann. That is what really happened according to Sfath at that time and what he found out.

return to Index

Loch Ness Monster

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Loch\_Ness\_Monster

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_230

Billy:

We once talked about the lake Ness, that is Loch Ness in Scotland, in connection with the so-called Nessi, which is supposed to be a dinosaur, but for which no proof of existence could be provided until today. However, it was said by you that such an animal actually existed in Loch Ness and that it would therefore not be a fairytale. I would like to see the beast. Can you take me there sometime?

Quetzal:

109. In fact, there are two parent animals and one young animal.

110. We are talking about predatory dinosaurs living in water, i.e. Plesiosaurus, which have prevailed for many generations.

111. However, it will be very difficult to prove their existence because the animals rarely move to upper parts of water or even to the water surface in such a way that they can be sighted.

112. We have been observing these distant dinosaur descendants for many years and in the course of our research we have also found petrified fossils of their most distant ancestors, which we, however, left at the sites where we found them, where they may one day be found by earthly palaeontologists or other Earth-humans.

113. Of course I'll take you there, so you can see the animals, but you'll have to keep quiet about that to the public for the next 12 years.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_618

Billy:

Well, Quetzal showed me one of the aforementioned animals in its element... Now, however, stories have been circulating on the internet and television for a long time that some people have seen the so-called 'Nessi' and have also been tested with the latest lie detectors for their statements of truth and have been found to be genuine in this respect. By this I mean that the statements of these persons are said to be true according to the lie detector, i.e. that they are said to have actually seen 'Nessi' or the or a plesiosaur. In addition, a plesiosaur carcass is said to have been fished out of the sea about 50 kilometres east of New Zealand in 1977 and then thrown back again, as Japanese sailors report, as this observation report says, which I copied from the Internet using the search term 'New Zealand monster 1977'. There is also a picture of the carcass, which is also referred to as the 'New Zealand Monster'. Can you say something about this, because about 25 years ago Quetzal and I last talked about plesiosaurs... So here is the observation report and a picture from Wikipedia: ...

Ptaah:

43. I am as familiar with the various writings on the internet as I am with what you have here as an observation report.

44. And may I say that since your conversation with Quetzal, we have continued to research these sea creatures and have finally been able to find a total of 6 younger and 23 older specimens in the Atlantic Ocean as well as in the Pacific Ocean, in Loch Ness and in the South Seas.

45. And as far as the Yano internet report is concerned, it is to be said that all descriptions and representations as well as claims of earthly 'experts' concerning the carcass absolutely do not correspond to the correctness, because the carcass hoisted onto the Japanese ship 'Zuiyomaru' was in fact a deceased Plesiosaurus.

46. I investigated this myself out of my own interest by looking back and found that it was undoubtedly the mortal remains of such a sea creature, a male plesiosaur, that is.

Billy:

So it was not a basking shark, as is claimed. ...

return to Index

Long-Skulls

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Artificial\_cranial\_deformation

see also Easter Island Moai \(heads\)

see also Nazca Lines

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_069

Semjase:

9. The Earth-human is misguided if he/she wants to make the concerns of Easter Island an isolated concern.

10. The events of earlier times on this island are in direct connection with the country, which you still call Tiahuanaco today, as it was called already at earliest time, in spite of past repeated changes.

11. Easter Island and Tiahuanaco are more than 5,000 kilometres apart, and yet they are directly related to each other.

12. However, the history of the connection goes back to very early times and ended only 2,548 years ago, calculated back from today [1976 = 572 before Jmmanuel].

13. As I once explained to you, the last decisive settlement of the Earth by extraterrestrial intelligences took place about 13,500 Earth years ago.

14. As you know, several of the immigrant horde became renegades, including a man in the rank of a half-Ischwish called Viracocoha, who was already very old and extremely power-hungry.

15. His name is still handed down on the Earth today, but with a small change, because for a long time now he has only been called Viracocha and also as Jschwisch, although he was only in half the rank of such a person.

16. Under his patronage and his cruel leadership, the highlands of Tiahuanaco at an altitude of about 4,000 metres were conquered, as was the Delta Island, which you call Easter Island.

17. After this conquest Viracocoha settled with a special bodyguard of cherubim on the small island Mot, which is situated in front of Easter Island and which you call Motunui or similar to my knowledge today.
18. At that time it was called Mot because the cherubim were animal-human life forms, in this case they were all birdlike.
19. Mot means bird in our original language, so the island was called the Mot island, or also the island of the bird people, as it is still called today.
20. So Viracocoha or Viracocha resided there.
21. He and his followers, escaped Lyrans like many others, who came to the Earth, were of gigantic physique, by earthly measure about eleven meters tall.
22. They were the ones who taught the dwarfish, normal-growing inhabitants of Tiahuanaco and Easter Island – who were procreations between earthlings and previously immigrated intelligences from the vastness of the universe – in many things, providing them with their own highly developed technology and teaching them how to operate the devices and machines.
23. Thus they also taught the natives of Tiahuanaco and Easter Island the work of stonemasonry, and they let themselves be celebrated as gods.
24. With the help of the giants and their machines and other equipment, the natives worked many meters large head formations out of the lava stone, placed these, also with the help of machines, randomly around the island.
25. Similar events took place in the areas you call Pisco, Nazca and Sacsayhuaman, because the same giants had settled there.
26. Thus many statues and other structures were created, whereby also the shape of the spaceships on Easter Island were reproduced from rocks of the lava walls, which have survived to this day, namely oval-shaped stones, because the spaceships had this shape.
27. After several centuries, the exact time is also veiled to us, the giants were attacked by a sudden epidemic that was unknown to them and cost the lives of many of them.
28. Finding no cure for the epidemic, they fled Earth in their spaceships, set off into space and have since disappeared.
29. Despite the most eager investigations of our scientists, no trace of them has been found to this day.
30. There is therefore the possibility that, despite their flight from Earth, they were attacked and killed by the mysterious plague in their space ships, while their ships shot aimlessly through space, were attracted by some star and smashed to pieces.
31. Our probability calculations very much favour this.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_229

Quetzal:

15. As a rule, the Nazcans were people with high skulls, which means that their skulls showed an exceptional long skull form, which was not of original origin.
16. This skull-form was artificially produced; as long as the skull was still formable, it was restricted and bound with grinded metallic, stony and wooden plates, forcibly leading to a skull of long form and resulting in an oblong deformation.
17. This procedure was even started with newborns when they were one week old.
18. Everything was not an ideal of beauty, but a tribute to the gods, to give them obsequious reverence.
19. Only those Nazcans were permitted to have and wear the oblong-skull-form who were of higher class, i.e. about 85 percent of the population.
20. The remaining 15 percent were “lower people” who had to perform slave duty and similar tasks, and who were looked upon as social misfits etc., and whose well-being or non-well-being and, therefore, their life was laying in the hands and will of the “higher ones” and especially of the priests.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_710

Billy:

... With this I can say that the Earth-foreigners, who are generally simply called extraterrestrials or aliens by the Earthlings, have in fact been around for a long time. They stayed here and worked in many ways, as did their distant descendants, but they have also been active on Earth for centuries and millennia up to the present day, flying around and in and out of the Earth, and are observed again and again around the world by the Earthlings, whereby the American continent is of particular importance in this respect. Their early ancestors worked in many different ways on Earth, and also in various countries in Asia, North Africa and partly in Europe, but mainly in the early days in the North African country, which in later times was called 'Kemet' and then finally in later times Egypt, after which this name has been preserved until today. Your father Sfath taught me during a leap in time into the past to the land there, where the Earth-foreigners ruled at that time, whom he called 'long-skulls' and whom I have seen myself, that they had been on Earth for thousands of years. Because, in contrast to the round skulls of the human beings of Earth, they had skulls that were long and thickly protruding towards the back, they stood out unmistakably from the human beings of Earth just as other Earth-foreigners did around the world, such as giants up to about 3 metres tall, half-small people with large and somewhat v-shaped heads and excessively large eyes. Various such long skulls have also been found in modern times by archaeologists, etc., although to this day people still puzzle over what secret is connected with these skulls, which were not from human beings of the Earth, but belonged to Earth aliens. ...

... But what I still have to say with regard to the land of Egypt in early times and thus long before antiquity and the time of the Pharaohs, is the following: At that time the country looked completely different from what it does today, for on the one hand I can remember that the Nile had another large river branch to the left of its course, which flowed through a very large and long valley, whereby the Nile itself also ran much more westwards than is the case today. There was also a large city in the great valley, where I also saw 'long skulls'. ...

... Now, in another large city than the one in the great valley of the Nile tributary, I could observe other 'long-headed' as well as 'normal-headed' people who were the actual rulers of the land of 'Kemet', to which Sfath explained to me that their early ancestors had been coming to Earth for millennia, probably for more than 75,000 years, when they also built the first great pyramids, which were then repeatedly dismantled and rebuilt in the course of time, which I could observe for myself through another journey into the past with Sfath. The last time this happened was around 5,000 years ago, but before that it was also 6,000 years ago and more than 12,500 years ago. This also happened with the peoples in South America and Asia, where the 'long-skulled', the Earth-foreigners and the other Earth-foreigners, who were physically 'Earth-foreign', 'normal-skulled' or small and 'big-headed' and 'big-eyed', but also giants, as for example in South America, were also involved and had a culturally completely different influence on the Earth-peoples on all continents. As a result, different buildings, villages, cities, cult objects and pyramids as well as sites with large menhirs were also created all over the world, such as Stonehenge in England, near Avesbury in Wiltshire, about 13 kilometres north of Salisbury, and in Armenia the Stonehenge or megalithic fields in Zorakarer, near the mighty mountain ranges of the Caucasus, whereby the techniques of the Earth-foreigners were used in transporting and erecting the megaliths, which weighed many tonnes. ...

... Under the direction of the 'long-skulled', villages, cities and pyramids were also built in early Egypt, as were also a few areas in Europe, where there were still huge forests at that time, although the northern regions of the Earth were for the 'long-skulled' and the other Earth-foreigners, such as the small 'big-headed' and 'big-eyed' as well as for the 'normal-headed', because, on the one hand, they preferred warmer climates and were therefore dependent on fertile land in warmer areas, as well as on many human beings whose help they needed as labourers and whom they could also dominate and rule. ...

Ptaah:

124. Regarding what you said about the 'long-skulls', it should be mentioned that Earth-humans have made various efforts to imitate these long skull forms, namely by constricting and shaping the still soft and growing skulls with the open fontanelles of babies and growing children for years shortly after birth.

125. This resulted in proportionally the same long-skull effect as in the 'elongated skulls', but with certain differences, whereby the artificial long-skull formation was recognisable.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_721

Ptaah:

39. When then about 13,500 years ago the up to then last Plejaren community of immigrants came to Earth, then this happened in a completely secret form, namely because since the time of 389,000 years earlier other extraterrestrials had come to the Earth in the meantime and had settled down far and wide on all continents, above all the long-skulled ones.

40. In ancient Egypt in particular, they rose to positions of power, waged wars and subjugated tribes of peoples, such as those who called themselves 'Ebraya'. ...

Billy:

... the Earth-foreigners who ruled in various pre-ancient countries on Earth, such as the Long Skulls, who exercised their might especially in the areas around the Nile and in the southland of the American continent. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_743

Billy:

... The huge area of Huetap alone and the great city of the same name, Huetap, which existed 3,500 years ago in what is now Honduras, was monstrous as far as I was concerned, whereby the long-skulled also worked there and had a pyramid built, just as the long-skulled did in Egypt, in the Balkans and in Asia, and so on.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_795

Billy:

Sfath also experienced this, so his real age was to be calculated with more years. But with him I not only learned a lot through journeys into the past and the future, which prove to me today that many things are not true what the scientists assume and spread as truth. Many things were really quite different from what they claim, for example, what actually happened with the Maya, or with other ancient peoples, and that foreigners really did come to Earth from other worlds, from far away and outside the SOL sphere of influence, from the distant expanses of the DERN universe – also the Long Skulls. What I wrote at that time, when it was, I do not remember, in response to a request to ... after which ... began. The Long-skulled were also in Babel, in Egypt, in South America and in Asia, where they ruled, whereby Sfath gave me the opportunity to check everything.

return to Index

Lourdes Apparitions

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lourdes\_apparitions

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Our\_Lady\_of\_Lourdes

see also Extraterrestrials – Giza Intelligences / Bafath

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_034

Billy:

... I am now still further interested in a matter related to the so-called appearances of Saints. I mean those phenomena, that are in a religious fashion dressed up in a holiness like for example the alleged appearance of a so-called Saint, after which the dear humans at the location of appearance are then creating places of pilgrimage out of it. ...

Semjase:

195. You know very well that these phenomena are only personally generated visions or machinations of those power groups and those Earth humans who want to cast their spell over the Earth humans through the religious forms of appearance, and in others are caused by Earth humans through their exuberant religious imagination.

196. This means, on the one hand, that the evil-minded extraterrestrial Giza intelligences, who want to bring the Earth into their power, cause such phenomena by projections or play such a role themselves, and, on the other hand, that Earth-humans afflicted by the religious delusion send out their horrendous fantasy by their consciousness-based powers and cause such phenomena by projection or visually-semi-materially.

197. You have experienced it yourself several times and also produced such projections yourself several times.

199. Also in the past you witnessed such events when Asket brought you together with your friend into the past.

200. You have experienced and recognised that the appearance of Lourdes was a projection as well as the fantasy figure of Satan, which you projected into your field of vision as a child by your own powers.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_250

Billy:

Whereby the so-called supernatural of course does not exist in any way, because everything and everything is always naturally explainable and also naturally given. The supernatural exists only in the ignorance and the incomprehension of man, because he has no knowledge about all those things which he cannot understand and cannot explain himself. Truthfully everything so-called supernatural is absolutely natural and thus also classified according to the corresponding laws of spirit or matter, which are able to give an explanation for everything and everyone, whereby something supernatural becomes a fact of non-existence. Everything that can be grasped and perceived, everything that can be seen and heard and everything that can be felt, recognized, experienced and experienced, etc., is always real, real and natural in every case, regardless of whether it takes place on a spiritual or material level or on a medium level between spirit and matter, which is so often called the level of the supernatural or the supernatural by parapsychologists and esoterics who do not understand it.

Ptaah:

181. A true word.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_362

288. This in anticipation of the fact that, in order to heal the infirmities, there must be a deep faith in the alleged apparition of Mary and its miraculous effects, whereby profoundly believing people bring about self-healing with regard to their ailments, pains, diseases and infirmities.

return to Index

Man in the Iron Mask

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Man\_in\_the\_Iron\_Mask

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_526

Billy:

... Recently there was another programme on television about the 'Man with the Iron Mask'. Is this story familiar to you?

Ptaah:

32. Yes.

Billy:

Then my questions about it: Is the story true or not, and if so, who was the man who was imprisoned in France in various prisons and ultimately in the Bastille, wearing an iron mask?

Ptaah:

33. A somewhat detailed explanation is necessary:

34. First of all, it must be said that since the time when the man was incarcerated, various rumour theories and conjectures about his identity have been circulating.

35. All the rumours were not true, but one of the assumptions was correct, namely that the prisoner was a triple brother of the 'Sun King' Louis XIV, who was born in 1643 and died in 1715.

36. Until 1661 he was under the guardianship of his mother, Anne of Austria, who was said to have ruled France until then, but was in fact a dependent of Cardinal Mazarin, who commanded the French state.

37. But only then, that same year after the death of Cardinal Mazarin, could he take over the regency of the State and also complete absolutism, in accordance with the motto:

38. "L'État c'est moi!" ...

Billy:

... That means something like: "I am the state", right?

Ptaah:

40. That is correct.

42. Louis XIV had two triplet brothers named Louis and Marcel, but they were unknown to the 'Sun King' because their existence was kept from him by his mother.

43. By an unfortunate remark, however, he learned of her in 1661, after all, from his triplet brothers who, due to birth difficulties, were born secretly with the help of the midwife only a few hours later, after Louis XIV had been born under great witness.

44. Both survived despite the high mortality of newborns at that time.

45. According to the law of the time in France, the triplet brothers Louis and Marcel, one after the other, depending on their age of birth, would have been rightful heirs to the throne after the death of Louis XIV.

46. However, in order to prevent alleged confusion, Louis and Marcel were placed in foster families where they grew up, under false pretences by Cardinal Richelieu.

47. Louis looked so strikingly like his first-born brother Louis XIV that he could become a danger to him, although he succumbed to error because Louis had no ambitions of succeeding to the throne.

48. This in contrast to Marcel, who was nicknamed Pagnol and who, together with various other intriguing machinations, tried to overthrow the 'Sun King' and take over the regency himself.

49. He was also arrested and imprisoned, together with his triplet brother Louis, who was the same in appearance as Louis XIV.

50. It was Louis, therefore, who was given a mask to wear for the rest of his life, some 34 years until his death on the 19th of November 1703.

51. However, it is a fairy tale that it is said to have been an iron mask that was forged around the man's head, because it is true that a mask made to measure from black plush was made for him.

52. He had to wear it throughout in the face of other prisoners, the guards and every other person.

53. Apart from being a strictly guarded prisoner, he was treated with courtesy and could also enjoy exquisite food and drink as he wished.

Marilyn Monroe murder

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Death\_of\_Marilyn\_Monroe

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_625

Billy:

... with regard to Marilyn Monroe, who allegedly committed suicide on the night from the 4th to the 5th of August 1962. Ever since the death of the woman, it has repeatedly been said that she did not commit suicide, but was murdered, which has however to this day by certain persons deliberately been portrayed as a conspiracy theory, because the effective truth is not supposed to be truth. In that regard, I wonder why this happened and still happens today, because at that time Asket explained to me that the assertion about suicide was not true, for Marilyn Monroe did actually not kill herself, because in fact and truth she had been murdered, whereby the murderer was her long-time psychotherapist, whose name was Green or something like that. As Asket also said, this fact was however concealed for political reasons, consequently this man was not brought to justice. But the actual reason for it resp. the details behind the murder, which is today still portrayed as suicide, were unfortunately not commented on by Asket. It is also to be said that on the last TV show in this matter, which I have seen, the presumption was also expressed that it might have been a murder after all, and that this very Green or similar name could have committed it. This rhymes with what Asket explained to me already in 1962 and on what I want to ask you whether you too know something about it, maybe?

Ptaah:

73. At that time Asket clarified everything in a good way, because it was an event of a kind that moved the human beings of the Earth globally.

74. She was able to clearly establish that Marilyn Monroe did not commit suicide, but was murdered, namely by her psychiatrist and therapist, Doctor Ralph Greenson, whose actual birth name was Romeo Greenschpoon.

75. He put the women for years under strong medication by performing drug therapies with her and routinely administering her barbiturates and sedatives, which he obtained from an internist named Hyman Engelberg, who prescribed her many of the medications and which were in reality ordered by Greenson.

76. These medications caused Marilyn Monroe to fall into a deep dependence on her medication and Greenson too, and to become increasingly miserable in terms of health and psyche, and namely the more often she received and took the medications from Greenson, some of which were also forcibly entered into her.

77. On the evening of 4th August 1962, she was forced to take a larger dose of a strong sleep aid, namely pentobarbital, after which she became unconscious.

78. And in fact things happened in the way, that Greenson, who was then summoned to Marilyn Monroe, after her reawakening, murdered her by an injection of the barbiturate chloral hydrate into the anus, as a result of which no injection wound could be found anywhere on the body.

79. However, Greenson was not held accountable for the insidious murder, because his act was covered up, whereby he was protected by the Kennedy clan, resp. by John Fitzgerald and Robert Kennedy, on whose order he committed the murder.

80. The reason for the murder was that Marilyn Monroe had a long, deep and very intimate liaison with the two brothers John and Robert Kennedy, which she wanted to make known to the public, as a result of hefty and serious disagreements with the Kennedy brothers.

81. However, the two Kennedys wanted to and had to prevent this, so they made Greenson carrying out the murder.

82. And that the two were eventually also murdered, namely John Fitzgerald on the 22nd November 1963 in Dallas, Texas, and Robert on the 6th of June 1968 in Los Angeles, California, led to a situation of ultimately them too could not be held accountable anymore, the same as Doctor Greenson, who died on 24th November 1979 in Los Angeles, California, whereby everything was shrugged off for the entire Kennedy clan, since from then on there was no longer any danger that Greenson could have been persuaded to confess if the truth had unexpectedly been found out and the whole thing had been made public.

return to Index

Mars Face

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Cydonia\_\(Mars\)#The\_Face\_on\_Mars#The_Face_on_Mars)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_435

Billy:

... can you say something about the 'Face of Mars', which really doesn't exist, but is a natural phenomenon created by a shadow play of a mountain?

Ptaah:

32. The 'face' photographed in 1976 by NASA's Viking 1 probe in the northern hemisphere of Mars is not a monument or sculpture created by 'Martians' or other human beings, but a shadow play on a mountain with unusual shapes.

return to Index

Mayan Civilization

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Maya\_civilization

see also Crystal Skulls

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_061

Billy:

That is clear to me, but tell me, upon which data from earlier times can one most likely rely? Is it the biblical writings or the Sanskrit records?

Semjase:

41. The Sanskrit scriptures are indeed very accurate and extremely precise in certain respects, but not the bible scriptures, for they are the most inaccurate in this respect.

42. They are the ones which have been most falsified and interwoven with fantasy stories.

43. Recommended are the original Henoah ur-writings as well as the calendar records of the old Maya tribes.

44. Especially the last ones are the most valuable.

45. Your data starts where the small planet races in from space and triggered the catastrophe 10,215 years ago {see entry for Contact Report 150 below}, if I am accurately informed about these things and do not make any miscalculations in my data.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_134

Billy:

... Guido asked me whether I knew the reason for the disappearance of the Mayan culture. Do you know anything about that?

Quetzal:

57. One reason was very strong climatic changes, which extended approximately over 230 years.

58. A time during which the Yucatan Peninsula, where the actual Mayan culture was settled, was hit by many droughts, which cost many people's lives or forced them into migration.

59. Another reason was tribal wars and acts of war with foreign Indian tribes.

60. Also, many people were carried off by epidemics, not only in the actual central area of the Maya but also in all the other areas where the Maya resided, such as in the areas of Belize, Honduras, and Guatemala, etc.

61. The total population of all the Mayan tribes added together was about 17 million people.

62. During those approximately 230 years of natural and environmental disasters, the epidemics and wars to which the Maya were exposed resulted in the fact that these indigenous peoples and families of languages disappeared in southern Mesoamerica, southern Mexico and northern Mexico, Guatemala, Belize, and Honduras.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_150

Billy:

Year B.C. – 11,503 Deluge

(Maya) Destruction of the continent of Atlantis as a result of a war feud with MU, whereby MU scientists directed a minor planet (Adoonis = the ugly, as opposed to Aadonis = the beautiful) from the asteroid belt and steered it towards the Earth and onto Atlantis, causing it to sink into the sea and triggering a flood.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_229

Billy:

... Then here is another question regarding the advanced culture of the Mayans and their extinction or downfall, respectively. Can you report about this? I suppose that you have knowledge about the history of the Mayans, yes?

Quetzal:

21. I have, in fact, occupied myself with it and know some things about these concerns, at least the things that are known to us in general.

22. The Mayas are Indian peoples and language families in southern Mesoamerica.

23. I have provided you with information about it before, but obviously you want to know more about it.

24. Thus it is:

25. Maya as a language exists in Southern and North-east Mexico, in Guatemala, Honduras and Belize with more than 2 million people who are speaking that language.

26. If spatial-cultural criteria are taken into account, there must be a differentiation between those people who live in scattered settlements in the woodland of the tropical lowland, and those people in the colonial-Spanish oriented village communities of the cool-temperate highlands.

27. The Yucatec belong to the first category and are living in the Mexican states Yucatán, Quintana Roo and Campeche as well as Lakandons and Chorti, etc.

28. Cackquels, Quiché and Tzutuhils are belonging to the second category.

29. Regarding the hierarchy of political offices it can be said that in the high regions there is a cult-brotherhood, while in the lowlands the organisational form is that of groups of relatives.

30. Some pursue very intensive clearing through fire, whereby beans, pumpkins and maize are the principal crops that are cultivated.

31. Those who are living in the forests are oriented towards extensive agriculture.

32. The significantly advanced culture of the Mayas developed since the year 2321 before Jmmanuel's birth, and it formed the actual traditional Maya religion into the state religion.

33. Today's Maya-Indian Catholicism is riddled with elements of their old-customary, traditional religion.

34. The Mayas' descendants of today are still venerating the old gods of their ancient religion, which they elevate into a position of Christian saints.

35. Nevertheless, the doings of the distant descendents are still determined by 'spirit powers.

36. Shamanistic rituals regarding the healing of the sick, the sowing and oracle calendars still belong to the given order.

37. But if we view the time before Columbus, the following can be said:
38. In those times, the Maya were the holders of very highly advanced culture whose heyday began about 300 years after Jmmanuel's birth and lasted for about 460 years, before drought catastrophes broke over the land due to climatic changes, caused bad disaster and claimed 14,392,108 human lives in the course of only about 150 years.
39. 1,550 years after Jmmanuel's birth, the Maya culture found its total end through the Spanish conquests, whereby the conquerors committed terrible inhumaneness, murder, crimes of all kinds and cruelties without an end.
40. And all of this was done in the name of the Spanish royal house as well as in the name of God and, therefore, in the name of the Christian religion.
41. Well, at that time there happened a spatial relocation of the cultural heyday from the South to the North, which lead to the last end of the classical Maya culture.
42. That actual relocation and the actual reason for the downfall of the Maya culture can be traced back to earlier causes that were not within the power of the Spaniards.
43. Actually, forces of nature were responsible for the final fall, i.e. gigantic natural catastrophes through droughts, but also through epidemics, famine and wars.
44. The most powerful causes were three drought periods, back in the year 754 after Jmmanuel's birth the first one began, slowly developed and later – after about 50 years – became the first drought catastrophe that lasted about 10 years.
45. Because of the severity of that drought, famines spread over wide areas, which claimed many deaths.
46. No longer in control because of hunger, children and old people were killed to serve as food, as had also been the case in the land of Egypt, when droughts and famines ruled.
47. There were only about 40 years after the great drought, when the land and the people could recover somewhat, until another heavy drought covered the land and when the same evil became the order of the day again, as had been the case during the first drought.
48. This period of drought did not last as long as the first one, because after a little bit more than four years it ended.
49. But also during this drought many human beings died, and again human beings were killed and eaten, mainly children and old persons, as had been the case during the first drought.
50. As the land was recovering very slowly after the first drought and did not become fully usable for the cultivation of food, everything became even worse after the second drought.
51. That part of the soil that was still usable brought forth even less food, and so the people were living in want and had to live frugally during the following years and decades, until a third drought period broke over the land that lasted for another nearly seven years.
52. And once again, as a last solution for the hungry people, they killed and ate their children and old people.
53. Finally this last great catastrophe led to the break-down of the advanced Maya culture and brought its final ruin.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_260

Billy:

... In particular, the human sacrifices among the Aztecs as well as the Mayas and Incas are denied again and again. It is amazing that this assertion holds so persistently – that they shouldn't have offered human sacrifices.

Ptaah:

285. These kinds of assertions contradict every reality because all these peoples carried out human sacrifices, and indeed, both in a religious as well as punishment-exercising sense.

Billy:

The Mayas were an advanced Indian cultural people in Central America; however, they also weren't assessed very humanely. ...

...

Ptaah, how does it happen, however, that these human sacrifices are denied over and over again – is there a plausible explanation for it?

Ptaah:

287. The reason is probably to be found in the fact that so far, there still isn't any concrete evidence of human sacrifices among these people, that is, such has not yet been found, but this will still arise in the foreseeable future with certainty.

288. The present lack of evidence says nothing at all, for human sacrifices did, in fact, take place.

289. Findings and signs that suggest that human sacrifices took place are, so far, only unsatisfactory, but they are actually there.

290. Connections also exist that arose by intruders who invaded the peoples mentioned and carried out human sacrifices, but this in no way excludes the self-conducted human sacrifices of the peoples mentioned.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_476

Billy:

... But the human beings of Earth would be interested in what the Mayan calendar has to do regarding the 21st of December 2012.

Ptaah:

...

106. Regarding the Mayan calendar, the 21st of December 2012 represents the culmination of a star constellation that occurs only every 26,000 years.

107. The Mayan calculations are assuming that the Earth – on the 21st of December 2012 – shall lie on an imaginary line that fits together the star over the left side of the constellation Orion with the central sun, i.e. the centre of the Milky Way.

108. The Sun meets the Milky Way at a location that is built by interstellar dust clouds, and is called "dark cleft of the Milky Way" by the human beings of Earth.

109. On the 21st of December 2012, at nightfall of winter solstice, the Sun is directly in that cleft, and it is in such a position that the Milky Way covers the horizon in all positions all around.

110. From this is resulting the optical impression that the Milky Way would touch Earth all around and that the galaxy would lie directly on the Earth.

111. On the whole that's the end product of the Mayan calendar recording.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_479

Billy:

... And what else is to be said about the 21st of December 2012, which is being traded as the end of the world, world change or the 'New Age' by prophets of doom, esoterics, panic-makers and Mayan calendar believers etc., is the following: The system of the Mayan calendar is based on Mayan astrological calculations, which are incorporated into a circular, triple gear system. The large gear wheel, which has two small outer gears, has a fixed starting point, the same as the larger of the two small outer gears. When these fixed points meet again, which will be the case on the 21st of December 2012, the old calendar is finished, and a new calendar begins by turning the calendar respectively the calendar gears. The Mayan calendar respectively the Mayan chronology comprises a very long period of several thousand years, not as long as the modern calendars, which are usually designed for only one year, starting with the 1st of January and ending with the 31st of December. The Mayan calendar is based on advanced mathematical and astronomical knowledge.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_728

Billy:

... As Sfath explained, the conquistadors alone stole more than 250 tonnes of gold from the Aztecs, Incas and Maya, on the one hand enriching themselves immensely and on the other hand also bringing enormous wealth to the Spanish crown.

According to your father Sfath, the great empires of the Aztecs, Mayas and Incas conquered by the Spanish conquistadors had a combined population of around 38 million human beings, and of these, the conquistadors or the Spanish adventurers and conquerors, who only had ship crews, were usually confronted with a large majority of 5,000 to 12,000 Aztec, Maya and Inca Indians. However, all these Indian peoples underestimated the superiority in weaponry of the Spanish, murderous invaders, who were trained above all in tactical-strategic conquest battles and in modern combat tactics, which they had also used against the occupiers from North Africa or the Moors. As a result, the conquerors had a great superiority over the weakly armed Indians, despite small ship crews. The Indians had practically no chance against the modern weapons of the conquistadors, so it was no disadvantage for them that they were often outnumbered by the thousands of natives.

The war experience and superiority in weaponry of the Spanish conquistadors at that time made the Aztecs, Mayas and Incas practically helpless against the conquerors, so their superior numbers were of no use to them, because their warriors were only equipped with primitive weapons. Also their large mass of available warriors made resistance simply impossible. On the one hand, this was due to their total inexperience with the modern weapons and equipment of the foreign Spanish invaders, who were actually tiny troops compared to the many thousands of Indians. On the other hand, however, the natives were unable to correctly assess their great danger and war experience as well as their deadly firearms. The lack of knowledge and understanding of the cultural background of the Spanish conquistadors and their effective intentions, aspirations, thoughts, plans, intentions and wills, as well as their being bound to their religious-sectarian-Christian delusion of God, made it virtually impossible for the Indian tribes and their rulers to react correctly against the battle-hardened foreign conquerors. Their belief in seeing terrible portents of their gods in every natural phenomenon often paralysed them and also meant that, despite their many thousands of fighters, they stood no chance in terms of their defence against the unscrupulous conquistadors, who were actually royally commissioned killers.

The empires of the Incas, Mayas and the Aztecs had been built up by wars of conquest, but their weapons and art of warfare were practically a laughing stock against the battle-hardened and modernly equipped Spanish conquistadors. The peoples conquered by the Aztecs, Mayas and Incas had to pay tribute to the Indian conquerors, although they were still not integrated into the empires of their conquerors. Nevertheless, many different peoples lived in the great empires, and consequently many different languages and religions prevailed, although, with the exception of the Inca empire, the Aztec and Mayan empires did not have a unified government administration, as Sfath explained. These great empires were relatively unstable, for they had no uniform jurisdiction, nor did they have the same legislation. They also lacked standing armies to control and permanently occupy subjugated peoples and their territories. The conquistadors took advantage of the resulting dissatisfaction of the subjugated peoples and were able to influence them in such a way that they allied themselves with the conquerors and set out against the rulers and populations of the great empires, which ultimately led to a collapse of the native populations, Spain claimed total domination and called the conquered territories New Spain.

Between 1400 and 1600, the Spanish conquerors also brought various diseases from Europe into the great empires of the Aztecs, Incas and Mayas, especially venereal diseases such as syphilis, gonorrhoea, etc., but also smallpox and tuberculosis, which quickly proved fatal for the natives, decimating the peoples in this way as well as through famine. According to Sfath, who visited those great empires at the time, the Aztecs, Mayas and Incas lost more than  $\frac{2}{3}$  of their populations through the direct and indirect fault of the conquistadors. Sfath said that at that time, as a result of the missionary zeal for Christ of the Spanish conquistadors, whole peoples were robbed of their cultural identity, their honour and dignity, their existence and their possessions, goods and cohesion within a few weeks by murdering and brutally robbing, raping women and children and by other dirty machinations.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_791

Billy:

... It also happened in South America about 800 or 900 years before Jmmanuel's birth that a drought of many years passed over the land, affecting the areas of today's rainforests, which were then populated by large Mayan cities. Despite the terraced buildings for growing plant food, however, the population of around 27,000,000 scattered to the four winds after massacring their god-kings, who used to shower them with jade but then held them responsible for everything caused by the drought. The Mayans, who had otherwise already made mass human sacrifices because that was what their faith demanded, simply disappeared from the scene, so to speak, scattering and disappearing all over the world, simply leaving their great city buildings to nature, which soon overgrew everything and gave rise to primeval forests. This happened in large parts of the rainforest far into South America, not only in Yucatán, which is usually mentioned when talking about the 'land of the Maya'.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_797

Billy:

... The first human beings to reach the continent of America by sea were very early sea conquerors. They sailed over from Africa and China on fins about 17,500 years ago, while the first human beings reached America over a land bridge from Europe 14,500 years ago. These immigrants, together with the indigenous peoples, formed whole nations that developed into advanced civilisations in much later times, such as the Inca and the Maya, etc., whose early ancestors settled in the south of the continent, whose distant descendants were then robbed and partly also murdered by the Spaniards because of the gold – which was often mixed with copper and therefore not pure.

return to Index

Men In Black

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Men\_in\_black

see also Extraterrestrials – Giza Intelligences / Bafath

Special Note:

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_219

Quetzal:

81. Moreover, these {Sirian} renegades and 'Black Men', as we also call them, and these have nothing to do with the so-called 'Men in Black' who are of earthly origin and, thus, who are secret-service driven Earth-humans, who strive to induce real visions and hallucinations through apparatus-driven, suggestive impulses in Earth-humans who are susceptible to these.

Special Note:

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/3582.html?1081029277#POST11893>

[Norm posted on Wednesday, March 03, 2004 - 11:34 am:]

Hi Billy, One of the first well known uses of the term Men in Black was in the 1962 book Flying Saucers & the Three Men by Albert Bender. In that book, the author describes the Men in Black as "Men dressed in Black with glowing eyes, they changed their form to what they really looked like, a hideous creature".

Are these the same Men in Black that were altering your pictures? If not then why do you use this term, as it is thoroughly discredited today & could cause confusion?

[Billy] Answer:

Yes. However, their eyes are not glowing, but fluorescent. --- There are only a few of them left (a group of old Sirians).

The other MiB are "Regierungslümmel" (governmental etc. agents).

Special Note:

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/3728.html#POST12958>

[Norm posted on Thursday, July 08, 2004 - 10:51 am:]

Hi Billy, In a previous question about the Men in Black you stated that the Men in Black were government agents. But in the book And Still They Fly on page #219 Quetzal states "the three men belong to the secret neo-Nazi group known by the name of the Schwarze Manner (Men in Black)". So far I have found three definitions for your usage of the Men in Black term.

Government Agents

Secret Neo Nazis Group

Old Sirians

Are all of these groups working together? If not, Men in Black is too vague of a term. Could you please explain what is going on here?

Thanx, Norm

[Billy] Answer:

These three groups are operating separately

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_065

{see also Contact Report 452:17-24}

Ptaah:

6. I was called by my daughter to clarify various incidents.

7. In particular, these are quite bad machinations of recent times, based on elements that endanger your life.

Billy:

You speak of the odd tracks and the incident in Winkelriet near Wetzikon, where this light body from a ship unknown to me sailed down on me?

Ptaah:

8. That is so, that is what we are talking about. ...

...

Ptaah:

17. Some evil elements are prepared to kill you because you have made them very uncomfortable.

18. This is a reaction to the fulfillment of your task, which you unswervingly carry out despite all counter-actions against you.

19. But these endangers certain elements that want to spread with their world-shattering intentions.

20. Through the many publications in publication bodies around the world, an extraordinary number of people have become aware of our existence and above all of you, and even governments, that even until now, or recently were still negating have changed their previous negative efforts into the opposite.

21. As a result, various states have made great efforts to clarify matters and have come across things that they had previously dismissed out of hand.

22. They also learned that in some countries there are earthly interest groups at work that can boast of higher technological development than is generally the case in the rest of the countries of the Earth.

23. Almost abruptly it came to pass that at various points on Earth there were stations of those elements and private circles of interest that seized the plans of the Flying Disks at the end of the last World War, namely in Germany and Canada.

24. These elements, however, which have built stations in inaccessible places for the Earth-humans and have developed quite airworthy devices there from the stolen plans, now feel extremely endangered by the investigations of certain countries and they fear that you could give exact information about their existence and the coordinates of their stations if you were to be questioned by any secret services involved in these investigations.
25. That would mean that armies could be set in motion to destroy the stations and get hold of all the achievements.
26. But to prevent such a step, a special group in Brazil is trying to shut you out and to push you out of this world.
27. This is a group of fanatics led by a man from Germany called Dünneberg.
28. His far-reaching relationships also guarantee him many followers in the mentioned country, where a large number of people are constantly influenced in negative form by technological equipment and who, not knowing why, turn against you and your task and constantly try to destroy our mission.
29. Bertossi and Arends belong to these influenced elements, as well as various other people you know very well, who are constantly receiving the latest information through very unethical channels.
30. In particular, the source lies with Margreth Rufer, who may not be deliberately treacherous, but in a thoughtless and extremely autocratic manner spreads all knowledge and every message from your group and lets it reach channels that work against you all.
31. These then strive to falsify all material, to clothe it in lies and to spread it in a very wide form.

...

Ptaah:

52. Furthermore, I was also able to clarify the events in Winkelriet near Wetzikon near your place of residence, but also the presence of the tracks of a beamship that did not originate from one of our beamships.
53. The tracks you discovered were of a ship belonging to the Brazilian private interest group, which had sent out a command to investigate your circumstances as closely as possible.
54. According to my research, there were five people who checked over everything very carefully.
55. The ship itself is not a product of the power group itself, but is stolen.
56. Years ago, it was stolen from a crew who had landed in Brazil from a distant galaxy and had to make an emergency landing as a result of damage.
57. The interstellar propulsion of the ship was completely destroyed and cannot be repaired, at least not by the technicians of this power group.
58. Only the planetary anti-gravity drive is still functional fully, which is sufficient for planetary flights.
59. But you saw the same ship weeks later in Winkelriet, where you came across this object on your very unreasonable search for this mysterious object, which put you in great danger.
60. There were two men out in the field watching your approach, which was easy game for them, because at that time they were watching you all the time.
61. Wanting to kill you, they prepared everything and guided you to the place of the planned event.
62. It was your luck that in that dark night you cautiously drove your vehicle without light, for only because you were not exactly visible in the darkness, the shot from a rifle missed you.
63. The fact, however, that after this dangerous incident you still drove unperturbed further under the slowly gliding beamship was already illogical and irresponsible, because after the shot you had to expect that further attempts would be made.
64. When a primitive light device was let loose on you from the beamship, whereby you had to be seen in the brightest light and could have been shot at again, only then did you recognize the real danger and threw yourself into a hollow, after which, when the bright light went out, you drove away. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_066

Semjase:

184. The two other attacks were carried out by a Nazi group that had settled in Brazil after the end of the war.

185. They robbed German and Canadian plans for the construction of flying disks with which they are able to fly almost effortlessly into the earthly space today.

186. They also came into the possession of a foreign spacecraft of a human race from a distant galaxy.

187. The interstellar drive, however, was destroyed beyond recognition, so they could only use the antigravity drive for planetary flight.

188. With this ship, which offered them many possibilities, they also tracked you.

189. It was the same ship that you recently tracked down in Winkelriet near Wetzikon, but which had landed there weeks before when you found the mysterious tracks.

190. The crew of the ship that had used the aircraft to fly to the Earth is dead.

191. They all died after their breathing apparatus became empty and could not be refilled.

192. They were poison gas respirators.

193. A gas that is still unknown on the Earth.

194. Over time, their ship, in the hands of the Nazis, could have had dire consequences for the Earth-humans, which is why we were forced to destroy it completely when they left it unattended for a few moments.

195. These, dear friend, are the facts that have emerged from our research.

196. Beware of these Nazis or neo-Nazis, as you call them, because they fear too much for their existence through you.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_076

Menara:

24. The main thing is that the intelligences of Giza have made themselves noticeable again and are trying by all means to disrupt the construction of the Centre.

25. But not only that, because they try to destroy everything in all possible ways, because in their evilness they fear and have to fear the truth.

26. This is also the reason why all sorts of evil has befallen you in recent times and that you have had various accidents and other nuisances.

27. Some of your group were and are particularly at risk, which is why Semjase warned you some time ago at night when you could prepare the persons concerned to exercise special caution.

28. These are all the persons in the group who are particularly sensitive to the forces of the negatively controlled Giza intelligences, who have agreed in alliance with the Brazilian group to use even malicious means to destroy the Centre.

29. Be careful, therefore, for you may be threatened by danger in a material form even from Brazil.

30. The consciousness-based influences of the intelligences of Giza should not be taken lightly either, as you are used to saying, because they are particularly dangerous.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_077

Ptaah:

18. The negative intelligences and the South Brazilian group known to you live in vain hatred and the will to destroy, whereby they may even try the last, which is why you, and quite especially you, should be careful, because our protective measures for you and the group, on the other hand, are also limited in certain forms. ...

26. Not only the treacherous elements in the group and the negative intelligences of Giza and the group in Brazil drive a malicious play of forces, but also the constellations of the stars and planets assert their influence in the strongest form.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_118

Quetzal:

13. As far as my observation of the past is concerned regarding the gas pedal and the flow of gas, a regrettable fact was established.

14. From what I was able to see, three dark figures worked on it and carried out this dangerous manipulation for the sole purpose of destroying your life.

15. These people cold-bloodedly accepted the fact that the lives of other persons would also be endangered. ...

Billy:

... what's the deal with the three dark figures, of which you have spoken?

Quetzal:

22. It concerns three men of the group of Brazilians, known under the name "Men in Black."

23. One of the three, who were with you all, monitored your Centre from last Friday night to the early morning hours of Saturday, while the two others carried out the manipulation on the vehicle, in which you and your wife had the accident.

24. Afterwards, they drove away in a large, black vehicle.

Billy:

Aha, and where are the birds now? I would like to get them into my hands.

Quetzal:

25. They are already back in their base in security.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_219

Billy:

... In the old history of Henok and the travelers from afar from the depths of space and, with these, the refugees of Henok's line from the Sirius region, there is talk of the fact that these chose a system with an already-dying sun, in order to escape from the captors. This was so because the pursuers did not expect it and, even today, do not expect that the refugees chose for themselves a dying or passing sun, which will only exist for a few billion years and which only had three habitable planets in its system, one of which could only be transitionally inhabited for a short time, namely Mars, while another, thus Malona or Phaeton, was destroyed by its inhabitants, which resulted in the asteroid belt. Moreover, there was still the fact that the Sirius regions, from where the refugees broke out, were in a different space-time configuration, and the refugees settled in another space-time plane, simply in our space and our time, which was a foreign area to the Sirians and which could not be found by them up to this day, for on the one hand, there are simply too many of the most diverse space-time configurations in the entire Universe, and on the other hand, the Sirians did not have the Henok-technology of the space-time exchange. But now, two specific questions about this: first of all, do the distant descendants of the Sirians from their other space-time configuration, or from their other space-time plane, still presently search for the refugees of Henok's line, whose most distant descendants are some of today's Earth-humans? And secondly, are the distant descendants of these Sirians in a position today to penetrate into other space-time configurations? And actually, this still gives rise to a third question that is related to this: Why, actually, was a solar system searched for, which only had a few inhabitable planets?

Quetzal:

73. The danger of the pursuit of the refugees, or rather their distant descendants, by the distant descendants of the former inhabitants of Sirius is no longer existent because over many thousands of years, the disposition of the Sirians has changed for the better, and so now, they live in peace and without ambitions for power.

74. Today, their aspirations are more focused on consciousness-related and spiritual progress than just on power, revenge, and retaliation, in consequence of which also everything that had happened at the earliest times with the genetically manipulated ones and their work and escape was ordered into oblivion by a council's decision.

75. But still, they also developed their technology further in every form, consequently, they also became capable of changing from their space-time plane into another.

76. But unfortunately, this was to the advantage of a small group of diehards who had taken over the old hatred and thoughts of revenge as well as the retaliatory desires of the old Sirians from generation to generation and also further maintained them.

77. But today, these are now just 63 of their human beings who continue in the traditional hatred and try to cause harm to the most distant descendant of the Sirius refugees, even in the wise that they try to transport you from life and thereby make your mission and the spiritual teaching [aka Creation energy teaching] impossible.

78. Unfortunately, they also arrived into the possession of the technology that enables them to change into the most diverse space-time planes, so even into this one, in which the SOL-system exists, which they have, indeed, found after centuries of searching.

79. They try to cause harm to you as well as to all those around you and to the teaching and the mission and elsewhere, namely by intimidating and threatening the Earth-humans who have observed our beamships or the ones of other extraterrestrial visitors to the Earth or who have found any proof of their existence.

80. Through these hateful elements that cooperated with the Giza Intelligences, human beings of the Earth were also injured or kidnapped, etc., but this only occurred rarely.

81. Moreover, these renegades and 'Black Men', as we also call them, and these have nothing to do with the so-called 'Men in Black' who are of earthly origin and, thus, who are secret-service driven Earth-humans, who strive to induce real visions and hallucinations through apparatus-driven, suggestive impulses in Earth-humans who are susceptible to these.

82. Their repertoire ranges from fake sightings and observations as well as alleged abductions up to simulated contacts and sexual intercourse with extraterrestrials, from which alleged pregnancies occur that, if they already appear, are caused quite normally with an earthly partner or by artificial manipulation of a medical nature or one's own nature.

83. Also through these extraterrestrial 'Black Men' the illusion is produced in susceptible Earth-humans that somehow, through carelessness, etc., things penetrated into their body unnoticed, such as the incidence of metal fragments or small projectiles, etc., implants of extraterrestrial forces and beings, which is absurd, of course.

84. Since these Sirius renegades are too small in their numbers to inflict really major damage on Earth and its inhabitants, they have invested in their hatred, in order to create confusion in manifold forms all over the Earth among the humans.

85. Moreover, as I already said, they try to destroy the spiritual teaching [aka Creation energy teaching] and your mission, and indeed, even by instigating unstable Earth-humans to kill you or to make it impossible for you through lies, deceit, and slander and to represent you as a liar, swindler, forger, and fraud, which you will still experience, unfortunately, even in your own family, as I have seen through a look into the future.

86. Unfortunately, we are not able to catch these extraterrestrial 'Black men' elements because they always vanish into a space-time plane whose coordinates we cannot detect and cannot register, for quite obviously, these Sirius renegades have a coordinate-distorter or otherwise have a possibility to distort the coordinate data, whereby we cannot capture them and cannot get a hold of the offenders.

87. In addition, the elements are extremely vigilant and clever, so it could take years or decades before we get them on track and dissuade them from their actions.

88. We have to wait until they make a mistake or until our scientists find a possibility to decipher their coordinates upon the disappearance of the renegades into another space-time plane.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_251

{Note: Contact Report 251 contains an extensive history related to the Sirian "Men in Black" and why they sought "revenge on the distant descendants of the genetically manipulated ones".}

(Annotation Ptaah from the 6th of January 2005: This danger has meanwhile demonstrably resolved itself, and there are only about 60 distant descendants of those who had created the genetically manipulated ones and who had them tracked during their flight. These are the group of extraterrestrials called the Men in Black, but they are not identical with the earthly Men in Black, who are state-controlled. The populations of today's Sirius regions, which are located in space-time configuration offset to the earthly dimension, have settled the old feuds against the genetically manipulated ones, have become peaceful and are no longer interested in tracking down and taking revenge on the distant descendants of the genetically manipulated ones.)

(Note Ptaah from 6th January 2005: Regarding this malicious group we are talking about the approximately 60 extraterrestrial Men in Black, who, however, have since the year 2002 no longer had any possibility whatsoever to cause any harm on the Earth, because the Plejaren deprived them of all possibilities for doing so.)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_252

Billy:

... You once explained to me that Alzheimer's disease is also triggered in certain cases by aluminium that gets into the brain. But why does aluminium get into the brain?

Ptaah:

114. Alzheimer's disease is basically genetically controlled and in this form too much aluminium is transported into the brain in certain cases. ...

Billy:

This brings me directly to the idea that this could already be a genetic manipulation that the powers in the Sirius regions had already carried out in ancient times in order to prepare the 'fighting machines' in such a way that sooner or later they would die of it.

Ptaah:

123. Your thought processes are amazing, because it actually behaved that way.

Billy:

Then other diseases, such as cancer, etc., could be equally genetically programmed?

Ptaah:

124. This is indeed the case, because a whole number of serious and most serious diseases that appear in humanity on Earth have been programmed in a genetically manipulated form.

125. In order to free oneself from this, however, the humanity of Earth or its scientists must learn how to deal with genetic manipulation, for which we release impulses in a responsible manner.

126. However, the path of development will be very long, because the research and the successes resulting from it must not overflow, so that damage is not done again.

{Note: See the entry for Contact Report 251 as to why these statements are related to the "Men In Black".}

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_264

Billy:

But I think that this is necessary if I have fake Asket and Nera pictures, which have been sold under this name until now. If that's the case, then I'm going to be viciously attacked

Ptaah:

11. It's not your fault, because it has to be assigned to your photographer, who let a group of Black Men force him to do the wrong thing and thereby cheated on you.

Billy:

I know this scum. One of them also pursued my daughter Gilgamesha once when she was on her way home from school. She was followed with a knife in her hand. When she was not caught, the cowardly guys fled in a big black limousine. ...

Ptaah:

16. Since you have not let yourself be intimidated by any of the infamous and dangerous and even life-threatening machinations of the Black Men since the beginning of your contacts with us, and since you even laughed at attempted murders and were always armed – with the appropriate permission of the authorities, I have to say – the Black Men found it necessary to make you look impracticable and unbelievable all over the world.

17. Since they could not get to you themselves, they massively forced people working with you, such as photographer Schmid, to discredit you in the long run.

18. Thus Schmid was forced to produce forgeries of the pictures you had taken with our permission, that is, to forge them from scratch, or to falsify the pictures you had taken.

19. Several times your own films, which you gave to the photographer Schmid during the first time of your contacts to develop and to make pictures, were replaced by completely new and faked films, consequently you already received many false negatives and photos from the very beginning – or even faked pictures.

20. This also happened with the film on which you captured Asket and Nera and which you only got back months later, and which was in fact a product of the Black Men who had found and photographed Asket's and Nera's doubles in America, after which the pictures were edited and handed over to you by Schmid.

21. Of course, you believed that they were the originals, but that they were truthfully fakes and your real photos were deceptively counterfeited.

22. That's why you did not notice the deception, which is equally true for us.

23. We only became aware of this fraud in the autumn of 1984, when we brought the pictures from you to Asket, because she wanted to have them.

24. She noticed the deception immediately, of course, consequently we investigated the matter and found out that the Black Men were responsible for the whole thing and that the photographer was their coerced tool.

(Note Ptaah from 3.3.2005: The pictures of the doppelgangers are so deceptive that even Ptaah let himself be misled and deceived by it. Only Asket noticed the deception nine years later.)

25. Schmid made the false pictures on their behalf and then submitted them to you as originals, so you were always of the opinion that they were your own pictures, also with regard to the pictures of Asket and Nera.

26. It was precisely with regard to these pictures that we found out that Schmid immediately handed over the film handed over to him in this respect to the 'Black Men' or to the 'Men in Black', as they are called in your ufological circles, as the case may be, who within just a few days were able to locate and photograph the Asket-Nera doppelgangers in America several times, so that the two pictures known to you were created and handed over to you.

27. The Giza intelligences also played a certain role in the whole thing, as well as on other occasions, as you know very well.

28. But we were not able to clarify the exact connections.

29. It is clear, however, that they had an impulse telepathic negative influence on a large number of people on Earth to damage, defame or even kill you, as has been attempted several times – unsuccessfully, fortunately.

30. And in the end everything was done to make you and your mission impossible, especially by accusing you of cheating on photo forgeries.

31. And both the 'Men in Black' still work today, as do the decades-long impulse telepathic negative machinations against you and your mission to be destroyed.

32. And affected by these impulses of the Giza intelligences should be all those who work full of intrigues, slander and other negative machinations against you and the mission without having knowledge of the impulses.

Billy:

Not exactly pleasing. – But how long will these Giza impulses continue to be effective on Earth?

Ptaah:

33. This may take another 200 or 300 years. ...

Billy:

... But may I now ask where this photographer Schmid actually came from, because he never told me his address. He always picked up my films and negatives etc. from me and brought them back to me himself. Once asked, he explained that he could not give his address, because his wife was not allowed to know that he went in and out of my house. She was against me and became devilish as hell if she only heard my name. He only always said that he came from the Rhine valley.

Ptaah:

42. The man died years ago.

43. Your question should therefore be superfluous.

44. I just want to say that it was a lie that he lived in the Rhine valley.

45. The reason, however, that he did not give you an address, must have been that he was under the pressure of the 'Men in Black', who really threatened him massively.

Billy:

He always seemed a little anxious. I remember that very well.

Ptaah:

46. With good reason when you think of the 'Black Men'.

Billy:

Actually, I feel sorry for the schemers and slanderers, because if they are blinded by the impulse telepathic machinations of the Giza intelligences, there is hardly any hope for them that they will ever come to reason and truth in this life, consequently they are more and more mistaken. – By the way, you have sent these Giza twerps elsewhere – is it really the case that they cannot get back to Earth from there or cannot make contact with other intelligences to influence them and cause new harm?

Ptaah:

47. The Earth-humans can be sure that they will never again be bothered by these degenerates.

48. Other intelligences are also safe from them. ...

Billy:

But now I remembered a question about the 'Men in Black' and their machinations with the doppelganger pictures and the photographer: How could the 'Men in Black' find the two Americans so easily and quickly and also photograph them in the desired form?

Ptaah:

62. The 'Men in Black', as they are always called because of their black clothes, have always had undreamt-of possibilities for ordinary people and citizens, which made it easy for them to find the two young artists.

63. In fact, nothing remains hidden from these extremely unscrupulous men when they get involved in something.

64. The pictures made of the doppelgangers, of which we actually told you on the 3rd of February 1985, were not made directly with the two young women, however, but were copied from a screening film that the 'Men in Black' got hold of.

65. I think this type of film used is called a revue film.

66. In any case, individual images of it were copied out, whereby the men, together with photographer Schmid, selected those which were most similar to your images of Asket and Nera, which is why you could be deceived in such a way.

67. So the purpose of the whole thing was to create certain situational pictures that were deceptively similar to the pictures you made of Asket and Nera.

68. The point was that you would, of course, distribute these fake or rather doppelganger pictures and sell them to interested parties – as real pictures of Asket and Nera.

69. But it was precisely this that one day would put you in the position of a cheater, because it was calculated that sooner or later someone hostile to you would investigate these images and thus get to the bottom of them, with the inevitable consequence that the aforementioned screening film or revue film would be found and the false Asket-Nera images in it would be recognized as those of the doppelgangers.

70. This should then be taken as proof of being able to expose you as an alleged cheater, thus making yourself and your story impossible and destroying your mission.

71. So already back in 1975 everything was thoroughly pre-programmed by the 'Men in Black'; just that the corresponding image sequences had to be found in the foreseeable future with their help, which should have happened by now and will be exploited by your enemies in the not too distant future.

72. And these enemies against you and your mission, that is beyond doubt for us, are all purely earth-human persons, who are under the influence of the Giza impulses, which are still effective for a long time.

Billy:

So also Korff and B.?

Ptaah:

73. Without any doubt.

Billy:

If you have already talked so much about the Men in Black, I have a question: Quetzal once told me that these men were also responsible for an assassination attempt on me. What attack was that?

Ptaah:

74. It's not just an attack, because of the 15 attempted murders so far, eleven truthfully go back to the 'Men in Black'.

Billy:

I thought it was just one. The second attack was carried out by a fanatical Jehovah witness who tried to shoot me in Hinwil through my office window. Another time, the Giza twerps were involved in an attack when lightning struck me out of the blue, and so on. Once Jacobus Bertschinger and the brothers Hans and Konrad Schutzbach were there when a bullet hit me on the armour plate in front of my chest. Once Silvano Lehmann stood next to me as a bullet hit the ground next to my feet. And also Wendelle Stevens was once there when a shot was fired and the bullet hit only a few centimetres next to my head in the wall etc.

Ptaah:

75. These things are all familiar to me, so you do not have to mention them.

Billy:

Good – The 'Men in Black' – I used to ask Quetzal if he could tell me where they come from and which organization they belong to. He explained things to me that sounded unbelievable and that concern areas that are hardly comprehensible for people who do not have enough imagination to imagine everything.

Ptaah:

76. Quetzal also explained to you that the explanations he gave you were a serious matter of trust that you should not talk about for the time being.

Billy:

I know, and I have always stuck to that. I only came to talk about it because I wanted to ask you whether the matter must continue to be a matter of trust and therefore remain secret.

Ptaah:

77. That is still the case for the time being, yes; and it will not change very quickly. ...

Billy:

... You said, in relation to the 'Men in Black', that the declarations on this were a matter of trust and that this would not change so quickly. Does that mean that perhaps in the future you will be able to make open statements about this? Many people would certainly be interested in this.

Ptaah:

99. This possibility cannot be excluded, but open declarations can only be made by our side if we know the exact how, from where and why of these mysterious beings.

100. For the time being, all this is still unclear to us, even though we have been trying for decades to solve the mystery.

101. So far we are only dependent on our assumptions, as they are known to you.

Billy:

They are to me, yes. But haven't you made any progress yet?

Ptaah:

102. In certain respects, yes.

103. For example, in the matter that today we have clear evidence that it was actually those 'Men in Black' who took so many important things out of your locked rooms and containers.

104. Their many opportunities, which they have at their disposal and which they master, can be easily accomplished by such organisations.

105. There are practically no limits to them, and that fact alone makes them very dangerous

Billy:

The guys don't shy away from murder either, not to mention their intrigues, which have always done them a lot of harm, drove people mad and insane when they became annoying and they didn't just want to kill them, because their mental and conscious instability offered better opportunities to cover up their crimes – not to speak of what they did and still do with forcing people, consciously or unconsciously, to do things that defy all rules of honourability and proper action. And what they have done and continue to do with regard to the leadership of certain governments and the military, etc., is really not a cowhide.

Ptaah:

106. That is all true, but we shouldn't talk about these matters any further now, because it wouldn't be good to expose assumptions before they have been proven.

107. And that would happen if we continued to discuss these issues.

108. But the fact is, and this may be said, that all those who know about the existence of these beings and deal with them, do not know in any way what is behind them and how dangerous these 'Men in Black' really are, whose machinations intimidate every normal human being and let him act according to the will imposed upon them, and who want to prevent by all means that positive extraterrestrial forces establish contacts with the terrestrial human beings and helpfully assist them.

109. But more may and should now really no longer be spoken.

Billy:

End of the flagpole. – Well, let's leave it. Only one thing I would like to address in this matter, and that is no secret: The 'Men in Black' have got the same abilities as the Giza twerps had, namely in the form that they are able to influence the humans of Earth negatively and maliciously by unnoticeable telepathic impulses. And it is precisely in this respect that I would like to ask you whether you know whether these unpleasant impulses still affect our group members today, as they did very often in the past?

Ptaah:

110. That is beyond doubt, but the individual members have consolidated themselves over the years to such an extent that they have already nipped in the bud the majority of the impulses that impair reason and truth in the bud, which is particularly peculiar to those who are consciously and psychologically quite stable.

111. Reason and truth have borne good fruit with them.

112. Nevertheless, it must be said that the dangerous telepathic impulses of the 'Men in Black' as well as the impulses of the deported Giza intelligences that will remain effective for a long time to come must not be regarded as harmless.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_265

Florena:

3. Our observations have shown, that the foreign beings known to you as the 'Men in Black' are again becoming active against you, in connection with the fact that you have publicly denounced their machinations with regard to the photo forgeries.

4. I am not only talking about the photo forgeries in relation to Asket and Nera, but also about all the other photo material that has been falsified and imputed to you.

Billy:

I am very happy that you warned me, but you are a little late with this warning, because I have already been confronted with the new machinations of the rabble on the 8th and 10th of June. You probably have not looked at the control disk yet, otherwise you would know about the incidents.

Florena:

5. What has happened? –

6. No, we do the inspection at the end of this month.

Billy:

Well, I have been shot at once again, but this time it is a hell of a close miss that I got hit. That was three days ago, on the 8th of June. Only 28½ hours later there was another attack, with a throwing knife that was thrown at me. ...

Florena:

19. I know that several witnesses were present when the assassination attempts were made on you.

Billy:

That is right, and they testify to what happened. Nevertheless, they even accuse me of lying and claim that I committed the attacks myself or hired other people to shoot myself down or have myself murdered in any other way.

Florena:

20. You cannot be serious.

Billy:

But it is, because certain enemies do not shy away from slander, nor from assassinations. I think that the attacks are less based on earth-human initiatives than on the machinations of the 'Men in Black', whereby this rabble influences unstable earthlings who then attack me.

Florena:

21. This also corresponds to what we know.

22. The influences and the related possibilities with regard to the post-hypnotic exercise of coercion on unstable Earth-humans are extremely distinctive.

Billy:

Then the assassin earthlings are under post-hypnotic coercion!

Florena:

23. That is the meaning of my words.

24. Those under compulsion cannot act otherwise.

Billy:

But one thing amazes me: How can the people who are forced to do so always disappear so quickly and soundlessly?

Florena:

25. They are programmed by post-hypnosis to carry out the attacks in certain places, from where they can also silently and quickly remove themselves again.

26. One peculiarity is that they never wait for the result of their attack, but leave the place immediately after the attack or hide in such a way that they cannot be found.

27. This also means that they are forced by hypnotic commands to wear light, fine shoes that hardly make any noise.

28. The clothing must also be adapted to the surroundings of the previously scouted out location.

Billy:

Although I know the reasons why the 'Men in Black' do not appear to me themselves, I still find it strange why I have not seen anything of these rascals for years. The last time was when the guys attacked my daughter Gilgamesha and apparently wanted to kidnap her.

Florena:

29. It's not that strange, because at least the group of these foreigners who were up to no good in the first few years are prevented from appearing on the Centre-grounds themselves by a reporting system we installed.

30. However, if they were to try this, which was the case several times before, we would immediately take action against them, which they find extremely unpopular, so they disappear without a trace, without us being able to decipher their flight coordinates for their leap in time, because they are so cleverly coded and torn that we are not able to decipher them even with our best technical means, which is also the reason why we have not yet been able to put their evil handicraft to them, as you like to say.

Billy:

But to my knowledge, Ptaah told me, there is also a group of men who are controlled by the earth authorities, who only dress in black and drive around with black bodies to put pressure on so-called UFO observers and so on.

Florena:

31. That is right, but they have not played a role in your case yet.

Billy:

Did they have anything to do with the secret service agents who were on me?

Florena:

32. No, in no way.

Billy:

But now it makes me wonder whether the earthlings, who are under posthypnotic pressure, cannot defend themselves against it?

Florena:

33. They are all unstable earthlings who are chosen for the purposes of the assassinations, and of course they are not able to defend themselves against them in such a way that they can free themselves from the coercion.

34. Such impulses may well appear in them, which then makes them uncertain about the execution of the deed, which was often your happiness, but they cannot disobey the order.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_266

Ptaah:

9. The whole thing undoubtedly leads back to the 'Men in Black', namely to those who do not have a form of governmental secret service.

Billy:

Then there are those thugs, who can encrypt their coordinates of origin in such a way that you have not been able to crack them yet. That's what Florena said. But what next?

Ptaah:

10. According to the records of the control disk, the assassin was undoubtedly a human being from Earth, who nevertheless is a resident outside the control field, because outside the control field his trail is lost.

11. Of course we could find the man, because he was one of them

12. But that should be useless, because he certainly does not know anything about the tele-hypnotic influence and command by the 'Men in Black'.

13. We are certain that he carried out the two assassinations without being aware of it, as was also the case in the past with all other attacks for which Earth-humans were hypnotically forcibly abused. ...

21. Even though our control sensors can prevent the particular group of 'Men in Black' responsible for the attacks from entering the Centre-grounds, they still have the opportunity to inflict damage on you by unstable Earth-humans with tele-hypnotic influences.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_274

Billy:

... But now a question about the strange occurrences of the vault and the disappearance of the corrections from the original report and the disorder in Engelbert's artwork. Can you try to do something about this and tell me what you ...

Could perhaps the 'Black Men' be behind this?

Florena:

13. Unfortunately, we have no knowledge of this, at least not with regard to the group that is not of earthly origin.

14. There is a possibility, however, because we do not have enough knowledge about their technology and other possibilities, because we have not been able to get hold of them up to now, as you know.

15. However, as far as the terrestrial organization of the Black Men is concerned, we know for sure that they do not have such possibilities to intrude unnoticed into your workroom and locked receptacles.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_311

{Note: See the entry for Contact Report 251 as to why these statements are related to the "Men In Black".}

Billy:

... Regarding the Sirians who at that time presented Sfath with their pear-shaped space ship: did that concern a people who, here on the Earth, is called "Nommo", and did those who provided the gift belong to the genetic manipulators?

Ptaah:

9. A people called "Nommo" is unknown to us, and indeed in our space-time configuration as well as in yours.

10. My father Sfath received his flying device as a gift from a Sirian people who are called Samanet.

Billy:

Did these people have something to do with the genetic manipulators?

Ptaah:

11. No, that is not the case.

12. With the Samanet people it deals with a people who live in a space-time configuration which is not identical with that in which the genetic manipulators live.

Billy:

Does it deal then with our space-time configuration?

Ptaah:

13. No, that is not the case.

Billy:

Then, in 1976 Semjase, your daughter, also did not speak of two solar systems of the planets of Sirius in our space time configuration, rather of a completely different one?

Ptaah:

14. Certainly.

15. We always only speak of the constellations known to you in your space-time configuration in order to show, in terms of direction, approximately what the talk is about in regard to the space-time configuration spoken about by us. ...

Billy:

I assume that those who were genetically manipulated also have nothing to do with the Samanet?

Ptaah:

17. That corresponds to the situation.

18. The Samanet are quite normal humans who have not been genetically manipulated.

Billy:

Those who were genetically manipulated, who came into the solar system together with the refugees from the ranks of the genetic manipulators, and therefore with the sympathisers of the genetically manipulated ones, were the descendants of those who had been genetically manipulated as well as descendants of those who did the genetic manipulations, or?

Ptaah:

19. That is correct.

20. The genetically manipulated descendants were descended from the eighth generation, as were the descendants of the genetic manipulators.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_384

Ptaah:

24. As you know, a large part of your material of our photos of beamships was falsified by the photographer Schmid under the pressure of a certain organization of the MiB and then planted on you again, just as it happened with your film and photo material of the Great Journey.

25. The films and slides showing our beamships were so meticulously falsified that suddenly threads were visible as if models had been hung up and photographed ...

...

29. Your ex-wife as well as H.S., M.S., Photographer Schmid and the aforementioned MiB organization were the originators of the fact that the materials first disappeared without a trace, only to reappear later in journals and newspapers worldwide, through which you could buy back negative copies from the slide owners.

...

44. The business with your slides, films and photos was extremely profitable for the four of them, although it is also certain that the aforementioned MiB organization as well as others who were hostile to you and still are today had their hands in it, even with horrendous sums of money, which is why it could also be that your ex-wife suddenly had a bank account in which 35,000 Swiss francs were hoarded.

...

Hans-Georg Lanzendorfer {article}:

The Plejaren investigations of this incident revealed the following: Since the organization 'Men in Black' could not eliminate him after several failed assassinations (in the end, 21 of them in total), which they committed against 'Billy', they forced people working with 'Billy', such as the above-mentioned photographer Schmid, to discredit BEAM in a very massive way. They meticulously planned their intrigues and defamations for the long term, so that the effects of their actions would only begin to be felt in the near future. On several occasions, the 'Men in Black' also tried to achieve their goal in the Semjase Silver Star Centre by attacking the members' vehicles or by intimidating and abducting children etc. In this form, the photographer Schmid was also forced by the 'Men in Black' to make fakes of the photographs that 'Billy' had taken with the permission of the Pleiades/Plejaren. On several occasions, pictures that Schmid had received from 'Billy' were forged from scratch or replaced by fakes, as happened with the Asket Nera photographs and the dinosaur photograph mentioned above. In this way, Eduard A. Meier received unnoticed false slides, negatives or manipulated photos back from Schmid already at the beginning of his contacts with the Pleiades/Plejaren. This photographer has since passed away and is therefore no longer able to provide any information about these manipulations.

For 'Billy' Eduard Albert Meier it was initially not easy to find a trustworthy photographer who developed his UFO pictures in an honest way without altering them. Even after the development his pictures were not safe from desecrating access in early years, because they were abused and passed on for falsification purposes already at the beginning of the contacts by administrative persons like H. S. and 'Billy's' ex-wife and companions. Thus, in addition to the originals, forged pictures are still in the possession of FIGU today, into which unknown persons have subsequently manipulated extremely bungling threads and hanging devices.

It is a fact that at no time any fake dinosaur photos were knowingly published by 'Billy' or the FIGU as real Billy photos. Such pictures are still not offered for sale among the officially available photos in the visitor albums. The so-called dinosaur photos are also not listed in the FIGU photo directory. It is known that BEAM had over 1,500 UFO-photos, of which the photographer Schmid falsified several. In addition in the first years about 1,200 pictures were stolen from partly unknown sides, which never appeared again. Various photos and negatives were published in journals etc. worldwide, which enabled 'Billy' to buy back his own pictures and negatives for expensive money to bring them back into his possession. Of course, not all of his photos can be made available for sale by 'Billy', because it is simply impossible to get hold of all stolen pictures. Therefore only the well-known and often desired pictures are offered to the visitors.

Since the so-called dinosaur photos of Quetzal were recognized as fake and destroyed, they are logically not available for sale today. There is no doubt that without the machinations of former malicious group members and without black-men manipulations the dinosaur photos would be as accessible to the visitors as the rest of the real beam ship photos. If BEAM had actually faked his UFO photos, as his opponents claim, he would probably be unscrupulous enough to bring the faked dinosaur photos among the people. But 'Billy' will be careful not to circulate not only his real pictures, which have been scientifically examined and found to be real, but also the dinosaur pictures faked by someone else. On the one hand he lacks the necessary greed for profit and unscrupulousness, on the other hand such nonsense and nonsense would endanger his true mission to the highest degree and finally make it impossible.

...

Obviously, in the mid-1970s, it was part of the plan of a sleazy counterfeiting organisation of the 'Black Men' and traitorous FIGU members (who, as a result of their useless efforts of destruction, finally left the FIGU of their own accord) to assign the aforementioned picture to the collection of 'Billy' Meier's photographs, along with various other forgeries. It was their goal to confront him one day with the fact of a fake, as they almost succeeded in doing in the case of the Asket/Nera photos. With wise foresight, Quetzal thwarted the attempt with the fake dinosaur photos as much as possible, but unfortunately some of the original dinosaur photos were confiscated and destroyed by the Plejaren. Thus the pictures were lost, but further abuse was avoided.

Unfortunately, it is no longer exactly comprehensible for the FIGU today who was ultimately responsible for the distribution of the forged picture in question – along with other forgeries.

What is certain is that it was deliberately played into the hands of the opposing circles of BEAM. Even for the alien Quetzal, it was extremely difficult during his investigations to find the source of the falsifications and the paths of the fake image. A participation of the 'Black Men' is therefore highly probable, since for many years it was almost impossible even for the Plejaren to get hold of these uncomfortable contemporaries. The secret of the 'Black Men' has now been revealed by the Plejaren, as well as the fact that they had very high technical means at their disposal to cover their tracks and that they let earthlings work for them in a forced hypnotic state.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_403

Quetzal {1982}:

The attack on you three days ago I could unfortunately not clarify, because the vibration of the person who shot at you apparently disappeared without trace immediately after the event from the corner of the house, just as if it had been radiated away. This leaves us with only one assumption, and that is that of the 'Black Men', the hateful little group of Sirians. But you should keep quiet about them until such time as we ourselves will talk about it openly. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_424

Ptaah:

29. As to the Gizeh Intelligences and the Sirian Black Men, that is another matter which leads back many thousands of years, whereas the Brazilian Group consisted of former Nazis who were able to take over an object of the Gizeh Intelligences, what we also were able to find out.

30. This group does not exist anymore today, and the Gizeh Intelligences were sent into exile and are becoming extinct.

31. In addition, the Sirian Black Men were rounded up and taken into custody through forces of their home world after their last evil attacks against you.

32. They also do not pose a threat anymore.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_450

Billy:

Then a question regarding the Sirians, with whom you've been in contact for some time now after all. My question is based on the fact that Bernadette is working on the 'Nokodemion Line' into a brochure, in which a statement of mine from the year 1995 is also integrated. At that time, it was still the case that you were not able to maintain contact with the Sirians, but that has changed some time ago, as you explained to me. How was it that you were able to get in contact with the Sirians after all?

Ptaah:

58. It is not the Sirian folks with whom we have come into contact, but our contacts take place only in remote communication form with some groups of consciously higher-evolved scientists.

59. These form our liaisons with the various governments, which are occupied by scientists who are also consciously higher-evolved and who lead the peoples.

60. We do not yet maintain personal or physical contacts, because various prerequisites for this are still missing.

61. The populations of the Sirian peoples themselves are not yet so far advanced in the evolution of consciousness that they would be equal to their scientists, and it is this fact that we cannot yet maintain official contacts with the Sirian peoples.

62. Physical contacts are not yet possible with regard to scientists either, but nothing stands in the way of remote communication contacts, because the evolution of consciousness of scientists allows this, which is why we have opened these contacts.

63. In the remote-communicative way we have also appealed to the Sirians' reason, so that the old persecution mania against those genetically manipulated by their primeval ancestors was abolished, which, however, had already been handed down only in ancient annals, but had long since been forgotten by today's Sirians and was only cultivated by a small group of fanatics who, like the neo-Nazis on Earth, for example, created and practised their hatred from the old writings within themselves.

64. But we only found out about this some time ago, just when we were able to contact various Sirian scientists by remote communication, whereby we did this because we wanted to get hold of those hateful fanatics who threatened your life for so long and called themselves the Men in Black.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_452

{see also Contact Report 65:52-59}

Ptaah:

14. Still you are mistaken respecting the sirian Men in Black, because these also formed links with the Gizeh-Intelligences from the beginning, also like the faction of Ashtar Sheran.

15. The Gizeh-Intelligences controlled all approaches to the earthly airspace for millennia and forced all those, who they could use for themselves, into the alliance through despotism and a forcible change of power of judgment and attitude.

16. Since, however, you have never asked and apparently were also not therein interested regarding these connections, we also have never spoken about it.

Billy:

I understand a brainwashing, that comes about by a forcible change of the power of judgment and attitude of the human being, through strong psychic and physical pressure, in which also drugs and electromagnetic, electric and mechanical torture are often applied.

Ptaah:

17. This corresponds to the meaning of my words.

Billy:

Then, that now is finally clear. The connections with the Gizeh-honchos and other extraterrestrials are therefore much trickier and more extensive, as you told me. But even so, I also have never asked about it, consequently you also have told me nothing about the details. Then, however, I have a problem again, and in fact with the extraterrestrial aircraft, that the Brazilian-group had, from which I was set about in the year 1976 in Winkelriet near Wetzikon. You told me at that time – which unfortunately was not recorded in any contact-report – that it concerned a beamship, which indeed was piloted by people from a distant galaxy, and in fact with poison gas breathers or such, that they, however, were members of your federation, if I am not mistaken. ...

Ptaah:

18. Unfortunately you are mistaken, dear friend, because the strangers were not members of our federation, but they belonged to another group of the Gizeh-Intelligences and were stationed also with these, whereby they had to make an emergency landing in Brazil at that time and were captured by the Brazilian-group.

19. Actually they were poison gas breathers, who all died, when their respiration-equipment failed.

20. They could not leave the Earth anymore, because their interstellar drive was completely destroyed, which was a work of the Gizeh-Intelligences, as we found by experience through the members of the Sirian group.

21. The reason for the destruction of the drive was so that they could not flee, because the Gizeh-Intelligences had a `change` in fundamental attitude.

Billy:

And the Gizeh-twerps didn't undertake anything, as the ship had to make an emergency landing in Brazil, and the respiration-equipment failed, so also nothing, since the old Nazis of the Brazilian-group captured the ship?

Ptaah:

22. Their nature and behaviour was, that they simply gave up lost aircraft, as also they were not concerned about missing people etc. either.

23. Furthermore they were on close terms with the Brazilian group, which, however, that already for a long time does not exist anymore, because everyone of the faction has died by now because of ageing and illness.

Billy:

All members of this group were former officers of the German empire who escaped from Germany to Brazil, they were mainly leading lights and henchmen of the Nazi-empire and therefore escaped war-criminals.

Ptaah:

24. This was actually the case.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_471

Billy:

... During the 424th official conversation of the 17th of June 2006, you told me that the Black Men, those who wanted me to separate from my boots (= to kill), had been captured at last. You said the following: "Since their last evil actions against you, the Sirian Black Men have been seized by forces from their home world and have been taken prisoner." And also during the 452nd official conversation of the 7th of July 2007, this was mentioned. Now I have been asked about how this came about. Can you give me details?

Ptaah:

115. I can explain the following:

116. Through our information about a technical innovation that we had received from the Sonaens, the Sirian scientists were able to register the Men in Black's start, flight and destination coordinates which had been encrypted to such a degree that they could not be decrypted for a very long time.

117. After having obtained the destination coordinates, it was detected that they lead to the planet Mars in the SOL system.

118. Consequently, in the year 2006, Sirian security forces were mobilized who are in possession of space technology that makes it possible to switch between space and time configurations.

119. Those forces secretly started with the aim to catch the Men in Black on planet Mars.

120. On the planet they found very ancient and functioning stations of former occupants/inhabitants, which were used by the Men in Black. From those bases they planned the assassination attempts on you and also pursued other evil machinations on Earth towards groups of Earth-humans.

121. The Men in Black were taken prisoner and all stations were totally eliminated, just as it was the case with all monuments and other things that were erected by the former inhabitants of the planet.

Billy:

Does this mean that now no human-built artefacts can be found on Mars? Why did they do this?

Ptaah:

122. That's the meaning of my words, because all of such artefacts had been removed.

Therefore, only natural artefacts can be found now that were created by nature, as I had once remarked to you during a private talk.

123. You then did not ask why only naturally-created artefacts can be found on Mars, though

124. I do not attribute this to your inattentiveness, but to your bad health situation at that time when I told you this.

125. And regarding the total elimination of everything by the Sirian forces that lead back to the former inhabitants: The reason for this was that it is a Sirian law that everything has to be totally eliminated wherever criminal actions have occurred.

126. This applies to human acquisitions of all kinds on certain locations, as well as on entire planets, if such are not inhabited by a human population, which was also the case with Mars.

Billy:

Maybe you have told me everything, but I only remember that you told me that only natural artefacts can still be found on Mars. Somehow there's a hole in my memory, because I may not remember that we had spoken about that what you have said regarding the finding of the Men in Black on Mars and the removal of all human artefacts. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_625

Billy:

Then a question regarding what you once told me, namely that in the United States there is a grouping resp. a secret organisation, that is very well concerned with the things about extraterrestrials and their flying apparatuses etc., but which, in terms of its machinations, knowledge and experiences, is, however, shielding itself not only from the public but also in relation to the US President and the senior rulers, so that they are all left in unknowledgeness and not informed. Is that still the case today?

Ptaah:

103. Yes, and this corresponds to an undisputable but extremely secret fact, whereby the responsible ones of this grouping are also anxious to deny and conceal their machinations, cognitions and experiences about non-terrestrials, the way these are given regarding non-terrestrial existences, activities, relations and incidents etc.

104. This grouping resp. secret organisation also poses a great danger to persons who make certain observations regarding so-called UFOs as well with regard to secret activities that originate from the grouping.

105. Particularly when observing persons want to get to the bottom of the matter and thus create elucidation, they run the risk of getting caught up in the cogwheels of the secret organisation and being gone after or even harmed – should it end with nothing but harming.

Billy:

What do you mean by “great danger”, must it be understood as danger to life and “disappearing from the scene”?

Ptaah:

106. That corresponds to what I mean.

Billy:

Aha, then we are, as in the past, back with the dark dressed ones, who also followed Gilgamesha. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_672

30. Men in Black: Secret US government officials dressed in black ensure that mysterious sightings do not give rise to witness testimony.

Ptaah:

120.FALSE _

121. 'Men in Black' have nothing to do with US government officials, because that is pure fantasy, as opposed to the 'Black Men' who belonged to a group intent on destroying the FIGU mission, up to and including assassinations.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_680

Billy:

... when the Rhine Valley photographer Schmid had forged the Asket-Nera photos, and the 'Black Men' group was also involved, in order to destroy my work and make me seem outrageously as an alleged fraud in the whole world. ...

...

{Contact 263}

Ptaah:

11. It is not your fault, because it has to be assigned to your photographer, who was forced to do something wrong by a group of the 'Black Men' and cheated you.

Billy:

This rabble is known to me. One of them also once chased my daughter Gilgamesha when she was on her way home from school. They ran after her with a knife in her hand. When she was not caught, the cowardly guys fled in a big black limousine.

...

Ptaah:

16. Since you have never been intimidated by any kind of infamous and dangerous and even life-threatening machinations of the 'Black Men' since the beginning of your contacts with us and even laughed at attempted assassinations and were always armed – with the appropriate permission of the authorities, I must say – the 'Black Men' found it necessary to make you outrageous and unbelievable all over the world.

...

20. This also happened with the film on which you captured Asket and Nera, which you only got back months later, and which was in fact a product of the 'Black Men' who had located and photographed Asket's and Nera's doubles in America, after which the pictures were edited by Schmid and handed over to you.

...

23. We only became aware of this deception in the autumn of 1984, when we brought the pictures from you to Asket, because she wanted them.

24. She noticed the deception immediately, of course, so we went into it and found out that the Black Men were behind the whole thing and that the photographer was their forced tool.

...

26. With regard to these images in particular, we found out that Schmid immediately handed over the film he had developed to the 'Black Men', respectively to the 'Black Men', as they are called in your ufological circles, who within a few days had found the Asket and Nera doubles in America and had been able to take several photographs, so that the two images you knew were created and handed over to you.

...

31. And both the 'Black Men' are still working against you and your mission, which is to be destroyed, as well as the decades of continuous impulse-telepathic negative machinations.

...

45. But the reason that he did not give you an address might have been that he was under the constraints of the 'Black Men', who really threatened him severely.

...

Billy:

... But now one question has finally occurred to me which relates to the 'Black Men' and their machinations with the doppelgangers and the photographer: How could the 'Black Men' find the two Americans so easily and quickly and also photograph them in the desired form?

Ptaah:

62. The 'Black Men', as they are called because of their always black clothing, have always had undreamt-of possibilities for normal human beings respectively citizens, which made it easy for them to find the two young artists.

63. In fact, nothing is hidden from these extremely unscrupulous men when they get involved in something.

64. The pictures made in relation to the doppelgangers we actually told you about on the 3rd of February 1985, were however not made directly with the two young women, but were copied from a screening film that the 'Black Men' got hold of.

...

71. So already back in 1975 everything was thoroughly pre-programmed by the 'Black Men'; that the corresponding picture sequences had to be found in the foreseeable future with their help, which has probably happened in the meantime and will be exploited by your enemies in the not too distant future.

...

Billy:

... I think that these excerpts made by Christian in connection with Michelle DellaFave's visit are necessary to bring the matter of the Asket-Nera photos in connection with Michelle and her former colleague Susan 'Suzy' Lund to a close after a long time. The origin of the whole thing – from which a worldwide controversy and an intrigue against me arose, in order to make me out to be a fraud and to call me names, whereby my ex-wife was also diligently involved – is over 40 years ago. As part of this intrigue, I was planted with fake Asket Nera photographs, which in reality showed Michelle DellaFave and her colleague Susan 'Suzy' Lund, taken by the Dingaling Sisters on the famous Dean Martin Show in the USA, which had been misused to make me look like a fraud. They were taken by a photographer named Schmid, together with the help of the so-called 'Black Men' who often crept around our Centre and caused various damages, but also threatened our daughter Gilgamesha with a knife. The photographer Schmid, who died some time ago, was an acquaintance of ..., who was also a hobby photographer and who managed my more than 1,500 slides, photos and eight films, kept them in safekeeping and also sold them worldwide on his own account, but also gave them to photographer Schmid, who forged them on behalf of the 'Black Men'. The Black Men prosecuted a small group of people from Switzerland and Germany, but there was also a small group of the ... who wanted to destroy all my work and defame me as a fraud worldwide. Furthermore, my ex-wife also tried to do this through lies and slander, together with ... and ... from Basel, by making a slander film and broadcasting it on television in various countries around the world. But also ... and ... and ..., but also ... and ... The 'Black Men' who were creeping around the Centre and who were also responsible for several of the 23 assassination attempts that have been carried out on me so far, had nothing to do with the alleged 'Black Men' – who in the USA as American secret service agents of the CIA and the FBI are supposed to have harassed and threatened people because they had observed UFOs. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_710

Ptaah:

24. The insidious actions against you by certain secret services, through which you were also federally registered in Switzerland, should also be mentioned in this regard, as well as the machinations of the so-called 'Black Men' who were integrated into the UFO hysteria at that time, who also had your daughter in their sights and who was only spared an abduction because she luckily ran away from these dark figures and ran home when she was on her way home from school, as you know.

25. As we found out in this regard, this dark group was out to kidnap your daughter in order to coerce you into keeping a low profile regarding our contacts, your photos and interview reports, etc.

26. You should have been prevented from coming out in public, as well as from mentioning the dark organisation in connection with you and our contacts.

27. But when you continued undeterred, but did not mention the fact of the Earth-presence of the Earth-foreigners according to our order, and we spoke generally only of the Giza Intelligences, it came to pass that the dark-organisation became sensible that you and we Plejaren – when we still misleadingly used the false designation 'Pleiades' for lying and fraudulent contact-imitators of all kinds – had nothing to do with the Earth-foreigners.

28. Because of this, the dark ones were active in a threatening manner and harassed UFO observers all around and triggered fear and anxiety, fears and worries through evil threats.

...

43. I can do that, but there is not much to explain, because for various reasons connected with the Earth-foreigners and the 'Black Men', as well as with the US and other secret services, we had to behave in such a way that we pretended to be uninformed and our contacts appeared unreal from the point of view of the Earth-foreigners, the 'Black Men', and all the various secret services.

44. This could only be done by distancing ourselves from calling the Earth-foreigners the originators of the Fatima phenomenon, for if we had done so, the insidious efforts of the dark men and secret services against you would have continued.

45. Also assassinations could not have been avoided under certain circumstances by the non-human Earth-foreigners, as it would also have been possible under certain circumstances by certain secret agents and the 'Black Men', who had nested in the restaurant Brückenwaage in Dussnang and cooperated with each other.

46. If attacks against your life had also been carried out from these sides, then this would have been done in an absolutely deadly and thus in a completely different way than all those attacks on your life which were carried out unprofessionally by confused people, sect members, misguided people and other antagonists.

47. But the threat of the secret agents and dark figures had to be prevented, which could only be done by deliberate misleading, and this also with regard to the Fatima event, which we misleadingly called the machination of the Giza Intelligences instead of the Earth-foreigners, when it came up in our conversations.

48. In fact, the Giza Intelligences were also Earth-foreigners, whom we actually deported, but who were just as unknown to the Earth-foreigners as we were to them.

49. Like us, the Giza Intelligences also had similar devices for complete shielding, so that they too could not be located by the Earth-foreigners and could also not be perceived in any other way.

50. Consequently, they also knew nothing about their presence on Earth and were therefore simply non-existent for the Earth-foreigners.

51. So, confusing as it all may seem, we had to put the Giza Intelligences in the foreground, which, according to our providential plan and hope, obviously appeared to be a fantasy product of your statements by the Earth-foreigners, the secret services and 'Black Men', as well as our contacts and conversations.

52. This only furthered the controversy, which, however, helped the fulfilment of our plans, because the interest of the Earth-foreigners, secret services and 'Black Men' quickly waned and you were left alone by them, which has since been maintained in your favour. ...

Billy:

... So your explanations, statements and declarations were formulated in such a way for the public and to be kept in writing by me and to be spread in the world, just without your mentioned additions 'as a rule' and 'under reserve', whereby the misunderstanding impression was awakened and it seemed as if you would completely deny all abductions concerning earthlings by extraterrestrials and any contacts with them. But this was not the case in reality, because you spoke of relatively and 'as a rule' and 'with reservations', which I had to conceal for certain reasons and must also do now according to your instructions. In view of the circumstances prevailing at the time and in view of all that could have been expected and all the extremely unpleasant and even malicious things that would have come to light in connection with the US Air Force, the US secret services, the US government, the 'Men in Black' and the US shadow government, if you had freely and openly stated the effective facts, you informed me in detail about this and that is why I was also bound to secrecy. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_724

{letter from Mr. ...}

16. What about those people who are supposed to have been abducted by extraterrestrials, and what is it about the Giza Intelligences, Astar Sheran, Men in Black, and underwater UFO stations, and what is it regarding countless UFO sightings and UFO interference in the last world war by Foo-Fighters, as well as in the Korean War and Vietnam War, etc.?

Billy:

You see, Ptaah, these are the 16 questions that Mr ... has written here in this letter, to which, however, I may only answer some that relate to things that need not be kept secret. ...

Regarding the 'Men in Black' and 'Underwater UFO Stations' I am not allowed to give any information about them ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_759

Billy:

... From various places where I had to take films and photos, various films and slides disappeared without a trace from my office at Wihaldenstrasse 10 in Hinwil during the first few days after work, before I could take them to Mr Bär for development. How and who stole everything and made it disappear, I can only guess. So, over time, more and more films and photos disappeared. In addition, my originals were falsified by the photographer Schmid, as he repeatedly emphasized, in collaboration with and under the control of 'Men in Black', who had been CIA people, and provided with 'hanging threads' and copies were made of them, while these people had taken my originals, as he said when I confronted him. The whole thing was allegedly done to give the impression that I had photographed suspended models. So a lot of my films and photos had been tampered with, but I only discovered this a long time later, after he had given me back some of my material. The CIA people had taken what was missing, just as they had also manipulated and faked the Asket photo. He explained over and over again that these people had forced him to do everything and that he had therefore had to do it. Moreover, he was afraid as he complained again and again.

return to Index

Mermaids

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mermaid>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_750

Billy:

... mermaids which were already wandering through mythology at that time, but which in reality were not human sea-Wesen, but seals, which were mistakenly considered human Wesen by the human beings, because in water these mammals could easily be considered human-like.

return to Index

Glenn Miller disappearance

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Glenn\_Miller#Disappearance

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_213

Billy:

... One asked about Glenn Miller. He was a jazz musician who disappeared one day during the war, without a trace, and was declared as missing. Can you give any information about this? Because to this day, it is still puzzling as to where this Glenn Miller disappeared.

Quetzal:

25. About that, I can explain a few things to you, as it concerns a man who was a musician and, thus, one who falls into our art records. Glenn Miller was inadvertently killed by his own people, that is, by allied forces, on his way from England to France.

26. He was on his way to Paris to attend a Christmas celebration.

27. He flew his aircraft very low over the English Channel, as American Lancaster aircraft dropped their surplus bombs into the English Channel, without the crews noticing that beneath them, a smaller aircraft crossed their flight path.

28. This aircraft, in which Glenn Miller sat, was hit by the dropped bombs, upon which it exploded, was torn into the smallest pieces, and then plunged into the sea.

29. The small pieces of debris were scattered hundreds of metres, while Glenn Miller was completely torn apart into the smallest particles.

30. This is the real truth, which has no relation at all to the false story that Glenn Miller, for indefinable reasons, died in the arms of a prostitute in Paris.

return to Index

Minoan Civilization

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Minoan\_civilization

see also Minotaur

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_055

Semjase:

195. Small-Atlantis was destroyed about 6,000 years later, indirectly by the gigantic Destroyer, the giant comet, which brought Venus into the SOL system 3,500 years ago.

196. The enormous vibrations of the Destroyer racing by, and the following Venus, caused enormous damage on Earth.

197. It trembled, burst in many places, and huge volcanoes erupted.

198. One of them was the existing Santorini.

199. It exploded and tore various islands down into the sea within a wide radius, while the sea began to bubble and an approximately 2,000 metre high tidal wave was generated, which rolled over today's Crete to Egypt and Syria.

200. Crete was called Minoa at that time and its inhabitants were Atlantean descendants.

201. Many of them were still able to flee to the Hellenic mainland and thus save themselves.

202. Minoa remained an island, but most of the islands of Little-Atlantis around Santorini sank.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_125

Semjase:

182. Those, my friend, are the names, as I already promised them to you long ago. {Note: This Contact Report contains a lengthy list of names and their meanings.}

183. Listed in accordance with our alphabet letters, I selected 21 male and 21 female names for you, as these were common on Earth about 14,000 years ago and were brought at that time by our direct ancestors.

184. The names handed over to you come from two languages, the original Lyran and Vegan languages, but at the same time, different dialects were united by those living together on the Earth.

185. Unfortunately, due to all the cataclysms in the course of thousands of years, only very few of these names were preserved or preserved in similarity.

186. In the main, they only exist in old languages, which have already become historic languages on your planet and are only spoken very seldom.

187. In many cases, however, they have also fallen to rather bad changes and distortions in these languages, so they are often hardly recognisable therein.

188. Most values are still contained in the so-called Ancient Greek, but this language itself already represents a distortion, for truly, this concerns the latest Minoan.

189. Thus, that language which was spoken by the people of the Minoans and which, by these, was taught to the ancient Hellenes (Greeks), together with many things of their culture at that time, until the Santorini volcano exploded about 3,500 years ago and the Minoans had to flee to the mainland.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_159

Billy:

I have also noticed that various names are still common on the Earth today, sometimes in well-preserved or partially preserved form.

Quetzal:

...

75. When these names were introduced on the Earth, these were given in eight different languages, which were, nevertheless, all of Lyran origin.

76. From this, new languages developed on the Earth over the course of millennia, from which then, primarily, the oldest languages known on Earth arose, but these strongly flowed through from the original languages introduced.

77. The best-known languages that arose from it are Sumerian, Aramaic, Hebrew, Minoan, Celtic, etc.

78. From the Celtic, for example, there arose many other languages, from which, ultimately, today's German language, the Flemish, and also other languages arose.

79. From the Minoans, Ancient Greek arose and so on and so forth.

80. And in all these languages, of course, the anciently introduced names were common, which have been received or modified in the course of time.

81. What is still most commonly available today in names is found in those areas of languages that run in the Minoan direction and which have been incorporated into the later Ancient Greek, by which means they have been preserved to a large part up to this day, though often modified.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_213

Quetzal:

145. Two factors were to blame for the fall of the Minoan culture, namely on the one hand, the disorder of the Minoan society, which was very divided in some respects and which created evil hatred in the various social structures, even due to the disagreement that the Minoan empire threatened to fall apart.

146. The cultural structures split apart, and soon, the whole thing threatened to degenerate into a war of the entire citizenry and, thus, of all levels of society.

147. But before this could happen, a tremendous natural disaster occurred, namely as the Santorini Volcano erupted and burst forth lava, gas, steam, and ash, whereby the ashes alone exhibited the large amount of 73.6 cubic kilometres.

148. Also vast sulfur fumes belonged to this, whereby the whole atmosphere was so polluted and shrouded in a veil that the Sun was darkened, and climate changes emerged from this, which lasted for several years.

149. Low temperatures arose from the veil of smoke and dust in the atmosphere, which caused many years of harvest failures.

150. The bad and poor harvests led to the great famine during the following period.

151. In addition, the Santorini volcano did the rest, for as a result of its powerful eruption and the subsequent explosion – which triggered gigantic tsunamis that devastated the large areas of the Minoan island when the waters raged across the island – many buildings and lands were destroyed, while very many people lost their lives.

152. The largest tsunami, however, the huge tidal wave caused by the explosion of the volcano, rolled far across the sea to Egypt, being red with the blood of countless slaughtered aquatic animals, whereby the river Nile then coloured itself red, and many people in Egypt died.

153. But the tsunami found no end in Egypt and rolled back into the sea, where it united with another tsunami, which was generated by the explosion of the Santorini volcano, and rolled eastward, where the country was destroyed once again and people were killed, when the wild waters penetrated into the country.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_551

Ptaah:

84. ... the Minoan volcano Thera – as it was called in former times, or Santorini today ...

return to Index

Minotaur

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Minotaur>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_559

Billy:

... But because of the Taurus Man, the Greek mythology comes to my mind, the legend of the Minotaur, the human being of the bull. At the time of Minos, the king on the island of Crete, he asked the sea god Poseidon for a particularly beautiful and powerful bull to sacrifice to him. Poseidon heard the request, created such a bull and let it rise from the sea. King Minos, however, was so blinded by the beauty of the animal that he kept it for himself, but intended to slaughter another for the sea god. Poseidon, however, became angry and punished the king by casting a spell on Mino's wife for breaking the word: Queen Pasiphae. She fell in love with the bull and commissioned the court artist Daidalos to build a wooden cow, which was hollow inside and covered with fur. When this was done, she climbed into the hollow cow to be mounted and mated with Poseidon's bull, because he liked the work of art and felt attracted to it. Then nine months later the queen gave birth to a child, a monster, half human being, half bull, the Minotaur. This animal-human-child grew up and became big and strong, preferring to eat human beings. But to prevent this Minotaur from causing any harm, the king ordered his master builder Daidalos to build a labyrinth in which the monster was locked up and could not escape. To feed the Minotaur, King Minos had seven boys and seven girls kidnapped every nine years from the city of Athens, which he had subjugated, and then had them taken to Crete and thrown to the monster. One of the young men was Theseus, a son of the sea god Poseidon and stepson of the king of Athens. But the daughter of king Minos, Ariadne, fell in love with him and helped him to kill the monster in the labyrinth. To help Theseus find his way out of the labyrinth, she gave him a wooden spool with a long thread wound around it, which he unwound as he entered the labyrinth and marked his path, which he followed and found on his way back out. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_750

Billy:

... Examples of this are, on the one hand, the incident in Hinwil when, in the presence of witnesses such as Jacobus and my ex, I gave myself a fresh shave and left the house around midnight, only to be on the road together with your daughter Semjase for around a week in the past, but then, through a time manipulation, returned home five hours later after leaving the house at 5 hrs – with a week's beard sprouting on my face. Then ...

Ptaah:

85. This is familiar to me because you were in Crete together because you were interested in the mythological story about the Minotaur and wanted to know the truth about it.

Billy:

Because at that time I wanted to get to the bottom of various stories from different mythologies in general, so also concerning the Minotaur, who is said to have been a human-eating monster – half human being half bull. The Minotaur was a figure of Greek mythology and a creature with a human body but a bull's head. According to Greek mythology and legend, King Minos ruled Crete at that time and was regarded and worshipped as the son of the god Zeus and the goddess Europa. Minos allegedly asked Poseidon, the sea god who is said to have been his uncle, for a miracle of help to become king of Crete, but also to prevent anyone else from becoming king. In doing so, Minos is said to have promised and sworn that he would sacrifice everything that emerged from the sea to the sea god for the rest of his life, including the mermaids who were already haunting the mythologies at that time, but who were in fact not human sea creatures but seals, which people mistakenly considered to be human beings because these mammals could easily be seen as human-like in the water. Poseidon, the saga goes, performed the 'miracle' and Minos became king.

In return for Minos becoming king, he was supposed to offer a sacrifice to the sea god, namely a magnificent bull which the latter sent to Minos, but which pleased the latter so much that he placed it in his own herd of cattle, only to sacrifice an inferior animal instead. Poseidon, however, is said to have become grim and pissed off and boundlessly furious at this and exacted sea-divine revenge in such a way that he allegedly made Pasiphae, the wife of Minos, fall in love with the magnificent bull he sent to Minos as an offering. Pasiphae, the legend explains, as a result of her infatuation, then desired the sea-divine bull in order to mate with it. And in order to be able to do this, she had Daedalus, a clever architect, inventor and technician, who according to the legend was a descendant of the god Hephaistos, build a wooden mating frame.

Daedalus, alias Daedalus, as he is called in German – I must explain this in between – was, according to the legend, an extremely jealous man who, when his pupil invented the saw, killed him by throwing him to his death from a high roof. Afterwards, according to the legend, he fled to Crete so as not to have to answer to the court in his home town of Athens. He also took his son Icarus with him on his flight.

But now back to Pasiphae, the wife of King Minos, for whom Daedalus, according to the legend, built a wooden mating rack that was covered with a cow skin and in which the woman could hide in such a way that she was mated by the bull, so that she lay down in the cow mating rack and was impregnated by the bull. So, according to the legend, she did it and was copulated by the bull, and then, at the correct time, she gave birth to a son from this union, who was half human being and half bull, or the Minotaur, a monster with the form of a human being and the head of a bull.

When King Minos was confronted with all that had happened to his wife and the bull, Daedalus had to build a labyrinth without an exit, but he secretly considered and built one, of which the king was unaware. When the labyrinth was finished, the king had the monster imprisoned in the labyrinth, also forbidding Daedalus to leave the island.

One day, when King Minos received news that his son Androgeos had been killed by the fault of King Aigeus of Athens, he waged a revenge campaign against Athens and defeated the Athenians, after which he imposed a vicious tribute on them, namely that every nine years they had to bring seven youths and seven virgins to Crete and the Minotaur's labyrinth, where they were sent to the Minotaur's labyrinth and sacrificed to it.

Eventually, however, the saga continues, the matter was brought to an end by Theseus, the son and later successor of Aigeus, taking part in the 3rd tribute himself, killing the monster Minotaur in the process. Ariadne, the daughter of King Minos, fell in love with him and helped him with her Ariadne's thread, which he laid out in the labyrinth and thus, with the help of the thread, found his way through the labyrinth in which the Minotaur lived. There are other versions of this, but I won't talk about them, only that the legend says Theseus defeated and killed the Minotaur and found his way out of the labyrinth with the help of the thread laid out by Ariadne with the young men and maidens. ...

But what prompted me to let myself be taken back to Minoan times was the reason for wanting to find out how, why and from what the Minotaur legend arose. And this I was indeed able to find out, the reality being that the Mino-taurus legend had only arisen almost 3 centuries after the death of King Minos and was based on something that had nothing whatsoever to do with the belief in the sea god Poseidon. The effective fact was that, as your daughter Semjase and I were no doubt able to learn and ascertain at the sites of the events of the time, Pasiphae, the wife of King Minos, was impregnated by him and then gave birth to a son who was physically deformed, similar to the 'Elephant Man' who lived in England in the last century. ...

Like Joseph Carey Merrick, the so-called 'Elephant Man', the second son of King Minos and his wife Pasiphae was also severely physically deformed and had a certain resemblance to a bull's head, as well as a completely disfigured figure and face. And as was the case then, and as is also the case today, the boy was disowned by his parents as a result of his already congenital physical deformity. At that time, disabled children were usually killed at birth, but Minotaur, as he was called, was not. This was because the king and his wife feared that the sea god had brought about the whole of the body deformation as a punishment because they had spread evil insults against him. Therefore, they were afraid that Poseidon would take new and even worse revenge on them if the son who had been deformed by his might were killed. So Minos and Pasiphae decided that a court servant, Aphaia or so her name was, should take care of the son and bring him up, far away in the vast countryside. Minotaur had a good Intelligendum, was of a very peaceful nature and had been astonishingly well educated by the court servant, so that one could converse with him through a translator. When he was grown up and also made aware of his origins by his governess, he tried to get to the court and demand his rights, but this led to the king and his wife reacting viciously and consequently commissioning Daidalos to build a labyrinth, which was actually a huge cave, to imprison the physically deformed son in. However, always fearing the vengeance of Poseidon, they tried to appease the sea god by arranging for human sacrifices to be regularly offered in the labyrinth, but only youths of both sexes, who were first chosen from the population, stolen and killed as sacrifices, but later by Athens after war had been waged there and the Minoans had been victorious.

What must ultimately be mentioned with regard to the whole matter is that, as a result of the sacrifice of young human beings to appease or calm the god Poseidon and out of fear of revenge, the lie arose that the imprisoned man called Minotaur, who had been cast out by his father and mother because of his deformed face, head and body, was a human eater, which is why the human beings sacrificed to Poseidon would also serve him as food.

return to Index

Moon origin

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Origin\_of\_the\_Moon

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_005

Semjase:

39. The Flood 10,079 years ago (related to the year 1975) was caused by a gigantic comet, which has already caused a lot of damage and has been traversing the universe since time immemorial.

40. We call it the "Destroyer", and we know that it has already been racing through outer space for millions of years.

64. Sure, but I am not finished yet, because I want to tell you even more primordial things now; the prehistory of this comet so fateful for the Earth, which also brought the satellite, the Moon over here – the fragment of a small planet from a very distant solar system.

65. The Earth's moon, which originates from a small planet 4.5 million years older than the Earth.

66. It was millions of years ago.

67. Deep in the unknown space, in a space-time shifted solar system of the Milky Way, a solitary star floated far away from the normal orbits of the satellites orbiting the Sun.

68. It was a dark star, devoid of any life, very dangerous in its unpredictable path, into which it had been flung by an immense eruption of its original sun.

69. This was when its original sun burst through all-shaking explosions and, in its destruction, partially destroyed the satellites orbiting it or hurled them as dangerous projectiles into the dark space.

70. The sun itself then collapsed into itself and tore a hole in the outer space.

71. Its material pressed itself together with monstrous Gewalt and was compressed into a small mass.

72. While the sun in its normal pulsating state had a diameter of eleven million kilometres, it now shrank down to a concentration of only 4.2 kilometres.

73. As a result, the material was compressed in such a way that a single cubic centimetre weighed several thousand tons.

74. Since then it has hovered in space as a dark, gaping hollow, which tears everything within millions of kilometres of its perimeter into itself, whatever it is capable of seizing and what falls under its spell.

75. The dark star, which got flung away by it at that time, got caught again in a neighbouring solar system and orbited it in an unpredictable path.

76. In the field of the force of the huge sun, it orbited the sun's satellites for many millennia as well as the sun itself, testifying to the fact that it would sometime cause a catastrophe to fall upon the system.

77. Yet still far away from the actual worlds, the dark planet, bare of any life, roamed through space.

78. Powerfully and unapproachably, it drifted through the icy cold of the universe – as an outcast, as a wandering planet, as a stranger in a foreign system; dark, dangerous, and deadly.

79. Within the hold of the far outstretched force-arms of the sun, it came closer and closer over the course of thousands of years to the actual area of the system of satellites, which it had already been orbiting for such a long time at an ever-increasing speed.

80. Imperceptibly, however, its course always became narrower and narrower, and year by year the extent of its danger grew.

81. After the thousands of years, it then rushed suddenly and unexpectedly into the closest sphere of influence of the sun and its planets.

82. Like a greedy monster, it emerged from the blackness of the universe and announced deadly destruction.

83. Initially it was only like a silhouette out of nowhere; but then it was recognised in a hazy and blurred way as a half-dark round disc.

84. Now already illuminated by the reflecting rays of the sun, it approached the orbit of the outermost planet at tremendous speed.

85. But it was still millions of units away from the actual hearth of the peaceful calm, which though, due to its gigantic size, it soon had to transform into a seething hell, once it penetrated into the silence of this harmony.

86. But still some time went by at first, until the giant finally strayed from his path and had moved into the most dangerous proximity.

87. Now already recognisable as a round sphere, the Destroyer reflected the sunlight while dragging a fine veil of luminous particles behind it.

88. Still only a few hundred units away from the next worlds, it evoked hellish storms in these, which destroyed large areas that had been cultivated by the human beings peacefully emerging there.

89. With trembling for their arduously gained goods and their already hard lives, they suddenly found themselves exposed to the immense and uncompassionate forces of the universe.

90. Helpless, doomed to be handed over from life to death, they stared out into the sky, to the gigantic wandering planet which raced towards them as a cosmic mortal projectile.

91. It was no more than a question of time before the forces of the cosmos had to unfold their monstrous powers.

92. On the night of the third day after the incursion of the Destroyer into the planetary pathways, the middle of the night may just have passed, the drifter from outer space entered the elliptical orbit of the sixth planet.

93. Causing immense cosmic storms, it flung the planet belonging to the orbit a few units off its direction and brought it on a dangerous course towards the sun.

94. Monstrous eruptions and storms tore apart the peaceful appearance of the planet thriving in its magnificence.

95. Letting mountains collapse and casting seas out of their beds, it sought a new path around its sun for itself.

96. Full of horror and consternation over the immense forces of nature, the human beings fled into the vast plains that covered the planet in great numbers

97. But the unleashed forces of nature were stronger than the will and the saving idea of the human beings.

98. Two thirds of the humankind that inhabited the planet was killed and destroyed in the unleashed hell of nature.

99. Wild waters tore away large parts of the mainland, while exploding volcanoes buried vast areas beneath glowing lava and turned them to rubble and ashes.

100. The planet's daily rotation time doubled, and it circumnavigated the sun in the opposite direction.

101. Forced by cosmic determinations, the survivors had to find a new beginning – devoid of any culture – set back to a primordial time of the development.

102. The Destroyer, however, continued racing through the system, spreading hell, death and destruction.

103. It crossed the path of the fifth planet; a world that was about to give birth to first life

104. Fortunately, at the time of the event, the latter was too far away from the point of crossing its orbital path to be seriously affected.

105. Apart from mighty storms and minor quakes on land and at sea, there were no notable incidents on it.

106. The fourth satellite of the system, however, would find its destruction in the battle of the worlds.

107. As the smallest of all satellites, it stoically traversed its orbit, and from the perspective of anticipatory calculations, it had to cross the flight path of the wanderer exactly when facing it head-on.

108. And that's exactly what happened:

109. It got into the irresistible destructive power of the giant.

110. Like two wild monsters, the two planets raced towards each other; a giant and a dwarf.

111. But before both of them could collide, immense explosions tore the lifeless dead dwarf planet apart.

112. Its fragments were hurled out into the endless expanses of outer space, where they were captured as shooting stars or meteors by the forces of other stars and, burning up in their atmospheres, found their final end.

113. Further parts of the dwarf were torn into the sun and were atomised.

114. Other parts were torn into the Destroyer and became there a part of itself.

115. As if hurled by a giant's fist, one half of the dwarf planet shot away and through a dimensional gate created by the hands of highly developed human beings into the unending expanses of the Milky Way's space towards a very distant target.

116. Several times on its path it got into the realm of suns and planets, was shaken, was hit by meteors and shooting stars and thereby changed its shape.

117. Already after a few centuries it had reached an angular roundish shape.

118. It was dead and barren, however, covered by many small as well as huge, deep craters, and was incapable of supporting life.

119. By the forces of various systems its speed was gradually slowed down and it changed its course several times, until one day it was attracted by the sun of a system and broke into its sphere of influence.

120. As dark, dead planet it traversed all planetary orbits of the outer rings without causing any damage.

121. It was not until the inner rings that it collided with some fragments of a destroyed planet, which nevertheless only tore deep craters into it.

122. However, this caused its course to change once again slightly, with the result that it was driven parallel to the orbit of the second planet, which was already creating its first primitive life.

123. A planet covered by large seas and dense primeval forests, primordial, deadly and yet gruesomely fantastic.

124. From this point in time, only 34 days were still to pass before the dwarf caught up with the planet, namely the Earth, and was held captive by it.

125. The forces of the planet were sufficient to bind the dwarf to itself and let it circle around itself as a new satellite, on an ever-changing elliptical path.

126. Since then it has orbited the Earth as Moon; 4.5 million years older than its mother celestial body.

127. In the distant solar system, however, the Destroyer continued to rage.

128. Destroying everything in its path, it flung the planet closest to the sun with unimaginable force towards the sun, in front of which it destroyed itself at a millionfold distance by immense eruptions and fell into the sun as smallest fragments and atomised.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_029

Semjase:

74. Millions of years ago a giant dark star in another space-time configuration destroyed half a planetary system in many light-years distance from the earthly system.

75. After the destruction of that distant system, the wanderer rushed out into the vastness of space, entered the space-time structure of the Milky Way of the DERN universe, and set course for Earth.

76. By large and small planets and by the Sun it was forced into a new course, which consequently had to bring it again and again into the SOL system.

77. Known as the Destroyer, it stubbornly followed its new course and over the course of millions of years created a firm path for itself.

78. But this orbit often led the Destroyer uncontrollably to planetary systems or other wandering stars or comets, which were pushed off course by its gigantic size or attracted by its attraction and destroyed or abducted.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_150

Quetzal:

472. The original point of origin of the Destroyer is unknown to us, which is why I can only give details on where it found its way into the SOL-System.

473. Its origin lies in the old Lyra System where, from time immemorial, the dark planet—called 'Wanderer' at that time wreaked system-wide destruction and had brought the earthly Moon on that course which led it to the SOL-System and to the Earth.

474. A fact that may seem incredible, fantastic and an unusual coincidence to many Earth scientists, but which nevertheless corresponds to the truth.

475. The Earth's moon was torn loose by the Destroyer many millions of years ago as a fragment of a planet four million years older than Earth is, and thrown out into space, heading for the SOL-System, where it was then captured by the Earth as a satellite.

476. Meanwhile, the Destroyer, after colliding with the planet, followed the path of the planetary fragment much more slowly.

477. This, for reasons unknown to us and as a result of events, we have never been able to clarify.

478. In this connection, we can therefore only employ speculations with regard to similar events that are well-known to us, but which do not satisfy us regarding the Destroyer and its course to the SOL-System behind the planetary fragment, which is why I would not like to explain our relevant thesis more closely, although for us it seems to be the only possibility why the Destroyer also found its way to the SOL-System, so it cannot be spoken of as a coincidence anymore.

479. The moon, the former planetary fragment, already joined the Earth as a satellite a few million years ago, while the much slower Destroyer that followed it first entered the SOL-System about 970,000 years ago, causing a tremendous Earth catastrophe.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_207

Billy:

Today, I first have a question about your space-time configuration, which is practically another dimension, but which is equally directed to ours and, therefore, is therefore equally material. Our universe is called the DERN universe, how is it with our dimension and your dimension, what do you call these?

Quetzal:

1. We denote your dimension with the term Goran, while we call ours Siras.

Billy:

Aha, and these two dimensions, respectively these two different space-time configurations, are materially identical in their buildup and existence?

Quetzal:

2. That is of correctness.

Billy:

And as it stands with the Destroyer, then, it would also have to consist of matter, as this is also existent in our space-time configuration, right?

Quetzal:

3. That is also of correctness.

Billy:

... Then another question with regard to Earth's moon. For some time, scientists have maintained that the Earth's moon had its origin in or from the Earth. There is the theory that it had been spun off as an entire block of the Earth, while another theory purports that huge dust clouds as well as smaller and larger chunks of rock and earth were spun away from the Earth, and namely by the impact of a massive comet or another planet. The comet or planet involved should have been about as large as the planet Mars, etc. The spun away material should have collected in the course of time and should have developed into the Moon. But in contrast, you explained that the Earth's moon penetrated from your space-time configuration into ours and then into the SOL-system, in which it allowed itself then to be captured by the Earth as a satellite.

Quetzal:

4. The assumptions of the terrestrial scientists do not correspond to the truth because the origin of the Earth's moon does not trace back to the Earth and, thus, also not to a collision or such with a Mars-sized comet or planet.

5. The Moon found its way out of our space-time configuration at an early time and penetrated into yours, after which it was held by the Earth by its force of attraction and orbits around the planet since that time, deviating more and more from the Earth, and it still influences the Earth's rotation today as it did at the very beginning and, thus, creates a braking effect.

Billy:

You have already explained this to me before. But how is it with the matter of the Moon? Of what kind is it?

Quetzal:

6. It is, at least in certain parts, the same as the matter of the Earth, but other forms of matter also appear.

7. Also the isotopic compositions, with respect to oxygen, etc., are largely similar and sometimes even identical with those of earthly matter.

8. Unfortunately, this fact will one day lead to the scientific false diagnosis that the Earth's moon was formed from ejected matter of the Earth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_220

Billy:

... About the origin of the Moon, which drifted many millions of years ago out of your space-time configuration into ours and was captured by the Earth, the earthly scientists have the craziest ideas, one of which is that a large celestial body from the masses of Mars had already collided with the developing Earth in primeval times, by what means a huge piece of the developing Earth from its early days was torn out or ejected from this, in order to circle around the Earth in the end and firmly settle to form the Moon. At the same time, it isn't considered with this crazy assertion that if such a chunk would have actually been ejected from the Earth, just by the collision with a Mars-sized space projectile, then this chunk would have been shot so far out into space by the unimaginable force that it would have sought its own way as a wandering planet through the SOL system and wouldn't have settled around the Earth. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_257

Billy:

Semjase told me pretty much at the beginning of our contacts that the destroyer has been doing his mischief in our solar system since time immemorial and destroyed about 22 million years ago or so old homeworlds of the Lyrans. To my knowledge, however, these lay in a different space-time structure, shifted by a fraction of a second to our space and time. How is it there that the destroyer came after the destruction work with the old Lyranern into our space-time-structure?

Ptaah:

164. The Destroyer then broke through a space-time barrier created by the ancient Syrians, as we still use it today, but in a modernized form, as you would say.

165. At that time, these passage or dimensional gates, as we call them, were constructed in such a way that they opened as soon as any object approached.

166. This also happened as the Destroyer approached, who through unfortunate circumstances came to one of these dimensional gates, shot through and entered this, your space-time continuum, then found his way into this solar system.

167. Today this would no longer be possible, because our passage gates from one dimension to another or to the DAL universe have already been constructed and secured for several million years in such a way that they are probably constant in one place, but only open in response to very specific impulses emitted by our spacecraft.

168. So today it would no longer be possible for a world body to pass unintentionally through one of our many dimensional gates.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_467

Ptaah:

... the Destroyer, which came out of our space-time-structure through a dimensional gate into your space-time-structure and caused a lot of trouble in it, which is why we removed it from the SOL system some years ago and made it harmless.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_528

Billy:

... Then another question, this time about the Earth's moon, which looks very different on the back side than on the side facing the Earth. On the back side everything is covered by plateaus, while on the side facing us there is somehow a rounded plane full of impact craters. There must be a reason for this. The Moon is not from the Earth, as our scientists claim, but from your space-time structure, and it came into our space-time structure as a result of a cosmic catastrophe and through an artificial dimension gate, where it was held by the gravity of the Earth. ...

Ptaah:

23. This is indeed the case, as Quetzal explained, and there is also a reason why the back of the Earth's moon is designed differently from the front visible from Earth.

24. When a cosmic catastrophe occurred in our space-time-structure at an early time, a second, smaller moon collided with the larger one, which then, as Quetzal explained, found its way to Earth as today's Earth-moon.

25. During the collision the smaller moon affected one side of the larger moon in such a way that a huge plateau landscape was formed.

26. When this moon was then held by the force of the Earth, its rotation came to a halt, with the side of the plateaus facing away from the Earth and the crater side towards the Earth coming to a standstill.

Billy:

And how is it possible that the two moons were not shattered in the collision, I do not understand?

Ptaah:

27. They were twin moons rotating around their planet in the same orbit close to each other, the smaller one having a slightly higher speed than the larger one.

28. When the smaller moon was forced into a parallel orbit by the catastrophe caused by a dark planet and thus into the area of the larger moon, a collision was the result.

29. So the smaller moon collided at a slightly higher speed on one side of the larger moon, disintegrated and formed the plateaus, while the other side, which was covered with craters, remained untouched.

Billy:

Simply and clearly stated, I can imagine something underneath. But what about the craters that you see from Earth, are there not some that were formed when the satellite, which was found here, was already orbiting the Earth as an Earth moon?

Ptaah:

30. It would be very strange if this had not happened during all the time of its existence as an earth satellite.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_721

Ptaah:

62. And the fact that we also brought this teaching to Earth at an early time was due to the fact that our ancestors discovered a natural dimensional gate 22 million years ago by chance, which is located here in the DERN universe about 120 light-years beyond the Pleiades stars known to you.

63. The dimensional gateway was discovered because a moon from our ANKAR universe that had drifted from an exploded planet entered the DERN universe through this dimensional gateway, which our ancestors investigated and then found to be Earth's satellite.

return to Index

Moses

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Moses>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_036

Semjase:

110. The case with Moses behaves is somewhat different than was explained, because the Ten Commandments, of which there were actually twelve, were not given to him in a spaceship, but actually in that place which is handed down to you in the Bible.

111. In this statement the truth was handed down to you as it really happened, at least as far as the place of the event is concerned.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_150

Quetzal:

471. Thereby it is still to be noted by you, as I must explain, that all now following data are calculated according to usual earthly pre- and post-Jmmanuel time reckoning.

– 1,453 B.C.

Destroyer {comet} gets dangerously close to the Earth and causes severe catastrophes. Earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, elemental storms and floods of enormous proportions are the result. Volcanic ash easily eclipses the sun, which lasts for several weeks. The Santorini volcano in the Hellenic Sea explodes, triggering a 180-metre-high tidal wave that rolls across the Mediterranean and far into the Nile country of Egypt, flooding everything. Not only do many human beings die as a result, but also countless animals whose carcasses decompose after the flood rolls back, causing much evil. This event triggers the 'seven biblical plagues' (Moses time/Moses), whereby the waters of the Nile also turn red through the blood of the countless life-forms killed and their torn and battered bodies. The flood that rolls back again pushes back across the Mediterranean and forward to the northeast, where it then floods Syria and causes tremendous terror and devastation.

Billy:

... Nevertheless, one last question, and indeed concerning the Destroyer, Santorini and Moses: My time travels with Asket have taught me the correctness of the dates and information you have given, but I have recently read in various writings that the time of Moses and the Santorini eruption are calculated in completely different time periods, these calculations and assertions run from the 1500 B.C. empires back to the 5th millennium B.C. Why is that?

Quetzal:

547. It is because of the time falsifications of the chroniclers, whereby the Jewish chroniclers and other chroniclers influenced by them committed the worst evils in this respect, whereby time falsifications in the transmission of data up to several thousand years became apparent.

548. The Santorini erupted and exploded due to the powerful influence of the Destroyer exactly 3453 years ago, calculated back from 2000, whereby Moses lived at the same time and prepared the Exodus for the Hebrew-Jewish people in Egypt at that time.

549. These dates are correct, as you could see for yourself from your travels with Asket into the past.

550. And Moses really lived and carried out the Exodus, even though it is later once claimed that this is not true.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_212

Quetzal:

9. This also applies to the fantastic stories that surround Paul, who, in his consciousness confusion, saw himself as a martyr and, thus, also lived and worked accordingly, and following this, he then ultimately died by assassins, as this also happened with Moses, who made many enemies within his own ranks, who then robbed him of his life.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_213

Quetzal:

151. In addition, the Santorini volcano did the rest, for as a result of its powerful eruption and the subsequent explosion – which triggered gigantic tsunamis that devastated the large areas of the Minoan island when the waters raged across the island – many buildings and lands were destroyed, while very many people lost their lives.

152. The largest tsunami, however, the huge tidal wave caused by the explosion of the volcano, rolled far across the sea to Egypt, being red with the blood of countless slaughtered aquatic animals, whereby the river Nile then coloured itself red, and many people in Egypt died.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_214

Quetzal:

4. Moses was murdered by Joshua and his accomplices.

5. The reason for this was rather manifold.

6. On the one hand, Joshua wanted to gain control over the Hebrews, which is why he later claimed that in this respect, Moses had determined this through God's command, for it was even God's will.

7. And on the other hand, Moses became hated by many, as well as by the murderous accomplices, not in the least because of the fratricides of the unbelievers of God and of Moses, which were mercilessly committed against all those who were not of Moses' view and who did not believe his words and who contributed to strife through this.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_401

Billy:

It has now become apparent that in recent years, research has been carried out into the plagues in Egypt during the time of Moses, and it has actually come to the attention of researchers that these proven plagues were caused by the eruption and destruction of the volcano Santorini. However, they date the events of that time to a completely wrong time, namely about 200 years before the time that Semjase and Quetzal called. Scientists have found out that the enormous ash cloud of the exploded volcano reached Egypt, causing a so-called Fisteria or Phisteria epidemic to break out. Although this is not mentioned in the report of the conversation regarding the ash cloud and therefore not in the quoted, Semjase once mentioned it in a private conversation, as did Quetzal. All aquatic animals and many land animals died, and the water of the Nile turned red because of the blood of the fish, animals and humans, who were affected by rashes all over their bodies. Then there was a huge tsunami, caused by the volcanic explosion, which was about 200 metres high, 180 metres to be precise, and which rolled deep into the land, killing a great deal of life once again and also contributing to the epidemics. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_547

Billy:

... Then a biblical question, which refers to the legendary story of Moses respectively about the flight of the ancient Hebrews from Egypt, whereby they are said to have been led by God Jehovah through the desert, by day through a pillar of smoke and by night through a pillar of fire, which are said to have preceded them. Your father Sfath has already told me that this story of the sign of God is a lie, because in truth the whole escape with the pillar of smoke and fire did not take place in Sinai at a mountain Sinai respectively Mount Moses, because Moses and the refugees got lost and drifted far south, following the smoke and fire of a volcano in the area of today's Saudi Arabia.

Ptaah:

48. That is correct, because the column of smoke and fire was the result of a volcanic eruption that emitted clouds of smoke and fire, which was not in Sinai but much further south in what is now Saudi Arabia.

49. So what is described in the Bible in relation to the appearance of the column of smoke and fire, which is said to have moved before the refugees, does not refer to the Sinai, but to the Hala'l Bedr volcano, which has been dormant since the Middle Ages, in the area of Midian, which today corresponds to the province of Medina, in the northwest of Saudi Arabia.

Billy:

Moses first led the fleeing slaves along the Mediterranean coast to what is now Gaza, but then he turned inland and got lost. According to Sfath, Moses led the refugees to what is now the Gulf of Aqaba and then further south to the Red Sea, then back inland.

Ptaah:

50. What my father told you corresponds to what was real.

51. From the territory of present-day Gaza, Moses – because he was unfamiliar with the place and did not know the land – led the slave people astray down to the north end of the Gulf of Aqaba, then much further south to the then territory of Midian and to the volcanic mountain Halal 'l Bedr, which was very active at the time.

52. It was only then that Moses realised that he had lost his way with the refugees, so he sought a new way with the slaves, orienting himself to the stars by means of a foreign astronomer and moving northwards, then after a long time reaching the Dead Sea, and from there back to the Mediterranean Sea and the interior of what would later become Palestine and Israel, first to celebrate friendly feasts with the natives and then, when they were drunk, to murder them and make their land his own.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_551

Billy:

Then there is the question I wanted to raise: In the course of time Semjase, Quetzal, you and I have spoken several times about Santorini, where about 1,453 years ago before Jmmanuel the volcano blew up respectively exploded and which then also caused the great plagues in Egypt. On the one hand, it was explained that the Nile was discoloured by the blood of countless animals, as well as by red algae, but then there was also the fact that so-called 'dead water' was mixed with it, which became red due to lack of oxygen. Where did this red water come from?

Ptaah:

82. We call the 'Dead Water' this way because it no longer contains any life in it due to an absolute lack of oxygen.

83. It can occur in great depths of the sea or in enormously large lakes, when the water streams no longer circulate the water to the bottom and no longer supply it with oxygen.

84. The red colouring of the Nile is due to the enormous amount of animal, creatures and human blood as well as red algae, but also to 'dead water', which was washed out of the depths of the Mediterranean by the gigantic tidal wave after the explosion of the Minoan volcano Thera – as it was called in former times, or Santorini today – into the Nile and into the interior of Egypt.

85. The 'dead water' was washed out of a very deep and extensive volcanic trough by the eruption under the foot of the Santorini in the Mediterranean Sea, carried away by the gigantic tidal wave and driven into Egypt.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_662

Billy:

... Of course, the old Jews themselves were also partly to blame for the hostility towards the Jews in Christianity and Islam, but again not the actual Jewish people themselves, but the elders, chief priests, Pharisees and scribes were the early culprits at the time of Jmmanuel. They taught according to the old chronicles which had been rewritten, which had been run into the tricks of Abraham and Moses and which taught these false chronicles to the people and from it claimed that they were altogether a 'chosen people', which then unfortunately was spread by a number of Jews, which however cannot be blamed on the whole Jewish people in Israel or even worldwide. The so-called 'Chronicles' were truly not such, for truthfully only two or three very meager written records had existed, and on the other hand they had been burned to the last letter out of carelessness. Then it took more than 200 years until some scribes for a period of forty days went into the loneliness of the 'desert' and from memory, after centuries of oral narratives, wrote down individual 'books' as chronicles, which were later put together as Torah (Hebrew = law). From then on, the Torah represented the basic part of the Jewish Bible, which consists of five books. ...

... Well, the reason why the hostility towards the Jews could find its beginning already goes back to the times of Abraham and later to Moses, who in their presumptuousness – but allegedly said by 'God' – called the Jewish people "the people chosen by 'God'". This emphasized the alleged superiority of Jewish religious culture. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_665

Billy:

... It is clear that the Greek volcano Santorin, formerly called Thera, was the real reason for everything, but other questions remain unanswered. So it would be interesting to know what caused the three-day eclipse, for example.

Ptaah:

31. In addition I can tell you from our records that the volcano Thera erupted twice in a short time in enormous manner, whereby with the second eruption during hours a gigantic black ash cloud was hurled up, which spread over the whole southern Mediterranean Sea and afterwards also over Egypt and covered during three days the whole Nilland into the so-called 'Egyptian darkness', as this darkness of several days is called since ancient times.

32. After this ash eruption, the Thera volcano collapsed, forming the Santorini ring crater that still exists today.

Billy:

Aha, then the question, what caused the bodily ulcers in the Egyptian population?

Ptaah:

33. This happened by sulphur rain, which rained over Egypt as a result of the Thera eruption.

34. This sulphur rain was so corrosive that it burned itself on the skin of humans and animals of all genera and species, causing ulcers and swelling and open and inflamed wounds.

Billy:

But there is also the story that all first-born human beings are ...

Ptaah:

35. What you want to ask was the religion of the Egyptians at that time, because the priests lied to the population that their God had ordered them to kill all the firstborn for the blasphemous way of life of the Egyptians as atonement offerings, and the priests and their helpers went from house to house and killed many the firstborn of some families.

36. But it also happened that many fathers and mothers, as well as other family members who were addicted to religious delusion – and there were many of them – murdered the first-born in their families. ...

Billy:

So this is the next question, which refers to the red water of the Nile and the sea; was it really only due to the blood of humans, animals, water creatures, 'dead water' and algae?

Ptaah:

38. Not quite; on the one hand many killed animals and humans as well as algae blooms played a role, but also a gigantic red ash cloud from Thera, which drifted to Egypt and settled on the water and land and thus helped to colour the Nile red.

39. This also led to innumerable frogs fleeing to the land and 'flooding' it, but then also dying and decaying in masses.

40. Also the plants were destroyed by the sulphur rain, whereby also the animals died from it, particularly goats, sheep, cattle, camels and horses, if they used the sulphur poisoned grass as food.

Billy:

What attracted insects of all kinds, such as mosquitoes, flies and other vermin, I suppose, and these critters have also attacked humans and infected them with diseases.

Ptaah:

41. This was indeed the case, and many people died from infectious diseases transmitted by vermin, as well as from severe sulphur rain burns.

Billy:

I can well imagine, because I have experienced for myself what it is like when swarms of biting flies, mosquitoes, sand fleas and other fleas as well as other vermin fall on you and make you sick. Also a locust plague was at that time with the plagues in Egypt, which is also terrible, as I know from own experience, whereby I do not want to forget also the rats, which 'marched' over my body in the night, if I wanted to sleep. But if I think even further about the plagues, there were probably also thunderstorms and animal epidemics, right?

Ptaah:

42. That is correct, because these plagues also caused epidemics, such as bluetongue in various animals, but also the horse sickness.

43. In addition, at the time of the plagues there were also two enormous hailstorms, as well as epidemics, in which many animals and also many animals, many amphibians, fish, birds and reptiles bled to death miserably, died and spread diseases through vermin.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_758

Ptaah:

... but I have one question concerning Pinchas ben Eleazar – who and what was this man? I know nothing about this man.

Billy:

He was a biblical figure, as I have already said, or the grandson of Aaron, who, along with Moses, was one of the central figures during the Exodus from Egypt. Of course, his story and Moses' story as well as the story of the Exodus from Egypt cannot be taken at face value, especially not the fairy tale that the Red Sea parted because of Moses' call for God's help and that the fleeing Hebrew people were able to flee dry-footed through the sea. The whole thing really only corresponds to a biblical fairy tale, for in truth the Hebrew people fled on a solid strip of land of the marshy area between the Mediterranean and the Red Sea, with Herod's army then drowning in pursuit of the refugees.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_770

Billy:

According to the belief of the theistic god-delusional peoples, they are all chosen and commissioned to spread the faith in god in relation to the one single god throughout the Earth. For this purpose, he is said to have made a covenant with Abram the African, the father of the early Hebrew people, at a very early time. He then revealed his insane teachings – which he had obviously made up out of his fingers – to the Hebrew people of that time, who recognised the imaginary god and allowed him to 'lead' them over the millennia, before the temple leader Moses came to the fore and seized power, proclaiming himself as leader and claiming that he had also made a covenant with god on Mount Sinai.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_791

Billy:

... Every society needs its order, and for that it needs rules, because without them everything goes haywire. The 10 Commandments, which Moses devised and introduced, served this purpose – not an alleged or imaginary God the Father. ...

Moses was a human being who saw further and thought further than the tip of his nose and knew that humans formed their Wesen of character from the ground up themselves and then lived their lives accordingly. So he did a great thing when he created the 10 Commandments, which I respected and followed all my life because I knew that they were correct, which is why I can still mention them today, although Moses devised and presented them to the people differently than they are listed in the Bible. In word and truth, unfortunately, what he said was not understood, consequently everything was misinterpreted, falsified and written down for a long time – after he was murdered. The truth of the commandments were in fact those, as I can no longer reproduce them in order and word for word, as Moses said.

1. I myself am lord over myself, and never shall there be a god beside me or above me.
2. Never shall you take your name in vain by lying or by making a fool of yourself.
3. Thou shalt always strive to do what is right and good.
4. Do not lust after the goods of your neighbour.
5. Thou shalt do the duties of thy daily life without grumbling.
6. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbour.
7. Thou shalt honour thy parents according to their worth.
8. Thou shalt never kill willingly, in anger, as punishment, blood vengeance, revenge, in greed or war.
9. You shall not steal your neighbour's goods.
10. Thou shalt not break thy bond of companionship.

return to Index

Mother Teresa

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mother\_Teresa

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_275

Billy:

... Perhaps you know that so-called "Mother Theresa" is soon to be canonised, in a high-speed process. But you yourself said to me, in regard to this woman, that she is a criminal who, under the cover of faith and religion, commits, respectively committed – because in the meantime she has died – grave wrongdoings. As I know from you and from various terrestrial sources, she was a child-robber who stole children from many Indian mothers and sold them for a lot of money to childless foreigners. In cooperation with other sisters of her order she told the mothers, from whom she stole the children, that the children entrusted to her had died, and so forth. Furthermore she also raked in dollars by the millions by means of donations which were entrusted to her for the purpose of alleviating the need of those who were suffering and to build hospitals and nursing homes, and so forth. But all the many dollars, which, not very long ago, you indicated to me was 3.5 billion (3,500,000,000) – and which, in large part, Mother Theresa got through begging and underhanded means from the Federal heads and finance bosses, and so forth - was never utilised for the purposes indicated by her. Only a few dollars actually flowed out for the named purposes while most of the remainder, namely more than 1.7 billion (1,700,000,000) – if I correctly recall your statements – were carried to Rome by the deceiver in order to fill the papal coffers. ...

Ptaah:

37. What I told you in connection with this fraudulent little woman corresponds to the events and facts, so the explanations may also be mentioned openly.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_543

Mother Teresa or religious madness in all its Cruelty

{article by} Brigitt Keller, Switzerland

Ptaah:

2. What Brigitt has written is of good quality in every respect and corresponds to reality in all respects.

3. The article is very suitable for publication in a bulletin.

4. Since the Bulletin is distributed worldwide on the Internet and is read by many Earth-humans, it is possible to create a great enlightenment regarding the real facts about this reprehensible woman 'Mother Teresa'.

Billy:

... Why did this she-devil woman have her hair cut off the hair of those she had already tormented and doomed to die?

Ptaah:

5. She made a lot of money with it in a criminal way, because she sold it with a big profit especially in Europe and in the USA to manufacturers of spare hair parts.

Billy:

You mean wigs and toupees.

Ptaah:

6. That is the meaning of my statement.

...

8. All in all, this degenerate personality obtained 3.5 billion (3,500,000,000) US dollars from rich and poor people all over the world, 1.7 billion (1,700,000,000) of which she passed on to the Popes in the Vatican in Rome.

9. She began her real career on the 10th of September 1937 in Darjeeling in India, where she spent years trying to realise her plans, which she had made very early on, by every means possible.

10. The real start came in 1949, when she opened her first school in a slum in Calcutta and managed to sneak in with Pope Pius XII, who worked from 1939 to 1958 and supported the false missionary with all possible means. As Superior General she also gave her permission to form a 'Community of Missionaries of Charity', which she presided over until the end of her life.

11. His successor then, John XXIII also fell in love with the woman in every way and also supported her, and when he died in 1963, the same legacy passed to Pope Paul VI and continued until 1978.

12. Then, however, came Pope John Paul I, who distanced himself from the woman's reprehensibilities as well as from all sorts of machinations and intrigues in the Vatican, but which cost him his life because he was murdered.
13. As you know, he only held office for 33 days, after which he was found dead on 29 September 1978.
14. Pope John Paul II was immediately elected in his place, continuing the legacy of the other previous Popes regarding the machinations and the connection with Anjezë Gonxhe Bojaxhiu, as the correct name of this reprehensible woman really was.
15. It was also this pope who promised her in an audience that he would beatify her.
16. And it is to be explained in addition that she had already begun to creep in with large donations of money during the time of Pope Pius XII, which has been preserved until close to her death.
17. She and her sisters pledged never to work for money or for the wealthy, but this pledge was a mockery, because in reality they were only concerned with their own profit and welfare in the slums, especially the Superior General who ridiculously called herself 'Mother Teresa'.
18. Infants and children who were abandoned or taken away from their mothers were sold all over the world for horrendous sums of money; the sick, hungry and dying were miserably maltreated and exposed to great pain – even to the point of dying and dying in misery.
19. In 1952 the Christian hypocrite and degenerate opened the house 'Nirmal Hriday', which means something like 'pure heart'.
20. In truth, it was a house for the sick and dying, in which thousands of helpless and suffering human beings vegetated under inhuman conditions and finally died in evil misery.

return to Index

Mothman

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mothman>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_328

Billy:

... I had an inquiry from America, which caused a misunderstanding, but which only became clear when I phoned Christian Frehner. It was about a figure who is called Indrid-Cold in the USA and who allegedly comes from a planet called Lanulos, as Andrew Cossette explained to me when he called. He also said that in America there is a story going around that this figure is probably of extraterrestrial origin. It is said to be headless, to have glowing red eyes and wings and to have flown through the air and so on and so forth. In general, it has been reported that the figure Indrid-Cold was or is called 'Mothman', which can mean both 'moth man' and 'moth man'. This figure is said to have been particularly popular in 1967/68 in the village or town of Point Pleasant in West Virginia, and many UFOs have appeared, not only in West Virginia, but even worldwide. There are said to be hundreds of witnesses to all of these incidents, including many police officers. Since I had no knowledge of all this and had obviously misinterpreted the name 'Mothman' as 'Maitreya', I asked Michael Hesemann for advice. Of course he did not find the Indrid Cold story resp. the 'Mothman' story. Now the question about what to really think of this story, if you know anything about it at all, and if yes, if you are allowed to talk about it? For my part I think it would be very interesting and important to learn something about it and to hear some facts of the enlightenment.

Ptaah:

97. It's not worth thinking about it, because on the one hand it's an invented mischievous story about the 'Mothman', just an 'owl's mirroring', as you once called this kind of activity.

98. On the other hand, at that time a real hysteria arose regarding UFOs, according to which many people at that time saw many unreal things that really did not exist.

99. So through hysteria they fell into hallucinations, self-generated real visions and strong imaginations.

100. This hysteria was not limited to the United States of America but spread all over the world.

101. In fact, however, at that time some flying objects appeared which were unidentifiable for the terrestrial people, whereby of all of them only two were really of extraterrestrial origin, which belonged to our Federation and which could be observed several times.

102. All other observations were undoubtedly due to terrestrial flying objects of partly secret form or to any natural terrestrial phenomena, or they were based on illusions and self-deceptions etc., whereby the self-deceptions were usually based on wishful thinking, which was aimed at seeing extraterrestrial flying objects, as it is still the case today in the vast majority of cases of 'UFO-observations'.

return to Index

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart death & burial

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Wolfgang\_Amadeus\_Mozart

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_304

Ptaah:

38. First of all, it must be said that Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart died in Vienna on the 5th of December 1791, but he was not buried in Vienna.

39. Mozart himself did not want to be buried in Vienna, but far outside the city on the edge of a forest, where he often spent many hours pondering, of which only his pupil Franz Xaver Süssmayr secretly knew.

40. He then instructed him that he wanted to be buried in that beautiful place after his death.

41. It was his wish that this would remain secret for all time.

42. And when Mozart died, his pupil fulfilled his wish and only 12 years later, on 17.9.1803, took his secret with him to his grave.

43. After Mozart's death, Süssmayr was able, with a little money, to buy a corpse from a gravedigger, which he placed in a coffin, which he immediately closed and which was then buried nameless as a poor coffin, without the followers of Mozart suspecting anything of it.

44. The real cause of Mozart's death was pulmonary tuberculosis, which combined with many years of medication poisoning, to which was added Lyme disease caused by ticks with which he came into contact at the edge of the forest already described.

...

48. Mozart was very seriously affected by this disease and also had to suffer very heavily from it.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_704

Billy:

3) Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, whose full first names were actually ' Joannes Chrysostomus Wolfgangus Theophilus' one day after his birth, was a musician and composer of the Viennese classical period. His task was – as with other composers – to shape musical culture in a progressive way and to spread it to the world and the future.

With regard to Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart and Felix Mendelssohn Bartholdy, their entire evolutionary or progressive work relates to the general and very important influences of music on human beings, whereby the musical stimulation, impact and the scope of the effectiveness of the influence of music on human beings in relation to their forms of morality, ethos, ethics and manners and thus, of course, on their behaviour, their lives, their shaping of life and their conduct of life are of immense importance.

return to Index

Mu (lost continent)

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mu\_\(mythical\_lost\_continent\))

see also Agartha

see also Atlantis

see also Hyperborea / Hyperboreans

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_009

Semjase:

120. At our fifth contact I finished the history of humankind at the time when 50,000 years ago according to earthly calendar our homeworlds found freedom and peace.

121. Before that time, 70,000 human beings fled under the leadership of the scientist Pelegon.

122. With spaceships, which they had seized, they fled through the space out of another configuration of space and time into the one of the Milky Way of the DERN universe and settled on the Earth.

123. Under Pelegon's leadership, there were 200 sub-leaders; scientists who were each responsible for a specific field of knowledge.

124. Pelegon was unanimously recognised and respected by them and all others as king of essence of wisdom (JHWH/God).

125. In the course of the millennia they built large cities and inhabited all continents of the Earth.

126. Unfortunately, this only went well for barely 10,000 years before lust for might regained the upper hand and a deadly war raged over the world.

127. Everything without residue was destroyed, and only a few thousand human beings were able to survive, while others fled again into the outer space and into the old space-time configuration and settled on distant worlds.

128. For the next 7,000 years the Earth was no longer flown to, during which time those who stayed behind became completely wild and degenerated.

129. After that the descendants of those who had settled on distant worlds returned.

130. Again they were led by an JHWH.

131. Under such a kind of JHWH command, the distant descendants later built Atlantis and Mu.

132. Two huge cities on two different continents.

133. For thousands of years, they lived in complete friendship and in peace, until some scientists again succumbed to the greed for might and wanted to seize the rule.

134. However, having become tired of the constant wars, the peoples rose against them, hence they seized spacecrafts and fled into the outer space; according to earthly calendar about 15,000 years ago.

135. For two millennia they and their descendants lived in a neighbouring solar system.

136. Two millennia during which they had become very evil and were only able to uphold a certain regulation under the strictest discipline.

137. Through mutations and researches they achieved a very long life span, which amounted to more than three thousand years.

138. Obsessed with imperiousness, they left their world about 13,500 Earth-years ago and came back to the Earth.

139. Their supreme leader was the scientist ARUS, who was also called "The Barbarian."

140. As already JHWH Pelegon nearly 190,000 years ago, he also had 200 leaders or subleaders, who were each responsible for a specific field of knowledge.

141. They settled in two parts in the far north and in today's America (Florida), whereby they constantly forged ahead to Atlantis and Mu, in order to invade them with war.

142. And only a few millennia after their renewed requisitioning of the Earth, they succeeded in completely destroying Mu and Atlantis.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_055

Semjase:

193. Great-Atlantis was destroyed and sank into the sea through war feuds with the inhabitants of Mu, which lay in the Chinese Gobi desert.

194. But Mu was also destroyed and ceased to exist, leaving only the underground city of Agharta.

203. Mu had been a land, and likewise, the capital.

204. Mu was a country like any other.

205. However, the city on the surface and the underground city of Agharta, each ruled by a man and a woman, were created by extraterrestrials.

206. Neither the country nor the cities were of special importance, except that they had been built and inhabited by extraterrestrials from the Lyra system and also destroyed again.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_060

Semjase:

11. As I already explained at an earlier point in time, Atlantis and Mu destroyed one another.

28. The return of the descendants of the former fugitives happened again under the leadership of a god, under whose rule Mu as well as Greater Atlantis and Lesser Atlantis were built.

29. At that time Greater Atlantis and Mu were the two most gigantic cities which had ever been built on the Earth, and for the sake of peace they were built on two different continents.

30. Again a high culture was built up and everything began to blossom.

51. However, the form in which Greater Atlantis and Mu were destroyed was of such intrigues and full of horror that, in the history of the human beings of the Earth, it will probably never be paralleled:

52. The intriguers stirred up malicious machinations between the Atlantians and the citizens of Mu, which led to mutual actions of war.

53. Between both arose malicious hatred and the will to destroy.

54. Mu, which was in the Gobi desert, feuded with Greater Atlantis, which was built in the great island kingdom between present day Africa and America, before it sank in the Atlantic due to the greatest earthly war-catastrophe of all past and probably also future times, leaving behind only a few small islands, which today you call the Azores.

55. At their time, the war powers of Mu and Atlantis were of horrendous might and size and equipped with the highest technological achievements.

56. So, Greater Atlantis alone had at its disposal an army of 4.83 million (4,830,000) men, which was equipped with small-combat-beamships.

60. To this tremendous might Mu was inferior, which however did not make it less dangerous for the Greater Atlantians, because the Mu scientists had likewise developed very dangerous weapons, which in many ways were even more dangerous and more destructive than everything of the Atlantians altogether.

61. The scientists of Mu had in fact discovered powers, which made it possible for them to convert entire small planets into all-destroying space bombs, by pulling them out of their orbit of millions of years and with extreme precision steering them onto a carefully determined target of another planet and letting them crash down with devastating force and explode above the target, and it was exactly this frightful weapon they used when Greater Atlantis commenced the full-scale attack against Mu.

62. The best and the most suitable scientists of Mu were charged with finding a suitable planetoid which could be used as a deadly and annihilating missile against Atlantis.

63. Thus they flew with their ships out into space and found in the asteroid belt, outside of the Mars orbit, an object suitable for their purpose.

64. It was a planetoid of several kilometres diameter, however we are not able to analyse its exact size anymore.

65. By means of atomic and electro-energetic energies it was thrown out of its orbit and brought onto course towards Earth.

66. After that the planetoid's own rotation was slowed down and brought to a standstill, whereupon on the side turned away from the Earth, a drive unit of gigantic size was installed for the purpose of a tremendous acceleration of the small planet, which was supposed to be directed to its destination with breakneck speed.

67. Only less than half a day before the full-scale attack of Atlantis against Mu, the deadly space bomb was completed, a death-messenger of human insanity and of tremendous consequence.

68. When Atlantis undertook the attack, the producers of the death missile were informed within a few seconds, by means of hyperwave-impulses, about the oncoming events and were charged with allowing the death missile to take off.

69. A few seconds after receiving the command, on the side of the planetoid facing away from the Earth, a thousand suns appeared to race into the dark space and with gigantic force the monster started moving.

70. Very quickly the speed of the messenger of death increased, steered by scientists controlling the monster, who were sitting on the planetoid completing their task and thereby were doomed to die.

71. In the meantime on the Earth the Atlantians eliminated the city of Mu and levelled it.

72. Whoever had not fled into the satellite cities thousands of metres deep underground or into space, perished in the totally eliminating rays of the Atlantians and nothing bore witness anymore to their former existence.

73. The victorious Atlantians however returned to their gigantic island kingdom and celebrated their victory achieved over Mu in a true delirium of joy.

74. However, their joy did not last long because they had barely begun their festivities when messages came thick and fast in regard to the danger rushing towards them through space.

75. Only a few high government officials and scientists were still able to clear out and flee with their spaceships into space before the catastrophe was unleashed over Atlantis and made it sink into the sea. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_061

Semjase:

29. Atlantis was destroyed by Mu scientists, as I explained to you recently.

30. This was 9498 years ago B.C., as you yourself have just correctly noticed.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_070

Semjase:

110. For 700 years the Earth was simply avoided, before the descendants of the fugitives set out again to populate the beautiful blue world again.

111. This was 133,000 Earth years ago, according to your current chronology.

112. The returnees were led by an Jschiwisch with the name Atlant, married to an Jschiwisch named Karyatide.

113. in the latest episode, under the leadership of Atlant, the continent of Atlantis, which had been headed for again and again, and used for millennia, was expanded and made habitable, while under the command of his wife Karyatide, Lesser Atlantis came into existence, as at the same time her cousin Muras built the gigantic city of Mu, which, like Atlantis, also found its origin in very early times.

132. Named after Arus the Second, the India of today was at that time called Arien, which, however, split off from Hyperborea after a few centuries, after 210 years, to be exact, and joined with the inhabitants of Mu and Agharta, while from Hyperborea, Arus the First constantly troubled Mu and Greater Atlantis by wicked war activities, in order to become their ruler.

133. During around half a millennia, or said very precisely, during 502 years, those war machinations continued, until Arus the First, who in the meanwhile had become old and weak, succeeded in infiltrating wicked elements of his hater humans into the leading controlling ranks of Atlantis and Mu, who secretly stirred up violence and hate for so long, as also did their descendants over several centuries, until, through boundless intrigues, Mu and Atlantis were able to be completely destroyed some centuries later, while the only few survivors were beaten into servitude.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_150

Destruction of the continent of Atlantis as a result of a war feud with MU, whereby MU scientists directed a minor planet (Adoonis = the ugly, as opposed to Aadonis = the beautiful) from the asteroid belt and steered it towards the Earth and onto Atlantis, causing it to sink into the sea and triggering a flood.

return to Index

Muhammad / Mohammed / Abdul Kasim Muhammad ibn Abd Allah

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Muhammad>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_231

Billy:

Being circumcised does not mean immunity, but only a minimal risk of infection. Circumcision does not protect genital herpes, gonorrhoea, syphilis or other venereal diseases. However, it can be very useful where a lack of penis hygiene leads to all kinds of penile diseases, fungal infections, eczema, rot, etc. This was the order of the day in southern Arabia, especially at the time of the Prophet Mohammed, which is why he decreed the order of circumcision and the associated daily cleansing. He took over circumcision from the old Jews, who for the same reason had the same principle as a rule, tracing it back to Moses, who introduced the law of circumcision, because already then the genital impurity gave rise to enormous sexually transmitted diseases and degenerations. Shame hair was also introduced for the same reason, also for women. To my knowledge, however, these facts are no longer known – or they are deliberately concealed, for whatever reason. As far as I know, the real justification was never recorded in writing, but declared to be God's demand, because the relevant laws were only followed because they were allegedly ordered by a God. Either way, however, the relevant laws have taken hold and brought physical cleanliness to the Jewish and Arab tribes and peoples, and fortunately everything has survived to this day. Yes, today it is even the case that even many Christians, as well as people of no religion and other faiths, as Muslims get rid of their pubic hair and therefore go along with it more cleanly than many others who are not so fond of general body hygiene.

Quetzal:

381. That is of correctness.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_260

Billy:

Muslims: Their calendar begins with the Hegira (Hijra = departure), so with the emigration, i.e. flight, of the prophet Muhammed (aka Abul Qasim Muhammad ibn Abd-Allah = Mohammed, Arabic "The Praised One," born in Mecca around A.D. 570, died in Medina in 6/8/632 A.D.) from Mecca to Medina, an event that took place on the 24th of September in A.D. 622. In the year 2000, they will, therefore, first reckon the year 1378, i.e. the year 1379 at the beginning of the 3rd Christian millennium.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_437

Billy:

... it has to be said that jihad is completely misunderstood, because by this Mohammed meant something completely different, than to wage war by force of arms. His real teaching, namely, was to the effect, that by the jihad he understood the individual struggle of the human being against himself/herself, in order to become a good, positive, virtuous and true, dignified and honourable human being. Thus, Mohammed's teaching of jihad is fundamentally to the effect, that the human being shall not wage the 'holy war' with deadly weapons and not against other human beings, but against himself/herself, in order to gain self-cognition and truth, so that he/she can truly live in humanity as a human being and fulfil the creational laws and recommendations. But this teaching of Mohammed has been thoroughly falsified as well as wrongly interpreted, and indeed up to the present day. This has also been done with the teaching, that the human being shall live rightly, well, positively and virtuously as well as law-fulfillingly and recommendation-fulfillingly, in order to be an example in an instructive wise to the children and adolescents as well as to adults of all ages, just as all the prophets taught, even if it was presented by them with other words. The fact that these parts of Mohammed's teaching, along with many others, were falsified, led to the fact that many aspects of his teaching also led to false explanations and to evil consequences, as this unfortunately still continues to have an effect today, in particular by the radical, terroristic Islamism of those confusingly-led, who pass themselves off as Muslim men and Muslim women, but neither understand nor live the teaching of Islam. True Muslim males and Muslim females see and live Islam in a different and peaceful kind and wise, thus not in war and terror against those who believe differently of their own Islamic religion or other religions. True Muslim males and Muslim females are not extremist Islamists and therefore not terrorists, for they are in truth striving to be peaceful and true human beings in self-cognition and also to live in peace and humaneness with those who are of another religion.

Ptaah:

39. Those are good words.

Billy:

There is, however, something more to say about this, namely, that it corresponds to a widespread misunderstanding that each Islamic war was a war of religion and that it had always been the Ziel/purpose of the war to forcibly and inevitably convert the defeated peoples to Islam with the sword. Of course, there were such wars of religion, but this only applies to the early fightings of Mohammed, in which he had to raise the sword perforce against Jewish and Meccan opponents of the Madinese community, otherwise he would have been murdered with his followers. Surah 9:5 solely refers to this, in which the following was taught in the real original form by Mohammed:

“And when the forbidden months have passed, then resist your adversaries who serve tin gods, where you meet them, seize them, and besiege them, and lie in wait for them in their own ambush, to put them in captivity. But only deprive them of their lives when self-defence requires it. But if they repent, then put mercy before justice, let them pay the Zakat (tax for the poor) and give them the freedom that they can go their way.”

But since the falsification of this aphorism has found its entrance into Islam, it has been taught and also translated in the following form:

“And when the forbidden months have passed, then kill the servants of tin gods where you meet them, and seize them and besiege them, and lie in wait for them in every ambush. But if they repent and if they do the prayer and pay the Zakat (tax for the poor), then grant them their way. Truly, Allah is all-forgiving, benevolent.”

or another translation version:

“... Slay the servants of tin gods where you find them ... But if they repent and do the prayer and pay the poor tax, then let them go their way.”

The truth is that neither in this nor in other teaching verses has Mohammed spoken thereof, that enemies should simply be beaten to death and killed, but he spoke about the fact that this may be the case only in actual self-defence. As at all times, when Mohammed's effective and true teaching was falsified, it is then further falsified by wannabe-knowing scribblers, in which case insults of the prophets and untrue ragbag stories become the norm. In fact, it would be necessary, as with the Talmud Jmmanuel, that Mohammed's teaching be post-written in accordance with how he actually brought his teaching. ...

... Of course, there have been fanatics since the year one and also since every beginning – as with Christianity and all religions; except Buddhism – in Islam, who used Mohammed's teaching in a wrong and falsified wise for their claims for might and actually tried to spread Islam with the sword, which is why this has also spread as knowledge worldwide and unfortunately is not to be denied. But those acted in such a wise, were not real Muslims, but perverted fanatics who utilized falsified teaching-parts for their own benefit. So, if also I speak/talk or write about it, such as in the book 'Ein offenes Wort' (An Open Word, in German only), that facts are to be quoted in the teaching of Islam, which are connected with war, the sword, murder and manslaughter, etc., then it exclusively concerns facts that have arisen due to the falsification of the Koran and which have nothing to do with the effective truth and reality, because Mohammed had not brought a teaching of war and murder, but a teaching of love, of truth, freedom, harmony and of peace for all human beings on the Earth, and indeed irrespective whatsoever of what race, religion, other belief-orientations or which people and which social status they belong to. He did so in the same wise as all the prophets of his line before him and after him.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_453

Billy:

The name Muhammad or Mohammed, does it also have a female form? I am actually not aware of this.

Ptaah:

12. The name also exists with us, whereby the female version is Muhammada or Mohammeda.

13. Both forms are frequently used with us.

14. The meaning is: The one who is praised.

Birth year A.D. Period

19.2.571 A.D. {19 February, 571}

Died A.D. Period

8.6.632 AD 10.58 hrs {8 June, 632 at 10:58 a.m.}

Billy:

On this list from Christian, various name meanings are still missing as well as what became of Ischwisch Gospod aka Allah. So will add to the whole thing if you, Ptaah, can still tell me, so how old did Gospod get, if you know – and from when to when did he have contact with Muhammad, and why did he call himself Allah?

Ptaah:

19. This is actually all known to me.

20. He lived to be 1230 years old.

21. He made contact with Muhammad when he was 3 years old, on the 6th of May 574 A.D.

22. The contact lasted until 8th of June 632 A.D., when Muhammad died.

23. The name Allah was given to Gospod simply because it is the Arabic meaning for God.

Billy:

Muhammad or Mohammed was actually called Abul Kasim Muhammad Ibn Abd Allah, but in his circles he was called Muhammad Abdallah or Muhammad Abdulla.

Ptaah:

24. This is correct, but it is not common knowledge.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_503

Ptaah:

29. Now as for the Prophet Muhammad, respectively Abdul Kasim Muhammad ibn Abd Allah, as his correct name was, his lineage did not trace back to your lineage, because Muhammad's birth and life took place outside your lineage, as was also the case with the Prophets Enoch, Elijah, Isaiah and Jeremiah, who all came from various other lineage outside the lineage.

30. So, apart from Jmmanuel and you, the remaining five prophets of the Nokodemion line each descend from five other family trees, which do not trace back to Semjasa, the father of Adam's procreation.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_568

Billy:

With regard to circumcision and the circumcision ceremony in Islam, the following is to be said: According to the information of the Plejaren, the prophet Mohammed was born with a normal foreskin and not without it, as an invented story would like to portray it differently. ...

... In the Islamic religious book Koran alone, there is nothing to be found that calls for circumcision, because the true prophet Mohammed never ordered such nonsense. Objectively speaking, therefore, the Koran does not allow for the circumcision of women or men, girls or boys, but this is of course of no interest to those who advocate this bloody trade, and therefore irrelevant. It is a fact that certain Islamic 'clergy' who are fanatical about circumcision in various regions and countries are of the opinion that Allah has allegedly demanded this 'purification' and that the Prophet has also made this known, which is, however, in truth absolute nonsense. Muhammad, in fact, never spoke out in favor of male or female genital mutilation, but against it, because he knew it was wrong and that it was carried out among the Jews and even further outside his sphere of influence, as well as among his people themselves who had adopted the circumcision tradition from Judaism. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_636

Billy:

The Koran, however, is not based on the effective message of the Prophet Mohammed, but largely on Earth human falsifications of doctrine, points of view and false laws, etc., which were gathered together and cobbled together long after Mohammed's death and which have very little or nothing to do with Mohammed's doctrine, which unfortunately is not generally known to Islam believers. In fact, they do not know that what Muhammad taught is 'the teaching of truth, the teaching of the Spirit, the teaching of life'. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_701

Billy:

... Jmmanuel, as well as Muhammad, did not preach punishment or war, let alone wage it, as is claimed, for example, with regard to Muhammad, whose entire life story was falsified many times more than that of Jmmanuel. With Mohammed there was no Sharia, no compulsory headscarf, no child marriage, no covering of the face and many other things, as was invented long after his death and books of lies were written from it. The teaching of Jmmanuel and Muhammad was the one and only 'teaching of the prophets', the spirit teaching, which was given as 'teaching of truth, teaching of the spirit, teaching of life' and which also exists today in a whole series of books, whereby the 2 works 'OM' and 'Cup of Truth' were both taught by Jmmanuel and Muhammad, but were neither understood nor lived by the people of those times.

On the contrary, the entire teachings were profoundly falsified and so straightened out that murderous delusions arose, which could not be reconciled with the teachings, or only in small parts, and caused enormous suffering, hardship, misery, wars, persecutions, deaths, murders and destruction. One only has to think of the early and later persecutions and murders of Christians as well as war campaigns etc., as well as the Inquisition and other murderous events in the name of Christianity, and equally of the tremendous atrocities that were carried out unlawfully, mendaciously and criminally in the name of Mohammed and his teachings. And this happened and still happens today, although neither Jmmanuel nor Muhammad ever taught in this way, but – like all prophets before them – consistently adhered honourably and worthily to the 'teaching of truth, teaching of the spirit, teaching of life' and did not misteach anything about domination, lust for power, inhuman punishment or capital punishment, child marriage, mummery, war, conquest, torture, human trafficking and the like or other nonsense, imbecility and other time-honoured inhumanities.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_703

Billy:

... But now I would like to talk a little bit in detail and openly about how basically the so-called 'holy' books came into being with regard to Christianity and Islam, because the truth is that neither Jmmanuel alias Jesus, nor Muhammad themselves made any written records of the 'teachings of the prophets'. Only Jmmanuel's disciple Judas Ischkerioth – not Judas Iskarioth or Ischarioth or Isharioth – knew the Scriptures, while all the other disciples, contrary to all the conventional lies and claims, were just as ignorant of the Scriptures as the followers around Mohammed. ...

... And just as the Torah, the Bible and the New Testament came about, so it was also with the Koran, which was never written after the teachings of Muhammad, but very long after his death by human beings who had neither seen the Prophet himself, nor heard his teachings, nor known him themselves. Also with Muhammad it was in truth the case that no written records of his life and teachings were made during his lifetime, but such records only came into being long decades after his death, with tremendous mendacious claims, tall tales and false doctrines being set up which in no way corresponded to the truth regarding the reality of Muhammad's teachings and life. Everything about his personality, his behaviour and the 'doctrine of the prophets' that he brought and taught was so thoroughly falsified and made into a religion that brings death and destruction to this day. The entire life story concerning Muhammad and his work has been so maliciously falsified that hardly a word corresponds to the effective reality. Muhammad neither taught nor waged wars, and those that were carried out in his name were against his will and the work of war-obsessed delusional believers who, on the one hand, misunderstood the teachings, reinterpreted them themselves and thus falsified them. On the other hand, they used their doctrine-distorting and doctrine-ballooning for them useful, doctrine-twisting and doctrine-manipulating, deliberately falottish interpretations to further their war-mongering and to be able to attribute the whole thing to the teaching and meaning of Muhammad. So they used their doctrine-distorting interpretations for their war-mongering favours and advantages, completely contrary to the teachings of Muhammad, who taught neither hatred, capital punishment and child marriage, nor Sharia and such nonsense, nonsense, hostilities to life and inhumanities. Lying and deceitful, as it has always been since time immemorial, and the whole thing has been preserved up to the present day, it was also easy for all those who invented his life story and devalued, disfigured, distorted and twisted it in such a way in relation to Mohammed to falsify everything in a slanderous way, that only a short time later it was no longer possible to verify anything – and today it is no longer possible at all. Because the effective truth about the person of Muhammad, his way of life, his teachings and his behaviour in terms of morals, ethics and customs as well as his worldly conduct can no longer be verified today, precisely because of the old mendacious records and false chronological annals, the delusion of lies and slander surrounding his personality, teachings and behaviour etc. can no longer be eradicated. On the contrary, with regard to all the stories of lies and slander around Muhammad and his teachings, everything has become so ingrained in the Islamophobes and also in the Islam believers themselves that the effective truth is no longer accepted, but is reviled as lies and conspiracy theories. So it is also not accepted that the 'teaching of the prophets' or the 'teaching of truth, teaching of the spirit, teaching of life' – as it was already brought by Jmmanuel and all 4 other prophets or heralds Enoch, Elijah, Isaiah and Jeremiah – which is now also taught today for the last time and spread by the FIGU, is a teaching of the creative-natural laws. A teaching that teaches the human being to live with all fellow human beings and all peoples in peace, freedom and justice, in humanity and love. And this ancient teaching, whose origins can be traced back to Nokodemion, the universal herald who existed 9 billion years ago, also teaches that self-knowledge, consciousness-self-development, good self-esteem, empathy and healthy self-respect, etc. are of the greatest importance for the individual human being, as well as connectedness with the existence of the entire environment. The fact is, however, that with regard to Mohammed and his 'teachings of the prophets', unfortunately, all evil was included in the once created falsifications by delusionists, those who were greedy for power, murder and war and other delusional elements, starting with murder and manslaughter, human trafficking, child abuse, war, exploitation, torture and capital punishment, up to and including many other evils and human degradations. And out of this came religious wars and conquests in the name of faith and the ruler of heaven, etc. Child abuse was also commonplace long before the time of Muhammad the Annunciator, as was also the case with the ancient Hebrews, about which, however, silence is deliberately kept. Muhammad had denounced this through his teachings, but never succeeded in having his request for a ban on child marriage respected, even to this day. On the contrary, this part of his teaching was also falsified and denied ad infinitum and it was even maliciously imputed to him that he himself had at least entered into a child marriage, which was later allegedly confirmed by his wife in this regard, but which was never actually the case. In truth, this child-marriage lie was already rampant very early on in the first slanderous oral and then also in the first written traditions, which then also found its way into the invented and falsified life story of the Prophet or Annunciation and has been preserved up to the present day. ...

... But the whole life story of Muhammad and the 'teachings of the prophets' he brought were thoroughly distorted beyond recognition and turned into a false doctrine for hatred, war, death, subjugation, ruin and destruction. Muhammad and Jmmanuel, however, were in reality humble human beings of love, peace, freedom, justice, equality and humanity, as were also the other, earlier and predetermined prophets Enoch, Elijah, Isaiah, Jeremiah from the same prophetic line before them. And, as I said, the old 4 prophets were predestined from time immemorial, as were Jmmanuel and Mohammed, because they were prophets born of earth mothers from the nations and therefore not 'sons of God', not 'chosen' by a God and not 'servants of God' or such nonsense as was attributed to them in the course of time by crazy and delusional people. Enoch, Elia, Isaiah, Jeremiah, Jmmanuel and Mohammed were pre-determined prophets or heralds of the 'Doctrine of the Prophets' or the 'Doctrine of Truth, Doctrine of the Spirit, Doctrine of Life', which was created ages ago by the ever first prophet or herald Nokodemion according to the creative-natural laws and carried on in his spiritual lineage reincarnating over all times. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_713

Billy:

... In the time of the Prophet Mohammed, women wore headscarves, and many still do today, and this was also the case for many Christian women in Europe, particularly among the working-class population, well into the mid-20th century. Some passages in the Koran refer to the headscarf requirement, for example in verse 24:31. However, not all Muslim women see wearing a headscarf as a requirement of their religion. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_721

Ptaah:

58. Muhammad born 19th February 571–632 after Jmmanuel (AD)

74. In the case of Muhammad, for example, it was more than 100 years after his death before the first words were written about him, and his teaching was completely disregarded and rewritten and replaced by a completely re-invented one.

75. Hence, the true teaching that Muhammad brought, the 'teaching of the prophets' i.e. 'teaching of the truth, teaching of the spirit, teaching of the life' was not simply falsified beyond recognition, but it was, as was already the case with the same teaching of Jmmanuel, completely denied and replaced by a new truth-falsified religious history that was fantasized together from the ground up and directed towards a godhead and spread.

76. In addition, over the course of centuries, new rules, rituals, prayer-, behaviour- and other regulations as well as religious laws etc. were invented over and over again, which were consciencelessly fantasised into the irrationally- and confusingly-invented senseless religious teaching and were mendaciously ascribed to the proclaimers Jmmanuel and Muhammad.

231. After Jmmanuel's flight from Jerusalem, his entire life history from birth up to his death was spread and later also written down with monstrous falsifications, lies, assertions and calumnies, thus the same happened with Mohammed, whose real name indeed was Abdul Kasim Muhammad Ibn Abdallah. ...

237. If one has a close look at the life history of Mohammed, then it must also be said concerning this, that there is hardly a true word in all that which is supposedly 'handed down' about him, for just as with Jmmanuel, all around no one was knowledgeable in writing and written language, except his first wife, the widow Chadidscha.

238. She was a member of the highly respected Quraish tribe and heiress of a caravanserai and a trading business in Mecca.

239. At first, under her matriarchy, Mohammed did various works for her, before they got together and married, after which she appointed him as a business partner.

240. The woman was connected to Mohammed by sincere love and was also able to connect with his teaching, which she held in high regard, although she did not record a single word of his teaching or of his life in writing.

241. The incredibly infamous calumny that Mohammed is said to have fathered several children with this woman corresponds to a lie beyond compare, because the woman was incapable of conception and therefore could not be impregnated by Mohammed.

242. However, since Chadidscha wanted to have children, it was decided in agreement between her and Mohammed, to adopt several orphans and to secretly pretend that they were their own.

243. After his wife died, he married Sauda bint Zama as his second wife, with whom, however, he also did not father any descendants, nor with Aischa bint Abi Bakr, who was his third wife and who, contrary to the slanderous 'traditions', was neither 6 nor 7 or 9 years old at the time of marriage, but 19 years of age.

244. And the malicious story of slander against her, which is said to have arisen during the campaign against the Banū I-Mustaliq in the year 627, is just as much a malicious lie as is the story of the twelve 'mothers of the believers', which was built up on nothing more than lies and deception.

245. This applies equally to the many lies that Mohammed, in addition to his regular marriage, married a greater number of women and had slaves as concubines, for in fact it was only the three wives Chadidscha, Sauda bint Zama and Aischa bint Abi Bakr, whom he had married after the death of Chadidscha, and also these marital bonds remained childless, because even with these two women, he was not of the sense to procreate offspring.

246. All the larger numbers of other women who were around him, were in no way in any marital connection with him, nor in any kind of relationship of a slavish or concubine-like nature, rather they were all well protected in his care and friendship.

247. So, long after his death, other women were imputed to him by lies and calumnies of alleged relatives and chroniclers and so forth and had no truth content whatsoever.

248. This also applies to the veiling of women, as well as to completely different senselessnesses.

249. Maliciously minded ones who were against the spreading of the early wrong Christianity that had emerged centuries earlier, through which the true teaching of the proclaimer Jmmanuel was completely falsified, saw in it an opportunity to falsify the teaching of Mohammed as well.

250. So, in his time, they seized the opportunity to falsify his teaching, which was indeed the same as that of Jmmanuel, and to spread rules and regulations, just as it was with regard to the teaching of Jmmanuel.

251. Just as Jmmanuel was not able to defend himself against it, so it also happened with Mohammed, because when both had gone their last way, their ever-identical teaching was abysmally falsified and new religions were created from it.

252. As a consequence, the believers turned to the new teachings, to which Mohammed and Jmmanuel could no longer oppose because of their departure, hence Christianity with the 'new testament' and Islam with the 'recitation', i.e. the 'Koran', completely suppressed the truthful 'teaching of the truth, teaching of the spirit, teaching of the life'.

253. Ancient Palestine was occupied by the Romans at the time of Jmmanuel and had experienced some increase in prosperity under them, even though the native population was directed by a harsh Jewish and religious-oriented rule, which is why it was opportune for the emerging Christians to devise a story of lies of a resurrection of the crucified Jmmanuel and to call him Jesus.

254. This, while southern Arabia was a very backward area at the time of Mohammed, far away from all the cultural and economic centres of the world at that time, where the human beings who were poor, suffered great hardship and were only too happy to believe in and fall prey to a new religion of salvation.

255. If the old scrolls/writings are examined, which are supposed to come from disciples, direct followers and the like as well as from direct or indirect descendants, relatives or from family members of the two proclaimers, then all such alleged written proofs correspond altogether to only sneaky and disingenuous falsifications, wrong memories (only partly true) and wrong renditions as well as very fallible interpretations by the scribes.

256. Truthly, there is not a single such ancient document which would be directly or semi-directly related to a person who had been in direct or indirect contact with Jmmanuel or Mohammed.

257. Claims to the contrary and so-called 'written documentary evidence/proofs' correspond to nothing other than falsifications and lies, because in the case of both Jmmanuel as well as Mohammed, the first written records were made only years later, after their departure, i.e. after their death.

258. And this happened according to very inadequate or erroneous memories, but also through conscious false claims and lies, etc., as a result of which glorifications and fairy tales regarding Jmmanuel and Mohammed also came about.

259. In addition, various direct and indirect followers were fraudulently/lyingly attributed to the two proclaimers, who in truth, however, had nothing to do with them.

260. Even disciples, followers and relatives as well as friends, etc., versed in writing, were attributed to the two proclaimers Jmmanuel and Mohammed at all times, but out of all those mentioned, not a single one was knowledgeable of the script and writing.

261. Judas Ischkerioth was the only one amongst all, who correctly and truthly mastered the script and who was well versed in writing and a disciple close to Jmmanuel.

262. Later he was slandered by falsifiers of writings and by hangers-on, just as the name of Jesus was then also imputed to Jmmanuel. ...

264. This, while all other records concerning the teaching of Jmmanuel and Mohammed were in no way made by any of their disciples or direct or indirect descendants, etc., but by strangers, namely even only a long time after their death.

265. Truthly, however, in relation to the two of them and their teaching, which on both sides was the 'teaching of the truth, teaching of the spirit, teaching of the life', everything was abysmally misunderstood and boundlessly falsified beyond recognition.

266. This also applies to various other ancient and newly discovered old writings, which likewise do not lead back to any disciples during the lifetime of Jmmanuel or to direct followers or relatives and so forth of Mohammed.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_754

Billy:

... Through Christianity and its missionary work, which is still carried out worldwide today, millions of human beings were murdered, just as even today Christian missionary work continues to claim victims among the missionaries and missionaries in the 'name of the Lord'. The same happened with Islam, as well as with all other religions, sects and religious communities, whereby nowadays especially the completely degenerated Islamism commits murder of people of other faiths and also of people of the same faith, as it is also done by cross-criminal Islamic laws, e.g. in Persia, Saudi Arabia and Egypt, etc. This, whereby these murderous lies are still being practised today worldwide in the name of the Lord. This, whereas these murderous lying and punishing laws and all the murders, floggings, tortures, blindings, mutilations and death sentences etc. resulting from them are justified by the Sharia and derive from it or from the 'totality of all religious and (religious) beliefs'. the 'totality of all religious and (un)legal norms, mechanisms for (un)norm-finding and (false mis)interpretation regulations of Islam', and which are mendaciously and slanderously attributed to Muhammad because he is supposed to have taught them, which, however, corresponds to an impudent, disgraceful and malicious lie-slander of conscienceless crime-like scribblers. ...

... The 'Holy Book' of Islam is the 'Koran', which is said to contain revelations that Mohammed received from God and Allah respectively in 22 years from 610 and 632 AD. As has been customary from time immemorial, these statements were only written down decades and even more after more than 100 years and more – as with the Bible and other 'Holy Scriptures' – after Mohammed's death as 'traditions' and repeated reinterpretations, ultimately with x-times more additions – which Mohammed neither said nor misinterpreted – and written in 114 chapters or suras. ...

... In the course of time, however, these traditions were more and more frequently embellished with what had supposedly happened and phantasties were also invented, which were additionally embellished by constantly new additions to fairy tales and persons were also beamed up to saintly figures, so that in the end the whole thing corresponded only to complete unreality. This is also what happened in the form of signs, stone writings, stone pictures, sculptures and writings, and, and, and, which today is taken at face value by scientists and is no longer questioned, which not infrequently leads to scientifically 'proven' assertions that do not correspond to real reality and truth, such as the lies, deceptions and slander regarding the alleged and never made statements and teachings of Jmmanuel (Jesus) and Mohammed. ...

... This is exactly the same as is the case with Jmmanuel (Chr.) and Mohammed, whose teachings and work etc. have been abysmally falsified in the course of time and already during their lifetime as well as especially long after their death and statements have been denied, fantasised, attributed to them in their mouths and 'holy books' have been made out of them, which are so full of ashen lies and slander that they cannot be surpassed by the greatest efforts.

...

... The greater part of all alleged 'traditions' correspond in truth to unparalleled untruths, which, as Siddharta himself expressed, correspond to an 'unpardonable shameful', just as Jmmanuel (Chr.) and Mohammed expressed themselves in a similar way about all that has been fabricated from their teachings by lies, falsifications, fraud, malice, misunderstanding and fanaticism, etc., and has led to a delusional religion of God. ...

... In the end, it must also be said that I do not attack any old true prophet, teacher or herald, such as Jmmanuel, Buddha, Abram, Confucius or Mohammed, etc., nor any founder of a religion or sect, either as a human being or in his honour and dignity, or as a person or in his personality. If I raise my voice attacking the founders of religions or sects, it is not directed against the human beings, their person or personality, but only against their wrong actions, deeds and false teachings and the spreading of their faith. Real prophets, teachers or heralds, such as Jmmanuel (lyingly called Jesus), Buddha, Abram and Mohammed, whose true teachings have unfortunately been maliciously and slanderously falsified and re-fabricated into cult religions, are taboo and unassailable for me, just as I have also not attacked these true prophets, teachers or heralds, because all honour and dignity is due to them. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_797

Bermunda:

... This also remained the case when Islam and its faith arose later, which was actually a continuation of Christianity and was also supposed to lead back to the truth. However, this failed thoroughly because the human beings misunderstood the teachings from the very beginning and, contrary to Muhammad's teachings, adopted, worshipped and began to worship the new God of the Christians, just as the Christians had been doing for several centuries, only in Islam he was called Allah. The Prophet fought against this throughout his life, but all his efforts were unsuccessful. When he passed away, scribblers took up the pen and falsified the doctrine from the ground up in such a way that it became a religious misconception just like Christianity. Unfortunately, this created a boundless hatred against the Jewish believers for the reason that the Jewish priesthood had Jmmanuel (Billy: alias Jesus Christ) crucified with the permission and assistance of the Romans. Jmmanuel was regarded by the new religious doctrine of Islam as Muhammad's preceding prophet, and as such he was practically untouchable. Unfortunately, Muhammad's doctrinal efforts were a complete failure, for the doctrine of effective reality and its truth, as with Christianity, became a confusion of beliefs and misconceptions among human beings, whereby the whole thing lost all rational control, which has remained so to this day. Thus, the Islam religion not only became a might, but a delusion was created, through which bloody wars arose, as well as special rites of worship of Allah, whereby special features were also included in the prayers. This belief inevitably led to torture and murder, as well as the rape of women and children, as has been the case with Christianity from the very beginning and has been preserved, especially in Catholicism, up to the present day. ...

return to Index

Multiverse

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Multiverse>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_707

Billy:

... especially the scientists have strange ideas about parallel worlds and parallel universes. Sfath, however, has never said anything to me about such a thing, which is supposed to be a mirror universe – or several – and which is supposed to be such that it would be a mirror image of our universe. Of course, scientists are not simply thinking of our present dimension, but of a differently dimensioned universe that is mirrored and aligned with our present, so that, for example, if I could go into such a parallel universe, I could meet myself there in a double version or as a mirrored person and talk to myself, whereby my double and I would always make the same physical movements, carry out the same actions and thus also make the same gestures, as well as speak the same words, etc. As I said, however, your father Sfath never said or taught me anything in this regard, but only spoke of completely different dimensions or space-time structures or of universes, which I was also able to visit with him and experience and also learn a lot there, as a result of which I assume that Sfath was either unaware of such mirror or parallel universes or that they do not exist, which is why I want to ask you about the correctness.

Ptaah:

23. Parallel universes and parallel worlds, as you describe them, are unknown to us, as they are also unknown to the Sonaern, if you should also ask about their findings and knowledge in this regard, as I assume, because you always want to know everything very precisely when you bring up questions.

Billy:

Yes, I wanted to, because the Sonaer are still far ahead with their technology compared to yours. Since you, like the Sonaer, are much more highly educated compared to the knowledge of earthly scientists and are tremendously advanced in terms of the entire earthly technology and therefore should also have knowledge of parallel worlds, which is not the case according to your words, I think that the whole mirror universe issue is based on pure fantasy. This also explains to me why Sfath never said anything about parallel worlds and parallel universes in that sense and also did not explain how such mirror worlds etc. are accepted by earthly scientists.

return to Index

Napoleon Bonaparte – death

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Napoleon#Death>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_303

Billy:

... Then I have a question about Napoleon I. Here, read this note, which was published in 'Der Landbote' on the 2nd of June 2001. You once told me that Napoleon Bonaparte had been poisoned and taken to the afterlife. Here, please ...

Ptaah:

21. ... In addition I can only repeat that my data given to you correspond to the correctness.

22. Napoleon I was treacherously murdered with the poison arsenic over a longer period of time.

23. The poison was not administered in a single dose, but was added to his food and drink, making him more and more susceptible and sickly.

24. However, he still suffered from stomach cancer.

25. The dose of poison was administered so drastically on the day of his death that he died of it.

26. And because the poison had not yet been administered in life-threatening, small doses, it could also settle in his hair.

27. Even the theory of hair preservation is not tenable and ridiculous.

28. All the reports here that deny the arsenic murder do not correspond to the truth, because this is that Napoleon was actually poisoned with arsenic.

29. The fact that no arsenic residues were found during the autopsy is due to the fact that Napoleon was administered emetics shortly before his death, which washed out the poison.

Nazca Lines

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nazca\_Lines

see also Easter Island Moai (heads)

see also Long-Skulls

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_069

Semjase:

9. The Earth-human is misguided if he/she wants to make the concerns of Easter Island an isolated concern.

10. The events of earlier times on this island are in direct connection with the country, which you still call Tiahuanaco today, as it was called already at earliest time, in spite of past repeated changes.

11. Easter Island and Tiahuanaco are more than 5,000 kilometres apart, and yet they are directly related to each other.

12. However, the history of the connection goes back to very early times and ended only 2,548 years ago, calculated back from today [1976 = 572 before Jmmanuel].

13. As I once explained to you, the last decisive settlement of the Earth by extraterrestrial intelligences took place about 13,500 Earth years ago.

14. As you know, several of the immigrant horde became renegades, including a man in the rank of a half-Ischwish called Viracocoha, who was already very old and extremely power-hungry.

15. His name is still handed down on the Earth today, but with a small change, because for a long time now he has only been called Viracocha and also as Jschwisch, although he was only in half the rank of such a person.

16. Under his patronage and his cruel leadership, the highlands of Tiahuanaco at an altitude of about 4,000 metres were conquered, as was the Delta Island, which you call Easter Island.

17. After this conquest Viracocoha settled with a special bodyguard of cherubim on the small island Mot, which is situated in front of Easter Island and which you call Motunui or similar to my knowledge today.

18. At that time it was called Mot because the cherubim were animal-human life forms, in this case they were all birdlike.

19. Mot means bird in our original language, so the island was called the Mot island, or also the island of the bird people, as it is still called today.

20. So Viracocoha or Viracocha resided there.

21. He and his followers, escaped Lyrans like many others, who came to the Earth, were of gigantic physique, by earthly measure about eleven meters tall.

22. They were the ones who taught the dwarfish, normal-growing inhabitants of Tiahuanaco and Easter Island – who were procreations between earthlings and previously immigrated intelligences from the vastness of the universe – in many things, providing them with their own highly developed technology and teaching them how to operate the devices and machines.

23. Thus they also taught the natives of Tiahuanaco and Easter Island the work of stonemasonry, and they let themselves be celebrated as gods.

24. With the help of the giants and their machines and other equipment, the natives worked many meters large head formations out of the lava stone, placed these, also with the help of machines, randomly around the island.

25. Similar events took place in the areas you call Pisco, Nazca and Sacsayhuaman, because the same giants had settled there.

26. Thus many statues and other structures were created, whereby also the shape of the spaceships on Easter Island were reproduced from rocks of the lava walls, which have survived to this day, namely oval-shaped stones, because the spaceships had this shape.

27. After several centuries, the exact time is also veiled to us, the giants were attacked by a sudden epidemic that was unknown to them and cost the lives of many of them.

28. Finding no cure for the epidemic, they fled Earth in their spaceships, set off into space and have since disappeared.

29. Despite the most eager investigations of our scientists, no trace of them has been found to this day.

30. There is therefore the possibility that, despite their flight from Earth, they were attacked and killed by the mysterious plague in their space ships, while their ships shot aimlessly through space, were attracted by some star and smashed to pieces.

31. Our probability calculations very much favour this.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_119

Semjase:

39. The productions represent an astrological calendar as well as an astrological garden.

40. At an earlier time, when these grounds were still operating and were used astrologically, the enormous signs were surrounded by gardens, out of which the astrological signs protruded like parkways, etc.

41. They were made by human beings of Earth, and indeed, without any influence from extraterrestrial intelligences.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_216

Billy:

Then once again, I have a question regarding the pre-Columbian Nazca Indian culture, i.e. the Nazca Indians, who resided in the valleys and areas of Nazca, Ica and Pisco and who made gigantic geoglyphs in the desert plain, which have remained up to this day. I asked about these once before, and I was told that these pictures concern astrology gardens. But in addition to this, I mean to this explanation, it was then later noted that the real purpose of this huge layout of geoglyphs didn't just serve for astrology. But then, unfortunately, no further explanation was given to this because I didn't continue to ask about it. I would like to do that now with this: What, now, is the actual purpose of these giant pictures?

Quetzal:

141. The Nazca geoglyphs, as you call them, at the time of the Nazca culture, formed a large ritual site in their entirety; therefore, one can speak of a ritual garden, of an astrology-ritual garden, or of a ritual area or rather a ritual landscape.

142. The rituals carried out there corresponded to faith-related, cultic actions and, thus, religious actions.

143. The types of rituals served several purposes, but fertility rituals were the most common forms that were carried out at these cult sites or ritual sites.

144. However, just like the Stonehenge structures - i.e. the megaliths, located to the north of Salisbury, Wiltshire in southern England - the Nazca layouts also served as general meeting places as well as judgment sites and sites of execution.

Billy:

So all of the various allegations are rubbish, such as the ones that the geoglyphs would mark or indicate underground rivers or that these are prehistoric airfields of or for extraterrestrials, as this, along with other things, is fantasized by Erich von Daniken. These geoglyphs in the desert plains of southern Peru show enormous geometric figures, animals, plants, and humans, which are only recognizable in their entire forms from a certain height. For this reason, one might get the idea that the pictures could have somehow been made by specific instructions from a certain height.

Quetzal:

145. That is of correctness.

146. The actual meaning of the Nazca geoglyphs is based in the explanations that I gave you.

147. All other explanation attempts by any ignorant ones, profiteers, or people given to fantasies or imaginations correspond to wild fantasies, confused assertions, or deliberate deceptions.

148. What you say in regards to the fact that the geoglyphs are only recognizable in their full forms from a certain height, as this is the case with respect to other similar pictures in other parts of the world, I must say that this is actually so.

149. However, the production of the pictures isn't actually based on the fact that from a certain height, instructions would have been given for it.

150. In truth, all measurements, etc. were made in an extremely accurate manner on the ground alone, even though this may seem unbelievable to today's Earth-humans because they can't make any such images themselves.

151. Unfortunately, the people on the Earth always tend to search for impossible explanations for things that they don't know and don't understand.

152. And wherever or for whatever they find no explanations, then it must be aliens, ghosts, or demons, and even when that is no longer possible, then it's simply taken to be a miracle, even though there are no miracles within the entire creative realm and, thus, also in the entire universe and in all dimensions.

153. In fact, everything that is seen can be explained; it's just that the necessary insights and knowledge are also necessary for this, and precisely in these, the Earth-humans are still lacking in very many respects.

154. Their cognition and understanding as well as their knowledge and their wisdom still aren't so comprehensive that they could understand and explain all things and concerns, etc., which is why, in their ignorance, they call everything that is still unexplainable to them "miracles" or search for solutions and explanations that fall into the realms of fantasy and error.

155. Although the Earth person only learns slowly, in time, he will find the solutions to the things that are still unknown and mysterious to him.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_229

Quetzal:

3. Each one of the scrape pictures was portrayed by a non-interrupted, continuing line.

4. For their construction drawing patterns were used which were transferred and enlarged onto the ground, until the desired size was reached.

5. The Nazcans were perfectly mastering the necessary mathematical calculating.

6. With ropes that were attached to standing poles – that were held by humans – with revolving straps, an improvised circle was built which served to scrape the spots, that had already been marked, with tools.

7. The light sediment layer under the desert's surface was uncovered, and in this way the figures and lines were created.

8. The gigantic scrape figures – desert ground that was scraped away – were symbolizing gods that were revered by the Nazcans in those times.

9. At the same time, the scrape pictures were also an astronomical calendar and a huge astronomical garden, because the figures represented portrayals of the gods who, according to the Nazca people's belief, were seen in the star pictures.

10. For the interpretations of the Nazca star pictures, animals and birds known to the people, and also geometric figures were used which were believed to be seen in the star constellations.

11. On the holy god day that was set at that day when day and night were of equal length, the entire people were walking in long marches over the scrape pictures and honouring the gods, and they performed rituals and ceremonies to the honour of their great and powerful gods.
12. In order to make their gods peaceful, “lower” human beings, like slaves, enemies and “unwanted people” etc. were sacrificed and killed in such a way that they were bound onto special altars, and a heavy wooden thorn or stone thorn was driven into the forehead and the skull, and a cactus thorn was driven through the lips, to shut up their mouth for all times and to silence them.
13. Those ceremonies were executed by the priests, who were “holy” men and who led a prosperous life.
14. The priests were also responsible for the performance of the “holy” rituals and ceremonies on the scrape pictures, that were permitted to walk on not only on the holy god day, but at any other time and was permitted. to be used for private cultic actions.
15. As a rule, the Nazcans were people with high skulls, which means that their skulls showed an exceptional long skull form, which was not of original origin.
16. This skull-form was artificially produced; as long as the skull was still formable, it was restricted and bound with grinded metallic, stony and wooden plates, forcibly leading to a skull of long form and resulting in an oblong deformation.
17. This procedure was even started with newborns when they were one week old.
18. Everything was not an ideal of beauty, but a tribute to the gods, to give them obsequious reverence.
19. Only those Nazcans were permitted to have and wear the oblong-skull-form who were of higher class, i.e. about 85 percent of the population.
20. The remaining 15 percent were “lower people” who had to perform slave duty and similar tasks, and who were looked upon as social misfits etc., and whose well-being or non-well-being and, therefore, their life was laying in the hands and will of the “higher ones” and especially of the priests.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_367

Billy:

We have often talked about Nazca and the structures on the so-called Nazca plain, which were made by the former inhabitants. But now I was asked why the Nazca culture had perished. I answered the question by saying that over the years torrential rainfall had caused enormous mudslides that buried everything underneath and finally wiped out the Nazca culture. So Sfath once taught me in the forties. He also said then that the Nazcans had migrated to the sea to fish and collect seafood. They dried the fish etc. to bring them back to their home towns as welcome food.

Ptaah:

126. ... what my father reported to you corresponds to what actually happened in early times with regard to the Nazca culture.

return to Index

Near-Death Experience

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Near-death\_experience

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_246

Billy:

... My next question relates to the freezing or shock freezing of all kinds of life-forms: If, for example, a person is shock frozen for any reason, perhaps to overcome time, etc., then I assume that this person is in a kind of apparent death. This means, however, that the spiritual form does not leave the body, but remains in it until the time when the body is revived. Am I right in my assumption? To my knowledge you yourself have used such methods in the past, have you not?

Ptaah:

129. That is correct, as is your explanation.

130. If the body of a material form of life would die through shock freezing, etc. or simply be abandoned by the spiritual form, then this spiritual form would not return to the corresponding body again, but would enter the afterlife realm, from where it would then enter an absolutely new body again for the purpose of reincarnation.

131. Once a spirit form has left a body, it never returns to the body it has left, but without exception selects only the new body destined for the next life.

Billy:

This also clarifies the stupid assertions of all those who say that they themselves or others have been clinically dead, seen the afterlife, etc., and yet have returned to the deceased body and revived it again.

Ptaah:

132. This is nonsense if it is assumed that clinical death can be equated with actual death.

133. The truth for such assertions is truthfully that the supposedly 'deceased' were only in the state of a false death, in which the spiritual form remains in the body, while the material consciousness works underground, generating dreams, visions, etc.

134. Apparent deaths are usually declared clinically dead by Earthly physicians, but the whole body truthfully lives on only in a tremendously slowed-down functional state, which Earthly physicians are not yet able to determine.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_250

Billy:

Whereby the so-called supernatural of course does not exist in any way, because everything and everything is always naturally explainable and also naturally given. The supernatural exists only in the ignorance and the incomprehension of man, because he has no knowledge about all those things which he cannot understand and cannot explain himself. Truthfully everything so-called supernatural is absolutely natural and thus also classified according to the corresponding laws of spirit or matter, which are able to give an explanation for everything and everyone, whereby something supernatural becomes a fact of non-existence. Everything that can be grasped and perceived, everything that can be seen and heard and everything that can be felt, recognized, experienced and experienced, etc., is always real, real and natural in every case, regardless of whether it takes place on a spiritual or material level or on a medium level between spirit and matter, which is so often called the level of the supernatural or the supernatural by parapsychologists and esoterics who do not understand it.

Ptaah:

181. A true word.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_279

Billy:

Then we can master another question that comes up again and again. It's the problem of the light tunnel that's created when people die. So why do people who are close to death see a light tunnel? Again and again one hears or reads that dying people lying in agony see a shining light tunnel – what is the reason for this? You, who, in addition to almost three dozen other professions, also learned the profession of a doctor, will certainly have an explanation for this, I think.

Ptaah:

129. The answer can be found in the brain itself.

130. If the brain is no longer sufficiently supplied with oxygen – and this is the case with agony – the nerve cells that guarantee vision begin to react uncontrollably.

131. This produces the appearance of light rays or radiant light.

132. Since more nerve cells are located in the centre of the human field of vision than at the edges, the faked light appears much stronger in the centre of the eye.

133. This creates the actual tunnel effect, which we also call agony light and agony tunnel.

Billy:

How is it then that in such moments any figures, people and relatives etc. are seen? In any case, this is repeatedly reported by people who were already in agony. Can it be that these people, who erroneously say that they were already dead and came back from the realm of the dead, vision these figures or people and relatives etc. into the agony tunnel or light tunnel solely by their faith and their desires as well as by their imagination? That is what my reason tells me.

Ptaah:

134. Which does not deceive you, for in fact it behaves as you have just expressed it.

Billy:

Well, then I would just like to say that, according to my intellectual knowledge, it is impossible that when a person really dies, that he can then come back to life. This is precisely the case when the spirit form has actually left the material body, for a spirit form that has once escaped the body never returns to the dead body. Consequently, all statements and assertions of those who were supposedly dead and began to live again are false. I see the matter in such a way that all these people only lingered in a state of deep stagnation and thus had not yet crossed the threshold to death. They only stood at the threshold of death and fought for the survival of life and against death, as the term agony also says – agony.

Ptaah:

135. There is no need for further explanations, for you have called the facts as they correspond to reality.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through August 28, 2011

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/11794.html#POST56733>

{answer to question from Door_knocker}

Experiences during a near-death situation have nothing in common with real death and the following existence in the other world (Jenseits). Such people have not more knowledge than before the accident etc., but they are deeply impressed by the effects they have experienced during their near-death state. Falsely assuming that they had been on the other side of death, they lose their angst of death, and this fundamentally changes their view of life.

Discussionboard of FIGU – The Mission – “Billy” Eduard Albert Meier – Your Questions to Billy Meier—Answered – Archive through July 28, 2012

<http://forum.figu.org/us/messages/12/12282.html?1343521600#POST61314>

{answer to question from Door_knocker}

Either a person is dead, or not. You cannot place a person into a temporary state of physical death. Therefore, reports from near-death experiences (NDE) are always reports about the individuals' thoughts, fantasies etc. When the brain is lacking oxygen, seeing a tunnel of light etc. is a normal effect. And when people, who experienced a NDE, are seeing a situation from above, this has to do with an increased activity of the consciousness-powers as it is the case in the agony phase of a dying person.

FIGU Special Bulletin 38

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/FIGU\_Special\_Bulletin\_038

Fine-matter also plays a very important role in regard to the near-death experience because, when the purely rational reason is shut out through the dying process, and the seventh sense - the capability of perception - is put into its appropriate place, the perception-capacity, which is usually repressed in the current life by the condition of rational reason, expands in regard to the fine-matter realm.

Thereby a border opens, for the human, to a window into that fine-material world which extends very far above all that which can be perceived with the purely coarse-material senses - with the eyes, the touch, the smell, the hearing and tasting

Through these heightened abilities of perception - through the sense of perception in regard to fine-matter - clairvoyance, for example, emerges as a near death experience, in such a way that the dying human views himself from a higher vantage point (over his own body, or floating through the room) and can also see what happens around him, what is being discussed and what objects people carry or are present in the room in which the person is dying or in adjoining rooms, and so forth.

The near-death experience is also a key to the reading of thoughts whereby the thoughts of the people standing around, or of those who are far removed, are perceived on a fine-material basis.

That happens especially in the deepest stages of dieing, which correlates to a state of the least brain activity.

This status is that of the entrance into death and in this state the brain opens up to the human his concealed capabilities which are repressed in his current life.

Every brain - therefore that of the human, as well as of all creatures - can be compared with technical transmission and receiving devices, because every organic brain is a transmitter and receiver for fine-material energies and their forces as well as their effects.

...

Now, when a human dies, then, on the brink of death, he loses the connection to rational understanding whereby that which pertains to the fine-material realm gains power and produces electromagnetic energetic loads which result from fine-material thoughts and feelings which radiate explosively and can be perceived by other humans even at a great distance.

As a rule there are humans present who are closely mentally connected to the dieing person.

The persons concerned receive the dying human's units of information through fluidal, respectively, fine-material electromagnetic vibrations, which are strong, fine-material energy loads and which conceal the information in themselves as force.

Naturally the wave-frequencies of the fine-material vibrations thereby play a decisive role, whereby not every human can therefore receive the same wave-frequencies and not everyone can tune his fine-material senses to the same degree onto near, or very distant, impulses and information, which are directed at him.

Therefore, through the mental connection, there must be a certain similarity to the wave frequencies so that messages from dying ones or otherwise from fellow humans can be received, whether it is sounds, thoughts and feelings or visionary images, and so forth.

Interviews on the Topics of Spiritual Teaching and Mission (German-language booklet))
https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Interview\_with\_Billy\_\(1998\))

There are people who claim they died and saw the Beyond. Is it true that this really happens?

Not in this sense. The people you speak of were not really dead. They may have been clinically dead, which means they no longer had discernible heart or brain activity. But, as I said, this is only a clinical death, at which time the spirit form has not yet left the body, but still remains in it for awhile. This means the comprehensive consciousness also stays in the physical body, although all vital signs may appear to be shut down. The comprehensive consciousness and the spirit form continue to remain with the body for a certain period which may last for seconds, minutes or hours; indeed, under certain circumstances even years or decades. The latter, for instance, is the case for the survival of bodies that have been frozen instantly through cryology, during which time the consciousness continues to function. Such a condition, however, only occurs while the body is in its death throes; and for this reason the brain's activity is no longer detectable, even though it continues to function. At this time images appear that are consistent with the individual's normal thinking and imagination patterns, but the images are as well imprinted by the comprehensive collective of the terrestrial human entities. While in this condition of profound death-agony, these people are often capable also of emitting their consciousness whereby they can suddenly view themselves from the outside, while hovering above their own bodies and so forth. Light, darkness, and beloved people also frequently play a major role in this scenario, and the person in this stage of a death throe feels him- or herself being led through dark channels and such into a light, from where they do not ever want to leave again.

FIGU Special Bulletin 38

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/FIGU\_Special\_Bulletin\_038

Billy:

... Fine-matter also plays a very important role in regard to the near-death experience because, when the purely rational reason is shut out through the dying process, and the seventh sense - the capability of perception - is put into its appropriate place, the perception-capacity, which is usually repressed in the current life by the condition of rational reason, expands in regard to the fine-matter realm.

Thereby a border opens, for the human, to a window into that fine-material world which extends very far above all that which can be perceived with the purely coarse-material senses - with the eyes, the touch, the smell, the hearing and tasting.

Through these heightened abilities of perception - through the sense of perception in regard to fine-matter - clairvoyance, for example, emerges as a near death experience, in such a way that the dying human views himself from a higher vantage point (over his own body, or floating through the room) and can also see what happens around him, what is being discussed and what objects people carry or are present in the room in which the person is dying or in adjoining rooms, and so forth.

The near-death experience is also a key to the reading of thoughts whereby the thoughts of the people standing around, or of those who are far removed, are perceived on a fine-material basis.

That happens especially in the deepest stages of dieing, which correlates to a state of the least brain activity.

This status is that of the entrance into death and in this state the brain opens up to the human his concealed capabilities which are repressed in his current life. ...

return to Index

Nebra Sky Disc

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nebra\_sky\_disc

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_345

Billy:

... Look here, this little article with the picture was sent to me. Unfortunately, the information was missing, from which magazine the article came from. Anyway, I was asked if I knew what origin the bronze disc with the cosmic representation or the Pleiades was from. Do you know anything about it?

Ptaah:

70. We have two similar sky discs in our possession.

71. One comes from ancient Greece and the other from the Sumerians.
72. The object pictured here is probably from ancient Greece.
73. I myself am unfamiliar with the object, but it is identical in appearance to our specimen from ancient Greece.

Billy:

Then this is probably not a Celtic product, but an ancient Greek one.

Ptaah:

74. This will certainly be the case, because the Nordic races of former times had a considerable trade with the southern countries, so also with ancient Greece, but also with the Sumerians and Babylonians, the Egyptians, the Medes and Iranians etc.
75. But even before that, the northerners were already trading with the southerners, and trade was even going on as far as the Far East.

return to Index

Nefertiti double

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nefertiti>

see also King Tut murder

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_214

Billy:

Then I have a question in reference to Queen Nofretete, who was the wife of Pharaoh Amenhotep IV, who was also known as Akhenaten and who, to my knowledge, reigned in the 14th Century B.C., from 1364 to 1347. Where was Nofretete actually buried? Her real name, so I think, was Nefertiti, right?

Quetzal:

64. That is of correctness.
65. Nevertheless, a tomb of Nefertiti does not exist but rather only one of her double, who was the concubine of Amenhotep IV/Akhenaten, but this was kept secret and, thus, also was not handed down in any records.
66. The name of Nefertiti's double was Chepris, which meant "the powerful one," while Nefertiti's name meant "the beautiful one has come."
67. Nefertiti and Chepris were neither twin sisters nor in any way connected to each other in kinship, yet they were hardly able to be distinguished by those who were initiated.
68. Thus, both of them alternately appeared before the people, who remained unaware of the fact that these were two different women who, moreover, hated one another until death.
69. In consequence of this, then, it came to the murder of Chepris, who was killed by Nefertiti with snake venom.
70. Both were boundlessly jealous of each other, even though Amenhotep IV, respectively Akhenaten, treated both of them equally.
71. After the murder, Nefertiti naturally feared the revenge and punishment of Akhenaten, so she disguised herself and fled from the palace undetected, in order to board a ship with accomplices, which should have taken them to foreign lands.
72. After several hours on the Mediterranean Sea, however, they were surprised by a heavy storm, by which the small ship was shattered and sank, together with Nefertiti and the whole crew, into the wild waters.
73. That was the actual end of Nefertiti.
74. After the murder of Chepris, Akhenaten let her be secretly buried and took as his wife her twin sister, who resembled her to the hair, and this was the one who henceforth lived at the side of Amenhotep IV as Nefertiti and as an Egyptian queen and who entered into history.

Billy:

And the model bust made of painted limestone, which was found in Amarna during excavations, now represents the real Nefertiti?

Quetzal:

75. In addition to the bust mentioned by you, several unfinished ones still exist.

76. But all of them do not represent Nefertiti but represent Chepris' identical twin sister, Nephthe, as her name was.

return to Index

Noah's Ark

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Noah%27s\_Ark

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Asket%27s\_Explanations\_-\_Part\_4

Asket:

10. But it still has to be explained that the erroneous assumptions, of all of the Earth scientists, about the time of the ark-deluge are just as very wrong - by umpteen thousands of years - as are the erroneous calculations, to which they have succumbed, about the times of various kings and emperors who lived thousands of years ago.

11. The actual time, which was handed down to you [Earthlings], of the deluge of the ark, is also greatly falsified, because it occurred nearly 100,000 years ago and therefore must be calculated to be very much earlier than the lifetime of King SAHLUK who had taken over an important role in regard to the pyramids.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_039

Semjase:

273. Sure, except that the event – with the building of the ark, which Noah himself did not build, and with his family and with the animals and everything else – became so falsified that no current information agrees with the truth any more.

274. The events with the ark did truly take place, but at another time, 90,000 years later.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_061

Billy:

... Can you tell me when the last Great Flood took place, because there were several of them, so I am not talking about the one pertaining to Noah or Noah's Flood?

Semjase:

6. As you wish – it is now about 10,080 years since then.

Billy:

... This deluge, was it the only one in those 10,080 years?

Semjase:

11. No, there were not only those which you mistakenly call the Great Biblical Flood, which truly took place about 100,000 years ago, because two other somewhat smaller floods came later, once in 7957 and another time in 6906.

12. However, none of them have anything to do with the Noah's Flood, as you call it, although in this respect it is also falsely claimed that it was the Biblical Flood, especially the one to be dated 7957.

13. Between the time of 7000 and 8000 there were also huge floods in the Near East and Asia, in Turkey and Persia, etc., and these floods, of which there were two, were equal to small floods.

14. There were also great floods about 96,000 and 100,000 years ago.

20. The biblical flood did not take place 10,080 years ago, but took place much earlier and was triggered by the Destroyer.

21. By extremely coarse inaccuracies and corrections for the bible, etc. these events were distorted and falsified by the old chroniclers and thus, bible researchers and antiquity researchers chronologically set them much later and extremely erroneously.

35. After these events about 10,000 years ago it took only about 135 years, before the Earth was again afflicted by a catastrophe, bigger and more gigantic than the two before, but in today's eastern area of the Earth ball, which was flooded by enormous masses of water, when the giant comet 'Destroyer' passed the Earth in dangerous proximity, 10,080 years from now calculated back.

36. This led to worldwide catastrophes, which, however, for reasons beyond our understanding, were never recorded by the earthly chroniclers and only found their expression in writings much later, when another flood, again caused by the Destroyer, afflicted the Earth, namely 7,957 years ago.

37. For about 1,000 years the Earth was spared from major catastrophes, until the year 6906 [before 1976], when the Destroyer once again caused enormous devastation on the Earth and destroyed many things.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_069

Billy:

Well, then is it also correct that Noah was around 3.10 metres tall, while Adam actually measured around 5 metres?

Semjase:

62. Sure, only Adam was less than 5 metres tall, he was still a little more than a metre shorter than that measure.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_248

Billy:

... Now, I once again have something concerning the Bible and, specifically, with regard to the so-called Noah's Ark, which was actually built at one time, however, at a completely different time than what is claimed in the Bible. The Biblical Flood did not happen at the time claimed by the Bible but in the year 4613 B.C. and was brought about by the Destroyer. Quetzal made the following statement:

4,613 B.C. – Destroyer falls into the Earth's orbit, which disturbs the Earth in its rotation and in its revolution around the Sun, triggering immense earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, and elementary storms, and from the whole event, the Biblical Flood arises. The rotation of the Earth is changed and a polar shift takes place.

The Biblical Flood, therefore, conforms with reality, even though it has been placed in another time by chroniclers, as this also applies to the fabrication and the events surrounding Noah's Ark. This was actually built around 98,400 years earlier and, hence, around 100,000 years ago, calculated back from today. Is that true?

Ptaah:

116. That is right, but from what source does your knowledge stem?

Billy:

From Quetzal, of course. At one time, I was together with him on Mount Ararat in eastern Turkey, respectively on the Russian-Turkish-Iranian border and, indeed, because I was interested in the history of the Ark. There, he explained to me these very things. The Ark landed around 100,000 years ago and not on the peak of the 5,165 meter high Ararat but around 30 kilometres away and not at the height of a summit. The size of the ark also corresponds to the one given in the Bible. With this, the many animals and only a few human beings had really survived an earlier flood that, like the Biblical Flood, was brought about by a pole shift.

Ptaah:

117. That is not correct, for it was a colossal tidal wave that was caused by a large comet that nearly collided with the Earth and caused enormous catastrophes, including the gigantic tidal wave, through which the Ark was lifted high onto Mount Ararat.

Billy:

Pardon me, then I probably mixed up the two events.

Ptaah:

118. That must be so.

Billy:

Thanks for your correction. Now – Noah did not live at the time of the events with the Ark and neither did his family. Nevertheless, the event happened amazingly close to what the Bible reports; it's just that the builder was a man named Noahkadosser (= Man of Peace), and he maintained contact with an extraterrestrial named Zebalon (= He who Brings the Hosts of the Universe), who explained the approaching danger of the comet to him and advised him to build the Ark, which he then did in collaboration with his family and, hence, survived the immense flood – along with his family and with many domestic and land animals. These factual events have been handed down since approximately 98,000 years ago by word-of-mouth again and again, whereby the name Noahkadosser was gradually altered and fell into oblivion and finally ended in the name of Noah, while the extraterrestrial, who was in contact with Noahkadosser, was renamed and became elevated to a god. After the Biblical Flood, the actual Bible-Ark-Noah history was then created, whereby the true origin of the events ultimately became lost.

Ptaah:

119. That is what is also recorded in our chronicle with regard to the important events on the Earth.

120. Your explanation is, therefore, correct.

Billy:

It is simply astonishing, so I think, that in spite of the later biblical falsification, the history of the Ark has been so well-preserved for more than about 100,000 years, when one just considers that during that time, very few people lived on the whole Earth. Do you, perhaps, know the number of people who lived at the time of the comet catastrophe and the number of people who died?

Ptaah:

121. There exists with us no precise data about this but only estimates.

122. These say that prior to the massive tidal wave, approximately 870,000 people lived on that part of the Earth, but as a result of the catastrophe, about 650,000 lost their lives.

123. Out of the surviving 220,000, about 140 people lived on the Ark, who, after the time of the flood, then settled the land again in the Middle East, where many foreigners then also immigrated.

124. This total of about 220,000 people had it very hard because for many thousands of years, they were decimated again and again by epidemics and all sorts of other disasters; therefore, they could only multiply very slowly at first and only reached a total population of 11 million people about 10,000 years ago – distributed across the whole Earth, of course.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_249

Billy:

Now a question about the Noandakan, known to us as Noah. During our last conversation we also talked about him, but under the name Noankadosser. Are they two different people or are they one and the same person? If so, why do you use two different names?

Ptaah:

89. It is the same man who is called Noah on earth.

90. But Noah is only the short name of Noandakan or Noankadosser.

91. Noandakan is a name that goes back to the ancient lyric language and was used by the ancient lyrans on earth, while the name Noankadnosser was coined and used by the earth people.

92. So when we talk about Noah or Noandakan and Noankadnosser in this way, we are always talking about the same name, which by the way means 'man of rest'.

Billy:

From which earthly language then does the name Noankadnosser originate?

Ptaah:

93. The language died out about 80,000 years ago.

94. The name for it was Sentalin.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_492

Billy:

... Earlier, when it was, I do not remember, I was told that the ship known as 'Noah's Ark' was roughly equivalent to the masses, as written in the Bible, for example. Could you perhaps tell me a little more precisely what the ark looked like? A ship at that time ...

Ptaah:

58. You must not make a comparison between the forms of ships in use today and the ark, because the ark had no similarity with the forms in use today and also in ancient times.

59. The information given in the Bible is wrong, which mentions 300 cubits length and 50 cubits width and 30 cubits height.

60. The ark was a large round structure, in the middle of which there was a building structure which took up about 1/6 of the total length respectively the diameter of the ship.

61. The width of the ship is therefore wrongly handed down, because the diameter of the ship was uniform, because it was round, while the wrongly handed down measurements of the width concerned the building amidships.

62. The ship was surrounded all around by a high wall, which is handed down as height.

63. In the area where the ark was built, there were large forests at that time. ...

65. What has been put into the Bible regarding the ark legend, goes back to old Mesopotamian and Sumerian legends, which date back to a Flood that happened about 100,000 years ago and tell the story of a man named Noankadnosser and his family, who was in contact with extraterrestrials and survived the Flood with his family and a small number of animals in an ark.

66. So the legend has not in any way anything to do with the biblical story, because the legend is based on a looted property that goes back to the ancient peoples of Mesopotamia and Sumeria and their ancient sagas and legends.

Billy:

Yeah, I remember what you told me about that. Somewhere there was the Four Stream Land with the so-called Garden of Eden, which was also stolen from the Mesopotamian and Sumerian legends and put into the Bible. The Four Stream Country was so called because the Euphrates, the Tigris and the rivers Pirou and Gihon, or whatever they were called, flowed through it. The four rivers flowed there somewhere into a delta, but today the Persian Gulf respectively the Arabian Gulf, as it is also called, exists there, but as of today – in the year 2010 – it was first created about 8,000 years ago by a tremendous natural catastrophe, in which, as in the case of the various other floods, 'tremendous wild waters' surged for thousands of years, thousands of years and even for more than 100,000 years. The term 'Sint' has nothing to do with 'sin', as this was reinterpreted by the influence of the church, but was reinterpreted again in the 20th century. You once explained to me that 'Sint' in an old pre-Germanic language meant as much as 'mighty', whereby in connection with the old term 'Vluot' respectively 'Flood', 'Sintfluot' respectively 'Sintflut', a 'mighty flood', had been created.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_799

Billy:

... lies spread in religions, such as in the 3 of Judaism, Christianity and Islam in the so-called religious books Torah, Bible and Koran, which could not be more hair-raising and lead back to Babylonian origins. For example, the so-called Flood was nothing more than a 'wild water' or a flood or high water as a result of a storm. This had an easy time in Babylonia at that time, because the 'water architects' had large watercourses built by the cities, whereby the rising wild waters could quickly burst their banks and cause floods. The Babylonians called such floods 'deluge', which the Jewish peoples had simply adopted in the same way when they were brought into captivity to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar and established the term 'deluge' with world flood and the like. There they had also heard of the fantasy story of the Flood and the fable of Noah's Ark, which was also written down in cuneiform by a scribe in Ur, although the name of the alleged Ark builder was renamed, as moreover the necessary material for the construction did not actually grow in Ur – today's Basra – but in the south of India. Moreover, it must also be said that ancient cuneiform writings dating from the early primeval times of Babylonia state that this 'ark' was supposed to be around 70 metres in diameter, which at that time was an impossibility to build such a thing and to seal it with bitumen in such a way that it would have been waterproof. Not to mention how it would have been possible with a round boat – which, by the way, are still in use today in certain areas of Iraq and measure about 1.5 to 3 metres – which, according to an ancient cuneiform inscription, would have had a diameter of just about 70 metres, to take a pair of each animal species on board, since there are known to be millions of different species of animals, creatures and other living beings. At that time many more than today, because in the meantime the human beings have already exterminated many of them. Nevertheless, all these Babylonian stories were taken over by the Jewish peoples, who were very strongly influenced by the Babylonian beliefs and integrated much into their own religion, which was later also adopted in the Torah, the Bible and the Koran. ...

return to Index

North Pole discovery

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/North\_Pole#Exploration

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Wally\_Herbert

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy\_Meier/Contact\_Report\_547

Billy:

... But I have another question about the discovery of the North Pole. There were two Americans, Robert Edwin Peary and Frederick Albert Cook, who first went on some expeditions etc. together, but then became enemies, especially when it came to first entering the North Pole. Both started their own expeditions in this regard, after which each declared that he had reached his goal. However, this could never be proven to either of them in any way and therefore could not be proven by corresponding facts. Cook claimed to have been on the Pole before Peary, which led to him being severely defamed by the selfish Peary and made impossible for the rest of the world. To this day, however, to my knowledge, there is no proof as to which of the two was first on the North Pole. Do you know anything about this?

Ptaah:

53. In this respect, I can actually tell you a few things, because from our side there has always been an interest in such undertakings, as there still is today.

54. Consequently, such undertakings were and are observed by us, which is why I can tell you that neither of them had ever reached the North Pole, neither Peary nor Cook.

55. The really first Earth-human who set foot on the North Pole for the first time was a man named Walter William Herbert, an Englishman.

56. He was the first to reach the Pole on the 6th of April 1969 but was also followed by his expedition companions.

Michel Nostradamus

